Macedonian-Persian (called also Greco-Persian)	334–323 B.C.	Macedonia v. Persia. Alexander carries out ambition of his father, Philip of Macedon, to conquer Persia.	Macedonia: Alexander the Great; Perdiccas, Parmenio, Craterus, Nearchus. Persia: Darius III. See DIADOCHI.	Granicus; ISSUS; ARBELA; Hydaspes (conquest of India).	Reorganization of Persia; increase in trade between the east and west; widens the Greek knowledge of the world.
Mexican	1846–48	United States v. Mexico. Annexation of Texas (1844–45) and Mexican rejection of the Rio Grande as boundary; outrages against persons and property of Americans in Mexico; desire of Americans to have California.	United States: Polk, Taylor, Scott, Kearny, Frémont. Mexico: Santa Anna, Ampudia.	Palo Alto; Resaca de la Palma; Monterey; Buena Vista; Contreras; Churubusco; Chapultepec. See BEAR FLAG WAR.	Treaty of GUADALUPE HIDALGO.
Napoleonic Wars	1796–1815	France v. Austria, England, Prussia, Russia, and most of the other countries of Europe at different times and in varying combinations (see COALITION, 3). The ambition and military despotism of Napoleon Bonaparte.	France: Napoleon; Murat, Ney, Moreau, Massena, Davout, Bernadotte; Louis, Joseph, and Jerome Bonaparte. Austria: Francis I, Archduke Charles, Melas. England: Wellington, Nelson. Prussia: Stein, Blücher, Duke of Brunswick. Russia: Alexander I, Kutuzov, Suvaroff.	1st phase: Lodi; Arcole. 2d: The Pyramids; NILE; Zurich; MARENGO; Hohenlinden. 3d: Ulm; TRAFALGAR; AUSTERLITZ. 4th: JENA; Eylau; Friedland. 5th: Aspern and Essling; WAGRAM. Peninsular War (1808–14). Napoleon's invasion of Spain; Coruña; Talavera; VITORIA. 6th: Invasion of Russia; BORODINO; Moscow; Lützen; Bautzen; LEIPZIG; (see HUNDRED DAYS); WATERLOO.	Treaty of CAMPOFORMIO (1797). Treaties of LUNÉVILLE (1801) & AMIENS (1802). Treaty of PRESSBURG (1805). Treaty of TILSIT (1807). Treaty of VIENNA (1809) Treaties of PARIS (1814 & 1815). Napoleon exiled to St. Helena; see Congress of Vienna, under CONGRESS, Table; HOLY ALLIANCE; the Restoration b, under RESTORATION.
Peloponnesian	431–404 B.C.	Athens and allies v. Sparta and allies. Bitter rivalry between Athens (Ionian, democracy, a naval power, head of Delian Confederacy) and Sparta (Dorian, oligarchy, a military power, head of the Peloponnesian League). Conflict of Corcyra and Corinth the immediate cause.	Athens: Pericles, Alcibiades, Nicias, Cleon, Demosthenes, Lamachus. Sparta: Brasidas, Gylippus, Lysander.	Mytilene; Plataea; Amphipolis; Mantinea; SYRACUSE (naval); Arginusae (naval); Aegospotami (naval).	Athens victor at first but loses colonies; Peace of Nicias, 421 B.C.; Athens finally conquered; walls of Piraeus torn down; democracy overthrown; rule of Thirty Tyrants (see THIRTY TYRANTS a).
Peninsular War	1808–14	See NAPOLEONIC WARS, 5th phase.
Punic (First)	264–241 B.C.	Rome v. Carthage. (1) Struggle for naval and commercial supremacy in the Mediterranean. Conflict over Sicily.	(1) Rome: Regulus, Vulso, Metellus, Duilius, Catulus. Carthage: Hamilcar Barca.	(1) Mylae; Ecnomus; Drepanum; Aegates Islands.	(1) Carthage defeated; loses Sicily and pays indemnity to Rome.
(Second)	218–201 B.C.	(2) Growing rivalry between the two powers, esp. in western Mediterranean and Spain.	(2) Rome: P. Cornelius Scipio, Cn. Scipio, Sempronius, Flaminius, Fabius Maximus, Varro, Paulus, Marcellus. Carthage: Hasdrubal, Hannibal.	(2) Saguntum; Trebia; LAKE TRASIMENUS; CANNAE; METAURUS; ZAMA.	(2) Carthage loses all Spain and islands in Mediterranean; king of Numidia made an ally of Rome; Carthage to pay an annual tribute to Rome.
(Third)	149–146 B.C.	(3) During years of peace after 201 commerce of Carthage increases greatly. Rome jealous of her prosperity. Immediate cause, Carthage wages war against Numidia.	(3) Rome: Cornelius Scipio Aemilianus, Cato, Aemilius Paulus. Carthage: Hasdrubal, Carthalo.	(3) Siege and capture of Carthage.	(3) Carthage destroyed (146). Africa becomes a Roman province.
Revolution (American) (Revolutionary War)	1775–83	English Colonies in America (United States) v. England. Taxation without representation. Stamp Act. Restraint of trade (Navigation Acts). Consciousness of common interest among colonists.	Colonies: Washington, Greene, Gates, Arnold, Marion, Jones, Lafayette, von Steuben; Franklin, Jefferson, J. Adams, S. Adams, Henry. England: Howe, Burgoyne, Cornwallis, Gage.	LEXINGTON-CONCORD; BUNKER HILL; Long Island; White Plains; Trenton; Princeton; Brandywine; Bennington; SARATOGA; Camden; Cowpens; YORKTOWN.	With aid of France, Americans are victorious. Thirteen Colonies become independent (see DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE, ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION, CONSTITUTION, 6. Treaty of PARIS (1783).

Name	Date	Contestants and Causes	Chief Leaders	Chief Battles	Results and Treaty Revolution (French)	1789–99	See French Revolution, under REVOLUTION, Table.
Russo-Japanese	1904–05	Russia v. Japan. Russia (with France and Germany) deprived Japan of treaty gains in Manchuria (1895). Increasing jealousy of Russia's influence in China, esp. conflict of respective rights and interests in Korea.	Russia: Kuropatkin, Stössel, Admirals Makarov, Rozhdestvenski; Count Witte, Baron Rosen. Japan: Kuroki, Oku, Nodzu, Nogi; Admirals Togo, Uriu; Baron Komura, Takahira.	Yalu; Kinchow; Liaoyang; Shaho; siege and capture of Port Arthur (Jan. 1, 1905); MUKDEN; TSUSHIMA.	Russia evacuates Manchuria and concedes to Japan political and economic dominance in Korea. Peace conference called by Pres. Theodore Roosevelt at Portsmouth, N.H. Treaty of PORTSMOUTH.
Samnite	343–290 B.C.	Romans v. Samnites. Rivalry for control of southern Italy.	Romans: P. Decius, Q. Publilius Philo, L. Papirius Cursor, Q. Fabius Rullianus. Samnites: C. Pontius.	Samnites invade Campania: 343–341 B.C. Suessula; 322–304 B.C. CAUDINE FORKS; 298–290 B.C. Sentinum (295).	Power of Samnites broken; they become subjects of Rome. Romans control central Italy.
Seven Weeks'	1866 June 16–July 26	Prussia v. Austria. Nominally disagreements over duchies of Schleswig and Holstein, actually struggle for leadership in central Europe.	Prussia: Bismarck, King William, Moltke, Roon, Crown Prince Frederick Charles. Austria: Emperor Francis Joseph, Benedek.	SADOWA (Königgrätz). One of the shortest and most momentous wars in history.	Austria yields leadership of the German states to Prussia, cedes Venetia to Italy. Treaty of PRAGUE (1866).
Seven Years'	1756–63	Prussia (allies: England, and after 1762, Russia) v. Austria (allies: Russia, France, Sweden, Saxony). At first two distinct contests: (1) between Prussia and Austria chiefly in Saxony and Silesia (3d SILESIAN WAR). (2) between France and England for possession of India and America (see FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR, 1754–63, the American phase). Later, a general European war.	Prussia: Frederick the Great, Winterfeldt, Seydlitz. Austria: Maria Theresa, Browne, Daun, Laudon, Prince Charles of Lorraine. France: Louis XV, Richelieu, Montcalm, d'Estrées, Lally. Russia: Empress Elizabeth, Peter III, Apraxin. England: Wm. Pitt, Wolfe, Clive, Duke of Cumberland, Adm. Boscawen.	Prussia v. Austria: Prague; Kolin; Gross-Jägersdorf; Rossbach; Leuthen; Zorndorf; Minden; Kunersdorf; Torgau. French v. English: Port Mahon; Belle-Île; Quiberon Bay; Braddock; Fort Duquesne; QUEBEC; PLASSEY.	Prussia greatly strengthened as a continental state; England attains maritime supremacy and gains territory in India and North America; Austria humiliated; power of France declined. Treaties of HUBERTUSBURG & PARIS (1763).
Spanish-American	1898	United States v. Spain. Chief cause, cruel administrative methods of Spain in Cuba; partial cause, destruction of U. S. battleship Maine (see SHIP, Table) in Havana harbor (Feb. 15).	U. S.: Pres. McKinley, Hay, Day; Adms. Dewey, Schley, Sampson; Gens. Miles, Merritt, Shafter. Spain: Cervera, Montojo, Toral.	MANILA BAY; El Caney; San Juan Hill; SANTIAGO; capture of Manila.	Spain loses colonial possessions in America and Asia. Treaty of PARIS (1898).
Spanish Succession, War of the	1701–14	England, Austria, Netherlands (GRAND ALLIANCE) v. France & Spain. Alliance opposed accession of Philip of Anjou to Spanish throne.	Grand Alliance: Marlborough, Prince Eugene, Prince Leopold of Anhalt-Dessau. France: Louis XIV, Tallard, Villars.	BLENHEIM; Ramillies; Turin; Oudenaarde; Malplaquet. (For American phase of the war, see QUEEN ANNE'S WAR, in Vocab.).	Philip of Anjou, grandson of Louis XIV of France, recognized as king of Spain. Treaties of UTRECHT & RASTATT.
Thirty Years'	1618–48	Catholics of Germany v. Protestants of Germany, but before its termination involving most of the countries of western Europe. Disputes arising out of the RELIGIOUS PEACE OF AUGSBURG (1555), and increased strength of Catholics in Germany due to the Counter Reformation.	Catholics: Wallenstein, Tilly. Protestants: Gustavus Adolphus, Mansfeld. Later: Sweden (Oxenstierna) & France (Cardinals Richelieu and Mazarin, Turenne, Condé) against Hapsburgs of Germany.	4 phases: (1) Palatine, 1618–1625. White Mountain. (2) Danish, 1625–1629. Lutter. (3) Swedish, 1630–1635. LEIPZIG; LÜTZEN; Nördlingen. (4) French, 1635–1648. Rheinfeld; Rocroi; Freiburg.	One of the most terrible and destructive wars of all history. Religious and political questions settled by treaty of WESTPHALIA, the basis of all diplomatic agreements from 1648 to the French Revolution.
War of 1812	1812–15	Great Britain v. United States. Indirectly, Napoleon's CONTINENTAL SYSTEM and the British ORDERS IN COUNCIL, leading to the capture and search by Great Britain of American merchantmen and the impressment of American seamen.	Great Britain: Brock, Gaines, Pakenham. U. S.: Brown, Jackson, W. H. Harrison; Naval: Perry, Hull, Lawrence, McDonough, Decatur.	Queenston Heights; LAKE ERIE; Thames; Lundy's Lane; Lake Champlain; NEW ORLEANS. Many naval encounters between individual ships.	War very unpopular, esp. in New England (see TERRAPIN WAR, HARTFORD CONVENTION). Terms of peace generally favorable to U. S. Treaty of GHENT.
Wars of the Roses	1455–85	Civil war in England, House of York (White Rose) v. House of Lancaster (Red Rose). Rivalry of nobles supporting the two houses, gradually becoming a struggle for the crown.	York: Edward IV, Richard III, Earl of Warwick (revolts to Lancastrians, 1469). Lancaster: Henry VI, Queen Margaret, Duke of Somerset, Henry VII.	St. Albans; Northampton; Wakefield; Towton; Barnet; Tewkesbury; BOSWORTH FIELD.	Henry Tudor, Earl of Richmond, victor at Bosworth Field, establishes the Tudor dynasty (1485–1603); marries Elizabeth of York, thus uniting the two houses.
World War I (called also Great War and European War)	1914–19	Allies (27 Allied and Associated Powers) v. Central Powers (Germany, Austria, Turkey, and Bulgaria). Austria declared war on Serbia, July 28, 1914. United States entered war, Apr. 6, 1917. Immediate cause was the assassination of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 28, 1914, and Serbia's inability to meet fully Austria's ultimatum. Underlying cause was rivalry between the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente. See ENTENTE CORDIALE.	Allies: France — Briand, Clemenceau, Poincaré, Foch, Pétain, Joffre. England — Asquith, Churchill, Lloyd George, Haig, French, Allenby, Jellicoe, Beatty. Russia — Grand Duke Nicholas, Brusilov, Kerenski, Milyukov, Lenin, Trotsky. United States — Wilson, Lansing, Pershing, House, Baker, Hoover. Central Powers: Germany — William II, Hindenburg, Ludendorff, Mackensen. Austria — Francis Joseph, Berchtold, Czernin. Bulgaria — Ferdinand, Radoslavov, Boris. Turkey — Enver, Talaat, Djemal.	Western Front: Mons-Charleroi; Marne (1st, 2d); Ypres (3 battles); Artois; Verdun; Somme; Arras; Cambrai; Picardy; Château-Thierry; Belleau Wood; Saint-Mihiel; Meuse-Argonne. Eastern Front: Tannenberg; Masurian Lakes; Warsaw. Italy: Caporetto; Gorizia; Isonzo; Piave. Asia: Tsingtao; Kut-al-Imara; Jerusalem. Balkans and Turkey: Belgrade; Gallipoli. Naval: Jutland; Helgoland Bight.	Armistices signed: Bulgaria, Sept. 30, 1918; Turkey, Oct. 30, 1918; Austria, Nov. 3; Germany, Nov. 11, 1918 (see ARMISTICE DAY). Peace Conference assembled at Paris, Jan. 18, 1919. Treaties: Versailles (effective Jan. 10, 1920, on ratification by France, Great Britain, Italy, and Japan); Saint-Germain; Neuilly; Trianon; Sèvres. See DAWES PLAN, KELLOGG PACT, Lausanne, under TREATY, Table, LEAGUE OF NATIONS, LOCARNO PACT, PERMANENT COURT OF INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE, SUPREME COUNCIL, YOUNG PLAN.
World War II	1939–46	Allies or (49) United Nations (Jan. 1, 1942) v. Axis Powers (Germany, Italy, Japan, and 10 satellite nations). Chief contestants entered war: Germany, France, Great Britain (1939); Italy (1940); China, Japan, Russia, and United States (1941). Immediate cause was the invasion of Poland by Germany (Sept. 1, 1939) when Poland refused Germany's ultimatum to return Danzig and the Polish Corridor. Underlying causes were: dissatisfaction over the Treaty of Versailles; the failure of the League of Nations; economic and social problems resulting from World War I.	United Nations: Britain — Chamberlain, Churchill, Eden, Montgomery, Alexander, Cunningham, Wavell, Tedder. China — Chiang Kai-shek. France — Daladier, Reynaud, Gamelin, Weygand, de Gaulle, Pétain, Laval. United States — Roosevelt, Hull, Marshall, Eisenhower, Nimitz, King, Arnold, Stilwell, Leahy, Chennault, Halsey, MacArthur. Russia — Stalin, Molotov, Voroshilov, Timoshenko, Zhukov. Axis: Germany — Hitler, Göring, Ribbentrop, Doenitz, Rundstedt, Rommel, Keitel. Japan — Hirohito, Konoye, Tojo, Yamashita. Italy — Mussolini, Ciano, Graziani, Badoglio.	Western Front: Normandy; Battle of Britain; Battle of the Bulge. Eastern Front: Warsaw. Russian Front: Moscow; Orel; Leningrad; Kharkov; Stalingrad. Black Sea: Sevastopol. Italy: Anzio; Cassino; Sicily. Africa: El Alamein. Asia: Burma; Malaya. Pacific: Pearl Harbor; Coral Sea; China Sea; Bataan; Guadalcanal; Midway; New Guinea; Tarawa; Iwo Jima; Okinawa.	Germany surrendered unconditionally May 7, 1945; Japan surrendered unconditionally on Sept. 2, 1945. Peace Conference of United Nations members actively engaged against European enemy states assembled at Luxembourg Palace, Paris, July 29–Oct. 15, 1946. Treaties with Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Italy, and Finland signed 1947; Japanese treaty signed 1952; West German peace contract signed May 26, 1952, pending ratification. No treaty with Austria agreed upon by Russia and Western nations.

war (wôr), v.; WARRED (wôrd); WAR'RING. Intransitive: 1. To make or wage war; to carry on armed hostilities; — now rare except in present participle.

Why should I war without the walls of Troy? Shak.

2. To be in active or violent opposition; to conflict; contend; to strive violently; to fight; as, principles that war with one's desires; constantly warring against graft.

For my passion Wars against the stiff brocade. Amy Lowell.

——, Trans.: 1. To make war upon; to fight; harry. Obs.

To war the Scot, and borders to defend. Daniel.

2. To carry on, as a war; to wage. Archaic.

That thou . . . mightest war a good warfare. 1 Tim. i. 18.

Syn. — Strive, contend, struggle, battle, fight.

Ant. — Agree, harmonize, accord, concur.

war, adj. Of, pertaining to, or resulting from, war; used in or for war; occurring in or instituted during war.

☞ PHRASES are:

war book	war machine	war school war boom	war risk	war song war guilt	war scare	war spirit war (wär), waur, adv. & adj. [ON. verri, adj., verr, adv. See WORSE, adv.] Worse. Scot. & N. of Eng. — v. t. To worst; overcome; surpass. Scot.

war. Var. of WARE, goods; WARE, beware. Obs. exc. Dial.

war (wär). Var. of were, form of BE. Obs. exc. Scot.

wa'ra·bi (wä'rä·bĭ), n. [Jap.] In Japan, the brake Pteridium aquilinum, the young fronds of which are eaten.

War and Peace. A historical novel (1864–69) by Tolstoi, of Napoleon's war with Russia.

War Army Act. See SELECTIVE DRAFT ACT.

war'a·tah' (wŏr'ȧ·tä'), n. [Native name.] Any Australian plant of the genus Telopea, esp. T. speciosissima and T. oreades, the latter often distinguished as Gippsland waratah. They bear heads of handsome crimson flowers.

Waratah (Telopea speciosissima). (⅛) war baby. Slang. a A soldier's offspring, esp. one born of an illicit union formed during a war; hence, any illicit or discreditable result of war. b Any stock or security whose value is greatly enhanced because of a state of war.

war bag. A bedding roll used by soldiers.

war bird. 1. An aviator in the air service. Brit.

2. The scarlet tanager. Local, U. S.

war'ble (wôr'b'l), v.; WAR'BLED (-b'ld); WAR'BLING (-blĭng). [ME. werbelen, fr. ONF. werbler (OF. guerbler) to sing, play on a musical instrument, of Teut. origin; cf. G. wirbeln to turn, to warble, D. wervelen; akin to E. WHIRL.] Intransitive: 1. To sing in a trilling manner, or with many turns and variations; to sing softly and quaveringly or with rapid modulations in pitch; also, to make or give forth such sounds; as, to hear the skylark warble.

2. Specif.: a Rare. To twitter. b U. S. To yodel.

3. To be uttered, sounded, or produced with trills, quavers, etc.

Such strains ne'er warble in the linnet's throat. Gay.

——, Transitive: 1. To sing or utter in a trilling or quavering manner; to render with turns, runs, or rapid modulations; to trill; as, to warble forth an aria.

2. To express by or as by warbling; to utter musically; also, Now Rare, to extol in song.

Warbling out his approbation. Cowper.

3. To cause to quaver or vibrate.

And touch the warbled string. Milton.

war'ble, n. Act or instance of warbling; art or manner of singing with trills, runs, quavers, etc.; a musical trill; a song; a carol; any melodious succession of low and pleasing sounds; as, a linnet's warble; a dexterous warble.

war'ble, v. t. & i. [Origin uncert.] Falconry. To bring together or cross (the wings) upon the back.

war'ble, v. i. To shake; vibrate; wabble. Obs.

war'ble, n. [Origin obscure. Cf. WORMIL.] 1. Veter. A small hard tumor produced on a horse by heat or pressure of the saddle. Cf. def. 2 a.

2. a A swelling caused by the maggot of a botfly or warble fly under the hide (esp. of the back) of cattle, deer, rabbits, etc. b The maggot of the warble fly; a wormil.

war'bled (wôr'b'ld), adj. Veter. Infested with warbles; — said of animals or their hides.

warble fly. Any of several dipterous flies of the family Oestridae whose larvae live under the skin of cattle and other mammals. The ox warble flies (Hypoderma lineata and H. bovis) are the most important species. The adult lays its eggs on the feet and legs of cattle, whence they are licked off and hatch in the mouth or esophagus. The larvae then burrow through the tissues to the skin and beneath it to the back of the animal, where they live until ready to pupate. They cause large painful swellings, known as warbles, which are not dangerous, but interfere with the animal's nutrition and injure the hide for use as leather.

Warble Fly. Adult and Larva, slightly enlarged.

war'ble·like' (wôr'b'l·lĭk'), adj. See -LIKE.

war'bler (wôr'blĕr), n. 1. One who or that which warbles; a singer; songster; — applied chiefly to birds.

2. Any of numerous small Old World singing birds of the family Sylviidae, many of which are noted songsters. The bluethroat, whitethroat, blackcap (in senses 1 a & e), reed warbler, and sedge warbler (see these terms), are well-known species. They are allied to the thrushes more closely than to the American warblers (see sense 3, below), being represented in the United States only by the kinglets and gnat catchers.

3. Any of about a hundred species (collectively called wood warbler) of mostly very small and bright-colored American songsters constituting the family Compsothlypidae. They are insectivorous, highly migratory, and chiefly arboreal; their song is generally weak and unmusical; but very characteristic for each species. Their common names are mostly descriptive of color; as, black-throated blue warbler, chestnut-sided warbler, yellow warbler (see these terms). See also CHAT; WATER THRUSH a; YELLOWTHROAT; REDSTART, 2.

Warblers. 3. A Hooded Warbler (Wilsonia citrina). B Worm-eating Warbler (Helmitheros vermivorus). C Cape May Warbler (Dendroica tigrina). All Male.

4. a In Australasia, any of numerous small birds, esp. of the genus Malurus and family Sylviidae, and of the genus Gerygone and family Muscicapidae. b In New Zealand, a bird of the genus Maorigerygone, as M. igata.

5. Any twirl, flourish, or the like, with which a bagpiper embellishes a melody.

6. A songbook; — formerly used in titles.

warbler green. A color, greenish-yellow in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

war'bler·like' (wôr'blĕr·lĭk'), adj. See -LIKE.

war'blet (-blĕt; -blĭt; 119), n. = 5th WARBLE, 1.

war'bling (wôr'blĭng), adj. That warbles. — war'bling·ly, adv.

warbling vireo. A vireo (Vireo gilvus) of temperate North America, having a grayish-green back and whitish under parts; — so called from its pleasing song.

war'bly (wôr'blĭ), adj. = WARBLELIKE.

war bonnet. Amer. Indian. A ceremonial headdress of some of the Plains Indians, consisting of a cap with an extension down the back, decorated with feathers of the golden eagle.

war boomerang. See BOOMERANG, 1.

war bow. The English longbow, used with a cloth-yard shaft.

war bride. 1. A woman who marries, or has recently married, a soldier ordered into active service in time of war.
2. An industrial corporation or enterprise the value of whose stocks and other securities is greatly enhanced by actual warfare, as a corporation which manufactures munitions of war. Also, any of the securities of such a corporation. Slang.

War'burg's tinc'ture (wôr'bûrgz). Pharm. A liquid preparation containing quinine, aloes, rhubarb, angelica seed, elecampane, saffron, fennel, and other ingredients, used as an antiperiodic, esp. in the treatment of malaria. It was invented by Dr. Carl Warburg, an Austrian physician, about 1840.

war cabinet. A cabinet in power during time of war; specif. [caps.], Eng. Hist., a cabinet of five (later six) members, headed by Prime Minister Lloyd George, which in Dec., 1916, replaced the larger coalition cabinet and actually managed the nation's affairs until the end of the War.

war cart. Mil. A heavy four-wheeled wagon formerly used, mounting two cannons.

war chest. During the World War, a community chest (which see) for charities connected with war activities.

war cloud. An ominous sign of war; a threat of, or a situation that threatens, war.

war club. Any kind of club used by warriors; esp., a club-shaped implement used as a weapon by the American Indian.

War College. a = ARMY WAR COLLEGE. b U. S. Navy. A college conducted by the Navy Department at Newport, R. I., for advanced instruction of experienced officers.

war'craft' (wôr'krăft'; 83), n. 1. Art of war; knowledge and skill in the conduct of military operations.
2. Fleet or fleets of war vessels.

war cross. = CROIX DE GUERRE.

war cry; pl. WAR CRIES. 1. A cry used by a body of fighters in war to encourage each other, to disconcert or terrify the enemy, etc.; a battle cry; as, the Indian war cry.
2. A slogan; a catchword; a party or group formula.

ward (wôrd), v.; WARD'ED; WARD'ING. [ME. wardien, fr. AS. weardian to keep, protect; akin to OS. wardōn to watch, take care, OFris. wardia, OHG. wartēn, G. warten to wait, wait on, attend to, ON. vartha to guarantee, defend, Sw. vårda to guard, to watch; cf. ONF. warder (F. garder), of Teut. origin. See WARD a warder, keeper; cf. WARD a guarding, AWARD, GUARD, v., REWARD, WARDEN, WARDROBE.] Transitive: 1. To keep watch over; to guard; keep in safety; defend; protect; as, to ward one from peril; to ward the gates. Archaic.
2. Obs. a To serve, as a fort, for defense of. b To fortify; also, to place a guard upon. c To act as guardian to; to rule; govern. d To put in prison. e To warn; counsel.
3. To enclose so as to keep safe or prevent accidents; to safeguard. Now Rare.
4. To parry or fend off (a blow, a weapon, etc.); to repel; turn aside; avert; — often with off; as, to ward off an opponent's strokes, an attack of fever, a threatened war.
5. To put in or assign to a ward, esp. a hospital ward.
—, Intransitive: 1. To keep guard; watch. Obs.
2. To act on the defensive with a weapon. Archaic.
3. To take care; beware. Obs.

ward (wôrd), n. [AS. weard, masc., a warder, watchman; akin to OS. ward, OHG. wart (in comp.), G. wart, ON. vörthr, Goth. -wards in daurawards a doorkeeper, and E. ward a guarding, ward, v., and wary. See WARD, v., WARY; cf. WRAITH.] One who guards; a warden. Obs.

ward, n. [AS. weard, fem., a guarding, watch, body of men keeping watch; akin to G. warte a watching, OHG. warta, and to AS. weard, masc., a warden, watchman, guardian, weardian to guard; cf. ONF. warde a guardian (OF. guarde, garde, F. garde), of Teut. origin. See WARD one who guards, WARD to guard; cf. GUARD protection.] 1. Act of guarding; watch; guard; keeping; protection; care; guardianship; formerly, esp., guarding in the daytime. See 3d WATCH, 2; WATCH AND WARD.
Still, when she slept, he kept both watch and ward. Spenser.
2. A body of guards; a garrison; the watch. Archaic.
3. State of being under guard or guardianship; esp., confinement under guard; custody.
And he put them in ward in the house of the captain of the guard. Gen. xl. 3.
4. A guarded place; also, a place for one in ward, or under guard. Specif.: a Obs. A guarding or defensive position, post, or station, as a watchtower of a castle. b Archaic. Specif., the inner court of a castle or fortress. c A jail; a prison; now, a division, as a cell, block, or wing, of a prison. d A division or separate apartment of a hospital; as, a fever ward. e Obs. A wardrobe; a storeroom.
5. A division, perhaps regarded as under some special guard or leadership; specif.: a Obs. One of the divisions of an army; esp., one of the three divisions, vanguard, center, and rear guard. b Scot. (1) A division of a forest. (2) An enclosure for cattle. c Hist. In the counties of Cumberland and Northumberland in northern England, and in some Scottish counties, a division answering to the hundred and wapentake of other counties. d A division, district, or quarter, of a town or city, esp. the latter, for representative, executive, or magisterial, purposes. Wards are often merely or chiefly the divisions of a city for election purposes, and as such are in the larger cities subdivided into precincts. e Mormon Ch. A small territorial unit, or division of a stake, presided over by a bishopric and comprising branches of the church auxiliary organizations and quorums of the Aaronic priesthood.
6. A person who is under guard, protection, or surveillance; esp., one under the care of a guardian (see defs. 10 b & 11, below); also, an orphan who is not of age.
7. Means of guarding; defense; protection.
8. A guarding or defensive motion or position in fencing, etc.; guard. "Thou knowest my old ward; here I lay, and thus I bore my point." Shak.
9. [OF. warde.] A safeguard; specif., Locksmithing, a projecting ridge of metal in a lock casing or keyhole, or any of several, permitting only the insertion of keys with corresponding notches; also, a corresponding notch in a bit of a key. See 2d LOCK, 1, Illust.
10. Feudal Law. a = CASTLE-GUARD a and b. b A minor who is subject to wardship (which see). c Wardship. d Short for WARDHOLDING.
11. Law. a A person who, by reason of minority, lunacy, or other incapacity, is under the protection of a court, either directly or through a guardian appointed by the court; — often called ward of court, or, where under the protection of the chancery court, as in England and in various States of the United States, ward in chancery. b The condition or status of such a person.

ward (wôrd), n. [ONF. warde (OF. garde). See WARD a guarding, a watch.] Dread; fear. Obs.

-ward (-wĕrd; formerly -ĕrd, now dial., or, as in eastward, windward, etc., Naut.; 257), -wards (-wĕrdz). [AS. -weard, -weardes; akin to OS. & OFris. -ward, OHG. -wart, -wert, G. -wärts, ON. -verthr, Goth. -wairths, L. vertere to turn. See WORTH to become. The s in -wards (AS. -weardes) was orig. a gen. ending.] Suffixes denoting course or direction to; motion or tendency toward. They are added to adverbs, as in back*ward*, back*wards*, up*ward*, up*wards*, etc., and to nouns indicating a direction or terminal point, as in east*ward*, east*wards*, home*ward*, home*wards*, etc. The forms in -ward are primarily adjectives often used as adverbs, as in down*ward*, home*ward*. Those in -wards are usually adverbs. See TOWARD.
☞ Some writers have tried to make distinctions of usage between for*ward*, back*ward*, down*ward*, etc., and the corresponding forms in -wards; but the choice between them is in general influenced simply by euphony, sometimes perhaps by the fact that -wards is adverbial only. The forms in -ward have in most cases been longer in use, although those in -wards are equally good etymologically.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

backward	homeward	slumward
bedward	inward	southward
brainward	leftward	tideward downward	midlandward	toward earthward	northward	treeward eastward	onward	trenchward forward	outward	upward
frontward	rearward	usward
froward	rootward	wayward
Godward	seaward	westward heavenward	shipward	windward hitherward	sideward

-ward (-wôrd). A combining form of the noun ward, as in:

bearward	churchward	hayward
bridgeward	fireward	millward castleward	gateward	woodward ward (wôrd), n. Award. Obs.

ward (wŏrd). Obs. past tense of WARE, WORTH.

ward (wärd). Var. of WORLD. Obs. exc. Dial.

ward'a·ble (wôr'dȧ·b'l), adj. Hist. Liable to pay ward (sense 10 a).

ward'age (wôr'dĭj), n. 1. Guardianship; guard. Rare.
2. Money paid for keeping guard.

war dance. a A dance among savages preliminary to war. Cf. DANCE, n., 1. b A dance representing war in pantomime.

ward'a·tour (wär'dȧ·tĕr), n. [ML. (assumed) wardator, fr. warda. See WARD a guarding; cf. WARDER.] One having ward over land of a minor. Hist. Scot.

war'day (wär'dā; wä'-; -dĕ), n. [Of Scand. origin; cf. Dan. hverdag, Sw. hvardag, lit., every day.] A weekday; literally, a work day. Dial. Eng.

ward dyke. A dyke enclosing a ward, or pasture. Scot.

war debt. A debt contracted by a state in order to carry on and pay for a war.

ward'ed (wôr'dĕd; -dĭd; 119), adj. Having wards, as a lock or key. See 2d LOCK, 1, Illust.

War Democrat. U. S. Hist. A member of the Democratic party, in the border or northern States, who favored the prosecution of the Civil War. Cf. UNION PARTY.

ward'en (wôr'd'n), n. [ME. wardein, fr. ONF. wardein (OF. & F. gardien). See GUARDIAN.] 1. One who wards, or keeps guard; a watchman; specif., a gatekeeper.
He called to the wardens on the . . . battlements. Scott.
2. Obs. a A legal guardian. b A director; an overseer. c A custodian; a sexton.
3. One invested with power to govern or control; a chief executive officer. Specif.: a Hist. A regent; also, a viceroy or lord lieutenant. b Hist. A governor; one in command of a town, district, or fortress. See WARDEN OF THE MARCHES. c Eng. One of the governing body of a guild, esp. of a livery company of the City of London. d The officer in charge of a port or market. e Eng. The head of a college, guild, or conventual church. f In Connecticut, the chief executive of a borough.
4. An official charged with special supervisory duties, with the enforcement of certain laws, or the like; a head keeper; a supervisor; — used chiefly in titles and often qualified or followed by of; as, a game warden; a fire-warden. Specif.: a Eng. One of certain officers of the crown or royal household; as, Warden of the Mint; Warden of the Stannaries. b A chief or principal keeper; as, the warden of a prison. c Eng. A member of a board having supervision of highways, bridges, etc. Cf. WAYWARDEN.
5. One having certain designated administrative functions; — used chiefly in special titles by localities, institutions, etc.; as: a Formerly, in the United States, one who presided at a meeting or an election in a ward. b In Australia, an officer appointed under the Mining Act with judicial functions in regard to mining matters within a defined district. c The head of the county council in the Province of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. d An officer in certain colleges, usually having the duties of a dean. e A churchwarden (esp. sense 2); — used chiefly in the Protestant Episcopal Church. f [cap.] Freemasonry. Either of two officers (called Junior Warden and Senior Warden) in a symbolic lodge, whose duty is to assist the Worshipful Master.

ward'en, v. t. To serve as warden over. Rare.

Ward'en (wôr'd'n), n. [ME. wardon, fr. ONF. warder to keep.] A variety of winter pear.

Ward'en, The. A novel (1855) by Anthony Trollope, first of the "Barchester" series (see BARCHESTER TOWERS).

warden court. Eng. Hist. A court held by a warden, esp. by the Warden of the Marches.

ward'en·cy (wôr'd'n·sĭ), n. The office, jurisdiction, or powers, of a warden.

Warden of the Cinque Ports. = LORD WARDEN (OF THE CINQUE PORTS).

Warden of the Marches. A guardian of the frontier districts or provinces.

warden of the standards. Since 1866, an officer of the Board of Trade, who has custody of the imperial standards of weights and measures. Eng.

warden pie. A pie made of warden pears.

ward'en·ry (wôr'd'n·rĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-rĭz). Now Rare. a = WARDENCY. b [cap.] The jurisdiction or district of a Warden of the Marches. c The home of a warden. d Guardianship.

wardens of the peace. See CONSERVATORS OF THE PEACE.

War Department. = DEPARTMENT OF WAR. See DEPARTMENT, 4.

War Department General Staff. Mil. In the U. S., formerly a component of the General Staff Corps, operating under the Chief of Staff, which prepares plans for the national defense and for the employment of military forces, plans mobilization of men and resources, investigates all questions affecting the efficiency of the Army, and renders professional aid and assistance to the Secretary of War and the Chief of Staff. It is divided into five sections: The Personnel Division (G–1), the Military Intelligence Division (G–2), the Operations and Training Division (G–3), the Supply Division (G–4), and the War Plans Division.

ward'er (wôr'dĕr), n. [AF. wardere, wardour (OF. gardour, gardeor). See WARD, v.] 1. One who wards, or keeps guard, esp. at a tower or gate; a watchman; also, figuratively, a bulwark; a stronghold.
2. A warden; esp., a caretaker or custodian, as in old castles and museums. Brit.

ward'er, n. [ME. Cf. WARDER a keeper.] A truncheon or staff of a king or a commander in chief, used in signaling his will. Hist. "Wafting his warder thrice about his head." Drayton.

ward heeler. See HEELER, 3.

ward hill. [ON. vartha, varthr, beacon.] A beacon hill Orkn. & Shet. I.

ward'hold'ing (wôrd'hōl'dĭng), n. Scots Feudal Law. Tenure by military service (abolished by 20 Geo. II, c. 50), orig. at the need of the lord.

Ward'i·an case (wôr'dĭ·ăn). [After the inventor, Nathaniel B. Ward (1791–1868), Eng. botanist.] A portable case with glass top and sides and metal or earthen base, for moisture-loving plants.

ward in chancery. See 3d WARD, 11 a.

ward'ing, adj. That wards; specif., used in cutting wards of keys, slots for cotters, etc.; — said specif. of a kind of file (warding file). See 4th FILE, 1.

ward'ing, n. The act or action of one who or that which wards. Hence: a Scot. Confinement in prison. b Guardianship; also, Obs., defense. c The making of warded keys.

ward'ite (wôr'dĭt), n. [After H. A. Ward (1834–1906), Am. mineralogist.] Mineral. A hydrous aluminum phosphate, $2Al_2O_3.P_2O_5.4H_2O$, occurring in green concretionary masses. H., 5. Sp. gr., 2.8.

War'dle, Mr. (wôr'd'l). In Dickens's Pickwick Papers, a genial, hearty English squire, at whose home Mr. Pickwick and his party spent Christmas.

Ward Leonard system. Elec. A regenerative system by which variations in motor speeds for all loads carried by the motor are secured without rheostatic losses in the main circuit. Cf. ILGNER SYSTEM.

ward'maid' (wôrd'mād'), n. Also wards'maid' (wôrdz'-). A woman servant employed in a hospital ward.

ward'man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). In certain boroughs: a Obs. One who represents a ward in the body of burgesses. b Eng. A minor officer to preserve order.

ward'mote' (-mōt'), n. [See MOOT.] An assembly of the citizens of a ward; specif., a meeting, usually sitting as a court, held in each ward of the City of London and having supervision of matters relating to the watch, police, weights and measures, etc. Hence, attrib., as wardmote court, wardmote quest. Eng.

ward of court. See 3d WARD, 11 a. war dog. A dog trained to serve on the battlefield. Hence: a A thoroughly experienced soldier. b Chiefly U. S. One who demands or threatens war.

War'dour Street (wôr'dĕr). A London street lined with shops in which antique or spuriously antique furniture is sold; hence, attributively, pseudoarchaic; as, Wardour Street English.

ward'ress (wôr'drĕs; -drĭs; 119), n. A woman keeper or warden in a prison.

ward'robe' (wôrd'rōb'), n. [ME. warderobe, fr. ONF. warderobe (F. garderobe), of Teut. origin. See WARD, v.; ROBE.] 1. A room or closet where clothes are kept or stored; a dressing room; a clothes closet; a clothespress; now, often, a kind of portable closet for clothes.
2. Specif., in a theater, a room where costumes and properties are kept, repaired, and cared for; — often used attributively; as, a wardrobe mistress.
3. a A sleeping chamber; a bedroom. b Obs. A privy.
4. Wearing apparel, in general; articles of dress; (one's) clothes or clothing; as, to add to one's wardrobe.
5. In a royal or noble household, the department entrusted with the care of wearing apparel, jewels, etc.; — chiefly in titles; as, gentleman of the wardrobe.

wardrobe bed. A folding bed serving as a wardrobe when closed.

wardrobe case. A large suitcase having some features of a wardrobe trunk, including hangers and compartments.

wardrobe dealer. See DEALER.

ward'rob'er (wôrd'rōb'ĕr), n. A keeper of the wardrobe (sense 5). Obs. exc. Hist.

wardrobe trunk. An upright trunk in which dresses, suits, etc., may be hung, and other articles packed in separate compartments.

ward'room' (-rōōm'; 200), n. 1. Nav. a The space in a war vessel allotted for living quarters to the commissioned officers above the rank of ensign, excepting the captain, who has quarters to himself. Ensigns serving as regular watch and division officers are also quartered in it. b More specifically, the messroom assigned to these officers. c These officers considered collectively.
2. Mil. Guardroom. Brit.

war drum. A drum beaten as a summons to war or as an accompaniment to marching or fighting; hence, a sound symbolizing imminent or actual war.

ward'ship (wôrd'shĭp), n. 1. Office of a ward or keeper; care and protection of a ward; guardianship; right of guardianship; specif., Early Eng. Feudal Law, the right to the custody of the body of an infant heir of a tenant by knight's service or military sergeanty, by socage, or by copyhold, and to the custody of the ward's property. Wardship originally carried with it the right of the lord to dispose of the ward in marriage and to retain the rents and profits of his land subject to the ward's right to suitable support. Guardianship by socage terminated when the ward reached 14 years of age; by military sergeanty at 21. A similar right of wardship existed in the Scots feudal law.
2. State of being under a guardian; pupilage.

wards'man (wôrdz'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A man who keeps guard; a guard; esp., a man in charge of a ward, as in a prison or hospital.

wards'wom'an (-wōōm'ăn), n. Fem. of WARDSMAN.

ward'-walk' (wôrd'wôk'), n. Med. A course in the study of medicine or surgery, consisting of periodical rounds of the wards of a hospital with a member of the staff for observation of patients and for clinical instruction.

warch (wärch). Var. of WARK, pain. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
war'da·pet, n. = VARDAPET.

ward'cors', n. [AF. wardecors. See WARD, v.; CORSE.] Obs. a Bodyguard. b Cloak.

war'del. Var. of WORDLE, world. ward'en·ship, n. See -SHIP.
ward'er-er, n. = 2d WARDER.

warderere. Prob., a form for ward (or beware the) rear. Obs. ward'er-ship, n. See -SHIP.

war'dle (wär'd'l). Var. of WORDLE, world. ward'less, adj. See -LESS.

ward'like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE -wards (-wĕrdz). See -WARD. wards'maid', n. = WARDMAID.

ward'wite' (wôrd'wīt'), n. [AS. weardwīte. See WARD a guarding; WITE a fine.] Early Eng. Law. A fine paid by a tenant to his lord for failure to furnish castle-guard.

ward'wom'an (-wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119). A lady's maid; a tirewoman.

ware (wâr), n. [AS. wār. Cf. ORE seaweed.] Seaweed. Chiefly Dial.

ware (wâr), adj. [ME. ware, war. See WARY.] 1. Aware; cognizant; conscious. Archaic.
2. Wary; cautious; vigilant; careful; heedful; also, prudent; sage; shrewd. Cf. BEWARE, v. i. Archaic.
She was ware and knew it bet [better] than he. Chaucer.

ware, v. [AS. warian.] Intransitive: To beware; take care; — now only in imperative. Now Dial.
—, Transitive: 1. To take heed of or to; to beware of; to guard or take precautions against; to put (oneself) on guard; to guard or defend (oneself); — now chiefly in the imperative and specif., Hunting, avoid; shun; refrain from touching, riding over, etc.; as, ware chase, ware rabbit, ware wheat, etc.
2. To make ware or aware; to warn. Dial.

ware, n. [ME., fr. AS. waru; akin to D. waar, G. ware, ON. & Sw. vara, Dan. vare.] 1. Articles of merchandise; the sum of articles of a particular kind or class; style or class of manufactures; goods; commodities; merchandise; — orig. a collective sing., now usually in the pl., exc. in composition (as, hardware, tinware, etc.). "Retails his wares at wakes." Shak. "To . . sell them their ware." Chaucer.
2. Specif.: a Pottery; dishes, etc., of baked clay; earthenware. b Obs. Fabrics; cloth. c Now Dial. Garden or farm produce; esp., potatoes. d Obs. Livestock.
3. Figuratively: a Something for sale; a commodity; as, to treat the laborer as a ware. b Goods; stuff; products; — often contemptuous; as, literary wares. c Women with reference to marriageability, etc. d Obs. The external genitals. e Scot. Amount; quantity; — chiefly in "whole, or hale, ware." ☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES, in senses 1 and 2, are:

ware cleaner	waremaker	wareman
ware grinder	waremaking	ware sorter

-ware (-wâr). A combining form of the noun ware, as in:

agateware	dipware	lusterware
basketware	dyeware	metalware beeware	earthenware	ovenware
bellware	enamelware	packware brassware	fiberware	pebbleware
buffware	flatware	podware
cedarware	giftware	silverware
chinaware	glassware	stoneware clayware	graniteware	tableware copperware	hardware	tinware
delftware	ironware	whiteware
dinnerware	leatherware	woodenware ware (wâr; wär), v. t. [ON. verja; akin to AS. werian to clothe. See 3d WEAR.] Now Scot. & Dial. Eng. a To spend; bestow. b To squander; waste.

ware (wär), n. [Of Scand. origin; cf. Icel. & Nor. var, Dan. vaar, var, vor, ON. vari.] Pus. Obs.

wa're (wâ'rĕ), n. pl. [AS. waru (in comp.).] Inhabitants; people; host. Obs.

ware (wār; wär), n. [ON. vār. See VERNAL.] The spring season. Chiefly Scot.

ware, past tense of BE (were) & WEAR (wore). Now Dial.

ware. Var. of WHARE; obs. var. of WHERE.

ware (wār). Var. of VOAR.

war eagle. The golden eagle; — so called by the Plains Indians, who used its feathers in war bonnets.

Wa·reg'ga (wä·rĕg'ä), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu-speaking tribe northwest of Lake Tanganyika.

ware goose. The common brant. It feeds on ware, or seaweed. Local, Eng.

wa're·ho'u (wä'rā·hō'ōō), n. [Maori.] A New Zealand fish (Seriolella brama), allied to the harvest fish.

ware'house' (wâr'hous'), n. 1. A storehouse (sometimes, a storeroom) for wares, or goods. The term is broadly used, and may include any structure used to hold goods, stores, or wares, temporarily or for a length of time.
2. A wholesale, or sometimes retail, shop. Chiefly Eng.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

warehouse boy	warehouse hand	warehouse porter
warehouse clerk	warehouse keeper	warehouse sorter
warehouse foreman	warehouse laborer	warehouse truck

ware'house' (-houz'; -hous'), v. t.; WARE'HOUSED' (-houzd'; -houst'); WARE'HOUS'ING (-houz'ĭng; -hous'ĭng). 1. To deposit or secure in a warehouse; esp., to place in the government or customhouse stores, or bonded warehouse, to be kept until duties are paid.
2. Hence, loosely, to put in safekeeping; to store up.

warehouse bond. A bond for the safe custody and redelivery of stored goods upon surrender of the warehouse receipt.

ware'housed' (-houzd'; -houst'), adj. Stored in a warehouse.

ware'house'man (-hous'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Com. a One who stores and handles the goods of others for pay. b One who is employed in a warehouse. c Chiefly Brit. A wholesale merchant.

warehouse receipt. A certificate issued by a warehouseman, containing a list and description of goods stored with him. Such a receipt is usually negotiable and must be surrendered to the warehouseman to procure delivery of the goods.

ware'house'-to-ware'house' in·sur'ance. Marine Insurance. Insurance which covers a cargo through the various stages of transportation, processing, and warehousing, from the time it leaves the warehouse of the consignor until it reaches that of the consignee. Such a provision endorsed on the regular cargo marine insurance contract is known as the warehouse-to-warehouse clause.

ware'less (wâr'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. [See WARE heed.] Archaic. a Unwary. b Unaware; also, making one unconscious; numbing.

ware'ly, adj. [AS. wærlīc.] Wary. Obs. — adv. [AS. wærlīce.] Warily. Obs. ware'room' (wâr'rōōm'), n. A room in which goods are exhibited for sale; a shop; a store.

wares (wârz), n. pl. See WARE, merchandise.

war'fare' (wôr'fâr'), n. [war + fare a going. See FARE, n.] 1. Originally, a military expedition or campaign; now, military operations between enemies; armed contest; hostilities; war.
The Philistines gathered their armies together for warfare, to fight with Israel. 1 Sam. xxviii. 1.
2. Hence, contest; struggle; conflict.

war'fare' (wôr'fâr'), v. i.; WAR'FARED' (-fârd'); WAR'FAR'ING (-fâr'ĭng). To carry on war; to engage in hostilities; to fight.

war'far'er (wôr'fâr'ĕr), n. A warrior; soldier.

war'far'ing, n. Warfare.

war flame. A balefire used as a signal in war.

war footing. A wartime basis; the status or condition of being at war or ready to go to war; as, to keep the army on a war footing.

war'ful (wôr'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. Bellicose. Rare.

war game. Kriegspiel.

war gas. Gas used in warfare. See GAS, n., 3.

war'-god', n. A deity presiding over war, as Ares or Mars. — war'-god'dess, n. fem.

war hammer. A hammerlike weapon having a heavy head, usually with one blunt and one spiked extremity, esp. one with a long handle for infantry, used in medieval warfare, esp. for breaking armor.

war hatchet. A hatchet, or tomahawk, used by American Indians in the ceremony of declaring war or peace. See HATCHET, n., 1.

war'-hawk', n. A bailiff. Dial.

war hawk. One who clamors for war; a jingo. U. S.

war head. Nav. The forward section of a torpedo, containing the trinitrotoluene or other explosive. It is stored by itself and affixed only in preparation for battle.

war horse. 1. A horse used in war; esp., a powerful horse for military service; a charger. Now Rhetorical.
2. A veteran soldier or public person, esp. a politician; an old campaigner, leader, partisan, or the like, who has had a stormy but successful career. Colloq.

war hound. A war dog.

war'i·an'gle (wôr'ĭ·ăng'g'l), n. [ME. wariangle, weryangle, perh. a dim. with AS. suffix -incel of AS. wearg scoundrel, criminal; akin to OHG. warg, warch, Goth. wargs (in comp.); cf. G. wargengel.] The shrike. Obs.

War Industries Board. Mil. A board created to co-ordinate and concentrate control over the industries of the nation during America's participation in the World War.

Wa'ring (wä'rĭng; wâr'ĭng), n. & adj. [G. Wäringer.] Varangian.

war'in·gin (wôr'ĭn·jĭn), n. [Jav. waringin, wiringin.] A common fig (Ficus benjamina) of India, resembling the banyan and often cultivated for ornament. Its fruits are inedible.

War'ing's the'o·rem (wâr'ĭngz). [After E. Waring (1734–98), Eng. mathematician.] Theory of Numbers. The theorem that every integer is representable as the sum of at most 9 cubes, and as at most 19 fourth powers. The general theorem that every integer, Z, is representable as the sum of at most N_m mth powers, where N_m is independent of Z, was proved by D. Hilbert in 1909 but Waring's statement that $N_4 = 19$ has not yet been proved, although it has been shown that $N_4 \leq 35$, $N_5 \leq 54$, $N_6 \leq 160$.

war'ish (wâr'ĭsh), v. t. & i. [ONF. warir (F. guérir), of Teut. origin. See GARRET.] Obs. a To heal or be healed; cure; recover. b To protect; defend; rescue.

war'i·son (wär'ĭ·sŭn), n. [ONF. See WARISH, v.; cf. GARRISON.] 1. Obs. a Wealth; property; treasure. b Reward; requital.
2. A note of assault. Pseudo-archaic.

wark (wärk), n. & v. [AS. wærc, n., wærcan, v.] Pain; ache; throb. Obs. exc. Dial.

wark (wärk). Var. of WORK. Obs. exc. Dial.

war'ka·moo'wee (wär'kä·mōō'wē), n. An outrigged sailing canoe of Ceylon.

war kite. Mil. A large kite formerly used to lift a man into the air for observation.

wark'loom' (wärk'lōōm'), n. [Var. of WORKLOOM.] A tool; implement, as a pen. Scot.

war'like' (wôr'lĭk'), adj. 1. Fit or disposed for, or fond of, war; bellicose; as, a warlike state; a warlike disposition.
Old Siward, with ten thousand warlike men. Shak.
2. Ready or prepared for war; equipped for fighting. Obs.
3. Belonging or relating to war; military; martial; as, warlike preparations.
4. Befitting war or a soldier; soldierly. Now Rare.
5. Presaging or threatening war; belligerent; hostile.
Syn. — See MARTIAL. Ant. — Pacifistic, conciliatory.
— war'like'ly, adv. — war'like'ness, n.

war'ling (-lĭng), n. One detested, or possibly, one often quarreled with; — a word used to rhyme with darling. Obs.
An old man's darling and a young man's warling. Breton.

war'lock (wôr'lŏk), n. [ME. warloghe a deceiver, a name for the Devil, fr. AS. wǣrloga a belier or breaker of his word, fr. wǣr covenant, troth + loga a liar (in comp.); akin to AS. lēogan to lie. See VERY; LIE to speak falsely.] 1. A breaker of his covenant or word; a liar; deceiver; traitor; scoundrel. Obs.
2. A sorcerer or wizard; one given to black magic; now, also, a conjuror.
3. A monster, esp. a mythical monster; a devil, demon, giant, etc.

war'lock, adj. Of, befitting, or characteristic of, a warlock; malignant; impish.

war'lock, n. [Cf. Nor. varde, ON. varthi, vartha.] A pile of stones. Obs.

war'lock·ry (wâr'lŭk·rĭ), n. Sorcery. Scot.

war lord. A general or military commander; — used sometimes to translate foreign military titles, esp. the Chinese tuchun (which see).

war'luck (wôr'lŭk), n. [Var. of 1st WARLOCK.] One magically immune to infection from wounds. Dryden.

warm (wôrm), adj.; WARM'ER (wôr'mĕr); WARM'EST. [AS. wearm; akin to OS., OFris., D., OHG., & G. warm, ON. varmr warm, Goth. warmjan to warm, cherish, L. formus warm, Gr. thermos hot, OPruss. gorme, Skr. gharma heat. Cf. FORCEPS, FURNACE, THERM, THERMO-.] 1. Having heat in a moderate degree; neither cold nor hot in temperature; as, warm milk; warm blood; a warm climate.
Warm and still is the summer night. Longfellow.
2. Sending out or imparting heat; warming; as, a warm fire or sun.
3. Making one feel heat (to such a degree) or suffer no loss of bodily heat; causing one to be (so) hot, or to glow, perspire, etc.; as, the room is uncomfortably warm; warm clothing; also, having a sensation of heat; glowing, flushed, or perspiring, from heat; as, to be warm from exercise.
4. Hence: a Affecting one pleasantly or agreeably; affording pleasure suggestive of gentle warmth; genial; grateful.
In the warm shadow of her loveliness. Shelley.
b Affecting or intended to affect one disagreeably; affording pain, distress, or danger, comparable to that from excessive heat; unduly strenuous; irksome; harassing; hot; as, they had warm work in winning the battle; they made things warm for him.
5. Comfortably established or placed, as in one's house or in a position or dignity; secure; at ease. Now Rare.
Each prudent cit a warm existence finds. Burns.
6. Hence, in comfortable circumstances; well-to-do; rich. Now Colloq.
The "warmest" of the young Forsytes, as the last of the old Forsytes — Timothy — would have phrased it. Galsworthy.
7. Of persons, their acts, dispositions, utterances, etc.: a Marked by or revealing excitement, passion, anger, or the like; irascible; angry; heated; as, his warm temper; to have warm words with an opponent; the debate grew warm. b Full of or manifesting feeling, or affection, love, or interest; sympathetic; tender; cordial; as, a warm heart or welcome; a cold manner but warm words. c Characterized by enthusiasm, ardor, or zeal; fervent; as, a warm advocate; warm support. d Lively; sprightly; glowing; as, a warm imagination. e Inclined to or aroused by sexual excitement; amorous; passionate; also, manifesting such passion; hence, indelicate or verging upon indelicacy.
8. Newly made; fresh; — said of a scent or trail; hence: a Colloq. Near the object being sought; being close to the discovery of something concealed, esp. in play. b Slang. At a point where consummation, conclusion, or realization, seems possible or likely; as, to keep a business prospect warm.
9. Having a color or tone, esp. red, orange, or yellow, of something that imparts heat, as fire or the sun; specif., of a hue near red or yellow; as, choose a warm color for this room; a warm pink or purple.
Syn. — Tepid; heated; mild, clement; cordial, enthusiastic, eager, keen; responsive.
Ant. — Cold, chill; chilled; bleak raw; apathetic, indifferent, dull. See COOL.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

warm-backed	warm-colored	warm-tempered
warm-breathed	warm-complexioned

warm (wôrm), v.; WARMED (wôrmd); WARM'ING. [AS. wyrman, wearmaṅ. See WARM, adj.] Transitive: 1. To communicate a degree of heat to; to render warm; to supply or furnish heat to; as, the house is warmed by steam; to warm one's hands at a fire; enough coal to warm them for the winter.
2. To stir up, excite, or arouse, interest, ardor, passion, or temper, in; to render warm, as with sympathy, anger, enthusiasm, or zeal; to enkindle; enliven; as, experiences that warmed his heart.
Bright hopes that erst the bosom warmed. Keble.
3. To occupy; as, to warm a chair. Colloq.
4. To open (a house) by giving an entertainment to one's friends; — now only in housewarming.
5. To make things warm for, as an enemy by a furious cannonade. Rare.
6. To make (one, his back, etc.) warm by beating; to flog. Colloq. & Dial.
7. To impart warmth of color, life, or the like, to; as, to warm a dull room with bright flowers.
—, Intransitive: 1. To become warm or warmer in temperature; to become moderately heated; to grow warm; as, the earth soon warms in a clear day in summer.
There shall not be a coal to warm at. Is. xlvii. 14.
2. To become ardent, animated, or interested; to grow sympathetic, angry, fervent, or impassioned; as, his heart warmed at the thought; — often with up; as, the speaker warms up as he proceeds.

warm up. a To reheat (cooked food); hence, to prepare (a meal) by reheating leftovers. b To become interested, friendly, amorous, etc., gradually or by slow stages; as, see children warm up to each other. c To engage in exercise or practice immediately before entering a game or contest in order to limber up the muscles, work up speed, etc. d To operate or work slowly at first before reaching fullness of speed, activity, etc.; to accelerate gradually.

warm, n. 1. Warmth; heat. Dial.
2. Act of warming, or state of being warmed; a warming; a heating. Colloq.
3. Something warm; — now in British warm (which see).

warm, adv. [AS. wearme.] Warmly; in a warm manner.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

warm-clad	warm-lying	warm-tinted warm-contested	warm-reeking	warm-working warm-glowing	warm-sheltered	warm-wrapped warm-kept

war'man (wôr'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A warrior; a soldier.

warm blood. a See BLOOD, n., 8. b See BLOOD, n., 16.

warm'-blood'ed (66), adj. 1. Having warm blood; specif., having a relatively high and constant body temperature, usually considerably above that of the surrounding medium, as birds and mammals; homoiothermic; haematothermal; — opposed to cold-blooded.
2. Fervent or ardent in temper or spirit; warmhearted; also, irascible; quick-tempered.

warmed (wôrmd), adj. That has been heated or made warm; heated. — warm'ed·ly (wôr'mĕd·lĭ; -mĭd·lĭ; 119), adv.

warmed'-o'ver, adj. Reheated, as cooked food; hence, not fresh or new; stale; as, that is warmed-over cabbage, that is an old story.

warm'er (wôr'mĕr), n. One who or that which warms; specif.: a A workman who heats pipes, rivets, rubber, etc. b A device for warming or keeping warm, as foods etc.; — usually qualified; as, foot warmer; vegetable warmer.

warm'ful (wôrm'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. Full of or affording warmth. Now Rare.

warm'heart'ed (-här'tĕd; -tĭd; 66; 119), adj. Having or indicating strong affection; of an affectionate or friendly disposition; cordial; hearty; sympathetic. — warm'heart'ed·ly, adv. — warm'heart'ed·ness, n.
Syn. — Generous, kind, friendly, sympathetic.
Ant. — Cold-hearted, unsympathetic, heartless, unfeeling.

warm'house' (-hous'), n. Hort. A hothouse.

warm'ing, n. The action of one who or that which warms; specif., Slang, a thrashing; a trouncing.

warming house. Eccl. A calefactory.

---

ward'word', n. An answering slogan: a retaliatory word. Obs.

ware. † VAIR, WAR, WARY, WEAR.

ware'ful (wâr'fŏŏl), adj. Wary. Obs. — ware'ful·ness, n. Obs.

ware'house'age, n. See -AGE e.

ware'house·ful', n. See -FUL, 2.

ware'house'er, n. = WAREHOUSEMAN b.

war'ence (wôr'ĕns), n. [OF. warance (F. garance).] Madder. Obs.

ware'ness, n. Wariness. Obs.

warente. † WARRANT.

war'ent·ment, n. [Cf. ONF. warnement (OF. garnement) equipment, garment. Cf. GARMENT.] Military apparel. Obs.

ware'ship, n. Wariness. Obs.

warf. Var. of WARP.

war'gus (wär'gŭs), n. Latinized form of AS. wearg, a criminal. Obs.

war'ha'ble (wôr'hā'b'l), adj. [war + hable, var. of able.] Fit for war. Obs.

war'i·ance, n. [Cf. WARY, v.; -ANCE.] Quarrelsomeness. Obs.

war'ied, past part. of WARY. Accursed. Obs.

war'i·er (wär'ĭ·ĕr), n. [See WARY, v.] A curser. Obs.

war'i·ly (-ĭ·lĭ), adv. of WARY.

war'i·ment (-mĕnt), n. Wariness. Obs. [See -NESS.]

war'i·ness (-ĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n.

wark'lume'. Var. of WARKLOOM.

warl' (wärl). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WORLD.

warld (wärld; wärl). Var. of WORLD. Obs. exc. Dial.

war'less, adj. See -LESS. — war'less·ly, adv.

warlow. † WARLOCK.

war'ly (wôr'lĭ), adj. Warlike. — adv. Warlikely. Both Obs.

warl'y (wär'lĭ). Scot. form of WORLDLY.

warm'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

warmd. Warmed. Ref. Sp.

warmed'-up', adj. a = WARMED-OVER. b = SHORT-TEED.

warm'-head'ed (66), adj. Excitable; enthusiastic. Rare.

warming pad. A body or bed warmer operated electrically or chemically.

warming pan. 1. A long-handled covered pan into which live coals are put, formerly used for warming beds.
2. Hence: a One who warms a bed by lying in it. b One who fills temporarily a position or office intended for another; a locum tenens.

war'mon'ger (wôr'mŭng'gĕr), n. 1. A mercenary. Obs.
2. One who stirs up war; a jingo.

war'mon'ger·ing, n. The acts or practices of a warmonger.

war'mouth (wôr'mouth), n. A fresh-water sunfish (Chaenobryttus gulosus) of the eastern United States, chiefly west or south of the Alleghenies.

warm spot. See TEMPERATURE SENSATION.

Warm Spring Apache. See GILA APACHE.

warmth (wôrmth; 206), n. 1. Quality or state of being warm in temperature; gentle heat; as, the warmth of the sun or a room.
2. Quality or state of being warm in feeling; emotional intensity; variously, zeal, ardor, fervor, passion, enthusiasm, irritation, anger, etc.; as, warmth of love or piety; to reply with much warmth.
3. Paint. A glowing effect such as is produced by the use of warm colors.
Syn. — Fervency, heat, glow, earnestness, animation, excitement, vehemence.
Ant. — Coldness; disinterest, apathy, indifference.

warm water. Moderately heated water; specif., Biogeog., an ocean or sea not in the arctic or antarctic regions. — warm'-wa'ter (66), adj.

warn (wôrn), v. t. [ME. wernen, warnen, fr. AS. wiernan, wyrnan, wearnian. See WARN to admonish.] Obs. a To prevent; hinder. b To refuse; deny. c To forbid; oppose.

warn, n. Denial; refusal. Obs.

warn (wôrn), v.; WARNED (wôrnd); WARN'ING. [ME. warnen, warnien, fr. AS. warnian, warenian, wearnian, to take heed, to warn; akin to AS. wearn denial, refusal, OS. warnian, wernian, to refuse, G. warnen to warn, ON. varna to refuse, and to Goth. warjan to hinder. See WEIR.] Transitive: 1. To put on guard; to give notice, information, or intimation, to beforehand (of approaching or probable danger or evil, or the like); to caution; as, to warn one of danger or against trespassing.
2. To admonish; reprehend; counsel; as, you should warn him.
3. To notify or apprise, esp. in advance; to make aware; to inform; to call to one's attention; as, to warn one of an advanced sailing; the clock warned them that their time was up.
4. To notify or summon by authority; to command; bid to go or leave; as, to warn a tenant out of a house.

Our child did come before I was warned for the draft. H. G. Wells.

—, Intransitive: To give a warning; specif., Dial., of a clock, to strike a (specified) hour or to make sounds preparatory to striking.
Syn. — WARN, CAUTION. WARN, as here compared, is the stronger and more general term, and often implies admonitory notification; to CAUTION is esp. to put one on one's guard (against something) or to suggest precautions; as, to warn of impending danger, to warn one against the consequences of one's folly, to warn one off the premises; to caution one against unwarranted expectations, to caution one to avoid overheating. Cf. ADVICE, REPROVE.

warn off. To prohibit (one) from advancing, trespassing, etc., by a warning gesture, notice, or order, or the like.

warn, n. A warning or intimation. Rare.

warn (wärn). Variant of WON (coin).

warn, warnd (wärn(d); wän(d)). Shortened forms of WARRANT. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

warn'er (wôr'nĕr), n. One who or that which warns.

warn'er (wär'nĕr), n. [Prob. fr. warden.] A warden, esp. churchwarden. Dial. Eng.

war neurosis. A neurosis, usually hysteria or anxiety neurosis, occurring in soldiers during war. See SHELL SHOCK.

warn'ing, n. [AS. wearnung, war(e)nung.] 1. The act of one that warns; the act or fact of putting one on his guard, of intimating danger, evil consequences, or penalties, of an act or course of conduct, or of notifying in advance; also, the fact or state of being warned; as, to give warning; to ignore a warning; he had warning of his illness.
2. Something that warns or serves to warn, as a portent, a cautionary sign, gesture, or notice, an advance notification, or a summons; specif.: a An admonition. b An example or case having a deterrent effect; as, his life (or he) will be a warning to others. c A calling; summons; also, a summoning bell or other signal; as, to sound a warning. d A notice from one or the other of two parties to some business relation, as that of landlord and tenant, that it will be terminated at a certain time.
3. Horol. The partial unlocking of a striking train accompanied by a sound intimating that the clock is about to strike.

warn'ing, adj. That warns or warns off; serving as an alarm, a signal, a summons, etc.; announcing something imminent or impending, or the presence of danger; as, a warning bell, gun, or light. — warn'ing·ly, adv.

warning color or coloration. Any color or arrangement of colors possessed by an animal otherwise defended, which serves to make it conspicuous and thus warn a possible enemy against an attack. See APOSEMATIC.

warning lever. Horol. The lever that actuates a warning wheel.

warning piece. a A gun discharged to give a signal; a warning gun. b A warning or signal; esp., a deterrent example. c Horol. A projecting piece that holds the striking train between warning and striking.

warning wheel. Horol. The next to the last wheel of a striking train, which carries a pin restrained by the warning piece and so controls the train.

war'nish (wôr'nĭsh), v. t. [ONF. warnir to furnish, prepare, warn. See 2d WARNISH.] To warn. Obs. exc. Scot.

war'nish (wôr'nĭsh), war'niss (-nĭs), v. t. [ONF. warnir (OF. garnir). See GARNISH.] To provision; fortify. Cf. GARNISH, v. t., 1. Obs.

war'ni·son (wôr'nĭ·sŭn), n. [ONF. (OF. garnison). See GARRISON, GARNISON.] Obs. a Provision; store. b Garrison.

war nose. The active, live end of a projectile, as a shell or torpedo, loaded with explosive and containing the primer.

war note. A summons to battle sounded on a trumpet, bagpipe, or the like; also, a war cry. Poetic.

war'noth' (wôr'nŏth'), n. Early Eng. Law. The obsolete custom by which a tenant who fails of payment on a set day is to pay double, and on a second failing treble.

War of 1812. See WAR, Table.

War Office. a In Great Britain, the office of the Secretary of State for War. It corresponds to the War Department in the United States. b Rare. In the United States, the War Department.

War of Independence. a See Revolution (American), under WAR, Table. b See Greek Revolution, under REVOLUTION, Table.

War of Jen'kins's Ear (jĕng'kĭn·zĭz). A war between England and Spain in 1739, precipitated by the cutting off of the ear of Robert Jenkins, master mariner, by a Spanish captain. It became a part of the War of the Austrian Succession. See Austrian Succession, under WAR, Table.

War of Liberation. a The war (1813–14) carried on by Germany and allies to free herself and Europe from the rule of Napoleon I. b The revolution of Greece (1821–29) against Ottoman rule. See Greek Revolution, under REVOLUTION, Table.

War of Polish Succession. See POLISH SUCCESSION, WAR OF.

War of Secession. U. S. Hist. The Civil War (1861–65).

War of the Austrian Succession. See Austrian Succession, under WAR, Table.

War of the Nations. = WORLD WAR.

War of the Palatinate. A war (1688–97) waged by Louis XIV against England, Spain, Austria, and German states. See Ryswick, under TREATY, Table.

War of the Spanish Succession. See Spanish Succession, under WAR, Table.

Wa·ro'ri (wä·rō'rĭ), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu-speaking tribe north of Lake Nyasa in Urori. They are short in stature and warlike.

warp (wôrp), n. [AS. wearp a warp in weaving; akin to OHG. warf, ON. varp a casting, throwing, Sw. varp the draft of a net, Dan. varp a towline. In some senses fr. the v. See WARP, v.] 1. Weaving. a The threads which are extended lengthwise in the loom, and crossed by the woof, or filling threads. The warp is usually stouter and harder-twisted than the woof. b One of these threads whether used alone or with others in a strand. c In a pneumatic tire, the cords, collectively, which form the carcass.
2. A set of four in counting; specif., a cast of herrings, oysters, etc., usually four, but sometimes three or two.
3. [From the v.] The state or fact of being warped, or not true in plane or line; also, an instance of warping; a twist, bend, crook, etc.; — chiefly of improperly seasoned wood; as, a warp in a door panel; the warp of a board or of a floor.
4. Specif.: a Any variation from a true or plane surface, esp. one caused by warping of lumber. b The amount a surface warps, or an allowance made for warping.
5. Figuratively, a mental twist or aberration; a perverse or abnormal way of thinking, judging, etc.; a pronounced bias; as, a mind free from warps; a warp against foreigners or in favor of the native-born.
6. Agric. & Geol. Sediment deposited by water, as when alluvial soil is formed; also, a bed or layer of such sediment.
7. Naut. a A rope used in hauling or moving a vessel, one end being attached to an anchor, a post, or other fixed object; a warping hawser. b The length of the shrouds from the bolster at the masthead to the deadeyes. Biddlecombe.
8. Textiles. a A complete web as it comes from a loom. b A fabric classified according to its warp (sense 1 a) rather than its filling or appearance; as, cotton warps.

warp (wôrp), v.; WARPED (wôrpt); WARP'ING. [ME. warpen, werpen, pret. warp, fr. AS. weorpan, pret. wearp; akin to OS. werpan, OFris. werpa, D. & LG. werpen, G. werfen, ON. verpa, Goth. wairpan. See VERVAIN.] Transitive: 1. Obs. a To throw; cast; hurl. b To fling (open, or on, off, etc.). c To expel; eject. d To emit; give forth; esp., to give utterance to.
2. To fall upon with violence; to beat; hit. Now Dial.
3. To turn or twist out of shape; esp. to twist or bend out of a flat plane by contraction, curving, cooking, etc.; to contort, as, the book cover was warped by the heat; also, Rare, to cause to contract, shrivel, or wrinkle.

Walter warped his mouth at this. Tennyson.

4. Hence: a To give a warp, or mental twist, to; to make perverse, biased, etc.; to give a wrong slant to; as, enthusiasms that warped his judgment; misfortunes that warped his mind. b To cause (one) to turn aside morally or mentally; to pervert; lead astray.

Cursed be the social lies that warp us from the living truth! Tennyson.

c To falsify, misinterpret, etc., by wresting or twisting; to distort; as, to warp the sense of a passage. d To deflect (one or something) from its course.
5. To weave or interlace; to make by weaving; figuratively, to fabricate; to devise. Now Chiefly Dial.

While doth he mischief warp. Sternhold.

6. To insert in the manner of a warp yarn; to intertwine as in forming a net. Now Rare.
7. Dial. Eng. a To cast (the young) prematurely; — said of cattle, sheep, etc. b To lay (eggs).
8. To let the tide or other water in upon (low-lying land), for fertilizing, by a deposit of warp, or slimy sediment; also, to fill (up) with warp, as a channel; to choke.
9. Aeronautics. To change the form of (a wing) by twisting. Warping is sometimes used to maintain the lateral equilibrium of an airplane.
10. Naut. To move (a vessel, etc.) by hauling on a line, or warp, attached to a buoy, anchor, or other fixed object; as, the tugs slowly warped the steamer into its slip.
11. Ropemaking. To run off the reel into hauls to be tarred, as yarns.
12. Weaving. To wind (yarns) on a warp beam; to arrange (yarns) so as to form a warp.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be or become twisted out of shape as by contraction or shrinkage; to be twisted or bent out of a flat plane; as, properly seasoned timber does not warp; also, Poetic, to become shrunken or wrinkled; to wither.
2. Now Rare. a To become twisted mentally; to have a bias or perverse inclination. b To incline in submission; to become subservient. c To be distorted in sense.
3. To turn from a straight or proper course; to swerve.

There is our commission,
From which we would not have you warp. Shak.

4. To turn or bend in one's course; specif.: a To fly this way and that; to whirl in the air. b To climb or crawl in a zigzag line; to wriggle one's way up, down, or along.
5. Naut. To warp a vessel; to move by a warp. Rare.
6. Weaving. To wind yarn off bobbins for forming the warp of a web; to wind a warp on a warp beam.

warp (wôrp), adj. 1. Of or pertaining to warp; as, a warp farmer; warp slots for baskets.
☞ PHRASES are: warp sizer, warp tier.
2. Warped; twisted; as, a warp wire.

warp'age (wôr'pĭj), n. Act of warping; also, a charge per ton made on shipping in some harbors.

war paint. 1. Paint put on the face and other parts of the body by savages, as a token of going to war.
2. Full dress; ceremonial or official dress; regalia; finery. Colloq.

war party. 1. Among the North American Indians, a body of volunteers on the warpath.
2. A political party advocating or upholding a war; a jingoistic political group.

war'path' (wôr'päth'), n. 1. The route taken by a party of American Indians going on a warlike expedition; also, the expedition itself.
2. Hence, figuratively, a hostile course of action, frame of mind, or the like; as, to take to the warpath; she is on the warpath.

warp beam. A roller on which warp is wound in a loom.

warped (wôrpt), adj. 1. Twisted or bent out of shape; turned away or aslant; distorted; perverted.
2. Fertilized or filled (up) with warp.

warp'er (wôr'pĕr), n. One who or that which warps; specif.: a One whose work is to warp a (specified) thing, or in a (specified) way; as, a mill or rubber warper. b One who or that which prepares a warp, as by beaming or laying it.

warp frame. A machine for making warp lace.

warp'ing, n. 1. The act of one that warps or the condition of that which is warped or has a warp; as, the warping of a door during the summer; the permanent warping of his mind; specif., a laying of a warp on a loom.
2. Concretely: a A thread or the threads of a warp. b A wound thread, as one attaching a fly to a fishhook. c A fertilizing or filling (up) with warp.

warp'ing, adj. That warps; esp., used in or for laying a warp on a loom, warping rope, or a vessel, for filling or fertilizing with warp, etc.; as, a warping machine, mill, or room; a warping hook or post; a warping buoy; a warping drain or sluice.

warping bank. Agric. A bank of earth raised round a field to retain the water used in warping. See WARP, v. t., 8.

warping chock. Naut. A chock of timber or metal in a port or in the bows, through which a warp, hawser, or line is run.

warping hook. A hook on which to hang yarn, used by ropemakers when warping the yarn into hauls for tarring.

warp knitting. A kind of machine knitting in which strands formed of interchained threads are knitted together. — warp'-knit', warp'-knit'ted, adj.

warp lace, or warp net. Lace having a warp crossed by weft threads.

warp land. Agric. Land fertilized by warp.

war'plane' (wôr'plān'), n. Any airplane attached to the military or naval service, esp. one designed for the purposes of war or engaged in warfare.

war'ple (wôr'p'l), v. t. & i. [Cf. WRAPLE.] To twist; intertwine; wriggle; also, to walk waveringly. Scot.

warple way or road. A bridle path. Dial. Eng.

warp net. Warp lace.

warp'-net' frame. Warp frame.

warp of shrouds. Naut. The length of the shrouds from the bolster at the masthead to the deadeyes.

war post. A post into which a war hatchet is driven.

war powers; sing. WAR POWER. U. S. Const. Hist. The specific powers granted by the Constitution to the government in time of war, extended by legislation and judicial interpretation, to allow it to take all necessary and proper actions to prosecute the war, such as, in the Civil War, the emancipation of slaves, and in the World War, the regulation of prices of food.

war proof. Valor tried by war. Shak.

war'proof' (wôr'prōōf'; 66), adj. See -PROOF.

warp stitch. Embroidery. An ornamental stitch worked on warp threads left by drawing out the weft of the material.

war'ra·gal (wŏr'ä·găl), war'ri·gal (-ĭ·găl), n. [Native name.] Australia. a The dingo. b A wild aboriginal Australian; a myall. c A wild horse.

war'ra·gal, war'ri·gal, adj. [See WARRAGAL the dingo.] Wild; untamed; savage; as, a warragal horse. Australia.

war'ram·bool (wŏr'ăm·bōōl), n. [Native name in northwestern Queensland wārumbūl a watercourse.] A cowal or similar depression. Local, Australia.

war'ran·dice (wŏr'ăn·dĭs; -dīs), n. [AF. warandise. See WARRANTISE.] Scots Law. The obligation, or the clause, by which a grantor binds himself that the right conveyed shall be effectual.

war'rant (wŏr'ănt; 185), n. [ME. warrant, warant, fr. ONF. warant (OF. guarant, garant, F. garant) a warrant, a defender, protection, partly fr. OHG. werēnto guarantor, prop. pres. part. of werēn to guarantee (G. gewähren, OFris. wera), and partly fr. ONF. warir (OF. garir) to preserve, defend. See GARRET; cf. GUARANTEE, WARRANT, v.] 1. Obs. a One who or that which defends or protects; protector; safeguard; defense; protection. b Safety; refuge; also, place of safety; a refuge.
2. Authorization; sanction of law or of a superior; command; also, a token of such.

When were the winds let slip with such a warrant to destroy? Cowper.

3. One who or that which attests the truth of something; a proof. Now Rare.
4. One who or that which vouches for or insures anything; esp., a guaranty or assurance; security.

His worth is warrant for his welcome hither. Shak.

5. A certificate or voucher; a commission or document giving authority to do something; an act, instrument, or obligation, by which one person authorizes another to do something which he has not otherwise a right to do, thus securing him from loss or damage. Specif.: a A writing which authorizes a person to pay or deliver to another and the other to receive money or other thing; as, a warrant on a city treasurer; a dividend warrant. b Eng. A form of receipt given to a person who has deposited goods in a warehouse, by assignment of which the title to the goods is transferred; as, a dock warrant. c Finance. (1) A short-term obligation of a municipality or other governmental body, issued in anticipation of revenue. (2) An instrument issued by a corporation, giving to its holders the right to subscribe to the capital stock of the corporation at a fixed price. d Law. (1) A precept or writ issued by a competent magistrate authorizing an officer to make an arrest, a seizure, or a search, or to do other acts incident to the adminis-warm'ish, adj. See -ISH. warm'ly, adv. of WARM. warm'ness, n. See -NESS. warmth'less, adj. See -LESS. warn'us. Var. of WAMUS.

war'nage, n. [ONF. warnir (OF. garnir). See GARNISH.] Provisions. Obs. warnd. Warned. Ref. Sp.
war'nel, n. [AS. wernagel. Cf. 5th WARBLE, WORMIL.] = 5th WARBLE, 2. New Dial. warner. † WARRENER. war'ne·store, n. & v. [ONF. warnesture (OF. garnesture). See GARNITURE.] Store; supply. Obs. warn'ing·proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. war n't (wärnt). = WAS N'T, WERE N'T. Dial. warp'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.
warp'like', adj. See -LIKE.
warp'-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. warpt. Warped. Ref. Sp.
warp'wise', adj. See -WISE. warr. Var. of WAR, WORSE. war'ran, war'rand. Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WARRANT. war'rant. † WARREN.

tration of justice; as, a warrant of arrest or attachment; a bench warrant; a search warrant; — often used alone as short for WARRANT OF ARREST, SEARCH WARRANT, or the like.

The term warrant, in the case of any foreign state, includes any judicial document authorizing the arrest of a person accused or convicted of crime. Eng. Extradition Act (33 & 34 Vict. ch. 52).

(2) Virginia. A magistrate's summons in a petty or summary proceeding; also, a proceeding so begun. e Mil. & Nav. An official certificate of appointment issued usually to an officer of lower rank than a commissioned officer. See WARRANT OFFICER.

6. Justification; reason or ground for something; right; foundation; as, there is no warrant for such a belief; what warrant have you for such conduct?

7. A warren. See 2d WARREN. Dial.

8. Short for WARRANT OFFICER.

— of warrant. Of value. Obs. — *out of warrant. Unwarrantable. Obs.

war'rant (wŏr'ănt; 185), v. t.; WAR'RANT-ED; WAR'RANT-ING. [ME. waranten, warenten, fr. ONF. warantir (OF. garantir, guarantir, garandir, F. garantir) to warrant, fr. warant (OF. garant, guarant, a warrant, a defender, protection, F. garant). See WARRANT, n.] 1. To protect; defend; safeguard; guard; save. Obs.

2. Now Colloq. a To declare or maintain with little or no fear of being contradicted or belied; to be sure of or that; as, I warrant it will be so. b To assure (one) of the truth of what is said; to tell with assurance or positiveness.

[My neck is] as smooth as silk, I warrant ye. L'Estrange.

3. To guarantee security or immunity to; to give assurance against harm, loss, damage, etc.; to secure.

I'll warrant him from drowning. Shak.

4. To give (one) authority or power to do or forbear to do something; to give warrant, or sanction, to; to authorize; as, the law warrants this procedure.

5. To give proof of the authenticity or truth of; to attest; as, the genuineness of the text is warranted by several facts.

6. Rare. a To claim immunity for; — with out. B. Jonson. b To license. c To authorize the payment of. d To dictate; command.

7. To give sufficient grounds or good reasons for or to; to justify; to require as a consequence; as, his need warrants the expenditure; the evidence does not warrant us to change our opinion.

8. To indict. Kentucky.

9. Law. a To secure to, as a grantee, an estate granted; to assure. b To secure to, as a purchaser of goods, the title to the same; to indemnify against loss. c To secure to, as a purchaser, the quality or quantity of the goods sold, as represented; to secure (a purchaser or grantee) by a warranty. See WARRANTY, n., 2. d To assure, as a thing sold, to the purchaser; that is, to engage that the thing is what it appears, or is represented, to be, which implies a covenant to make good any defect or loss incurred by it.

Syn. — See ENSURE, JUSTIFY.

war'rant (wŏr'ănt), n. Coal Mining. Underclay. N. of Eng.

war'rant-a·ble (wŏr'ăn·tȧ·b'l), adj. 1. Capable of being warranted; justifiable; as, a warrantable outlay.

2. Hunting. Old enough to be hunted; — said of a stag. — war'rant-a·ble·ness, n. — war'rant-a·bly, adv.

war'rant-ed (-tĕd; -tĭd; 119), adj. Having warrant; provided with a warrant; warrantable; specif., of goods offered for sale, guaranteed to be (such), to be as represented, or to last (for so long); as, warranted pure or for three years.

war·ran·tee' (-ăn·tē'), n. Law. The person to whom a warranty is made.

war'rant·er (wŏr'ăn·tĕr), n. One who or that which warrants.

war'ran·tise, war'ran·tize (-ăn·tĭz; -tīz), n. [ONF. warentise (OF. garantise). See WARRANT, v.] 1. Warrant; surety; security; guarantee. Archaic.

2. Obs. a Protection. b Permission. c Assurance.

war'ran·tise, war'ran·tize, v. t. To warrant; guarantee; protect; defend. Obs.

warrant machinist. U. S. Navy. = MACHINIST, 4 b. Obs.

warrant of arrest. See 1st WARRANT, 5 c.

warrant of attorney. Law. Written authority given by one person to another empowering him to transact business for him; specif., written authority given by a client to his attorney to appear for him in court, and to suffer judgment to pass against him by confession in favor of some specified person, esp. as used in connection with a note or bond accompanied by a defeasance.

warrant officer. a In the United States Army, a subordinate officer occupying a grade between that of commissioned officer and enlisted man by virtue of a warrant issued by the Secretary of War. b In the United States Navy, a subordinate officer appointed, or warranted, by the President (without approval of the Senate), whose duties are, in general, indicated by his title, such as boatswain, gunner, machinist, electrician, radio electrician, carpenter, pay clerk, or pharmacist. After six years' service as a warrant officer, one may be commissioned chief warrant officer to rank with, but after, ensign. The term commissioned officers does not usually include chief warrant officers. See also SAILMAKER.

war'ran·tor (wŏr'ăn·tôr; wŏr'ăn·tôr'; 66), n. Law. One who warrants.

warrant to sue and defend. a Early Eng. Law. A special warrant from the crown, authorizing a party to appoint an attorney to sue or defend for him. b A special authority given by a party to his attorney to commence a suit, or to appear and defend a suit, in his behalf. This warrant is now disused.

warrant trying. Trial before a single magistrate. Southern U. S.

war'ran·ty (wŏr'ăn·tĭ), n.; pl. -TIES (-tĭz). [ONF. warantie (F. garantie). See WARRANT, n.; cf. GUARANTY.] 1. Real Estate Law. Orig., the undertaking or obligation of a feudal lord to defend his vassal tenant in the possession of the land held of him as lord (whether originally received by the lord by commendation or not), or to give the tenant lands of equal value; hence, a real covenant whereby the grantor of an estate of freehold and his heirs were bound to warrant and defend the title, and, in case of eviction by title paramount, to yield other lands of equal value in recompense. As applied to an heir this is called a lineal warranty. A warranty imposed upon an heir of lands which had not, and could not have, descended from the warranting ancestor was a collateral warranty, as where a father granted with warranty lands held by him only by the right of curtesy. Such warranties were annulled by the statute of 4 Anne c. 16. This warranty has long since become obsolete, and its place supplied by personal covenants for title. Among these is the covenant of warranty, often called a warranty simply, which runs with the land, and is in the nature of a real covenant, breach of which gives a claim for damages only. There are two kinds, general warranty, which warrants against any and all paramount titles, and special warranty, which warrants only against the acts of the grantor himself and all persons claiming by, through, or under, him. In some jurisdictions this warranty is implied, without being expressly stated, in statutory short forms of conveyance.

2. Law. A collateral engagement or undertaking, express or implied, that a certain fact regarding the subject of a contract is, or shall be, as it is expressly or impliedly declared or promised to be. Breach of such an engagement does not avoid the contract, but renders the warrantor liable for damages. In sales of chattels by persons in possession, there is now (though not at the early common law, when sales were generally in market overt) an implied warranty of title, but, as to the quality of goods, while the law was formerly that the buyer must look out for himself, the Sales Act has established a number of exceptions.

3. Insurance Law. A statement or engagement expressly or impliedly made in a policy by the party insured, that a certain fact relating to the subject of insurance or the risk exists or shall exist, or that some act relating thereto has been done or shall be done. It must be literally true or fulfilled or the policy is void, it operating essentially as a condition precedent to the insurance, and it is distinguished from a representation, which is an inducement and need be only substantially true or fulfilled. See AFFIRMATIVE, adj., 4; PROMISSORY, adj., 2.

4. In general senses: a That which authorizes, sanctions, supports, or justifies; a justificatory mandate or precept; authorization; substantiating evidence; proofs; as, for such a claim there is no warranty in Scriptures; by what warranty has he assumed such powers? b Dial. (1) A guarantee. (2) A warrant, or writ.

warranty deed. A deed containing a covenant of warranty. See WARRANTY, 1.

war'ran·ty pre·sen'ti (prē·zĕn'tĭ). Insurance. An affirmative warranty.

war rebel. See Citation.

War rebels are persons within an occupied territory who rise in arms against the occupying or conquering army, or against the authorities established by the same. If captured, they may suffer death. . . . They are not prisoners of war.

Instructions for Govt. of Armies of U. S.

war·ree' (wä·rē'), n. [Mosquito ŭárí, perh. fr. Sp. jabalí, javalí, wild boar, fr. Ar. jabali, lit., belonging to the mountain. Cf. GIBRALTAR.] The white-lipped peccary.

war'ren (wŏr'ĕn; -ĭn; 185), n. [ME. wareyne, fr. OF. warenne, garenne, garende, warende (F. garenne), fr. varenne waste land, enclosure, preserve (of Celt. origin; cf. MIr. farr a post), but influenced by garer to make safe, secure. See GARAGE.] 1. Eng. Law. a A place privileged, by prescription or grant from the king, for keeping certain animals (as hares, conies, partridges, pheasants, etc.) called beasts and fowls of warren. b A privilege, often called a free warren, which one has in lands, by royal grant or prescription, of hunting and taking wild beasts and birds of warren, to the exclusion of any other person not entering by his permission. The warren is next below a park in dignity.

2. A piece of ground for the breeding of rabbits, etc.; a place abounding in rabbits, or small animals; also, collectively, the rabbits, etc., inhabiting such a place.

3. Hence: a A tenement or a district as crowded and as full of life as a rabbit warren; a densely populated dwelling, slum, or quarter. b A maze of narrow winding streets or passages.

war'ren, n. A milldam in a stream; — sometimes, Dial., spelled warrant.

War'ren, Lake. Geol. See PLEISTOCENE LAKES.

war'ren·er (wŏr'ĕn·ĕr), n. [Cf. OF. warennier.] 1. The keeper of a warren; a gamekeeper. Hist.

2. One who maintains a rabbit warren.

3. One of the rabbits of a warren; hence, one of a group living like warren rabbits.

Poor nomads . . . warreners of the waste. R. Bridges.

war'ren·er (wŏr'ĕn·ĕr), n. [Tasmanian warrenah turbo.] = MARINER (a shell).

Warren girder. Also Warren truss. A type of truss or girder. See TRUSS, n., 7, Illust. 28.

Warren hoe. A trade-mark for a kind of garden hoe used especially in making furrows for potato seeds. Hence [sometimes not cap.], the hoe bearing this trade-mark. See HOE, 1, Illust.

war'rer (wŏr'ĕr), n. One who wars.

War'ri (wär'ē), n. sing. & pl. One of a tribe of the Niger Delta speaking a dialect of the Beni language.

war'rin (wŏr'ĭn), n. [Cf. native name jarin in Victoria.] An Australian lorikeet (Trichoglossus novaehollandiae) having mostly greenish upper parts, a blue belly, and variegated breast.

War'ring·ton, George (wŏr'ĭng·tŭn; 185). In Thackeray's Pendennis, the brusque and melancholy, but generous and steadfast, friend of Pendennis.

war'ri·or (wŏr'ĭ·ĕr; wôr'yĕr; 185; 277), n. [ME. werriour, werraiour, fr. ONF. werreieor (OF. guerroieur), fr. werreier (F. guerroyer) to make war, fr. werre (F. guerre) war. See WAR.] 1. A man engaged or experienced in war, or in military life; a warring soldier, sailor, etc. Now Chiefly Rhet.

The stern joy which warriors feel In foemen worthy of their steel. Scott.

2. A South American hummingbird of the genus Oxypogon having a helmetlike crest.

3. The wallflower Cheirinia cheiri. Dial. Eng.

war'ri·or, adj. Of, pertaining to, or like, a warrior or warriors; martial.

warrior ant. A reddish ant (Formica sanguinea), native of Europe and America. It is one of the species which capture and enslave other ants.

warrior bush. = CURRANT BUSH b.

war risk insurance. Term insurance written by the United States Government for members of the military and naval forces.

war'rok (wär'ŭk), n. [OF. waroquier, garochier, to gird.] A girth; strap; rope. — war'rok, v. t. Both Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

war'–sav'ings cer·tif'i·cate. A certificate of the United States government, issued 1918–21, in the form of a folder with spaces for 20 war-savings certificate stamps, each of five dollars maturity value. A single stamp was issued in exchange for a card filled with thrift stamps (see THRIFT STAMP), or for cash. All were discontinued after Dec. 31, 1921. See TREASURY SAVINGS CERTIFICATE.

war–savings stamp. a A thrift stamp. b In the postal regulations and generally, a war-savings certificate stamp.

War'saw (wôr'sô). a Capital of Poland. b Figuratively, the government of Poland.

war'saw (wôr'sô), n. [Corrupt. of GUASA.] The black grouper (Garrupa nigrita).

war scythe. An ancient weapon like a scythe with the blade in line with the handle.

war service chevron. Mil. In the United States Army, a small chevron worn on the lower part of the left sleeve of the service uniform to indicate that the wearer saw service in the World War. A gold or blue chevron indicates service overseas; a silver chevron indicates service in the U. S.

war'ship' (wôr'shĭp'), n. Also war vessel. A government vessel employed for war purposes, esp. one armed for attack.

war'sle, wars'tle (wär's'l), v. i. & t. To wrestle; struggle; flounder. — war'sle, wars'tle, n. — war'sler, wars'tler (-slĕr), n. All Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

Wars of the Roses. Eng. Hist. See WAR, Table.

Wars of the Vendée. Fr. Hist. Insurrections of the peasants of the district, La Vendée, in old Brittany, western France, against the Revolutionary government, 1793–96, chiefly because of the Republican decree of conscription.

war song. A song of or pertaining to war; esp., among the American Indians, a song of the war dance, inciting to military ardor.

wart (wôrt), n. [AS. wearte; akin to D. wrat, G. warze, OHG. warza, ON. varta, Sw. vårta, Dan. vorte, L. verruca wart, AS. wearr a callosity, Skr. varṣman tip, top.] 1. Med. A small tumor on the skin, usually hard, formed by enlargement of its papillae and thickening of the epidermis which covers them.

2. An excrescence or protuberance more or less resembling a true wart; specif., Bot., a glandular excrescence or hardened protuberance on plants, as in wart disease.

3. Slang. a Someone or something suggestive of a wart; — usually applied contemptuously to one small of its kind. b Brit. A junior midshipman or young subaltern.

Wart (wôrt), n. In Shakespeare's 2 Henry IV, III. ii, one of the "country soldiers."

war'–tax' stamp. Philately. A postage stamp used fiscally to raise war revenue; — in some countries called a war stamp.

wart cress; pl. WART CRESSES. = SWINE'S-CRESS.

wart disease. Plant Pathol. a See POTATO WART. b = CUCUMBER MOSAIC.

wart'ed (wôr'tĕd; -tĭd; 119), adj. Having warts; verrucose.

warted gourd. A variety of winter squash (Cucurbita verrucosa) having a warted rind.

warted grass. An Australian grass (Chloris ventricosa).

warted spurge. The sun spurge.

wart'flow'er (wôrt'flou'ĕr), n. = CELANDINE a.

wart grass. The sun spurge.

warth (wärth; wôrth), n. [AS. waroth, wearoth, shore, strand.] A shore; a flat meadow; a coast. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

warth (wôrth), n. Wardage. Obs.

warth (wärth). Scot. var. of WRAITH.

warth. Obs. past tense of WORTH, v.

wart hog. Any African wild hog of the genus Macrocephalus, syn. Phacochoerus, esp. M. aethiopicus of South Africa and M. africanus of northeast Africa, having two pairs of rough warty excrescences on the face and large protruding tusks.

Wart Hog (Macrocephalus aethiopicus).

war'time' (wôr'tīm'), n. A period during which a war is in progress; as, the economies of wartime. — adj. Of, characteristic of, or occurring in, wartime; as, wartime activities, hysteria, or propaganda.

war to the knife. A war to the death; a conflict carried to the bitter end.

war traitor. See Citation.

A war traitor is a person in a place or district under military government who, unauthorized by the military commander, gives information of any kind to the enemy, or holds intercourse with him.

Instructions for Govt. of Armies of U. S.

wart snake. Any of several nonvenomous East Indian snakes of the subfamily Acrochordinae, covered with wartlike tubercles or spinose scales, and usually lacking cephalic plates and ventral scutes.

wart spurge. The sun spurge.

wart'weed' (wôrt'wēd'), n. Dial. Eng. A plant thought to cure warts; specif.: a The sun spurge. b = DEVIL'S-MILK a. c The celandine Chelidonium majus. d The nipplewort (see LAPSANA).

wart'wort' (wôrt'wûrt'), n. a Any lichen of the family Verrucariaceae, having a warty thallus. b = WARTWEED.

wart'y (wôr'tĭ), adj.; -I·ER (-tĭ·ĕr); -I·EST. 1. Having warts or wartlike protuberances; full of warts; covered with warts; verrucose; as, a warty leaf.

2. Of the nature of, or resembling, a wart; wartlike.

wart'y·back' (-băk'), n. The pimpleback, a fresh-water mussel.

warty egg. A marine univalve shell (Ovulum verrucosum) with wartlike elevations.

wart'y–faced' hon'ey eat'er. Any of several Australian honey eaters; esp., the wattlebird.

Wa·ru'a (wä·rōō'ä), n. pl.; sing. RUA (rōō'ä). A Bantu people of the Belgian Congo.

war vessel. A warship.

war'wards (wôr'wĕrdz), adv. See -WARDS.

war whoop. A war cry, esp. that of American Indians.

War'wick (wŏr'ĭk; wôr'wĭk), n. A statesman or politician, esp. one without office, who exercises a dominant influence over public affairs; — so called from Warwick the Kingmaker. See KINGMAKER.

---

war'rant-less, adj. See -LESS.
war'ra·tau (wŏr'ȧ·tou). Var. of WARATAH.
War'rau (wär'rou). Var. of GUARAUNO. war'ray (wŏr'ā), v. i. & t. [ONF. werreier (OF. guerroier, F. guerroyer), fr. werre war (F. guerre). See WAR.] To make war (upon). Obs. warre, n. [AS. wearr a callosity.] A knot; a gnarl. Obs. warre. † WAR; WARE; obs. or dial. Eng. of WAR, worse. war'ren·like', adj. See -LIKE.
war'ri·gal (wŏr'ĭ·gĭl). Var. of WARRAGAL. war'ri·or·ess, n., fem. of WARRIOR. war'ri·or·hood, n. See -HOOD. war'ri·or·ism, n. See -ISM. war'ri·or·like', adj. See -LIKE. war'ri·or·ship, n. See -SHIP. war'ri·or·wise', adv. See -WISE. war'rish (wŏr'ĭsh), adj. Militant. Obs. war'ry. † WARE. [Obs. Scot.] war'ryn, adj. Of the pine tree. warse (wärs). Var. of WORSE. Obs. exc. Dial. war'sel. Var. of WARSLE. warst (wärst). Var. of WORST. Obs. exc. Dial. wars'tle. Var. of WARSLE. Scot. — wars'tler, n. Scot. war'tern (wŏr'tĕrn). Var. of QUARTERN. Dial. wart'less, adj. See -LESS. wart'let, n. See -LET.
wart'like', adj. See -LIKE.
wart'proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.
War·run'di (wŏ·rŭn'dĭ), n. = BARUNDI. warve. Var. of WHARVE.

war'wick·ite (wôr'wĭk·īt; wŏr'ĭk-), n. [From Warwick, N.Y.] Mineral. A titanate and borate of iron and magnesium, occurring in brown to black orthorhombic prisms. H., 3–4. Sp. gr., 3.4.

war'wolf' (wôr'wŏŏlf'), n. [war, n. + wolf.] 1. Mil. A kind of engine for throwing stones, etc., used in the Middle Ages.
2. A savage warrior. Scott.

war'worn' (wôr'wôrn'; 181), adj. Showing the effects of war or military service; ruined, ravaged, or laid waste, by war.

war'y (wâr'ĭ), v. t. & i. [AS. wergian, wyrgean, wiergean.] To curse.

war'y, n. [AS. wearg. See WARIANGLE.] Wretch; scoundrel. Obs.

war'y (wâr'ĭ; 79), adj.; WAR'I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WAR'I·EST. [ME. ware, war, fr. AS. wær; akin to ON. varr, Dan. & Sw. var, Goth. wars, G. gewahr aware, OHG. wara notice, attention, Gr. horan to see, L. vereri to fear. Cf. AWARE, BEWARE, GARAGE, PANORAMA, REVERE, WARD, WARE, adj.; WARREN.] 1. Cautious of danger; carefully watching and guarding against deception, artifices, and dangers; timorously or suspiciously prudent; circumspect; as, learn to be wary; a wary diplomat or fighter.
2. Characterized by or manifesting caution; guarded.
It behoveth our words to be wary and few. Hooker.
3. Provident; economical. Now Rare.
Syn. — Cautious, watchful. See CAREFUL. Ant. — Heedless. See RASH.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:
wary-eyed, wary-footed, wary-looking.

war'y·tree' (-trē'), n. [ME. waritreo. See WARY, n.; TREE.] The cursed tree; gallows. Obs.

war zone Internat. Law. In time of war, a designated area, esp. on the high seas, within which rights of neutrals are not respected by a belligerent nation. The right to proclaim such a zone is not unqualifiedly recognized.

was (wŏz; 71). [AS. wæs, 2d pers. wǣre, 3d pers. wæs, pl. wǣron, with the inf. wesan to be; akin to D. wezen, pret. was, OHG. wesan, pret. was, G. wesen, n., a being, essence, war was, ON. vera to be, pret. var, Goth. wisan to be, to dwell, to remain, pret. was, Skr. vasati he remains, dwells. Cf. VESTA, WASSAIL, WERE, v. (pret.).] A verb form supplying the following forms of the past (imperfect) tense of the verb be: a The first and third persons singular past indicative. b The second person singular past indicative, with subject you; — widely used in the 18th century, often by standard authors, now regarded as grammatically incorrect or illiterate. c The first, second, and third persons singular, rarely plural, past subjunctive; — used in the 17th and 18th centuries. See BE.
☞ Was, indicative, is correctly used in the subordinate clause of certain conditional sentences when predicating what is actual or thought of as a fact; were, subjunctive, is obligatory, in the best usage, when predicating what is contrary to fact. Cf. SUBJUNCTIVE.

was, n. That which was; the past.

wa'sa·bi (wä'sä·bē), n. [Jap.] An Asiatic herb (Eutrema wasabi), family Brassicaceae; also, its thick greenish root, grated in Japan like horse-radish and eaten with fish, etc.

Wa'sa·ga'ra (wä'sä·gä'rä), n. pl. A Bantu people, the chief nation of the Usagara highlands, Tanganyika Territory.

Wa'san·da'wi (wä'sän·dä'wē), n. pl. A people between Lake Victoria and Kilimanjaro, apparently related to the Hottentots.

Wa·san'go (wä·säng'gō), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu-speaking tribe north of Lake Nyasa.

Wa'sat (wä'sät), n. [Ar. al-wasaṭ the middle (of the constellation).] See STAR, Table.

Wa'satch (wŏ'säch; wô·säch'), n. Also Wasatch formation. [From the Wasatch Mts., Utah.] Geol. The uppermost subdivision of the Lower Eocene, represented chiefly by nonmarine conglomerate, in the Rocky Mountain region. See GEOLOGY, Chart.

Was'co (wăs'kō), n. One of a tribe of Chinookan Indians dwelling formerly in Wasco County, Oregon, and now on the Warm Springs Reservation in that State.

wase (dial. wāz, wŏz), n. [ME.; akin to Sw. & Nor. vase, MLG. & MD. wase.] Obs. exc. Dial. a A wisp or bundle of hay or straw. b A pad, as of straw, to support a burden on the head. c Obs. A torch.

wash (wŏsh; 184), v.; WASHED (wŏsht) or WASHT; WASH'ING. [ME. waschen, fr. AS. wascan, wæscan; akin to D. wasschen, G. waschen, OHG. wascan, ON. & Sw. vaska, Dan. vaske, and perh. to E. WATER.] Transitive: 1. To cleanse by ablution, or by dipping, rubbing, or scrubbing, in water; to apply water or other liquid, water with soap, steam, air, etc., to for the purpose of cleansing; as, to wash the hands; to wash clothes or wool; to wash the floor clean of stains.
2. Specif.: a To cleanse with water the body or the face and hands of; as, to wash oneself before supper. b To rinse the interior of, as with an antiseptic solution. c To cleanse (the face, fur, etc.) by rubbing with the paws, which are intermittently licked clean; — said of a cat.
3. To free, as from ceremonial or moral defilement, by ablution with water or something likened to it in action or effect; to cleanse or purify in the religious sense.
Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity. Ps. li. 2.
4. To cover, drench, flush, or wet thoroughly, with water or any liquid or moisture; specif.: a To bathe or moisten (a bodily part or injury) with a liquid. b To pass water over or through, often so as to carry off material from the surface or interior; as, to wash out the conduit. c To pass through a bath of some liquid to carry off impurities or certain constituents. d To pass (a gas or gaseous mixture) through or over a liquid for the purpose of purifying it, esp. by removing soluble constituents. See SCRUBBER, 2 (1). e To bleach (a carpet, a rug) by a chemical process. f To bathe or wet with tears. g To give a bath to. h Now Rare. To occupy (oneself) in the action or sport of bathing.
5. To touch in flowing; to flow or flood along the border of; to dash or overflow against or over; to lave; as, waves wash the shore; to flow through and supply water to; as, land washed by the Missouri. "Roses washed with dew." Milton.
6. To move or remove by or as if by the use of water; specif.: a To clear, carry, thrust, deposit, or put (away, off, out, up, etc.), by the action or forceful sweep of water; to cause to be (in a specified place or condition) by the force of water or other liquid in motion; as, a man washed overboard; to wash a sloop up on the shore. "The tide will wash you off." Shak. b To remove, as dirt or coloring, by rubbing or drenching with water or other liquid; — usually with away, off, out. c To purge away or obliterate (sin, shame, disputes, etc.). d To waste or abrade by the force of water in motion; as, heavy rains wash a road or an embankment. e To move or form by the force of a stream or precipitation; as, to wash sand into the cellar; to wash a channel in the glacier. f To separate (particles), as from ore, by agitation with or in water.
7. To cover or daub lightly with an application of a liquid, as whitewash, varnish, or pigment; specif.: a To cover with a thin or watery coat of color; to tint lightly and thinly. b To depict or paint by a broad sweep of thin or watery color with a brush. c To spread over, as an animal's throat, with an outer or seeming tinting.
8. To overlay with a thin coat of metal by deposit from a solution; as, steel washed with silver.
9. To dephosphorize (molten pig iron) by adding substances containing iron oxide, and sometimes manganese oxide.
10. To serve or serve well as a cleansing agent for (clothes).
11. To launder clothes for. Dial. Eng.
12. To render (a prescription) available for use a second time by the use of eradicator. Slang.
13. Obs. a To immerse in baptism. b To sweat (coins).
14. Mining. To subject, as earth, gravel, or crushed ore, to the action of water to separate the valuable material from the worthless or less valuable; as, to wash gold.
—, Intransitive: 1. To perform the act of ablution; often specif., to cleanse the body or face and hands with water.
2. To clean anything by rubbing or dipping it in water; to perform the operation of cleansing clothes, ore, etc., in water; to wash for gold. "She can wash and scour." Shak.
3. To pour, sweep, or flow, in a stream or current, as over a barrier, against a cliff; also, to be carried or floated or to drift, as by the action of a tide, current, waves, or the like; as, ice cakes washing along the side.
4. To move with a lapping or swashing sound, or the like; to lap; splash; as, to hear the water washing.
5. To bear without injury the operation of being washed; as, some calicoes do not wash; hence, Colloq., to undergo successfully submission to a testing or proving; to bear or stand investigation; as, his story will not wash.
6. To fall, melt, disintegrate, or become detached, upon application of a liquid; as, the berg washes away slowly.
7. To be eroded or worn away by the action of water, as by a stream or by the sea; — said of a road, a beach, etc.
8. To serve, or serve well, as a cleansing agent.
9. To use washes, as for the face or hair. Obs
10. Exchanges. To make a wash sale.
Syn. — Clean, cleanse, purify, bathe.

wash down. a To move or carry downward by action of water; to facilitate the passage of (food) down the gullet with accompanying swallows of liquid. b To wash the whole length of or from stem to stern. c Scot. Mech. To work to a thin edge or featheredge.

wash one's dirty linen in public. To carry on or discuss domestic squabbles or scandals of family or party shamelessly in public.

wash one's hands of. To disclaim or renounce interest in, responsibility for, or further connection with.

wash one's spears. To spill the blood of enemies. So. Afr.

wash out. a To wash free of dirt, soap, chemicals, etc. b Colloq. To deplete of energy or vigor; to exhaust; — chiefly in passive. c Slang, U. S. To reject, discard, or eliminate. d To become faint in hue or disappear or to lose color upon application of water, esp. soap and water in laundering. e Rowing. To bring the blade out with a skimming of the water, not cleanly.

wash up. Colloq. a To wash one's face and hands. b To wash used dishes and tableware at the end of a meal. c = WASH OUT b.

wash (wŏsh; 184), n. [From WASH, v.] 1. Act of washing; an ablution; a cleansing, wetting, or dashing, with water; a washing of the face and hands; also, the process or work of washing clothes, etc.; the process of being washed.
2. A collection or aggregation of articles, as of clothing, set apart for washing, in process of being washed or cleansed, or a quantity washed at one time; a washing.
3. Waste liquid, refuse food, etc., from a kitchen or brewery, often used as food for pigs; also, Now Rare, waste water from baths, washing, or other domestic use; figuratively, worthless dregs of society.
4. Urine, esp. stale urine, formerly used in washing clothes, soapmaking, dyeing. Obs. exc. Dial.
5. That with which anything is washed, or wetted, smeared, tinted, etc., upon the surface, in order to produce a particular effect; specif.: a A liquid cosmetic, dentifrice, medical lotion, or the like. b A liquid mixture of slight consistency, as of cement, for coating a surface thinly. c Beaten egg and water or milk, used by bakers for giving a glaze to rolls, etc. d A thin coat of metal laid on anything for beauty or preservation or deposited on a metal for counterfeiting a precious metal. e Painting. A thin coat of paint, esp. water color. f Obs. A liquid used for recovering metal particles from refuse.
6. A wide sweep or splash, esp. of color, as if made by a long stroke with a coarse brush.
7. The flow, dash, rush, swash, or breaking, of a body of water, as a wave; the surging action or attack of waves; erosion by action of waves, esp. of the sea.
8. The sound of water, esp. waves, surging, swishing, lapping, etc., against or over a surface.
9. The backward current or disturbed water caused by the action of oars, or of a steamer's screw or paddles, etc.; a surge set up by and trailing after a moving vessel, a storm, tidal wave, or the like, esp. as dissipated in force or transmitted to a distance from the center of the disturbance.
10. Hence: a A similar disturbance or wavelike agitation in the air set up by the passage of a storm center or rushing object, as an aircraft. b Aeronautics. The disturbance in the air produced by the passage of an airfoil. c The dissipated current or force or a back eddy in the trail of an intellectual or social movement. d A surge as of intellectual impetus or interest.
11. A piece of ground washed by the action of a sea or river, or sometimes covered and sometimes left dry; the shallowest part of a river, estuary, or arm of the sea; also: a A bog; marsh; fen; as, the washes in Lincolnshire. b Eng. An estuary; as, the Wash between Lincolnshire and Norfolk. c A shallow body of water. d A shallow creek.
12. Material transported or deposited by water; specif.: a Loose or eroded surface material of the earth, esp. gravel and other rock debris, transported and deposited by running water; alluvium or silt, esp. coarse alluvium. b Substances collected and deposited by the action of water; as, the wash of a sewer, of a river, etc.
13. Western U. S. a An alluvial fan. b The dry bed of an intermittent stream, often at the bottom of a canyon; also, a mound of detritus spreading in fan-shaped corrugated slopes below a gash in a cliff; as, the Amargosa wash; the Diamond wash; — called also dry wash.
14. Soil yielding precious metal or gems under washing.
15. In various specific applications: a Insipid or wishy-washy beverage; vapid writing or speech. b The blade of an oar. c An underground den, esp. of a bear. d Washings. See WASHING, 6. e Rare. = ENGOBE. f Eng. A varying measure for oysters and whelks. g Short for WASH SALE.
16. Arch. The upper surface of a member or material when given a slope to shed water (= WEATHERING, n., 3). Hence, a structure or receptacle shaped so as to receive and carry off water; as, a carriage wash in a stable.
17. Distilling. a Fermented wort from which spirit is distilled. b A mixture of dunder, molasses, water, and scummings, used in the West Indies for distillation.
☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

washbasin	washhouse	washshed
washbasket	washmaid	washtub wash boiler	wash pitcher	wash water washday	washrag

-wash (-wŏsh). A combining form of the noun wash, as in:

afterwash	landwash	pigwash backwash	limewash	rainwash buckwash	outwash	whitewash hogwash

wash (wŏsh; 184), adj. 1. Pertaining to, or used or designed for, washing; as, a wash barrel, pool, or sink; one's wash bill or list; also, used in connection with the wash or washed clothes; as, a wash line; that has been used for washing; as, wash water.
2. Containing or relating to the preparation of wash, or the wort in distilling; as, a wash charger, cistern, or warmer.
3. Capable of being washed without injury; washable; as, wash fabrics or silk; a wash glove.

wash, adj. Washy; weak. Obs.
Their bodies of so weak and wash a temper. Beau & Fl.

wash'a·ble (wŏsh'ȧ·b'l), adj. That may be washed, esp. without damage; as, a washable silk; also, such as may be washed over by waves. — wash'a·bil'i·ty (-bĭl'ĭ·tĭ), n.

Wa·sha'ki (wä·shä'kē), n. An Indian of the eastern division of the Shoshoni; — from their celebrated chief.

wash ball. A ball of toilet soap.

wash barrel. Fisheries. A barrel in which split mackerel are washed with salt water to extract the blood before salting.

wash bear. = RACCOON.

wash'board' (wŏsh'bôrd'; 181; 184), n. 1. A fluted, or ribbed, board on which clothes are rubbed in washing them.
2. Hence: a A road or pavement so worn by traffic as to be corrugated transversely. b A ribbed surface, as of a shingle cut with a wobbling saw blade.
3. = BASEBOARD. U. S.
4. A fresh-water clam (Megalonaias gigantea, syn. Quadrula heros) of the Mississippi drainage system; — so called from the corrugated shell.
5. Naut. A broad thin plank fixed along a gunwale to keep out the sea, or a plank on the sill of a lower deck port for that purpose; — called also wasteboard or wash strake. In a small boat the rowlocks are cut in it.

wash boring. Well Drilling. A boring system by which material loosened by a bit is borne to the surface in the annular space between the bit and casing by water forced down through the pipe bearing the bit.

wash bottle. = WASHING BOTTLE.

wash'bowl' (wŏsh'bōl'), n. 1. A washtub. Obs.
2. A large bowl for water to wash one's hands, face, etc.

wash'brew' (-brōō'), n. Sowens; flummery. Dial. Eng.

wash brush. A large brush for applying a wash.

wash bulkhead. A longitudinal bulkhead in a deck ballast tank.

Wash'burn & Mo'en wire gauge (wŏsh'bĕrn, mō'ĕn). See WIRE GAUGE, Table.

wash'cloth' (wŏsh'klôth'; 184; 185), n. A cloth used for washing, esp. one's face.

wash'–col'ored, wash'–col'oured, adj. Colored as if with a wash or water color.

wash dirt. Mining. Earth washed for gold; washing stuff.

wash'dish' (wŏsh'dĭsh'), n. 1. A washbowl.
2. The pied wagtail. Local, Eng.

wash'down' (-doun'), adj. Constructed with provision for washing contents downward.

wash drawing. Art. In water-color painting, work in, or a work done chiefly in, washes, as distinguished from that done in stipple, in body color, etc.

washed (wŏsht), adj. 1. That has undergone washing.
2. Having tints produced by or put on in washes.
3. Overlaid with a thin layer of different color; — said of the colors of certain animals.
4. Of an inferior quality due to exposure to rain before burning; — said of bricks.
5. Agric. Eroded by surface runoff; as, washed soils; washed hillsides.

washed metal. Iron treated by the Bell-Krupp process so as to remove most of the silicon and phosphorus and not too much of the carbon.

washed'–out' (66), adj. 1. Faded in color; reduced in brightness of hue, as by washing.
2. Depleted in vigor or animation; played out. Colloq.

washed sale. = WASH SALE.

washed'–up' (66), adj. a Colloq. = WASHED-OUT, 2. b Slang. Discarded; done with; done for.

wash'er (wŏsh'ẽr; 184), n. 1. One who washes, esp. materials, animals, vehicles, etc., in processes of preparation, manufacture, or maintenance; also, a workman who attends to washers (sense 2).
2. A ring of metal, leather, or other material, or a perforated plate, used for various purposes, as around a bolt or screw to form a seat for the head or nut, or around a wagon axle to prevent endwise motion of the hub and relieve friction, in a joint as a packing, etc. An open, or c, washer has one side opened to permit the slipping of the washer under the nut without removing the latter from the screw. A bevel washer is thicker on one side than on the other and is used where the bolt axis is at an angle to the face sustaining the stress due to tightening. A blind washer is one not yet perforated. Cf. SPRING WASHER.

Washer, 2.

3. A similar ring used for decorative purposes.
4. A machine for washing anything, as clothes, or coal.
5. An apparatus in which gases are washed; a scrubber.
6. a The raccoon. b Local, Eng. The pied wagtail.
7. = KERSEY. Obs.
8. Paper Mfg. A washing engine.
9. Photog. An apparatus or device for washing photographic materials to remove the soluble products of development and fixing.
10. Plumbing. a = WASTE PLUG. b Eng. An outlet valve or faucet.

wash'er, v. t. To furnish with washers.

wash'er·less (-lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. See -LESS.

wash'er·man (-mȧn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. A man who works at washing clothes, esp. for hire; a laundryman.
2. A tender of a mechanism which washes, as in grain mills and paper mills.

---

warwolf. † WEREWOLF.
wary. † VARY.

Wa·se'gua (wä·sā'gwä), n. = ZEGUHA.

wa'sel, v. i. [AS. wāse ooze, slime. See OOZE mud.] To sink into ooze or mire. Obs. wash'a·ble·ness, n. See -NESS.

wash'a·way', n. = WASHOUT, 1. Chiefly Brit. Colonies.

wash'en. Archaic & dial. past part. of WASH.

---

wash'er-wife' (wŏsh'ĕr-wīf'), n. A washerwoman. Scot.

wash'er-wom'an (-wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -In; 119). 1. A woman who works at washing clothes or who takes in family washings.
2. The pied wagtail; — so called from the up-and-down motion of its tail. Local, Eng.

wash'er-y (wŏsh'ĕr-ĭ), n.; pl. -ERIES (-ĭz). A place at which wool, ore, coal, sand, gravel, crushed stone, or other material, is freed from impurities or dust by washing.

wash'er-y-man' (-măn'), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn'). One employed in a washery.

wash gilding. Water gilding.

wash goods. Material, as fabrics, which may be easily washed without loss of color or impairment of quality.

wash gourd. The dishcloth gourd.

wash gravel. Mining. Gravel washed to extract gold.

wash'hand' (wŏsh'hănd'), adj. Designed for use in washing the hands or for holding utensils for this purpose; as, a washhand basin or stand. Brit.

wash'house' (wŏsh'hous'), n. A house or building used or equipped for washing; esp., such a house or building, or an establishment, for washing clothes; a laundry.

wash'in' (wŏsh'ĭn'), n. Aeronautics. Such a permanent warping of a wing of an airplane as will give an increase in the angle of attack near the tip of the wing.

wash'ing, n. 1. Act of one who or that which washes, esp. for cleansing; ablution.
2. The operation of bathing, drenching, or coating with a liquid, for a particular purpose.
3. The action of waves or running water; the erosion or removal of material by running water.
4. The clothes or other articles washed or to be washed, esp. at one time; a wash.
5. A thin covering or coat; as, a washing of silver.
6. pl. a Liquid or other material that has been used to wash anything. b Material abraded or transported by the action of water.
7. Mining. Metal, esp. gold dust, procured by washing; also, a place where this is done; a washery; a soil yielding metal or gems under washing.
8. Stock Exchange. The execution of a wash sale.

wash'ing, adj. 1. Used or designed for washing or to facilitate washing; occupied with, or in, or relating to, washing, esp. clothes; as, a washing bench, powder, or day; a washing book or account.
2. Resounding; swashing. Obs.

washing bear. The raccoon.

washing, or wash, bottle. Chem. a A bottle or flask with glass tubes passing through the stopper, so that blowing into one of the tubes forces from the other a stream of water which may be directed upon anything to be washed or rinsed. b A bottle for use in washing gases by passing them through liquid contained in it. See BOTTLE, Illust.

washing crystals. See SODIUM CARBONATE.

washing engine. Paper Mfg. A vat in which rags, etc., are washed by a stream of water, and also drawn into fiber by revolving bars or knives.

washing leather. = WASH LEATHER.

washing machine. A machine for washing cloth in a manufactory, or clothes, household linen, etc.; a hand-operated or power-driven washer.

washing maid. 1. A maid employed in washing.
2. A trough with stirring mechanism for washing.

washing pot. = WASHPOT.

washing powder. A powder for washing, usually a soap powder containing sodium carbonate or other salt.

washing soda. A form of sodium carbonate. See SODIUM CARBONATE.

washing stuff. Gold Mining. Any earthy deposit containing gold enough to pay for washing it.

Wash'ing-ton (wŏsh'ĭng-tŭn), n. 1. The first President of the United States.
2. a The capital city of the United States. b Figuratively, the government of the United States.
3. The most northwestern State of the United States. See Gaz.
4. See TREATY, Table.

Washington asparagus. Hort. Either of two popular varieties of asparagus, Martha and Mary Washington, selected for productivity, quality, and resistance to rust.

Washington cedar. = RED CEDAR, 2 a; — used of lumber.

Washington cent. Any of several pattern cents or tokens, bearing a bust of Washington as type, issued between 1783 and 1795.

Washington Conference. A conference on the limitation of armaments and other matters, held at Washington, D. C., from Nov. 12, 1921, to Feb. 6, 1922. The nine countries especially interested in Pacific Ocean and Far Eastern questions participated, viz., the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, and Portugal. Six treaties, one declaration, and 12 resolutions, were signed. See FIVE-POWER TREATY a and b, FOUR-POWER TREATY, and NINE-POWER TREATY a and b. The 12 resolutions had to do with the revision of the laws of war, and with various economic and political problems of China.

Washington Elm. A famous elm tree in Cambridge, Massachusetts, under which Washington took command of the Continental Army in 1775. It was cut down in 1924.

Washington fir. = DOUGLAS FIR.

Washington hand press. A kind of printing press, operated by hand, perfected about 1829.

Wash'ing-to'ni-a (wŏsh'ĭng-tō'nĭ-ȧ), n. [NL.] a Bot. A genus of handsome fan palms of California and adjacent Mexico. There are three species. W. filamentosa, the Washington palm, attains a height of 40 to 75 feet and is crowned by light-green, nearly orbicular leaves, the segments fringed with long white threads. Syn. Neowashingtonia. b Syn. of SEQUOIA. c Syn. of OSMORHIZA.

Wash'ing-to'ni-an (wŏsh'ĭng-tō'nĭ-ăn), adj. 1. Pertaining to, or characteristic of, George Washington.
2. Of or pertaining to the city or the State of Washington.

Wash'ing-to'ni-an, n. 1. A member of the Washington Temperance Society. Colloq.
2. An inhabitant of the city or the State of Washington.

Washington lily. A large white-flowered lily (Lilium washingtonianum) of the Pacific coast of the United States, widely cultivated for ornament.

Washington Monument. A white marble obelisk erected as a national memorial of Washington in Washington, D. C. It is 555 feet high and 55 feet square at the base, and was completed in 1884.

Washington palm. The California fan palm. See also WASHINGTONIA a.

Washington pie. Layer cake with a cream filling or with a fruit-jam filling. U. S.

Wash'ing-ton's Birth'day' (wŏsh'ĭng-tŭnz). February 22. See HOLIDAY, 3.

Washington's bower. The matrimony vine.

Washington thorn. A hawthorn (Crataegus phaenopyrum), cultivated, esp. near Washington, D. C., for its bright-red fruit and handsome autumn foliage.

Washington Treaty. a Either of three treaties; the Five-Power Treaty, the Four-Power Treaty, or the Nine-Power Treaty. See these terms. b See TREATY, Table.

Wash'i-ta (wŏsh'ĭ-tȯ), n. [From Fort Washita, Texas, fr. Washita, var. of Wichita, tribal name of uncert. origin.]
1. The uppermost subdivision of American Comanchean (Lower Cretaceous) in Texas. See GEOLOGY, Chart.
2. Petrog. A variety of whetstone, coarser than honestone, suitable for sharpening knives, planes, etc.

wash'land' (wŏsh'lănd'), n. Land, or a stretch of land, washed periodically by an overflowing stream.

wash leather. Split sheepskin dressed with oil, in imitation of chamois, and used for dusting, cleaning, etc.; also, alumed, or buff, leather for soldiers' belts. — wash'-leath'er (wŏsh'lĕth'ĕr), adj.

wash'man (wŏsh'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. A man who washes clothes; a laundryman.
2. A man who applies wash or does washing, as in tin-plate making.

wash mill. Any of several machines for washing clay, hides, or materials for cement. — wash miller.

wash'-mouth', n. A tattler. Dial. Eng.

Wa·sho'an (wō-shō'ăn), adj. Pertaining to or designating an American Indian linguistic family, consisting of a single tribe, the Wash'o (wŏsh'ō), formerly inhabiting a small area about Lake Tahoe, in California and Nevada.

Wash'oe proc'ess (wŏsh'ō). [From the Washoe district, Nev., fr. Washoe, var. of Washo, tribal name, lit., man.] The process of treating silver ores by grinding in pans or tubs with the addition of mercury, and sometimes of chemicals, such as blue vitriol and salt.

wash'off' (wŏsh'ôf'), adj. Calico Printing. Capable of being washed off; — said of colors not fixed.

wash oil. Gas Mfg. Oil used in scrubbing gas, esp. coke-oven gas, to recover benzol.

wash'out' (wŏsh'out'), n. 1. The washing out or away of earth, etc., esp. in the bed of a road or railroad by rain or a freshet; also, a place where the earth is washed away; as, traffic was delayed by a washout after the storm.
2. The action of washing or flushing out a container or pipe; also, a plumbing device for doing this.
3. Slang. Someone or something that proves an utter failure or quite futile or worthless; one who is socially colorless or boresome; orig., Soldiers' Slang, failure to hit the target.
4. Aeronautics. A decrease in the angle of attack near the tip of the wing.
5. Geol. A channel cut by erosion in one sedimentary deposit and filled with the material of a younger deposit.

wash'out', adj. Of or pertaining to the process of washing out or cleansing the contents or interior of a container or pipe; as, washout plug or tap.

wash plain. An alluvial plain or tract.

wash plate. Shipbuilding. Any of several plates sometimes fitted in a vessel's bottom to prevent great motion of bilge water when the vessel is rolling or pitching.

wash'pot' (wŏsh'pŏt'), n. 1. A vessel for washing, esp. the hands (cf. Ps. lx. 8).
2. A servant hired to wash pots; an underbutler. Now Rare.
3. In tin-plate manufacturing, a pot containing melted tin into which the plates are dipped to be coated.

wash'rag' (-răg'), n. A piece of cloth used in bathing the face or body.

washrag gourd. The dishcloth gourd.

wash'room' (wŏsh'rōōm'; 200), n. A room for washing; esp.: a A room, as in a factory or hotel, with conveniences for washing the hands and face, often with water closets. b A room in a dyeing plant in which fabrics are washed.

wash sale. Stock Exchange. A prearranged fictitious sale of a given security for the purpose of influencing the market. The transaction is prohibited because there is no intent to make delivery or change ownership.

wash'stand' (wŏsh'stănd'), n. 1. A stand holding pitcher, basin, and other requisites for washing the person; also, the modern set washbowl.
2. A place, as in a carriage house or garage, suited for the washing of vehicles by having a proper water supply and drainage. U. S.

wash strake. Naut. = WASHBOARD, 5.

wash'tail' (wŏsh'tāl'), n. The pied wagtail. Local, Eng.

wash'tray' (-trā'), n. A laundry tub.

wash'trough' (-trȯf'; 185), n. A trough for washing ores or slimes or for washing the hands and face.

> It was not much of a toilet that I made in this first washirough of my experience. Owen Wister.

wash'-up', n. Act or process of washing up; a place for washing up, as dishes; a lavatory; also, anything that is washed up by the sea.

wash'way' (wŏsh'wā'), n. 1. On a roadway, a place covered by running water. Now Dial. Eng.
2. Quick disposal; also, disparagement; — in the phrase to make washway of or with. Obs.

wash'wom'an (-wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -In; 119). A woman who washes clothes, esp. as an occupation or for hire; a washerwoman.

wash'work' (-wûrk'), n. 1. = WASHING, 4.
2. = WASH DRAWING.

wash'y (wŏsh'ĭ), adj.; WASH'I-ER (-ĭ-ĕr); WASH'I-EST. [From WASH.] 1. Now Rare. a Watery or wet so as to wash about; oozy; slippery with moisture. b Moisture-bearing; — of weather, wind, etc.
2. Lacking substance, strength, or the like; weak; thin; diluted; watery; productive of flabby flesh in animals; as, washy tea, ale, or grass.
3. Lacking body or firmness of color or outline; lacking vigor, individuality, or distinctness of effect; feeble; as, washy sentiment or respectability; formerly, lacking moral stamina or strength of character; frivolous, loose, or worthless; as, she fell in love with a washy kind of a man.
4. Not firm or hardy; liable to sweat profusely from slight exertion; as, a washy horse.
5. Full of a liquid that washes about; as, a washy stomach.
6. Inclined or liable to wash; as, a washy bank.

Wa·so'ga (wä-sō'gä), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu-speaking tribe on the north shore of Lake Victoria.

wasp (wŏsp; 184), n. [ME. waspe, fr. AS. wæsp, wæpe, wæfs; akin to D. wesp, G. wespe, OHG. wafsa, wefsa, Lith. vapsa, Russ. osa, L. vespa, and to E. WEAVE.] 1. Any of numerous winged insects (order Hymenoptera) generally characterized by having a slender smooth body, the abdomen attached by a narrow stalk or petiole, well-developed wings, biting mouth parts, and (in the females and workers) a more or less formidable sting. They belong to many different families and include species of social as well as of solitary habits. Wasps exhibit great variety in their nesting habits and food but, unlike the bees, are largely carnivorous, in many cases provisioning their nests with caterpillars, insects, or spiders, killed or paralyzed by stinging, for their larvae to feed on. The wasps are commonly divided into two superfamilies Vespoidea and Sphecoidea (syn. Fossores). See these terms; see also VESPIDAE; DIGGER WASP. Cf. BEE.

Nest of Wasp (Vespa maculata), cut open to show internal structure. $\frac{1}{6}$

2. A waspish person; also, something that infuriates.
3. Angling. A fly fashioned to resemble a wasp.
☞ COMBINATIONS are: wasp'-barbed', wasp'-stung'.

wasp ant. A velvet ant. See VELVET ANT.

wasp bee. A cuckoo bee.

wasp beetle. Any black-and-yellow longicorn beetle resembling a wasp.

wasp'en (wŏs'pĕn), adj. Resembling a wasp, as in having a slender waist.

wasp fly. Any of various wasplike syrphus flies.

wasp'ish, adj. 1. Armed with wasplike barbs or stinging ability; as, waspish archers.
2. Resembling a wasp in form; having a slender waist, like a wasp; of the waist, slender.
3. Wasplike in nature or characteristics; quick to resent a trifling affront; characterized by snappishness; irascible; petulant; snappish; spiteful.
Syn. — Irritable, choleric, testy, peevish.
Ant. — Gentle, placid.
— wasp'ish-ly, adv. — wasp'ish-ness, n.

> Irritable to the point of waspishness. Edna Ferber.

wasp'ling (wŏsp'lĭng), n. [See 1st -LING.] The larva of a social wasp.

wasp nest, wasp's nest. The nest of a wasp; a place in which hovers a host of threatening enemies.

wasp'nest'ing, n. Searching for wasps' nest.

Wasp of Twick'en-ham (twĭk''n-ăm). Alexander Pope, who had a villa at Twickenham.

Wasps, The (wŏsps). A comedy (422 B.C.) by Aristophanes. It is a satire upon the litigiousness of the Athenians.

wasp spider. Any spider that resembles a wasp in form.

wasp waist. A waist suggesting by its slenderness that of a wasp. — wasp'-waist'ed, adj. — wasp'-waist'ed-ness, n.

wasp'y (wŏs'pĭ), adj.; WASP'I-ER (-pĭ-ĕr); WASP'I-EST. Waspish; wasplike; also, full of wasps.

was'sail (wŏs''l; -āl; wäs'-), n. [ME. wæs hæil, lit., be thou well, fr. ON. ves heill; akin to AS. wes hāl. See WAS; HAIL to salute.] 1. An ancient expression of good wishes on a festive occasion, esp. when proffering a cup of wine or when drinking a health to some one; also, Obs., the drinking of healths at these festivals.
2. The liquor used for a wassail; esp., a beverage formerly much used in England at Christmas, Twelfth-Night, and other festivals, made of ale (or wine) flavored with spices, sugar, toast, roasted apples, etc.; lamb's wool.
3. An occasion on which such good wishes are expressed in drinking; a drinking bout; carouse.

> In merry wassail he . . . peals his loud song. Scott.

4. A festive or drinking song or glee; a carol sung by wassailers. Now Dial. Eng.

was'sail (wŏs''l; -āl; wäs'-), v.; -SAILED (-'ld; -āld); -SAILING. Intrans.: 1. To hold a wassail; to carouse.
2. To sing carols, etc., from house to house, usually at Christmas time; — esp. in to go a-wassailing. Dial. Eng.
—, Transitive: To drink to the health or thriving of; as, to wassail the apple trees, an old English custom.

wassail bowl. A bowl in which wassail was mixed and served; also, the beverage itself.

wassail cup. A cup from which wassail is drunk; also, a wassail bowl.

was'sail-er, n. One who takes part in wassailing.

was'sail-ous, adj. Disposed to wassailing. Rare.

Was'ser-mann re-ac'tion (väs'ĕr-măn). [After A. von Wassermann (1866–1925), Ger. bacteriologist.] A complement-fixing reaction occurring with the serum of syphilitic patients, and used as a test for syphilis (Wassermann test). Ordinarily, the patient's serum is heated to destroy complement and then mixed with an alcoholic extract of beef heart (a nonspecific but effective antigen). Subsequently this mixture is added to a mixture of washed red-blood corpuscles (as sheep) and a serum (as rabbit) containing a specific hemolysin for them. If the patient's serum is syphilitic, it combines with the antigen from the beef heart, absorbing the available complement, so that there is no hemolysis (positive reaction). If the patient's serum is not syphilitic, no reaction will occur in the first mixture, and the complement is left free to cause hemolysis when the second mixture is added (negative reaction).

was'sie (wŏs'ĭ), n. Jewelry. A large cleavage of a crystal split for cutting, as an octahedron divided in two.

wast (wŏst). A verb form supplying the second person singular of the verb be, in the indicative mood, imperfect tense; — now used only in elevated style. See WAS.

wast (wäst). Scot. var. of WEST.

wast'a-ble (wās'tȧ-b'l), adj. a Subject or liable to waste. b Obs. Wasteful. c Obs. Desert.

wast'age (wās'tĭj), n. 1. Loss by use, decay, evaporation, leakage, or the like; waste.
2. Useless or wasteful spending of anything; loss through wastefulness; as, the criminal wastage of time and energy.
3. That which, or the amount that, wastes away or results from wasting.

---

wash'i-ness (wŏsh'ĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS.

Wash'ing-to'ni-a'na, n. See -ANA.

washout process. See GELATIN PROCESS b.

wash'proof' (66), adj. See [-PROOF.]

wash'road', n. = WASHWAY.

washt. Washed. Ref. Sp.

Wa·sir' (wȧ-sēr'). Var. of WAZIR.

was' n't (wŏz'nt). Colloquial contraction of was not.

wasp'hood, n. See -HOOD.

wasp'i-ly, adv. of WASPY.

wasp'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wasp'-mind'ed, adj. See -MINDED.

was'saild. Wassailed Ref. Sp.

was'sail-ry, n. See -RY.

was'sel. Var. of WASSAIL.

was'ser-man, n. [G. wassermann, lit., waterman.] A sea monster with man's form. Obs.

wast. † WAIST, WASTE.

---

4. Wasting; laying waste; desolating. Rare.
5. A waste or desert place; waste ground. Scot.

waste (wāst), adj. [ME. wast, fr. ONF. wast (OF. guast, gast), fr. L. vastus, but influenced by a kindred G. word; cf. OHG. wuosti, G. wüst. See VAST.] 1. Wild, uncultivated, and uninhabited; barren and treeless; unfit for cultivation or habitation; desolate; desert; also, Archaic, devastated or falling in ruins; hence, bare; empty; void; also, dreary; dismal; gloomy; cheerless.

The waste darkness of futurity. Scott.

2. a Lying unused for pasture, tilling, or planting; unproductive; unused or unusable for building; as, waste land. b Now Rare. Of a building, unoccupied or unused. c Of paper, a notebook, or the like, not written on; blank.
3. Vain; idle; purposeless. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

But his waste words returned to him in vain. Spenser.

4. Thrown away as worthless after being used or spent; lost or unused during a process, as by spoiling, failure, leakage, etc.; thrown away or aside after being produced as defective, or used merely as a preliminary model, or in excess of the needed or usable quantity; allowed to escape unused, as not needed; useless; refuse; as, a waste product; waste water, steam, paper, power.
5. Serving to conduct or hold refuse material; specif., carrying off or providing for, or regulating the outflow of, superfluous or waste water; as, a waste cock, drain, or spout.
6. Lacking features of interest; dull and monotonous; tedious.
7. Excreted by a human or animal body.
8. Obs. a Unneeded; excess; wasteful; lavish.

And strangled with her waste fertility. Milton.

b Scot. Destitute or depleted. c Rare. Untaught; good for naught.
9. Used predicatively: a In uncultivated condition; in ruins. b Disused; fruitless; as, talent running waste.

waste, adv. In vain. Obs.

waste (wāst), v.; WAST'ED (wās'tĕd; -tĭd; 119); WAST'ING (wās'tĭng). [ME. wasten, fr. ONF. waster (OF. guaster, gaster, F. gâter to spoil), fr. L. vastare to devastate, to lay waste (fr. vastus waste, desert, uncultivated, ravaged, vast), but influenced by a kindred G. word; cf. OHG. wuosten, G. wüsten. See WASTE, adj.] Transitive: 1. To lay waste; to devastate; to bring to ruin; Obs., to defeat.
2. To wear away or impair gradually; to diminish by constant loss; to use up; consume; spend; to wear out; formerly, to empty.

Until your carcasses be wasted in the wilderness. Num. xiv. 33.
To waste eternal days in woe and pain. Milton.

3. To cause to shrink in physical bulk or strength; to emaciate; to cause to be consumed or weakened, as by overuse, disease, or the like; to enfeeble.
4. To expend, spend, or use up, as time, property, etc. Now Rare.
5. To spend or expend needlessly, carelessly, or without valuable result; to consume or employ prodigally, idly, or without any considerable return or effect; to apply to useless ends; to squander; to bestow without return of appreciation or gratitude; as, to waste property, time, effort, or sympathy, as on or upon someone or something; a week wasted in following a false clue.

The younger son gathered all together, and . . . wasted his substance with riotous living. Luke xv. 13.
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air. Gray.

6. Hence: a To leave unrecognized, esp. for intellectual or artistic abilities, or unappreciated, as for its implications or its intangible value or relationships; — used only in the past participle forms; as, an actor wasted on provincial audiences. b To pass over without embracing or using to advantage, as an opportunity. c To allow to be used inefficiently or become dissipated or lost; as, power or heat wasted in the process.
7. To turn into waste or waste material.
8. To cause to deteriorate in goodness or quality. Rare.
9. Obs. a To diminish, dispel, or do away with, as grief or hatred. b To impoverish.
10. Law. To cause or suffer waste to (an estate).
11. Stonecutting. To reduce roughly to a flat surface by chipping; — usually with off.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be diminished; to lose bulk, substance, strength, value, or the like, gradually; to be consumed; to be used up or worn away by degrees; to dwindle; to grow less.

The time wasteth night and day. Chaucer.
The barrel of meal shall not waste. 1 Kings xvii. 14.

2. To fall away in flesh, health, or vitality; to become gradually feebler; — often with away; specif., of a jockey or contestant in preparation for a contest, to procure or sustain a reduction of flesh.
3. To be consumed or discarded or to pass without serving its purpose or a purpose; to live or to consume one's strength without performing one's true function; to produce no adequate result; as, time wastes too fast; men of ability wasting in routine positions.
4. To spend or consume money or property with overlavishness or without proper return; as, waste not, want not.

Syn. — Ravage, demolish, sack; dissipate, exhaust, expend; lavish.

Ant. — Save, preserve; repair, restore; gain, increase, augment; economize. See CONSERVE.

waste (wāst), n. [ME. waste, wast, fr. ONF. waste, wast (OF. guast, gast). See WASTE, adj., WASTE, v.] 1. That which is waste, or desolate; an uncultivated, uninhabitable, or deserted, place or region; a desert; a wilderness; hence, a desolate, unbroken expanse of water, snow, or sky; also, Archaic, a devastated region. "The gloomy waste of waters." Bancroft.
2. A plot or tract uncultivated or bare of vegetation; also, in legal use, a piece of land subject to the rights of common.
3. The action of wasting, or state of being wasted; needless destruction; useless consumption or expenditure; loss without equivalent gain; as, nothing was done without waste; willful waste makes woeful want; an instance or cause of wasting; as, a waste of time, labor, words, etc.; how to eliminate the little wastes in great establishments.
4. Hence, an overabundance or profusion, as of flowers.
5. Gradual loss or decrease, by use, wear, or decay; as the waste of the older rocks; beauty's waste; specif., loss through breaking down of bodily tissue; formerly and dialectally, a bodily consumption by disease; also, effete material of no further use within an organism; as, organs for ejection of waste.
6. Destruction, ruin, or devastation, as by war or natural catastrophe; an instance of such destruction; as, to repair the wastes of war; something which is so destroyed; as, thy beauty among the wastes of time. Archaic.
7. Obs.: a Useless talk; trash; rubbish; also, wasted labor. b The using up, esp. of resources or often of funeral candles. c Wastefulness; lavishness.
8. That which has no original value or no value for the ordinary or main purpose of manufacture; parts or fragments of original stock not of a size suitable for use in making the product for which the stock was secured, but which may be suitable for making another product, in which case the remaining parts or fragments are waste; damaged or defective articles of manufacture; superfluous or rejected matter; refuse. Specif.: a Remnants of cops, etc., from the working of cotton, wool, hemp, and the like, used for wiping machinery, absorbing oil, as in axle boxes of railroad cars, etc. b Fluid, as steam, allowed to escape without being utilized. c = SCRAP, n., 5.
9. Refuse from places of human or animal habitation; specif., garbage; ashes; rubbish; sewage; as, barnyard wastes.
10. a Obs. A spilling or overflow of excess liquid. b Short for WASTE PIPE, etc.
11. A remnant of people cast off as worthless. Obs. Nash.
12. Law. Spoil, destruction, or injury, done to houses, woods, fences, lands, etc., by a tenant of a particular estate (for life or for years) to the prejudice of the heir, or of him in reversion or remainder. Waste is voluntary when done by the willful destructive act of the tenant, as by pulling down buildings or plowing up a lawn; permissive, when due to neglect of proper care, as by suffering the buildings to fall for want of necessary repairs; equitable when treated as waste in equity though within the common-law rights of the tenant.
13. Mining. Refuse or gob; old or abandoned workings.
14. Phys. Geog. Material derived by mechanical and chemical erosion from the land, carried by streams to the sea.

Syn. — Prodigality, diminution, loss, dissipation; destruction, devastation, havoc, desolation, ravage.

Ant. — Economy, saving, preservation, conservation, thrift, husbandry, providence; protection, salvage, deliverance; rehabilitation.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

waste-cleaning	waste-hating	waste-preventing waste-dwelling	waste-making	waste-saving

☞ PHRASES are:

waste baling	waste dresser	waste puller waste box	waste duster	waste receptacle waste boy	waste filter	waste refiner waste breaker	waste girl	waste remover waste bundler	waste house	waste ripper waste can	waste incinerator	waste rubber waste cleaner	waste meter	waste shaker waste cock	waste motor	waste silk waste collector	waste opener	waste sorter
waste cutter	waste packer	waste washer waste detector	waste picker	waste water waste deviler	waste piecer	waste wood waste drain	waste press	waste worker

— in waste. In vain; to no purpose. Obs.

— to run, or go, to waste. To flow off as superfluous or waste liquid; to be wasted or lost without any use or gain being made.

waste bank. A bank made of earth excavated during the digging of a ditch and laid parallel to it.

waste'bas'ket (wāst'bȧs'kĕt; -kĭt; 119), n. A basket for odds and ends, esp. wastepaper. — v. t. To put into the wastebasket.

waste bin. A receptacle for household refuse. Brit.

waste book. Bookkeeping. A daybook. Chiefly Brit.

wast'ed (wās'tĕd; -tĭd; 119), past tense & past part. of WASTE. Hence: adj. That has suffered waste, wastage, or a wasting; as: a Ravaged, as by an enemy. b Impaired in strength or health. c Squandered; unprofitably used.

waste'ful (wāst'fo͝ol; -fĭl), adj. 1. Full of, occasioning, or involving, waste, formerly esp. desolation; destructive; ruinous; as, wasteful practices. "Wasteful vengeance." Shak.
2. Expending, or tending to expend, property, or that which is valuable, in a needless or useless manner; given to or characterized by waste; lavish; prodigal; squandering; as, a wasteful person or habits.
3. Such as wastes or causes waste, esp. unneedful or profitless expenditure or loss; — followed by of.
4. Waste; desolate; uninhabited. Archaic.

In wilderness and wasteful deserts strayed. Spenser.

5. Obs. a Useless; vain. b Unoccupied; — of time. c Consisting of refuse.

Syn. — Extravagant, improvident, thriftless.

Ant. — Thrifty, economical; parsimonious, stingy. See FRUGAL.

— waste'ful·ly, adv. — waste'ful·ness, n.

waste gate. A gate by which the superfluous water of a reservoir, or the like, is discharged.

waste heat. Heat rejected or escaping from furnaces of various types, as coke ovens, cement kilns, steel furnaces, and the like, after it has served its primary purpose.

waste'-heat', adj. Making use of waste heat.

waste-heat boiler. A steam boiler in which the waste heat from ovens, furnaces, etc., is used to evaporate water into steam.

waste-heat drier. A drier using waste heat.

waste inspector. An employee engaged to detect and report any waste of water.

was'tel (wŏs't'l), n. [ONF. wastel (OF. gastel, F. gâteau), of Teut. origin; cf. MHG. wastel a kind of bread, OHG. & AS. wist food.] A cake or loaf of wastelbread. Obs. exc. Hist.

waste'land' (wāst'lănd'), n. a Uncultivated, esp. barren, land. b = WASTE, n., 2.

was'tel·bread' (wŏs't'l·brĕd'), n. Bread made of very fine flour.

wastel cake. Wastel. Archaic.

waste leaf. Bookbinding. Originally, one of two extra blank leaves printed or tipped on as the first and last leaves of a book, and torn off when end leaves were affixed; now, an end paper or leaf.

waste'less, adj. 1. Inexhaustible; undiminishing.
2. Yielding little or no waste; as, a wasteless battery zinc.

waste'man (wāst'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. A workman who cares for waste.
2. Mining. = AIRMAN, 2.

waste'ment (-mĕnt), n. Usually pl. A waste fragment.

waste mold. Sculp. A mold which cannot be removed from the cast without being destroyed, and hence can be used in making but one cast. Cf. PIECE MOLD.

waste'ness, n. Quality or state of being waste; a desolate state or condition; desolation; barrenness. Now Rare.

A day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness. Zeph. i. 15.

waste nut. An internally threaded floor flange for a pipe.

waste of assets. Law. = DEVASTATION, n., 2.

waste pallet. = 3d PALLET, 10 b.

waste'pa'per (wāst'pā'pĕr), n. Also waste paper. a Paper rejected as not fit for use. b Bookbinding. = END PAPER. — waste'pa'per (66), adj.

wastepaper basket. = WASTEBASKET.

waste pipe. A pipe for carrying off waste, or superfluous, fluid; specif.: a Mach. An escape pipe. b Plumbing. The outlet pipe at the bottom of a lavatory, tub, sink, or the like.

waste plug. Plumbing. A fitting, usually having a plug, for a tub, sink, etc., forming the outlet opening.

waste product. Waste resulting from a process, esp. a manufacturing or physiological process; a product of waste of organic tissue or other effete material unfit for further use to the organism.

wast'er (wās'tĕr), n. [AF. wastour. See WASTE, v.]
1. One who wastes; one who squanders, consumes, or expends extravagantly; a prodigal; a spendthrift; also, Colloq., a dissolute fellow; a wastrel; a good-for-nothing person.

He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster. Prov. xviii. 9

2. One who or that which lays waste; a desolater; devastator. "Wastoure of Ynde [India]." Wars of Alex.
3. A vagabond thief. Obs.
4. A jockey specified as good or bad at wasting (see WASTE, v. i., sense 2).
5. A producer of massicot, which see.
6. Anything that causes, results in, or allows, waste.
7. Specif., an imperfection in the wick of a candle, causing it to waste; — called also a thief. Dial.
8. Something wasted; that which is useless or defective and therefore to be wasted or thrown on the scrap heap; a manufactured article so imperfect that it is comparatively useless, as a defective iron casting, etc.
9. Breeding. a An animal that does not thrive or that is thin, as a lamb or chicken. b An animal or bird to be disposed of as unfit for breeding.

wast'er (wās'tĕr), v. i. To waste; squander. Scot.

wast'er (wās'tĕr), adj. Wasteful. Obs.

wast'er (wās'tĕr), n. A kind of wooden sword or cudgel; — used in fencing or singlestick. Obs.

wast'er, n. Salmon spear; leister. Scot.

wast'er·ful (wās'tĕr·fo͝ol; -fo͝o), adj. Wasteful. — wast'er·ful·ly, adv. — wast'er·ful·ness, n. All Scot.

waste'thrift' (wāst'thrĭft'), n. A spendthrift.

waste trap. A trap for a waste pipe, as of a sink.

waste valve. Organ Building. = 3d PALLET, 10 b.

waste'-wax' proc'ess. The cire-perdue process. See CIRE-PERDUE.

waste'way' (wāst'wā'), n. A conduit or outlet for superfluous or waste water.

waste'weir' (wāst'wēr'), n. An overfall, or weir, for the escape, or overflow, of superfluous water.

waste well. = ABSORBING WELL.

waste'word' (wāst'wûrd'), n. An expletive; patchword.

waste'yard' (-yärd'), n. A yard for storing refuse.

wast'ing (wās'tĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WASTE. Hence: adj. 1. Laying waste; devastating.
2. Causing wasting; enfeebling; as, a wasting disease.
3. Undergoing waste; as, a wasting fortune.

— wast'ing·ly, adv. — wast'ing·ness, n.

wast'ing, n. 1. The action of devastation. Archaic.
2. Prodigal use, spending, or expenditure.
3. Gradual consumption or wearing away.
4. The action or condition of wasting away or gradually losing strength or decaying; specif., consumption; tabes.

wasting asset. Accounting. Property which is being gradually used up.

wasting palsy. Med. Progressive muscular atrophy.

wast'rel (wās'trĕl), n. [From waste, v. Cf. WASTER.]
1. Any waste thing or substance; specif.: a Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. Waste land or common land, or a piece of such land. b Anything, as a manufactured article, cast away as bad or useless, as an imperfect brick, etc.; a waste product.
2. One who wastes; a waster; spendthrift; also, a profligate; good-for-nothing person; vagabond; waif.
3. An emaciated and unhealthy animal or person. Dial. Eng. & Scot.

wast'rel, adj. 1. Rejected as defective.
2. Emaciated and weak; — of a beast.
3. Wasting or going to waste. Kipling.

wast'ry (wās'trĭ), n. Also wast'rie, wast'er·y. Waste; prodigality. Scot. — adj. Wasteful; prodigal. Scot.

wast'y (wās'tĭ), adj.; WAST'I·ER (-tĭ·ĕr); WAST'I·EST. Full of waste; specif.: a Obs. Having much waste space; hence, empty; desolate.

Great houses, costly and wasty. Wyclife.

b Containing or yielding much waste; as, wasty wool.

wast'y, v. t. To make waste; destroy. Obs.

wast'y, adj. 1. Liable to become waste, as by decay.
2. Like waste (sense 8 a), esp. cotton waste.

Wa'su·ku'ma (wä'so͝o·ko͝o'mä), n. = SUKU.

Wa'swa·hi'li (wä'swä·hē'lē), n. pl. of SWAHILI.

wat (wăt), n. A man; a fellow. Obs.

wat (wăt), n. Also vat (văt). [Siamese, fr. Skr. vāṭa enclosed ground.] A temple or other religious monument; as, Angkor Vat. Siam and Cambodia.

wat. Var. of WET. Obs. exc. Scot.

wat (wăt; wŏt). Var. of WOT, know. Obs. exc. Dial.

wat. Past tense of WITE. Obs.

Wat, Watt (wŏt), n. 1. Dim. of WALTER.
2. [also not cap.] A hare. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

Wa·ta'la (wä·tä'lä), n. An Indian of a Chinookan tribe, formerly living near the cascades of the Columbia.

wa·tap' (wȧ·tăp'), wa·ta'pe (-tā'pĕ), wa·ta'peh (-pĕ), n. [Can. F., of Algonquian origin; cf. Ojibway watab, Cree watapīy.] The stringy roots of certain coniferous trees, used by the Indians for sewing canoes, etc.

Wa·tau'ga As·so'ci·a'tion (wŏ·tô'gȧ). U. S. Hist. A compact of government drawn up (1772) by early settlers in territory along the Watauga River later forming part of Tennessee; — said to be the first constitution adopted west of the Allegheny Mountains or by a community of American-born freemen.

watch (wŏch; 184), v.; WATCHED (wŏcht); WATCH'ING. [ME. wacchen, fr. AS. wæccan, wacian, akin to wacan. See WAKE, v.; cf. WATCH, n.] Intransitive: 1. To be awake; to be or continue without sleep; to wake; to keep vigil, often as a devotional exercise.

Couldest thou not watch one hour? Mark xiv. 37.

2. a To be attentive or vigilant; to give heed; to be on one's guard or on the lookout. b To see or attend to it or waste. † WAIST. [BOARD, 5.] waste'board', n. Naut. = WASHwaste'good', n. A prodigal. Obs. was'tel·ful, n. A basketful; a walletful. Obs. waste'ly, adv. In vain. Obs. waste'proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

wast'ern, n. [Cf. WASTINE.] A desert place. Obs. waste'time', n. Diversion; — a play on pastime. Obs.

wastine, wasteyn, n. [ONF. wastine, OF. g(u)astine.] A waste; a desert. Obs. wast'land. Scot. var. of WESTwast'me, west'me, s. [AS. wæstm.] Growth; stature; fruit. Obs. — wast'me·less, west'me-less, adj. Obs.

wast'nes. Corrupt pl. of WASTINE. Obs. wast'rife, adj. & n. = WASTRY. Scot.

take measures or precautions; — followed by a clause with that; as, watch that he doesn't fall.
3. To keep guard; act as guard; serve on a ship's watch,

The Son gave signal high
To the bright minister that watched. Milton.

4. To keep a lookout for any action, movement, or the like, esp. with a view to acting thereupon; as, watching like a cat; to be expectant; to look with expectation; to wait; as, watching for a signal.
5. To remain awake in attendance on the sick during the night; as, to watch with a man in a fever.
6. To remain unfolded or unclosed; — said of a flower.
7. Hunting. To take refuge in its lair; — said of an otter.
8. Naut. To float properly in its place; — said of a buoy.

—, Transitive: 1. To keep or focus one's attention upon; to keep under close observation for any purpose; specif.: a To attend with close attention or alert vigilance, with a view to what action or change may take place; to observe the actions or motions of; to keep in view; to gaze intently at; as, to watch a rogue, a person's approach, a hostile fleet, a chemical reaction; to watch the heavens with apprehension; to watch the light of evening fade. b To pay heed to, with expectation of a certain outcome; as, a watched pot never boils, that is, intentness of expectation seems to defer the event. c To follow intently the actions or motions of, with intent to capture or attack; as, he became aware that he was watched from the underbrush. d To follow with intentness of observation the movements of; as, she watched him out into the street. e To celebrate the passing or entry of (a year).
2. To tend; guard; to have in keeping.

And flaming ministers, to watch and tend Their earthy charge. Milton.

Specif.: a To spend the night in attendance or on watch beside (the sick or the dead). b To guard against theft or harm, as in the capacity of watchman. c Obs. To guard against escape or rescue, often with an armed force. d To serve as guard over or to guard against armed attack; esp., to keep night vigil over. Obs. exc. in the phrase watch and ward.
3. To lie in wait or be on the alert for, esp. in order to take advantage of; to bide, as one's time; formerly, to await or wait for; as, all day he watched the King's coming.

I must cool a little, and watch my opportunity. Landor.

4. To keep oneself supplied with information about; to study through progressive stages; as, to watch the spread of socialism.
5. To provide with watchmen; to police. Brit.
6. To catch or detect by watching or lying in wait. Obs.

Beldam, I think we watched you. Shak.

7. Falconry. To keep (a hawk) from sleep for the purpose of taming it by tiring it.
8. Law. To follow the trail of an action on behalf of one whose interests may be affected although he is not a party to the litigation. See WATCHING BRIEF.
9. Nav. To divide into, or assign to, watches.
Syn. — Mind; heed, observe, mark. Ant. — Neglect; ignore, disregard. watch one's step. To be wary of making a misstep; Slang, to act or talk cautiously, warily, or circumspectly. watch out. To look out; to be vigilant. Colloq., U. S. watch over. To be cautiously observant of; to inspect; to superintend and guard.

watch (wŏch; 184), adj. 1. Used while or for watching; qualified to watch; used or serving as a lookout; as, a watch mastiff or hill.
2. Of, belonging to, or used by, a watchman or watcher; as, a watch pole.

watch, n. [ME. waccche, fr. AS. wæcce. See WATCH, v., WAKE, v.] 1. State of being awake; watching; also, wakefulness; sleeplessness. Obs.

Watch truly is most agreeable to the day, . . . but sleep to the night. J. Jones.

2. A keeping awake for purposes of guarding, protecting, attending, or the like; watching, as a sentinel; preservative or preventive vigilance; vigil; formerly, esp., a watching or guarding by night. See WARD, n., 1; WATCH AND WARD.

Shepherds keeping watch by night. Milton.

3. Hist. One of the definite divisions of the night made by ancient peoples (by the Hebrews, three; by the Greeks, four, sometimes five; by the Romans, four equal ones from 6 P.M. to 6 A.M.). Hence, usually pl., one of the indeterminate wakeful intervals marking the passage of night; as, passed like a watch in the night, that is, leaving no lasting impression; through the silent watches of the night.
4. a Obs. Remaining awake as a devotional act; a devotional watching. b Obs. A wake (revel). See 3d WAKE, 3. c A wake over a dead body.
5. A flock (of nightingales). Obs.
6. The action of keeping up a steady or protracted vigil; the state of remaining alertly attentive to or on the lookout for any happening, motion, danger, or the like; as, to keep watch as of or on a person or thing; to set a watch; always on the watch for discrepancies.
7. Close observation, either protective or hostile in intent; as, keeping a better watch over the prisoner.
8. The office or action of keeping guard against disorder and lawlessness in a community at night; also, a tax levied for payment of watchmen in this service. Obs.
9. The office of sentinel or guard; service as a sentinel or watchman. Archaic.

He upbraids Iago, that he made him Brave me upon the watch. Shak.

10. A lying in wait; an ambush; ambuscade; a treacherous plot; as, a trout lies at watch for a fly. Obs.
11. Wakeful or vigilant attention; vigilance. Obs.
12. One who watches, or those who watch, for purposes of guarding, protecting, or the like; a watchman, or a body of watchmen; a sentry; sentinel; guard; a lookout; also, Obs., a spy.

Pilate said unto them, Ye have a watch; go your way, make it as sure as ye can. Matt. xxvii. 65.

Specif.: a Hist. A body of soldiers or sentinels making up the guard of a camp or town. b Formerly, a body of watchmen, or a watchman, assigned to patrol the streets of a town at night, crying the hours and serving as police. c Scot. Hist. A company of irregular Highland troops; as, the Black Watch (which see).
13. A hill suitable or used as a lookout station. Chiefly Scot.
14. The time during which a guard does duty; the time from the placing of a sentinel or body of sentinels until his or their relief.
15. Naut. a An allotted portion of time, usually four hours, for standing watch, or being on deck ready for duty. The first watch extends from the hour of 8 P.M. to midnight; the midwatch, or middle watch, from midnight to 4 A.M.; the morning watch, from 4 A.M. to 8 A.M.; the forenoon watch, from 8 A.M. to 12 M. (Brit. Navy 12:30 P.M.); the afternoon watch, from 12 M. to 4 P.M.; the first dogwatch, from 4 P.M. to 6 P.M.; and the second dogwatch, from 6 P.M. to 8 P.M. (called often, in Brit. Navy, the last dog or dogwatch) Cf. DOGWATCH. b That part, usually one half, of the officers and crew, who together attend to the working of a vessel during the same watch. There are two such watches, designated as the port, formerly larboard, watch, and the starboard watch, each of which is alternately on duty. c The turn or period assigned a sailor for standing watch.
16. Something which measures or shows the progress of time; specif.: a Obs. A candle marked out into sections, each of which burned a known length of time. Shak. b Obs. The cry of a watchman or sentinel. Shak. c Obs. An alarm attachment of a clock. d Obs. The face or dial of a clock. e Obs. The works of a clock. f Obs. A pocket timepiece regulated by other means than balance wheel and hairspring. g A ship's chronometer.
17. A pocket timepiece, or chronometer, with a spring-driven movement. The size is indicated by the diameter of the pillar plates, 0 size being 1 9/16 inches in diameter. Each larger or smaller size shows a difference of 1/16 inch.
18. Person; — with possessive pronouns; as, her watch, the woman spoken of; our watch, ourselves, us; my watch, myself. Cf. NABS. Old Slang.

☞ PHRASES are:

watch adjuster	watch jewel	watch repairer
watch bracelet	watch jeweler	watch ribbon watch cleaner	watch jobber	watch screw watch crystal	watch key	watch seal watch dial	watch movement	watch stand watch fob	watch pivot	watch wristlet watch holder	watch pocket

— to be on the watch. To be looking steadily and carefully or closely; to be on the lookout. — to have the watch. Nav. = TO HAVE THE DECK. See under DECK.
watch and ward, or watching and warding. Orig., the act of keeping guard; continuous, unbroken vigilance and guard. Formerly, in English and Scots feudal law, service of watch and ward in towns and cities was due from certain tenants, as in case of burgage tenure in Scotland; and later, this being abolished, the term was applied to the constabulary service.
Watch and Ward Society. An organization active in New England, esp. in Boston, which, by an official arrangement with the office of the prosecutor of Massachusetts, has acted as censor with regard to new publications. — Watch'-and-Ward'er, n. watch and watch. Naut. The regular alternation in being on and off watch of the two watches into which a crew is commonly divided.
watch bell. 1. Naut. A bell struck each half hour; — now called ship's bell.
2. A bell rung at the changing of a military watch or as an alarm or to summon the watch; a watchman's bell. Obs.
watch'bill' (wŏch'bĭl'), n. A watchman's halberd. Obs.
watch bill. Naut. A list of the officers and crew of a ship as divided into watches. watch'boat' (wŏch'bōt'), n. A boat engaged in patrolling. watch box. A sentry box; also, a shelter for a person, esp. a watchman or policeman, on watch.
watch candle. A slow-burning candle used during night watches or by those who watch by the sick or deceased or at a shrine.
watch cap. A knitted close-fitting navy-blue cap worn by enlisted men in the United States navy in cold or storm. watch'case' (wŏch'kās'), n. 1. A sentry box. Obs.
2. The case, or outside metal covering, of the works of a watch; also, a case for holding a watch, or in which it is kept.
watch chain. A chain worn attached to a watch, chiefly as a safeguard against loss. watch charm. A small ornament designed to dangle from a watch chain.
watch clock. 1. A timepiece showing hours and minutes; a clock with an alarm. Obs.
2. = WATCHMAN'S CLOCK.
watch coat. Rarely, watch cloak. [Corrupt. of Lenape wachgutey, wachgotey, petticoat. Cf. MATCHCOAT.] Chiefly Naut. A heavy overcoat worn in rough or cold weather, as by a watch officer; also, a pea jacket or reefer. watch'cry' (wŏch'krī'), n. The cry of a watchman making rounds; a word or phrase briefly enunciating the guiding principle of a party or movement. Cf. WATCHWORD. watch'dog' (wŏch'dŏg'; 184; 185), n. A dog kept to watch and guard premises or property; by extension, any watchful guardian against loss, waste, or the like. — adj. Characteristic of, or serving as, a watchdog. — v. t. To guard as a watchdog. watched (wŏcht; 184), past tense & past part. of WATCH. Hence: adj. That has been guarded, observed, attended to, etc.; as, a watched pot never boils (see WATCH, v. t., 1 b). watch'er (wŏch'ĕr), n. One who watches; specif.: a One who sits up or continues awake. b An observer, esp. a diligent one. c Obs. A spy; a scout. d One who keeps awake for the purpose of guarding or attending, as a watchman; esp., an employee who watches in caretaking or supervision. e One who attends on the sick at night or keeps watch beside a deceased person. f = OBSERVER, 4. g A representative of a party who attends the polls at an election to watch the conduct of officials and voters; also, sometimes, opprobriously, one paid to get out a candidate's vote and to visit the polls in his interests. h An angel or celestial being.
watch'et (-ĕt; -ĭt; 119), adj. & n. [ME. wachet, fr. ONF. wachet a sort of stuff (cloth), of obscure origin.] Designating a pale-blue or light-blue color, cloth, or angling fly. Archaic.
watch fire. A fire lighted at night, as a signal, or for the use of a watch or guard.
watch fob. = FOB CHAIN.
watch'free' (wŏch'frē'; 66), adj. Free from obligation to serve in a watch or as a watcher. watch'ful (wŏch'fŏŏl; -fĭ), adj. 1. Wakeful; sleepless; causing wakefulness; spent in watching. Archaic.

"Many a watchful night." Shak.

2. Devoted wholly or fully to watching; full of vigilance; vigilant; attentive; cautious; on the watch; — with of before a thing to be regulated or guarded; as, watchful of one's behavior; and with against before a thing to be avoided; as, watchful against enemies or vicious habits.

"Happy watchful shepherds." Milton.

3. That is characterized by vigilance; as, watchful care.
4. Necessitating vigilance. Archaic.
Syn. and Ant. — See VIGILANT.
— watch'ful·ly, adv. — watch'ful·ness, n.

watchful waiting. Noninterference in the affairs of another, while keeping watch of his movements or progress; — first used by Pres. Wilson (First Annual Message, Dec. 2, 1913) with reference to his policy toward Mexico. watch glass. Also watch'glass', n. 1. A sandglass for measuring the time of a watch; Naut., a half-hour glass to measure the time of a watch on deck.
2. A concavo-convex glass for covering the face of a watch; a watch crystal.
3. As scientific equipment, any article (usually of glass) having a similar shape, but made in various sizes and thicknesses, used for covering beakers, etc.; a small concave glass receptacle for material under observation, as algae prepared for microscopic study. watch'glass·ful' (wŏch'glăs·fŏŏl'), n.; pl. -FULS (-fŏŏlz'). The quantity that a watch glass holds. watch guard. A chain, cord, or the like, by which a watch is attached to the person.
watch gun. Naut. A gun sometimes fired on shipboard at 8 P.M., when the first watch begins. watch hand. Either the hour hand or the minute hand of a watch.
watch'–hand', adj. Of, pertaining to, or suggestive of, a watch hand, as in appearance, direction of movement, etc.; as, watch-hand rotation is a rotation from left to right, or clockwise.
watch header. Naut. An officer in charge of a watch.
watch'house' (wŏch'hous'), n. a A house in which a watch or guard is placed, as a lodge gate of a mill. b A place where persons under temporary arrest are kept; a police station.
watch'ing, n. The action or an instance of keeping watch or watching; the state of remaining awake; often, specif., wakefulness from inability to sleep.
watch'ing, adj. Engaged in keeping watch or guard; vigilant; used while or for watching or at a watch. — watch'ing·ly, adv.
watching brief. a Eng. Law. A retainer of a lawyer merely to watch proceedings for one not a party to them. b A commission to observe proceedings, as, of a legislative body, for persons who may be concerned in them.
watching rate. = WATCH RATE. watch'keep'er (wŏch'kēp'ĕr), n. One who keeps watch; one who serves in a ship's watch; an officer in charge of a ship's watch.
watch'less, adj. 1. Not watching; lacking vigilance; unguarded.
2. Having no watch or watchman.
3. Not divided into watches; not marked by wakefulness. — watch'less·ness, n. watch light. A light used by watchers or a watchman, esp. a slow-burning candle for night watches.
watch'mak'er (wŏch'măk'ĕr), n. One who makes or repairs watches. — watch'mak'ing (-Ĭng), n.
watch'man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. One set to watch; a guard; sentinel; specif., one who guards a building, or, formerly, one who guarded the streets of a city, by night.
2. Obs. = WATCHER c, d, e, h.
3. Printing. = 5th FLAG, 8. Eng. watchman beetle. The European dorbeetle. watch'man·ly, adj. Belonging to or befitting a watchman. watch'man's clock (wŏch'măn'z). A telltale clock for watchmen, esp. one (called watchman's detector) in which a single clock contains the apparatus for recording the times of visiting several stations.
watchman's rattle. A rattle (sense 2 b). watch mark. A mark formerly worn in the United States Navy on the right or the left sleeve to indicate the wearer's watch as the starboard or the port watch. Cf. BRANCH MARK. watch'mate' (wŏch'māt'), n. A man on duty in the same watch with another.
watch meeting. A watch-night service. watch'ment, n. State or period of watching. Rare.
watch night. A devotional exercise lasting until after midnight, held originally each month by Wesleyan Methodists, later by them and others on New Year's Eve; hence, the last night of the year. — watch'–night', adj.
watch officer. Nav. An officer who stands a watch on deck during which he is (subject to orders from the captain and executive officer) in charge of the ship. When on duty his title is officer of the deck. In the United States navy he is, properly, a lieutenant, lieutenant (junior grade), or ensign.
watch paper. An old-fashioned ornament for the inside of a watchcase, made of paper fancifully cut or printed.
watch part. = WATCH TRAIN.
watch peal. A ringing that serves as a warning.
watch peel. A peel or tower that serves as a lookout.
watch pole. A watchman's club. watch rate. A rate of levy for meeting the expense of a municipal watch.
watch screw thread. Mach. A form of screw thread sometimes used in American watches, having a V profile, with 45° included angle for nickel and brass, and 60° for steel.
watch spring. One of the several springs in a watch; specif., a mainspring.
watch tackle. A kind of two-sheave tackle; — so called because used, commonly as a luff upon luff, by the watch on shipboard to handle yardarms, etc., which ordinarily require all hands. Called also handy-billy, jigger.
watch'tow'er (wŏch'tou'ĕr), n. 1. A tower on which a sentinel or watchman is placed; a tower used or suitable for a lookout.
2. A turretlike projection of the cephalothorax of a spider supporting an eye.
3. A lighthouse or beacon.
watch train. Horol. The time train of a watch. watch'wom'an (wŏch'wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119). A woman who watches beside the sick or who serves as a watchman or guard.
watch'word' (wŏch'wûrd'), n. 1. A secret word used as a signal by which a person shows a right to pass a guard; a countersign; now, chiefly, a password or sign of recognition among members of the same society or class.
2. A sentiment or motto as embodying a principle or guide to action, esp. one used as a rallying cry or a signal.

Nor deal in watchwords overmuch. Tennyson.

3. A preconcerted signal for attack or other action; also, a premonitory word or sign; a note of warning; an intimation; hint. Obs. exc. Scot.
4. A watchman's or sentinel's call. Obs. watch'work' (-wûrk'), n. The wheelwork of or for a watch; any similar small wheelwork. Cf. CLOCKWORK.

watch'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.
watched. ✝ WATCHET. watch'et-col'ored, watch'et-col'oured, adj. See -COLORED. watchmaker's lathe. Mach. See 2d LATHE, n., 1. watch'man·ship, n. See -SHIP. watch'out', n. = LOOKOUT, 1 a. watcht. Watched. Ref. Sp.
watch'wise' (wŏch'wīz'), adv. & adj. = CLOCKWISE. wate (wāt). Var. of WOT, know. Scot. & N. of Eng.
Wa'te (wä'tē), n. Teut. Legend. = 3d WADE. watel. ✝ WATTLE. watelful, n. [ME. watel basket. See WATTLE.] A basketful. Obs.

wa'ter (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr; 85), n. [ME. water, wæter, weter, fr. AS. wæter; akin to OS. watar, OFris. wetir, weter, LG. & D. water, G. wasser, OHG. wazzar, ON. vatn, Sw. vatten, Dan. vand, Goth. wato, OIr. uisce, OSlav. & Russ. voda, Gr. hydōr, Skr. udan water, and L. unda wave; cf. Hittite wātar water. Cf. DROPSY, HYDRA, HYDRANT, OTTER, UNDULATE, WASH, WET, WHISKY, WINTER.]
1. a The liquid which descends from the clouds in rain, and which forms rivers, lakes, seas, etc. One of the "elements" of the ancients, characterized by being moist and cold, and typifying all liquids. See ELEMENT, 1. Pure water consists of hydrogen (11.188 per cent by weight) and oxygen (88.812 per cent) in the proportion of two atoms of hydrogen to one of oxygen (H_2O), and is an odorless, tasteless, transparent liquid, which is very slightly compressible. It has a slightly blue color which is observable only in thick layers of the liquid. At its maximum density, 39.2°F. or 4°C., it is the standard for specific gravities, one cubic centimeter weighing one gram. It is also the standard for specific heats. Its own specific heat is very great. It freezes at 32°F. or 0°C. and boils at 212°F. or 100°C. under atmospheric pressure at sea level (see ICE, 1; STEAM, 1). Pure water is an extremely poor conductor of the electric current, though many aqueous solutions are conductors. See ELECTROLYTE. Water is the most important of solvents, dissolving many gases, liquids, and solids. Natural waters of the earth, as those of springs, rivers, or the ocean, contain more or less dissolved matter, which is mostly removed by distillation. Rain water is nearly pure. See HARDNESS, 2; LIMEWATER; MINERAL WATER; OCEAN, 1. Water is important chemically as a solvent and dissociating agent, as a catalytic agent, and often as one of the substances taking part in a reaction. It is essential to the life of animals and plants. Water passes by evaporation into the state of vapor; hence, there is always water vapor in the atmosphere, whence by condensation are formed the clouds, and rain, snow, etc. Ordinary water, described above, is a mixture of molecules containing hydrogen of at. wt. 1 with a small proportion (about 0.015 per cent) of molecules containing hydrogen of at. wt. 2 (see HYDROGEN). The latter kind of water (heavy water) can be separated by fractional electrolysis or distillation and in other ways; it differs from ordinary water in physical properties (as, Sp. gr. about ⅙ o greater, freezing point about 4° C.), biological effects, etc. b Chem. The substance having the composition H_2O and existing as liquid water, steam, water vapor, or ice according to conditions of temperature and pressure. Steam is assumed to consist of the simple molecule, H_2O (hydrol); liquid water is probably a mixture containing esp. $(H_2O)_2$ (dihydrol), $(H_2O)_3$ (trihydrol), and possibly other still more complex polymers; and ice is held to consist chiefly or wholly of trihydrol.
2. This liquid substance occurring not chemically combined, in any of various quantities, states, or aspects; specif.: a As derived from natural sources, as springs, rivers, lakes, or rain, as for drinking, cooking, bathing, washing, quenching fire, motive power, etc.; as conveyed in channels, pipes, etc., usually under pressure, to supply domestic, industrial, and community, needs; as, on rations of bread and water; to turn off the water; as requisite, esp. in soil, for support of plant life; often, as impregnated with mineral salts and hence of medicinal value, to drink or bathe in; as, to take the waters at Karlsbad. b The quantity of such liquid used in or for one process, as of rinsing clothes; as, washed in three waters. c As found in streams and bodies forming geographical features such as oceans, rivers, lakes; the sea, as distinguished from land and air; as, both by land and water; it never enters salt waters; also, with the, a particular ocean or stream separating two land regions, esp. in the United States, the Atlantic Ocean, in London, the Thames; as, living on the other side of the water; often pl., the flowing or moving masses, as of waves or floods, making up such streams or bodies; as, to harness the waters of Niagara; also, a particular maritime region; as, in Chinese waters. d Depth of such a stream or body, esp. for navigating purposes; as, a boat draws twelve feet of water; also, a particular level of tidal or river flow; as, to pace down the beach during low water. e As a diluting liquid added to beverages, esp. alcoholic liquor; as, a brandy-and-water flavoring. f As leakage or wash into the hull of a vessel; as, the boat is making water fast. g The surface or level of any body of this liquid, esp. as enveloping or covering what lives or becomes submerged; as, above or below the water. h Archaic. Baptismal ablution. i Now pl. A flood or inundation; as, the waters have fallen. "The peril of waters, winds, and rocks." Shak. j Dial. pl. A group of mineral springs; a watering place; — with the. k Now Rare, exc. Scot. & Dial., or as used in proper names. A body of water, standing or flowing; a sea or lake; a river, a stream intermediate in size between a river and a brook, a brook, or other body of water; as, he had passed over a small water. l Obs. Scot. & Dial. Eng. The district bordering a river.
3. A liquid containing or resembling or of the fluidity and appearance of water (sense 1); specif.: a A liquid prepared with water, as by solution, for a particular purpose, as pharmaceutical or cosmetic; a wash; an infusion; as, aromatic water; lavender water. b Pharm. A solution in water of a gaseous or readily volatile substance; as, ammonia water; camphor water. Cf. AQUA. c A distilled fluid, essence, or the like; formerly, a distilled alcoholic beverage.

All distilled goods, . . . as aniseed, clove, cinnamon, or any other water. G. Smith (1725).

d A liquid or juice circulating through any vegetable growth.
4. Any organic liquid, secretion, effusion, humor, or the like, resembling or likened to water, as tears, sweat, a rheum, serous or synovial effusion or exudate, etc.; esp.: a Urine; as, to make or pass (void) water; to hold (retain) one's water; to test, formerly to cast, one's water. b With the or in pl. The amniotic fluid (see AMNION, 1 a); as, the water broke, that is, broke before expulsion of the foetus. c Saliva secreted in response to expectation or sight of something appetizing. Cf. WATER, v. i., 1.

The thought of Peter's oysters brought the water to his mouth. W. S. Gilbert.

5. The limpidity and luster of a precious stone, esp. a diamond; as, a diamond of the first water, that is, perfectly pure and transparent. Hence, of the first water, that is, of the first excellence. For diamonds of the finer qualities river and extra river are now used. See RIVER, n., 5.
6. Hence, a specified degree of excellence or thoroughness; as, artists of all waters were represented in the exhibition; a scoundrel of the purest water.
7. A wavy lustrous pattern such as is imparted to linen silk, metals, etc. See WATER, v. t., 5 f.
8. Short for WATER COLOR; a picture done in water color; a water-color painting.
9. Finance. An addition to the shares or other securities issued by a stock company not representing a corresponding increase in assets, the effect being to increase the par value of the shares, but diminish the actual value per share.
10. Roofing. The lap of each shingle in a course.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

water-beaten	water-free	water-raising water-broken	water-girt	water-resistant water-commanding	water-gray	water-rounded water-conducting	water-growing	water-shedding water-distilling	water-hardened	water-sodden
water-drawing	water-heating	water-softening water-dwelling	water-inwoven	water-tempered water-eaten	water-laden	water-testing water-ejecting	water-living	water-walled water-filled	water-locked	water-wasting water-flinging	water-loving	water-weak water-floated	water-mingled	water-whipped water-flushed	water-purifying	water-yielding

— above water. Floating; hence, out of difficulty or embarrassment, as of a financial nature. — for all waters. Suited or equal to playing any part. Shak. — in deep water. Undergoing an affliction, perplexity, predicament, etc., from which extrication is exceedingly difficult. — in smooth water. Progressing easily without hindrance or difficulty. — on, or upon, the water. On the sea; en route aboard or in a vessel at sea. — still waters run deep. A quiet, unassuming demeanor may cloak profound emotion, knowledge, or craftiness. — under water. Below the surface of the water.

-wa'ter (-wô'tĕr; -wŏt'ĕr). A combining form of water, n., as in:

backwater	eyewater	limewater
blackwater	fairwater	shearwater
blendwater	firewater	spurnwater
catchwater	goldwater	stopwater cutwater	headwater	tidewater
dishwater	heartwater	underwater

wa'ter (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr; 85), v.; WA'TERED (-tĕrd; -ĕrd); WA'TER-ING. [AS. wæterian. See WATER, n.] Transitive:
1. To wet or supply with water or watery fluid; to moisten, sprinkle, or soak with water; to overflow with water; to irrigate; as, to water the street; to water flowers or soil. "With tears watering the ground." Milton.
2. To supply with water for drink, as an army or ship; to cause or allow to drink; to lead to a stream of water or other drinking place; as, to water cattle and horses.
3. To supply water to, esp. through the soil; as, land or vegetation watered by the Missouri; to supply (a boiler, engine, or the like) with water.
4. To embrace within a surrounding or protecting stream, moat, or body of water; as, a city watered about. Now Rare.
5. To treat with water; specif.: a To moisten, drench, or saturate with water; as, to water a roadway to lay the dust. b To moisten so as to impregnate with water or a solution. c To flood with water at the base for lifting, as a vessel on the stocks. d Obs. To immerse or soak in water, as for softening, macerating, freshening, etc. e Rare. To subject to hydropathic treatment. f To wet and calender, as cloth, so as to impart to it a lustrous appearance in wavy lines; to diversify with wavelike lines; as, to water silk. Cf. WATER, n., 7. g Obs. Hence, to dress up (what is inferior) with a deceptive appearance.
6. To add water to (anything), thus increasing quantity while reducing strength; to dilute; weaken; — often with down; as, to water alcoholic liquor or milk; to water one's lecture to last another hour; hence, to reduce by addition or change or weaken in force or efficacy; to temper or soften in positiveness, pungency, or vigor; as, to water down one's liberalism for public expression.
7. Formerly, U. S. to pack (a jury).
8. To plate or encrust with a thin film of metal from a solution; — with over. Obs.
9. [From the practice of (salting and then) watering live stock before selling it by weight.] Finance. To add to the aggregate par value of (stock or other securities) without a corresponding addition to the assets represented by the security.

—, Intransitive: 1. To shed, secrete, or fill with, water or liquid matter; to secrete saliva in anticipation of food; as, the mouth waters; his eyes water.
2. To get or take in water; specif., usually of animals, to drink water; to take fresh water aboard; as, the ship put into port to water.
3. To be treated by hydropathy. Now Rare.
4. To take to the water, esp. of a retriever.
5. To urinate. Obs.
water one's clay. To take a swallow of liquor. Dial. water one's eyes or one's plants. To weep. Obs.

wa'ter, adj. 1. Of, pertaining to, or for, water or its storage, distribution, or transport; as, a water diet, ditch, highway, jar, main.
2. Worked or driven by water; as, a water turbine.
3. Used in or on the water.
4. Watertight; as, a water joint.
5. Prepared with water, esp. by hardening or mixture; as, water biscuit, lime.
6. Placed or performed on, in, or near, water; as, water beacons; water sports.
7. Formed or caused by water; as, water chasms, foam.
8. Dwelling in or on, or having dominion over, water; as, water police, spirits.
9. Growing or living in water; as, water birds, reeds.
10. Of the extra large size used for sales on shipboard; as, a water bushel.
11. Med. Characterized by a watery discharge.

water adder. a The water moccasin. b The common, harmless American water snake (Natrix sipedon). wa'ter-age (wô'tĕr-ĭj; wŏt'ĕr-), n. Transportation of goods, etc., by water; also, money paid for such transportation. Eng.
water agrimony. a The bur marigold. b The hemp agrimony. water aloe. = WATER SOLDIER a. water anchor. Naut. A sea anchor. Rare. water antelope. A waterbuck. water apple. = CUSTARD APPLE, 1 a. water arum. The bog herb Calla palustris. See CALLA, 1. water ash. a Any of several North American ashes, as Fraxinus nigra, F. pauciflora, etc.; specif., F. caroliniana, of river swamps of the southern United States. b The box elder Acer negundo. water avens. An erect perennial herb (Geum rivale) of the North Temperate Zone, with pinnate leaves and a few nodding, purple flowers. water awlwort. A submerged aquatic herb (Subularia aquatica), family Brassicaceae, having minute, racemose white flowers, and found in cold regions.
Water Babies, The. The short title of a fairy story (1863) by Charles Kingsley, the subtitle being A Fairy Tale for a Land-Baby. water back. A water heater set in the back of a stove or fireplace. water back. A back (water cistern) used in brewing for storing hot or cold water.
water bag. 1. A bag to hold water, esp. for carrying; a bag holding water.
2. The reticulum, or second stomach, of a camel or animal of the camel family.
3. Her. A variety of the water bouget. wa'ter-bail'age (wô'tĕr-bāl'ĭj; wŏt'ĕr-), n. Bailage on goods transported by water. water bailiff. Also, Obs., water bailie. 1. Eng. A customs officer whose duty it was to search vessels. Obs.
2. Any of various former British officials having certain jurisdiction over the water; as: a An official, superseded in 1771, having jurisdiction over fishing on the Thames. b An official in the Isle of Man having jurisdiction over fishery and certain maritime jurisdiction. The office was abolished in 1885. c A police officer on a river, employed esp. to prevent poaching.
water ball. 1. A globe of glass filled with water, used for converging light rays upon an object.
2. A wooden globe which burns upon the water.
water ballast. Naut. & Aeronautics. Water in specially constructed compartments to serve as ballast.
wa'ter-bank' (wô'tĕr-băngk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A shore. Obs.
water bar. 1. Road Making. A ridge made across a hill road to divert rain water to one side.
2. A bar inserted in a joint, as between the wood and stone sills of a window, to prevent passage of water. Eng.
3. A tubular bar built into a fire grate as the heating unit of a system of hot water pipes.
water barometer. Physics. A barometer using a column of water about thirty-three feet in height.
water bath. 1. A bath composed of or using water.
2. a = BAIN-MARIE. b See BATH, n., 6. water battery. 1. Elec. A voltaic battery in which the electrolyte is water.
2. Mil. A battery nearly on a level with the water.
water bean. a The water chinquapin. b The Indian lotus.
water bear. a A tardigrade. b A polar bear.
wa'ter-bear' (wô'tĕr-bâr'; wŏt'ĕr-), v. i. To bear or carry by water.
wa'ter-bear'er, n. 1. A carrier of water for drinking or domestic use from a well or other source.
2. Written Water Bearer. Astron. Aquarius. water bearing. The action or occupation of carrying water, esp. as a water-bearer.
wa'ter-bear'ing, adj. Yielding or holding water; laden with percolating water; permeable by water.
water bearing. Mach. A bearing lubricated by water forced continuously between the bearing surfaces. water bed. 1. A waterproof bag filled with water, sometimes used as a mattress for bedridden patients.
2. A soil or rock layer that is laden with water or through which water percolates. water beech. a American hornbeam. b The plane tree Platanus occidentalis.
water beetle. Any of numerous aquatic beetles belonging to Dytiscus and allied genera of the family Dytiscidae and to various genera of the closely related families Amphizoidae, Haliplidae, Gyrinidae (see WHIRLIGIG BEETLE), and Hydrophilidae, the last belonging to the clavicorn beetles, the others to the adephagous series. In form they are all much alike, being oval and flattened; and they are usually black or dark-colored and highly polished. They swim with great agility, their fringed hind legs acting together as oars.

Water Beetle (Dytiscus). a Adult, nat. size; b Larva.

water bellows. = TROMPE. wa'ter-bel'ly (wô'tĕr-bĕl'ĭ; wŏt'ĕr-), n. = KIYI.
Wa'ter-berg (vä'tĕr-bĕrk), adj. [From Waterberg, S. Afr.] Geol. Pert. to or designating the uppermost of the major divisions of the Pre-Devonian sedimentary rocks, with some associated lavas, of South Africa. The Waterberg system consists chiefly of sandstone, shale, and conglomerate.
Wa'ter-berg, n. Geol. The Waterberg period or system. water betony. A Eurasian figwort (Scrophularia aquatica) of moist places, with paniculate, greenish-purple flowers. water bewitched. Drink much diluted, as weak tea or grog; hence, any flat or insipid compound. Dial. Eng.
wa'ter-bind' (wô'tĕr-bīnd'; wŏt'ĕr-), v. t. & i. To prevent or to be prevented from moving by or because of the presence of water.
water birch. Any of several American birches, as Betula nigra, B. fontinalis, etc.
water bird. Any aquatic bird; a swimming or wading bird.
water biscuit. 1. A biscuit or cracker made of flour, fat, and water.
2. Bot. & Paleontol. Any of certain hemispherical or discoid masses produced in fresh water both now and in remote geological times by certain blue-green algae.
water bitternut. The water hickory. water blebs. Pemphigus. wa'ter-blink' (wô'tĕr-blĭngk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. Water sky. water blinks. Blinks (the plant). water blister. 1. Med. A vesicle with a clear, watery content, not purulent or sanguineous.
2. Hort. A local injury of a plant caused by sunlight converging through a drop of water or a bubble in glass. water blob. Any of various aquatic or marsh plants, as the marsh marigold Caltha palustris, the white or yellow water lily, etc. Dial. Eng.
wa'ter-bloom' (wô'tĕr-blōōm'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A scum appearing suddenly upon the surface of fresh waters, consisting chiefly of certain floating blue-green algae.
water blue. a See DYE, Table. b = BREMEN BLUE a. — wa'ter-blue', adj.
water boa. = ANACONDA, 2. wa'ter-board' (wô'tĕr-bôrd'; wŏt'ĕr-; 181), n. 1. Obs. a A sloping board set to throw off rain or other water. b A sideboard for water.
2. A board set up to windward in a boat, to keep out water.
water boatman; pl. WATER BOATMEN. A boat bug. water bog rush. The twig rush Cladium mariscoides. wa'ter-bok' (wô'tĕr-bŏk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [D.] = WATERBUCK. water boot. A watertight boot for wear in deep water or for standing in water.
water boot. = WATER BLOB. wa'ter-borne', adj. 1. Floated or floating upon the water; supported by water so as not to sink or to touch bottom.
2. Conveyed by water or by boat; as, water-borne traffic.
3. Carried or transmitted by water, as by drinking water; as, water-borne diseases.

wa'ter·bosh' (wô'tĕr·bŏsh'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. = 1st BOSH, 2.

water bottle. 1. A bag of skin or leather for carrying water, as for domestic use or on journeys.
2. A bottle, as of rubber or glass, for containing water.
3. A specially constructed vessel for collecting samples of water at any desired depth.

water bottom. The space between the outer and inner bottom plating in merchant ships; — sometimes so called because used to carry water ballast. Rare.

wa'ter bou'get (bōō'jĕt). 1. Formerly, a leather bag for carrying water, as for soldiers' use, suspending one at each end of a pole or yoke.
2. Her. A conventional representation of a pair of the foregoing, used as a charge.

Water Bouget, 2.

water bough. An overshadowed shoot from a tree trunk. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

wa'ter–bound', adj. 1. Unable to weep. R.
2. Restrained from going by flooding waters.
3. Bound by water; — said esp. of a macadam road thoroughly soaked at the time of laying so that a natural cement formed from water and stone dust unites the particles.

water bow (bō). 1. A rainbow. Archaic.
2. An arching jet of water. Poetic.

water box. a A boxlike receptacle holding water, as in steam condensers. b = WATER GLASS, 5.

water brake. A brake working by water pressure. The type used on locomotives admits water to the locomotive cylinders and offers resistance to the movement of the pistons while descending a grade.

water brash. Med. Pyrosis.

water break. 1. An outbreak or flood of water. Obs.
2. Water dashing or dashed in foam, flecks, etc.; broken water; a stretch of such.
3. = WATER BAR, 1.
4. A breakwater. Rare.

water breaker. A breakwater.

water breaker. A cask or breaker holding water, as for drinking aboard ship.

wa'ter breath'er (brĕth'ĕr). Any animal breathing by gills. — wa'ter–breath'ing, adj.

water bridge. Steam Boilers. A bridge wall forming a water space at the back of the furnace.

wa'ter·broo' (wä'tĕr·brōō'; wä'tĕr-), n. Water gruel. Scot.

wa'ter·brose' (-brōz'), n. Brose of meal and water. Scot.

wa'ter brush (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr). The groundsel tree.

wa'ter·buck' (wô'tĕr·bŭk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n.; pl. -BUCK, sometimes -BUCKS (-bŭks'). See PLURAL, Note. [Trans. of D. waterbok.] a Either of two large, coarse-haired, reddish-brown or grayish-brown antelopes of the genus Kobus (K. ellipsiprymnus and K. defassa) of eastern Africa which frequent riverbanks and swim easily. b Any of various other antelopes, esp., certain kobs and reedbucks.

Head of Waterbuck (Kobus ellipsiprymnus).

water buckler. = WATER SHIELD a.

water budge. 1. = WATER BOUGET. Obs.
2. A cask of water on wheels. Dial.

water budget. Water bouget.

water buffalo. The common Indian buffalo. See BUFFALO, 1 a; CARABAO.

water bug. a The Croton bug. b Any of numerous aquatic hemipterous insects, esp. those belonging to Lethocerus, Benacus, Zaitha, and other genera of the family Belostomatidae (see FISH KILLER). Their hind legs are long and fringed and act like oars. c Also, the boat bug, a back swimmer, a water scorpion, or any of numerous others, some of which walk about on the surface of the water or on the soft mud at the margin of the water and cannot swim.

water bugle. The bugleweed Lycopus virginicus.

wa'ter·bush' (wô'tĕr·bŏŏsh'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. An Australian timber tree (Myoporum viscosum); also, its light, tough wood, used in construction.

water butt. a A large cask, set up on end, to contain water. b Arch. Any receptacle for water, as for a fountain, lavatory, or the like.

water buttercup. a Any aquatic species of Ranunculus or Batrachium. b The marsh marigold Caltha palustris.

water cabbage. a The white water lily Nymphaea odorata. b Water lettuce.

water calamint. The corn mint.

water call. Mil. A sound of trumpet or bugle summoning cavalry soldiers to assemble to water their horses.

water caltrop. a See TRAPA. b Either of the two pondweeds Potamogeton crispus and P. densus.

water canker. = CANKER, n., 1.

water cap. A waterchat.

water carpet. The golden saxifrage.

water carriage. 1. Transportation or conveyance by water; also, disposal, as of sewage, by means of flowing water.
2. Means or facilities of conveyance by water; also, collectively, boats.
3. Conveyance or conduction of water.
4. A canal or ditch for draining water. Dial.

water carrier. 1. A carrier of goods or people using the sea or waterways in transportation.
2. A man or beast that carries or distributes water, as to domestic establishments or troops; as, the cries of the water carriers in the streets.
3. A tank, pipe, or channel, for conveying water; also, a rain cloud.

water cart. A cart carrying water, esp. water for sale, or for sprinkling streets, gardens, etc.

water cask. A light cask for water, esp. drinking water.

wa'ter·cast'er (wô'tĕr·kăs'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A physician diagnosing by urine; a quack. Obs.

water cat. a Obs. A type of firework. b Local, India. The common Indian otter (Lutra nair).

water cavy. The capybara.

water celery. a The cursed crowfoot. b The tape grass.

water cell. 1. A cell containing water; one of the cells or chambers in which water is stored in a camel's stomach.
2. A water-filled cavity enclosed in ice.

water cement. Hydraulic cement.

water centipede. The hellgrammite. Local, U. S.

water channel. A channel, as a ditch along a highway, for directing the course of water.

wa'ter·chat' (wô'tĕr·chăt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. a Any of numerous South American tyrant flycatchers of the genus Fluvicola and allied genera; a water cap. b A thrushlike bird of the subfamily Henicurinae (family Enicuridae); a forktail.

Waterchat (Fluvicola climacura). (⅓) water chestnut. a Any plant of the genus Trapa, esp. T. natans and T. bicornis; also, their edible, nutlike, spiny-angled fruit. See TRAPA. b A Chinese sedge (Eleocharis tuberosa); also its edible tuber.

water chevrotain. A West African chevrotain (Dorcatherium aquaticum). It has a larger body and shorter legs than the kanchils and napus.

water chicken. The Florida gallinule. Local, U. S.

water chickweed. = BLINKS.

water chinquapin. The American lotus (Nelumbo lutea); also, its edible, nutlike seed, which has the flavor of chinquapins. See NELUMBO; LOTUS, 3 a.

water chute. A chute, usually with flowing water, equipped with boats that slide down into a pool or lake.

water clock. An instrument or machine to measure time by the fall, or flow, of a quantity of water, as a clepsydra.

water closet. A closet, compartment, or room, containing a hopper for defecation fitted with some device for flushing the bowl with water; also, the hopper itself, with its accessories. Sometimes, loosely, any privy.

water cock. A large gallinule (Gallicrex cinerea) of southeastern Asia and the East Indies. In the breeding season the male is black and has a fleshy red caruncle, or horn, on the top of its head.

water colly. The water ouzel. Local, Eng. & Scot.

water color. 1. A paint whose liquid is a water dispersion of the binding material, which may be glue, casein, gums, etc.; — so called in distinction from oil color, etc. Dry water colors are prepared in the form of solid cakes, moist water colors in a semifluid or pasty state in tubes or pans.
2. The art or method of painting with water colors.
3. A picture or design executed in water colors; as, an exhibition of water colors.
— wa'ter–col'or, wa'ter–col'our, adj.

wa'ter–col'ored, wa'ter–col'oured, adj. Painted in water colors; of the color of water.

wa'ter–col'or·ist, wa'ter–col'our·ist, n. One who paints in water colors.

water column. a A water gauge; also, the column of water in the gauge. b A vertical pipe with valves and spout for delivering water to a locomotive tender.

wa'ter–cool', v. t.; WA'TER·COOLED'; WA'TER·COOL'ING. To cool by means of water, as circulating water, esp. in a water jacket; as, a water-cooled gas-engine cylinder; water-cooled furnace walls. — wa'ter–cooled', adj. — wa'ter–cool'ing, adj. — water cooling, or wa'ter–cool'ing, n.

water cooler. a A tank in which water is cooled by circulation round coils containing cold liquid, as brine. b A tank containing artificially cooled drinking water.

water core. 1. Founding. A hollow core through which water circulates in a mold, used for cooling the interior of a casting more rapidly than the outside while the metal is solidifying, as in casting a cannon.
2. Plant Pathol. An abnormal condition of fruits, esp. apples, in which portions of the inner tissues, esp. close to the core, become water-soaked, hard, and glassy.

water couch. = JOINT GRASS a. Australia.

wa'ter·course' (wô'tĕr·kôrs'; wŏt'ĕr-; 181), n. 1. A stream of water; a river or brook; also, the bed of a stream.
2. A natural channel for water; also, a canal for the conveyance of water, esp. in draining lands.
3. Law. A living stream of water usually running in a definite channel or bed and discharging into another body of water. A watercourse may be dry during unusual droughts, but the term does not apply to a stream depending for its flow merely upon surface drainage. Generally the owner of land through which a watercourse flows has a right to the continued, uninterrupted flow of the water, but this doctrine is now often limited by statute or by decisions based upon public policy, etc. See AQUA CURRIT, etc.
4. Shipbuilding. One of the holes in floor or other plates to permit water to flow through.

water cow. a A female water buffalo. b A sea cow, or manatee.

water crack. A crack, larger than a check, produced in steel in hardening; also, a fine crack in plaster, resulting from excess water or from the application of the succeeding coats too soon after the first coat.

wa'ter·craft' (wô'tĕr·krăft'; wŏt'ĕr-; 83), n. 1. Skill in managing boats or in swimming, diving, etc.
2. Any vessel or boat; vessels and boats, collectively.

water crake. a The water ouzel. b The spotted crake. See CRAKE, 2, Illust. c Local, Eng. The water rail (Rallus aquaticus).

water crane. 1. A gooseneck apparatus to supply water from an elevated tank, as to the tender of a locomotive.
2. A hydraulic crane.

water cress. 1. Often pl. a A perennial cress (Roripa nasturtium-aquaticum) with white flowers, and growing usually in clear running or spring water. The pungent leaves are used for salad and as an antiscorbutic. Also, by extension, the marsh cress (R. palustris) and other yellow-flowered plants of this genus. b A salad or a garnish of the leaves of this cress.
2. The color cress green.
— wa'ter–cress', adj.

wa'ter–cressed', adj. Provided with or producing water cress.

wa'ter–cress'y, adj. Abounding in water cress.

water crow. [So called in allusion to its dark plumage.] a Local, Eng. & Scot. The water ouzel. b Local, Eng. The European coot. c Local, U. S. The American snakebird.

water crowfoot. Any aquatic crowfoot or buttercup; specif.: a Eng. The white-flowered Batrachium aquatile, used as food for cattle. b U. S. = YELLOW WATER CROWFOOT.

water culture. Plant Physiol. An experimental method of growing plants in distilled water, to which nutritive salts in certain definite proportions are added.

wa'ter·cup' (wô'tĕr·kŭp'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. a = MARSH PENNYWORT. b = TRUMPETS, 7. c The pitcher plant Sarracenia purpurea.

water curb. Mining. = GARLAND, n., 6 a. Eng.

water cure. 1. Med. Hydropathy; hydrotherapeutics.
2. A form of torture consisting of forcing a person to drink large quantities of water in a short time. Slang.

water curtain. In a theater, a sheet of water which may be formed from above, as at the proscenium arch, as a screen to prevent spread of fire from or to the stage.

water cut. Mach. A cut taken when a supply of water is kept on the cutting tool, accompanied usually by the production of a bright smooth finish.

water cycle. Any of various more or less experimental watercraft propelled by treadles after the manner of a bicycle. — wa'ter–cy'cle, v. i.

water daffodil. Any European yellow-flowered herb of the genus Sternbergia (family Amaryllidaceae).

water daisy. Any bur marigold of low or wet places.

water deck. A covering of painted canvas for the equipments of a dragoon's horse. Eng.

water deer. a A small Chinese deer (Hydropotes inermis). Both sexes are destitute of antlers. The male has descending canine tusks. b The water chevrotain.

water deerlet. The water chevrotain.

water devil. a The rapacious larva of any water beetle of the genus Dytiscus. See WATER BEETLE, Illust. b The hellgrammite.

water dock. a A tall coarse dock growing in wet places. The American water dock is Rumex britannica; the European is R. hydrolapathum. b Golden club.

water doctor. One of a former school of practitioners who professed to be able to divine diseases by inspection of the urine alone; also, a hydropathist. Colloq.

wa'ter·doe' (wô'tĕr·dō'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A female waterbuck.

water dog. 1. A dog accustomed to the water, strong as a swimmer, or trained to retrieve waterfowl, as retrievers and water spaniels; formerly, a barbet.
2. Any of several large salamanders; esp.: a A mud puppy, as the hellbender. b On the Pacific coast, the giant newt.
3. A person who is quite at ease on or in the water; specif.: a Jocose. A sailor; an old salt. b A good swimmer.
4. Dial. Eng. a Any small cloud supposed to indicate rain. b The water rat.

water dragon. a See DRAGON, 14 b. b The marsh marigold Caltha palustris.

water dressing. Med. The treatment of wounds or ulcers by the application of water; also, a dressing saturated with water only, for application to a wound or an ulcer.

wa'ter–drink'ing, adj. Favoring, or habituated to, the drinking of water, or of the waters of mineral springs; esp., favoring water as a beverage as opposed to alcoholic liquor or liquors. — wa'ter–drink'ing, n.

wa'ter·drop' (wô'tĕr·drŏp'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A drop of water; also, a teardrop.

water dropper. Elec. A collector of atmospheric electricity, consisting essentially of an insulated vessel holding water which drops from a projecting tube, used with an electrometer to indicate changes in the potential of the air. The vessel is joined by an insulated wire to the needle of the electrometer or to one of the pairs of quadrants.

water dropwort. a A European poisonous herb (Oenanthe crocata) having a yellow juice which stains the skin, yellow flowers, and celerylike foliage. Also, any other species of Oenanthe, as O. fistulosa. b A leafless herb (Oxypolis filiformis) of the southeastern United States, with hollow leaflike stems and slender, compound umbels of tiny white flowers; — called also false dropwort.

water dust. Particles of water composing clouds or fog.

water eagle. The osprey.

wa'tered (wô'tĕrd; wŏt'ĕrd), adj. 1. Soaked or steeped in, or sprinkled with, water.
2. Supplied, kept moist, or periodically inundated, with water; having a supply or stream of water near.
3. Diluted with water; reduced in force or positiveness.
4. Increased in nominal amount or value without proportionate addition to the assets; — of capital or stock of a company. Cf. WATER, v. t., 9.
5. Having a wavy lustrous pattern; — of silk.
6. Damascened; — of steel.
7. Laden or wet with tears. Obs.

water elder. The guelder-rose.

water elephant. Hippopotamus.

water elm. Any of several trees of the family Ulmaceae: a In the United States: (1) The common or American elm. (2) The wing elm. (3) The cedar elm. (4) The planer tree (Planera aquatica). b A common Eurasian elm (Ulmus laevis), much resembling the American elm. c The Japanese tree Zelkova serrata, of graceful habit and foliage.

water engine. 1. A water-pumping engine; specif., a fire engine.
2. An engine for applying water power; also, a hydraulic engine.

water equivalent. Physics. The product of the mass of a body by its specific heat, equal numerically to the mass of water which is equivalent in thermal capacity to the body in question; the weight of water which would be heated to the temperature attained in a calorimeter by the heat absorbed by the instrument.

wa'ter·er (wô'tĕr·ĕr; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. One who waters, as crops, soil, coal, or roadways; also, a worker who produces watering on textiles.
2. One who supplies or distributes drinking water.
3. A hydropathic patient. Now Rare.

water eryngo or eringo. One of the button snakeroots (Eryngium aquaticum).

wa'ter·fall' (wô'tĕr·fôl'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [Cf. AS. wætergefall.] 1. A fall, or perpendicular or very steep descent, of the water of a stream; a cascade; cataract. Cf. CATARACT, 1; CASCADE, 1.
2. A falling away of the ground such as to cause drainage of water.
3. Colloq. a A chignon likened to a waterfall. b A neck scarf with long pendant ends, formerly worn.
4. A riffle or rapid in a swift stream. Obs.

wa'ter·fall', adj. Arranged like a waterfall, as the drums of a three-drum hoist in which the axis of the center drum is higher than that of one end drum and lower than that of the other end drum.

water farm. A place for carrying on pisciculture or the cultivation of plants in water. — water farmer. — water farming.

wa'ter–fast', adj. Watertight. Scot.

water feather or water featherfoil. The featherfoil Hottonia inflata.

water feeder. A device or pipe for supplying water in boilers, tanks, and the like.

water fennel. a A European poisonous herb (Oenanthe phellandrium); also, allied species, as O. crocata. b A water starwort (Callitriche palustris).

---

wa'ter·brain', n. Veter. = GID. See also CŒNURUS.

wa'ter·breath', n. Vapor. Obs. wa'ter·con·sol'i·dat'ed, adj. Road Making. = WATER-BOUND, 3. wa'ter·cooled' trans·form'er. Elec. See TRANSFORMER. wa'terd. Watered. Ref. Sp. wa'ter·e'vil. Catarrh. Obs.
water feed. = WATER FEEDER. wa'ter·fen'nel oil. See OIL, Table I.

water fern. a Any fern ally of the order Salviniales. b A fern of the genus Osmunda, esp. O. regalis. c Australia. = FLOATING FERN. water figwort. The water betony. wa'ter-find'er (wô'tĕr-fin'dĕr; wŏt'ĕr-), n. One who is occupied in finding sources of water supply; esp., one who tries to locate subterranean water with a divining rod; a dowser.
wa'ter-fin'ished, adj. Designating paper highly glazed by supercalendering while moist. water fire. A European acrid aquatic weed (Bergia ammannioides), family Elatinaceae. wa'ter-fit' (wä'tĕr-; wä'-), n. A river mouth. Scot. wa'ter flag (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr). The yellow flag or iris; also, the common blue flag.
water flannel. A floating mass formed in pools by the entangled filaments of a European fresh-water green alga (Cladophora crispata). water flaxseed. The great duckweed; — from the shape of the fronds. See DUCKWEED. water flea. Any of numerous small dark aquatic Entomostraca belonging to the genera Cyclops, Daphnia, etc.; — so called because they swim with sudden leaps, or starts. See CYCLOPS, 4. wa'ter-flood' (wô'tĕr-flŭd'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [AS. wæterflōd.] A sweeping flood of water. water flow. A flow of water.
water flower. A flower that grows in water; also, a representation of such a flower.
wa'ter-flow'ing, adj. Flowing like water.
water fly. 1. A stone fly.
2. Any fly habitually found over or by the water.
wa'ter-fowl' (wô'tĕr-foul'; wŏt'ĕr-), n.; pl. -FOWL, -FOWLS (-foulz'). See PLURAL, Note. Any bird that frequents the water, or lives about rivers, lakes, etc., or on or near the sea; esp., a swimming bird; collectively, the swimming game birds as disting. from upland game birds and shore birds.
water foxtail. = MARSH FOXTAIL. water frame. Arkwright's first power spinning machine; — so called because driven by water power.
water fringe. Any plant of the genus Nymphoides. water front. 1. Land, or land with buildings, or a section of a town, fronting or abutting on a body of water; as, tenements along the water front.
2. A water heater set in the front of a stove.
— wa'ter-front', adj. — water frontage.
wa'ter-front'er, n. One who lives on the water front.
water fungus. = WATER MOLD. water funk. A fearful shrinking from water, esp. from entering the water; also, a person afflicted with a fear of water. Colloq.
water furrow. Agric. A furrow for conducting water.
wa'ter-fur'row, v. t. To make water furrows in; to drain by water furrows. water gage. Var. of WATER GAUGE. water gall. [Cf. 2d GALL.] 1. A watery or rainy look in the sky, esp. accompanying a rainbow; a secondary or broken rainbow. Obs. exc. Dial.
2. A flaw in material or product caused by or as by an accumulation of water in a spot.
3. Obs. a A spot of low boggy land. b A watery bubble, often in a swine's liver.
wa'ter-gall', n. The groundsel tree. wa'ter-galled', adj. Showing water galls (1st WATER GALL, sense 2). water gang. 1. A watercourse. Obs.
2. A water or stream channel, usually one constructed artificially as for land drainage or irrigation. water gap. A pass in a mountain ridge through which a stream runs; as, the Delaware Water Gap.
water garden. 1. Hort. A garden in which aquatic plants predominate.
2. A garden built about a stream as central feature. water gas. 1. A gas made by forcing steam over incandescent carbon (usually coke), whereby there results a mixture of hydrogen and carbon monoxide, according to the reaction: $C + H_2O = H_2 + CO$. The first or heating-up period, during which an air blast is used, is called the blow or air blow; the second period, when steam is admitted and the gas is made, is the run or steam blow. In brief intervals the steam is sent through the generator from below ("up run" or "up blow") and from above ("down run" or "down blow"); another air blow then restores the temperature. In the backrun method, heat is saved by passing the "down run" steam backward through the carburetor before admitting it to the generator. Water gas is sometimes used uncarbureted as a fuel (see BLUE GAS) but usually is carbureted with illuminating constituents from oil. It is much more poisonous than coal gas. See GAS, 2 b.
2. Vaporized water; steam.
— wa'ter-gas', adj.
wa'ter-gas' tar. Tar which forms in the carburetor in making water gas. It is used like coal tar. water gate. 1. A gate or gateway for the passage, esp. outflow, formerly also inflow, of water; also, a gate or valve to control the flow of water; a floodgate. Cf. GATE VALVE, Illust.
2. A gate permitting access to a body of water.
3. A passageway for passage of traffic by water.
water gate. Scot. & N. of Eng. a A natural channel for water; a watercourse, esp. one dry in summer. b Act of urinating; hence, in proverbs, position of disadvantage.
water gauge. 1. An instrument to measure or find the depth or quantity of water, or to indicate the height of its surface, esp. in a steam boiler.
2. An instrument for measuring a moderate air pressure hydrostatically, as in a ventilating system.
3. Water pressure expressed in inches of height; as, six inches water gauge.

Water Gauge. a Wall of Boiler; b Glass Tube of Water Gauge in which the Water stands at the Level of that (c) in the Boiler; c, c Cocks.

water gender. A European mint (Teucrium scordium) with chiefly axillary, rose-pink flowers, found in marshy places.
wa'ter-gild', v. t. 1. To gild (a metallic surface) by coating thinly with gold amalgam and then volatilizing the mercury by heat.
2. Electroplating. To coat with a thin gold film by simple immersion.
— water gilder. — water gilding.
water gillyflower. The featherfoil Hottonia inflata.
water gladiole. The flowering rush.
water gland. Bot. A group of cells situated immediately below a hydathode, serving to regulate the excretion of water.
water glass. 1. A water clock; a clepsydra.
2. A glass bowl, globe, or other vessel, containing water, as for holding bulbs or plants in winter; also, a drinking glass; a tumbler.
3. A water surface serving as a mirror. Rare.
4. Formerly, a finger bowl of glass.
5. Often wa'ter-glass' (wô'tĕr-glăs'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. An instrument consisting of an open box or tube with a glass bottom, used for examining objects in or under the water, as upon the sea bottom in shallow places.
6. A substance consisting usually of sodium silicate, but sometimes of potassium silicate, or of both ("double" water glass), found in commerce as a glassy mass, a stony powder, or dissolved in water as a viscous sirupy liquid; — called also soluble glass. It is extensively used as a cement, as a protective coating and fireproofing agent, as an addition to soap, and in preserving eggs, in making artificial stone, in hardening surgical dressings, as a fixing agent for dyes, etc.
7. A water gauge for a steam boiler, etc.
— wa'ter-glass', adj.
wa'ter-glass' paint'ing. Water-color fresco painting on plaster soaked with solutions of ferrous silicic acid and potassium water glass (see WATER GLASS). The pigments are set with a fixative, as a solution of flint, sprayed or brushed over them after they have dried. water globe. = WATER BALL, 1. water gnat. A marsh treader. Eng. water goggles. The marsh marigold Caltha palustris. water gold. Liquid amalgam of gold. water gowan. The marsh marigold Caltha palustris. water grain. A grain imparted to leather by hand-treating it, while wet, with a cork-covered board. water grampus. The hellgrammite. Local, U. S. water grass. a A tall perennial marsh grass (Paspalum dilatatum) of the southern United States and the American tropics. b Dial. Eng. (1) Velvet grass. (2) The water cress. (3) One of various horsetails (Equisetum). c = BARN GRASS. water grate. A furnace grate with hollow water-cooled bars. water green. A color, greenish-yellow in hue, of low saturation and high brilliance. Cf. COLOR. — wa'ter-green', adj.
water gruel. A thin, tasteless gruel made chiefly with water; hence, anything devoid of any flavor or character; an insipid or spiritless thing. — wa'ter-gru'el, adj. — wa'ter-gru'el-lish, adj.
water guard. A guard whose duty is to police a harbor or river; esp., a body of customs officers detailed to watch ships, to prevent smuggling, etc.
water guinea, water guinea hen. The American coot. Local, U. S. water gum. a In Australia, any one of several trees of the genera Tristania, Eugenia, etc., which grow near water. The principal water gum is Tristania laurina. b In the United States, the sour gum or tupelo. water gut. A common widely distributed green alga (Ulva enteromorpha) or one of its varieties, the narrow fronds of which resemble intestines. water hair grass. A widely distributed perennial grass (Catabrosa aquatica) of the North Temperate Zone.
water hammer. 1. The act or process of water-hammering.
2. The concussion or sound of concussion of moving water against the sides of a containing pipe or vessel on a sudden stoppage or flow, esp. that made by water in a steam pipe.
3. A vessel partly filled with water, exhausted of air, and hermetically sealed, so that when reversed or shaken the water strikes in solid mass with a sound as of a hammer.
— wa'ter-ham'mer, adj.
wa'ter-ham'mer, v. i. To strike with a hammering sound against the walls of a sealed containing vessel from which the air has been removed; — said of water.
wa'ter-ham'mer pulse. Med. A pulse marked by a quick powerful beat collapsing suddenly; Corrigan pulse. water hare. The swamp rabbit (Sylvilagus aquaticus). water haul. 1. Transportation by water.
2. A haul of the net which catches no fish; hence, fruitless effort. Colloq.
water hawthorn. The Cape pondweed. water hazel. = WATER DROPWORT. wa'ter-head' (wô'tĕr-hĕd'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. The source or headwater of a stream; hence, the fountainhead.
2. A dammed-up body of water for supplying a garden, mill, etc.; also, the height or quantity so retained.
3. A large head; hence, a saphead; booby. Slang. wa'ter-heap' (-hēp'), n. A billow. Obs.
water heater. a Apparatus, including tank pipes, heating agent, etc., for furnishing a supply of hot water, as to a bathroom. b Apparatus in a hot-water heating system, as for heating buildings.
water hemisphere. The geographical hemisphere having a maximum surface of water.
water hemlock. a A poisonous European herb (Cicuta virosa); also, any of several American species of Cicuta, as C. maculata (see POISONOUS PLANTS, Plate). b = WATER DROPWORT a. c Water fennel. water hemp. a Any species of Acnida. b The hemp agrimony. water hen. Any of various ralline birds, as a coot or gallinule; esp.: a The moor hen. See GALLINULE. b The American coot. c Australia. Any of certain species of the genus Tribonyx.
water hickory. A hickory (Carya aquatica) of the southern United States, having many narrow leaflets and rather bitter nuts; — called also bitter pecan.
water hog. a The capybara. b An African river hog. water hole. 1. A natural hole or hollow containing water, specif. one in the dry bed of an intermittent river; a spring in a desert; also, any pool, pond, or small lake.
2. A hole in a surface of ice.
3. Naut. A hole, usually circular, cut in the lower part of a spritsail, or water sail, to prevent its being torn by a sea. water holly. A low evergreen shrub (Mahonia nervosa) of the Pacific coast of North America, with lustrous, green compound leaves, bright-yellow flowers in erect racemes, and blue fruits. water hook. A checkhook. Dial.
water horehound. Any mint of the genus Lycopus, esp. the bugleweed L. virginicus.
water horizon. A stratum or layer of porous rock which will yield water to a well. water horse. 1. A hippopotamus. Obs.
2. A fabulous water spirit resembling a horse; a sea horse; a hippocampus; a kelpie.
wa'ter-horse' (wô'tĕr-hôrs'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. Salted fish heaped up to drain; a horse pile. — v. t. To pile up (salted fish) to drain. Both Local, U. S.
water horsetail. A stonewort.
water house. 1. Formerly, a building in which a head of water forced up, as from a well, is retained in a reservoir for conveyance by pipes.
2. A ship; a boat or canoe.
water hyacinth. A tropical floating aquatic plant (Eichhornia crassipes) having spikes of large blue flowers, and roundish leaves with inflated bladderlike petioles. water hyssop. A small, widely distributed, creeping figwort (Bacopa monniera), in India used medicinally. Also, any of certain related plants of this genus. water ice. 1. A frozen dessert consisting of sweetened diluted fruit juice. See SHERBET, 2.
2. Massive ice formed by the downward freezing of water wa'ter-ie (wô'tĕr-ē), n. A wagtail; the pied wagtail. wa'ter-i-ly (wô'tĕr-ĭ-lĭ; wŏt'ĕr-), adv. With watery exudation; in a watery way.
wa'ter-inch', n. Hydraulics. The discharge from a circular sharp-edged orifice one inch in diameter, with a head of one line above the top edge, commonly estimated at fourteen pints per minute, an old unit of hydraulic measure. Called also inch of water. The so-called miner's inch is a similar unit which varies in different localities. When taken as the flow through a hole one inch square, in a two-inch plank, under a head of four inches above the top edge of the hole, it is about nine gallons per minute.
wa'ter-i-ness (wô'tĕr-ĭ-nĕs; wŏt'ĕr-; 119), n. 1. Watery state or quality; as: a Superfluous amount of water contained in blood, food, etc., rendering such too thin, sodden, insipid, etc. b Characterless, insipid, or flimsy, quality of composition or style. c Condition of being soaked or saturated with water or like liquid.
2. Moistness of the eyes; tearfulness.
3. Obs. a Watery matter in a substance. b Watery secretion.
wa'ter-ing, n. 1. The action of one who or that which waters (in various senses of WATER, v.) or an instance of such action; as: a Application of water or like liquid in particles or quantities, as by sprinkling, pouring, immersion, irrigation. b Provision of water, esp. drinking water, for persons, beasts, cities, etc. c Procuring or use of water or like liquid, as for drinking, bathing, etc. d Obs. The action of drinking liquor. e Treatment with or as if with water; esp. the process of giving a watered appearance to fabrics, metals, etc. f Dilution by addition of water; increase in amount of capitalization of a stock company without addition to the assets. g Discharge of liquid, as of tears; salivation.
2. Obs. exc. Dial. a A place where beasts may be taken to drink. b Supply of water for cattle or for irrigation. c A source of supply of water for domestic or ships' needs.
3. A ditch for drainage or marshland with such ditches.
4. The wavelike, cloudy and wavy, or moiré, appearance given to fabrics, metals, etc.
wa'ter-ing, adj. 1. That waters or waters something; esp.: a Discharging or secreting, esp. tears or saliva. b Supplying moisture or a constant flow of liquid, as for plants or soil.
2. Used by one who waters something; as, a watering can or cart.
3. Having springs or medicinal springs or place for sea bathing and often equipped as a resort; as, a watering town.
— wa'ter-ing-ly, adv.
watering bridle. A bridle with a snaffle bit and rings and toggles or snaps to attach to the halter, for training purposes, riding to water, and exercise.
watering call. = WATER CALL.
watering can. = WATERING POT, 1. watering cart. A cart equipped to carry water for sprinkling roads, irrigating fields, or the like; a sprinkler watering eye. Med. Epiphora. watering house. A public house providing water for horses and refreshments for coachmen, travelers, etc. Eng.
wa'ter-ing-man' (wô'tĕr-ĭng-măn'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A man employed to supply water to beasts or domestic establishments or having to do with the supplying or control of water for machine operation, irrigation, or the like. Brit.
watering pan. = WATERING POT, 1. watering place. 1. A place where cattle, horses, etc., may be taken to drink; a pool or container of running water, prepared for beasts to drink from.
2. A place where water may be obtained, as for a ship, caravan, community, etc.
3. A place where there are medicinal springs, or a place by the sea or by some large body of water, which is a resort for bathing, boating, etc.
watering pot. 1. A vessel, esp. a can with a spout having a perforated nozzle, to sprinkle water on plants, clothes, etc.
2. A watering-pot shell.
— wa'ter-ing-pot', adj.
wa'ter-ing-pot' shell. Any of several marine bivalve shells of the genus Brechites (syn. Aspergillum). The valves are small, and consolidated with the capacious calcareous tube which incases the entire animal. The tube is closed at the anterior end by a convex disc perforated by many pores, or tubules, like the nozzle of a watering pot.

Watering-pot Shell (Brechites vaginiferus). s Valves of Shell.

watering slip. An incline built into a river to give firm footing to cattle or horses led there to drink.
watering table. = WATER TABLE, 1. Obs.
watering town. = WATERING PLACE, 3. watering trough. 1. A drinking trough for horses, etc.
2. Railroads. A long, shallow, metal trough lying between the rails, from which water is scooped by locomotives in motion.
wa'ter-ish, adj. 1. Resembling water in nature, esp. in appearance, consistency, or density; aqueous; specif., Obs., pale-bluish.
2. Abounding with water, moisture, or similar liquid; specif.: a Containing superfluous water; dilute; thin; as, waterish blood or wine. b Washy; sloppy; of loose texture; lacking any compactness. "Watery diet." Shak. c Hence, feeble; insipid; vapid; as, a waterish composition. d Flavorless; flat; — of taste or thing tasted. e Disposed to exude tears; watery. f Obs. Characterized by the watery humor in predominance or by a local accumulation of water in the body. g Obs. Wet; marshy. h Obs. Juicy; succulent.
3. Charged with moisture; as, a waterish month, air, haze.
4. Partially obscured by water vapor; as, a waterish moon.
5. Growing or living in water. Obs.
— wa'ter-ish-ly, adv. — wa'ter-ish-ness, n.
water ivy. A European water crowfoot (Batrachium hederaceum) with white flowers and ivy-shaped leaves, naturalized in eastern North America.

water jacket. An outer casing holding water, or through which water circulates, to cool the interior; specif., the enclosed space surrounding the cylinder block of an internal-combustion engine and containing the cooling liquid. See INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINE, 3d Illust. — wa'ter-jack'et-ing, n.

wa'ter-jack'et, v. t. To provide with a water jacket.

water jessamine. The clammy hedge hyssop.

wa'ter-jet', adj. Operated or driven by a jet of water.

water joint. a In a stone pavement, a joint that is slightly raised to prevent water from settling therein. b = DRIP JOINT.

water jump. A pool, stream, or ditch of water, to be jumped over by a horse, as in a steeplechase.

water junket. The European sandpiper. Local, Eng.

wa'ter kale (wä'tĕr; wā'-). Vegetable broth without meat. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wa'ter kel'pie (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr). = KELPIE.

water key. Music. A device on certain wind instruments, consisting of a cap lifted by lever action from a vent hole for the expulsion of accumulated spittle.

water kingfisher. See KINGFISHER, 1.

water knot. A knot for uniting parts or strands of a fishline.

water kudu. A sitatunga.

water ladder. Logging. An incline of poles for raising water barrels.

wa'ter-laid', adj. 1. Having a left-hand twist; — said of cordage; as, a water-laid, or left-hand, rope.
2. Cable-laid; — so called because cable-laid rope does not absorb water easily.
3. Geol. Deposited in or by water; sedimentary.

Wa'ter-land'er (wô'tĕr-lăn'dĕr; vä'-), n. [From Waterland, a district in North Holland.] Eccl. Hist. One of a liberal body of Dutch Mennonites, which separated from the conservative Mennonites in 1555, and later were reunited with the liberalized older body.

water lane. 1. A lane with a stream flowing alongside. Dial.
2. A narrow open passageway through the water, as amid weeds, ice, or shipping.
3. = 1st LANE, 3 a.

water leaf. Gr. Art. A peculiar form of leaf ornament, probably representing an ivy leaf.

wa'ter-leaf' (wô'tĕr-lēf'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. Any plant of the family Hydrophyllaceae (which see). See HYDROPHYLLUM.
2. Handmade paper in its initial stage of manufacture, consisting of pulp spread and evened by shaking in the hand mold, and pressed between felts.

waterleaf family. The Hydrophyllaceae.

wa'ter-leave' (wô'tĕr-lēv'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. Leave granted to navigate a watercourse.

water leg. = LEG, n., 15.

water lemon. a A passionflower (Passiflora laurifolia); also, its edible fruit. b The sweet calabash.

water lens. Optics. A lens whose refracting medium is water contained in a suitably shaped vessel of glass or other transparent material.

water lentils. The lesser duckweed.

wa'ter-less (wô'tĕr-lĕs; wŏt'ĕr-; -lĭs; 119), adj. [AS. wæterlēas.] 1. Destitute of or without water; dry; Obs., out of the water.
2. Not water-cooled; usually, air-cooled.
3. Oppressing with want; — of a pit. Obs. Zech. ix. 11. — wa'ter-less-ly, adv. — wa'ter-less-ness, n.

water lettuce. A common tropical floating plant (Pistia stratiotes) forming a rosette of spongy wedge-shaped leaves.

water level. 1. The surface of still water; specif., Hydraulics, a water table (sense 2).
2. The level assumed by a particular body or column of water.
3. The water line of a vessel.
4. An instrument to show the level by means of the surface of water in a trough, or in the legs of a U tube.
5. Mining. A slightly inclined level for draining.

wa'ter-lev'el, adj. Placed at or following along the water level.

water lily. a Any plant of the genus Nymphaea (which see). b In general, any aquatic plant with showy flowers, esp. plants of the family Nymphaeaceae and Nelumbonaceae; also, the water shield, floating heart, and plants of the genus Victoria.

Water Lily (Nymphaea odorata). Leaf and Flowers.

wa'ter-lil'y fam'i-ly. The Nymphaeaceae.

water-lily tree. The North Carolina bay.

water lime. 1. Hydraulic lime.
2. Geol. A Silurian limestone formation overlying the Salina proper of New York. Hydraulic lime is made from it.

water line or wa'ter-line', n. 1. Shipbuilding. Any one of certain lines of a vessel, model, or plan, parallel with the surface of the water at various heights from the keel. In a half-breadth plan, the water lines are outward curves showing the horizontal form of the ship; in a sheer plan, they are projected as straight lines. Cf. LEVEL LINE.
2. Naut. Any one of several lines marked upon the outside of a vessel, corresponding with the surface of the water when she is afloat on an even keel. The lowest line indicates the vessel's proper submergence when not loaded, and is called the light water line; the highest, called the load water line, indicates her proper submergence when loaded.
3. A line produced as a watermark in paper.
4. The level represented by the uppermost limit of ground wholly saturated with water; the level of the water in soil; water table.
5. A line of stain marking the junction of a former leaning roof.
6. A shore line.
7. Boilers. The desired or actual level of the water in a boiler, tank, etc.

wa'ter-line', adj. Placed at or following along the water line.

wa'ter-lined', adj. Having water lines, as paper.

water-line model. Shipbuilding. A model formed of boards shaped according to the water lines in the plans and laid upon each other to form a solid model.

water liverwort. = WATER CROWFOOT b.

water lizard. a A monitor lizard. b Any of various, mostly large, salamanders, esp. a mud puppy, or water dog.

water lobelia. An erect perennial aquatic herb (Lobelia dortmanna) of Europe and North America, with submerged, spongy leaves and an emersed raceme of blue flowers.

water locust. A species of honey locust (Gleditsia aquatica), found in swamps and bottom lands of the southern United States. Its dark heavy wood takes a good polish.

wa'ter-log' (wô'tĕr-lŏg'; wŏt'ĕr-), v.; -LOGGED' (-lŏgd'); -LOG'GING. Transitive: 1. To render unmanageable by flooding or leakage of water, as a boat.
2. To deprive of buoyancy by saturation with water, as floating timber.
3. To saturate with water; as, to waterlog soil by allowing stagnant water to stand on it.
4. To cause to deteriorate or render helpless or unserviceable by or as if by saturation with excess of water; as, to waterlog vegetation, a mine, a business venture; a waterlogging of the lungs.
——, Intransitive: To become inert, unmanageable, or useless, from or as if from excessive saturation with water; as, their coats would waterlog in such a drenching.
— wa'ter-log'ger, n. — wa'ter-log'ging, n.

wa'ter-logged' (-lŏgd'), adj. 1. Filled or saturated with water, so as to be heavy, unmanageable, or loglike; — said of a vessel, timber, etc.
2. Rendered soggy and untillable by water in excess; — of soil.
3. Rendered unserviceable, useless, or helplessly inert, by or as if by excessive saturation with water; as, waterlogged trenches; waterlogged with debt.
— wa'ter-log'ged-ness (-lŏg'ĕd-nĕs; -ĭd-nĭs; 119), n.

Wa'ter-loo' (wô'tĕr-lōō'; wô'tĕr-lōō'; 66), n. 1. See BATTLE, Table.
2. [In allusion to Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo.] A decisive or disastrous defeat or reverse.

water lot. A lot of ground covered with water or in a swamp.

water lotus. The Indian lotus.

water lung. The respiratory tree of a holothurian.

water main. A pipe or conduit for conveying water, as from a reservoir.

water maize. The plant Victoria regia. Its edible seeds somewhat resemble kernels of maize.

water mallow. The rose mallow Hibiscus moscheutos.

wa'ter-man (wô'tĕr-măn; wŏt'ĕr-), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn).
1. A man who works, or chiefly lives, on the water; specif., Obs., a sailor; mariner.
2. A man who plies for hire, esp. as a boatman or ferryman, on rivers, canals, or the like, or in harbors, in distinction from a seaman who is engaged on the high seas; a man who manages small craft for hire.
3. An attendant on cabstands, etc., who supplies water to the horses. Eng.
4. One who is employed in connection with supplying water; esp., one who releases water through valves or sluices, as in waterworks or for irrigation.
5. One who waters roads, as in mines.
6. A demon inhabiting the water. Tylor.
7. Sports. An oarsman.

wa'ter-man-ship', n. a The business or skill of a waterman. b Art of, or skill in, rowing; oarsmanship; specif., skill in managing the blade in the water, as distinguished from managing arms, body, etc., in the stroke.

water maple. a The red maple. b The silver maple (Acer saccharinum). c = MOUNTAIN MAPLE a.

water marigold. A North American aquatic herb (Megalodonta beckii), family Carduaceae, having finely dissected leaves and heads of yellow flowers.

wa'ter-mark' (wô'tĕr-märk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. A mark indicating the height to which water has risen, or at which it has stood; esp., a tidemark.
2. A marking in paper resulting from differences in thickness usually produced by pressure of a projecting design on the dandy roll, in the mold, etc., and visible when the paper is held up to the light. Also, the design or the metal pattern producing the marking. Cf. FOOLSCAP, 3; PAPER, n., 1. In philately, watermarks are important in distinguishing varieties of stamps. The chief kinds are: unit, one entire design on a single stamp; multiple, one design repeated in whole or in part on a single stamp; sheet, or over-all, a design so large that it spreads over an entire sheet, only a portion showing on a stamp; continuous, similar to the sheet, but consisting of words or a phrase repeated continuously, only part of the words appearing on each stamp; stitch, an impression of the joint (stitches) in the endless belt of cloth carrying the pulp, which in the manufacture of postal paper is caused by the dandy roll.
3. Naut. = WATER LINE, 2. Obs.

wa'ter-mark', v. t. To mark (paper) with a watermark; to impress (a given design) as a watermark.

watermark detector. Philately. A small container with black bottom devised to detect watermarks in paper; — called also benzine cup. The addition of enough deodorized benzine to cover a postage stamp causes the watermark to show clearly. The benzine does not injure the texture, color, or gum, of the stamp and evaporates very rapidly.

watermark disease. Plant Pathol. A bacterial disease of the cricket-bat willow (Salix coerulea) in England, in which the pathogen invades the vessels, causing wilting and browning of the leaves and exudation of watery masses of bacteria, hence the name watermark.

wa'ter-mas'ter (wô'tĕr-măs'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr-), n. One in charge of the distribution of irrigation water from a main canal.

water mead. = WATER MEADOW.

water meadow. Agric. A meadow, or piece of low, flat land, capable of being kept in fertility by being overflowed from some adjoining stream.

water meadow grass. = REED MEADOW GRASS.

water measure. An English measure formerly used for articles brought by water, as coals, oysters, etc. The water-measure bushel was by statute in 1494 fixed at five pecks stricken Winchester measure, and in 1701 was defined as equal to a heaped Winchester bushel.

water measurer. Any of many water insects; specif., the water strider.

wa'ter-mel'on (wô'tĕr-mĕl'ŭn; wŏt'ĕr-), n. a The large oblong or roundish fruit of a vine (Citrullus vulgaris) of many varieties. It has a hard green or white rind, often striped or variegated and a pink or red pulp with a copious sweet watery juice and many seeds. b The plant or vine which bears this fruit, native to tropical Africa, but widely cultivated.

water meter. An instrument for recording the quantity of water passing through a particular outlet.

water milfoil. Any aquatic plant of the genus Myriophyllum; — in allusion to the finely pinnate submersed leaves.

wa'ter-mil'foil' fam'i-ly. The Haloragidaceae.

water mill. A mill whose machinery is moved by water. — water miller.

water mint. a A European true mint (Mentha aquatica) growing in wet places, and sometimes having a perfume resembling bergamot. b The horsemint Mentha longifolia.

water mite. Any of many aquatic mites of the family Hydrachnidae, usually having the legs fringed and adapted for swimming. They are often red or red and black, and while young are parasites of fresh-water insects and mussels.

water moccasin. a A poisonous snake, or pit viper (Agkistrodon piscivorus), of the southern United States closely related to the copperhead. Above, it is dull dark chestnut brown, barred with black; beneath, it is black, blotched with yellowish white. It reaches a length of over four feet, is found in or near the water, and feeds largely on fishes. b Any harmless water snake (see WATER SNAKE, 1 a) confounded with the true water moccasin.

Water Moccasin a.

water mold. Any aquatic fungus, esp. any species of the order Saprolegniales.

water mole. a The desman. b The duckbill.

water monitor. A very large lizard (Varanus salvator) of India. It frequents the borders of streams and swims actively. It becomes five or six feet long. Also, any of various other aquatic monitors.

water monkey. A jar or bottle, as of porous earthenware, in which water is cooled by evaporation.

water moss. Any of various aquatic algae, mosses, and liverworts; specif., any moss of the genus Fontinalis, esp. F. antipyretica. See FONTINALIS.

water moth. a Any of many small pyralid moths belonging to Nymphula, Elophila and allied genera, whose larvae live beneath the surface of fresh waters, usually in cases. b Any small moth of the genus Acentropus, whose larvae live under water. c Any caddis fly.

water motor. Any prime mover driven by water; specif., a small water wheel driven by water from a street main.

water mouse. Any of several somewhat aquatic Australian mice of the genus Hydromys.

water mouth, n. A river mouth. Scot.

water myrtle. = WATER GUM a.

water navelwort. a A common water milfoil (Myriophyllum spicatum) of the North Temperate Zone. b A marsh pennywort (Hydrocotyle umbellata), widely distributed in the New World and in Africa.

water nerveroot. The swamp milkweed.

water net. Any fresh-water alga of the genus Hydrodictyon. See HYDRODICTYON.

water newt. Any of many aquatic salamanders; a triton.

water nixie. A female water sprite; a nixie.

water noodle. See 4th NOODLE, 1.

water nut. a The water chestnut Trapa natans. b The water chinquapin.

wa'ter-nut' fam'i-ly. The Trapaceae.

water nymph. 1. Class. Myth. A goddess of any body of water, as one of the naiads, Nereids, or Oceanids.
2. a The common white water lily (Nymphaea odorata). b A plant of the genus Najas.
3. A dragonfly.

water oak. a An oak (Quercus nigra) of the southeastern United States. It has obovate leaves, generally cuneate at the base, and hard coarse-grained wood. It is commonly planted for shade in southern cities. b Any of several other American oaks, as the shingle oak, pin oak, etc. c In Australia, any of certain trees of the genera Callistemon and Casuarina.

water oat. = WILD RICE a.

water of Ayr, wa'ter-of-Ayr' stone. Ayr stone.

water of constitution. Physical Chem. Water so combined in a molecule that it cannot be removed without disrupting the entire molecule. It differs from water of crystallization in that the latter can be removed, leaving the anhydrous molecule essentially the same.

water of crystallization. Chem. Water which is regarded as present (chemically combined) in many crystallized substances, and which is expelled from them by heat, usually with loss by the substance of its crystalline properties. Thus, while pure copper sulphate, $CuSO_4$, is a white amorphous substance, blue vitriol, the crystallized form, $CuSO_4 \cdot 5H_2O$, contains five molecules of water of crystallization.

water of hydration. Chem. Water chemically combined with some substance to form a hydrate.

water of imbibition. Physics. The maximum amount of water that a substance can imbibe, or absorb, and hold, as a sponge removed from water; specif., the maximum amount of water that can be held by a rock or earth above the zone of ground water.

water of life. a Bib. That which gives to a person spiritual or eternal life; spiritual refreshment, or the like; salvation. Rev. xxii. 1. b Brandy, whisky, or other alcoholic drink; — a translation of various non-English names, as eau de vie, usquebaugh, or aqua vitae.

water on the brain. Med. Hydrocephalus.

water on the chest. Med. Hydrothorax.

water on the knee. Med. An accumulation of inflammatory exudate in the knee joint, often following an injury.

water opal. Hyalite.

water opossum. See OPOSSUM, 1.

water ordeal. Any form of ordeal in which water is the testing agent, as that of plunging the bare arm into boiling water, innocence or guilt being held to be proved by the arm's condition, or that of casting an accused person, bound hand and foot, into a river or pond, sinking or floating being evidence respectively of innocence or guilt.

water organ. Music. A hydraulic organ.

wa'ter ou'zel (ōō'zl). Any of several birds of the genus Cinclus; esp., the European water ouzel (C. cinclus), and the American water ouzel (C. mexicanus). Although allied to the thrushes and not web-footed, they have the peculiar habit of diving into swift mountain streams and walking on the bottom in search of food. Called also dipper.

European Water Ouzel.

water oven. A double-walled drying oven with water between the walls, limiting the rise of temperature to 100° C (212° F.).

---

wa'ter-jel'ly, n. = WATER SHIELD a.

wa'ter-kind (wô'tĕr-kīnd), n. Water considered as an element. Obs.

Wa'ter-land'i-an (wô'tĕr-lăn'dĭ-ăn; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A water carrier. Obs.

wa'ter-lead'er (wô'tĕr-lĕd'ĕr; -lēd'-), n. Eccl. Hist. = WATERLANDIAN.

wa'ter-leech', n. A horseleech. Obs.

wa'ter-like', adj. See -LIKE.

wa'ter-ly, adj. Waterish. Obs.

wa'ter-mon'ger, n. See -MONGER.

wa'ter-ol'o-ger (wô'tĕr-ŏl'ō-jĕr; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [See WATER, 4 a; -LOGY.] = UROLOGIST. Obs.

water ox. A water buffalo.
wa'ter–packed', adj. Packed in water; specif., of baled cotton, containing fibers damaged by water after baling, by ginning while moist, or by exposure to weather.
wa'ter pad'da (păd'ȯ). [Cf. D. pad, padde, toad. See 1st PADDOCK.] A South African toad (Breviceps gibbosus) of the family Brevicipitidae. water paint. Paint in which water is the vehicle.
water pan. a A pan for holding water. b = PAN, n., 3 c. water parsley. Any of several bog or aquatic umbellifers. Eng.
water parsnip. Any plant of the genus Sium. water parting. A summit or boundary line separating the drainage districts of two streams or coasts; a divide or watershed. See WATERSHED, 1, Cit. water partridge. The ruddy duck. Local, U. S. water pennywort. Marsh pennywort. water pepper. a Any of several acrid plants of the genus Persicaria, esp. P. hydropiper. b = WATERWORT a. water persicaria. An aquatic herb (Persicaria amphibia) of Europe and North America, with floating leaves and emersed, dense racemes of pinkish flowers. water pewit. A phoebe.
water pheasant. a The pintail. See PINTAIL a. b A merganser; esp., the goosander, the hooded merganser, or the American merganser. c The pheasant-tailed jacana. wa'ter·phone (wȯ'tĕr·fōn; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [water + -phone.] = HYDROPHONE, 1. water piet. The water ouzel. Scot.
water pig. a The capybara. b The gourami. water pillar. A waterspout. Obs. water pilot. A water snake (Natrix taxispilota). Southeastern U. S. water pimpernel. a The brookweed. b The common pimpernel (Anagallis arvensis). water pine. A Chinese evergreen tree (Glyptostrobus pensilis) which grows in wet places and is commonly planted around the edges of rice fields.
water pipe. a A pipe conveying, or designed to convey, water. b A smoking pipe in which the smoke is drawn through water. See HOOKAH; HUBBLE-BUBBLE, 1; NARGHILE. c Archaic. A waterspout. d Poet. An underground current of water.
water pipit. A European pipit (Anthus spinoletta). water pistol. A pistol designed to throw a jet of liquid.
wa'ter-pit' (wȯ'tĕr·pĭt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [AS. wæterpyt.] A well. Obs.
water pitcher. a A pitcher for water. b A pitcher plant. water plane. a The plane of the surface of a body of water. b Aeronautics. A seaplane. c Shipbuilding. The plane of a given water line. water plant. A plant growing in water; an aquatic.
water plantain. A plant of the genus Alisma, esp. A. plantago-aquatica of the Old World, and A. subcordatum of America; — in allusion to their acrid, plantainlike leaves. wa'ter–plan'tain fam'i·ly. The Alismaceae. water plate. A plate heated by hot water in a receptacle beneath. water platter. The plant Victoria regia. water plug. = FIREPLUG. water poa. Reed meadow grass. water pocket. A water hole in the bed of an intermittent stream, esp. the bowl at the foot of a cliff over which the stream leaps when in the flood stage. Western U. S.
Water Poet, the. John Taylor, an English poet (1580–1653), who for a long time followed the occupation of a waterman on the Thames; — so self-styled. water point. Mining. = 1st POINT, 34. water poise. = HYDROMETER, 1.
Water Polak. [After G. Wasserpolak.] One of the Polish-speaking inhabitants of Upper Silesia. water polo. A game played in a swimming pool by teams of swimmers with a ball resembling an association football.
water poplar. The cottonwood Populus balsamifera. water poppy. A Brazilian aquatic herb (Hydrocleis nymphoides), cultivated for its poppylike yellow flowers.
water pore. 1. Zool. A pore by which the water tubes of various invertebrates open externally.
2. Bot. An opening or stoma for the excretion of water. They are at the apexes of the leaf veins of certain plants.
wa'ter-pot' (wȯ'tĕr·pŏt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. A vessel for holding or conveying water; also, a watering pot.
2. In astronomical observation, a part of Aquarius which is sketched in the likeness of a watering pot.
water power. The power of water employed to move machinery, etc.; also, a fall of water which may be used to drive machinery; loosely, a water privilege for a mill. — wa'ter–pow'er, adj.
wat'er–pow'er en'gi·neer'ing. That branch of civil engineering which deals with the construction of works to develop water power.
water pox. Med. A variety of chicken pox, or varicella. water press. = HYDROSTATIC PRESS. water pressure. Pressure exerted by water; as, the water pressure in a swimmer's ears as he dives; the water pressure in a hydrant or faucet; the water pressure in a hydraulic press. — wa'ter–pres'sure, adj.
water privilege. The right to use water, esp. as a mechanical power; also, place where water is, or may be, so used.
wa'ter-proof' (wȯ'tĕr·prōōf'; wŏt'ĕr-; 66), adj. Impervious to water; specif.: a Covered or coated with a material, as a solution of rubber, to prevent permeation by water. b Pert. to or characterizing a machine or structure so constructed that a stream of water may be directed on it under specified conditions without the water entering. — wa'ter-proof'ness, n.
wa'ter-proof', n. Something made waterproof, as cloth coated or interlined with rubber; specif., a cloak or other outer garment made of waterproof cloth or other waterproof material wa'ter·proof', v. t.; WA'TER·PROOFED' (-prōōft'); WA'TER-PROOF'ING. To make waterproof, esp. by an application of some material, as rubber solution, impervious to water. — v. i. To be, or to be made, waterproof. waterproof cement. A cement that dries into a waterproof mass, as a mixture of water glass with chalk or cement.
wa'ter·proof'er (-ĕr), n. One who waterproofs, as roofs, or fabrics; also, a waterproofing material, as for roofs.
wa'ter·proof'ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WATERPROOF. Hence: n. a Act or process of applying a coating which will render something, as a roof or a fabric, waterproof; also, the state of being waterproof. b Material applied to something else to make it waterproof. water propeller. Rotary pump. Rare.
water pump. A pump for pumping water, as in an irrigation system, water supply system, etc. — water pumper. — wa'ter–pump'ing, adj.
wa'ter–pur'pie (Scot. wā'tĕr·pûr'pĭ; wā'-), n. Also wa'ter–pur'py. The brooklime Veronica beccabunga. Scot.
water purslane. a Marsh purslane. b A submerged aquatic or mud herb (Didiplis diandra), family Lythraceae, of the central United States and Mexico.
water pusley. = WATER PURSLANE. wa'ter-quake' (wȯ'tĕr·kwāk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A disturbance of water by seismic action.
water qualm. Pyrosis. wa'ter–quenched' (-kwĕncht'; 105), adj. Quenched with water. See QUENCH, v. t., 4. water rabbit. = SWAMP RABBIT. water race. = 4th RACE, 2 b. water radish. Any of several cresses of the genus Roripa, esp. the European R. amphibia. water rail. a Any of many rails of the genus Rallus, esp. R. aquaticus. See 1st RAIL a. b Local, Eng. = MOOR HEN b. water ram. = HYDRAULIC RAM. water rat. 1. a Any vole of the genus Arvicola, esp. the large British species A. amphibius. See VOLE. b The muskrat. c A beaver rat. d A water mouse.
2. A vagabond or thief who loafs or thieves on the water or about water fronts. Cant or Slang.
water rate. 1. A rate or tax for supply of water.
2. Of a steam engine or turbine, the amount of water (condensed steam) used by the turbine or engine for a given rate of energy output.
water rattler. Also water rattle. The diamondback rattlesnake (Crotalus adamanteus); — so called from its preference for damp places near water.
water reed. Any coarse reedlike grass of the genus Arundo or of the related genera Arundinaria and Phragmites. water rent. = WATER RATE, 1. water requirement. The ratio of the weight of water absorbed during the growth of a plant to the dry matter produced, often expressed in the number of grams of water taken up per gram of dry weight of plant product.
water reserve. A tract of land reserved for feeding streams which are utilized for water supply, as in parts of Australia.
wa'ter–ret' (wȯ'tĕr·rĕt'; wŏt'ĕr-), v. t. To water-rot.
water retting. See RETTING.
water rheostat. A rheostat for dissipating large amounts of electrical energy and consisting of a tank or vessel of water, usually with one fixed electrode and one movable electrode. To increase the conductivity of the water, sodium carbonate (washing soda) is usually added. Called also liquid rheostat.
water rice. = WILD RICE a. water right. Law. a pl. Riparian rights. b A right to the use of water, as for irrigation, either originally acquired by appropriation and perfected by beneficial use, or derived through ownership of riparian land. In the United States, if such right is acquired by appropriation it may rest in the company making the diversion or in the individual to whose land it is delivered, depending upon the statutes and court decisions of the State concerned.
Water Rimer. The Water Poet. Obs.
water ring. Mining. A continuous sloping ring or groove cut in the rock around the wall of a shaft to catch and divert seepage. Called also ring.
water robin. An Asiatic thrushlike bird (Rhyacornis fuliginosa). water rocket. a The yellow water cress. b A kind of firework to be discharged in water. water roll. See 2d ROLL, 4 b. wa'ter–rolled' (-rōld'), adj. Worn round, or smooth, through being rolled by water; as, water-rolled gravel.
water rose. The white or the yellow water lily.
wa'ter–rot', v. t. To rot by steeping in water, as hemp. wa'ter·rug' (wȯ'tĕr·rŭg'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [See 1st RUG, 5.] A kind of water dog. Obs. water rush. The common rush (Juncus effusus).
water sail. Naut. A small sail sometimes set under a lower studding sail or under a spanker boom, and reaching nearly to the water, now rarely used.
water saligot. = WATER CHESTNUT a. water sallow. = WATER WILLOW e. water sapphire. [Equiv. to F. saphir d'eau.] A deep-blue variety of iolite, sometimes used as a gem; — called also saphir d'eau. wa'ter·scape (wȯ'tĕr·skāp; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [After LANDSCAPE.] A water or sea view; a seascape. water scavenger beetle. Any water beetle of the family Hydrophilidae. water scorpion. Any of numerous aquatic hemipterous insects belonging to Nepa, Ranatra, and allied genera. Their front legs are fitted for seizing and holding their prey, and the end of their abdomen bears a long, taillike breathing tube formed by two appressed grooved bristles.

Water Scorpion (Nepa apiculata). Somewhat enlarged.

water screw. = ARCHIMEDEAN SCREW. water seal. A seal formed by water to prevent the passage of gas. — wa'ter–seal', v. t. — wa'ter–sealed', adj.
wa'ter–sea'son, v. t. To season (timber) by immersing for about two weeks in running water to dissolve and extract the sap, finally drying gradually.
water seg. = WATER SKEGS.
water seller. In the Orient, a street vendor of water.
water sengreen. = WATER SOLDIER a. water serpent. = HYDRA, 4. Obs. water set. A trap set under water, designed to avoid human scent on the trap, or to drown the trapped animal so that its struggles will not injure the fur or allow escape.
wa'ter-shake' (wȯ'tĕr·shāk'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. = WATERQUAKE. Obs. water shamrock. The buck bean. wa'ter-shed' (wȯ'tĕr·shĕd'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [Akin to, and perh. after, G. wasserscheide. See WATER; SHED a parting.]
1. = WATER PARTING.
The boundary line between one drainage area and others is rightly termed the watershed, but . . . it is better to call it water parting, or, as in America, divide. Encyc. Brit.
2. The whole region or area contributing to the supply of a river or lake; drainage area; catchment area or basin.
3. That which sheds or throws off water, as from a roof.
water sheep. The roach. Obs.
water shield. a An American aquatic plant (Brasenia schreberi) having floating oval leaves, with a jellylike coating, and small dull-purple flowers. b Any plant of the related genus Cabomba; — called also fish grass. wa'ter–shield' fam'i·ly. The Cabombaceae. wa'ter-shoot' (wȯ'tĕr·shōōt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. Also water shoot. A sucker; also, a shoot arising from the trunk, but otherwise resembling a sucker.
2. A trough or channel for discharging water.
3. The water which drains off from a piece of land; also, a waterfall. Obs.
4. = WATER CHUTE.
5. Arch. A drip, dripstone, or the like.
wa'ter–shot' (wȯ'tĕr·shŏt'; wŏt'ĕr-), adj. Traversed by streams of water.
wa'ter–shot', adv. At an acute angle with the current. Obs. water shrew. Any of several aquatic shrews having fringed feet. The common European species is Neomys fodiens. The common American water shrew is Sorex palustris. wa'ter-shut' (wȯ'tĕr·shŭt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. A rill; irrigation channel. Obs.
wa'ter–sick', adj. Of land, uncultivable and unproductive, because of overirrigation. wa'ter·side' (wȯ'tĕr·sīd'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. The land bordering a body of water, as the seaside or a riverside.
wa'ter·side', adj. a Of, pertaining to, or located on, the waterside; as, waterside trees. b Employed along the waterside, as stevedores, watermen, etc.; as, waterside workers; also, of or pertaining to the workers along the waterside; as, a waterside strike.
wa'ter·sid'er (-sīd'ĕr), n. 1. One dwelling at a waterside.
2. Longshoreman. Australia. water silvering. Silvering done with silver amalgam. water skegs. The common yellow iris (Iris pseudacorus). wa'ter·skin' (-skĭn'), n. A vessel of skin to hold water.
water skipper. = WATER STRIDER. water sky. Dull neutral-colored sky near the horizon, caused by the reflection of the color of the sea, and so indicating open water when seen over an ice-covered sea. wa'ter–slaked' lime (-slākt'; see 1st SLAKE, Note). Slaked, or hydrated, lime. See 1st LIME, 2. wa'ter slat'er (slāt'ĕr). Any fresh-water isopod of the genus Asellus or an allied genus.
water slide. A flume used in logging, etc.
water smartweed. An American smartweed (Persicaria punctata) somewhat like water pepper (P. hydropiper) wa'ters·meet' (wȯ'tĕrz·mēt'; wŏt'ĕrz-), n. A meeting place of two rivers.
Each of these torrents ran down a gorge of its own, the one on the east, the other on the west of the watersmeet. Hilaire Belloc.
wa'ter–smoke' (wȯ'tĕr·smōk'; wŏt'ĕr-), v. t. In the preliminary stage of burning brick, to drive off the moisture in (the green brick) by means of a slow fire. water smoke. 1. The mist or foglike vapor rising from the surface of a body of water.
2. In the burning of brick, the moisture which rises in the form of vapor from the green brick as it is undergoing heating water snail. 1. Any aquatic snail.
2. Mech. The Archimedean screw. Rare.
water snake. 1. a Any of numerous snakes of Natrix (syn Tropidonotus) and related genera, which live more or less in fresh water and feed largely on aquatic animals, as N. sipedon (syn. fasciata) common in North America. Some species reach a length of four feet, are savage in appearance and disposition, and can inflict a severe, but not poisonous bite. They can be easily distinguished from the poisonous moccasin by the absence of a deep depression between the nostril and the eye. b Any of various East Indian and Australian strictly aquatic, fresh-water snakes of the subfamily Homalopsinae (family Colubridae), having one or more posterior teeth grooved, valvular nostrils on the upper surface of the snout, and often a compressed tail.

Water Snake (Natrix sipedon sipedon).

2. [caps.] = HYDRUS b.
3. A waterman; a river boatman. Jocose. Obs. water snowflake. An Asiatic floating plant (Nymphoides indicum), often cultivated for its starlike white flowers.
wa'ter–soak' (wȯ'tĕr·sōk'; wŏt'ĕr-), v. t. To soak in water; to fill the interstices of with water.
wa'ter–soak'en (-ĕn), adj. Water-soaked. Archaic. water socks. The white water lily Nymphaea alba. Obs.
water softener. = SOFTENER a. water soldier. a A European aquatic plant (Stratiotes aloides) with bayonet-shaped leaves, submerged in the vegetative stage and floating in the flowering stage. b The water lettuce Pistia stratiotes. wa'ter–sol'u·ble, adj. Soluble in water; — specif., Biochem., used with a letter (with or without the word vitamin) in designating certain vitamins; as, water-soluble vitamin B, or water-soluble B. See VITAMIN.
water sorrel. The water dock Rumex hydrolapathum. water souchet or souchy. Cookery. A dish of small fish or pieces of fish served in the water in which they are stewed. water spaniel. See SPANIEL. water speedwell. A very common speedwell (Veronica anagallis-aquatica) found in wet places in Eurasia and America.
water spider. a An aquatic European spider (Argyoneta aquatica) which constructs beneath the surface of the water a bell-shaped structure of silk, open beneath and filled with air which the spider carries down in the form of small bubbles. b A water mite. c Any spider that habitually lives on or about the water, as species of Pirata or the large American species Dolomedes urinator, which runs rapidly on the surface of water.
water spike. a Any species of Potamogeton; — so called in allusion to the erect, usually emersed, spikes of flowers. b Any plant of a related genus (Hydrostachys). water spinner. = WATER SPIDER a. wa'ter·spout' (wȯ'tĕr·spout'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. A pipe, duct, or orifice, from which water is spouted; also, sometimes, water which spouts out from, or as if from, such a pipe or orifice.
2. A pipe or duct for conveying water from a roof gutter to the ground or to a cistern.
3. A slender funnel-shaped or tubular column of rapidly rotating, cloud-filled wind usually extending from the under side of an ordinary cumulus or cumulo-nimbus cloud down to a cloud of spray torn up by the whirling winds from the surface of an ocean or lake. It is sometimes straight and vertical and sometimes inclined and tortuous, as it moves along. The funnel cloud is of fresh water.
4. A torrential burst of rain; rainfall of the nature of a cloudburst.
water sprite. A sprite supposed to inhabit or haunt the water; a water nymph. Cf. KELPIE, NIXIE, NAIAD, NEREID.

water sprout. An extremely vigorous sucker or shoot originating from the trunk or main limb of a tree, esp. a fruit tree.
water spruce. a The black spruce Picea mariana. b The blue spruce Picea pungens. c The hemlock spruce Tsuga canadensis.
water stair or stairs. Stairs leading to the water, as at a boat landing.
wa'ter-stand'ing, adj. Tear-filled. Rare.
water star. The starfruit. water star grass. A grassy-leaved North American aquatic herb (Heteranthera dubia) with yellow star-shaped blossoms. water starwort. Any plant of the genus Callitriche.
wa'ter-star'wort' fam'i·ly. The Callitrichaceae. wa'ter-stead' (wä'tĕr-stĕd'; wô'-), n. Bed of a stream. Dial. Eng.
wa'ter sto'ma (wô'tĕr; wŏt'ĕr-). Bot. A water pore.
Wa'ters-ton's hy·poth'e·sis (wô'tĕrz-tŭnz). [After J. J. Waterston, Brit. chemist.] Physical Chem. The hypothesis that the mean kinetic energy of the molecules of a gas is proportional to the temperature.
wa'ter-stoup' (wä'tĕr-stōōp'; wä'-), n. A bucket for water. Scot.
water strider. Any long-legged bug of the family Gerridae (syn. Hydrobatidae), which moves about on the surface of fresh waters or, more rarely, on the ocean; a water skipper.

Water Strider (Hygrotrechus conformis). (⅔) water string. In an oil or gas well, the final string of casing or pipe set to exclude water from the producing formation.

wa'ter-struck' (wô'tĕr-strŭk'; wŏt'ĕr-), adj. 1. Designating brick in which water instead of sand was used to prevent sticking in the mold.
2. Marked irregularly by dipping in water before burning; — said of brick. water supply. Supply of water, or process of supplying water, as for communities by means of reservoirs, tunnels, and pipe lines. — wa'ter-sup·ply' (66), adj.
wa'ter-sup·ply' en'gi·neer'ing. See ENGINEERING, n., 1. — wa'ter-sup·ply' en'gi·neer'. water swallow. 1. The water wagtail.
2. = SINK, n., 8. Dial. Eng.
wa'ter-sweet' adj. Sweet and clean, as if washed with water; as sweet as pure water. "Made the old rooms water-sweet." Eden Phillpotts.
water system. a A river with its tributaries. b = WATER SUPPLY. water tabby. A kind of watered tabby. See TABBY, n., 1. water table. 1. Arch. A stringcourse or similar member when projecting so as to throw off the water; esp., in the United States, the first table above the ground, at the top of the foundation and beginning of the upper wall.
2. The upper limit of the portion of the ground wholly saturated with water;— used chiefly in hydraulic engineering. This may be very near the surface or many feet below it. See GROUND WATER.
3. Road Engin. A gutter on the side of a road to carry off water.
water tabling. Arch. Water tables collectively.
water tare grass. = WILD RICE a. water target. = WATER SHIELD a. water telescope. 1. = WATER GLASS, 5.
2. Optics. A telescope devised for looking into a body of water. water tender. 1. A workman who attends to the condition of the water in steam boilers.
2. Nav. In the United States Navy, a petty officer in charge in a fireroom. He "tends" water to the boilers, sees that fires are properly cleaned and stoked, etc.
water territory. Territorial waters.
water thermometer. Physics. A thermometer filled with water instead of mercury, for ascertaining the precise temperature (about 39° F. or 4° C.) at which water is most dense. water thief. Pirate. Shak.
water thistle. a A Eurasian thistle (Cirsium palustre). b Eng. The common teasel (Dipsacus sylvestris). water thrush. a Any of several North American warblers of the genus Seiurus, as the ovenbird S. aurocapillus and allied forms, usually found in the vicinity of streams. The plumage is olivaceous above and streaked below. The northern water thrush is S. noveboracensis. The Louisiana water thrush is S. motacilla. b The European water ouzel. c Local, Eng. The pied wagtail.

Louisiana Water Thrush (Seiurus motacilla). (¼) water thyme. The waterweed Philotria canadensis.

water tick. = WATER MITE. water tiger. = WATER DEVIL a. wa'ter-tight' (wô'tĕr-tīt'; wŏt'ĕr-; 66), adj. a So tight as to be impermeable by water. b Pertaining to or characterizing a machine or structure so constructed that a stream of water may be directed on it under specified conditions (more severe than required for the machine or structure to be waterproof) without leakage of water. c Figuratively, sealed tight against the permeation of anything; of a legal document or the like, so written or phrased as to leave no possibility of misconstruction or of a defeat of its purpose; as, a watertight lease. Cf. WATERTIGHT COMPARTMENT, 2. — wa'ter-tight'ness, n.
wa'ter-tight'al (-āl; -ĭl), adj. Watertight.
Its box-built, watertightal structure. Galsworthy.
watertight compartment. 1. A compartment, as in a ship, having watertight doors, by which it can be entirely separated from the rest.
2. Hence, figuratively, a division or part of anything regarded as shut off from the rest; as, a mind divided into watertight compartments. "Watertight compartments in the realm of ideas." Jespersen.
watertight deck. See DECK, n., 2. water torch. The cattail, or reed mace, the spike of which makes a good torch when soaked in oil. water tower. 1. A tower or standpipe serving as a reservoir to deliver water at a required head, as to a fountain.
2. Specif.: A fire apparatus having a vertical pipe which can be extended to various heights, and supplied with water under high pressure, as by several motor pumpers. It is used to deliver water at heights unattainable by the ordinary apparatus.
water tree. a A climbing woody vine (Tetracera alnifolia), family Dilleniaceae, of western Africa, which yields a watery sap from the freshly cut stem. b In Australia, any of several trees, esp. Hakea leucoptera, from which water may be obtained by cutting the bark or roots. c A pitcher plant (Nepenthes distillatoria) of Ceylon. Its stems are used as ropes. The pitchers hold considerable water.
water trefoil. The buck bean. water tube. 1. Any tube for passing or holding water; specif., in some steam boilers, a tube in which water circulates and steam is generated. Cf. FIRE TUBE; see BOILER, n., 6.
2. Zool. One of a system of tubular excretory organs in many invertebrates, having external openings, believed to be analogous in function to the kidneys of vertebrates. wa'ter-tube' boil'er. See BOILER, n., 6. water tupelo. The tupelo gum Nyssa aquatica.
water turbine. See TURBINE. water turkey. The American snakebird. See SNAKEBIRD. water tuyère. A water-jacketed tuyère. water twist. 1. An eddy or whirlpool in a stream.
2. Yarn made by the water frame. wa'ter uint'jie (ûnt'yē). The Cape pondweed. S. Africa.
water vapor. The vapor of water; — so called esp. when below boiling temperature and in diffused form (as in the atmosphere), as distinguished from steam.
wa'ter-vas'cu·lar, adj. Zool. Of, pertaining to, or designating, certain vessels which develop in many invertebrates and contain a nutritive fluid mixed with water.
water-vascular system. Zool. A system of vessels in echinoderms, containing a circulating watery fluid analagous to blood, used for the movement of tentacles and tube feet. The system may also function in excretion and respiration. Analogous, but less specialized, systems occur in other invertebrates. See ECHINODERMATA.
water vine. a Any Asiatic climbing plant of the genus Phytocrene (family Icacinaceae). Their stems yield a copious and refreshing watery sap. b = WATER TREE a. water violet. The featherfoil Hottonia inflata.
water viper. Water moccasin. water vole. = WATER RAT, 1 a. water wagon. A wagon used, as with troops on the march, to carry water.
— to be or go on the water wagon. To abstain or desist from drinking alcoholic liquor. Slang, U. S. water wagtail. a A wagtail; esp., the pied wagtail or some other species of the restricted genus Motacilla. b Local, U. S. A water thrush. wa'ter-wall' (wô'tĕr-wôl'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. 1. A wall built beside or around a body of water.
2. An arrangement of pipes carrying water and so grouped as to form a protective wall between a fire, as in a boiler, and the lining of the furnace.
water wally. A woody herb or low shrub (Baccharis glutinosa) ranging from the southwestern United States to western South America, used for thatching and in making native brooms.
wa'ter-washed' (wô'tĕr-wŏsht'; wŏt'ĕr-), adj. Washed or bathed with water; esp., washed by the waves of the sea. water wave. 1. Lit., a wave of water. See WAVE, n., 1 & 10.
2. A kind of wave made when the hair is damp, and now usually formed with combs and set with heat.
wa'ter-wave', v. t. To make a water wave in (hair).
wa'ter-waved', adj. a Set in a water wave; — said of hair. b Marked with a pattern or striping like or suggesting a wave of water.
wa'ter-way' (wô'tĕr-wā'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [Cf. AS. wæterweg.]
1. A way or channel for water; also, a way of water; a navigable body of water; specif., the fairway.
Fertile country on either side is intersected by waterways. F. Ayscough and Amy Lowell.
2. A way or regular route for traffic by water; esp., in a river or canal, the navigable width of the channel.
3. Amount of opening for the passage of water; specif., Naut., a watercourse on each side of a vessel's deck for draining the deck.
4. The open passage area in a cock or valve.
5. Shipbuilding. a The outer planking of any deck of a ship, much heavier than the rest of the deck, the inboard edge grooved to form a passage for water to the scuppers. b In metal vessels a passage formed by angle irons and the deck stringer. In a yacht the waterway is called also plank-sheer or covering board.
wa'ter-weed' (-wēd'), n. a Any aquatic plant with inconspicuous flowers, as the pondweed, riverweed, etc.; specif., an American plant (Philotria canadensis) with elongated branching stems and small opposite or verticillate leaves. It is naturalized in parts of Europe, as England. b In California, a plant (Jussiaea californica) with flowers which yield an ill-tasting honey.
water weevil. A weevil (Lissorhoptrus simplex) whose larva feeds on the roots of the rice plant when under water. The imago feeds on the rice leaves. Southern U. S.

Water Weevil. (× 4)

water wheel. 1. Any wheel made to rotate by direct action of water; esp., a vertical wheel on a horizontal shaft moved at a comparatively low velocity by the action or weight of the water on or in floats or buckets on its rim. A turbine operated by water is often called a water wheel; hence, one in which the direction of the flow of the water is radial is sometimes called a radial water wheel, etc. See BREAST WHEEL; OVERSHOT WHEEL; PONCELET WHEEL; TURBINE; UNDERSHOT, adj., 2.
2. The paddle wheel of a steam vessel.
3. A wheel for raising water, as a noria.
water whip. Naut. A gun-tackle purchase hooked to a yard and used in hoisting in moderate weights.
wa'ter-white' (66), adj. White as water; colorless; — said esp. of the highest grade of kerosene. water white oak. The overcup oak.
water willow. a An American herb (Dianthera americana) with long willowlike leaves, and spikes of small purplish flowers. b The purple loosestrife. c The great willow herb. See WILLOW HERB. d The swamp loosestrife. e A Eurasian willow (Salix aquatica). water wing. 1. pl. A pneumatic device to give support to the body when swimming or learning to swim.
2. Arch. & Engin. A wall forming a wing to the abutment of a bridge or pier, and extending laterally along the shore on either side as a protection from the current.
wa'ter-wise' (wô'tĕr-wīz'; wŏt'ĕr-), adv. See -WISE. water witch. 1. A witch supposed to dwell in or haunt a body of water.
2. A person who locates underground springs or currents of water by means of a hazel wand. Local, U. S.
3. a Dabchick. b Local, Eng. Stormy petrel. water witching. The finding of water by means of a divining rod, as a hazel wand. "The Divining Rod, a History of Water Witching." Water Supply Paper 416, U. S. Gov't. water withe. The everbearing grape Muscadinia munsoniana, yielding an abundant watery juice. W. Ind.
wa'ter-wood' (wô'tĕr-wŏŏd'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. a A West Indian tree (Chimarrhis cymosa), family Rubiaceae, with greenish-white flowers. b A Central American mangrove (Cassipourea elliptica), family Rhizophoraceae, with hairy, white flowers.
wa'ter-work' (-wûrk'), n. 1. Anything built in, for, or as a protection against, water, as variously a tank, a dock, a canal lock, a levee, a seawall, etc.
2. A spectacle or pageant presented, or designed to be presented, on boats or floats on the water.
3. Chiefly pl. and often written water works. A hydraulic apparatus, or a system of works or fixtures, by which a supply of water is furnished for useful or ornamental purposes, including dams, sluices, pumps, aqueducts, distributing pipes, fountains, etc.
4. A fountain; also, pl., the source of tears; hence, tears. Slang.
Sneaking little brute, . . . clapping on the waterworks just in the hardest place. T. Hughes.
5. Painting in distemper, on canvas or walls; hence, a fabric decorated thus. Obs.
6. A marine scene. Obs.
wa'ter-work'er (-wûr'kĕr), n. One who works along the waterside, in the waterworks of a city, or in trenching to make drains for carrying water.
wa'ter-worm' (-wûrm'), n. A worm which lives in water.
wa'ter-worn' (-wôrn'; 181), adj. Worn, smoothed, or polished, by the action of water. water worship. Worship of a river or other body of water as being sacred, as the worship of the Ganges by Hindus. — water worshiper.
wa'ter-wort' (wô'tĕr-wûrt'; wŏt'ĕr-), n. [Cf. AS. wæterwyrt water fennel.] a Any plant of the family Elatinaceae. b A plant of the family Philydraceae. c = MAIDENHAIR SPLEENWORT. waterwort family. The Elatinaceae. wa'ter-y (wô'tĕr-ĭ; wŏt'ĕr-ĭ; 85), adj. [AS. wæterig.]
1. Of, pertaining to, or connected with, water; living in the water; associated with water; as, to sail over the watery ways; he sank to a watery grave. "The watery god." Dryden. "Fish within their watery residence." Milton.
2. Containing or discharging water; as, watery clouds; soaked with water; washed by the waves of a body of water; as, a watery shore; wet; as, watery garments; hence, tearful; as, watery complaints.
3. Resembling or suggesting water; thin or transparent, as a liquid; weak; vapid; pale; as, watery humors; a wishy-washy, watery style in writing.
Pale, watery light. Willa Cather.
4. Hence, soft, soggy, flabby, or the like, as the flesh of some fish, inferior vegetables, etc.
5. Watering from craving. Obs. "Watery palate." Shak.
6. Astrol. Having a cold and moist complexion. Cf. HUMOR, n., 2.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:
watery-colored, watery-eyed, watery-headed.
water yam. The lattice plant; — so called from its farinaceous rootstock.
water yarrow. a The featherfoil Hottonia inflata. b = WATER MILFOIL. c = WATER CROWFOOT a. watery eye. An eye that exudes moisture; specif., Med., = EPIPHORA, 1. watery sign. Astrol. A zodiacal sign with a cold and moist complexion. The watery signs are Cancer, Scorpio, and Pisces. watery sky. A sky threatening rain. watery triplicity. See TRIPLICITY. wath (wäth), n. [ON. vath. See WADE.] Ford. Obs. exc. Dial. wath'stead' (wäth'stĕd'), n. [wath + stead.] Ford. Dial. Eng.
Wat'ling Street (wŏt'lĭng). [AS. Wætlinga, or Wæclinga, strǣt street of the Waeclings; cf. AS. Wæclingaceaster, now Saint Albans.] 1. A Roman road extending from London to Wroxeter (near Shrewsbury) in a general northwesterly direction. By some it is held to be the road that began at Richborough, or Dover, ran through Canterbury to London, and continued from Wroxeter to Chester.
2. The Milky Way, or Galaxy. Obs.
Wat'son (wŏt's'n), Dr. The confidant and foil of Sherlock Holmes, and the fictional narrator of Holmes's adventures. Cf. SHERLOCK HOLMES.
Wat·so'ni·a (wŏt-sō'nĭ-ȧ), n. [NL., after Sir William Watson (1715–87), Eng. botanist.] Bot. A genus of South African, gladioluslike herbs (family Iridaceae), often cultivated for ornament. They have showy spikes of nearly regular flowers, mostly red or white, and chiefly basal leaves. watt (wŏt), n. [After James Watt, Scot. inventor.] Physics. A unit of power or activity equal to 10^7 C.G.S. units of power, or to work done at the rate of one joule a second or to the rate of work represented by a current of one ampere (one coulomb per second) under a pressure of one volt; a volt-ampere. An English horsepower is approximately equal to 746 watts. Cf. electric horsepower, under HORSEPOWER, 2. For a continuous current the value in watts is equal to the product of the electromotive force by the amperes; for an alternating current, the product of the effective electromotive force in volts by the effective current in amperes gives the apparent watts, or apparent power; the true watts or power is the average value of the product of the instantaneous values of the electromotive force in volts and of the current in amperes for a complete cycle. It is the quantity measured by a wattmeter, and equals the apparent power multiplied by the cosine of the phase angle. The ratio of true to apparent watts or power is called the power factor.
watt. Var. of WAT, a hare.
Watt, n. = 2d WAT. watt'age (wŏt'ĭj), n. Elec. Amount of electric power expressed in watts. wat'ta·pe (wŏt'ȧ-pē), n. [See WATAP.] Basketry. A watertight basket made by North American Indians and often ornamented with porcupine quills. In cooking, heated stones are dropped into a wattape containing water until the water boils.

---

wa'ter-ward (wô'tĕr-wĕrd; wŏt'ĕr-), adj. & adv. See -WARD.
wa'ter-wards (-wĕrdz), adv. See -WARDS. wa'ter-wom'an, n., fem. of WATERMAN. wathe, n. [ON. vāthi.] Obs. a Danger; peril. b Injury; harm; hurt. c Evil; wrong; sin. — wathe'ly, adv. Obs.
wath'er (wäth'ĕr). Scot. var. of WEATHER. wa'ther (wä'thĕr). Var. of WATER. Anglo-Irish.
watkin. † WHATKIN.
Wat'kin (wŏt'kĭn), n. Obs. dim. of WALTER. watschood. † WET-SHOD.

watt current. Elec. In an alternating circuit, that component of the current that is in phase with the electromotive force; — opposed to reactive current. Called also active current.

Wat·teau' (wŏ·tō′ or, esp. Brit., wŏt′ō; vȧ′tō′), adj. Of or pert. to Antoine Watteau, French painter (1684–1721); of a kind represented in Watteau's pictures; — said esp. of women's garments.

Watteau back. A style of back for a woman's gown, in which one or more very broad folds or plaits are carried from the neck to the floor without being held in at the waist.

watt′–hour′, n. The work done by one watt acting for one hour, — a unit of energy.

watt–hour meter. Elec. A device to record electric energy, usually in kilowatt-hours; an integrating wattmeter; — often erroneously called wattmeter. See 3d METER, 2.

wat′tle (wŏt′′l), n. [AS. watel, watul, watol, interwoven twigs, wattle; cf. ME. watel a bag. Cf. WALLET.] 1. A twig or flexible rod; a withe; wand; hence, a framework or hurdle made of such rods.
2. pl. Rods laid on a roof to support the thatch.
3. Material consisting of wattled twigs, withes, etc., used for walls, fences, etc.
4. [Perh. a different word.] a A naked, fleshy, and usually wrinkled and highly colored, process of the skin hanging from the chin or throat of a bird or reptile. b A barbel of a fish. c Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. A flap of loose hanging flesh on either side of the throat of some swine.
5. A livestock identification mark in which the skin on the dewlap or other part of the body is slit.
6. a In Australia, any tree or shrub of the genus Acacia; also, in early colonial days, the tree Callicoma serratifolia (family Cunoniaceae); — both so called from the wattles, or hurdles, which the early settlers made of the long, pliable branches or of the split stems. b = WATTLE BARK.

Wattle (Acacia longifolia).

wat′tle, adj. Made of, or covered with, wattle or wattles.

wat′tle (wŏt′′l), v. t.; WAT′TLED (-′ld); WAT′TLING (-lĭng). 1. To bind, fence, etc., with wattles; to hurdle; also, to cover or support with or as with wattle.
2. To twist or interweave, one with another, as twigs; to form a network with; to plat.
3. To form by interweaving or platting twigs.
4. To beat or flog with or as with a rod. Dial. Eng. & Scot.

wat′tle, n. [Nor. veit(s)le, fr. ON. veizla, fr. veita to grant, treat. See 3d WAIT.] Formerly, annual entertainment of the foud or the tax paid in commutation. Ork. & Shet.

wattle and daub (or dab). Building. = STUD AND MUD. — wat′tle–and–daub′, wat′tle–and–dab′, adj.

wattle bark. The astringent bark derived from various Australian acacias, used in tanning; mimosa bark.

wat′tle·bird′ (wŏt′′l·bûrd′), n. a Any of several Australasian honey eaters of the genus Coleia (syn. Anthochaera) having fleshy pendulous ear wattles. The common Australian species (C. carunculata) is mostly grayish brown with white shaft stripes on the feathers of the upper parts and a white-tipped tail. An allied species (Dyoitornis paradoxus) inhabits Tasmania. Formerly called also wattled crow. b A wattle crow. c The Australian brush turkey.

Wattlebird (Coleia carunculata).

wat′tle·boy′ (-boi′), n. Ir. Hist. A pikeman. Obs.

wattle crow. Any long-tailed slaty gray corvine bird of the genus Callaeas having a subcircular fleshy wattle on each side of the base of the lower mandible. C. cinerea, of the South Island of New Zealand, has orange wattles; C. wilsoni, of the North Island, has blue.

wat′tled (wŏt′′ld), adj. 1. Furnished with wattles, or pendent fleshy processes. "Wattled cocks."
2. Made or strengthened with wattle.
3. a Plaited or interlaced. b Rare. Of sheep, placed in a fold.

Wattle Day. A holiday in Australia, August 1 or September 1, according to the forwardness of the flowering of the wattle in each State, first observed in 1910. The idea behind the celebration, typified by the golden yellow bloom, is the encouragement of the arts.

wattled bee eater. = WATTLEBIRD a.

wattled bird of paradise. A bird of paradise (Paradigalla carunculata) having an erect yellowish wattle in front of each eye and a bluish pendent one at each angle of the mouth.

wattled crow. a See WATTLEBIRD a. b A wattle crow.

wattled honey eater. = WATTLEBIRD a.

wattled lapwing. A wattled plover.

wattled plover. Any of various plovers of the subfamily Lobivanellinae, of the warmer parts of the Old World. They resemble the lapwings, but the face, esp. between the eye and the bill, has variously colored fleshy wattles.

wattled stare or starling. A bird (Creadion carunculatus), native of New Zealand, allied to the huia. It has small wattles.

wattle gum. An unofficial variety of gum arabic obtained from wattles, esp. Acacia pycnantha, in the form of reddish tears or lumps; — called also Australian gum.

wattle jaws. Long thin jaws.

watt′less (wŏt′lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Elec. Without any power (cf. WATT); — said of an alternating current or component of current when it differs in phase by ninety degrees from the electromotive force which produces it, or of an electromotive force or component thereof when the current which it produces differs from it in phase by ninety degrees.

wattless component. Elec. = REACTIVE COMPONENT.

wattless current. See REACTIVE CURRENT.

wattless power. Elec. = REACTIVE VOLT-AMPERES.

wattless volt–amperes. The product of the wattless component of current by voltage, or wattless component of voltage by current.

wattless watts. Wattless volt-amperes; — a misnomer.

wattle turkey. The Australian brush turkey.

wat′tle·work′ (wŏt′′l·wûrk′), n. Wickerwork.

wat′tling (wŏt′lĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WATTLE. Hence: n. Act or process of binding with or interweaving twigs; also, the network so formed.

watt′man (wŏt′mȧn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Motorman; the man handling the electric controls. Rare.
[In a rotor ship] the wattman on the bridge simply reverses one rotor and accelerates the other. Manchester Guardian.

watt′me′ter (-mē′tĕr), n. [watt + -meter.] Elec. a An instrument for measuring electric power in watts. b A watt-hour meter; — a common misnomer.

Watt's curve (wŏts). [See WATT.] Math. See THREE-BAR CURVE.

Watt's diagram. A graph showing corresponding changes of pressure and volume of a substance. Cf. INDICATOR CARD.

watt′–sec′ond, n. Elec. A unit of power equal to one watt per second.

Watt's governor. Mach. A trade-mark applied to a simple governor. See GOVERNOR, n., 6.

Watt's principles. The principles stated by Watt as underlying the construction and operation of the economical steam engine. See STEAM ENGINE.

Watt's straight–line, or parallel, motion. See STRAIGHT-LINE, 1.

Wa·tu′si (wä·tōō′sĭ), n. pl. A branch of the Bahima.

wau′chle (wȯ′k'l), v. i. To stagger; waddle; struggle. Scot. & N. of Eng. — n. A staggering gait; a waddle; also, a struggle. Scot. & N. of Eng.

waucht, waught (Scot. wäkt, wȯkt; dial. Eng. wȧft), n. [Cf. QUAFF.] A copious draft. — v. t. & i. To drink deeply; to quaff. Both Scot. & N. of Eng.

waugh (wôf), adj. [See WALLOW tasteless.] Insipid; nauseous; damp and stale; also, faint; weak. Scot. & N. of Eng.

waugh (wȯ), interj. Also wagh. An exclamation expressing anger, disgust, or grief; — sometimes used to interpret the grunt of American Indians when moved by such feeling.

waugh, waw (wȯ), adj. Wavering; uncertain. Obs. Scot.

waugh′y (wȯf′ĭ), adj. Clammy; boggy; also, feeling faint or weak; wan. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wauk′it (wȯk′ĭt), adj. [Cf. AS. wealcan to roll, to turn, E. WALK.] Horny; callous; also, matted. Scot. & N. of Eng.

waul (wôl), v. t. & i. [Cf. AS. wealwian to roll, wallow.] To roll (the eyes); to look wildly. Chiefly Scot.

waul. Var. of WAWL, wail.

waur (wôr; wär), adj. Worse. Scot.

waur (wôr; wär). Variant of 4th WAR.

Wau·rá′ (wou·rä′), n. An Indian of an Arawakan tribe, dwelling on the headwaters of the Xingú River in Matto Grosso, Brazil.

wau·re′gan (wȯ·rē′găn), adj. [Mohican wurĭgĕn.] Excellent; worthy. Local, U. S.

wav′a·ble (wāv′ȧ·b'l), adj. That can be waved. — wav′ably, adv.

wave (wāv), v.; WAVED (wāvd); WAV′ING (wāv′ĭng). [ME. waven, fr. AS. wafian to wave; akin to AS. waefre wavering, restless, MHG. wabern to be in motion, ON. vafra to hover about, váfa to vibrate. Cf. WAVER, WEEVIL.] Intransitive: 1. To play loosely; to move like a wave, one way and the other; to float; flutter; undulate.
His purple robes waved careless to the winds. Trumbull.
2. To be moved to and fro as a signal; to signal in this way.
3. To waver; to be indecisive; to vacillate; to be inconstant or fickle; sometimes, to turn from one's course or direction.
4. To be sinuous like a wave; to curve alternately in and out or up and down.
——, Transitive: 1. To move one way and the other; to swing, sway, brandish, or the like; as, to wave a sword.
2. To shake or vibrate (something) as a signal; as, to wave one's head in an emphatic negative; also, to convey (some message or signal) by a wave, as of the hand or head; as, we waved them good-by at the station; to wave defiance.
3. To divert from one's course or direction. Obs.
4. To call attention to, or give a direction or command to, by a waving motion, as of the hand; to beckon; signal.
Look, with what courteous action
It waves you to a more removed ground. Shak.
5. To cause to have sinuosities; to raise into ridges and furrows; to give an undulating form or surface to.
6. To water, as silk.
7. To make waves in (the hair).
Syn. — Flutter, flourish. Cf. BRANDISH.

wave aside. To put to one side, as by a wave of the hand, or out of discussion or consideration.

wave the bloody shirt. See BLOODY SHIRT.

wave (wāv), n. [From WAVE, v. but confused with ME. wawe, waghe, a wave (akin to E. wag to move). See WAVE, v.] 1. A ridge or swell on the surface of a liquid, as of the sea, having normally a forward motion distinct from the oscillatory motion of the particles which successively compose it; an undulation. Minute waves, or ripples, are largely dependent on surface tension, those of larger size on the force of gravity. The chief cause of waves on lakes or seas is the friction between wind and water. Waves once formed are propagated for long distances, but on reaching shallows, being retarded below, curl over and form breakers.
2. Water; a body of water. Poetic.
Deep drank Lord Marmion of the wave. Scott.
3. A salient curved unevenness, or one of a series of such, in a surface; an undulation; ridge; swell.
4. A waving or undulating motion, sound, or the like; a vibrating or quivering; an oscillation; as, a wave of the voice; esp., a signal made by waving the hand, a flag, etc.
5. The undulating line or streak of luster on cloth watered, or calendered, or on damask steel; also, the pattern formed by such undulating lines on a material.
6. Something resembling or likened to a water wave, as in rising unusually high, in being of unusual extent, or in progressive motion; a swelling or excitement, as of feeling or energy; a tide; flood; a period of intensity, unusual activity, or the like; as, a wave of enthusiasm.
7. Specif.: a One of a succession of advances of immigrants, settlers, or the like; as, the waves of settlers who crossed the Alleghenies; the woman-suffrage wave. b Mil. A line of attacking or assaulting troops.
It was D company; our second wave. H. G. Wells.
8. A natural or artificial undulation of the hair.
9. Tilde, usually represented by the sign [~].
10. Physics. A single pulse or the disturbance included in a space of one wave length of the advance of a disturbance into a medium; as, temperature waves; sound waves; light waves; water waves. If the disturbance producing the waves is periodic, so will be the waves. Waves may be spherical, plane, etc., depending upon the shape of the wave front. Elastic waves are those in which the disturbance is mechanical, giving rise to forces of restitution owing to the elasticity of the medium. Transverse waves, as light waves, are those in which the vibrations of the individual particles of the medium are perpendicular to the direction of the advance of the waves; longitudinal waves, as sound waves, are those in which the vibrations are in the line of advance of the waves. Elastic waves in gases and liquids are longitudinal; in solids, they may be either longitudinal or transverse, or both. Electromagnetic waves are transverse. Mechanical waves and electromagnetic waves carry kinetic and potential energy with them. Electric waves either are hertzian waves (which see), or they are waves produced in a long conductor by variations in potential at one of its points, as in telephone cables. Water waves on the surface of a large body of water are due to the action of gravity unless the waves are very short, in which case surface tension is the cause of the wave propagation; each particle of the water moves in a small closed curve in a vertical plane. Damped waves, or damped vibrations, are those in which the amplitude of vibration of the particles becomes less, owing to absorption of the energy by the medium, as the waves advance. The simple periodic wave is the simplest type of wave; it results when each particle, or elementary portion, of the medium undergoes simple periodic changes through each complete revolution, or through an angle of 2π or 360°; the phase of vibration varies continuously from particle to particle in the direction of the advance of the wave. Cf. LIGHT, n., 18; 6th SOUND, 1 b; VIBRATION, 3; WAVE LENGTH; HERTZIAN WAVES; HEAT WAVES; GROUND WAVE; SKY WAVE.
Syn. — WAVE, BILLOW, BREAKER. WAVE is the general word; a BILLOW (often elevated or poetical for wave) is esp. a great surge or swell; a BREAKER is a heavy wave which breaks into foam, esp. against rocks or over reefs or shoals.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wave-beaten	wave-encircled	wave-reflected wave-bladed	wave-green	wave-subjected wave-bowered	wave-haired	wave-swept wave-breasted	wave-hollowed	wave-tossed wave-buffeted	wave-lashed	wave-washed wave-dashed	wave-laved	wave-wet wave-edged	wave-moist	wave-worn

☞ PHRASES in which wave is the terminating element are: heat wave, hertzian wave, sound wave, water-wave.

wave (wāv). Variant of WAIVE.

wave action. Gun. The theoretical action of inflamed gases in the chamber of a gun when abnormally high pressures occur without corresponding effect on the projectile.

wave antenna. Radio. An antenna of great length with special circuit arrangements permitting utilization of the antenna's directional properties.

wave breast. Jew. Antiq. A breast of an animal used as a wave offering.

wave bundle. Physics. A compact group of waves, as that emitted by an electron in changing from one energy level to another.

wave changer. Radio. A device in a transmitting set for effecting a rapid change from one frequency to another.

wave′–cut′, adj. Cut away by the action of waves of the sea.

waved (wāvd), adj. Exhibiting a wavelike form or outline; specif.: a Undulating; indented; wavy; as, a waved edge. b Having a wavelike appearance; marked with wavelike lines of color; as waved, or watered, silk. c Moved or shaken rhythmically to and fro, sometimes as a signal.

wave equation. Math. & Physics. The equation $\frac{\partial^2 u}{\partial t^2} = V^2\nabla^2 u$ where $\nabla^2 u$ is Laplace's second differential parameter which has in rectangular Cartesian co-ordinates the form $\frac{\partial^2 u}{\partial x^2} + \frac{\partial^2 u}{\partial y^2} + \frac{\partial^2 u}{\partial z^2}$, — of fundamental importance in the wave theory of matter.

wave filter. Physics. = 1st FILTER, 4.

wave form. Physics. The form, or shape, of the graph of a wave; specif., Elec., the shape of the curve obtained when the instantaneous values of alternating-current quantities are plotted against time in rectangular co-ordinates. The distance along the time axis corresponding to one complete cycle of values is taken as 2π radians, or 360 degrees. Two alternating quantities are said to have the same wave form when their ordinates of corresponding phase bear a constant ratio to each other. The wave form is independent of the frequency of the current and of the scale to which the curve is plotted.

wave′–form′ the′o·ry. Naval Arch. A theory of naval design involving the correct distribution of the displacement of a vessel, promulgated by Colin Archer in Norway, and John Hyslop in New York, about 1878. The bulk of the forebody is disposed according to a curve of versed sines, and the bulk of the afterbody according to a trochoid. See WAVE LINE.

wave front. Physics. a A surface composed at any instant of all the points just reached by a vibrational disturbance in its propagation through a medium. b A surface so drawn as to pass through those parts of a wave where the distortion, or the displacement, of the medium through which the wave passes is everywhere the same.

wave function. Math. A solution of the wave equation.

wave horse. A white-crested billow. Rare.

wave length. Physics. The distance in the line of advance of a wave from any one point to the next point at which, at the same instant, there is the same phase. If N is the frequency of the waves and λ their wave length, their velocity of advance is the product $N\lambda$.

wave′let (wāv′lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. Little wave; ripple.

wave line. 1. = WAVEMARK, 1. — wave′–line′, adj.
2. Naval Arch. A line of a vessel's hull, shaped in accordance with a system or theory (wave-line system or theory) which takes into account the shape of a wave in designing. It was promulgated by J. Scott Russell about 1840 but is now superseded. Cf. WAVE-FORM THEORY.

wa′vell·ite (wā′vĕl·īt), n. [After Wm. Wavell (d. 1829), Eng. physician.] Mineral. A basic aluminum phosphate, usually in hemispherical radiated aggregates varying from white to yellow, green, or black.

---

wat′ter (wăt′ĕr). Var. of WATER. Obs. exc. Dial.

wat′tis, n. pl. [From wat, dial. var. of well.] Shoe welts. Obs. Scot.

wat′tld. Wattled. Ref. Sp.

wat′tle-faced′, adj. Thin-faced. Obs.

Wat Ty′ler's Re·bel′lion (wŏt tī′lĕrz). = PEASANTS' REVOLT.

wau′ble (wȯ′b'l; wä′b'l). Scot. var. of WABBLE, wobble.

wauch. Var. of WAUGH.

wauf, wauff (wôf, wäf). Var. of WAFF; WAUGH, adj.

waught. Var. of WAUCHT.

wauk (wȯk; wäk). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WALK.

wauk, wauk′ing. Scot. vars. of WAKE, WAKING.

wauk′en (wȯk′ĕn; wäk′ĕn). Scot. & Ir. var. of WAKEN.

wauk′rife. Var. of WAKERIFE. Scot. & N. of Eng.

waulk (wȯk; wäk). Scot. var. of WALK, v. i., 9.

waum′le (wăm′′l). Scot. var. of WAMBLE. [var. of WANDER.

waun′er (wŏn′ĕr; wän′-). Scot.

wauns (wănz; wȯnz), interj. = ZOUNDS.

waup (wŏp; wäp). Var. of WHAUP.

wauve (wȯv). Var. of WHAUVE.

wau′-wau′ (wou′wou′). Var. of WOU-WOU.

wave. † WEAVE.

wave′a·ble, wave′a·bly. Vars. of WAVABLE, WAVABLY.

waved wheel. = WAVE WHEEL.

wave′less, adj. See -LESS. — wave′less·ly, adv. — wave′lessness, n.

wave′like′, adj. & adv. See -LIKE.

---

wave loaf. Jewish Antiq. A loaf used as a wave offering. wave making. The making of waves; esp., the sending out of electric waves. — wave′–mak′ing, adj.
wave′mark′ (wāv′märk′), n. 1. A very small ridge of sand made by a wave when it advances upon a low sandy beach. It marks the limit of advance.
2. Geol. One of many undulations on the bedding surfaces of a sedimentary rock due to wave action during the period of deposition. Cf. RIPPLE MARK. wave mechanics. Physics. A theory of matter holding that elementary particles (electrons, protons, neutrons, etc.) have wave properties and seeking a mathematical interpretation of the structure of matter on the basis of these properties. See ATOMIC THEORY.
wave′ment (wāv′mĕnt), n. A waving motion. Rare.
wave′me′ter (wāv′mē′tĕr), n. Also wave meter. Radio. A frequency meter for use in radio communication.
wave molding. Arch. a A molding with a pattern suggesting a row of breaking waves, seen in profile. Cf. VITRUVIAN SCROLL. b A molding with a wavelike profile. wave moth. Any of many small geometrid moths of Acidalia and allied genera; — so called from the color markings.
wave motion. Vibrational motion characterized by waves. wave motor. A prime mover actuated by waves of water. wave number. 1. Astrophysics. The number of waves per centimeter of light of a given wave length; — used instead of the wave length in many atomic and spectrum formulas. If the wave length, λ, is expressed in angstrom units, the wave number, n, $= 10^8/\lambda$. See FREQUENCY; cf. BALMER'S FORMULA.
2. Physics. The reciprocal of the wave length; the number of waves in a unit length.
wave of contraction. Physiol. a The visible onward contraction of a muscle from the point where the stimulus is applied. b The curve made in a tracing, as on a kymograph, by a muscular contraction. wave offering. Jewish Hist. In a peace offering, the portion which was moved backward and forward by the officiating priest, and which was given to Aaron and his sons (Ex. xxix. 26, 27; Lev. vii. 30). See PEACE OFFERING.
wave of oscillation. A wave due to the regular and constant movement of the sea, its outline being that of a trochoid.
wave of translation. A wave caused by the bow of a moving vessel, its outline being that of a curve of versed sines.
wave path. Physics. The line or set of lines indicating the direction of propagation of a wave or wave train. wave pattern. An undulating line which often appears in primitive ornament, as in the decoration of pottery.
wa′ver (wā′vĕr), v.; WA′VERED (-vĕrd); WA′VER-ING. [ME. waveren; akin to MHG. waberen, ON. vafra, AS. wæfre wavering, restless. See WAVE, v.] Intrans.: 1. To play or move to and fro; to sway one way and the other; hence, to totter; reel; also, to quiver or flicker like a ray of light.
Banners and pennons wavering with the wind. Ld. Berners.
2. To be unsettled in opinion; to vacillate; to be undetermined or indecisive; to fluctuate; as, to waver in judgment.
Let us hold fast . . . without wavering. Heb. x. 23.
3. To show signs of giving way or retreating from a position; to falter; as, the front line wavered under fire.
4. To wander; roam; stray. Obs. Chiefly Scot.
—, Transitive: To make to move to and fro or one way and the other; to wave. Obs.
Syn. — Sway, falter. See FLUCTUATE. wa′ver, n. An act of wavering, quivering, or the like.
wav′er (wāv′ĕr), n. One who or that which waves; specif.: a In some styles of printing presses, a vibrating roller that finally smooths and distributes the ink on the inking tables. b A hairdresser who does waving; also, an iron for waving hair. c Obs. One who is undecided or vacillating.
wa′ver (wā′vĕr), n. [From WAIVE, v.] A sapling among felled trees; a twig growing from a stump. Eng.
wave rate. Acoustics. Rate of vibration. wa′ver-er (wā′vĕr-ĕr), n. One who wavers; esp., a vacillating or indecisive person.
wave resistance. Naut. See RESISTANCE, 5 c. wa′ver-ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WAVER. Hence: adj. That wavers, oscillates, trembles, flickers, vacillates, or the like. — wa′ver-ing-ness, n. — wa′ver-ing-ly, adv.
A little wavering smile. Edna Ferber.
Wa′ver-ley (wā′vĕr-lĭ), n. The short title and hero of Scott's first novel (1814) Waverley, or 'T is Sixty Years Since, which gave its name to the whole series known as the Waverley Novels. Edward Waverley is a young captain in the British Army, who becomes involved in the uprising in the Highlands at the time of Charles Edward Stuart's invasion of England (1745). See MACIVOR, FLORA; BRADWARDINE, BARON.
Wa′ver-ly (-lĭ), n. [From Waverly, Ohio.] Geol. A shale and sandstone series of the Mississippian (Lower Carboniferous) in Ohio and adjacent States.
wa′ver-ous (wā′vĕr-ŭs), wa′ver-y (-ĭ), adj. Wavering. R.
wave rule. Print. See RULE, n., 15 a. wa′ver-y (wā′vĕr-ĭ), adj. Wavering.
The gentlemen smoked . . . The judge blew a wavery domed city up in the air. Booth Tarkington.
wave shape. Physics. = WAVE FORM. wave sheaf. Jew. Antiq. A sheaf used as a wave offering. wave′son (wāv′sŭn), n. [Perh. fr. OF. flotaison (see FLOTSAM) with E. wave for the first part (cf. F. flot wave); or fr. WAIVE.] Early Eng. Law. Goods which, after shipwreck, appear floating on the waves, or sea. wave surface. 1. Physics. A wave front; also, a combination of wave fronts developed simultaneously from a single center, as in uniaxial and biaxial crystals. Thus, the wave surface for a uniaxial doubly refracting substance consists of a sphere enclosing, or enclosed by, an ellipsoid of revolution. The form of the wave surface formed by light from a point within a uniaxial or biaxial crystal has been described by Fresnel for many typical cases. See also HUYGENS' WAVE SURFACE.
2. Geom. A special tetrahedroid which is the locus of points, two on each half line through the center of a central quadric, whose distances from the center are the semiaxes of a perpendicular central plane section of the quadric. Its equation is $\frac{a^2x^2}{a^2-r^2}+\frac{b^2y^2}{b^2-r^2}+\frac{c^2z^2}{c^2-r^2}=0$ where $r^2=x^2+y^2+z^2$. So called by Fresnel, because it is the locus of points simultaneously reached by light from a point source propagated in a doubly refracting medium. wave system. 1. A system of traffic regulation in which the signals on a street or highway change progressively, permitting traffic to proceed at some uniform predetermined speed without stopping.
2. Naval Arch. A method of ship design in which the length of the entrance and run are determined by the wave lengths of certain waves moving at the ship's designed speed. wave telegraphy. = WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY. Now Rare. wave telephony. = WIRELESS TELEPHONY. Now Rare. wave theory. See LIGHT, n., 18 a. wave theory of matter. Physics. A theory which regards the charge of an electron as distributed throughout space with a variable density instead of as located at a point. A function of position and time, from which the density may be calculated, satisfies the wave equation. wave top. The curve in a boot top, generally double and higher at the front. wave train. Physics. A series of waves separated from other series of the same kind by quiescent periods. wave trap. Radio. A tuned circuit used to improve the selectivity of radio apparatus or to eliminate interference. A commonly used type is a parallel combination of a condenser and an inductor connected in series with the antenna. This is tuned to the frequency of an interfering wave.
wave wheel. Mach. A rope pulley with a groove of wavy outline to increase the grip on the rope; also, a wheel of similar shape used as a cam, to give a reciprocating movement.
wave winding. See DRUM WINDING. wav′ey (wāv′ĭ), n. [Can. F., of Algonquian origin; cf. Ojibway wêwe, Cree wehwew.] A snow goose. wav′i-cle (wāv′ĭ-k'l), n. [wave + particle.] Physics. An entity which combines properties of a wave motion with those of a moving particle; as, wavicles of light.
A. S. Eddington. way′ing (wāv′ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WAVE. Hence: adj. That waves, in various senses. — way′ing-ly, adv.
wav′ing, n. Act of one who or that which waves, in various senses; as: a Motion to and fro. b Vacillation. c Undulation. d A signaling, as by a wave of the hand; also, a signal. way′y (wāv′ĭ), adj.; WAV′I-ER (-ĭ-ĕr); WAV′I-EST. 1. Rising or swelling in waves; abounding in waves.
The wavy seas. Chapman.
2. Playing or moving to and fro with an undulating motion; fluctuating; wavering; sinuous; as, wavy flames.
3. Undulatory; marked by a series of rolling hills and gentle valleys; as, a wavy terrain.
4. a Bot. Undulate. b Her. Waved; undé. See BARRY-NEBULY.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wavy-coated	wavy-grained	wavy-leaved wavy-edged	wavy-haired	wavy-toothed wav′y (wāv′ĭ). Var. of WAVEY, n. wavy hair grass. A wiry perennial grass (Deschampsia flexuosa) of temperate regions.

waw (wô), n. [Ar. wāw.] The Arabic consonant representing the English w. See FEEBLE, adj., 4; ALPHABET, Table.
wa·was′keesh (wä·wŏs′kēsh), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Ojibway wāwāshkeshi deer, Cree wāwāskejiw.] The wapiti, or American elk. wawl (wôl), v. i. To wail; howl; squall. — wawl, n. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
waw′-waw′ (wô′wô), n. [Corrupt. of Sp. guaguá, prob. fr. Taino.] A West Indian wild yam (Rajania pleioneura). wax (wăks), v.; past tense WAXED (wăkst); past part. WAXED, Obs. or Poetic WAX′EN (wăk′sĕn; -s'n); pres. part. & verbal n. WAX′ING. [AS. weaxan; akin to OFris. waxa, D. wassen, OS. & OHG. wahsan, G. wachsen, ON. vaax, Goth. wahsjan, Gr. auxanein to increase, Skr. vavakṣa he grew, increased. See EKE, v.; cf. WAIST.] Intransitive: 1. To increase in size, numbers, strength, prosperity, intensity, or the like; to grow larger, fuller, stronger, more numerous, etc.; — opposed to wane; as, a people that waxed greatly as the years went by; sometimes it seems that the wicked wax while the worthy wane.
Truth's treasures . . . never shall wax ne wane. Piers Plowman.
2. Specif., of the moon, to have its illuminated surface grow larger and larger, as happens during the period from the new moon to the full moon; — opposed to wane.
3. To pass from one state to another; to become; grow; as, to wax strong, old, well; to wax eloquent, superstitious.
4. Obs. a To spring; to arise. b To grow up. wax up. To flare up. Dial. Eng. wax, n. [See WAX to grow.] Growth; development; also, size. Obs. exc. Dial.
wax (wăks), n. [AS. weax; akin to OFris. wax, D. was, G. wachs, OHG. wahs, ON. & Sw. vax, Dan. vox, Lith. vaškas, OSlav. voskŭ.] 1. A substance secreted by bees by special glands on the under side of the abdomen, and used by them, after mastication and mixture with the secretion of the salivary glands, for constructing the honeycomb; — called specif. beeswax. The principal part of the wax is melted out of the combs with hot water and strained; the residue is then pressed to obtain more wax, called press wax or pressed wax, and from the press cake an inferior grade called extraction wax is extracted with benzine. Normal beeswax is a dull-yellow solid of agreeable odor, plastic when warm, and melting at about 62–66° C. (143–151° F.). Sp. gr., usually 0.958–0.967 at 15° C. On purification and bleaching it becomes white, odorless, tasteless, and comparatively brittle. It is a mixture consisting chiefly of cerotic acid and myricyl palmitate and containing some hydrocarbons. It is insoluble in water, partly soluble in boiling alcohol, ether, etc., and miscible in all proportions with oils and fats. It is used variously in the arts, as in candles, in modeling, and in cerates, ointments, etc.
2. Hence, any of various substances resembling beeswax; specif.: a Any of a class of substances of plant or animal origin including, beside beeswax, spermaceti, Chinese wax, carnauba wax, etc. They contain esters and often, in addition (sometimes in large amount), free fatty acids, free alcohols, and higher hydrocarbons. Usually, "true waxes" are distinguished chemically from fats (which are esters of glycerol) as containing chiefly esters of higher monohydroxy alcohols. On this basis certain oils, as sperm oil, are called liquid waxes. Some, however, base the distinction on physical properties only (waxes being less greasy, harder, and more brittle, than fats) and include with the waxes certain waxy substances (as bayberry wax and Japan wax) which chemically are fats. b Any of certain solid substances of mineral origin, as ozocerite and paraffin wax, consisting usually of higher hydrocarbons. c A pliable composition for uniting surfaces, for excluding air, or for some other purpose; as, sealing wax; grafting wax; etching wax, etc. d A resinous preparation used by shoemakers for rubbing their thread. e Local, U. S. Thick sirup or a taffylike confection made by boiling down maple sirup and then cooling it. f Local, U. S. Chewing gum.
3. Something made of wax (sense 1) or a similar substance, or resembling or suggesting an object thus made, as in pliability, adhesiveness, or the like; as: a A candle made of wax. b A wax vesta. c A model or statuette made of wax. d A pliable or impressionable person, character, etc.
4. A color, yellow in hue, of low saturation and very high brilliance. It is of slightly higher saturation and slightly lower brilliance than amber white. Called also wax white. Cf. COLOR.
5. Bot. Any waxlike product secreted by plants. See VEGETABLE WAX.
6. Mining. Plastic clay used for dams, etc. Eng.
7. Motion Pictures. A disk, composed of a metallic soap (with small quantities of other ingredients), one or two inches thick and about sixteen inches in diameter on which a stylus cuts the first impression of sound in the sound-on-disk process.
8. Physiol. Cerumen, or earwax. See CERUMEN.
9. Zool. A substance similar to beeswax, secreted by several species of scale insects, as the Chinese wax. See WAX INSECT.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wax-bearing	wax-featured	wax-producing wax-brown	wax-finished	wax-rubbed wax-coated	wax-forming	wax-secreting wax-colored	wax-headed	wax-tipped wax-composed	waxhearted	wax-topped wax-covered	wax-jointed	wax-white wax-erected	wax-lighted	wax-yellow wax-extracting	wax-polished

— as tight as wax. Also as neat as wax, as close as wax. As tight, neat, or close, as if sealed with wax. — to be wax in the hands of. To be easily molded, impressed, or influenced, by. — lad of wax, man of wax. Fellow of highly commendable quality or character. Archaic. — to fit like wax. To fit closely and neatly. — to stick to (a person) like wax. To stay closely and continually with (a person).
-wax (-wăks). Combining form of the noun wax, as in: beeswax, chafewax, chaffwax, thoroughwax.
wax (wăks), adj. Of or like wax; waxen.
wax (wăks), v. t.; WAXED (wăkst); WAX′ING. To treat with wax; to smear, rub, stop up, etc., with wax; as, to wax a thread, a table, a floor, etc.
wax, n. A fit of temper; a rage. Colloq.
No wonder Stumm had been in a wax at its loss. John Buchan.
wax, v. t. To get the better of; to beat soundly or badly, as in a game. Colloq., U. S.
wax bean. One of a race of snap or string beans with tender golden yellow pods; — called also butter bean.
wax′ber′ry (wăks′bĕr′ĭ; -bĕr-ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). a The wax-covered fruit of the wax myrtle, or bayberry; also, the shrub itself. b = SNOWBERRY a. wax′bill′ (-bĭl′), n. Any of numerous Old World birds of the weaverbird family (Ploceidae) having white, pink, or reddish bills of a waxy appearance, esp. those of the genus Estrilda. Many are common cage birds, as the Java sparrow, the amadavat, strawberry finches, etc.
wax′–billed′ (-bĭld′), adj. Of certain birds, having a bill like or suggesting sealing wax in color.
wax′bird′ (-bûrd′), n. A waxwing. wax bleacher. See BLEACHER. wax brown. The color bronze.
wax′bush′ (wăks′bŏŏsh′), n. The waxweed.
wax butter. An oily substance distilled from beeswax.
wax candle. A candle of wax, or, loosely, of paraffin, etc.
wax′chand′ler (wăks′chăn′dlĕr), n. A chandler dealing in wax, esp. in wax candles. — wax′chan′dler-y (-ĭ), n.
wax cloth. a A fabric waterproofed with wax or paraffin. b Oilcloth. wax cluster. An evergreen shrub (Gaultheria hispida) of Tasmania and eastern Australia, with waxlike, edible berries used in cookery. wax′comb′ (wăks′kōm′), n. Honeycomb. Obs. wax creeper. In South Africa, either of two vines of the milkweed family: a The plant Microloma tenuifolia. b = WAX PLANT b. wax distillate. Petroleum Refining. = PARAFFIN DISTILLATE. wax doll. a A doll made wholly or partly of wax. b Hence, a person who in appearance resembles or is likened to such a doll, as in lack of expression or of animation.
wax dolls. The common fumitory (Fumaria officinalis). waxed end (wăkst). A thread formed of a number of filaments rubbed with shoemaker's wax, and usually pointed with a bristle, used in sewing leather in which holes have been made, as for boots, shoes, and the like; — called also wax end.
waxed paper. = WAX PAPER.
wax′en (wăk′sĕn; -s'n), adj. 1. Made of wax; as, a waxen cell.
2. Covered with wax; waxed; as, a waxen tablet; also, appearing as if covered with wax; hence, smooth and shining; sometimes, pallid; as, the waxen face of the corpse.
3. Resembling wax; waxy; hence, soft; pliable; impressionable; yielding.
Men have marble, women waxen, minds. Shak.
4. Of the color wax.
wax′en. Poetic and archaic past part. of WAX, to grow. waxen chatterer. The Bohemian waxwing. See WAXWING. wax end. A waxed end. — wax′–end′ed, adj.
wax engraving, wax etching. See WAX PROCESS. wax′er (wăk′sĕr), n. One who or that which waxes something, as floors; specif., one whose occupation is to coat articles, as artificial flowers, glass, etc., with wax.
wax extractor. See EXTRACTOR, 1 e (2). wax′flow′er (wăks′flou′ĕr), n. a A much-cultivated climbing plant (Stephanotis floribunda) of Madagascar, having fragrant white flowers. b An epiphytic tree (Clusia insignis) of British Guiana. c The wax plant Hoya carnosa. d The spotted wintergreen.
wax gland. Zool. Any gland that secretes wax, esp. one in certain insects, as the honey-bee and scale insects. wax gourd. A tropical Asiatic twining plant (Benincasa hispida); also, its edible fruit, which somewhat resembles a pumpkin, covered with a waxy pulverulent coat. Called also tallow gourd and gourd melon.
wax hair. Zool. Wax secreted by certain psyllids or coccids and extruded as a filament through the porelike opening of the wax gland.
Wax′haw (wăks′hô), n. An Indian of an extinct Siouan tribe, formerly living on the headwaters of the Wateree River in the Carolinas.

---

wave′-mak′ing re·sist′ance. See RESISTANCE, n., 5 c. wave′proof′ (66), adj. See -PROOF. wa′ver-a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.
wa′verd. Wavered. Ref. Sp.
wave′ward (wāv′wĕrd), adj. See -WARD. wave′wise′, adv. See -WISE. wav′i-ly (wāv′ĭ-lĭ), adv. of WAVY. wav′i-ness, n. See -NESS.
Wa·vi′ra (wä-vē′rä), n. sing. & pl. See VIRA. waw, n. [ME. wawe, wache; akin to E. WAG.] A wave. Obs.
waw. Var. of WOUGH, wall. Obs. exc. Dial.
waw. Var. of WOW, n. & v.
waw. Var. of VAU; WAUGH. wa′wa (wä′wä), wa′wah (wä′-wä). Vars. of WOUWOU. wawe. † WOWE, woe; WAUGH, wavering; WAVE. [Obs.
wax′and, adj. Waxing; crescent. waxberry cornel. = RED OSIER b.

wax'ing (wăk'sĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WAX. Hence: adj. That waxes. — wax'ing-ly, adv.

wax insect. a Any of several scale insects of the family Coccidae, which secrete from their bodies a waxlike substance, esp. the Chinese wax insect (Ericerus pela) which yields much of the commercial Chinese wax. b Any of several homopterous insects of the family Fulgoridae which secrete a wax used by the Chinese for candles, etc.

wax kernel. A small tumor formed by enlargement of a lymph gland and often occurring in children.

wax light. Wax candle or taper.

wax'mak'er (wăks'māk'ĕr), n. One who makes wax; esp., a bee that makes wax. — wax'mak'ing, adj. & n.

wax'man (wăks'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A waxer.

wax moth. The bee moth.

wax myrtle. Any shrub or tree of the genus Myrica, esp. M. cerifera and M. carolinensis of eastern North America. They have aromatic foliage, and small hard berries (often called bayberries) with a thick coating of white wax used for candles.

Wax Palm (Cerozylon andicolum).

wax opal. Opal of a yellow color and waxy luster.

wax painting. Encaustic painting.

wax palm. a A pinnate-leaved palm (Cerozylon andicolum) of the Andes, the stem of which yields a resinous wax, which, when mixed with tallow, makes excellent candles; also, any other species of Cerozylon. b A Brazilian palm (Copernicia cerifera) the young leaves of which are covered with a waxy secretion. See PALM WAX.

wax paper. Paper with a coating of white wax and other ingredients.

wax pine. Any tree of the genus Agathis.

wax pink. The garden portulaca. See PORTULACA.

wax plant. a The Indian pipe. b A well-known cultivated South African twiner (Hoya carnosa) with glossy, succulent leaves, and umbels of pink-and-white star-shaped flowers. c Any of several begonias with shining foliage. d The wax myrtle.

wax pocket. Zool. One of the cavities on the ventral abdominal surface into which wax is secreted by a honeybee.

wax press. Beekeeping. A machine for extracting beeswax from empty honeycomb by the application of pressure as well as heat. Cf. EXTRACTOR, 1 e (2).

wax process. 1. An electrotyping process, in which the design is drawn, photographed, or impressed, upon a thin coating of wax on a metal plate and is then cut through with gravers to the metal; cerotype; — called also wax engraving and, in England, wax etching.
2. Patternmaking. A method of making a pattern in wax and using this pattern either as the master pattern or as a pattern for making the master pattern in white metal.

wax red. The color copper red.

wax'-red' (66), adj. Red like sealing wax.

wax runner. = WAX CREEPER. S. Africa.

wax scale. a A scale insect that secretes wax, as the Florida wax scale (Ceroplastes floridensis), the Indian wax scale (Ceroplastes ceriferus), etc. b One of the small flakes of wax secreted in a wax pocket of a honeybee.

wax shrub. The wax myrtle, esp. a South African species (Myrica cordifolia).

wax'-stitched' (wăks'stĭcht'), adj. Stitched with waxed threads.

wax stone. In the production of ozocerite, or mineral wax, the lump of mixed earthy matter and mineral, boiled in copper vats to separate the wax.

wax tailings. Petroleum Refining. Final dark-colored distillates containing amorphous wax, used in cracking, in waterproofing compositions, etc.

wax taper. A taper made of wax, paraffin, etc.

wax tree. Any tree yielding wax; specif.: a In Japan, the Japanese wax tree. b In eastern Asia: (1) A privet (Ligustrum lucidum) the twigs of which become incrusted with white wax as the result of insect punctures. (2) An ash (Fraxinus chinensis) yielding a similar product. c A Colombian tree (Elaeagia utilis), family Rubiaceae. d The wax myrtle.

wax'weed' (wăks'wēd'), n. A small purple-flowered herb (Cuphea petiolata) of eastern North America, having a viscid pubescence.

wax white. The color wax.

wax'wing' (wăks'wĭng'), n. Any of several American and Asiatic passerine birds of the genus Bombycilla (syn. Ampelis), chiefly brown, with a showy crest and velvety plumage. The secondaries have small red waxlike tips. The cedar waxwing (which see), and the similar but larger Bohemian waxwing (B. garrula pallidiceps) of northern North America, are the best-known species.

Bohemian Waxwing. (1/4)

wax'work' (-wûrk'), n. 1. Work made of wax; esp., a figure or figures formed wholly or partly of wax, in imitation of living beings.
2. (Usually pl. in form but construed as sing.) An exhibition of wax figures, or the place of exhibition.
He bought out a waxworks. Am. Mercury.
3. = BITTERSWEET, 3 b.

wax'work'er (-wûr'kĕr), n. 1. One who works in wax; one who makes waxwork.
2. A bee that makes or produces wax.
— wax'work'ing, adj. & n.

wax worm. The larva of the bee moth.

wax'y (wăk'sĭ), adj.; WAX'I-ER (-sĭ-ĕr); WAX'I-EST. 1. Resembling wax, as in appearance or consistency; viscid; adhesive; soft; hence, yielding; pliable; impressible.
Waxy to persuasion. Bp. Hall.
2. Made of, or abounding in, wax; covered with wax.
3. Designating, or affected with, amyloid degeneration.

wax'y (wăk'sĭ), adj. Vexed; angry. Slang, Eng.

waxy cast. Med. A dense, highly refractile, urinary cast.

waxy degeneration. Med. Amyloid degeneration.

wax yellow. A color, reddish-yellow in hue, of medium saturation and high brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

waxy flexibility. Psychiatry. A condition in which the patient's limbs retain any position into which they are manipulated by another person; flexibilitas cerea.

way (wā), n. [ME. wey, way, fr. AS. weg; akin to OS., D., OHG. & G. weg, ON. vegr, Goth. wigs way, AS. wegan to move, L. vehere to carry, Skr. vahati he carries, draws, travels, Lith. vėžė wheel track, rut. Cf. CONVECTION, INVEIGH, NORWEGIAN, VECTOR, VEHEMENT, VEHICLE, VEIN, VEX, WAG, WAGON, WAIN, WEE, WEIGH.] 1. Direction of motion, progress, facing, pointing, etc.; route; line of tendency of action; as, to show the way.
If that way be your walk, you have not far. Milton.
2. That along which one passes or progresses to reach some place; the track a person or thing travels or has traveled in his or its progress or passage; a course from one place to another; a passage, road, street, track, or path of any kind.
I shall him seek by way and eke by street. Chaucer.
The way seems difficult, and steep to scale. Milton.
3. Room to advance, pass, or progress; also, opportunity to proceed; hence, freedom of action or opportunity; as, to give him way to work his will; to yield him way for the full exercise of his powers.
4. Length of space; distance; as, a great way; a long way; — in dial. and colloq. form, ways; as, he ran a long ways before he fell; not a great ways away.
5. A moving; passage; progression; journey.
I prythee, now, lead the way. Shak.
6. Manner; method; mode; fashion; style; as, the way of expressing one's ideas; he was a great man in his own way; her way of doing her hair; entertaining in a large way.
7. The means by which anything is reached or accomplished; scheme; device; plan; as, he thought he could win that way.
My best way is to creep under his gaberdine. Shak.
8. An aspect or feature; respect; point; — with in expressed or understood; as, a plan good in every way.
9. Regular course; habitual method of life or action; as, the way of all flesh signifies the common experience of all mankind.
10. Individual characteristic or peculiarity; esp., pl., idiosyncrasies; personal traits; as, after you get used to his ways, you don't care so much.
In his highflying vanities, his low-lying oddities, what we call his "ways." Augustine Birrell.
11. Line of business; occupation; calling. Colloq.
12. Condition, as of health; as, in a bad way. Colloq.
13. Determined course; resolved mode of action or conduct; as, to have one's way.
14. Sphere, scope, or range, of observation.
The public ministers that fell in my way. Sir W. Temple.
15. Advance; progress; as, the plan has made no way; he pushed his way through the crowd; he held his way in spite of all obstacles; specif., advance in life; career, or success along a chosen line.
They are young and Mr. Seaver has still his way to make. O. Johnson.
16. Neighborhood; district or section of a country; — in the phrase "out, down, or up (one's) way." Colloq.
17. Motion; headway; momentum.
The pavement was on a slight incline, the perambulator had a little way on it, and the whole force of the wind behind. J. D. Beresford.
18. Reason; cause. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
19. Of fabrics, the direction of the weave; as, to cut cloth the way of the goods instead of on the bias.
20. [cap., with the.] Bib. The Christian religion; Christianity. Acts xix. 9, xxiv. 14 (R.V.).
21. Law. A right of way.
22. pl. Mach. The longitudinal guides, or guiding surfaces, on the bed of a planer, lathe, or the like, along which a table or carriage moves.
23. Naut. Progress; motion through the water; headway; as, a ship on starting gathers way.
24. pl. Shipbuilding. a The inclined structure, generally of timber, upon which a vessel is built. b The inclined structure, usually of timber, upon which a vessel is supported in launching. The ground ways are heavy longitudinal timbers, parallel with the keel; on them rest the bilge or sliding ways; the two being held together by a dogshore or a plank spiked to both. The weight of the vessel when ready for launching is transferred by means of many wedges from the keelblocks to the bilge ways, which are greased where they rest on the sliding ways. When the dogshore on each side is knocked away, or the planks sawed, the vessel is free to slide into the water.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

way-begulling, adj.	way-sore	way-walking, adj.
way-clearing, adj.	way-spent	way-wearied
way-haunting, adj.	way-stopping, adj.	way-weariness waymate	way-taking, adj.	way-weary

Syn. — WAY, ROAD, HIGHWAY, STREET, AVENUE, LANE, ALLEY are here compared in their ordinary senses; for special uses see defs. WAY is generic, and denotes any line or route for passage or conveyance; a ROAD is a way, esp. for horses or vehicles, between one place and another; a HIGHWAY is a main, often much traveled, road; a STREET, orig. a paved way, is a thoroughfare in a city, town, or village; an AVENUE, as here compared, is a broad street, often planted with trees; the word suggests a certain degree of stateliness, but is often loosely applied; a LANE is a narrow passage or byway, esp. between hedges, fences, or walls; an ALLEY is a narrow passageway between buildings in a town or city, as distinguished from a public street. In many American cities it is a passageway for vehicles, providing access to the rear of buildings or lots. See MANNER.

— by no ways. By no means. Obs. — by the way. a By way of incident or digression; in passing; casually; apropos; aside. b Beside the road or way one is going. c While traveling; as, a journey to Portsmouth and our conversation by the way. d Indirectly; as, I learned not directly but by the way what he was planning. — by way of. a Obs. According to. "By way of kind [nature]." Chaucer. b As an instance or example of; in the way of; for the purpose of; as being; in character of. c Colloq., Eng. On the point of; just about to. d Through; via. e Obs. By the agency or medium of. — by way of being, doing, etc. a In the condition of being, doing, etc.; as, the lad is by way of doing better work in school nowadays. b In the habit of being, doing, etc.; also, inclined or tending to be or to become.
Kavanagh was by way of being particular about his appearance. C. Fox Smith.

— from the way. a Away from the road, path, or course. b In a place removed from the road; hence, in seclusion or retirement. — in a fair way, in a good way. In a fair or good position (to accomplish something); as, he is in a fair way to make his fortune. — in a way. a From one aspect; as, in a way that explanation is satisfactory, but in another way it is not. b Chiefly Eng. In a disturbed frame of mind, as from anger, disappointment, grief.
She was quite in a way. Arnold Bennett.

— in the way. a On or along the path or road. b In such a position as to obstruct, hinder, or the like; obstructive or constituting or forming an obstruction or obstacle. c Archaic. At hand; present or within reach. d Now Dial. In the frame of mind (to do something). — in the way of. a So as to meet or fall in with; in a position to get, do, or the like. b In the matter of; as regards; by way of. c In a position forming an obstacle to. d Obs. As an example or manifestation of; as, in the way of his appreciation, he gave him a gold snuffbox. — once in a way. See ONCE IN A WHILE. — on the way. Traveling or going; hence, in progress; advancing; as, on the way to the country; on the way to success. — out of the way. a Out of the path or road. b In such a position as not to meet with or obstruct a person or thing; — with of, so as not to obstruct or hinder. c Out of the beaten track; on one side; hard to reach or find; secluded; hence, unusual; extraordinary; remarkable. d Out of the proper course; not in a position to attain one's aim; astray; hence, improper; unusual; wrong; — with of, not in the way of attaining. e Not in the usual or proper place; hence, mislaid; lost. — the other way around. Conversely. — the way. In such a way that. Dial. Eng. & Ir.
They soldered the bottom of a tin dish to the top of his skull the way you could hear his brains ticking inside. J. Stephens.

— to go (one's) way. To journey; to follow a course. — to go out of one's way. To depart from one's regular way or course (to do something); as, he went out of his way to do me a kindness, an injury. — to go (someone's) way. a To go in the same direction or along the same route as (someone). b To accompany or follow (someone). — to go the way of all the earth. To die. — to have a way with one. To have a magnetic, ingratiating, fascinating, or persuasive, personality. — to have everything one's own way. To carry out one's plans without effective opposition. — to pay one's way. To pay expenses as they are incurred; not to incur debt. — to put out of the way. Literally, to remove from the road or path; hence, to kill; murder. — to see one's way. Literally, to see one's path or course; hence, to have a clear understanding of one's course of action and of what is necessary to follow it. — under way. Naut. In motion through the water; — said of a vessel; hence, making progress or having started in any sense.

-way (-wā). A combining form of the noun way, as in:

airway	companionway	hatchway	shipway arborway	cotterway	haulageway	skidway archway	crossway	headway	slideway areaway	dollyway	highway	sluiceway backway	doorway	horseway	speedway barway	downway	keyway	spillway bedway	driftway	knifeway	stairway beeway	driveway	ladderway	steerageway bogway	dugway	leeway	sternway branchway	entranceway	midway	straightway bridgeway	fairway	oilway	telpherway broadway	fallway	passageway	tideway
byway	feedway	pathway	trackway cableway	ferryway	raceway	trafficway carriageway	fishway	railway	trainway cartway	flangeway	roadway	tramway cellarway	footway	rolleyway	walkway chariotway	gangway	rollway	waterway churchway	gateway	ropeway	wheelway coachway	guideway	runway	windway cogway	hallway	seaway	wireway

-way (-wā). A suffix: a An early adverbial accusative of way united with its adjective after loss of the inflectional ending (any*way*, some*way*). b = -WAYS.

way (wā), v. Intrans.: To go on one's way; to journey. Obs.
—, Transitive: 1. To go in or through. Rare.
2. To break or train (a horse) to the road.

'way (wā), adv. Aphetic form of AWAY; — often written way; as, 'way down South; pull the switch 'way back; he came from 'way back in the country; he is 'way late this morning; he was taxed 'way beyond his strength. Now Dial. or Colloq.

way, interj. & n. A call to horses to stop. — v. i. To call way. Both Scot. & Dial.

way. Var. of WEE, WEIGH, WOE. Obs. exc. Dial.

wa-ya'ka (wä-yä'kä), n. [Fiji.] The yam bean. Polynesia.

way'back' (wā'băk'), n. Dial. & Colloq. a A time far in the past. b A remote rural district or locality; as, a ranchman from wayback. c A person from, or seemingly from, such a locality. — way'back', adj.

way baggage. Baggage for a way station; local, as distinguished from through, baggage. Local, U. S.

way beam. A beam supporting a way or ways, as either of two longitudinal beams, carried on transverse girders, on which are sometimes laid the rails of a road in crossing a bridge.

way bennet or bent. = WALL BARLEY a.

way'bill' (wā'bĭl'), n. 1. A list of passengers in a public vehicle.
2. An itinerary prepared for a traveler.
3. A document issued with every shipment of railroad freight, giving details regarding the shipment, the route, and the charges. It forms at once a means of identification, a guide for routing cars, and a basis of freight accounting.
4. A certificate of identification for a destitute person dispatched seeking work from place to place, which entitles him to passage and some measure of relief and assistance. Eng.

way'bill', v. t. To enter in a waybill; to send accompanied by a waybill.

way'bird' (wā'bûrd'), n. A bird of omen. Rare.

way'-bit' (-bĭt'), n. A bit of a distance. Obs.

way'book' (-bŏŏk'), n. Guidebook.

way'bread' (-brĕd'), n. [AS. wegbrēde, lit., way breadth (as the broad plant along the way); akin to D. weegbree, G. wegbreite. See WAY; BREADTH.] The common plantain. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

way'bung' (wā'bŭng'), n. An Australian corvine bird (Corcorax melanorhamphus) noted for the curious actions of the male during the breeding season. It is black with a white patch on each wing.

way car. Railroads. A car allotted to local, as distinguished from through, freight.

wax'i-ly, adv. of WAXY. wax'i-ness, n. See -NESS. [Obs.] waxing kernel. A wax kernel. wax'like', adj. See -LIKE. waxt. Waxed. Ref. Sp.
way. † WEY, WHEY. wa'yang (wä'yäng). Var. of WAJANG.
Wa-ya'o. Var. of 2d YAO.
Way'a-wai (wī'ä-wī). Var. of WOYAWAY. way'-beat'en, adj. Wayworn; fatigued. Obs. way'-beat'er, n. Highwayman. Obs. way'ber'ry (wā'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr-ĭ), n.; pl. WAYBERRIES (-ĭz). = WABBON.

way chain. A clog or brake for a wheel. Eng.

way'-down' (wā'doun'), n. a = WAYBACK b & c. b One whose fortunes are at a low ebb. — way'-down', adj.

-wayed (-wād). A combining form denoting having so many ways, or a (specified) kind or character of way, as in:

broad-wayed, even-wayed, three-wayed, wide-wayed way enough. Naut. An order to a crew to stop rowing.

way'fare' (wā'fâr'), v. i. [ME. weifarende wayfaring, fr. AS. wegfarende, fr. weg way + farende, pres. part. of faran to go. See WAY; FARE to go.] To journey; to travel; — now only in present participle and verbal noun.

A certain Laconian, as he wayfared, came unto a place where there dwelt an old friend of his. Holland.

way'fare', n. a Archaic. Act or course of journeying. b Now Rare. Provision, or money to pay for provision, for a journey. c Local, U. S. Fare for local, as distinguished from through, traffic or travel.

way'far'er (wā'fâr'ĕr), n. A traveler, esp. on foot; hence, a transient patron of an inn or hotel.

way'far'ing, adj. Traveling, esp. on foot; passing; being on a journey. — way'far'ing-ly, adv.

wayfaring tree. a A Eurasian shrub (Viburnum lantana) having large ovate leaves and dense cymes of small white flowers, common along waysides. b In the United States, the closely related V. alnifolium, distinguished as American wayfaring tree. See HOBBLEBUSH.

way'fel'low (wā'fĕl'ō), n. A person met on one's journey.

Greet all wayfellows. H. B. Alexander.

way freight. Freight for a way station; also, a freight train stopping to put off goods at way stations. U. S.

way'gang' (wā'găng'), n. Leave-taking. Scot.

way'gate' (-gāt'), n. a Scot. & N. of Eng. Path; passageway; headway. b Obs. Departure.

way'-god' (wā'gŏd'), n. A god of roads and travel; — applied to Hermes.

way'go'ing (-gō'ĭng), adj. Going away; departing; of or pertaining to one who goes away. Chiefly Scot.

way'go'ing, n. Leave-taking; waygang.

waygoing crop. Law. A crop which a tenant for years is under certain conditions entitled by custom to remove after the end of his tenancy; emblements.

way'gone' (wā'gŏn'; 185), adj. Wayworn. Rare.

way'house' (-hous'), n. A house, as an inn, shelter, or the like, along the way, or road.

way'ing (wā'ĭng), n. Going; departure. Rare.

So, with this saying,
"Good-by, good-by," we speed their waying. Thos. Hardy.

Way'land (wā'lănd), n. Also Wayland (the) Smith. [AS. Wēland; akin to OHG. Wielant, G. Wieland, ON. Vēlundr. Cf. VÖLUND.] 1. A supernatural and invisible smith of Teutonic and English legend, identical with the Norse Völund. A cromlech in the Vale of White Horse in Berkshire is called Wayland Smith's Cave. According to the legend, if a traveler ties his horse near by, leaving money for a fee, and retires from sight, he finds his horse shod on his return. In Teutonic mythology he is a parallel to Hephaestos. See VÖLUND.

2. A smith in Scott's Kenilworth who enacts this part.

way'lay' (wā'lā'; 66), v. t.; WAY'LAID' (-lād'); WAY'LAY'ING. [From way + lay, after MLG. or MHG. wegelagen, fr. wegelage an ambush, lit., a belaying of the roads. Cf. BELAY, 2.] 1. To lie in wait for in the way; to take steps to meet or encounter in the way, esp. with a view of taking by surprise, seizing, robbing, or killing; to beset in ambush; as, he was waylaid by thieves.

She often contrived to waylay him in his walks. Scott.

2. To beset, as a path, with an ambush; to ambuscade. R.

3. To obstruct; to check the course of; to block. Obs.

Syn. — Ambush, beset, surprise.

way'lay'er (-ĕr), n. One who waylays.

way'leave' (wā'lēv'), n. Permission to cross, or a right of way across, land; also, rent, called in full wayleave rent, paid for such right.

way'mak'er (-māk'ĕr), n. One who makes a way; a precursor.

way'man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). a A shipwright or a plate layer who prepares and lays launching ways. b Railroads. A laborer employed in laying or keeping in repair the tracks.

way'mark' (-märk'), n. A mark to guide in traveling.

Way of All Flesh, The. A novel by Samuel Butler, written probably between 1873 and 1885 and published in 1903, after his death.

way of Martha, way of Mary. See MARTHA, 2.

way of necessity. Law. A right of way arising from necessity, as when one buys land accessible only over other lands of the vendor.

Way of, or to, St. James. The Milky Way; — an English name.

Way of the Cross. Eccl. a The course taken in visiting in succession the stations of the cross; also, a series of devotions or the representations used in this exercise. b Via Dolorosa.

way of the rounds. In a fortified town, a narrow covered way along the counterscarp to facilitate keeping watch and to allow the patrol to make the rounds beyond the ditch.

way of the wine. The way in which wine is passed at table, namely, from left to right.

Way of the World, The. A comedy by William Congreve, first produced in 1700. See MIRABELL.

way out. Also way'-out', n. The road or method by which one may extricate himself from difficulties, a predicament, a situation, etc.

way passenger. A passenger taken up, or set down, at a way station on a line of travel. U. S.

way point. = WAY STATION. U. S.

way'post' (wā'pōst'), n. A guidepost.

way rate. a A fare or charge for local, as distinguished from through, traffic. b Local, Eng. A rate or tax imposed for keeping the ways, or roads, in repair.

ways (wāz). See WAY, n., 4.

-ways (-wāz). A suffix, equivalent to -wise, formed from way by adding adverbial -s (see -WARD, -WARDS). The earliest compounds of -ways, formed by the union of an adjective, after the loss of its inflectional ending, with the adverbial genitive ways (nowayes fr. AS. nanes weges) and later compounds with nouns (breadth*ways*; end*ways*; length*ways*; side*ways*) are still in common use, signifying manner (any*ways*) and direction (slant*ways*). Because of the phonetic resemblance, these were early used interchangeably with synonymous combinations in -wise, as if from a different form of the same suffix. The -ways and -wise forms are still practically indistinguishable in meaning, except that -ways lends especially a literal signification of direction, position, or extension in space, whereas -wise is used in words specifying manner, means, respect, degree. By some the forms in -wise are preferred indiscriminately in written discourse, inasmuch as certain of the combinations in -ways are preserved only in colloquial or dialectal use (any*ways*; corner*ways*).

always	endways	pointways
anyways	flatways	sideways barways	grainways	slantways breadthways	launchways	someways broadways	leastways	spoonways coastways	lengthways	sternways cornerways	longways	straightways crossways	noways	sunways
edgeways	planckways

ways and means. Methods and resources for accomplishing something, esp. for defraying expenses; specif., Legislation. methods of raising the necessary revenues for the expenses of the state. In the British House of Commons a committee of the whole house sits as a Committee on Ways and Means to consider all matters connected with revenue, etc. In the United States House of Representatives the Committee on Ways and Means is a standing committee of twenty-two members with the leader of the dominant party in the house as its chairman, to which are referred matters connected with the raising of revenue.

way shaft. Mining. A winze, usually one connecting two levels. Eng.

way shaft. = ROCKSHAFT.

way'side' (wā'sīd'; 66), n. The side of the way; the edge or border of a road or path. — way'side', adj. — way'-sid'er (-sīd'ĕr), n.

wayside cross. A cross set up along a way, esp. at a spot where some person of note met death or his coffin was set down on the way to burial while its bearers rested. See CHARING CROSS.

way'slid'ing (wā'slīd'ĭng), n. A turning aside; a going astray. Rare.

way station. An intermediate station between principal stations on a line of travel, esp. on a railroad; a local station. U. S.

way thistle. The Canada thistle.

way'thorn' (wā'thôrn'), n. The common buckthorn (Rhamnus cathartica) of Eurasia.

way ticket. = WAYBILL, n., 4.

way traffic. Railroad. Traffic concerning way stations; local traffic. U. S. way train. A train which stops at the intermediate, or way, stations; for passengers, an accommodation train.

way'-up' (wā'ŭp'), adj. High in standing, position, or importance. — way'-up', n. Both Colloq.

way'ward (wā'wĕrd), adj. [ME. weiward, for aweiward, i. e., turned away. See AWAY; -WARD.] 1. Taking one's own way; disobedient; froward; as, a wayward child.

Wilt thou forgive the wayward thought? Keble.

2. Perverse; contrary to expectation or desire; untoward; as, wayward weather; a wayward fate.

3. Fluctuating; irregular; unsteady; as, a wayward course.

Syn. — Capricious, unruly, self-willed, stubborn, refractory, intractable. — WAYWARD, WILLFUL, PERVERSE, FROWARD, HEADSTRONG. One is WAYWARD who takes one's own way; the word often connotes caprice; WILLFUL is commonly stronger, and sometimes suggests stubborn self-will; as, "My wife is in a wayward mood today" (Shak.); "I have been wild and wayward" (Tennyson); "where rivulets dance their wayward round" (Wordsworth); "To willful men, the injuries that they themselves procure must be their schoolmasters" (Shak.); "sportive outbreaks of willful humor" (Thackeray); "to confound [will] with its irritable and purposeless counterfeit, willfulness" (Lowell); "her bright audacity, her ardor and her willfulness" (M. Hewlett). One is PERVERSE who is willfully cross-grained or wrongheaded; FROWARD belongs to Biblical or literary use; as, "still so perverse and opposite, as if they worshiped God for spite" (S. Butler); "my politics being as perverse as my rimes" (Byron); "the dark, stormful indignation of a Byron, so wayward and perverse" (Carlyle); "A froward man soweth strife" (Prov. xvi. 28); "a froward child, that must be played with and humored a little to keep it quiet" (Temple). HEADSTRONG implies violent self-will or a refractory disposition; as, "the Jews, a headstrong, moody, murmuring race" (Dryden); "the headstrong passions of Benvenuto Cellini" (Gibbon). Cf. OBSTINATE, CONTUMACIOUS, CAPRICE, PEEVISH.

Ant. — Tractable, submissive, docile; steady, unwavering. — way'ward·ly, adv. — way'ward·ness, n.

wayward child. Under statutes in many States, a child from seven to sixteen inclusive, who through habitual evil associations is in danger of becoming a juvenile delinquent.

way'ward'en (wā'wōr'd'n), n. 1. A supervisor of highways, esp. as an elected member of a board. Eng.

2. One who maintains the trenches of a sewage disposal plant. Brit.

way'-wise' (-wīz'), adj. Skillful in finding the way; wise from having traveled; hence, Dial., experienced; sharp.

Two days after being backed he was following other thoroughbreds around the track, and in a week or so he was fairly way-wise. Gerald Beaumont.

way'wis'er (-wīz'ĕr), n. [After G. wegweiser a waymark, a guide.] An odometer, pedometer, or perambulator. Obs. exc. Hist.

way'worn' (wā'wōrn'; 181), adj. Wearied by traveling.

way'wort' (-wŭrt'), n. The common pimpernel (Anagallis arvensis).

wayz'goose' (wāz'gōōs'), n. [Earlier waygoose, of obscure origin.] A printers' annual holiday or entertainment.

Wa·zir' (wȧ·zēr'), n.; pl. WAZIRS (-zērz') or WAZIRIS (-zē'rĭz). One of a tribe of warlike Pathan mountaineers of Waziristan, North-West Frontier Province of India. They are partly agriculturists.

wa·zir' (wȧ·zēr'), wa·zir'ate, wa·zir'ship. Vars. of VIZIER, VIZIERATE, etc.

W chromosome, or W'-chro'mo·some, n. Biol. A sex chromosome found in certain animals and plants. See SEX.

we (wē; 71), pron.; pl. of I; poss. OUR (our) or OURS (ourz); obj. US (ŭs). See I. [AS. wē; akin to OS. wī, OFris. & LG. wi, D. wij, G. wir, ON. vēr, Sw. & Dan. vi, Goth. weis, Skr. vayam.] The personal pronoun of the 1st person pl., nominative case. We is used: 1. a Of a number or company of which the speaker or writer is one; frequently for people in general, including the speaker or writer.

When we mind labor, then only, we're too old. Browning.

b After a verb in the subjunctive, the whole construction now being equivalent to let us (go, haste, etc.).

Put we our quarrel to the will of heaven. Shak.

2. For the singular I: a By kings and other sovereigns. This plural style is said to have been begun by King John of England, whose example the German and the French sovereigns followed about 1200.

Our sometime sister . . . have we . . . taken to wife. Shak.

b By editors and other writers to keep an impersonal character, or to avoid the egotistical sound of a repeated I.

3. Ungrammatically for us, esp., Colloq., when separated from its verb (he disturbed those in the dining room, in the hall, and even we who had retired upstairs), and, Dial., as an emphatic objective.

To poor we thine enmity 's most capital. Shak.

4. You; as, how are we feeling now? Familiar.

We'a (wā'ȧ), n. One of a tribe of Algonquians, orig. a band of the Miami. See MIAMI.

wea (wēȧ). Dial. variant of WOE.

weak (wēk), adj.; WEAK'ER (-ĕr); WEAK'EST. [ME. weik, fr. ON. veikr (Sw. vek, Dan. vej soft, flexible, pliant); akin to AS. wāc weak, soft, pliant, D. week, G. weich, OHG. weih, ON. vīkja to turn, veer, recede, AS. wīcan to yield, give way, G. weichen, OHG. wīhhan, Gr. eikein to yield, give way, Skr. vejate, vijate, he starts back, recoils, flees, and perh. to E. week, L. vicis a change, turn. Cf. VETCH, VICISSITUDE, WEEK, WICKED, WICKER, WICKET.] 1. Lacking physical strength; specif.: a Deficient in strength of body; feeble; infirm; debilitated; enfeebled; exhausted; as, weak with toil.

A poor, infirm, weak, and despised old man. Shak.

b Not able to sustain or exert a great weight, pressure, or strain; having small capability of exerting force or of resistance or endurance; as, a weak timber, rope, bridge.

From love's weak childish bow she lives unharmed. Shak.

c Easily impressed, molded, or the like; pliable; sometimes, soft; as, a mind as weak as wax to any impression.

The saucy boat
Whose weak untimber'd sides but even now Corrivaled greatness. Shak.

How weak the barrier of mere nature proves. Cowper.

e Lacking force of utterance or sound; not sonorous; low; small; feeble; faint.

A voice not soft, weak, piping, and womanish. Ascham.

f Not thoroughly or abundantly impregnated with the usual or required ingredients, or with stimulating and nourishing substances; of less than the usual strength; as, weak tea, broth, or liquor; a weak decoction.

As a weak solution is contemplated, the wet method is equally efficient. U. S. Disp. (19th Edition).

g Lacking in power to perform properly a function or office; as, weak eyes; a weak stomach.

2. Not possessing or manifesting mental, logical, intellectual, moral, or political, strength, vigor, etc. Specif.: a Mentally or intellectually deficient; lacking judgment or discernment; of mind, feeble; simple; foolish.

To think everything disreputable is proof of a weak mind. Beattie.

b Resulting from, or indicating, lack of judgment, discernment, or firmness; unwise; hence, foolish.

If evil thence ensue,
She first his weak indulgence will accuse. Milton.

c Not having full conviction; not decided; vacillating; wavering. "Him that is weak in the faith." Rom. xiv. 1.

d Not able to withstand temptation, urgency, persuasion, etc.; easily impressed, moved, or overcome; as, weak resolutions; weak virtue. e Not equal to the need or emergency; ineffective; impotent; feeble. "Weak prayers." Shak. f Not having power to convince; not supported by force of reason or truth; as, a weak argument or case. "Convinced of his weak arguing." Milton. g Wanting in point or vigor of expression; as, a weak sentence; a weak style. h Lacking in elements of political strength; not wielding or having authority or energy; as, a weak monarch; a weak government or state.

3. a Lacking experience, aptitude, skill, or expertness; as, although he was senior partner, he was the weakest member of the firm; the weaker player on his side. b Showing or indicating a lack of skill, experience, aptitude, etc.; as, a weak move, play; also, being at a place or of a kind to reveal lack of skill, experience, etc.; as, the weak spot in our organization; he played to his backhand, which was his weak point.

4. Lacking in amount, quantity, quality, degree, or the like; inconsiderable; slight. Rare.

5. Of flour or wheat, containing a relatively low percentage of gluten and lacking cohesiveness; — opposed to strong. See SOFT WHEAT.

6. Card Playing. Lacking in good cards; deficient as to number or trick-taking power; as, a hand weak in trumps.

7. Colorimetry. Having low saturation.

8. Gram. As opposed to strong: a Pertaining to or designating a verb, or its conjugation (weak conjugation), which forms the past tense and past participle by adding to the present the suffix -ed, -d, or the variant -t (abash, abashed; abate, abated; deny, denied; feel, felt); also, designating other Germanic verbs which form the past tense by taking a suffix;—called also regular. b Pertaining to or designating a noun or adjective form, or its declension in Anglo-Saxon, German, etc., having the less full case inflection characteristic of stems in -n (Anglo-Saxon oxa, oxan, ox; German ochs, ochsen). c Applied to the first or sigmatic aorist of Greek verbs. d Applied to the reduced form of Sanskrit noun stems, and to the cases in which this stem occurs. e Applied in Hebrew and Syriac grammar to certain consonants, and to verbs having one or more of these in the root. f Pertaining to or designating the Arabic consonants alif, wāw, and yā', which are subject to frequent permutations and changes. Cf. ROBUST, 4.

9. Phonet. a Of a sound or a syllable, uttered with little force; unstressed; unaccented; light. b Of accent or the sense stress of a syllable, relatively slight or low; not strong. c Of certain monosyllabic pronouns, prepositions, auxiliaries, etc., having little or no stress and obscured vowel sound; unemphatic; as, ĕr is the weak form of are. Cf. STRONG, adj., 28 c; see Pron., § 71. d Designating the less sonorous vowels of some vowel systems, as, in Spanish, i and u. e Voiced.

10. Photog. Lacking contrast; thin; as, a weak negative.

11. Pros. Designating a verse ending in which the accent falls on a word naturally unstressed, esp. one where it falls on a word (such as of, as, to) which in utterance tends to connect itself with the beginning of the next line. In this restricted sense a weak ending is sometimes distinguished waye. Obs. var. of WAY.

---

way'er, n. [AF wayour, OF. gayoir, fr. gaer, waer, to plunge in water, to water (a horse).] A pond. Obs.

way'flee'ing, n. Departure. Obs.

way'go'er, n. A traveler. Obs.

way'goose'. Var. of WAYZGOOSE.

wayk, wayken. ✝ WEAK.

way'laid', past tense & past part. of WAYLAY.

way'less, adj. See -LESS.

way'less-ness, n.

way'ment (wā'mĕnt), n. [ONF. woiment (OF. guaiment).] Grief; lamentation. Obs.

way'ment, v. i. & t. [ME. waymenien, fr. ONF. waimenter (OF gaimenter, guaimenter), fr. wai (guai) woe! (of Teut. origin; see WOE), after L. lamentare to lament.] To lament or grieve (for). Obs.

wayne ✝ WAIN; WEAN; WONE.

way'-off', n. = WAYBACK b. — way'-off', adj.

wayte. ✝ WAIT, WEIGHT, WITE, WOT.

way'wode (wā'wōd). way'wode-ship. Var. of VOIVODE, VOIVODESHIP.

Wa'za·ra'mo (wä'zȧ·rä'mō), n. = ZARAMO.

Wa'zon·go'ra (wä'zŏng·gō'rȧ), n. [= ZONGORA.]

we. ✝ WEE; WELL. adv.

We'-ä-dar'. Var. of VEADAR. See JEWISH CALENDAR.

from a light ending, which falls on a light word (such as a pronoun or auxiliary verb) which may be slightly dwelt on.

12. Stock Exchange. Tending toward a lower price or lower prices; as, wheat is weak; a weak market.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives), in which weak- sometimes is used adverbially, are:

weak-ankled	weak-fibered	weak-sighted weak-armed	weak-growing	weak-soiled weak-backed	weak-jawed	weak-souled weak-bodied	weak-legged	weak-stemmed weakbrained	weak-limbed	weak-stomached weak-built	weak-lunged	weak-throated weak-chested	weak-made	weak-toned weak-chined	weakmouthed	weak-voiced weak-chinned	weak-muscled	weak-walled weak-conscienced	weak-nerved	weak-willed weak-eyed	weak-pated	weak-winged weak-felt	weak-shouldered	weak-witted

Syn. — WEAK, FEEBLE, DECREPIT, INFIRM, DEBILITATED. Weak and feeble are often used with little distinction. But FEEBLE often implies great weakness, as of age or infirmity, and is more apt than WEAK to connote pity or contempt; as, "The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak" (Matt. xxvi. 41); "Thou, though strong in love, art all too weak in reason" (Wordsworth); "the old, feeble, and day-wearied sun" (Shak.); "the feeble onset of a pygmy rush" (Cowper). One is INFIRM who is frail or feeble from age; one is DECREPIT who is worn out, or broken down, with infirmities; as, "a poor, infirm, weak, and despised old man" (Shak.); "Such is its misery and wretchedness, that it resembles a man in the last decrepit stages of life" (Fielding); "two or three wooden-bottom chairs, exceedingly decrepit and infirm" (Hawthorne). DEBILITATED implies enfeeblement, or impaired strength or vitality; as, "The debilitated frame of Mr. Bertram was exhausted by this last effort" (Scott). Cf. POWERLESS, LASSITUDE.

Ant. — Sturdy, fit, vigorous, robust; potent, forceful, powerful; headstrong, obdurate; stout, stanch, firm, stable; loud, vociferous; confident, unwavering, unfaltering; cogent, convincing, incontrovertible. See STRONG.

weak (wēk), v. t. & i. [From WEAK, adj.] To weaken. Now Rare.

weak, n. & v. Squeak; chirp; whimper; scream. Scot. & Dial.

weak'en (wēk'ĕn), v.; -ENED (-ĕnd); -EN-ING. Transitive: 1. To make weak or weaker; to lessen the strength of; to enfeeble; as, to weaken the body; to weaken an argument.

Their hands shall be weakened from the work. Neh. vi. 9.

2. To reduce in quality, strength, or spirit; as, to weaken tea; to weaken any solution or decoction.

3. Card Games. To lessen the strength of (a suit or hand) without compensating advantage.

—, Intransitive: 1. To become weak or weaker; esp., to lose strength, spirit, or determination; to become less positive or resolute; as, the patient weakened, body and mind.

2. Phonet. To change from a complex to a simple sound, as from a diphthong to a long vowel, or from a strong to a weak sound, or from an open to a close vowel.

Syn. — Debilitate, undermine; reduce, sap, lessen; dilute, thin.

Ant. — Strengthen, invigorate; intensify, confirm; concentrate.

weak'en-er (-ĕr), n. One who or that which weakens.

weak'en-ing, n. 1. The act or process of becoming weak (see WEAKEN, v. i.); specif., Phonet., the change in the quality of a vowel sound in an unaccented syllable, as of a to i in Latin conficere, from facere (see COMFIT), or of ă to ĕ in postmŏn (cf. măn).

2. Something that causes weakness. Rare.

weak'er sex (wēk'ĕr). Womankind.

weaker vessel. Woman; — now applied humorously.

Giving honor unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel. 1 Peter iii. 7.

weak faints. See FAINTS.

weak'fish' (wēk'fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH -FISHES (-ĕz; -ĭz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. Any of several marine food fishes of Cynoscion and allied genera of the family Otolithidae; — so called from its tender and lacerable mouth. The common weakfish (C. regalis) (called also squeteague, gray trout, sea trout, etc.) occurs along the eastern coast of the United States from Cape Cod to Florida and is represented in the Gulf of Mexico by a closely related species, the sand squeteague (C. arenarius) (called also sand trout, or white trout). The bastard weakfish (C. nothus) (called also bastard trout or silver squeteague), and the spotted weakfish (Eriscion nebulosus) (called also spotted squeteague, spotted sea trout, etc.), occur on the south Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United States.

Common Weakfish (Cynoscion regalis). (⅛) weak grade. Philol. See GRADE, n., 11.

weak'hand'ed (wēk'hăn'dĕd; -dĭd; 66; 119), adj. 1. Having weak hands; hence, dispirited.

2. Having a weak or insufficient number of employees.

weak'-head'ed (-hĕd'ĕd; -ĭd; 66; 119), adj. Having a weak head; as: a Liable to become dizzy. b Wanting in strength of mind. c Having a weak intellect. — weak'-head'ed·ly, adv. — weak'-head'ed·ness, n.

weak'heart'ed (-här'tĕd; -tĭd; 66; 119), adj. Of little courage; fainthearted. — weak'heart'ed·ly, adv. — weak'-heart'ed·ness, n.

weak'-hinged' (-hĭnjd'; 66), adj. Literally, having weak hinges; Colloq., not well balanced or founded.

weak'ish (-ĭsh), adj. Somewhat weak. — weak'ish·ly, adv. — weak'ish·ness, n.

weak'-kneed' (-nēd'; 66), adj. Having weak knees; hence, easily yielding; lacking will power or resolution; irresolute. — weak'-kneed'ly, adv. — weak'-kneed'ness, n.

weak'ling (wēk'lĭng), n. [weak + 1st -ling.] A creature that is weak or feeble in body or in mind. — weak'ling, adj.

This glimpse dazzles their dimmed eyes and weakling forces.
James Branch Cabell.

weak'ly (wēk'lĭ), adj.; WEAK'LI·ER (-lĭ·ĕr); WEAK'LI·EST. Not strong or robust; feeble; weak; as, a weakly woman. — weak'li·ness (-lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n.

weak'ly, adv. In a weak manner; to a weak degree.

weak'-mind'ed (66), adj. Having, or indicating, a weak mind; feeble-minded. — weak'-mind'ed·ly, adv. — weak'-mind'ed·ness, n.

weak'ness, n. 1. Quality or state of being weak; want of strength; lack of vigor; as, it was a month after his illness before he recovered from his weakness; feebleness; also, an instance or a period of feebleness, vacillation, etc.

2. That which is a mark of lack of strength or resolution; a fault; a defect.

Admitting frankly the possession of vices and weaknesses that all of us have and few of us care to acknowledge. H. L. Mencken.

3. An object of special desire, concern, fondness, or the like; as, strawberries are my weakness. Colloq.

Syn. — Impotence, powerlessness; debility, infirmity, infirmness, decrepitude, frailty.

Ant. — Power, effectiveness; strength, vigor, force, intensity.

weak side or point. The side, aspect, or feature, of a person's character or disposition through which he is most easily influenced, esp. for the worse.

weak sister. The sister in a family or, hence, anyone, esp. a member of a group, who especially needs aid; hence, Slang, any element or factor considered as being weak and ineffective as compared with others in the group; as, to weed out the weak sisters among the salesmen.

weak sore or ulcer. Med. A sore covered with pale, flabby, sluggish granulations.

weak'-spir'it·ed (66), adj. Having a weak spirit; pusillanimous. — weak'-spir'it·ed·ly, adv. — weak'-spir'-it·ed·ness, n.

weak variation. Math. See VARIATION OF A CURVE.

weak'y (wēk'ĭ), adj. Wet; damp. Dial. Eng.

weal (wēl), n. [ME. wele, fr. AS. wela, weola; akin to OS. welo, and to AS. wel well. See WELL, adv.; cf. GALA.]

1. Wealth; riches; pomp. Obs.

2. A sound, healthy, or prosperous, state of a person or thing; well-being; prosperity; happiness; welfare. Archaic & Rhetorical. "The public weal." Macaulay.

God . . . grant you wele and prosperity. Chaucer.

3. The body politic; the state; commonweal. Obs.

The special watchmen of our English weal. Shak.

weal (wēl), n. [Var. of WALE stripe.] A stripe or raised line, as one brought out by the stroke of a whip on the skin; a wale; a wheal.

I could measure the weals of the strictness upon my own heart.
Mary Austin.

weal, v. t. To raise weals on, as by use of a whip; to wale; wheal.

weal (wēăl). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WALE, choice, choose.

weald (wēld), n. [AS. See WOLD.] A wold; an open country; — often used in place names; as, the Weald (see Gax.).

Fled . . . by glimmering waste and weald. Tennyson.

Weald'en (wēl'dĕn; -dĭn), adj. [See WEALD. So called because this formation occurs in the Weald, England.] Geol. Pertaining to or designating the lowest division of the European Lower Cretaceous, esp. in England. The Wealden formation comprises the Hastings sands (and clays) below and the Weald clay above. — Weald'en, n.

weald'ish (wēl'dĭsh), adj. Of or pertaining to a weald, esp. to the Weald (see Gax.). Obs.

wealds'man (wēldz'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A dweller on a weald.

we'-all' (wē'ôl'; 66), pron. We. Cf. YOU-ALL. Colloq., Southern U. S. wealth (wĕlth), n. [ME. welthe, fr. wele. See 1st WEAL.]

1. Weal; welfare; good; well-being; also, a single instance or example of well-being; happiness. Obs.

Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth. 1 Cor. x. 24.

2. Large possessions, collectively; an abundance of things which are objects of human desire; esp., abundance of worldly estate; affluence; riches; — also formerly in the pl.

I have little wealth to lose. Shak.

3. Measure or degree to which one possesses things of value or the means of obtaining them; relative state with respect to purchasing or spending power; as, our wealth will not yet permit us to live as we should like to live.

4. = COMMONWEALTH. Rare.

5. Econ. a In the private sense, all property which has a money value. b In the public sense, all objects, esp. material objects, which have economic utility. Wealth can be measured either as wealth flow (income) or as wealth funds (capital). c Those energies, faculties, and habits, directly contributing to make people industrially efficient; — called specif. personal wealth.

Syn. — Opulence, abundance; property, possessions; treasure, fortune.

Ant. — See POVERTY.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wealth-acquiring, adj.	wealth-giver	wealth-ruined wealth-bearing, adj.	wealth-giving, adj.	wealth-sacrificing, adj.
wealth-boasting, adj.	wealth-got	wealth-shorn wealth-boastingly	wealthmaker	wealth-taxing, adj.
wealth-crammed	wealthmaking	wealth-tempted wealth-despising, adj.	wealthmonger	wealth-tempted wealth-elated	wealth-owning, adj.	wealth-using, adj.
wealth-encumbered	wealth-producing, adj.	wealth-yielding, adj.
wealth-fraught
wealth-getting, adj.	wealth-proud wealth'ful (-fŏŏl; -fĭ·), adj. Prosperous. Now Rare. — wealth'ful·ly, adv. Obs.

Wealth of Nations, The. The familiar short title of a treatise (1776) An Enquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, by Adam Smith.

wealth'y (wĕl'thĭ), adj.; WEALTH'I·ER (-thĭ·ĕr); WEALTH'I·EST. 1. Enjoying a condition of well-being; physically well cared for. Obs.

2. Having wealth; having large possessions, as of lands, goods, money, or securities; opulent; affluent; rich.

A wealthy Hebrew of my tribe. Shak.

3. Characterized by abundance; rich; ample; full; abundant; also, Now Rare, requiring great wealth for its purchase, or of a kind to bring great wealth by its sale; valuable.

"A wealthy place." Ps. lxvi. 12.

Syn. — Moneyed. See RICH. Ant. — Indigent. See POOR. — wealth'i·ly, adv. — wealth'i·ness, n.

Wealth'y, n. Hort. An American variety of fall apple with bright-red fruit.

Wealthy spot. Plant Pathol. A disease of the Wealthy apple.

wean (wēn), v. t.; WEANED (wēnd); WEAN'ING. [ME. wenen, fr. AS. wenian to accustom, wean; akin to D. wennen to accustom, G. gewöhnen, OHG. giwennan, ON. venja, Sw. vänja, Dan. vænne, ON. vanr accustomed, wont; cf. AS. ăwenian wean, G. entwöhnen. See WONT, adj.] 1. To accustom (a child or other young animal) to loss of mother's milk; to cause to cease to depend on the mother for nourishment.

2. Hence, to detach or alienate the affections of, as from some object of desire; to reconcile to the deprivation or loss (of anything). "Wean them from themselves." Shak.

The troubles of age were intended . . . to wean us gradually from our fondness of life. Swift.

wean (wēn; wĭ·ăn), n. [Contr. of Scot. wee ane. See WEE; ONE.] An infant; child. Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

wean'ed·ness (wēn'ĕd·nĕs; -ĭd·nĭs; 119), n. Quality or state of being weaned.

wean'el (wēn'ĕl), n. Weanling. Obs. exc. Dial.

wean'er (wēn'ĕr), n. 1. One who or that which weans; specif., a device for weaning animals.

2. a Australia. A lamb, usually between 5 and 12 months old, which has been weaned, and which has not yet shown its two teeth. Prior to weaning it is called a lamb. After the two teeth are shown it becomes a hogget. b A lamb from weaning to shearing.

3. A range calf from the time of weaning. Western U. S.

wean'ie (wēn'ĭ), n. A baby. Scot.

wean'ing brash. Med. A severe form of diarrhea which sometimes attacks children just weaned.

wean'ling (wēn'lĭng), n. [wean + 1st -ling.] A child or animal newly weaned. — adj. Recently weaned.

wean'ly (-lĭ), adj. Childish; feeble. Scot.

We'a·noc (wē'ă·nŏk), n. An Indian of an extinct Algonquian tribe of the Powhatan Confederacy.

wean'yer (wēn'yĕr), n. [wean, v. + -yer.] A weanling calf. Dial. Eng.

We'a·pe'me·oc (wē'ă·pā'mē·ŏk), n. An Indian of an extinct tribe, probably of Algonquian stock, living north of Albemarle Sound in North Carolina at the time of the first English settlements.

weap'on (wĕp'ŭn; formerly also wē'pŭn, now dial. only), n. [ME. wepen, fr. AS. wǣpen; akin to OS. wāpan OFris. wēpin, wēpen, D. wapen, G. waffe, OHG. waffan, wāfan, ON. vāpn, Dan. vaaben, Sw. vapen, Goth. wēpna, pl. Cf. WAPENTAKE.] 1. An instrument of offensive or defensive combat; something to fight with; anything used, or designed to be used, in destroying, defeating, or injuring, an enemy, as a gun, a sword, a shield, etc.

2. A claw, talon, beak, spur, or the like, considered as a means of attack or defense; esp., the spurs of a gamecock.

3. By extension, any means or instrument with which one contends against another; as, argument was his only weapon. "Woman's weapons, water drops." Shak.

4. One who uses some instrument of defense or offense. R.

☞ COMBINATIONS are: weap'on·mak'er, weap'on·mak'ing, weap'on·proof'.

weap'on, v. t. To arm; — now chiefly in past participle.

weap'oned (wĕp'ŭnd), adj. Furnished with weapons, or arms; armed; equipped.

weap'on·ry (wĕp'ŭn·rĭ), n. Weapons. Rare.

weapon salve. A salve superstitiously supposed to cure a wound by being applied to the weapon that made it. Obs.

wear (wär), v. t. [AS. werian. See WEIR.] Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng. 1. To defend; protect; guard; also, to ward or keep off.

2. To oppose; stop. Destruction of Troy.

3. To collect and drive, as into an enclosure.

wear (wēr; wĕr), n. Defense; guard. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wear (wâr), v.; past tense WORE (wōr; 181); past part. WORN (wôrn; 181); pres. part. & verbal n. WEAR'ING. Before the 15th century wear was a weak verb, the past tense & past part. being WEARED. [ME. weren, werien, fr. AS. werian to carry, to wear, as arms or clothes; akin to OHG. werien, weren, to clothe, Goth. wasjan, L. vestis clothing, vestire to clothe, Gr. hennynai, Skr. vaste he puts on, wears, clothes; cf. Hittite wes-, was-, to put on, to clothe. Cf. VEST.] Transitive: 1. To bear upon the person as an article of clothing, decoration, etc.; to have as a covering or accessory of one's body or a part of it; to have on; as, to wear a coat, a collar, a jewel.

On her white breast a sparkling cross she wore. Pope.

2. To use or affect in dressing or personal adornment; as, she cannot wear white; she wears her hair in a braid and her dresses short.

3. To bear; to carry on or as on the person; as, to wear a sword; to wear the yoke of servitude; he wears his honors and his title well.

4. To have or exhibit an appearance of, as an aspect or manner; to show; as, she wears a smile on her lips.

He wears the rose of youth upon him. Shak.

5. Of a vessel, to show or fly (its flag, its colors).

6. To use up by putting on one's person, or donning; hence, to consume, use up, or cause to deteriorate by use, esp. personal use; as, to wear clothes rapidly; a worn hat.

7. To impair, waste, or diminish, by continual attrition, scraping, percussion, or the like; to consume or waste gradually; hence, to exhaust or lessen the strength of; fatigue; weary; use up; as, to be worn with disease.

The waters wear the stones. Job xiv. 19.

8. To cause or make by friction or wasting; as, to wear a channel; to wear a hole.

9. To make to disappear, as if by friction; to efface. Rare.

10. To bring or lead gradually, as by continued or repeated action, practice, experience, contact, or the like.

Trials wear us into a liking of what, possibly, in the first essay, displeased us. Locke.

11. To spend (hours, time, day, year, etc.); — chiefly in past part. and often with out or by; as, the afternoon is now far worn. Archaic & Poet.

12. [Orig. corrupt. of 1st VEER.] Naut. To cause to go about, as a vessel, by putting the helm up, instead of down as in tacking, so that the vessel's bow is turned away from, and her stern is presented to, the wind, and she turns till her sails fill on the other side and she is brought by the wind on the new tack; as, to wear ship.

Wearing is called jibing when the vessel is fore-and-aft rigged and carries a boom mainsail which is not taken in or lowered during the operation. Encyc. Brit.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be commonly worn or used; to be fashionable. Obs. Shak.

2. To become adapted as clothes do to the wearer. Rare.

So wears she to him. Shak.

3. To endure or suffer use; to last under use or the passage of time; to bear the consequences of use; as, a coat wears well or ill; — hence sometimes applied to character, qualifications, etc.; as, a drama that has worn well.

4. To be wasted, consumed, or diminished, by being used; to suffer injury, loss, or extinction, by use or time; to decay gradually; of time or a period of time, to be spent; to pass; — often with out, off, on, etc.; as, the day wore on. "Thus wore out night." Milton.

Thou wilt surely wear away, both thou and this people that is with thee. Ex. xviii. 18.

5. To grow; become; as, it is wearing late; a man once strong but now wearing feeble. Obs. exc. Dial.

6. To proceed; progress; go; as, the river wore to the east until its course was lost in the distance. Chiefly Scot.

She found the watchman wearing through his task. Masefield.

7. Naut. To go about by turning the head away from the wind; — said of a vessel. See WEAR, v. t., 12, above.

---

weal'ful, adj. Prosperous; happy. — weal'ful·ly, adv. — weal'ful·ness, n. All Obs.

weal'pub'lic, n. The public good; a commonwealth. Obs weals'man (wēlz'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). [weal + man.] Statesman. Obs.

weal'some (wēl'sŭm), adj. Prosperous; well. Obs. — weal'some·ly, adv. Obs.

wealth'less, adj. See -LESS.

wealth'ling, n. A child of wealth. Obs.

weam (wēăm; wĕm). Var. of WAME, belly.

wean'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

weand. Weaned. Ref. Sp.

weap'on·less, adj. See -LESS.

weaponshaw, weaponshow, weaponshowing. Vars. of WAPENSCHAW, WAPPENSCHAWING.

weap'on·smith', n. See -SMITH. — weap'on·smith'y, n.

wear down. To weary and finally overcome by persistent resistance or attack. wear horns. To be a cuckold. See 1st HORN, 3 b. wear on. To continue, with an implication of monotony or wearisomeness; as, the night wears on toward dawn; the arguments wore on day after day.
wear on or upon. To wear (sense 7). wear one's heart upon one's sleeve. To expose one's feelings, emotions, etc., freely; to lack reserve.
wear out. a To consume, or render useless, by attrition or decay; as, to wear out a coat or a book. b To consume tediously. "To wear out miserable days." Milton. c To harass; tire; exhaust. "[He] shall wear out the saints of the Most High." Dan. vii. 25. d To efface; erase. e Obs. To come to an end; to expire. f To outlast; as, to wear out a storm.
wear the breeches, trousers, or pants. To have the controlling authority in a household; — said chiefly of a wife who usurps it. Colloq.
wear the horn. = wear horns, above.
wear the petticoat. To be, or to accept the position of, a subordinate in a household; — said chiefly of a husband who has relinquished his authority to his wife. Colloq.
wear (the) stripes. To go to prison. Slang.
wear the willow. To wear mourning. See 1st WILLOW, 1. wear thin. To become thin, as a coin, from long use; figuratively, to lose strength, interest, spirit, or the like, through long acquaintance, familiarity, or the like; as, after a dozen novels on the subject, his material began to wear thin.

wear (wâr), n. 1. Act of wearing, or state of being worn; use; consumption in wearing; as, clothes for everyday wear. 2. Material for garments etc. Obs. 3. The thing or things worn or proper to be worn; esp., the fashion; the proper style; as, examples of beautiful 16th-century glove wear. "Motley 's the only wear." Shak. 4. Wearing quality; durability under wear or use. 5. The result of wearing or use; consumption; diminution or impairment due to use; as, a coat that shows wear.
wear, adj. Adapted to, or designed for, wearing on the person.
-wear (-wâr). A combining form of the noun wear, as in:

footwear	neckwear	sportswear headwear	nightwear	underwear housewear	outerwear

wear (wâr; wär). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WARE, good; WEIR. wear'a·bil'i·ty (wär'ä·bĭl'ĭ·tĭ), n. Capacity or suitability for being worn; esp., durability under wear; lasting quality, as of cloth or of clothing.
wear'a·ble (wär'ä·b'l), adj. Capable of being worn; suitable to be worn. — n. A garment; — usually in pl.
wear and tear. The loss or injury to which anything is subjected by, or in the course of, use.
wear back. Mach. A replaceable back designed to take the wear on a device or machine.
wear'er (wâr'ĕr), n. 1. One who wears or carries something as a covering or accessory of the body; as, the wearer of a cloak or sword; the crown and its wearer.
2. That which wears, or impairs, as by use or friction. wea'ried (wē'rĭd), past tense & past part. of WEARY. Hence: adj. Fatigued; exhausted. — wea'ried·ly, adv. — wea'ried·ness, n.
wea'ri·er (wē'rĭ·ĕr), n. One who or that which causes fatigue.
wea'ri·ful (wē'rĭ·fo͝ol; -f'l), adj. 1. Abounding in that which causes weariness; as: Chiefly Scot. a Tedious. b Dismal; dreary. c Vexatious.
2. Full of weariness; wearied.
— wea'ri·ful·ly, adv. — wea'ri·ful·ness, n.
wea'ri·less (-lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Unwearied or unwearying. — wea'ri·less·ly, adv.
wea'ri·ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. [AS. wērigness.] 1. Quality or state of being weary; fatigue; tiredness.
2. Hence, tedium; ennui, esp. as resulting from monotony.
wear'ing (wâr'ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WEAR. Hence: n. 1. Act of one who or that which wears; also, the manner in which a thing wears; the endurance of something, as a fabric, under conditions of use and wear.
2. That which is worn; clothes; garments. Obs.
Give me my nightly wearing and adieu. Shak.
3. Condition of undergoing use by wear; also, the effect of wearing or using; wear; impairment through use.
4. The passing (of time or of a period of time), sometimes with an implication of monotony; as, the wearing of a month away.
5. Naut. The act of coming about by turning the vessel's head away from the wind. wear'ing, adj. 1. Pertaining to, or designed for, wear; as wearing apparel.
2. Subjecting to, or inflicting, wear; esp., impairing; fatiguing; as, a wearing journey.
— wear'ing·ly, adv.
wearing apparel. Clothing; clothes.
wearing course or crust. The surface of a pavement that takes the wear of traffic.
Wearing of the Green, The. An Irish revolutionary song (1798). wear iron or plate. An iron plate to take the wear; esp., a rub plate for a vehicle, or, in England, a railroad tie plate.
wear'ish (wâr'ĭsh; wē'r-), adj. Now Dial. a Unsavory; insipid. b Sickly or sickly-looking. c Weak; faint; squeamish. d Raw and cold, as a wind or mist. — wear'ish·ly, adv. — wear'ish·ness, n.
wea'ri·some (wē'rĭ·sŭm), adj. Causing weariness; tiresome; tedious; as, a wearisome march, book, work. — wea'ri·some·ly, adv. — wea'ri·some·ness, n.
Syn. — Fatiguing, laborious; vexatious. See IRKSOME.
Ant. — Restful, refreshing; zestful, stimulating, interesting.
wear limit gauge. See 2d GAUGE, 10. wear'—out' (wâr'out'), n. Depreciation through wear; as, the rapidity of wear-out of certain machinery.
wear plate. A wear iron. wea'ry (wē'rĭ), adj.; WEA'RI·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WEA'RI·EST. [ME. weri, fr. AS. wērig; akin to OS. wōrig, OHG. wuorag, AS. wōrian to ramble, ON. ōrar fits of madness, Gr. hōrakian to faint.] 1. Having the strength much impaired by toil or exertion; worn out in respect to strength, endurance, etc.; tired; fatigued.
I care not for my spirits if my legs were not weary. Shak.
2. Expressing, or characteristic of, weariness; as, weary tears. "The weary sound and the heavy breath." Shelley.
3. Having one's patience, tolerance, pleasure, liking, or the like, exhausted; impatient of the continuance of; — usually with of; as, weary of reading, confinement, society.
grow weary to behold
The selfish and the strong still tyrannize. Shelley.
4. Exhausted by suffering; sad; grieved; mentally or spiritually fatigued; as, this weary heart.
5. Causing weariness of body or spirit; tiresome; tedious; as, weary work; a weary journey. "Weary way." Spenser.
How weary, stale, flat and unprofitable, Seem to me all the uses of this world. Shak.
6. Scot & Dial. Eng. a Sickly; puny; weak. b Bad; grievous; sad; unfortunate; disastrous.
Syn. — Worn spent; surfeited, bored; irksome, tiresome.
Ant. — Fresh, strong, rested; eager, avid; interesting.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

weary-foot	weary-laden	weary-winged weary-footed	weary-looking	weary-worn

-wea'ry (-wē'rĭ). A combining form of the adjective weary, as in:

dog-weary	life-weary	way-weary foot-weary	war-weary	world-weary wea'ry (wē'rĭ), adv. Wearily or wearyingly.

He's a weary long time coming on board. R. S. Hawker.
wea'ry, v.; WEA'RIED (-ĭd); WEA'RY·ING. [ME. werien, fr. AS. wērigian, gewērgian.] Intransitive: 1. To become weary, tired, or fatigued; as, she wearies easily.
2. To become weary, or exhausted in patience, liking, tolerance, or the like; — usually with of; as, to weary of a game, a task, a companion.
3. To wait wearily; to long or pine in expectation. Scot.
4. To bring on weariness; to bore; to become monotonous.
—, Transitive: 1. To reduce or exhaust the physical strength or endurance of; to tire; fatigue.
So shall he waste his means, weary his soldiers. Shak.
2. To make mentally or spiritually weary; to exhaust in patience, liking, tolerance, or the like; as, the play wearied him; wearied with flattery or importunity.
Syn. — Exhaust; irk. Cf. TIRE.
Ant. — Refresh, strengthen; rest; interest, stimulate.
weary out. a To subdue or exhaust by fatigue or something tedious or irksome.
The zeal . . . which had been wearied out by barren scholastic methods. J. Martineau.
b To pass; spend; — usually with an implication of monotony or tedium; as, to weary out the months and years.
wea'ry (wē'rĭ), n. [See WEARY, adj.] A curse; plague; — in mild imprecation. Chiefly Scot. wea'ry·ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WEARY. Hence: adj. That wearies. — wea'ry·ing·ly, adv.
Weary Willie. A vagrant; a tramp. Slang. wea'sand (wē'zănd), n. [ME. wesand, fr. AS. wǣsend, wāsend; akin to OFris. wāsende, wāsande, OHG. weisunt.] 1. The esophagus; also, the windpipe; loosely, the throat. "Cut his weasand with thy knife." Shak.
2. a A container for snuff, made from the throat membranes or windpipe of cattle. b Usually pl. The esophagus of cattle, used as casing for sausages. wea'sel (wē'z'l), n.; pl. WEASELS (-z'lz), sometimes WEASEL. See PLURAL, Note. [ME. wesele, fr. AS. wesole, wesle; akin to D. wezel, Ger. wiesel, OHG. wisala, Icel. vīsla, and perh. Skr. visra having a musty smell, L. virus slime, stench, poison. See VIRUS.] 1. Any of certain small slender-bodied carnivorous mammals of the genus Mustela, allied to the minks and true polecats. They are very active, bold, and bloodthirsty, killing many small mammals and birds and great numbers of mice, rats, and other vermin. They are mostly reddish brown with white or yellowish under parts and a black-tipped tail, but the species of northern Europe, Asia, and America (see ERMINE, 1), turn white in winter. M. vulgaris is the common, or typical, European species, as disting. from the stoat or ermine. American species are: long-tailed weasel (M. longicauda) of the Great Plains and least weasel (M. rixosa) of northern North America. The southern American species are brown at all seasons.

Weasel (Mustela noveboracensis) in Summer Pelage.

2. Any of certain slender-bodied mammals resembling the weasels; — chiefly used with a qualifying expression; as: Malacca weasel, or rasse; fitchet weasel, or European polecat.
3. The fur or pelt of any of these animals.
4. Erroneously, the stoat. Local, Eng.
5. A native of South Carolina; — a nickname.
6. A person likened to a weasel, esp. in furtiveness.
wea'sel, v. i.; wea'seled (-z'ld); wea'sel·ing. To use weasel words; to equivocate. — v. t. To make equivocal, as words or language. Both Colloq.
weasel cat. A linsang.
weasel coot or duck. A female or young male of the smew; — from the resemblance of the head to a weasel's.
wea'sel–faced' (-fāst'), adj. Having a thin, sharp face, like that of a weasel. weasel lemur. A small sportive lemur (Lepilemur mustelinus), reddish brown above, grayish brown below, with white throat.
wea'sel·ly (wē'z'l·ĭ), adj. Resembling or suggesting a weasel, as in form or appearance.
wea'sel·skin' (-skĭn'), n. A pocketbook; hence, money. Local, U. S. wea'sel·snout' (-snout'), n. A yellow-flowered European dead nettle (Lamium luteum); — in allusion to the shape of the corolla. weasel spider. Any of the Solpugida. weasel words. Words that destroy the force of a statement by equivocal qualification as a weasel ruins an egg by sucking out its contents while leaving it superficially intact; — a phrase given currency by Theodore Roosevelt. Cf. JOKER. — wea'sel–word'ed, adj. wea'ser (wē'zĕr), n. Also weaser sheldrake. The American merganser. Local, U. S. weath'er (wĕth'ĕr), n. [ME. weder, fr. AS. weder; akin to OS. wedar, OFris. weder, D. weder, weêr, G. wetter, OHG. wetar, ON. vethr, Dan. vejr, Sw. väder wind, air, weather, and also to OSlav. vedro fair weather, vetrŭ air, wind, Lith. vetra storm, and E. WIND air. Cf. WITHER.] 1. State of the air or atmosphere with respect to heat or cold, wetness or dryness, calm or storm, clearness or cloudiness, or any other meteorological phenomena; meteorological condition of the atmosphere; as, warm, cold, wet, dry weather. Cf. CLIMATE, 3.
Fair weather cometh out of the north. Job xxxvii. 22.
2. Vicissitude of season; meteorological change; alternation of the state of the air; hence, vicissitude of fortune; — chiefly in pl.
3. Foul weather or disagreeable atmospheric conditions; specif.: a Storm; tempest; wind.
What gusts of weather from that gathering cloud My thoughts presage. Dryden.
b Obs. A light rain; a shower; snow. c Cold and wet; as, clothing to keep out the weather. d Obs. Air; sky.
4. Of a sail of a windmill, obliquity, or the angle which it makes with its plane of revolution.
5. Weathering.
6. Naut. The direction from which the wind is blowing; windward; also, the weather, or windward, side.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

weather-battered	weather-eaten	weather-stayed weather-bit	weather-fagged	weather-tanned weather-bleached	weather-free	weather-tight weather-blown	weather-hardened	weather-tough weather-borne	weather-marked	weather-wafted weather-braving	weather-rotted	weather-wasted weather-bronzed	weather-scarred	weatherworn weather-burnt	weather-sick	weather-wrung weather-driven

— in the weather. In a place exposed to the weather; outdoors. — to make fair weather. To assume an attitude of friendliness or benevolence. Obs. — under the weather. a Collog., U. S. Ill; also, financially embarrassed. b Slang, U. S. More or less intoxicated; somewhat drunk.
weath'er (wĕth'ĕr), v.; WEATH'ERED (-ĕrd); WEATH'ER·ING. Transitive: 1. To expose to the air; to air; to season, dry, pulverize, discolor, etc., by exposure to air.
2. To bear up against and come safely through (any storm or stress of weather, or, by extension, any stress or peril); to sustain without disaster; as, the house has weathered many bitter winters; to weather difficulties.
3. To set (the sails of a windmill) so they will be adjusted to the wind.
4. Arch. To slope, as a roof, so that it will shed water.
5. Falconry. To tether (a hawk) unhooded in the open air.
6. Naut. a To sail or pass to the windward of; as, to weather a cape or another ship. b To make headway against or come safely through (a storm or hard blow); as, the vessel could not weather the gale and was beached.
—, Intransitive: 1. To undergo or endure the action of the atmosphere; to suffer meteorological influences; sometimes, to wear away, disintegrate, discolor, or deteriorate, under atmospheric influences.
2. To last under use or passage of time; to wear. Cf. WEAR, v. i., 3.
3. To storm. Dial.
weather along. Naut. To make headway in adverse weather. weather a point. To pass a point of land to windward; — said of a vessel; hence, to gain or accomplish anything against opposition.
weather on or upon. a Naut. = WEATHER, v. t., 6 a. b To take advantage of or liberties with.
weather out. a To weather, or meet and come through successfully, to the end. b To stand out prominently as the surrounding rock disintegrates; — said of a bluff, cliff, promontory, or the like.
weath'er, adj. Naut. Being toward the direction from which the wind blows; windward; — opposed to lee; as, weather side, bow, braces, gauge, etc. weath'er. Var. of WETHER. weather anchor. Naut. When a vessel has two anchors down, that anchor to which at the moment she is riding.
weath'er–beat'en, adj. Also, Obs., weath'er–beat'. Beaten by severe weather; worn or damaged by exposure to the weather; also, toughened, tanned, or bronzed, by the weather.
weath'er–bitt', v. t. Naut. To take an additional turn with (a cable) around the bitts.
weath'er–bit'ten, adj. Worn by exposure to the weather; also, weather-beaten.
weath'er·board' (wĕth'ĕr·bōrd'; 181), n. 1. A board used to form the outside protective covering of part of a building; specif., a board shaped so as to be especially adapted to shed water by forming lapped joints with the boards above and below; a clapboard.
2. Naut. a That side of a vessel which is toward the wind; the weather side. b A piece of plank placed in a porthole, or other opening, to keep out rain.
weath'er·board', v. t. & i. To nail boards upon (a roof or wall) so as to lap one over another, to exclude rain, etc.
weath'er·board'ing, n. Arch. a The covering or siding of a weatherboarded building. b Boards (collectively) adapted or intended for such covering or siding.
weath'er–bound', adj. Kept in port or at anchor, and hence from travel, sport, etc., by bad weather.
weather bow. The part or side of the bow towards the wind.
weath'er–bow', v. t. To turn the weather bow toward.
weather box. A weather house. weath'er·break' (wĕth'ĕr·brāk'), n. A windbreak. Southern U. S. weather breeder. A fine day, said to presage foul weather.
— weath'er–breed'ing, adj.
Weather Bureau. A bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, established under Act of Congress of Oct. 1, 1890 (26 U. S. Stat., 653). It is charged especially with the collection of reports of weather conditions as a basis for predictions and statistical records. Its duties were previously performed by the Signal Service. weather cast. A weather forecast. weather caster. A weather prophet. weather chart. A weather map.
weather cloth. Naut. Any canvas or tarpaulin to shield a part of the deck, etc., from rain, wind, etc.; specif., painted canvas to cover the hammocks stowed in the nettings.
weath'er·cock' (wĕth'ĕr·kŏk'), n. 1. A vane, originally often in the figure of a cock, turning, as on the top of a spire, with the wind, and showing its direction.
As a wedercok that turneth his face with every wind. Chaucer.
2. The jewelweed Impatiens biflora.
3. Any thing or person that turns easily and often; one who veers with every change of current opinion.
— weath'er·cock'ish (-ĭsh), adj. — weath'er·cock·ism (-ĭz'm), n. — weath'er·cock'y (-ĭ), adj.
weath'er·cock', v. t. To supply with a weathercock; also, to serve as a weathercock for. — v. i. To behave like a weathercock.
weather contact. Elec. A contact or leakage due to poor insulation during wet weather.

weard. † WEIRD wea'ri·a·ble (wē'rĭ·ä·b'l), adj. See -ABLE. — wea'ri·a·ble·ness, n. wea'rid. Wearied. Ref. Sp. wea'rie. Var. of WEARY. wea'ri·ly, adv. of WEARY. wearp. Obs. past tense of WARP. wear'proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. wearth. Obs. past tense of WORTH. wea'sand-pipe', n. The weasand. Obs. wease'-al'lan (wēz'äl'ăn). Var of WEESE-ALLAN. wea'sel-fish', n. = WHISTLEFISH. wea'sel-wise', adv. See -WISE. wea'sel·mon'ger, n. A ratcatcher; — esp. in contempt. Obs. wea'sel·ship, n. See -SHIP. wea'sel·like', adj. See -LIKE.
wea'sly (wē'zlĭ). Var. of WEASELLY. wea'son (wē'zŭn). Scot. var. [of WEASAND. weast. † WEST.

weather cottage. A weather house.
weather cross. Elec. A cross connection between wires, due to wet weather.
weather cycle. An alleged periodic occurrence of some feature of the weather.
weather deck. Shipbuilding. A deck exposed to the weather. weather dog. A fragmentary rainbow. Dial. weather door. a An opening in a louver. b U. S. A storm door. c Mining. A trap door.
weath'ered (wĕth'ĕrd), adj. 1. Seasoned by exposure to the weather.
2. Altered in color, texture, composition, or form, by exposure to the weather; also, of woodwork, artificially given the appearance caused by weathering, as fumed oak.
3. Arch. Made sloping, so as to throw off water.
weathered oak. a = FUMED OAK. b The color leafmold. weath'er-er (wĕth'ĕr-ĕr), n. One who or that which weathers.
weather eye. An eye humorously regarded as specially used in observing the weather.
— to keep one's weather eye open. To be on the lookout; to be alert or on one's guard. Orig. Naut.
weath'er-fast', adj. Naut. Weather-bound. weath'er-fend', v. t. To defend from the weather; to shelter. Shak. (Tempest, V. i. 10). weather flag. A flag used to indicate the kind of weather expected in from 12 to 36 hours.
weather gall (gôl) or gaw (gô). [Cf. G. regengalle, wassergalle. See WEATHER; cf. WATER GALL, 2d GALL.] A fragmentary rainbow; a sundog; also, a weather breeder. weather gauge. a Naut. The position of a ship to the windward of another, giving an advantage in maneuvering. See GAUGE, n., 11 a. b Hence, a position of advantage or superiority; advantage in position.
weath'er-gauge', v. t. To keep the weather gauge of.
weath'er-glass' (wĕth'ĕr-glăs'), n. An instrument to indicate the state of the atmosphere, esp. changes of pressure, and hence of weather, as a barometer or baroscope.
weath'er-gleam' (-glēm'), n. Clear or light sky near the horizon; the horizon. Scot. & N. of Eng.
weath'er-go'ing tide. A windward tide.
weath'er-guard', v. t. To guard against the weather.
weath'er-head' (wĕth'ĕr-hĕd'), n. A secondary rainbow. Dial. Eng. weath'er-head'ed, adj. Prob., having a sheepshead; foolish. Obs.
weather helm. Naut. a A tendency of a sailing vessel to come up into the wind, making it necessary to put the helm up, that is, toward the weather side. b The condition of the helm when put or held slightly toward the weather side.
weather hen. An inconstant woman. weather house. A mechanical contrivance, in the form of a house, which indicates changes in atmospheric conditions by the appearance or retirement of toy images.
weath'er-ing, n. [AS. wederung weather.] 1. Weather; esp., fair weather; also, a storm. Obs.
2. The action of the elements in altering the color, texture, composition, or form of exposed objects; also, alteration so effected.
3. Building. Slope given, as to a sill, to throw off water.
4. Falconry. Exposure of a hawk to the weather.
5. Naut. The act of passing to windward of, as a cape. weathering stock. A post to which hawks are fastened by a leash. Obs.
weather insurance. See INSURANCE, n., 1. weather joint. A type of mortar joint used in brick masonry. See JOINT, Illust.
weath'er-ly (wĕth'ĕr-lĭ), adj. Having to do with the weather; specif., Naut., able to sail close to the wind with little leeway. — weath'er-li-ness (-lĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. weath'er-mak'er (-māk'ĕr), n. A weather prophet. — weath'er-mak'ing, adj. & n. weath'er-man' (-măn'), n. Orig., one who notes the weather; now, Colloq., a meteorologist, esp. one who gives out reports on the weather.
weather map. A map or chart showing the principal meteorological elements at a given hour and over an extended region. Such maps usually show the height of the barometer, the temperature of the air, the relative humidity, the state of the weather, and the direction and velocity of the wind. Isobars and isotherms outline the general distribution of temperature and pressure, while shaded areas indicate the sections over which rain has just fallen. Other lines enclose areas where the temperature has fallen or risen markedly. In tabular form are shown changes of pressure and of temperature, maximum and minimum temperatures, and total rain for each weather station since the last issue, usually 12 hours. See ISOBAR, Illust.
weather molding. = DRIP, n., 5. weath'er-most (wĕth'ĕr-mōst), adj. Farthest to windward. weath'er-ol'o-gy (wĕth'ĕr-ŏl'ō-jĭ), n. Meteorology. Colloq.
weather plant. Any plant whose leaves are sensitive to atmospheric influences and are thus supposed to indicate weather changes; specif., the Indian licorice. weath'er-proof' (wĕth'ĕr-prōōf'; 66), adj. Proof against weather; able to withstand exposure to weather without sensible depreciation. Cf. -PROOF. — n. Weatherproof material. — v. t. To make weatherproof. — weath'er-proofed' (-prōōft'), adj. — weath'er-proof'ing, n. — weath'er-proof'ness, n.
weather prophet. One who forecasts the weather; also, anything indicating a change in the weather.
weather rail. On a vessel, the rail on the weather side.
weather roll. A roll of a ship to windward. weather sheet. See 5th SHEET, 1. weather side. The side to windward or that most exposed to weather.
weather signal. Any signal giving information about the weather. The system used by the United States Weather Bureau includes temperature, cold wave, hot wave, rain or snow, wind direction, storm, and hurricane, signals. weather slating. Slate used to weather a building — weath'er-slat'ed (-slāt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj.
weather spy. One who foretells the weather. Rare.
weather stain. Discoloration caused by exposure to the weather; figuratively, any alteration in character, looks, or the like, caused by difficult experience or environment. — weath'er-stain', v. t. & i.
weather station. Meteorol. A station for taking meteorological observations, making weather forecasts, or disseminating such information. Such stations are of the first order when they make observations of all the important elements either hourly or by self-registering instruments; of the second order when only important observations are taken; of the third order when simpler work is done, as to record rainfall and maximum and minimum temperatures.
weather stone. a A stone changing its color before rain, as a kind of stone occurring in Finland which turns dark, and is said to be a fossil containing clay, niter, and rock salt. b Weatherproof stone.
weather strip. Also weather stripping. A strip of material to cover the joint of a door, window, etc., with the sill, casing, or threshold, to exclude rain, drafts, etc. — weath'er-strip', v. t.
weather table. = WATER TABLE, 1. weather tide. A windward tide. weather tile. Any of a series of tiles covering a wall, etc., and overlapped like shingles. Cf. WEATHERBOARD, 1. — weath'er-tile', v. t. weather tint. A weather stain. — weath'er-tint', v. t. & i.
weather vane. = VANE, 1. weather wheel. See LEE WHEEL. weath'er-wise' (wĕth'ĕr-wīz'), adj. Skillful in forecasting the changes of the weather; figuratively, skillful in forecasting changes in opinion or feeling; as, a weatherwise politician. — weather wisdom.
weath'er-y (wĕth'ĕr-ĭ), adj. Changeable like the weather.
weave (wēv), v.; past tense WOVE (wōv), also WEAVED (wēvd); past part. WO'VEN (wō'vĕn), WOVE; pres. part. & verbal n. WEAV'ING (wēv'ĭng). The regular past tense & past part., WEAVED, is rarely used. [ME. weven, fr. AS. wefan (pret. wæf); akin to D. weven, G. weben, OHG. weban, ON. vefa, Sw. väfva, Dan. væve, Gr. hyphainein to weave, hyphos web, Skr. ūrṇavābhi spider, lit., wool weaver. Cf. WAFER, WASP, WEB, WEFT, WOOF.] Transitive: 1. To form, as a textile, by interlacing yarns or similar strands of material; specif., to make or manufacture (a web, cloth, a certain kind of cloth) on a loom by interlacing warp and filling yarns; as, to weave broadcloth; hence, to interlace into a fabric, esp. on a loom; as, to weave wool; to weave straw braids.
2. To spin; — chiefly of spiders and other insects.
3. To depict as by weaving in tapestry; also, to fabricate by or as by interlacing; hence, to contrive; as, to weave a garland, a plot.
4. To unite so as to form a texture; hence, to unite, entwine, or the like, as if by such weaving.

This weaves itself perforce into my business. Shak.
And for these words, thus woven into song. Byron.

5. To move to and fro or up and down; to direct in an intricate course; as, to weave one's way through a crowd.

Weave the light dance. S. Rogers.

6. To knit. Scot.
7. Boxing. To weave toward or away from
8. Naut. To signal to by waving.
—, Intransitive: 1. To work at weaving; to make cloth, etc., by interlacing yarns, threads, etc.
2. To spin a web or cocoon; — of insects.
3. To move from side to side repeatedly; to sway; to move in a devious or intricate course; as, to weave through interference; weaving down the sidewalk.
4. To interlace or entwine itself; to become interwoven.
5. To knit. Scot.
6. To be readily weavable.
7. Arc Welding. To spread a weld by moving the electrode back and forth across the line of travel.
8. Athletics. To cross one foot over the other in running.
9. Boxing. To work one's way toward or away from an opponent with sinuous movements of the body.
10. Manège. To move the head, neck, and body incessantly from side to side in a manner fancied to resemble the motion of a hand weaver; as, weaving is a vice of horses, esp. when in the stable.
11. Naut. To signal by waving.
Syn. — Entwine, interlace, lace; fashion, devise. See PLAIT. weave out. a Obs. To weave completely. b To become unwoven. weave (wēv), n. 1. A woven fabric.
2. A particular method or pattern of weaving; as, cassimere, plain, satin, twill, etc., weave.
weav'er (wēv'ĕr), n. 1. One who weaves, or whose occupation is weaving. "Weavers of linen." P. Plowman. Specif., one whose work is weaving a (specified) thing, or in a (specified) way, as in:

asbestos weaver	loom weaver	power weaver cloth weaver	net weaver	tinselweaver

2. A creature that weaves; as: a A weaverbird. b A whirligig beetle. c The weever (fish). d A spider that spins a web.
3. One who constructs, contrives, plaits, or the like, as if in the process of weaving.

Sedentary weavers of long tales. Cowper.

4. One who knits. Scot.
5. A horse that weaves. See WEAVE, v. i., 10. weav'er. Variant of WEEVER. weav'er-bird' (wēv'ĕr-bûrd'), n. Any of many Asiatic, East Indian, and African birds, of the family Ploceidae, resembling finches in general appearance, but having ten instead of nine primaries. Their habits and coloration vary widely, but the name applies especially to species that construct elaborate nests of interlaced grass and other vegetation, some pensile with an entrance at the bottom or on the side, and others large, dome-shaped, and inhabited by many pairs of birds. See AMADAVAT, STRAWBERRY FINCH, JAVA SPARROW, SOCIABLE WEAVER-BIRD, and WHIDAH BIRD.

Baya Weaverbird (Ploceus baya), and Nests.

weav'er-ess (-ĕs; -ĭs; 119), n. A female weaver. Rare.
weaver finch. A weaverbird. weaver shell. A shuttle shell. weav'er's hitch or knot (wēv'ĕrz). A sheet bend. See 2d KNOT, 1, Table.
weav'ers'-shut'tle, n. An East Indian shuttle shell (Volva volva). See SHUTTLE SHELL. weav'ing (wēv'ĭng), n. 1. The operation or business of forming threads into fabric or cloth.
2. A cardsharper's trick of concealing cards. Slang. wea'zen (wē'z'n). Var. of WIZEN. Obs. exc. Dial. — wea'zen-faced' (-fāst'), adj.
wea'zen (wē'z'n), v. i. & t. To shrivel; shrink.
wea'zened (wē'z'nd), adj. Wizened.
wea'zen-y (-z'n-ĭ), adj. Somewhat wizen. web (wĕb), n. [ME. web, fr. AS. webb; akin to D. web, webbe, OHG. weppi, G. gewebe, ON. vefr, Sw. väf, Dan. væv, and E. WEAVE. Cf. WEBSTER.] 1. A textile fabric, esp. one on a loom, or coming from a loom; as, a length cut from a web; also, Rare, cloth; a kind of cloth or weave; an article, as a garment, made of a textile fabric.
2. The texture of very fine thread spun by a spider for catching insects as its prey; a cobweb; also, a similar texture spun by various insects.
3. Webbing.
4. Formerly, an affection of the eye, characterized by a film; — called also webeye. See PIN AND WEB.
5. A thin metal sheet, plate, or strip, as of lead, as the blade of a sword (Obs.), a saw, etc., the thin sharp part of a colter, the bit of a key, the rim of a horseshoe.

The sword, whereof the web was steel. Fairfax.

6. Anything similarly flimsy or entangling; as, webs of vapor, crime, thought.
7. Any complicated fabrication, arrangement, or contrivance; an involved scheme; as, the web of destiny; the web of a country's railroads; also, tissue; texture.

To extricate the truth from the web of conjectures. Irving.

8. The membrane uniting fingers or toes, either at their bases, as in man, or for a greater part of their length, as in many water birds and amphibians.
9. A warp. Now Chiefly Dial.
10. An arrangement of interwoven parts, as, strips or straps.
11. Specif.: a Rare. A fishing net. b Chiefly Dial. In cattle, the omentum. c A bandana. d Paper from the roll in a printing press, or in process of manufacture in a paper machine. e The part of an oar between loom and blade. f pl. Western U. S. Snowshoes.
12. Anat. & Med. A tissue or membrane.
13. Arch. The portion of a ribbed vault between the ribs.
14. Claywork. A thin portion of material, or a partition, molded into hollow tile or other earthenware product to strengthen it.
15. Fort. The wickerwork of a gabion or hurdle.
16. Mach. & Engin. A plate or thin portion, sometimes lightened, as by perforations, often between stiffening ribs or flanges; as: a The vertical plate or portion connecting the upper and lower flanges or parts of a girder, rail, etc. See 4th RAIL, Illust. b A disk or solid or perforated construction connecting rim and hub in some wheels. c The part of a blacksmith's anvil between the face and base.
17. Math. A tangential net. See 1st NET, 7 b.
18. Zool. The series of barbs implanted on each side of the shaft of a feather; the vane or vexillum.
☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

web-fingered	webmaker	web stiffener
web-footed	webmaking	web-toed web-footedness	web-perfecting, adj.	webwork web (wĕb), v. t.; WEBBED (wĕbd); WEB'BING. [AS. webbian to weave, contrive.] 1. To weave; to cover or connect with a web; to unite or surround with a web, or as if with a web; to envelop; entangle.

2. Zool. To spin (a loose web) in which to live or hide, as certain insects or their larvae, esp. certain caterpillars.
web, adj. Of, pertaining to, or like, a web; made of webbing. webb (wĕb), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Narraganset weéwo wife, Ojibway wiw I have a wife, Lenape wiwu he is married.] An Indian's wife. Obs. webbed (wĕbd), adj. 1. Provided with a web.
2. Having, or designating, toes or fingers united by a web; as, webbed feet of aquatic fowls.
3. Cobwebbed.
web'ber (wĕb'ĕr), n. One who punches tranks.
web'bing (wĕb'ĭng), n. 1. Weaving; woven stuff.
2. A stout close-woven fabric, usually made in narrow widths and of hemp thread, used for reins, bed bottoms, girths on printing presses, etc.; hence, a strap or girth for a hand press.
3. Palmation.
4. A formation consisting of irregular ridges like a web, as that observed on some varnishes.
webbing moth. A clothes moth (Tineola biselliella) whose larva attacks carpets, tapestry, and other woolen goods, forming a web in which it lives.
Webb'-Ken'yon Act (wĕb'kĕn'yŭn). [After Edwin Y. Webb (b. 1872), representative from North Carolina, and Wm. S. Kenyon (b. 1869), senator from Iowa.] An act of Congress, passed Mar. 1, 1913, prohibiting shipment in interstate commerce of intoxicating liquors. See ORIGINAL PACKAGE.
Webb'-Pom'er-ene Act or Law (-pŏm'ĕr-ēn). [After Edwin Y. Webb (b. 1872), representative from North Carolina, and Atlee Pomerene (b. 1863), senator from Ohio.] An act of Congress, passed Apr. 10, 1918, to permit combinations, otherwise contrary to the Sherman and Clayton antitrust acts, to engage in export trade; — called also Webb Act or Law, and officially known as the Export Trade Act.
web'by (wĕb'ĭ), adj. 1. Of or pertaining to a web or webs; like a web; filled or covered with webs; as, webby wings.
2. Palmated.
3. Of wool, having light staples, with delicate and straight fibers and wide and indistinct curves.
we'ber (vā'bĕr; wē'bĕr), n. [After W. E. Weber, Ger. physicist.] Elec. a A unit of magnetic flux equal to 10^8 maxwells. b Formerly, a coulomb; later, a maxwell.
We'ber for-ma'tion (wē'bĕr). [From Weber Canyon, Utah.] Geol. A subdivision of the Carboniferous in and near Colorado.
We-be'ri-an (wē-bēr'ĭ-ăn), adj. Physiol. Pertaining to, or named after, the German physiologist and anatomist Ernst Heinrich Weber (1795–1878).
Weberian apparatus. Zool. The entire set of structures, including the Weberian ossicles, their ligaments, etc., by which the air bladder of fishes (division Ostariophysi) is connected with the ear.
Weberian ossicle. Zool. One of the small bones in the series which extends from the dorsal wall of the air bladder to the region of the ear in ostariophysial fishes.
We'ber's cor'pus-cle, or'gan, pouch, or ves'i-cle (vā'-bĕrz). [After M. I. Weber (1795–1875), Ger. anatomist.] The utriculus prostaticus.
We'ber's law (vā'bĕrz). [See WEBERIAN.] Psychophysics. The law or generalization that the least noticeable increase of a stimulus is a constant proportional of the original stimulus. For example, if the least noticeable in-weath'er-fish', n. = THUNDERFISH a. weath'er-ward (wĕth'ĕr-wĕrd), adv. See -WARD. weath'er-wis'er(-wīz'ĕr), n. [Cf. WAYWISER.] Something that foretokens the weather. Obs. weather wizard. A weather prophet. Obs. weav. Weave. Ref. Sp.

weav'a-ble, weave'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.
weaved. Occasional past tense & past part. of WEAVE. wea'vel. Var. of WEEVIL. weave'ment, n. See -MENT. wea'zand. Var. of WEASAND. wea'zend. Weazened. Ref. Sp.
Webb Act or Law. = WEBB-POMERENE ACT OR LAW. web'be (wĕb'bē), n. [AS. webba, masc., webbe, fem. See WEAVE.] A weaver. Obs. webd. Webbed. Ref. Sp.
We'ber-Fech'ner law or rule (vā'bĕr-fĕk'nĕr). [See WEBER; FECHNER'S FRACTION.] = FECHNER'S LAW.
Weber's pouch or vesicle. See WEBER'S CORPUSCLE.

crement to a ten-candle-power light is one candle, the least noticeable difference from a hundred-candle-power light would be ten candles. It holds only approximately.

Weber's test. [See WEBERIAN.] Med. A test for ear disease made by placing a vibrating tuning fork on the vertex of the skull or middle of the forehead. In middle-ear disease, the sound seems louder in the affected ear.

we'ber turn (vā'bĕr; wē'bĕr). Elec. A unit of linkage equal to 100,000,000 maxwell turns.

web'foot' (wĕb'fōōt'; 66), n.; pl. -FEET (-fēt'). 1. A foot the toes of which are connected by a membrane. 2. Any web-footed bird or other animal. 3. a A fenman. b A native or inhabitant of Oregon; — a nickname.

Webfoot State. Oregon; — a nickname.

web frame. Shipbuilding. A frame of heavy scantling made by riveting a wide plate to a frame and stiffening the plate by riveting two reverse frames to its inner edge.

web'-glazed' (wĕb'glāzd'), adj. Paper Mfg. Glazed in an ordinary calender having alternate rolls of polished iron and compressed cotton or paper. Cf. PLATE-GLAZED. — web glazing.

web lead. Sheet lead.

web machine. A web press.

web member. One of the several members joining the top and bottom chords of a truss or lattice girder.

web of life. One's destined course in life. Cf. FATE, n., 5.

web plate. A plate connecting the flanges of a plate girder or a built-up steel column.

web press. A rotary press using a paper roll or rolls. One with special attachments, as for folding, pasting, and counting, is called specif. a web perfecting press.

web printing. The act or the process of printing on a web press.

web saw. A frame saw.

web'ster (wĕb'stĕr), n. [AS. webbestre. See WEB, WEAVE; -STER.] A weaver; originally, a female weaver. Archaic.

Web'ster–Ash'bur'ton Trea'ty. The Ashburton Treaty.

Web·ste'ri·an (wĕb·stē'rĭ·ăn), adj. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, Webster or his works; — esp. of Daniel Webster, the statesman (1782–1852), or Noah Webster, the lexicographer (1758–1843).

web'ster·ite (wĕb'stĕr·īt), n. [After Thomas Webster (1773–1844), Scot. geologist.] Mineral. Aluminite.

web'ster·ite, n. [After the Webster Company of N. C.] Petrog. A variety of pyroxenite, consisting essentially of orthorhombic and monoclinic pyroxenes.

Web'ster's con·dens'er (wĕb'stĕrz). An early form of substage condenser for microscopes. It is a combination of a simple biconvex lens with a smaller achromatic lens.

web wheel. A wheel having a web connecting hub and rim.

web'-winged' (wĕb'wĭngd'; 66), adj. Having wings formed by membranes extended between digits, as bats.

web'-worked', adj. Fabricated with a fine tissue like that of a cobweb.

web'worm' (wĕb'wûrm'), n. Any of various caterpillars which are more or less gregarious and spin large webs in which they feed or rest. The fall webworm is the larva of a white or spotted arctiid moth (Hyphantria cunea) and is very destructive to leaves of various trees. The vine webworm is the larva of a geometrid moth (Eustroma diversilineata). The garden webworm, the larva of a pyralidan moth (Loxostege similalis), is not gregarious, but each caterpillar spins its own web near the roots of cultivated plants. The beet, or sugar-beet, webworm (Loxostege sticticalis) resembles the garden webworm in habits and food. See also TENT CATERPILLAR.

wed (wĕd), n. [AS. wedd. See WED, v.] A person or thing given or deposited as a pledge; a stake or wager. Obs. exc. Dial.

— in, or to, wed. Pledged; mortgaged; pawned. Obs.

wed, v.; past tense WED'DED or (Dial.) WED; past part. WED'DED or WED; pres. part. & verbal n. WED'DING. [ME. wedden to wed, to pledge, fr. AS. weddian to covenant, promise, to wed, marry; akin to OFris. weddia to promise, D. wedden to wager, to bet, G. wetten, ON. vethja, Dan. vedde, Sw. vädja to appeal, Goth. gawadjōn to betroth, and to AS. wed(d) a pledge, OFris. wed, MD. wedde, OHG. wetti, G. wette a wager, ON. veth a pledge, Sw. vad a wager, an appeal, Goth. wadi a pledge, Lith. vaduoti to redeem (a pledge), L. vas, vadis, bail, security, vadimonium security. Cf. GAGE a pledge, WAGER, n.] Transitive: 1. To pledge; engage; also, to wager; pawn. Obs. exc. Scot. & N. of Eng.

2. To take for wife by a formal ceremony; later, also, to take for husband by such a ceremony; to marry; espouse.

With this ring I thee wed. Bk. of Com. Prayer.

3. To join in marriage; to give in wedlock.

Adam wedded to another Eve. Milton.

4. To unite as if by the affections or the bond of marriage; to attach firmly or indissolubly; — chiefly in past part.

Thou art wedded to calamity. Shak.

5. To take to oneself and support; to espouse. Obs.

They positively and concernedly wedded his cause. Clarendon.

6. To place in close or intimate association; as, music wedded to words.

—, Intransitive: To contract matrimony; to marry.

wed over the mixen. [See MIXEN dunghill.] To marry a neighbor. Dial. Eng.

wed over the moor. To marry someone from a distant place. Dial. Eng.

wed with a rush ring. To go through a mock form of marrying, in jest or fraud.

wed. Dial. past tense of WED, WEED.

we'd (wēd). Contraction of we would or we had; — often used for we should.

we·da'na (wā·dä'nä), n. [Jav. wĕdana chief.] A minor native police official. Du. East Indies.

wed'bed' (wĕd'bĕd'), n. Marriage bed.

wed'bed'rip' (wĕd'bĕd'rĭp'), n. Early Eng. Law. A covenant by which a tenant was bound to do bedrip for his lord.

wed'ded (wĕd'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. 1. a Joined in wedlock; married; as, the wedded pair. b Of or pertaining to wedlock. "Wedded love." Milton.

2. Devotedly or persistently attached or addicted; as, wedded to sorrow, to his party.

3. Closely united; joined.

— wed'ded·ly, adv. — wed'ded·ness, n.

Wed'dell seal (wĕd'l). [After J. Weddell (1787–1834), Eng. navigator.] A large brown antarctic seal (Leptonychotes weddelli) highly valued for its flesh and blubber.

wed'der (wĕd'ĕr), n. One who or that which weds.

wed'der (wĕd'ĕr). Obs. exc. Dial. Var. of WEATHER, WETHER.

wed'ding (-ĭng), n. [AS. weddung.] 1. Nuptial ceremony; nuptial festivities; marriage; nuptials.

☞ Anniversaries of the wedding day are named from a custom of giving certain kinds of presents when the anniversary is celebrated. Thus the first is called the paper wedding; the second, straw; third, candy; fourth, leather; fifth, wooden; seventh, floral; tenth, tin; twelfth, linen; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; thirty-fifth, coral; fortieth, emerald; forty-fifth, ruby; fiftieth, golden; seventy-fifth (or sixtieth), diamond. Names of the minor anniversaries vary locally.

2. A kind of strong, fine-textured, smooth, dull writing paper, suitable for steel-engraved wedding invitations.

Syn. — See MARRIAGE.

☞ PHRASES are:

wedding anniversary	wedding chest	wedding morn wedding banquet	wedding dinner	wedding night wedding bed	wedding dress	wedding present wedding bell	wedding feast	wedding smock wedding breakfast	wedding festival	wedding supper wedding card	wedding gown	wedding torch wedding ceremony	wedding guest	wedding trip wedding chamber	wedding journey wedding cake. An unleavened cake thick with candied and dried fruit and nuts and usually elaborately decorated with ornamental icing.

wedding day. The day of or set for a wedding; also, its anniversary.

wed'ding·er (wĕd'ĭn·ĕr), n. One present at a wedding, esp. a guest. Scot. & Dial.

wedding favor. A marriage favor.

wedding finger. The ring finger.

wedding flight. The marriage flight (which see).

wedding flower. a An Australian herb (Moraea robinsoniana) with large white irislike flowers. b A South African tree (Assonia natalensis) with fragrant white flowers in showy umbellike clusters.

wedding march. Music. A dignified march composed especially for performance at a wedding.

wedding of the Adriatic. See MARRIAGE OF THE ADRIATIC.

wedding ring. A plain ring, orig. of gold, placed on the bride's ring finger by her spouse as he weds her.

wedding sheet. A sheet used on the bridal bed and sometimes kept for a shroud.

Wed'dle's quar'tic sur'face (wĕd'lz). [After Thomas Weddle (1817–53), Eng. mathematician.] Math. A quartic with six double points, the locus of the vertices of all quadric cones passing through the six double points; also, the locus of a point which is itself the eighth intersection of all quadrics through it and six fixed points.

Weddle's rule. Math. A closely approximate rule for areas, similar to Simpson's rule (which see). It is: Area $= \frac{3}{10} h[(y_1 + y_3 + y_5 + y_7) + y_4 + 5(y_2 + y_4 + y_6)]$, where the y's are the lengths of the several ordinates and h is the distance between any consecutive two of them.

wede (wēd), adj. [Scot. wede weeded. See WEED, v.] Shriveled. Dial.

wedge (wĕj), n. [ME. wegge, fr. AS. wecg; akin to MD. weggbe, OHG. wecki, G. weck a (wedge-shaped) loaf, ON. veggr a wedge, Dan. vægge, Lith. vagis a peg, D. wig, Gr. ophnis plowshare, L. vomis, vomer. Cf. WIG cake.] 1. A piece of wood, metal, etc., tapering to a thin edge, used in splitting wood, rocks, etc., in raising heavy bodies, and the like. See SIMPLE MACHINE.

Wedge, 1. Splitting force (neglecting friction) $= \frac{AM \times \text{force of blow}}{BC}$, or $\frac{\cot \frac{1}{2} BAC}{2} \times$ force of blow.

2. a Formerly, an ingot; hence, Slang, silver. b A cake or lump, as of butter or salt.

3. Anything wedge-shaped, as a pointed strip of land or a formation of wild fowl flying; specif.: a An array in the form of a wedge; as, a body of troops drawn up in a wedge. b The wedge-shaped stroke in cuneiform characters. See CUNEIFORM. c In card games, a card slightly trimmed at one end by a sharper so that its position in the pack is known and it can be pulled out as desired.

4. Figuratively, a means of gradually intruding so as to cause a breach or initiate a change.

5. Also wooden wedge. The person whose name stands lowest on the list of the classical tripos at Cambridge University; — so called after one Wedgewood, who occupied this position on the first list of 1824. Slang, Eng.

6. Arch. A voussoir.

7. Geom. A solid of five faces, having a rectangular base, two rectangular or trapezoidal faces meeting in an edge that is parallel to an edge of the base, and two triangular ends.

8. Mech. The type of cutting and piercing machinery, formerly classed as a mechanical power.

9. Meteorol. A wedge-shaped area of high barometric pressure.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wedge-bearing	wedge-formed	wedge-shaped wedge-billed	wedge-grafted	wedge-sided wedge-form	wedge-leaf	wedge-spliced

— in wedge. Nav. Arch. = IMMERSED WEDGE. — thin, or small, edge of the wedge. Figuratively, a slight beginning which may be forced so that it will open up much more important opportunities, profits, etc.

wedge (wĕj), v.; WEDGED (wĕjd); WEDG'ING (wĕj'ĭng). Transitive: 1. To cleave or separate with a wedge or wedges, or as with a wedge; to rive. "My heart, as wedged with a sigh, would rive in twain." Shak.

2. To fasten with a wedge, or with wedges; as, to wedge a scythe on the snath; to wedge a rail in place.

3. To force or drive as a wedge is driven; to crowd.

Wedged in the rocky shoals, and sticking fast. Dryden.

4. Logging. To overthrow (a tree) by driving wedges into the kerf made by the sawyer.

5. Pottery. To cut, as clay, into wedgelike masses, and work by dashing together, as to expel air bubbles; to wage.

—, Intransitive: To push or be forced or fixed as or as if a wedge; — with in or into.

wedge up. To raise (a ship) before launching, by driving wedges between the false keel and bilge ways.

wedge'bill' (wĕj'bĭl'), n. 1 An Australian crested bird (Sphenostoma cristatum) having a wedge-shaped bill. It is allied to the coachwhip bird.

2. Any South American hummingbird of the genus Schistes, as S. albogularis, having a very thick tapered bill.

wedge bone. Zool. A small unpaired bone or nodule which often occurs between the centra of the cervical vertebrae of lizards; — called also intercentrum.

wedge character. A cuneiform character.

wedge clamp. Mach. A clamp one end of which contacts with the work below its surface and the other end of which butts against a crosspiece, so that the tightening of a bolt passing through its center causes the clamp to wedge the work in position.

wedge coupling. A shaft coupling that grips with a wedgelike action.

wedged (wĕjd), adj. Wedge-shaped; cuneiform or cuneate.

wedge disks. Mach. Disks, usually rotating, arranged in sets of two for wedging a member between their surfaces.

Wedge furnace (wĕj). [After Utley Wedge, inventor.] A mechanical shaft furnace for roasting ore, having several hearths one above the other and rabbles attached to a central revolving shaft.

wedge gauge. A wedge with a graduated edge, to measure the width of a space into which it is thrust.

wedge gear. Mach. A friction gear wheel with wedge-shaped circumferential grooves. — wedge gearing.

wedge micrometer. A sensitive wedge gauge.

wedge of emersion or immersion. Nav. Arch. The wedge-shaped volume of a vessel that emerges from the water or is immerged when the vessel is inclined or heeled.

wedge photometer. Astron. An instrument used in comparing the brightness of stars, consisting essentially of a wedge of stained glass of neutral tint arranged to be passed gradually over the field of view of the telescope. The respective thicknesses of the wedge just sufficient to make the light from the stars under observation equal to that of a standard comparison star, brought to view in the same field, afford a measure of their relative intensities. It can also be used by the method of extinctions. See METHOD OF EXTINCTIONS.

wedg'er (wĕj'ĕr), n. One who forms or inserts wedges, or who works with a wedge. Brit.

wedge shell. The wedge-shaped shell of any of numerous small marine bivalves of Donax or an allied genus. By extension, the mollusk itself.

Wedge Shell (Donax variabilis). Side View.

wedge'-tailed', adj. Having a tail which has the middle pair of feathers longest, the rest successively and decidedly shorter, all more or less attenuate; — said of certain birds. See WOOD HOOPOE, Illust.

wedge-tailed dove or pigeon. Any of various Asiatic pigeons of the genus Sphenocercus.

wedge-tailed eagle. An Australian eagle (Uroaëtus audax), which destroys lambs and even the kangaroo; — hence often called bold eagle.

wedge-tailed gull. Ross's gull.

wedge-tailed shearwater. A shearwater (Thyellodroma cuneata) of the Pacific and Indian oceans.

wedge writing. Cuneiform writing.

wedg'ing (wĕj'ĭng), n. 1. Cleavage or fixation by a wedge, also, material, as a wooden block or blocks, used as a wedge.

2. Pottery. The act or process of ridding the paste of air bubbles by throwing part of the mass forcibly upon another and then striking the whole gently to bring the parts closer together.

wedging crib or curb. Mining. A curb of close-fitting planks behind which wedges, moss, etc., are driven in to make a watertight packing between the tubbing in a shaft and the rock walls.

Wedg'wood (wĕj'wŏŏd), n. [After Josiah Wedgwood, Eng. potter.] A trade-mark designating Wedgwood ware (which see); hence [often not cap.], a piece of this ware; also, Wedgwood blue. — Wedg'wood, wedg'wood, adj.

Wedgwood blue. Either of two colors, dark Wedgwood blue or light Wedgwood blue (see these terms).

Wedgwood green. A color, greenish-yellow in hue, of low saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

Wedg'wood's scale (wĕj'wŏŏdz). A scale of temperatures devised by Josiah Wedgwood, for measuring the heat of kilns. The zero is 580° C. Obs.

Wedgwood ware, or Wedg'wood, n. The fine hard porcelainlike ware first produced by Josiah Wedgwood. This consists characteristically of a tinted clay ground with small cameo reliefs in white paste, applied before firing. The reliefs are typically of classical design and of delicately minute detail.

wedg'y (wĕj'ĭ), adj. Like a wedge, esp. in shape or use.

wed'lock (wĕd'lŏk), n. [ME. wedlok, wedlac, fr. AS. wedlāc a pledge, betrothal, fr. wed a pledge + -lāc; akin to ON. -leikr, forming abstract nouns, AS. lāc play, sport. See WED, n.; cf. LAKE, v. i.] 1. The ceremony, or the state, of marriage; matrimony; as, born in or out of wedlock.

2. Obs. a Marital vows. b A wife. c A wedding.

Syn. — See MARRIAGE.

wed'lock, v. t. To marry; to wed. Obs.

Wednes'day (wĕnz'dĭ; occas. N. Brit. wĕd''nz·dĭ; 89; 277), n. [ME. wednesdai, wodnesdei, fr. AS. Wōdnes dæg, i. e., Woden's day (trans. of LL. dies Mercurii), fr. Wōden the highest god of the Teutonic peoples, but identified with the Roman god Mercury; akin to OS. Wōdan, OHG. Wuotan, ON. Óthinn, D. woensdag Wednesday, ON. ōthinsdagr, Dan. & Sw. onsdag, and to E. WOOD, adj.] The fourth day of the week; the day following Tuesday.

wee (wē), n. A little; a bit, as of space, time, or distance; as, bide a wee! Chiefly Scot.

wee (wē), adj.; WE'ER (wē'ĕr); WE'EST (wē'ĕst; -ĭst; 119). [ME. we a bit, in a little we, a little wei; we, wei being finally taken as synonymous with little. See WEY.] Very small; little.

A little wee face, with a little yellow beard. Shak.

wee, interj. [Imitative.] An exclamation simulating the squeak of a young pig. — wee, n. & v.

wee (wē). Var. of WOE. Obs. exc. Dial.

weed (wēd), n. [ME. wede, fr. AS. wēde, wǣd; akin to OS. wādi, giwādi, OFris. wēde, wēd, OHG. wāt, ON. vāth, Skr. otave to weave.] 1. A garment; esp., an upper or outer garment. "Lowly shepherd's weeds." Spenser.

2. Armor. Archaic. "Martial weed." Scott.

3. A distinctive costume, garb, or dress; — formerly collective, but now commonly in pl. and used esp. of religious or mourning garments; as, a widow's weeds.

In a mourning weed, with ashes upon her head. Milton.

4. Flesh. "This mortal weed." Raleigh.

---

web'eye' (wĕb'ĭ'), n. Med. a = PTERYGIUM, 1 a. b See WEB, n., 4.

web'foot'er, n. = WEBFOOT, 3 b. web'less, adj. See -LESS.

web'like', adj. See -LIKE.

weeche, v. t. [AS. weccan. Cf. WAKE, v. i.] Rouse; excite. Obs.

weeche. ✝ WATCH. [WITCH.]

wech, weche. ✝ WATCH, WHICH.

wecht (wĕkt). Scot. var. of WEIGHT.

wecht. ✝ WIGHT.

weck. ✝ WEAK, WICK.

wed'broth'er, n. One of a pair of sworn brothers. See SWORN BROTHERS. Obs.

Wed'dah. Var. of VEDDAH wedde. ✝ WED.

wed'deed', n. Mortgage. Obs.

wede. ✝ WEED.

wed'fee', n. [See WED, n.; FEE a payment.] A wager; a stake; also, a reward. Obs.

wedgd. Wedged. Ref. Sp.

wedge'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

wedged'-tailed', adj. See -TAILED.

wedge'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wedge'wise', adv. See -WISE.

wed'hood, n. Wedlock. Obs.

wed'laik, n. = WEDLOCK. Obs.

wed'set' (wĕd'-ĕt'). [ME.] Var. of WADSET, n. & v. t. Obs. exc. Scot.

wee. ✝ WE, WHY.

wee'ble. Var. of WEEVIL.

weech-elm. ✝ WYCH-ELM.

5. A band of crape or heavy black cloth worn on a man's hat as a sign of mourning. Colloq.

weed (wēd), n. [ME. weed, weod, fr. AS. wēod; akin to OS. wiod, D. wieden to weed, OS. wiodōn.] 1. Wild growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, etc. Archaic.

One rushing forth out of the thickest weed. Spenser.

2. a Any plant growing in ground that is or has been in cultivation, usually to the detriment of the crop, or to the disfigurement of the place; an economically useless plant or one of unsightly appearance, esp. one of wild or rank growth. In eastern North America over 600 common plants, usually of Eurasian origin, are weeds, as the dandelion, wild carrot, daisy, etc. Hence: b Any tree or shrub occurring in great abundance in a locality. c Any form of vegetable life of exuberant growth and injurious effect, as certain molds or bacteria frequently contaminating cultures.

3. A marine or fresh-water plant.

4. An obnoxious growth, thing, or person.

Envy is, indeed, a stubborn weed of the mind. Johnson.

5. Colloq. a Tobacco; esp., tobacco prepared for use; — usually with the; as, to forswear the weed. b A cigar.

6. Something, esp. an animal, as a horse, of little value; specif., Stock Breeding, an animal unfit to breed from.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

weed-choked	weed-fringed	weed-hung weed-cutting	weed-grown	weed-killing weed-entwined	weed-hidden	weed-spoiled

-weed (-wēd). A combining form of the 2d noun weed, as in:

acheweed	featherweed	prairieweed
agueweed	feverweed	prideweed allweed	fireweed	pygmyweed baconweed	fitweed	rabbitweed badgerweed	flatweed	ragweed ballweed	flaxweed	rainbowweed balsamweed	flixweed	rattleweed basilweed	frostweed	redweed beetleweed	gallweed	ribbonweed beeweed	gipsyweed	richweed beggarweed	goatweed	riverweed bellweed	goutweed	roadweed bennetweed	grassweed	rockweed benweed	gravelweed	rosinweed bindweed	gulfweed	runchweed bineweed	gypsyweed	saltweed
birdweed	hagweed	sandweed
bishopweed	hallweed	scorpionweed bitterweed	hawkweed	scratchweed bladderweed	heartweed	scrofulaweed blanketweed	hedgeweed	seaweed
blindweed	hellweed	shaveweed blisterweed	hempweed	shiverweed bloodweed	hogweed	shoreweed
blueweed	hookweed	sickleweed breastweed	horseweed	silkweed brookweed	hungerweed	silverweed broomweed	ironweed	skeletonweed brownweed	itchweed	skunkweed bugleweed	jewelwee	slipperweed bundweed	jointweed	smartweed burntweed	justiceweed	snakeweed burroweed	knapweed	snapweed burweed	knobweed	sneezeweed butterweed	knotweed	soapweed buttonweed	lakeweed	sourweed cancerweed	lemonweed	squawweed candyweed	locoweed	staggerweed cankerweed	maidenweed	steepweed capeweed	markweed	stickweed carpetweed	mayweed	stinkweed catchweed	milkweed	stoneweed chaffweed	morassweed	sulphurweed chasteweed	Mormonweed	swampweed chickweed	muckweed	sweatweed chokeweed	nakedweed	sweetweed clammyweed	necklaceweed	tallowweed clayweed	neckweed	tarweed
clubweed	notchweed	tenchweed coffeeweed	oarweed	thimbleweed colicweed	oreweed	tickweed coughweed	pearlweed	tobaccoweed cowweed	pestilenceweed	trumpetweed crabweed	pickerelweed	tumbleweed crazyweed	pickleweed	turpentineweed cresseed	pigeonweed	velvetweed crunchweed	pigweed	vinegarweed cudweed	pilotweed	wartweed
cutweed	pineweed	waterweed
Daneweed	pinkweed	waxweed
deathweed	pinweed	whiteweed deerweed	poisonweed	willowweed driftweed	pokeweed	winterweed duckweed	pondweed	wireweed dyeweed	poorweed	yawweed
edgeweed	povertyweed	yellowweed weed (wēd), v.; WEED'ED; WEED'ING. [AS. wēodian. See 2d WEED.] Transitive: 1. To free from noxious plants; to clear of weeds; as, to weed corn or onions; to weed a garden.

2. To free from anything that is hurtful or offensive; also, Colloq., to dispose of the less desirable portions of; as, to weed a stock of goods or a stable of horses.

He weeded the kingdom of such as were devoted to Elaiana. Howell.

3. To remove as being a weed; hence, to take away as harmful or superfluous; as, to weed plantains from a lawn; — often with out or up. "Weed up thyme." Shak.

Revenge is a kind of wild justice, which the more man's nature runs to, the more ought law to weed it out. Bacon.

4. To purloin; also, to cheat. Slang.

5. Stock Breeding. To reject as unfit for breeding purposes.

—, Intransitive: To remove weeds or something harmful.

weed (wēd), n. [From earlier wedenonfa, fr. AS. wēden- (in comp.) mad, frenzied + Scot. onfa' onfall.] 1. A sudden illness or relapse, often attended with fever, esp. that which attacks women in childbed. Chiefly Scot.

2. Vet. Lymphangitis in the horse, accompanied by fever, and marked by swelling of the legs; — called also milk leg.

weed'age (wēd'ĭj), n. Weeds, collectively.

weed'ed (-ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. 1. Cleared of weeds.

2. Having many weeds; weedy.

weed'er (-ēr), n. One who or that which weeds; as: a One whose work is weeding. b Any of various devices for freeing gardens, etc., from weeds.

weeder clips. Shears used in weeding.

weeder hoe. A garden hook.

weed'er-y (wēd'ēr-ĭ), n. Weeds; also, a place full of weeds.

weed'er-y, n. [From 1st WEED.] Clothing. Slang.

weed'hook' (wēd'hŏŏk'), n. A hook to cut weeds; specif., a curved steel rod attached by one end to the plow beam and extending to the front and side of the plow bottom, for bending over weeds so that they are completely buried in the furrow bottom by the furrow slice.

weed killer. A herbicide.

weed'less, adj. Free from weeds; as, a weedless garden; esp., so made as not to catch in, or become clogged by, weeds; as, a weedless hook for fishing; — said specif. of a kind of boat propeller the blades of which curve backward as respects the direction of rotation, so that they draw through the water, and do not gather weeds.

weed tree. Forestry. A species of tree having little or no commercial value.

weed'y (wēd'ĭ), adj.; WEED'I-ER (-ĭ-ēr); WEED'I-EST. 1. Abounding with weeds; as, a weedy garden. Bryant.

2. Of, pertaining to, or like, a weed or weeds. "Weedy trophies." Shak.

3. Weedlike, esp. in respect to rank growth or ready propagation in cultivated places; as, a weedy tree; a plant of weedy habit.

4. Scraggy; ill-shaped; ungainly; — said esp. of lanky horses, dogs, and persons; as, a weedy youth. Colloq.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

weedy-bearded, weedy-haired, weedy-looking.

weed'y, adj. Dressed in weeds, or mourning. Colloq.

She was as weedy as in the early days of her mourning. Dickens.

wee folk. The fairies.

Wee Free. A member of the Wee Free Church. Scot.

Wee Free Church or Kirk, the. The minority in the Free Church of Scotland which refused to enter the union with the United Presbyterian Church by which the United Free Church of Scotland was formed in 1900, and continues as a separate body under the old name; — a nickname.

week (wēk), n. [ME. weke, wike, fr. AS. wice, wicu, wucu; akin to OS. wika, OFris. wike, D. week, G. woche, OHG. wohha, wehha, ON. vika, Sw. vecka, Dan. uge, Goth. wiko, prob. orig., a succession or change, and akin to G. wechsel change, L. vicis turn, alternation, and perh. to E. weak. See WEAK; cf. VICISSITUDE.] 1. A period of seven days, usually reckoned from one Sabbath or Sunday to the next. The week was in use among the Jews and other Eastern peoples from earliest times but did not enter into the Greek calendar. Although used by the Romans in public and private calendars for astrological purposes as early as the first century B.C., it does not appear to have been officially incorporated into the civil calendar at Rome for state use until Constantine made dies Solis, Sunday, the legal name March 7, A.D. 321. Cf. MARKET WEEK. Abbr. wk.

2. a A series of regular working, business, or school days during each seven-day period. b Any of the four periods into which, in accounting, a month is often divided in reporting gross earnings, the first three containing seven days each and the fourth including the rest of the month.

3. A time seven days before or after a specified day; — in certain phrases: as, it was Sunday (or Monday, Tuesday, etc.) week, it was a week ago Sunday; it was this day week, it was a week ago today; it will take place Sunday week, it will take place a week from this present or coming Sunday.

4. [cap.] A particular week commemorative of or given over to something specified; as, Better Speech Week. Cf. HOLY WEEK, PASSION WEEK, LOW WEEK.

— week and week about. In alternate weeks. — week in, week out. Through from the beginning to the end of each of an unbroken succession of weeks; interminably.

week, adj. Weekday; as, a week evening.

week, interj. [Imitative.] An exclamation simulating the squeak of a mouse or of a pig.

week. Dial. var. of WICK.

week about. In alternating weeks. Cf. week and week about, under WEEK, n. week'day' (wēk'dā'), n. Any day of the week except Sunday; a working day. —week'day', adj.

week'end' (-ĕnd'), n. The end of the week; specif., a period between the close of one customary working, business, or school week and the beginning of the next, commonly extending from Friday evening to Monday morning and observed as a holiday; as, most of the students go home week-ends; also, an informal gathering or a party during a week-end. —week'end' (66), adj.

week'end' (66), v. i. To spend a weekend, esp. in recreation, relaxation, or visiting. —week'end'er, n.

weekend bag or case. A small suitcase or attaché case suitable for weekend trips.

week'-long' (66), adj. Continuing through a week.

week'ly (wēk'lĭ), adv. Once a week; by hebdomadal periods.

week'ly, adj. 1. Of or pertaining to a week or weekdays.

2. Coming, happening, or done, every week; hebdomadary; as, a weekly payment, gazette, caller.

week'ly, n.; pl. -LIES (-lĭz). A publication issued weekly.

week of prayer. The week beginning with the first Sunday in January each year, largely observed by Protestants throughout the world. The practice was instituted in 1846 by the Evangelical Alliance (which see).

week of Sundays. Seven Sundays; hence, figuratively, a week that seems as if each day were seven; a tediously long while. Colloq.

week of the apokreos. See APOKREOS.

week of years. A period of seven years.

week'-old' (66), adj. That is one week old.

week's day. The corresponding day of the preceding or following week. Now Rare.

week work. 1. Early Eng. Feudal Law. The weekly service of labor due from a villein or unfree tenant to his lord, usually 2 or 3 days but 4 or 5 in summer.

2. Work for which one is employed by the week.

weel (wēl), n. [AS. wēl deep water.] A whirlpool; an eddy; also, a deep, still pool. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

weel (wēl), n. [AS. wile- (in comp.), fr. wilige basket. See WILLY basket.] 1. A wickerwork or slotted trap for fish. Eng.

2. Her. A conventionalized representation of such a trap.

3. A basket, esp. for fish.

Weel, 2.

weel. Var. of WEAL. Obs. exc. Scot. & N. of Eng.

weel (wēl). Var. of WELL. Obs. exc. Dial.

weel'-gaun' (wēl'gôn'), adj. A form for well-going, working well or smoothly. Scot.

weem (wēm), n. [Gael. uaimh.] A cave; a natural or artificial cavern or pit. Scot.

ween (wēn), n. [AS. wēn. See WEEN, v.] Belief; expectation; probability. Obs.

ween (wēn), v. i. & t. [ME. wenen, fr. AS. wēnan; akin to AS. wēn hope, expectation, opinion, D. waan, OFris. wēn, OS. & OHG. wān, G. wahn delusion, ON. vān hope, expectation, Goth. wens, D. wanen to fancy, G. wähnen ON. vāna to hope, Goth. wenjan, Skr. vanati he desires. See WISH.] To suppose; think; believe; imagine; conceive; also, formerly, to expect. Archaic.

Though never a dream the roses sent . . .
I ween they smelt as sweet. Mrs. Browning ween'ing, n. Supposition; surmise; expectation. Archaic.

wee'nong (wē'nŏng), n. [Jav. winoń.] Jungle bendy. Java.

wee'ny (wē'nĭ), adj. Also ween'sy (wēn'sĭ; -zĭ), ween'ty (wēn'tĭ). [From WEE.] Tiny. Colloq.

weep (wēp), n. The lapwing; — so called from its cry.

weep, v.; past tense & past part. WEPT (wĕpt); pres. part. & verbal n. WEEP'ING. [ME. wepen, fr. AS. wēpan (pret. wēop); akin to AS. wōp lamentation, OFris. wēpa to lament, OS. wōp lamentation, OHG. wuof, ON. ōp a shouting, crying, OS. wōpian to lament, OHG. wuoffan, wuoffen, ON. æpa, Goth. wopjan, and OSlav. vabiti to call up, entice.] Intransitive: 1. Formerly, to express sorrow, grief, or anguish, by outcry; to lament; in modern use, to show grief or other passions by shedding tears; to shed tears; to cry.

And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck. Acts xx. 37.
And they wept together in silence. Longfellow.

2. To call or complain with lamenting. "They weep unto me, saying, Give us flesh, that we may eat." Num. xi. 13.

3. To drop water, or the like; to drip; as, weeping skies; also, formerly, to exude moisture; to be soaked, as clay.

4. To flow in drops; to run in drops; — often with out.

The blood weeps from my heart. Shak.

5. To droop over; to bend, as trees; as, a weeping willow.

6. To leak, as a boiler; also, to percolate.

7. To discharge matter; to run; — of sores. Colloq.

8. Plant Physiol. To exude water under pressure; to bleed, as the stem of a plant.

—, Transitive: 1. To weep for; to lament; bewail.

I weep bitterly the dead. A. S. Hardy.

2. To shed, or pour forth, as tears; to shed drop by drop, as if tears; as, to weep tears of joy.

Groves whose rich trees wept odorous gums and balm. Milton.

3. To utter or express while weeping.

Weeping his welcomes forth. Shak.

4. To affect in a specified way by, or to spend in, weeping; as, to weep one's eyes dry; to weep one's life away.

5. To exude; — esp. of trees.

Syn. — See CRY.

weep away or out. To remove by or spend in weeping.

weep Irish. To wail as a professional Irish mourner, or keener, does.

weep millstones. To be unmoved at what would cause most people to weep.

weep one's eyes, or heart, out. To weep long and exhaustingly.

weep, n. 1. Weeping or a fit of weeping. Now Colloq.

There was a scene — a weep or two. Kipling.

2. Exudation of moisture, or the like; a leaking.

weep'er (-ēr), n. 1. One who weeps; one who sheds tears; esp., a professional mourner.

2. An image representing a mourner.

3. A badge of mourning; as: a A white band or border formerly worn as a cuff on the sleeve. b A long black hatband, formerly worn by men. c Usually in pl. The black veil of a widow.

4. A streamer of moss hanging from a tree.

5. a A weep hole. b A sparge pipe.

6. pl. Long and flowing side whiskers. Slang.

7. Eccl. Hist. In the early church, a penitent who stood in the atrium of the church begging the prayers of those who entered. See PENITENT, 2.

8. Zool. A capuchin monkey.

weep'ered (wēp'ērd), adj. Having weepers (sense 3).

weep hole. Civil Eng. A hole in a retaining wall, canal paving, or other structure to drain off accumulated water which might otherwise induce inordinate pressure back of or under the structure.

weep'ing, adj. That weeps; as: 1. Lamenting; shedding tears. "Weeping eyes." I. Watts.

2. Accompanied with or expressed by tears; tearful; as, weeping gratitude.

3. Exuding liquid in drops or very slowly; surcharged with moisture; oozing. "Weeping grounds." Mortimer.

4. Rainy; dripping; as, a weeping day, climate, fog.

5. Having slender, pendent branches; — said esp. of trees; as, a weeping willow. Many horticultural varieties of well known trees exhibit this habit, as the weeping ash (Fraxinus excelsior pendula); weeping beech (Fagus sylvatica pendula); weeping birch (Betula alba pendula); weeping black cherry (Padus serotina pendula).

weeping cross. A cross erected on or by the highway, esp. for the devotions of penitents; hence, formerly, to return, or to come home, by the weeping cross, to experience defeat, humiliation, or penitence.

weeping eczema. Med. & Veter. A form of eczema marked by vesicles which exude serum on the skin surface.

weeping golden bell. A Chinese shrub (Forsythia suspensa) with pendulous branches and yellow flowers.

weeping grass. See GRASS, Table.

weeping gum. = WHITE GUM a. Tasmania.

weeping honey locust. A variety (Gleditsia triacanthos bujoti) of the common honey locust, with pendulous branchlets.

weeping lantana. A common South American trailing plant (Lantana sellowiana) with rosy-lilac flowers.

weeping monkey. A capuchin monkey.

weeping mountain ash. A variety (Sorbus aucuparia pendula) of the mountain ash of Eurasia, with long pendulous branches.

weeping myall. See MYALL a. weeping oak. a The valley white oak. b A variety (Quercus robur pendula) of the British oak, with pendulous branches.

weeping palm. The California fan palm.

weeping pea tree. A horticultural variety (Caragana arborescens pendula) of a common Asiatic pea tree, having showy yellow flowers and pendulous branches.

Weeping Philosopher. Heraclitus of Ephesus (fl. 500 B.C.); — so called because of his gloomy views of life.

weeping Polly grass. See GRASS, Table.

weeping red cedar. A variety (Juniperus virginiana pendula) of the common red cedar, with pendulous branchlets.

---

wee'da (wē'dä). Dial. var. of WIDOW.

weed'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.

weede. ✝ WEED.

weed'ful, adj. See -FUL.

weed'i-ness (wēd'ĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS.

weeding hook. = WEEDHOOK.

weed'ing-time', n. See -TIME.

weed'ish, adj. See -ISH.

weed'like', adj. See -LIKE.

weed'ling, n. See -LING.

wee'dow (wē'dō). Scot. var. of WIDOW.

weed'proof' (66), adj. See [-PROOF week'meal', adv. [week + -meal.] By weeks. Obs.

week'wam (wēk'wŏm). Rare var. of WIGWAM.

weel. ✝ WEAL.

weel'fard', weel'faured'. Dial. vars. of WELL-FARED, adj.

wee'men (wē'mĭn). Scot. var. of WOMEN.

weend. Weened. Ref. Sp.

ween'di-go. Var. of WINDIGO.

wee'ness, n. See -NESS.

wee'ney, wee'ny, or wee'nie (wē'nĭ), n. Slang contractions for WIENERWURST.

weent. ✝ WENT, course.

weep'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.

weeped. Obs. past tense & past part. of WEEP.

weep'ful, adj. See -FUL.

weep'ing-ly, adv. of WEEPING.

weep'ing-ripe', adj. Ripe for weeping; ready to weep. weeping rock. A porous rock from which water percolates or oozes. weeping sinew. A ganglion. See GANGLION, n., 4. Colloq. weeping spring. A spring that discharges water slowly. weeping spruce. A tall spruce (Picea breweriana), of California and Oregon, with slender pendulous branches. Its wood is soft, but heavy and close-grained.
weeping tree. a Any tree having pendulous branches. b A tree from which honeydew or other liquid secretions of insects drip in considerable quantities, esp. one infested by the nymphs of any species of the genus Ptyelus, allied to the cuckoo spits, which in tropical countries secrete large quantities of a watery fluid.
weeping willow. An Asiatic willow (Salix babylonica) familiar in general cultivation, from which it often escapes. Its branches droop perpendicularly. Poetically, it symbolizes mourning.
weeps (wēps), n. pl. Tears, or a fit of tears; crying. Slang.
weep'y (wēp'ĭ), adj.; WEEP'I-ER (-ĭ-ĕr); WEEP'I-EST. 1. Weeping; mournful; tearful. Colloq.
2. Oozing; seepy; moist; as, weepy ground. Dial. Eng.
weese'-al'lan, weese'-al'len (wēz'ăl'ĕn), n. The parasitic jaeger. Orkney I. weesh'y, weesh'ee (wēsh'ĭ), adj. Tiny, weeny; wee. Ir. weet (wēt), v. t. & i. To know; to wit. See 1st WIT. Archaic. weet (wēt), interj. An exclamation simulative of the cry of a small bird. — v. i. To utter this cry. — n. The call of any of several birds, as of the wryneck or of the European sandpiper; also, the bird itself.
weet (wēt). Var. of WET. Obs. exc. Dial.
weet'bird' (wēt'bûrd'), n. The wryneck; — from its cry. Local, Eng.
weet'less, adj. Unwitting. Spenser.
weet'-weet' (wēt'wēt'), interj. The exclamation weet repeated. — v. i. To make this cry. — n. This cry; hence: a Local, Eng. The common European sandpiper. b Local, U. S. The spotted sandpiper.
weet'-weet' (wēt'wēt'), n. [Native name in Victoria.] A throwing toy, or implement, of the Australian aborigines, consisting of a cigar-shaped stick fastened at one end to a flexible twig. It weighs in all about two ounces, and is about two feet long.
weet'y (wēt'ĭ), adj. Rainy. Scot.
wee'ver (wē'vĕr), n. [ONF. wivre (F. vive). See WIVERN.] Any of several edible marine fishes of the genus Trachinus, or family Trachinidae. They have a broad spinose head, with the eyes looking upward. The long dorsal fin is supported by many strong sharp venomous spines which cause painful wounds. The British species are: the greater

Greater Weever (Trachinus draco) $\frac{1}{6}$

weever (Trachinus draco), which becomes a foot long, and the lesser weever (T. vipera), about half as large.
wee'vil (wē'v'l; -vĭl), n. [ME. wivel, weevil, fr. AS. wifel; akin to MLG. wevel, OS. wivil, OHG. wibil, G. wiebel, Lith. vabalas beetle, and E. WAVE, v.] a Any of numerous snout beetles of the group Rhynchophora, in which the head is elongated, and usually curved downward, to form a kind of snout bearing the jaws at the tip. The antennae are usually geniculate and the covering of the body is rough and hard. Although most species are of small size, many are very injurious. The larvae of some live in nuts, fruit, and grain, by eating out the interior, as the plum weevil, or curculio, the nut weevils, and the grain weevil. The larvae of others bore under the bark and into the pith of trees and other plants, as the pine weevils, palm weevils, and strawberry crown borer. See also BOLL WEEVIL, FLOUR BEETLE, PEA WEEVIL, RICE WEEVIL, SEED WEEVIL. b Any of several other insects which damage stored grain, as the grain moth, wheat midge, and drugstore beetle.

Weevils. a Ampeloglypter sesostris (× 7); b Brachyrhinus sulcatus (× 2); c Balaninus rectus (¾); d Eupsalis minuta (× 1½). c and d infest the oak.

wee'viled, wee'villed (wē'v'ld), adj. Infested by weevils.
wee'vil-y, wee'vil-ly (wē'v'l-ĭ), adj. Weeviled. wee'wow, wee'waw' (wē'wou'; -wô'), adj. Also, U. S., wee'waw'. [Cf. AS. wōh.] Crooked; irregular; unsteady. — v. i. To sway; twist. Both Dial. weeze (wēz), v. i. [AS. wēsan. See OOZE juice.] To ooze. Scot. & Dial. Eng. weeze (wēz). Var. of WASE, wisp, etc. Obs. exc. Dial. weft (wĕft), n. [AS. wefta, weft; akin to ON. veptr, and to E. WEAVE.] 1. In weaving, the threads that cross the warp; the thread carried by the shuttle; woof; shoot; filling; hence, yarn used for these threads.
2. A web; a thing woven.
3. A film, as of cloud, mist, or smoke.
4. Filling for baskets, mats, etc.; also, the fabric made with them.
5. Bot. A thin feltlike layer of interlacing hyphae.
weft, v. i. To form or weave a weft weft, n. = WAIF, n. Obs. weft, n. Naut. = WAFT, n., 5. weft (wĕft). Obs. exc. dial. Eng. of WAFT; obs. past tense & past part. of WAVE. weft'age (wĕf'tĭj), n. Texture.
weft'ed (-tĕd; -tĭd; 119), adj. Having a weft or the form or character of a weft.
weft fork. Weaving. a A weighted lever formerly used as a faller in a loom. b A device to lay in a filling or weft of stiffening, as whalebone.
weft knitting. Knitting in which each row of loops is formed of a single thread as in garter stitch. — weft'-knit', adj.
weft sorter. See SORTER. weft'y (wĕf'tĭ), adj. Of the nature of, or like, a weft.
We'ge-ner hy-poth'e-sis (vā'gĕ-nĕr). Geol. [After Alfred Wegener (b. 1880), Ger. geophysicist.] The view that the existing continents were originally one land area of which portions have separated and, since Carboniferous time, have slowly drifted apart, moving on a plastic substratum, or sima. — we'ge-ne'rĭ-an (vā'gĕ-nĕr'ĭ-ăn), adj.
Wegg, Silas (sī'lăs wĕg'). In Dickens's Our Mutual Friend, a seller of ballads, "a literary man with a wooden leg," and a precious rascal, employed by Mr. Boffin to read to him from the "Decline-and-Fall-Off-the-Rooshan-Empire."
we'go-tism (wē'gō-tĭz'm), n. [From we, after egotism.] Excessive use of the editorial we. Humorous.
Weh'nelt cath'ode (vā'nĕlt). [After A. R. B. Wehnelt (b. 1871), Ger. physicist.] Physics. A form of negative terminal used in vacuum tubes. It consists of a strip of platinum coated with an oxide of an alkaline metal, as calcium. When heated to incandescence by an electric current, the oxide emits electrons copiously. wehr'lite (vār'lĭt), n. [After A. Wehrle (1791–1835), Austrian metallurgist.] 1. A bismuth telluride, occurring in foliated form. Sp. gr., 8.4.
2. Petrog. A variety of peridotite consisting of olivine, mono-pyroxene, and usually some hornblende.
Wei (wā), n. [Chin. (Pek.) *Wei*⁴.] Chin. Hist. a Either of two different feudal states in China in the Chou dynasty. (The Chinese characters for the two are different.) b One of the Three Kingdoms, in the 3d century A.D. c A Tatar dynasty in Chinese history, 4th–6th centuries, A.D weib'ye-ite (vīb'yĕ-īt), n. [After P. C. Weibye, Nor. mineralogist.] Mineral. A fluocarbonate of the cerium metals allied to bastnasite. weich'sel-wood' (vĭk'sĕl-wŏŏd'), n. [G. weichselholz.] The wood of the mahaleb, used for tobacco pipes; also, the tree.
Wei'er-stras'sĭ-an (vī'ĕr-sträs'ĭ-ăn; vī'ĕr-shträs'ĭ-ăn), adj. Pertaining to the German mathematician Karl Theodor Weierstrass (1815–97) or his work.
Weierstrassian function. Math. A continuous but not differentiable function, as that depicted by Weierstrass's curve; any of several functions devised by Weierstrass.
Wei'er-strass's curve (vī'ĕr-shträs'ĭz). Math. A certain curve devised by K. Weierstrass. It is used to prove and illustrate Riemann's proposition that a function may be everywhere continuous and nowhere differentiable in a given interval. It is defined by the equation $y = \sum_{n=0}^{\infty} b^n \cos(a^n x\pi)$, where a is an odd integer, b a positive < 1, and $ab > 1 + \frac{3\pi}{2}$. It is infinitely zigzag, like a sinusoidal saw with infinitely fine teeth, and the arc is not finite between any two points no matter how near together.
Wei-ge'la (wĭ-jē'lä; wī-gē'lä), n. [NL., after C. E. Weigel (1748–1831), Sw. physician.] 1. a Bot. Syn. of DIERVILLA. b [not cap.] Hort. Any Asiatic species of Diervilla, esp. D. florida. See BUSH HONEYSUCKLE, DIERVILLA.
2. A color, red in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR. wei'gel-ite (vī'gĕl-īt), n. [From *Weigel*sberg, near Gebersdorf, Moravia.] Petrog. A peridotite characterized by an ophitic texture, produced by lath-shaped hornblendes with interstitial olivine and enstatite. Accessory minerals are chromite, magnetite, and ilmenite.
Wei'gert's meth'od (vī'gĕrts). [After Karl Weigert (1843–1905), Ger. pathologist.] Physiol. & Med. A method of tracing the course of medullated nerve fibers by hardening the tissues in Müller's fluid (a solution of potassium dichromate) and staining the sections for myelin sheaths. weigh (wā), v.; WEIGHED (wād); WEIGH'ING. [ME. weien, weyen, weghen, to weigh, bear, set free, fr. AS. wegan to bear, move, to weigh; akin to D. wegen to weigh, G. wägen, wiegen, to weigh, be*wegen* to move, OHG. wegan, ON. vega to move, carry, lift, weigh, Goth. ga*wigan* to shake, L. vehere to carry, Gr. ochein to carry, ride, OSlav. vesti to go, move, Skr. vahati he carries, conducts. See WAY; cf. WEIGHT, WEY.] Transitive: 1. To bear; carry; support; hoist. Obs.
2. To examine by the balance; to ascertain the weight of.
Weighed in the balances, and . . . found wanting. Dan. v. 27.
3. To examine or test as if by the balance; to ponder in the mind; to consider or examine for the purpose of forming an opinion or coming to a conclusion; to balance.
We cannot weigh our brother with ourself. Shak.
Without sufficiently weighing his expressions. Scott.
4. To measure or portion out on or as on scales; hence, to apportion; dispense.
5. To outweigh; — with down or out.
One Whig shall weigh down ten Tories. Swift.
6. To hold or balance in the hand or hands for or as if estimating the weight.
7. To counterbalance, as in weight or value.
8. To make equal or even. Poetic.
Satan . . . weighs his spread wings. Milton.
9. a To consider as worthy of notice; to regard; esteem. b Obs. To induce; influence.
10. Archery. To determine the force in pounds that will draw (a bow) the length of its appropriate arrow.
11. Horse Racing & Boxing. To take the weight of (a contestant) as a test of qualification. A jockey is weighed out before a race and weighed in after it; a boxer is weighed in (Colloq.) before a fight.
12. Naut. To heave up (an anchor) preparatory to sailing.
——, Intransitive: 1. To have weight; to be heavy; to have a certain weight; as, he weighs 200 pounds.
2. To be considered as important; to have weight in the intellectual balance; to carry weight; have influence.
Your vows to her and me . . . will even weigh. Shak.
3. To bear heavily; to press hard; — with on or upon.
Cleanse the stuffed bosom of that perilous stuff Which weighs upon the heart. Shak.
4. Obs. a To rise or sink in balancing. b To balance. c To judge; estimate; consider.
Could not weigh of worthiness aright. Spenser.
5. Horse Racing & Boxing. To take one's place to be weighed; — with out or in. See WEIGH, v. t., 11, above.
6. Naut. To weigh anchor. weigh against. To oppose with weight. weigh anchor. To hoist a craft's anchor; hence, to make ready to start.
weigh down. a To overbalance. b To oppress with weight; to depress. "To weigh thy spirits down." Milton. c To sink by its own weight.
weigh in. a To add as an ingredient or extra b See WEIGH, v. t., 11; v. i., 5. c Slang. To enter as a participant.
weigh in the balance. = WEIGH, v. t., 2 & 3. weigh one's words. To choose or use one's words deliberately.
weigh out. a To apportion. b See WEIGH, v. t., 11; v. i., 5. weigh with. To equal in weight, value, or importance. weigh (wā), n. [See WEY.] 1. A measure of weight; specif., a weight equal to thirty-two cloves. See 1st CLOVE. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
2. An act of weighing.
weigh (wā), n. Erroneous for WAY, used in the phrase under weigh, by assoc. with aweigh. Orig. Naut. weigh'age (wā'ĭj), n. Eng. Law. A duty or toll paid for weighing merchandise. weigh'bar' (-bär'), n. A weighbar shaft. Eng. weighbar shaft. Mach. A rockshaft, esp. in a radial gear. Eng. weigh'bauk' (wā'bôk'), n. [See BALK beam; cf. WEIGH BEAM.] Scot. & Dial. Eng. a A scale beam. b pl Scales. c The beam of a beam engine. weigh beam. A kind of large steelyard. weigh'bridge' (wā'brĭj'), n. A platform scale, flush with the roadway, for weighing vehicles, cattle, coal, etc.
weigh'bridge'man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). One who tends a weighbridge. weigh can. A can joined to a weighing device so that any desired weight of its liquid contents can be drawn off.
weighed (wād), adj. That has undergone weighing; hence, tested; tried; experienced; balanced.
weigh'er (wā'ĕr), n. One who weighs; as: a An officer whose duty it is to weigh commodities or test weights. b One whose work is weighing a (specified) thing, as in:

cloth weigher	tea weigher	yarn weigher drug weigher	wheat weigher weigh'house' (-hous'), n. A building at or within which goods, and the like, are weighed. weigh'in' (wā'ĭn'), n. Horse Racing. The weighing in of a jockey (see WEIGH, v. t., 11). weigh'ing, n. 1. Act of one that weighs; also, a quantity weighed as one lot.

2. Also weight'ing (wāt'ĭng). Mining. The settling or subsiding of a mine roof. Eng.
weigh'lock' (wā'lŏk'), n. A lock, as on a canal, in which boats are weighed and their tonnage is settled. weigh'man (wā'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A man whose work is weighing articles.
weigh'mas'ter (-mȧs'tĕr; 83), n. One whose business it is to weigh ore, hay, merchandise, etc.; one licensed as a public weigher. weigh'mas'ter's beam (-mȧs'tĕrz). A weigh beam.
weigh'-out', n. Horse Racing. The weighing out of a jockey (see WEIGH, v. t., 11). weigh scale. A scale pan; pl., a pair of scales.
weigh'shaft' (wā'shȧft'; 83), n. A rockshaft. weight (wāt), n. [ME. weght, wight, fr. AS. wiht, gewiht; akin to D. wicht, gewicht, G. gewicht weight, ON. vætt weight, balance, L. vectis lever. The vowel is due to influence of the v. See WEIGH, v.] 1. Weighing; standard of weight. Obs.
2. A quantity or thing weighing a fixed, usually specified, amount; as, equal weight of water and air; sold weight for weight.
3. A unit of weight or mass; as, a table of weights.
☞ See TABLE OF WEIGHTS, page 2898.
4. A definite mass of iron, brass, platinum, or other material, to be used for ascertaining the weight of other bodies; as, an ounce weight.
5. A ponderous mass; something heavy; a load.
As man leapeth better with weights in his hand. Bacon.
6. Burden; as, the weight of care or business; pressure, as of onslaught.
The weight of this sad time. Shak.
7. Quantity of heaviness; the amount which a given thing weighs.
The weight of a hair will turn the scales. Shak.
8. Relative heaviness; ponderability; regarded as a property of matter.
As clocks to weight their nimble motions owe. Pope.
9. The standard amount which a given thing should weigh; specif., the amount which a rider or a boxer or wrestler is required to weigh.
Near two ounces more than weight in a pound. Defoe.
10. A heavy contrivance or object to hold or press something down or to counterbalance; as, a clock weight; a paper weight.
11. Archaic & Dial. a The customary local unit for a particular commodity. b pl. A pair of scales.
12. A mode of estimating weight or mass; a system of simply related units, actual pieces of metal, used for this purpose; as, avoirdupois weight; troy weight; apothecaries' weight.
13. Importance; consequence; moment; power; authority; influence; as, a consideration which is of vast weight; also, impressiveness, as of reasoning.
In such a point of weight, so near mine honor. Shak.
14. The force with which a body is attracted toward the earth. Since the force of gravitation varies at different latitudes and elevations, weight is a variable quantity. It is equal to the mass of a body multiplied by the acceleration due to gravity at the place where the body is situated. Weight constitutes a measure of the force of gravity, and, being the resultant of all the forces exerted by gravity upon the different particles of the body, it is proportional to the mass of the body. It is expressed in pounds, dynes, and other units. Weight is commonly used to signify the quantity of mass because the masses of bodies may be accurately compared, on an even balance, as a lever or platform scale, since the pull of the earth is equally large on the body whose mass is being determined and the standard body to which it is compared. A spring balance or spring dynamometer would, however, measure only the pull of the earth on the body. When a spring balance or dynamometer is used its scale is calibrated so that it indicates in units of mass, as grams or pounds, the masses whose weights would equal the pull exerted by the earth on the body being measured, at weep'ly, adj. Tearful. Obs. weer. Dial. Eng. var. of WER, our.

weer. † WAR, WEIR, WERE.
weer'lish (wēr'lĭsh). Var. of WEARISH. Obs. exc. Dial. weese. Var. of WEEZE. wee'sel. Var. of WEASEL. weesh (wēsh; wĕsh). Scot. past tense of WASH. wee'vil-like', adj. See -LIKE.
wee'vil-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. wee'zen (wē'z'n). Dial. var. of WIZEN. wee'zle, n. [From or akin to WEASAND.] The windpipe; the epiglottis. Obs.
weg. † WEDGE.
We'ga (wē'gȧ), n. = 1st VEGA. weght. † WEIGHT.
we'-group', n. = IN-GROUP. wehr'wolf' (wär'wŏŏlf'). Var. of WEREWOLF. [WOE.] wei. † WAY, WEIGH, WEY, WEEY, weid. † WEED, dress.
weid (wēd). Scot. & Ir. var. of WEED, a disease. weie. † WAY, WEIGH, WEY, WYE. weife. † WAIF.
Wei-ge'lĭ-a (wĭ-jē'lĭ-ȧ; -gē'lĭ-ȧ).
Erron. form of WEIGELA. weigh'a-ble (wā'ȧ-b'l), adj. See -ABLE. weighd. Weighed. Ref. Sp. weigh'er-ship, n. See -SHIP. weigh'ment, n. See -MENT.

the particular latitude and elevation in question. Abbr. wt. Cf. MASS, KILOGRAM, POUND, DYNE.

15. Of garments, the relative heaviness suited to the season; as, winter weight.

16. Alg. The degree which an algebraic expression would have if to each of the symbols entering into it were assigned a degree fixed by any rule; esp., the degree which a function of the coefficients of a quantic would have if each of these coefficients were regarded as having a degree equal to the exponent of a selected variable (say x) in the term of the quantic in which that coefficient appears.

17. Archery. The power or pull required to bend a bow to the full, or proper, extent, measured in pounds.

18. Athletics. a A heavy object, usually a ball of metal, which is thrown, put, or lifted, as an athletic game or exercise. Cf. HAMMER, n., 7; SHOT, n., 10. b In shuffleboard, one of the iron disks used in playing the game. c One of the classes into which boxers and wrestlers are divided according to their weight (sense 7); as, preliminary bouts in several weights; to fight in one's own weight.

19. Mining. a The roof pressure, or the weight of overlying rock, in a mine. b Australia. A pennyweight.

20. Pros. Emphasis on a heavy (sense 14) syllable; combined length and accent in a syllable.

21. Statistics. The frequency of an item in a frequency distribution; also, a number assigned to express its relative importance; the factor by which the value of the item is multiplied in forming the weighted average of the values of the various items. Cf. WEIGHT, v. t., 10.

Syn. — Heaviness, gravity, load; import, significance.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

weight-bearing	weight-lifting	weight-raising weight-carrying	weight-measuring	weight-resisting

— by weight. As measured by weighing; as, sold by weight. — of weight. a Obs. Heavy. b Consequential; important. — to carry or have weight. To be of importance such as to impress. — to give weight to. To treat with due regard to its validity or importance. — to make one's, or the, weight. Of jockeys, boxers, etc., to meet the requirements with respect to weight, as for a race or a fight.

weight (-wāt). A combining form of the noun weight, as in:

bantamweight	hundredweight	middleweight catchweight	letterweight	paperweight counterweight	lightweight	pennyweight featherweight	makeweight	welterweight

TABLE OF WEIGHTS

For the tables of avoirdupois weight, troy weight, and apothecaries' weight, see the special tables following the main table.

Pounds or ounces are avoirdupois unless otherwise stated.

NAME	PLACE: NATIVE EQUIVALENT, ETC.	VALUES Brit., U. S.	VALUES Metric
abbas	Persia: for pearls	2.25 gr.	0.146 g.
abbassi	Persia: 5 ser	0.81 lb.	369 g.
abucco	Burma	.42–.46 lb.	.19–.21 kg.
adarme	Spain, Mexico: 1/16 onza	27.74 gr.	1.80 g.
adpao	India: varying	0.246 lb.[1]	112 g.[1]
aguirage	Guinea: 1/16 benda	61.88 gr.	4.01 g.
akey	Guinea: 1/48 benda	20.63 gr.	1.34 g.
alada	Abyssinia: 4 kasm	241 gr.	15.60 g.
arienzo	Spain: 1/3204 libra	3.08 gr.	0.200 g.
arratel	Port., Brazil: = LIBRA	1.012 lb.	459.0 g.
arroba*	Spain, Mexico, etc.	25.36 lb.	11.51 kg.
arroba	Portugal, Brazil	32.38 lb.	14.69 kg.
artal, artel	Pl. of ROTL
as*	Anc. Rome: = LIBRA	0.722 lb.	327.45 g. ass	Sweden: 1/8848 skalpund	.74 gr.	0.048 g. bag	See Vocab.
bahar	Arabia (Mocha)	450 lb.	204 kg.
bahar	See 3d CANDY, Vocab.
baht*	Siam: 1/80 chang	231.5 gr.	15 g.
barge	Gr. Britain: = KEEL	21.2 long tons	21.54 M.T. barleycorn	England: old: 1/24 pennyweight	1 gr.	0.0648 g.
barrel*	Union of S. Afr.: cement	375 lb.	170.10 kg.
barrel	U. S.: beef & pork	200 lb.	90.72 kg.
barrel	U. S.: cement: 4 bags	376 lb.	170.55 kg.
barrel	U. S.: fish	200 lb.	90.72 kg. barrel	U. S.: flour	196 lb.	88.90 kg.
barrel	U. S.: lime: small bbl.	180 lb.	81.65 kg.
barrel	U. S.: lime: large bbl.	280 lb.	127.01 kg.
batman*	Turkey, Persia, etc.: varying	6.5 lb.[2]	2.95 kg.[2]
bedur	Singapore, Malacca: 2 catties	2.67 lb.	1.21 kg.
bekah	Hebrew: 1/2 shekel
benda	Guinea	1.26 oz.	64.2 g.
berkovets, berkowitz	Russia: 10 pood	361.13 lb.	163.80 kg.
bes	Anc. Rome: 2/3 as	0.4813 lb.	218.3 g.
bhara	Straits Settlements: 300 catties	400 lb.	181.44 kg.
binh	Annam: 8000 dong	68 3/4 lb.	31.18 kg.
bismerpund	Denmark, Norway	13.2 lb.	6.0 kg.
blank	Moneyers' wt.: 1/24 perit: obs.	1/320400 gr.	0.00028 mg.
bokard	Arabia (Mocha): = BAHAR	450 lb.	204 kg.
boll	Scotland: for oatmeal	140 lb.	63.50 kg.
buncal	East Indies: 1/30 catty	1.49 oz. troy[3]	46.5 g.[3] bundle	Union of S. Afr.	7 lb.	3.175 kg. bushel	See Vocab.
caja	Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador	35.27 lb.	16 kg.
can	Annam: 160 dong	1.37 lb.	623.69 g.
candareen	China, etc.: = FEN
candy	East Indies: see Vocab.
caracter	Spain: 1/128 libra: = OCHAVA	55.5 gr.	3.59 g.
carat*	Precious stones	3.086 gr.	200 mg.
carga	Colombia: 250 libras	275.6 lb.	125 kg.
carga	Mexico: varying	304 lb.	138 kg.
cargo	Balearic Islands: 312 artal	280.6 lb.	127.3 kg.
cash	Madras	0.019 gr.	1.23 mg.
castellano	Spain, etc.: 1/50 marco (gold)	71 gr.	4.60 g.
catty	See Vocab.
cental	Canada, Gr. Brit., Union of S. Afr., U. S.	100 lb.	45.36 kg.
centigram	Metric system	0.15432 gr.	0.01 g.
centner	See Vocab.
cequi	Turkey: 1/4 oka	0.707 lb.	320.7 g.
chalcon, chalque	Anc. Greece: 1/4800 mina	1.38 gr.	0.090 g.
chaldron	See Vocab.
chang	Siam	2.65 lb.	1.2 kg.
chapah	North Borneo	1.8 lb.	816.5 g.
charge	Belgium: 400 old livres	412 lb.	187 kg.
chariot	Belgium: 165 old livres	178.1 lb.	80.77 kg.
chee	Straits Settlements: = MACE	58.33 gr.[4]	3.78 g.[4]
cheke	Turkey: 180 okas: for wood	509 lb.	231 kg.
cheki	Arabia: 100 miskals	1.25 lb. troy	466.58 g.
ch'ien	China: see Vocab.
chilogrammo	Italy	2.2046 lb.	1 kg.
chin	China: see Vocab.
chinanta	Philippines: 10 catties	13.33 lb.[4]	6.048 kg.[4] chinnam	Madras: 1/80 tola	6 gr.	388.8 mg.
chittak, chittack	India: 1/16 ser	900 gr.[5]	58.32 g.[5]
clove*	Wool, cheese, etc.: old	7–10 lb.	3.2–4.5 kg.
cola	Syria: 35 artal	137.73 lb.	62.48 kg.
corta	Balearic Islands: 9 artal	8.10 lb.	3.67 kg.
coyan	Siam	2645.5 lb.	1200 kg.
deben	Anc. Egypt	1440 gr.	93.3 g.
deca-gram(me)	Metric system	0.3527 oz.	10 g.
decigram(me)	Metric system	1.5432 gr.	0.1 g.
denaro	Italy: 1/288 libbra	18.17 gr.	1.18 g.
denat	Austria: old: 1/512 pfund	16.88 gr.	1.094 g.
denier*	For silk & rayon yarn	0.7716 gr.	0.05
dhan	Calcutta: 4 panks	0.47 gr.	30.4 mg.
dhurra	Calcutta: 5 ser	10.29 lb.	4.67 kg.
dinero	Spain: 1/384 libra	18.5 gr.	1.20 g.
dirhem, diobolon	Anc. Greece: 2 oboli	22.1 gr.[6]	1.43 g.[6] dirhem*	Arabia, Turkey, etc.	48.15 gr.[7]	3.120 g.[7] dodrans	Anc. Rome: 9 unciae	8.62 oz.	244 g.
dola, dolia	Russia: 1/96 zolotnik	0.686 gr.	0.04443 g.
dong	Annam	60.16 gr.	3.898 g.
drachma*	Anc. Greece	66.4 gr.[6]	4.30 g.[6]
drachma	Germany: old, apothecary: varying	57.5 gr.	3.73 g.
drachma	Modern Greece: for gold	15.432 gr.	1 g.
drachma, dram	Turkey	49.5 gr.	3.21 g.
dracma	Spain: 1/256 libra	55.4 gr.	3.59 g.
dram	Apothecaries' weight	60 gr.	3.888 g.
dram	Avoirdupois weight	27.34 gr.	1.772 g.
dram	Persia: new	15.43 gr.	1 g.
dramm	Yugoslavia: 1/400 oka	49.4 gr.	3.2 g.
dramme	Greece	49.38 gr.	3.2 g.
droit	Moneyers' weight: obs.	1/480 gr.	0.135 mg.
drop	Scot.: obs. 1/18 ounce	29.72 gr.[8] / 37.59 gr.	1.926 g.[8] / 2.436 g.
drum	India: for jute fiber	c. 100–300 lb.	c. 45–136 kg.
duella	Anc. Rome: 1/36 libra	140 gr.	9.06 g.
dung	Persia: 1/6 old miskal	11.8 gr.	0.768 g.
es	Denmark: 1/9153 pund	0.84 gr.	54.6 mg.
escrópulo	Portugal	18.45 gr.	1.20 g.
escrúpulo	Spain	18.49 gr.	1.20 g.
esterlin, esterling	Belgium, Holland, France: obs.	23.74 gr. troy	1.538 g.
fagot	England: for iron or steel	120 lb.	54.43 kg.
fanam	Madras: 80 cash: also varying	1.519 gr.	98.44 mg.
fangot	Eng.: obs.: for raw silk, etc.	1–3 cwt.	51–152 kg.
farasula	Abyssinia: see Vocab.
fardo	Philippines: tobacco, etc.	33.5 lb.	15.2 kg.
farsalah	Arabia: varying	29.3 lb.[9]	13.3 kg.[9]
farsalah	Zanzibar, Somaliland	c. 35 lb.	c. 15.9 kg.
fen	China: see Vocab.
firkin	Gr. Britain: for butter	56 lb.	25.40 kg.
flask	U. S.: of mercury	75 lb.	34.02 kg.
fother*	England: varying	2184 lb.	991 kg.
fotmal*	England: old, for lead, etc.: varying	c. 70 lb.	c. 31.8 kg.
frail*	Spain: for raisins	50 lb.	22.7 kg.
fuang	Siam: 1/640 chang	28.94 gr.	1.875 g.
fun	Japan: 1/10 momme	5.79 gr.	0.375 g.
funt	Poland	0.894 lb.	405.5 g.
funt	Russia: 32 lot	0.90282 lb.	409.512 g.
gandum	Persia: 1/4 nakhod	0.74 gr.	0.048 g.
gantang	E. Indies: varying	17 lb.[10]	7.7 kg.[10]
gantang	Madagascar: for rice	12.5 lb.	5.66 kg.
gerah	1/20 shekel. See Vocab.
gerbe	Morocco	6.61 lb.	3 kg.
giarra	Libya	165.3 lb.	75.0 kg.
gisla	Zanzibar: for rice	360 lb.	163 kg.
gorraf	Libya: 9 3/4 okas	27.6 lb.	12.5 kg.
grain*	Gr. Britain & U. S.	1/7000 lb. avoir.	0.0648 g.
grain	For pearls, etc.: 1/4 carat	0.77 gr.	50 mg.
gram*, gramme	Metric system	15.432 gr.	1.00 g.
gran	Bavaria: 1/7680 pfund	1.13 gr.	0.073 g.
grano*	Spain, Argentina, Chile	0.77 gr.	0.05 g.
grão	Portugal: 1/9216 libra	0.77 gr.	0.05 g.
grein	Netherlands	1.00 gr.	0.065 g.
gros	France: 1/8 once: obs.	59.0 gr.[11]	3.82 g.[11]
haikwan tael	China: 1/16 catty	1 1/3 oz.	37.80 g.
hamlah	Egypt	165.1 lb.	74.88 kg.
hao	China: see Vocab.
hap, haph	Siam: 50 chang	132.28 lb.	60 kg.
hecto-gram(me)	Metric system	3.527 oz.	100 g.
hemi	Egypt: 200 okas	550.3 lb.	249.6 kg.
hiyak-kin	Japan	132.3 lb.	60 kg.
hiyaku-me	Japan: 100 momme	5797 gr.	375 g.
hoen	Dutch East Indies: 1/100 tael	5.96 gr.	0.386 g.
hoon	Straits Settlements	0.0133 oz.	378.0 mg.
hubba	Calcutta: 1/8 ratti: varying	0.225 gr.	14.5 mg.
hundred-weight	Gr. Britain: commonly	112 lb.	50.80 kg.
hundred-weight	U. S.: commonly	100 lb.	45.36 kg.
kamian	Poland: 25 funt	22.35 lb.	10.14 kg.
kamian	Russia: 25 funt	22.57 lb.	10.24 kg.
kantar*	Cyprus: 44 okas	123.2 lb.	55.88 kg.
kantar	Egypt: 100 artal	99.05 lb.	44.93 kg.
kantar	Greece	124.2 lb.	56.32 kg.
kantar	Malta	175 lb.	79.38 kg.
kantar	Tunisia: 100 artal	111.1 lb.	539 kg.g.
kantar	Turkey: 44 okas	124.45 lb.	56.45 kg.
karch	Austria: 400 pfunde	494 lb.	224 kg.
karsha	Anc. India: 96 retti	0.49 oz.	14.0 g.
karwar	Persia: 100 batmans	655 lb.	297 kg.
kasm	Abyssinia	60.19 gr.	3.9 g.
kat	Anc. Egypt	146 gr.	9.46 g.
kati	Japan: = KIN
keel	Gr. Brit.: for coal	21.2 long tons	21.54 M.T.
keg	U. S.: for nails	100 lb.	45.4 kg.
kele	Libya: varying	54 to 79 lb.	24 to 36 kg.
kella, kellah	Arabia	c. 4.25 lb.	c. 1.93 kg.
kerat	Egypt	3.01 gr.	0.195 g.
kerat	Turkey: 1/16 dirhem	3.09 gr.	0.200 g.
khar	Ancient Egypt	74.96 lb.	34 kg.
kharouba	Libya: 1/2000 rotl	3.09 gr.	0.200 g.
kileh, kile	Turkey: 20 okas	56.6 lb.	25.7 kg.
kilo-gram(me)*	Metric system	2.2046 lb.	1000 g.
kimbang	Dutch East Indies: 5 picul	680.8 lb.	308.8 kg.
kin	China: = CATTY	1 1/3 lb.	0.6048 kg.
kin	Japan: 160 momme	1.323 lb.	0.600 kg.
kintar	Morocco	111.9 lb.	50.75kg.
kip	Gr. Britain & U. S.	1000 lb.	453.59 kg kip	Malacca	40.68 lb.	18.45 kg.
klam	Siam: 1/8180 chang	3.62 gr	0.234 g.
klom	Siam: 1/10240 chang	1.81 gr.	0.117 g.
kojang	Dutch East Indies	3676–4357 lb.	1668–1976kg komma-ichi-da	Japan	330.7 lb.	150 kg.
kon	Korea: = CATTY
kona	Anc. India: 48 retti	0.25 oz.	7.01 g.
korrel	Netherlands	1.543 gr.	0.1 g.
koyan (common)	Straits Set.: 40 picul	5333 lb.	2419 kg.
koyan (Malay)	Straits Set.: 40 picul	5705 lb.	2588 kg.
kulack	Dutch East Indies	9.83 lb.	4.48 kg.
kung chin	China	2.2046 lb.	1 kg.
kung fen	China	15.432 gr.	1 gr.
kung liang	China	3.5274 oz.	100 g.
kung ssu	China	0.01543 gr.	1 mg.
kung tun	China	2204.6 lb.	1 M.T.
kuping tael	China	1.316 oz.	37.301 g.
kviat	Denmark: = QUINTIN	77.16 gr.	5.00 g.
kwan, kwamme	Japan: 1000 momme	8.267 lb.	3.75 kg.
kyat	Burma: 1/100 vis	.036 lb.	.016 kg.
lachsa	Philippines: 48 catties	66.93 lb	30.36 kg.
lan	Mongolia	526.6 gr.	34.126 g.
last	Various: see Vocab.
li	China: see Vocab.
liang	China: see Vocab.
libbra	Italy (Milan): old; varying	0.72046 lb.	326.79 g.
libbra	Italy: metric	2.2046 lb.	1 kg.
libra	Anc. Rome: 12 unciae / Anc. Rome: (est. from coins)	0.719 lb. / 0.722 lb.	326 g. / 327.45 g.
libra	Argentina	1.0128 lb.	459.4 g.
libra	Colombia	1.102 lb.	500 g.
libra	Mexico	1.01467 lb.	460.25 g.
libra	Portugal, Brazil	1.012 lb.	459.0 g.
libra*	Spain, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador, Peru, Cuba, Venezuela, Central America	1.0143 lb.	460.09 g.
libra	Spain, etc.: medical	0.9245 lb.; 0.7607 lb. avoir.	345.1 g
libra	Venezuela: metric	2.2046 lb.	1 kg libra mayor	Balearic Islands: 3 artal	0.80 lb.	408 g liespfund	Germany (Hamburg)	14.9 lb.	6.78 kg.
liespfund	Latvia	18.1 lb.	8.19 kg.
lispund, lispound	Denmark	17.64 lb.	8 kg.
lispund, lispound	Sweden	18.74 lb.	8.502 kg.
litra	Greece, Ionian Isls.	1.058 lb.	480 g.
livre	France, Belgium: old	1.079 lb.[12]	489.5 g.[12]
livre	France: metric	1.1023 lb.	500 g.
livre	Greece (Venetian)	0.992 lb.	450 g
lod	Denmark: 1/32 metric or commercial pound	241.13 gr.	15.625 g.
lod	Denmark (Danish, or Copenhagen): 1/16 mark	227.0 gr.	14.71 g.
lod	Denmark (Danish-Cologne): 1/16 mark	225.3 gr.	14.60 g.
lod	Norway: 1/32 skaalpund: old	240.2 gr.	15.57 g.
lod	Norway, Sweden: mint	203.2 gr.	13.17 g.
long hundred-weight	Gr. Britain	112 lb.	50.80 kg.
long ton	U. S. and Brit. Empire	2240 lb.	1016.0416 kg.
lood	Estonia	197.5 gr.	12.80 g.
lood	Netherlands	154.32 gr.	10.00 g.
lot, lot	Germany: new	154.32 gr.	10.00 g.
lot*	Russia:	0.451 oz.	12.80 g. lut	Poland: 1/32 funt	195.6 gr.	12.67 g.
mace	China, etc.: see Vocab.
mangelin	Madras: for pearls	6.00 gr.	0.39 g.
marc	France: old: varying	c. 7.86 oz. troy	c. 245 g.
marco	Spain, Mexico, Bolivia, etc.: 1/8 libra	0.5071 lb. av., or 7.40 oz. troy	230 g.
mark	Denmark (Danish, or Copenhagen)	7.56 oz. troy	235.3 g.
mark	Denmark (Danish-Cologne)	7.52 oz. troy	233.8 g.
mark	Norway, Sweden: mint	6.77 oz. troy	210.7 g.
mark	Prussia	7.52 oz. troy	233.9 g.
mark	Austria (Vienna)	9.02 oz. troy	280.7 g.
masha	Calcutta	15 gr.	0.972 g.
mast	English: obs.	2.5 lb. troy	933 g.
maund	See Vocab.
metric carat	France: Gr. Britain, U.S., and various countries	3.086 gr.	200 mg.
metric ton	Common Eng. equiv. for F. tonne, or millier	2204.6 lb.	1000 kg.
microgram	Metric system	0.0000154 gr.	0.000001 g.
millier*	= METRIC TON	2204.6 lb.	1000 kg.
milligram	Metric system	0.01543 gr.	0.001 g.
mina	Anc. Greece	0.95 lb.	430 g.
mina*	Anc. Hebrew: varying mina	Mod. Greece	2.202 lb.	999.0 g.
mina (royal)	Greece	3.31 lb.	1.5 kg.
miskal	Arabia	72.0 gr.	4.67 g.
miskal, miscal	Persia: new	154.3 gr.	10 g.
miskal	Persia: old: 24 nakhods	71 gr.	4.60 g.
miskal	Turkey	74.2 gr.	4.81 g.
mite	Moneyers' weight	0.05 gr.	0.00324 g.
mna	Greece: = MINA
mo	Japan: 1/10 rin	0.058 gr.	3.75 mg.
momme	Japan: 10 fun	57.9 gr.	3.75 g.
moo	Burma: 1/900 vis	31.50 gr.	2.04 g.
moosa	Cyprus	112 lb.	50.7 kg.
mutagalla	Abyssinia: 2 kasm	120.4 gr.	7.80 g.
myriagram	Metric system	22.046 lb.	10 kg.
nael	Estonia	0.903 lb.	0.410 kg.
nail	Wool, cheese, etc.: = CLOVE	7–10 lb.	3.2–4.5 kg.
nakhod	Persia: 1/24 miskal	2.96 gr.	0.19 g.
nasch	Anc. Arabia: varying	2.00 oz. av.	56.7 g.
natr	Abyssinia	1.86 lb.	0.842 kg.
neer	Abyssinia	0.741 lb.	336 g.
nevat	Anc. Arabia: varying	219 gr.	14.17 g.
niyo	Japan: 0.004 kwan	216.1 gr.	14 g.
nylast	Sweden: 12,000 skalpund	4,686 short tons; 4,184 long tons	4250.8 kg.
obolus, -los	Anc. Greece: 1/6 drachma	11.0 gr.[6]	0.71 g.[6] obolus, -los	Mod. Greece: metric	1.54 gr.	0.1 g. obolus*, obole	Pharm. etc.: obs.
ochava	Mexico	55.49 gr.	3.596 g.
ochava	Spain, etc.: 1/8 onza	55.5 gr.	3.59 g.
ocque	Anc. Arabia: 4 artal	3.00 lb.	1.36 kg.
oitava	Portugal, Brazil: 1/8 onça	55.34 gr.	3.586 g.
oka, okе	Cyprus	2.80 lb.	1.27 kg.
oka, okе	Egypt	2.75 lb.	1.25 kg.
oka, okе	Greece, Yugoslavia	2.82 lb.	1.28 kg.
oka, okе	Ionian Islands	2.70 lb.	1.22 kg.
oka, okе	Turkey, Bulgaria, etc.	2.83 lb	1.28 kg.
oka, okе	Turkey: new or metric	2.2046 lb.	1 kg.
oket	Abyssinia	0.990 oz.	28.07 g.

1 At Bombay. 2 At Tabriz. 3 At Malacca. 4 Value varies locally; that given is based on the value of the haikwan tael, or customs tael of China, established by treaty. 5 Government standard. 6 Attic standard. 7 Egyptian customs value. 8 The upper figures are for Scotch troy weight; the lower ones for troyne weight. 9 At Mocha. 10 At Batavia. 11 At Paris. 12 Bourbon standard.

* Further information will be found at the vocabulary entry of the name of the weight.

NAME	PLACE: NATIVE EQUIVALENT, ETC.	VALUES Brit., U. S.	VALUES Metric
okia, okieh	Egypt	1.32 oz.	37.4 g.
onça	Portugal, Brazil: 1/16 libra	442.7 gr.	28.69 g.
once	France: obs.: 1/16 livre	472.1 gr.[11]	30.59 g.[11]
oncia	Italy: old: 1/12 libbra	436.2 gr.[13]	28.26 g.[13]
ons	Netherlands: 1/10 pond	3.5274 oz.	100 g.
onza*	Spain, Mexico, etc.: 1/16 libra	443.8 gr.	28.76 g.
ort	Denmark: 1/1000 pund	7.72 gr.	0.5 g.
ort	Sweden: 1/100 skalpund	65.6 gr.	4.25 g.
ottava	Italy (Rome): 1/96 libbra	54.51 gr.	3.532 g.
oukia	Anc. Arabia: varying	4.00 oz.	113.3 g.
ounce	Avoirdupois: 1/16 pound	437.5 gr.	28.3495 g.
ounce	Troy weight: 1/12 pound	480 gr.	31.1035 g.
ounce	See also ONÇA, ONCE, ONCIA, ONZA, ONS, TAEL, UCKIA, UNCIA. packen	Russia: 3 berkovets	1083.4 lb.	491.4 kg.
pagoda	Madras: 1/80 ser: varying	54.7 gr.	3.54 g.
pai	Rangoon: 1/1600 vis: old	15.97 gr.	1034 mg.
pai	Rangoon: 1/1600 vis: official	15.75 gr.	1021 mg.
pai	Siam: 1/9680 chang	7.23 gr.	0.469 g.
pala	Anc. India	0.104 lb.	47 g.
pally	Calcutta: 5 ser	10.29 lb.	4.67 kg.
pank	Calcutta: 1/4 dhan	0.12 gr.	7.6 mg.
para	North Borneo	90 lb.	40.8 kg.
parto	Malta: 1/480 rotl	25.5 gr.	1.65 g.
peiktha	Burma: = VIS	3.6 lb.	1.6 kg.
pennyweight*	Troy weight: 1/20 oz.	24.00 gr.	1.555 g.
perit	Moneyers' weight: obs.	1/9600 gr.	0.007 mg.
pfennig	Austria: mint	16.92 gr.	1.096 g.
pfund	See Vocab.
pice	India (Bombay)	163.3 gr.	10.58 g.
picul*	China, Straits Settlements, etc.	133 1/3 lb.[4]	60.48 kg.[4] picul	Dutch East Indies	136.16 lb.	61.76 kg.
picul	Japan, Siam	132.3 lb.	60 kg.
picul	Penang	142.6 lb.	64.96 kg.
picul*	Philippines	139.44 lb.	63.25 kg.
pinar	Persia: 20 miskals	3.25 oz. av.	92.0 g.
piso	Guinea.	124 gr.	8.0 g.
pocket	England; of hops	168 lb.	76.2 kg.
pocket	England; of wool	182 lb.	82.6 kg.
pollam	Madras: 3 tolas	1.234 oz.[5]	34.99 g.[5]
pond	Netherlands (Amsterdam), Java, etc. (obsolete)	1.09 lb.	0.494 kg.
pond	Netherlands	1.1023 lb.	.5 kg.
pondus	Anc. Rome = LIBRA
pood, poud	Russia: 40 funt	36.113 lb.	16.38 kg.
pouah	Calcutta: 1/4 ser	8.23 oz.	233.3 g.
pound	Avoirdupois: 16 oz.	7000 gr.	453.59 g.
pound	Tower: obs.	5400 gr.	349.91 g.
pound	Troy wt.: 12 oz.	5760 gr.	373.24 g.
pound[14]	See also FUNT, LIBERA, LIBRA, LIVRE, PFUND, POND, FUND
powe	Madras: 1/4 ser	2.47 oz.	70.0 g.
pund	Denmark, Iceland	1.1023 lb.	500 g.
pund	Norway: old	1.098 lb.	498.1 g.
pund	Norway: metric	1.102 lb.	500 g.
pund	Sweden: 100 ort: old	0.937 lb.	425.1 g.
punto	Philippines: 1/8 catty	0.465 lb.	210.8 g.
pund	Estonia	36.113 lb.	16.38 kg.
quartano	Balearic Islands: 9 artal	8.10 lb.	3.67 kg. quarter	Gr. Britain: 1/4 cwt.	28 lb.	12.70 kg. quarter*	U. S.: 1/4 ton	500 or 560 lb.	226.8 or 254.0 kg.
quarter	U. S.: 1/4 cwt.	25 or 28 lb.	11.34 or 12.70 kg.
quartern	Gr. Britain: 1/4 stone	3.50 lb.	1.588 kg.
quentchen	Austria, Bavaria: 1/128 pfund	67.52 gr.	4.375 g.
quentchen	Germany: 1/300 zollpfund	25.72 gr.	1.667 g.
quentchen	Prussia, Württemberg: 1/128 pfund	56.39 gr.	3.654 g.
quentlein	Württemberg: = QUENTCHEN	56.39 gr.	3.654 g.
quilate	Brazil	3.01 gr.	195 mg.
quilate	Colombia	3.09 gr.	200 mg.
quilate	Philippines	3.16 gr.	205 mg.
quilate	Spain	3.08 gr.	199.7 mg.
quintal	Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay	101.3 lb.	45.94 kg.
quintal	Brazil	129.54 lb.	58.76 kg.
quintal	Colombia: 100 libras	110.23 lb.	50 kg.
quintal	Egypt: = KANTAR	99.05 lb.	44.93 kg.
quintal	Gr. Britain, U. S.: = HUNDREDWEIGHT	100 or 112 lb.	45.36 or 50.80 kg.
quintal	Metric system	220.46 lb.	100 kg.
quintal	Mexico	101.47 lb.	46.025 kg.
quintal	Morocco: = KINTAR	111.10 lb.[15]	50.75 kg.[15]
quintal	Portugal	129.53 lb.	58.752 kg.
quintal	Spain, Chile, Peru, etc.: 100 libras	101.43 lb.	46.01 kg.
quintal	Switzerland	110.2 lb.	50 kg.
quintal	Turkey: = KANTAR	124.45 lb.	56.45 kg.
quintin, quint	Denmark: 1/100 pund	77.16 gr.	5.00 g.
quinto	Guinea: 8/128 benda	92.9 gr.	6.02 g.
raik	Calcutta: 1/4 pally	2.57 lb.	1.166 kg.
ratel	See SORT., Vocab.
ratti*, rati	India: 4 dhan	1.87 gr.[16]	121.5 mg.[16]
reaal	Du. E. Ind.: 1/3 tael	417.4 gr.	27.04 g.
reba, rebah	Anc. Hebrew: 1/4 shekel retti	Anc. India	2.25 gr.	0.146 g. rin	Japan: 1/10 fun	0.58 gr.	37.5 mg.
rotl	See Vocab.
ruay	Rangoon: 1/64 tical	3.94 gr.	0.255 g.
saco	Colombia: 125 libras	137.8 lb.	62.5 kg.
saddirham	Persia: 320 miskals	3.25 lb.	1.47 kg.
saga	Singapore, etc.	4.33 gr.	0.28 g.
salma, salm	Malta	490 lb.	222.26 kg.
salung	Siam: 1/320 chang	57.9 gr.	3.75 g.
sang	Persia	2.2046 lb.	1 kg.
sarpler	See Vocab.
satlijk	Yugoslavia: 1/4 oka	0.71 lb.	0.32 kg.
saum	Austria: 275 pfunde	339.5 lb.	154.0 kg.
score	England: local	20 or 21 lb.	9.1 or 9.5 kg.
scripulum	Anc. Rome: = SCRUPULUS	17.47 gr.	1.132 g.
scruple*	Apoth. wt.: 1/24 ounce	20 gr.	1.296 g.
scrupulus, -lum	Anc. Rome: 1/24 uncia	17.47 gr.	1.132 g.
ser, seer	See Vocab.
seron	Rangoon: 1/64 tical	3.94 gr.	0.255 g.
sextula	Anc. Rome: 1/6 uncia	70 gr.	4.5 g.
shekel	See Vocab.
shi	Japan: 1/10 mo	0.0058 gr.	0.375 mg.
shih	China: government value	157.89 lb.	71.62 kg.
shih	China: metric	220.46 lb.	100 kg.
ship pound	See Vocab.
sicilicum	Anc. Rome: 1/48 libra	104.8 gr.	6.792 g.
skaalpund	Norway	1.098 lb.	0.4981 kg.
skalpund	Finland	0.937 lb.	0.425 kg.
skalpund	Sweden: = PUND	0.937 lb.	425.1 g.
skeppund	Sweden: 400 pund	375 lb.	170.0 kg.
skibslast	Denmark: 5200 pund	5732 lb.	2600 kg.
skippund	Denmark: 320 pund	352.7 lb.	160.0 kg.
skrupul	Poland: 1/384 funt	16.30 gr.	1.056 g.
soekoe	Dutch East Indies: for precious metals: 1/8 tael	104.3 gr.	6.76 g.
solidus	Anc. Rome: 1/72 libra	0.87 oz. troy	27 g.
sompay	Siam: 1/9680 chang	14.5 gr.	0.937 g.
ssu	China: .00001 liang. See LIANG, Vocab.
stand*	England: 2 1/2 to 3 cwt.	280–336 lb.	127.0–152.4 kg.
stater	Greece	124.16 lb.	56.32 kg.
stein	Austria, Germany etc. See Vocab.
sten	Sweden: 32 skalpund	29.99 lb.	13.60 kg.
stone*	Gr. Britain	14 lb.	6.35 kg.
ta	Annam: 16,000 dong	137.5 lb.	62.4 kg.
tael	China: = LIANG. See LIANG, Vocab.
tael	Cochin China	590.75 gr.	38.24 g.
tael	Dutch East Indies: for opium	595.68 gr.	38.60 g.
tael	Dutch East Indies: for precious stones	834.72 gr.	54.09 g.
tahil	Straits Settlements: 100 hoon	1 1/3 oz.	37.80 g.
talanton	Greece	330.69 lb.	150 kg.
talent	See Vocab.
tali	Dutch East Indies: 1/16 tael: for precious metals	52.17 gr.	3.38 g.
tamlung	Siam: 1/80 chang	2.116 oz. av.	60 g.
tampang	Malacca: old	1.35 lb.	0.61 kg.
tan	China: = PICUL	133 1/3 lb.[4]	60.48 kg.[4]
tank	Bombay	68.06 gr.	4.410 g.
tcharik, tscharik	Bokhara and Khiva	4.51 lb.	2.05 kg.
tcheirek	Persia: 160 old miskals	1.62 lb.	0.736 kg.
tercio	Cuba: of tobacco	110–121 lb.	50–55 kg.
tercio	Mexico: 160 libras	162.35 lb.	73.64 kg.
termino	Libya: 1/128 rotl	61.83 gr.	4.01 g.
tetradrachma	Anc. Greece: 0.04 mina	265 gr.	17.20 g.
tical	Siam	231.5 gr.	15 g.
tical, ticul, or tikal	Burma: 1/100 vis	0.36 lb.	.016 kg.
tiembang	Du. E. Ind.: 0.01 tael	5.96 gr.	0.386 g.
tji	Du. E. Ind.: 0.1 tael	59.57 gr.	3.86 g.
tod	England: old: for wool	28 lb.	12.70 kg.
tola	India: 1/5 chittak	180 gr.[5]	11.664 g.[5]
toman, tomand	Arabia: for grain	187.2 lb.	84.90 kg.[9]
tomin	Spain: 1/8 adarme: for silver	9.25 gr.	0.599 g.
ton*	See Vocab.	2000 lb.	907.20 kg.
tonelada	Argentina	2025.6 lb.	918.8 kg.
tonelada	Brazil: 13 1/3 quintals	1748.79 lb.	793.24 kg.
tonelada	Nicaragua	2028.7 lb.	920.19 kg.
tonelada	Spain, etc.: old: 20 quintals	2028.7 lb.	920.19 kg.
tonelada	Spain, etc.: = METRIC TON	2204.6 lb.	1000 kg.
tonne, tonneau	France (metric ton)	2204.6 lb.	1000 kg.
tovar	Bulgaria: 100 okas	282.6 lb.	128.2 kg.
tovar	Yugoslavia: 100 okas	282.2 lb.	128.0 kg.
tower pound*	England: before 1527	5400 gr.	349.91 g.
trone weight*	Scotland: old	21–28 oz. av.	595.3–793.7g.
troy ounce	= OUNCE (troy weight)
troy pound*	United States	5760 gr.	373.24 g.
truss	England. See TRUSS, 2, Vocab.
tunna smjors	Iceland: 224 pund	246.9 lb.	112 kg.
uckia	Algeria	1.204 oz. av.	34.13 g.
uckia	Egypt, var. of OKIA
uckia	Libya: varying	1.13 oz. av.	32.05 g.
uckia	Tunisia	1.111 oz. av.	31.49 g.
uncia	Anc. Rome: 1/12 libra	419.0 gr.	27.15 g.
uncya	Poland: 1/16 funt	421.1 gr.	27.29 g.
untz	Sweden: 1/16 skalpund	0.937 oz. av.	26.57 g.
unze	Austria and Bavaria: 1/16 pfund	1.23 oz. av.	35 g.
unze	Denmark: 1/16 pund	1.102 oz. av.	31.25 g.
uzan	Guinea: 1/8 benda	123.7 gr.	8.02 g.
vakia	Arabia: 1/40 maund	1.19 oz. av.	33.75 g.
vamfont	Hungary: customs pound	1.102 lb.	0.5 kg.
vammassa	Hungary: customs centner	110.23 lb.	50 kg.
varahan	Madras: 1/80 ser	54 gr.	3.50 g.
vierling	Germany, Austria, etc.: 1/4 pfund	0.309 lb.	140 g.
vis, viss	Burma: old	3.65 lb.	1.6556 kg.
vis, viss	Burma: official	3.60 lb.	1.6329 kg.
vog	Denmark	39.68 lb.	18 kg.
wagon	Yugoslavia	9.842 long tons	10 M.T.
wakea	Abyssinia: 1/12 rotl	400 gr.	25.92 g.
wang	Dutch East Indies: 1/48 tael: for precious metals	17.39 gr.	1.127 g.
wichtje	Netherlands	15.43 gr.	1.00 g.
wogiet	Abyssinia: 8 kasm	1.10 oz. av.	31.20 g.
yakman	Bokhara and Khiva	288.9 lb.	131.04 kg.
yava	Anc. India: 1/10 retti	0.225 gr.	0.0146 g.
yin	China: 200 chin	266.7 lb.[4]	121.0 kg.[4]
yusdrum	Turkey: 1/4 oka	0.71 lb.	0.32 kg.
zar, zer	Persia: = GUZ	40.95 in.	104.0 cm.
zollpfund	Germany	1.1023 lb.	500 g.
zolotnik	Russia: 96 doli	65.83 gr.	4.266 g.
zugt(h)ierlast	Switzerland	1653.5 lb.	750 kg.
zuza	Anc. Palestine	54.63 gr.	3.540 g.

TABLE OF AVOIRDUPOIS WEIGHT

27 11/32 grains (gr.)	= 1 dram (dr.).
16 drams	= 1 ounce (oz.) = 437 1/2 grains.
16 ounces	= 1 pound (lb.) = 256 drams = 7,000 grains.
100 pounds	= 1 hundredweight (cwt.) = 1,600 ounces.
20 hundredweight	= 1 ton (tn.) = 2,000 pounds (in long measure).
112 pounds	= 1 long hundredweight (l. cwt.).
20 long hundredweight	= 1 long ton (l. tn.) = 2,240 pounds.

TABLE OF TROY WEIGHT

24 grains (gr.)	= 1 pennyweight (dwt.).
20 pennyweights	= 1 ounce (oz. t.) = 480 grains.
12 ounces	= 1 pound (lb. t.) = 240 pennyweights = 5,760 grains.

TABLE OF APOTHECARIES' WEIGHT

20 grains (gr.)	= 1 scruple (s. ap. or ℈).
3 scruples	= 1 dram (dr. ap. or ʒ) = 60 grains.
8 drams	= 1 ounce (oz. ap. or ℥) = 24 scruples = 480 grains.
12 ounces	= 1 pound (lb. ap. or ℔) = 96 drams = 288 scruples = 5,760 grains

4 Value varies locally; that given is based on the value of the baikwan tael, or customs tael of China, established by treaty. 5 Government standard. 9 At Mocha. 11 At Paris. 13 At Rome. 14 Pound is often used to translate the names of European weights of cognate origin representing the Roman libra. 15 Usual value for produce. 16 At Calcutta.

* Further information will be found at the vocabulary entry of the name of the weight.

weight (wāt), v. t.; WEIGHT'ED; WEIGHT'ING. 1. To load with a weight or weights; to make heavy; to attach weights to; as, to weight a whip handle.

The arrows of satire, . . . weighted with sense. Coleridge.

2. To oppress, as with a burden; weigh down.
3. To increase in heaviness, as by adding an inferior ingredient.
4. To weigh; also, Colloq., to feel the weight of; heft.
5. To assign a value to (each of several related things) as a measure of their relative importance; as, to weight factors.
6. Astron. & Physics. To express by a number the probable accuracy of. See WEIGHT OF OBSERVATIONS.
7. Dyeing. To load (fabrics), as with barite, to increase the weight, etc.
8. Horse Racing. a To assign a handicap weight to. b = WEIGH, v. t., 11; — with in or out.
9. Phonet. To assign to (a speech sound) a phonetic value according to its function in a particular language. Thus ts is weighted as a single speech sound in German katze (kät'sĕ) but as two sounds in English cats.
10. Statistics. To attach factors, indicative of their relative frequency or importance, to the various items of a frequency distribution. See WEIGHT, n., 21.
Syn. — Load, burden, encumber.
Ant. — Lighten, ease, relieve.

weight (Scot. wĕkt), n. [Origin obscure. Cf. 1st WEIGHT.] Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir. A leather-covered hoop, like a sieve, but without holes, for winnowing grain.

weight carrier. One who or that which carries weight; esp., a race horse that can run well with a heavy impost; also, a hunter or other saddle horse capable of carrying a heavy rider or other load.

weight'chas'er (wāt'chās'ĕr), n. [From penny*weight* (of gold).] A prospector for gold; miner. Slang, Australia.

weight cloths. Horse Racing. Weighted saddlecloths.

weight'ed (wāt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. 1. Burdened; oppressed.
2. Loaded; made heavy or weighty.
3. Relatively evaluated.
— weight'ed·ly, adv. — weight'ed·ness, n.

weighted average. Statistics. An average of the values of a set of items to each of which is accorded a weight (see WEIGHT, n., 21) indicative of its frequency or relative importance; in forming the average, the value of each item is multiplied by its weight and the total of these products is divided by the sum of the weights.

weighted mean. Statistics. A weighted average.

weighted value. Statistics. The product of the value of an item of a frequency distribution by its weight.

weight for age. Horse Racing. A weight apportioned to a horse according to its age, irrespective of any other penalties or allowances. — weight'-for-age', adj.

weight'ing (wāt'ĭng), n. Act of one who weights; also, that which is used as a weight.

weight of a comitant. Math. The exponent of the modulus of transformation, in the equation of the comitant; as, in $\phi(A, X) = M^p\phi\ (a, x)$, where ϕ is the comitant, p is the weight.

weight of a resultant. Math. The continued product of the degrees of the equations of which it is the resultant.

weight of a symmetric function (of the roots of an equation). Math. The degree in all the roots of any term of the function; as, the weight of the function Σx^2yz is four.

weight of metal. Gun. The total weight of the projectiles which can be fired from a single gun in a given time, or of those which can be fired simultaneously from any assemblage of guns. Now Rare.

weight of observations. Astron. & Physics. A number expressing the most probable relative value of each observation in determining the result of a series of observations of the same kind or element and of the quantities resulting from a solution or discussion of a series of observations.

weight of wind. The pressure of air supplied by organ bellows to a stop or group of stops.

weight·om'e·ter (wāt·ŏm'ĕ·tĕr), n. [See WEIGHT; -METER.] An automatic weighing device; specif., one that weighs material continuously, while passing on a belt conveyor, as coal, ore, etc.

weight playing. Music. In piano playing, a kind of technique in which the driving power is supplied by the weight of the hand and arm.

weight voltameter. Elec. A voltameter in which the quantity of current is determined by measuring the weight of the matter deposited on the cathode.

weight'y (wāt'ĭ), adj.; WEIGHT'I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WEIGHT'I·EST. 1. Having much weight; heavy; ponderous; hence: a Burdensome; grievous; as, a weighty body, responsibility. b Falling or pressing heavily. c Of large size; corpulent. d Of high specific gravity.
2. Having much importance, moment, consequence, or the like; momentous; serious; also, expressing seriousness or gravity; as, a weighty bearing or countenance.

Let me have your advice in a weighty affair. Swift.

3. Having much force, influence, authority, or the like; as, weighty men. "Sundry weighty reasons." Shak.
4. Obs. a Of standard weight. b Solemn. c Severe.
Syn. — Onerous; momentous, impressive. See HEAVY.
Ant. — Light, unoppressive; unimportant, trivial, minor.

wei'he (wā'ĭ), n. [AS. wǣge. See WEY.] A balance. Obs.

‖Weih'nach'ten (vī'năkh'tĕn), n. pl. [G., lit., holy nights.] Christmas.

weil'a·wey'. Var. of WELLAWAY. Obs.

Weil'-Fe'lix re·ac'tion or test (vīl'fā'lĭks). [After E. Weil (1880–1922), Austrian physician, and A. Felix (b. 1887), Prague bacteriologist.] Immunol. An agglutination test for typhus fever, using bacteria of the species Proteus vulgaris (Weil–Felix bacillus) especially the x strain of Weil, a strain originally isolated from patients with typhus fever.

Weil's dis·ease' (vīlz; wīlz). [After Adolf Weil (1848–1916), Ger. physician.] Med. An acute infectious febrile disease with more or less severe jaundice, caused by a spirochete (Leptospira icterohaemorrhagiae).

Wei'mar Con'sti·tu'tion (vī'mär). Ger. Hist. The constitution of the German Republic (Reich), adopted July 31, 1919, by the Weimar National Assembly at Weimar, and promulgated on Aug. 11, 1919.

wein. Var. of WEAN. Obs.

wein'ber'ger·ite (wīn'bûr'gĕr·īt), n. [After J. Weinberger, Austrian mineralogist.] Mineral. An orthorhombic sodium aluminum silicate, occurring in black radially fibrous aggregates in some iron meteorites.

Wein'gar'ten sur'face (vīn'gär'tĕn). [After Julius Weingarten (1836–1910), Ger. mathematician.] Math. A surface in which the two principal radii of curvature are functionally related; — called also W surface.

weight'i·ly (wāt'ĭ·lĭ), adv. of WEIGHTY. | weight'i·ness, n. See -NESS. weight'less, adj. See -LESS. — | weight'less·ly, adv. — weight'less·ness, n. | weik. ✝ WEAK, WICK. well (wĕl). ✝ WEAL, WELL: Scot. | var. of WALE, choice, choose; var. of WEEL, whirlpool. | well. ✝ WHEEL, WHILE. weilang, adv. Long. Obs. Scot.

Wein·man'ni·a (wīn·măn'ĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after J. W. Weinmann, Ger. apothecary.] Bot. A large genus of shrubs and trees (family Escalloniaceae) chiefly found in the Southern Hemisphere. They have opposite, mostly simple leaves, racemose flowers, a free ovary, and 2-celled, 2-valved capsules. Several furnish valuable lumber. See TENIO.

wein'schenk·ite (vīn'shĕngk·ĭt), n. [After E. H. O. K. Weinschenk (1865–1921), Ger. mineralogist.] Mineral. A hydrous phosphate of rare earths, (Er, Y)$PO_4.2H_2O$, occurring in white rounded aggregates and radiating masses.

‖Wein'stu'be (vīn'shtōō'bĕ), n. [G.] Literally, wine room; a place where wines and beer are sold; tavern.

weir (wēr), n. [ME. wer, fr. AS. wer; akin to ON. ver, G. wehr, AS. werian to defend, protect, hinder, G. wehren, Goth. warjan, and to Skr. vṛṇoti he keeps in, holds back, Gr. erysthai to guard, rescue, Lith. verti to close or open, L. verire (assumed) in operire to cover, close, aperire to open, uncover; basic idea: to close. Cf. APERIENT, COVER, GARNISH, GARRET, GARRISON, OVERT, WARN, WARRANT.] 1. A dam in a river to stop and raise the water, for the purpose of conducting it to a mill, forming a fishpond, or the like.
2. A fence of stakes, brushwood, or the like, set in a stream, tideway, or inlet of the sea, for taking fish.
3. A device for determining the quantity of water flowing over it from measurements of the depth of water over the crest or sill and known dimensions of the device.
4. A bank or levee built to hold a river in its bed, or to direct it into a new bed. Local, Eng.

weir, v. t. To put a weir in or on.
It is proposed to weir up the Chobe River at a point above its junction with Zambezi. Peace Handbooks.

weir basin. Irrigation. The wide, basinlike approach to the upstream side of a weir, being constructed so as to reduce to a minimum the effect of the momentum of the approaching water on the flow over the weir.

weir box. A wooden or concrete box oblong in shape and open at both ends, set lengthwise in a canal and in which a weir for the measurement of irrigation water is set crosswise.

weird (wērd), n. [ME. wirde, werde, destiny, fr. AS. wyrd; akin to OS. wurth, OHG. wurt fate, ON. Urthr one of the Norns, and AS. weorthan to become. See WORTH to become.] 1. Fate; destiny; lot; fortune; esp., ill fortune; a disastrous destiny. Now Chiefly Scot.
Let every man face his weird as I shall face mine. Scott.
2. [cap.] Now Chiefly Scot. a Fate personified. b pl. The Fates, or Norns.
3. Now Chiefly Scot. a A prophecy; prediction; also, an omen.
The weird is coming true already. Charles Kingsley.
b A spell; charm. c A soothsayer. d A fateful tale.
Stories of inherited obsessions and premonitions — what they call a weird in Scotland. John Buchan.
4. An occurrence; something which actually takes place; — chiefly in the proverb, after word comes weird.
☞ COMBINATIONS are weird'–fixed', weird'–set'.

weird, adj. [A late use of weird destiny. See WEIRD SISTERS.] 1. Of, pertaining to, or dealing with, fate or the Fates, or destiny. "Weird women wel" Scott.
2. Of or pertaining to witchcraft or to the supernatural; caused by, or suggesting, magical influence; hence, unearthly; uncanny; wild; as, a weird appearance, look, sound, etc.
Low tones, that seemed like a weird incantation. Longfellow.
3. In weakened sense, odd; unusual; curious in nature or appearance; of strange or extraordinary character.
Syn. — WEIRD, EERIE, UNCANNY. WEIRD is used of that which is strange, wild, or unearthly; EERIE suggests esp. an undefined dread, uneasiness, or "creepiness"; that is UNCANNY, as here compared, which is vaguely or unpleasantly mysterious; all three words, but esp. weird, have become of late somewhat hackneyed; — "'Weird' is 'played out long ago,' as Mr. Swinburne says; it is smeared over the coarse palette of the descriptive reporter" (Sat. Rev.; cited by A. S. Hill).
The ordinary reader . . . becomes chilled and daunted in the eerie regions to which Poe carries him. . . . Now, the effective vindication of Poe . . . is that, weird and bizarre and abnormal as are the themes he affected, he is essentially a realist in his method. . . . "The Tell-tale Heart" and . . . "The Cask of Amontillado" have had a psychological basis in the perversities of a disturbed imagination; hence the uncanny fascination of these and other stories of his in a similar taste. J. M. Robertson.

weird, v. t. Obs. exc. Scot. a To assign to a certain fate; to destine. b To foretell or assign as a fate; to predict. c To warn (of something foreseen).

weird'ful (wērd'fo͝ol; -fl), adj. Fateful.

weird'less, adj. Ill-fated; also, improvident; worthless. — weird'less·ness, n. Both Chiefly Scot.

weird'ly (wērd'lĭ), adj. a Scot. Fateful; also, happy; fortunate. b Chiefly Scot. Of or pertaining to the supernatural; ghostly. — weird'li·ness (-lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n.

weird'ly, adv. of WEIRD.

Weird Sisters. [Orig. = Fate Sisters.] a Scot. The Fates. b Three witches in Shakespeare's Macbeth. Cf. NORN.
The Weird Sisters, hand in hand, Posters of the sea and land. Shak.

weird'some (wērd'sŭm), adj. [See 1st -SOME.] Weird; ghostly; strange; eerie.

weird'wom'an (-wo͝om'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119). A woman supposed to have supernatural powers; a witch.
She sat in a graveyard among weirdwomen and witches. Dos Passos.

weir'ing (wēr'ĭng), n. The building of a weir, as in a stream for catching fish; also, material for building a weir.

Weir' of Her'mis·ton (wēr' ŏv hûr'mĭs·tŭn). A novel (published 1895) by Stevenson, left unfinished at his death.

weis'bach·ite (wīs'băk·īt), n. [After A. Weisbach (1833–1901), Ger. mineralogist.] Mineral. A variety of anglesite containing barium sulphate.

wei'sel·berg·ite (wī'zĕl·bûrg·īt), n. [From Weiselberg, Nahe district, Germany.] Petrog. A paleovolcanic augite-andesite.

Weis·man'ni·an (vīs·män'ĭ·ăn), adj. Biol. Pertaining to the theories or teachings of August Weismann. — n. A follower of Weismann.

Weis'mann·ism (vīs'män·ĭz'm), n. Biol. The theories and teachings as to heredity propounded by the German biologist August Weismann, esp. in regard to germ plasm as the basis of heredity and the impossibility of transmitting acquired characters; — often called Neo-Darwinism.

weiss beer (vīs). [G. weissbier white beer.] A light-colored highly effervescent beer made from unboiled wheat-malt worts with top-fermentation yeast. See BREWING, 1.

weiss'ite (vīs'ĭt), n. Mineral. A massive bluish-black copper telluride, named after Dr. Loui Weiss.

Weiss magneton (vīs; wĭs). See MAGNETON.

Weiss'nicht·wo' (vīs'nĭk'·vō'), n. [G.] Literally, I know not where; hence, an indefinite or unknown place. See TEUFELSDRÖCKH, HERR.
The physicist dreams of a land of Weissnichtwo, which shall be truly at rest in the ether. A. S. Eddington.

Weit'spek·an (wīt'spĕk·ăn), adj. Designating or pertaining to a linguistic family of North American Indians, consisting of a single tribe, the Yurok, dwelling on the lower Klamath River and the adjacent coast, in northwestern California; — by some philologists considered an isolated branch of the Algonquian family. See ALGONQUIAN.

we'jack (wē'jăk), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Ojibwa otchig, Cree otchek. Cf. WOODCHUCK.] The fisher, or pekan.

we'ka (wā'kä; wē'-kô), n. [Maori.] Any of several flightless New Zealand rails of the genus Gallirallus (syn. Ocydromus). The short wings each have a spur used in fighting. The birds are mischievous and thievish. Called also wood hen.

Weka (Ocydromus australis). (¼) we'kau (wē'kô), n. [Maori whekau.] The laughing owl.

we·keen' (wē·kēn'), n. The meadow pipit. Local, Brit.

welch plug (wĕlch; wĕlsh; 55). Mech. A plug for sealing an unused end of an oil passage drilled through a hollow crankshaft, crank arm, or crankpin.

wel'come (wĕl'kŭm), adj. [ME. welcome, welcume, wilcume, fr. AS. wilcuma a welcome guest, fr. wil-, as a prefix (akin to willa will, and wel well) + cuma a comer, fr. cuman to come; hence, prop., one who comes so as to please another's will; influenced by ME. wel well; cf. ON. velkomnn welcome, G. willkommen, D. welkom. See WILL, n.; COME.] 1. Received gladly into one's presence or companionship; admitted willingly to the house, entertainment, or company; as, a welcome visitor; — used elliptically, in salutation, for you are welcome.
When the glad soul is made Heaven's welcome guest. Cowper.
2. Giving pleasure; grateful; pleasing; as, welcome news.
3. Free or willingly permitted, as to do, to have, or enjoy, anything; as, you are welcome to the use of my library; you are welcome to enter; — sometimes implying scornful indifference; as, you are welcome to your opinion.
Syn. — Desirable, acceptable; agreeable.
Ant. — Unwelcome, unwanted; distasteful.

wel'come, n. 1. Act of welcoming or of saluting or treating as welcome; as, our welcome to our unexpected guests was cordial and sincere.
2. A cordial or kindly greeting to, or reception of, a guest or newcomer; as, we found a ready welcome.

wel'come, v. t.; WEL'COMED (-kŭmd); WEL'COM·ING (-kŭm·ĭng). [AS. wilcumian.] 1. To greet (a visitor, or the like) with cordiality or courtesy; to receive and entertain hospitably and gladly; to make welcome; as, to welcome a visitor. "I welcome you to land." Addison.
2. To accept with an expression of pleasure; as, he welcomes honest criticism; few welcome punishment.

wel'come, interj. An exclamation expressing a greeting or cordial salutation to a guest upon his arrival.

wel'com·er (wĕl'kŭm·ĕr), n. One who welcomes.

wel'com·ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WELCOME. Hence: adj. That welcomes, or serves as a welcome; as, a welcoming cheer, reception. — wel'com·ing·ly, adv.

weld (wĕld), n. Also woald (wōld), wold (wōld), and would (wōld). [ME. welde; akin to MLG. wolde, MD. woude, D. touw.] 1. The dyer's rocket.
2. A yellow dyestuff obtained from this plant and used to a limited extent for silk and wool. Its chief coloring principle is luteolin.
3. The color acacia.

weld (wĕld), v.; WELD'ED (wĕl'dĕd; -dĭd; 119); WELD'ING. Transitive: [From past part. of well, fr. ME. wellen. See WELL, v.] 1. To unite or consolidate metallic parts by (1) heating to a plastic or fluid state the surfaces of the parts to be joined and then allowing the metals to flow together with or without the addition of other molten metal, or (2) by hammering or compressing with or without previous softening by heat. Cf. GAS WELDING.
2. To unite closely or intimately; to join closely; to form into or as if into a single piece, unit, or the like; as, to weld the links in a chain of logic.
Two women faster welded in one love. Tennyson.
——, Intransitive: To be, or be capable of being, welded.

weld, n. The union of metals by welding; the junction of a welded piece; the state or condition of being welded; a welded joint; as, arc, butt, calk, cleft, flat, jam, jump lap, mash, plug, ripple, rivet, scarf, seam, etc., welds.

weld, adj. Weldable; specif., made without complete fusion; as, weld iron (wrought iron, Obs.); weld steel.

weld (wĕld). Var. of WIELD. Obs. exc. Dial.

weld'er (wĕl'dĕr), n. One who or that which welds; as: a A machine used in welding. b One whose work is welding.
☞ PHRASES are:

acetylene welder	gas welder	wheel welder
cable welder	pipe welder weld'ing, n. The act or process of making a weld.

welding blowpipe or torch. A blowpipe used in fusion welding. See FUSION WELDING.

welding powder. A powder used as a flux in welding.

welding rod. Rod or heavy wire which melts and thus supplies metal in fusion welding.

welding torch. = WELDING BLOWPIPE.

weld metal. That part of the metal of a welded joint that has been fused in its formation.

Wel'don proc'ess (wĕl'dŭn). [After Walter Weldon (1832–85), Eng. chemist.] A process for the recovery of manganese dioxide in making chlorine, by means of milk of lime and the oxygen of the air. The regenerated product, which is called Weldon mud, is a slime containing calcium and manganese manganites, and yields chlorine when treated with hydrochloric acid.

wel'fare' (wĕl'fâr'), n. [ME. wel fare, fr. wel well + fare to go. Cf. FAREWELL.] 1. State of faring, or doing, well; state or condition in regard to well-being; esp., condition of health, happiness, prosperity, or the like; negatively, exemption from evil or calamity; as, the welfare of troops in the field; to care for the moral welfare of a child.
How to study for the people's welfare. Shak.
In whose deep eyes
Men read the welfare of the times to come. Emerson.
2. Good cheer; material plenty; also, a good thing. Obs.
3. Welfare work; as, child welfare.

wel'fare', adj. Of or pertaining to welfare work; as, welfare features; welfare system.

wel'fare', v. i. To thrive; prosper. Obs.

welfare work. Organized community or corporate efforts for social betterment of a class or group; specif., the provisions made by a business corporation to improve the health and general well-being of its employees. In some instances, it includes the provision of rest rooms and lunch-rooms, library, gymnasium, hospital service, physical examinations, dental treatment, banking service, housing, educational classes, playgrounds and entertainment. — welfare worker.

wel'far'ing (wĕl'fâr'ĭng), adj. Prosperous. Rare.

We'lin breech mechanism (wā'lĭn). In certain guns, a modification of the interrupted-screw system having the threaded sectors arranged in steps at different distances from the center of rotation, so that the threaded area can be made to cover a larger portion of the surface of the block.

welk (wĕlk), v. i. & t. [ME. welken, fr. MD. welken to wither; akin to G. welk withered. See WELKIN; cf. WILT.]
1. To fade; dry up. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
2. To decrease; to wane or cause to wane. Obs.
When ruddy Phoebus 'gins to welk in west. Spenser.

welk. Obs. past tense of WALK.

welk. Var. of WHELK.

wel'kin (wĕl'kĭn), n. [ME. welkene, welkne, wolcne, weolcne, fr. AS. wolcen, pl. wolcnu, a cloud; akin to D. wolk, OFris. wolken, OS. wolkan, G. wolke, OHG. wolchan, and G. welk withered, OHG. welc moist, OSlav. vlaga moisture, Lith. vilgyti to moisten. Cf. WELK.] 1. The vault of heaven; the sky; also, loosely, the atmosphere; the air.
On the welkne shoon the sterres light. Chaucer.
☞ Used adjectively by Shakespeare, in the phrase "Your welkin eye," meaning, perhaps, blue as the sky.
2. Hence, heaven as the abode of God, or of the gods.
— to make the welkin ring, roar, etc. To fill the air with loud cries or sounds of any kind.

well (wĕl), n. [ME. welle, fr. AS. wella, wiella, wyllа; cf. also wielle, wiell; akin to D. wel a spring or fountain, AS. wyllan to boil, wielm, wylm, surging water, ON. vella to well over, to boil, G. welle a wave, OHG. wella, AS. weallan to well up, to boil, OFris. valla, OS. & OHG. wallan, G. wallen, L. volvere to roll, Skr. ūrmi a wave. See VOLUBLE; cf. WELL, v.] 1. An issue of water from the earth; a spring with its accompanying pool; a fountain.
Begin, then, sisters of the sacred well. Milton.
2. Specif., a mineral spring or a place where such a spring is located; — sometimes used in place names; as, Tunbridge Wells.
3. A pit or hole sunk into the earth to such a depth as to reach a supply of water, generally of a cylindrical form, and often walled with stone, bricks, tubbing, etc., to prevent the earth from caving in.
4. A shaft or hole sunk to obtain oil, brine, gas, etc.; loosely, any shaft or pit dug or bored in the earth.
5. A source of supply; fountain; wellspring; also, a flow as from a fountain. "This well of mercy." Chaucer. "A well of serious thought." Keble.
Dan Chaucer, well of English undefiled. Spenser.
6. Any of various hollowed vessels; as, the well of a fountain pen; the well made in a pipe to collect moisture, nicotine, etc.
7. Any space so enclosed, partly enclosed, or otherwise constructed or shaped, as to suggest, or be likened to, a well for water, as a vessel or space for holding lubricating oil, etc., or a deep drawer in a bureau or desk.
8. Specif.: a In a vehicle, a boxlike space or receptacle for luggage. b In English law courts, a space before the judges' bench, usually for lawyers, esp. solicitors. c In a lecture hall, legislative chamber, or similar large assembly room, the place where the lecturer or speaker is located and around which the seats rise in tiers or on a slope; the pit.
9. A whirlpool; a dangerous eddy; — esp. applied to eddies near the northern coast of Scotland.
10. The dark center of a diamond cut too thick.
11. Archery. A small leather cup fixed to, or suspended from, the belt, to hold the tips of arrows thrust thereunder.
12. Arch. An open space extending vertically through floors, as for a staircase or an elevator; a wellhole.
13. Engin. A pit or hole in the ground reaching to hard-pan or bedrock; hence, a hollow cylinder of reinforced concrete, steel, timber, or masonry, built in such a hole as a support for a bridge or building.
14. Irrigation. = STILLING WELL.
15. Metal. The lower part of a furnace, into which the molten metal runs.
16. Mil. A shaft or excavation in the earth, in mining, from which run branches or galleries; a shaft.
17. Naut. a An enclosure in the middle of a vessel's hold, around the pumps, from the bottom to the lower deck, to preserve the pumps from damage and facilitate their inspection. b A compartment in the hold of a fishing vessel, tight at the sides, but having holes in the bottom to let in water to keep fish alive. c A vertical passage in the stern weir (wēr). Var. of WAR; WEAR, defend; WERE, doubt. Obs. exc. Scot.

---

weir. + VER; WEAR.
weir'an'gle. Var. of WARIANGLE. weird'ish, adj. See -ISH. weird'like', adj. See -LIKE.
weird'-look'ing, adj. See -LOOKING. weird'ness, n. See -NESS. weird'ward, adj. See -WARD. weir'ly, adv. Warily. Obs. Scot.

weise (wīz). Scot. var. of WISE, v. we'ism (wē'ĭz'm), n. = WEGOTISM. weize (wīz). Scot. var. of WISE, v. weke, adj. & n. [ON. vǫkva a moist spot, vökr wet. See 1st WAKE.] Wet. Obs. weke. + WEAK, WEEK, WICK. wek'ed. + WICKED. we'ki (wē'kĭ), n. [Maori.] See FERN, Table.

wel. Var. of WELL, adv. & adj. Obs. exc. Dial.
wel'a·day'. Var. of WELLADAY.
We'land. Var. of WAYLAND. wel'a·way', Var. of WELLAWAY. wela-wylle, adj. [Cf. WELL, adv.; LO; and ON. víla a going astray, villr wild, bewildered.] Very lonesome; desert. Obs. wela-wynne, adj. [Cf. WELL, adv.; LO; and AS. wynn(a) delight, pleasure.] Very joyous. Obs. — wela-wynnely, adv. Obs.
welch (wĕlch; wĕlsh; 55), welch'er. Vars. of WELSH, WELSHER.
Welch, Welch'man, etc. Vars. of WELSH, WELSHMAN, etc. wel'come·less, adj. See -LESS. wel'come·ly, adv. of WELCOME. wel'come·ness, n. See -NESS. wel'cum, wel'cumd. Welcome, etc. Ref Sp.

weld. Welled. Ref Sp.
weld. + WEALD. weld'a·ble (wĕl'dȧ·b'l), adj. See -ABLE. — weld'a·bil'i·ty (-bĭl'ĭ·tĭ), n.
welde. + WIELD.
weld'less, adj. See -LESS.
wele, v. t. [Cf. ON. velja. See WALE choice.] To choose; pick out. Obs. wele. + VEAL, WEAL, WEEL, WELL,

Welf (wĕlf), Welf'ic. Vars. of GUELPH, GUELPHIC. welgest, superl. of WELL, adj. well, adj. [AS. welig.] Wealthy; opulent. Obs. welked (wĕlk't). Var. of WHELKED. welkin eye. See WELKIN, 1, Note. wel'kin-high' (66), adj. See [-HIGH wel'kin-like', adj. See -LIKE. welkne. + WELKIN.

into which an auxiliary screw propeller may be drawn up. d Rare. The cockpit. e That part of the main deck between the raised forecastle and the poop of a well-decked vessel. f A vertical passage in the bow of some old-style monitors in which the anchor is stowed. g In a decked canoe, the opening for cargo or crew. h The space between two tanks or sections of the double bottom, or between either and a bulkhead.

18. Sanitary Engin. A tile stack for drainage.

19. Soil Drainage. = RELIEF WELL.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wellcurb	wellmaker	wellside
well-drilling, adj.	wellmaking	wellyard well (wĕl), v.; WELLED (wĕld); WELL'ING. [ME. wellen to well up, boil, melt, fr. AS. wiellan, wyllan, wællan, wellan, caus.; akin to MD. & MHG. wellen, and to AS. weallan to boil. See WELL, n.; cf. WELD, v.] Intransitive: 1. To issue forth, as water from the earth; to flow; spring; as, tears welling from the eyes; the song welled from her lips; an unconquerable aversion welled within him; — often followed by out, up, etc.

2. To boil; seethe. Obs.

——, Transitive: 1. To boil. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

2. To pour forth from or as if from a well, a spring, or a fountain; — also with out, etc.

3. To forge; weld. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

well, adv.; compar. BET'TER (bĕt'ĕr); superl. BEST (bĕst). [ME. wel, fr. AS. wel; akin to OS., OFris., & D. wel, G. wohl, OHG. wola, wela, ON. & Dan. vel, Sw. väl, Goth. waila; orig. meaning, according to one's will or wish; cf. Skr. vara best, as n., wish. See WILL, v.; cf. GALLOP, WEALTH.] 1. In such manner as is desirable or pleasing; as one could wish; satisfactorily; favorably; fortunately; as, the venture resulted well; to dine well. "Fair sir, you are well o'erta'en." Shak. "It boded well to you." Dryden.

All the world speaks well of you. Pope.

2. In a good or proper manner; justly; rightly; worthily; not ill; hence, excellently; with aptitude or skill; expertly; as, to cook, sing, talk, etc., well. "Well done, good and faithful servant." Matt. xxv. 23.

3. To a good, proper, or suitable, degree; suitably; abundantly; fully; adequately; as, to eat well; to be well satisfied or pleased; also, attentively; as, watch well what I do.

Lot . . . beheld all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered everywhere. Gen. xiii. 10.

We are well able to overcome it. Num. xiii. 30.

4. Hence, in accordance with the occasion, the circumstances, one's condition, or the like; with reason, propriety, or the like; properly; as, I cannot well refuse; this decision may well be questioned.

He married well, as the saying goes. Dorothy Canfield Fisher.

5. In a prosperous condition, manner, etc.; as, he lives well.

6. To the full degree or extent; fully; quite; as, he was well out of sight; he arrived before dinner had well begun; — also used formerly of numbers, quantities, etc.

Well nine and twenty in a company. Chaucer.

Jesus is not dead; he is very well alive. Emerson.

7. Intimately; closely; as, I knew him well.

8. To a considerable extent; considerably; not a little; far; as, he reached well forward; he rode well in advance.

Old and well stricken in age. Gen. xviii. 11.

9. Easily; without trouble or difficulty; as, his horse could well have cleared the hurdle.

10. In exact outlines; definitely; as, the tree stood out well against the horizon; I remembered well the incident he mentioned.

11. Very; much. Obs. "Wel few." Piers Plowman.

12. Naut. Sufficiently; enough; — used in giving commands concerning hoisting or lowering, bracing yards, and the like.

Ant. — Poorly, unsatisfactorily, badly, faultily, imperfectly, inadequately.

— as well. In addition; also; too. — as well as. a In as good, satisfactory, etc., a manner as; as, he did it as well as he could. b To the same extent or degree; as much as. c Not only . . . but also. d And not only; and in addition; as, oysters as well as other delicacies. — well then. A transitional phrase of little meaning used in continuing a discourse or argument or in drawing or implying some deduction from previous statements, arguments, etc.

☞ In the COMBINATIONS listed below, well is combined with: (1) an adjective, as in well-able; (2) a participle, as in well-abounding, well-acted; (3) a word or suffix consisting of a noun + -ed, as in well-ancestored; (4) another adverb, as in well-beseemingly. All such expressions are hyphened when used as attributive adjectives (a well-acted play, a well-ancestored man). When used predicatively they are, however, treated as separate words (the play was well acted), except for combinations of the third type (the man is well-ancestored), and a few others that have from long usage become hyphened (well-read) or, rarely, solid words (wellborn). Many combinations of well that have developed special meanings or that otherwise stand in need of definition are separately entered in the Vocabulary as well as many combinations that usually or always appear as hyphened or solid words.

well-able	well-agreeing	well-assimilated well-abolished	well-aimed	well-assisted well-abounding	well-alleged	well-associated well-absorbed	well-allied	well-assorted well-abused	well-allotted	well-assumed well-accented	well-allowed	well-assured well-accentuated	well-alphabetized	well-attached well-accepted	well-altered	well-attained well-accommodated	well-amended	well-attempered well-accompanied	well-amused	well-attempted well-accomplished	well-analyzed	well-attended well-accorded	well-ancestored	well-attending well-according	well-ankled	well-attested well-accoutered	well-annealed	well-attired well-accredited	well-announced	well-attributed well-accumulated	well-anointed	well-audited well-accustomed	well-answered	well-authenticated well-achieved	well-anticipated	well-authorized well-acknowledged	well-apparelled	well-averaged well-acquainted	well-appearing	well-avoided well-acquired	well-applauded	well-awakened well-acted	well-applied	well-awarded well-adapted	well-appreciated	well-aware well-addressed	well-approached	well-backed well-adjusted	well-appropriated	well-baked well-administered	well-approved	well-balanced well-admitted	well-arbitrated	well-baled well-adopted	well-arched	well-bandaged well-adorned	well-argued	well-banked well-advanced	well-armed	well-barbered well-adventured	well-armored	well-bargained well-advertized	well-aroused	well-based well-advised	well-arranged	well-bathed well-advocated	well-arrayed	well-batted well-affected	well-ascertained	well-bearing well-affectioned	well-assembled	well-beaten well-affirmed	well-asserted	well-becoming well-afforded	well-assessed	well-bedded well-agreed	well-assigned	well-befitting well-begotten	well-contrived	well-experienced well-begun	well-controlled	well-explained
well-behated	well-conveyed	well-exploded well-behaved	well-convinced	well-exposed well-beknown	well-cooked	well-expressed well-believed	well-cooled	well-fabricated well-believing	well-copied	well-famed well-beneficed	well-corked	well-fancied well-bent	well-corrected	well-farmed well-beseemingly	well-corseted	well-fashioned well-bespoken	well-costumed	well-fastened well-bested	well-couched	well-fatted
well-bestowed	well-counseled	well-feasted well-blacked	well-counted	well-feathered well-blended	well-counterfeited	well-featured well-blent	well-coupled	well-fed well-blessed	well-courted	well-feed well-blooded	well-covered	well-feigned well-blown	well-cowed	well-felt well-bodied	well-crammed	well-fenced well-boding	well-crated	well-fended well-boiled	well-credited	well-fermented well-bonded	well-crested	well-fielded well-boned	well-criticized	well-filed well-booted	well-crocheted	well-filled well-bored	well-cropped	well-filmed well-borne	well-crossed	well-financed well-bottled	well-crushed	well-fined well-bottomed	well-cultivated	well-finished well-bought	well-cultured	well-fitted well-bound	well-curbed	well-fitting well-bowled	well-cured	well-fixed well-boxed	well-curled	well-flanked well-braced	well-curried	well-flattered well-braided	well-curved	well-flavored well-branched	well-cushioned	well-fledged well-branded	well-cut	well-fleeced well-brawned	well-cutting	well-fleshed well-breasted	well-dampened	well-floated well-breathed	well-danced	well-floored well-brewed	well-darned	well-floured well-bricked	well-dealing	well-flowered well-bridged	well-dealt	well-flowering well-broken	well-debated	well-folded well-brooked	well-decided	well-followed well-browed	well-decked	well-fooled well-browned	well-decorated	well-forbeseen well-brushed	well-decreed	well-forewarned well-built	well-deeded	well-forewarning well-buried	well-deemed	well-forged well-burnished	well-defended	well-forgotten
well-burnt	well-defined	well-formed well-bushed	well-delayed	well-formulated well-busied	well-deliberated	well-fortified well-buttoned	well-delivered	well-fought well-caked	well-demeaned	well-framed well-calculated	well-demonstrated	well-fraught well-calculating	well-denied	well-freckled well-calked	well-derived	well-freighted well-called	well-descended	well-frequented well-calved	well-described	well-fried well-canned	well-deserved	well-frightened well-canvassed	well-deservedly	well-fruited well-carpeted	well-deservingness	well-fueled well-carved	well-designated	well-functioning well-cased	well-designed	well-furred well-cast	well-designing	well-gained well-caught	well-desired	well-gardened well-cautioned	well-destroyed	well-garmented well-celebrated	well-developed	well-garnished well-cemented	well-devised	well-gathered well-censured	well-diagnosed	well-geared well-centered	well-digested	well-generaled well-certified	well-dilated	well-gifted well-chained	well-disbursed	well-girt
well-changed	well-disciplined	well-glossed well-chaperoned	well-discounted	well-gloved well-characterized	well-discussed	well-glued well-charged	well-disguised	well-going well-charted	well-displayed	well-gotten well-chauffeured	well-disposed	well-governed well-checked	well-dispositioned	well-gowned well-cheered	well-disputed	well-graced well-cherished	well-dissected	well-graded well-chested	well-dissembled	well-grained well-chilled	well-distanced	well-grassed well-choosing	well-distinguished	well-gratified well-chosen	well-distributed	well-graveled well-churned	well-divided	well-graven well-circularized	well-divined	well-greased well-circulated	well-documented	well-greaved well-circumstanced	well-done	well-greeted well-civilized	well-dosed	well-grounded well-clad	well-drafted	well-grouped well-classed	well-drained	well-guaranteed
well-classified	well-drawn	well-guarded well-cleansed	well-dressed	well-guessed well-cleared	well-dried	well-guided well-climaxed	well-drilled	well-guiding well-closed	well-driven	well-guyed well-closing	well-drugged	well-haired well-clothed	well-dunged	well-hallowed well-coached	well-dusted	well-hammered well-coined	well-dying	well-handicapped well-collected	well-eared	well-hardened well-colored	well-earned	well-harnessed well-combined	well-earthed	well-hatched well-commanded	well-eased	well-havened well-commenced	well-economized	well-hazarded well-commended	well-edited	well-headed well-compacted	well-educated	well-heard well-compared	well-effected	well-hearted well-compassed	well-elaborated	well-heated well-compiled	well-elevated	well-hedged well-completed	well-eliminated	well-helped well-complexioned	well-embodied	well-hemmed well-composed	well-emphasized	well-hewn well-comprehended	well-employed	well-hidden well-concealed	well-enacted	well-hinged well-conceived	well-enchanting	well-hit well-concentrated	well-encountered	well-hoarded well-concerted	well-encouraged	well-holed well-concluded	well-ended	well-hoofed well-concocted	well-endorsed	well-hooped
well-concorded	well-endowed	well-horned well-condensed	well-enforced	well-horsed
well-conferred	well-engineered	well-housed well-confessed	well-engraved	well-hued well-confided	well-entered	well-humbled well-confirmed	well-entertained	well-humbugged well-connected	well-entitled	well-humored well-conned	well-enumerated	well-husbanded well-consenting	well-enveloped	well-impressed well-considered	well-equipped	well-ignored well-consoled	well-erected	well-illustrated
well-consorted	well-escorted	well-imagined well-constituted	well-essayed	well-imitated well-constricted	well-established	well-implied well-constructed	well-esteemed	well-imposed well-construed	well-estimated	well-impressed well-content	well-evidenced	well-improved well-contented	well-examined	well-inaugurated well-contested	well-executed	well-inclined well-continued	well-exemplified	well-included well-contracted	well-exhibited	well-incurred well-contrasted	well-expended	well-indexed well-indicated	well-paired	well-sailing well-inferred	well-paneled	well-salted well-informed	well-paragraphed	well-sanctioned well-inhabited	well-parceled	well-sanded well-initiated	well-parked	well-satisfied well-inscribed	well-past	well-saved well-inspected	well-patched	well-savoring well-installed	well-patroniz	well-saying well-instanced	well-paved	well-scared well-instituted	well-paying	well-scattered well-instructed	well-penned	well-scented well-insured	well-pensioned	well-scheduled well-intended	well-peopled	well-schemed well-intentioned	well-perceived	well-schooled well-interested	well-perfected	well-scolded well-interpreted	well-performed	well-scored well-interviewed	well-persuaded	well-screened well-introduced	well-philosophized	well-scribed well-invented	well-photographed	well-sealed well-invested	well-picked	well-searched well-investigated	well-pictured	well-seasoned well-ironed	well-piloted	well-seated well-irrigated	well-pitched	well-secured well-itemized	well-placed	well-seeded well-joined	well-planned	well-seeing well-jointed	well-planted	well-seeming well-judged	well-played	well-selected well-judging	well-plead	well-selling well-judgingly	well-pleased	well-sensed well-justified	well-pleasedly	well-separated well-kenned	well-pleasedness	well-served well-kept	well-pleasing	well-settled well-kept	well-pleasingness	well-sewn well-kindled	well-plenished	well-shaded well-knitted	well-plotted	well-shading well-knotted	well-plowed	well-shafted well-knowing	well-plucked	well-shaped well-knowledged	well-plumaged	well-shapen well-labeled	well-plumed	well-sharpened well-labored	well-pointed	well-shaven well-laboring	well-policed	well-sheltered well-laced	well-policied	well-shod well-laden	well-polished	well-shot well-laid	well-pondered	well-showered well-languaged	well-posed	well-shown well-launched	well-positioned	well-sifted well-laundered	well-possessed	well-sighted well-leaded	well-posted	well-sinewed well-learned	well-postponed	well-situated well-leased	well-practiced	well-sized well-leaved	well-predicted	well-sketched well-led	well-prepared	well-skilled well-lent	well-preserved	well-skinned well-lettered	well-pressed	well-smelling well-leveled	well-pretended	well-smoked well-levied	well-priced	well-soaked well-lighted	well-primed	well-sold well-liked	well-principled	well-soled well-limbed	well-printed	well-solved
well-limited	well-prized	well-sorted well-limned	well-professed	well-sounding well-lined	well-prolonged	well-spaced well-linked	well-pronounced	well-speaking well-lit	well-prophesied	well-sped well-liveried	well-proportioned	well-spent well-living	well-prosecuted	well-spiced well-loaded	well-protected	well-splitting well-located	well-proved	well-sprayed well-locked	well-proven	well-spread well-lodged	well-provendered	well-spun well-lofted	well-provided	well-spurred well-looking	well-published	well-squared well-lost	well-punished	well-stabilized well-loved	well-pursed	well-stacked well-lunged	well-pushed	well-staged well-made	well-put	well-stained well-maintained	well-puzzled	well-stamped well-managed	well-qualified	well-starred well-manned	well-quartered	well-stated well-manufactured	well-quizzed	well-stationed well-manured	well-raised	well-steered well-mapped	well-ranged	well-stitched well-marked	well-rated	well-stocked well-marketed	well-readed	well-stopped well-married	well-reared	well-stored well-marshalled	well-reasoned	well-straightened well-masked	well-received	well-strained well-mastered	well-recited	well-strapped well-matched	well-reckoned	well-stressed well-mated	well-recognized	well-stretched well-matured	well-recommended	well-strewn well-meant	well-recorded	well-stroked well-measured	well-refereed	well-strung well-membered	well-refined	well-studied well-mended	well-reflected	well-stuffed well-merited	well-reformed	well-styled well-metalled	well-refreshed	well-subscribed well-methodized	well-refreshing	well-subsiding well-mettled	well-regarded	well-sufficing well-milked	well-regulated	well-sugared well-mingled	well-rehearsed	well-suggested well-minted	well-relished	well-suited well-mirthed	well-relishing	well-summarized well-modeled	well-remarked	well-sunburned well-modified	well-remembered	well-sung well-modoled	well-rendered	well-superintended well-moneyed	well-rented	well-supervised well-moralized	well-repaid	well-supplemented well-motivated	well-repaired	well-supplied well-mounted	well-replaced	well-supported well-moulded	well-replenished	well-suppressed well-mouthed	well-reported	well-sustained well-named	well-represented	well-swelled well-narrated	well-reprinted	well-swollen well-natured	well-reputed	well-systematized well-naturedness	well-requited	well-tailored well-nicked	well-resolved	well-taken well-negotiated	well-resounding	well-tamed well-neighbored	well-respected	well-tanned well-nicknamed	well-restored	well-tasted well-nosed	well-revenged	well-taught well-noted	well-reviewed	well-taxed well-nourished	well-revised	well-tenanted well-nursed	well-rewarded	well-tended well-nurtured	well-rhymed	well-terraced well-oared	well-ribbed	well-tested well-obeyed	well-ridden	well-thought well-observed	well-rigged	well-thrashed well-occupied	well-ringed	well-thriven well-officered	well-ripened	well-thrown well-oiled	well-risen	well-thumbed well-omened	well-risked	well-tied well-omitted	well-roasted	well-tilled well-operated	well-rolled	well-tinted well-opinioned	well-roofed	well-toasted well-ordered	well-rooted	well-told well-organized	well-roped	well-toned well-oriented	well-rotted	well-tongued well-ornamented	well-rounded	well-toothed well-ossified	well-routed	well-tossed well-outlined	well-rowed	well-traced well-overseen	well-rubbed	well-traded well-packed	well-ruled	well-trained well-paid	well-ruling	well-translated well-painted	well-run	well-trapped well-running	well-traveled well-sacrificed	well-treated well-tricked

well-tried well-ventilated well-wigged well-trimmed well-ventured well-winded well-trod well-verified well-windowed well-troddden well-visualized well-winged well-trunked well-voiced well-winnowed well-trussed well-vouched well-wired well-trusted well-walled well-witnessed well-tuned well-warmed well-witted well-tutored well-warned well-won well-twisted well-warranted well-wooded well-typed well-washed well-wooing well-umpired well-watched well-wooled well-understood well-watered well-worded well-uniformed well-weaponed well-worked well-united well-wearing well-worn well-urged well-weaved well-woven well-utilized well-weaving well-wreathed well-valeted well-wedded well-written well-varied well-weighed well-wrought well-varnished well-weighing well-yoked well-veiled well-whipped well (wĕl), adj. 1. In accordance with desire or advantage; good or desirable in any way; fortunate; advantageous; satisfactory; suitable; proper; — now only predicative; as, it is well for him that he came; all is well; the sport is well enough for boys; it is not well to anger him.

It was well with us in Egypt. Num. xi. 18.

2. Being in favor; favored. Obs.

3. Being in health; sound in body and mind; not ailing, diseased, or sick; healthy; as, a well man; he looks well.

Is your father well? Gen. xliii. 27.

4. Being in satisfactory condition or circumstances; well off; as, he will not change while he is as well where he is.

5. Acceptable, as for some position, duty, service; adequate; as, he is well, but there are better men.

6. Marine Insurance. Safe; as, a ship warranted well at a certain day and place.

— very well. A phrase signifying agreement, approval, understanding of instructions, etc. — well and good. A phrase signifying acceptance of a situation, decision, etc.; as, if that's the case, well and good — we can proceed accordingly.

well (wĕl), interj. An exclamation, orig. an ellipsis for it is well, expressing: a Satisfaction with what has been said or done; — used also sometimes as a mere expletive. b Assent or resignation; very well; also, when pronounced more emphatically, surprise and expostulation; — often reduplicated; as, well, well, take heed. c Resumption of a thread of discourse. — n. An utterance of this exclamation.

well, n. Weal; well-being. Obs.

well, v. t. [From 1st WELL.] To hold back or hide (a part of the plunder) from (one's companions). Thieves' Cant.

well, n. A thickened or raised edge or border, as of a fabric; a welt. Dial. Eng.

Hilary took a step into the room and stumbled on the well of the mat. Masefield.

we'll (wēl). Contraction of we will; — often used for we shall.

well'-a-fine', adv. & interj. Well; — used intensively. Obs. exc. Dial.

well'-aged', adj. Elderly. Obs.

well apaid. Well satisfied. Archaic.

well'-ap·point'ed (66), adj. 1. Having good and complete equipment.

2. Auspicious. Obs.

— well'-ap·point'ed·ly, adv. — well'-ap·point'ed·ness, n.

wel'lat (wĕl'ăt), n. [Tasmanian welleetya.] The king parakeet.

well'a·way' (wĕl'ȧ·wā'; 66), interj. [ME. weilawey (cf. walawa, fr. AS.), fr. wei wo! (fr. ON. vei, akin to AS. wā) + la lo! (AS, lā) + wei wo! Cf. AS. wā lā wā. See WOE.] An exclamation expressing lament.

well'a·way', n. Obs. a Lamentation. b Woe.

well away. By far; very much; also, in the phrase can well away with, can bear or endure. Obs.

well'-be'ing (66), n. State or condition of being well; welfare, either moral or physical; as, virtue is essential to the well-being of men.

Syn. — Happiness, comfort.

Ant. — Distress, misery, wretchedness.

well'-be·lov'ed (66), adj. a Sincerely and deeply loved; as, my well-beloved wife. b Sincerely respected; — used in certain ceremonial forms of address. — n. A well-beloved person.

Well'-Be·lov'ed, the. 1. See BIENAIMÉ, LE.

2. A novel (pub. 1892, revised 1897) by Thomas Hardy.

well'-be·seen', adj. Making a good appearance. Obs.

well boat. A boat having a well in which fish, lobsters, etc., can be kept alive.

well borer. One who or that which bores wells; as: a One employed in boring wells, as for water or oil. b A machine used in boring a well. — well'-bor'ing, adj.

well'born' (66), adj. [Cf. AS. welboren.] 1. Born of a family of good, or, formerly, of noble or high, standing; hence, having the characteristics of an offspring of such birth; esp., of persons, gentle and courteous in manner; noble.

2. Born of parents genetically fitted for the production of sound offspring.

Well'-Born', the. U. S. Hist. The Federalists; — a nickname used by their opponents.

well'-bred' (66), adj. 1. Having or indicating good breeding; hence, refined in manners; polite; cultivated.

I am as well-bred as the earl's granddaughter. Thackeray.

2. Of good breed, as an animal; also, formerly, having a good pedigree; wellborn, as a person.

Syn. — Refined, cultured; thoroughbred.

Ant. — Vulgar, boorish, gross. See COMMON, COARSE.

— well'-bred'ness, n.

well casing. The tubular boring or drilling apparatus used in sinking a well, esp. an oil well; also, the tubular lining of such a well.

well'-con·ceit'ed, adj. Obs. a Cleverly conceived. b Favorably disposed.

well'-con·duct'ed (66), adj. 1. Well led or managed.

2. Of good conduct or behavior.

well cress. The common water cress.

well deck. Naut. A space on the main deck of a vessel enclosed by the bulwarks and by partial decks forward and aft. — well'-deck', adj. See DECK, n., 2. — well'-decked', adj.

well decker. A well-deck vessel.

well'-de·serv'er, n. One deserving to be treated well Obs. — well'-de·serv'ing, n.

well'-dish', n. A platter with a depression at one or both ends to hold the gravy from meat.

well'-do'er (wĕl'dōō'ĕr), n. One who does well; specif.: a One who lives correctly or performs good deeds. b Dial. Eng. One who prospers or is well-to-do. — well'-do'ing (66), n. & adj.

well drain. a A well or pit for draining wet land. b A drain discharging into a well.

well'-drain', v. t. To drain (land) by well drains from which the water is pumped out.

well drilling. The act, operation, or process, of drilling a well, as for water or oil. — well driller.

well enough. Well or good in a moderate degree; so as to give satisfaction, or so as to require no alteration.

— to let, leave, etc., well enough alone To let an existing fairly satisfactory condition continue without attempting to improve it.

wel'ler (wĕl'ĕr), n. Obs. a A welder of metal. b A salt boiler.

Wel'ler, Sam'u·el (wĕl'ĕr). Mr. Pickwick's man in Dickens's Pickwick Papers, remarkable for his shrewdness, humor, easy impudence, coolness in an emergency, and for his fidelity to his master's interests. His father, Tony Weller, is a fat, broad-brimmed, greatcoated, mottled-faced, English stage coachman.

well eye. A pool of spring water in a bog; a source. Chiefly Scot.

well'-eyed', adj. Having eyes that see well. Obs.

well'-faced', adj. Having a clear or well-defined face; also, Obs., comely of face.

well'-far'ing, adj. Of good appearance or health. Obs.

well'-fa'vored, or -fa'voured (66), adj. Handsome; of fine favor, or appearance; pleasing to the eye.

Rachel was beautiful and well-favored. Gen. xxix. 17.

— well'-fa'vored·ly, -fa'voured·ly, adv. — well'-fa'vored·ness, -fa'voured·ness, n.

well fern. The Venus's-hair.

well'-fixed' (66), adj. Well-to-do; prosperous. Colloq.

well'-found' (66), adj. a Obs. Found well or good; tried and approved; also, commendable. b Well or thoroughly found, or provided; as, a well-found ship.

well'-found'ed (66), adj. a Constructed on a solid or firm foundation. b Based on excellent reasoning, information, judgment, or the like; as, a well-founded accusation.

— well'-found'ed·ly, adv. — well'-found'ed·ness, n.

well'-fur'nished (66), adj. Adequately or fully furnished, fitted out, supplied, or the like. — well'-fur'nished·ness, n.

well'-giv'en (66), adj. Disposed to well-doing. Obs.

well grass. Water cress. Scot.

well'-groomed' (-grōōmd'; 66), adj. Literally, carefully tended, curried, etc., as a horse; hence, of a person, well-dressed and scrupulously neat. — well'-groomed'ness, n.

well'-grown' (66), adj. Having attained a satisfactory growth; esp., of a person, having almost reached one's maximum physical growth.

well'-hained' (66), adj. [See 1st HAIN.] Well or carefully preserved, as a person or thing. Scot. & N. of Eng.

well'-han'dled (66), adj. a Having been handled a great deal, as goods on a counter in a store. b Having been managed or administered efficiently; as, a well-handled fund.

well'head' (wĕl'hĕd'), n. 1. A source, spring, or fountain.

At the wellhead the purest streams arise. Spenser.

2. The top of a well, or a structure built over it.

well'-heeled' (66), adj. a Provided satisfactorily with a heel or heels. b Slang. Thoroughly furnished, as with money, arms, etc., to meet any emergency.

well'hole' (wĕl'hōl'), n. 1. The hole, pit, or shaft, of a well.

2. Arch. a The open space in a floor, to accommodate a staircase. b The open space about which a stair turns, or between it and the floor.

3. Mach. A cavity for movement of a counterbalance, etc.

well house. A house or room built around a well, as for dairy purposes.

well'-hung' (66), adj. a Hung skillfully; esp., of the tongue, fluent in speech. b Furnished with attractive hangings, draperies, or the like. c Of game, hung long enough to acquire the proper flavor.

well'ing (wĕl'ĭng), n. Act of that which wells, or flows; a bubbling, boiling, seething, or flowing, of a liquid, as from a spring or fountain.

wel'ling·ton (wĕl'ĭng·tŭn), n. 1. A Wellington boot.

2. A variation of napoleon, in which a player can overcall a nap bid with Wellington, which doubles his penalties if he fails. This may be outbid again by a blucher, which redoubles the penalties, making it 20 chips if he fails. In either case he wins only 10 if he succeeds.

3. [cap.] A bid in the game of Wellington (see sense 2, above).

Wellington boot. [After the Duke of Wellington.] a A loose-topped boot for men, the front coming above the knee. b A similar shorter boot worn under the trousers, properly called a half Wellington.

Wellington tokens. A series of bronze tokens bearing the bust of Wellington, circulating in Lower Canada 1813–16.

well'ish (wĕl'ĭsh), adv. Fairly well. Dial.

well'-knit' (66), adj. Firmly knit (in various senses); hence, firmly constructed, compacted, or framed; as, a well-knit athlete; a well-knit argument.

A small, well-knit country. O. Wister.

well'-known' (66), adj. Fully known; as: a Widely or generally known or acknowledged; as, a well-known fact.

A church well known with a well-known rite. M. Arnold.

b Closely or intimately known.

well'-left' (66), adj. Left well-to-do by the death of someone.

well'-lik'ing, adj. In good condition or of a good appearance; thriving. Archaic.

well log. = LOG, n., 7 b.

well'-looked', adj. Good-looking. Now Scot. & N. of Eng.

well'man (wĕl'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. One who looks after the well of a fishing vessel.

2. A worker at an oil well. Brit.

well'-man'nered (-măn'ĕrd; 66), adj. Polite; well-bred.

well'-mean'er, n. A well-meaning person.

well'-mean'ing (66), adj. Having excellent intentions; meaning well. — well'-mean'ing·ly, adv. — well'-mean'ing·ness, n.

well'near' (wĕl'nēr'), adv. Almost; nearly. Now Dial.

well'-nigh' (66), adv. Almost; nearly.

well off. Also well'-off', adj. In good condition; esp. thriving; prosperous.

well'-or'dered set or ag'gre·gate. = CANTORIAN SET.

well'-qual'i·tied (66), adj. Endowed with good qualities well'que·me (wĕl'kwā·mē), n. [AS. wel, adv., well + cwēme pleasing.] Pleasure. Obs.

well'-read' (wĕl'rĕd'; 66), adj. Of extensive reading; deeply versed through reading; — often followed by in.

well rig. Also well rigging. The apparatus used in boring a well.

well'ring' (wĕl'rĭng'), n. A wooden or earthen tube or ring used for lining a well. India and Ceylon.

well'-rode' (66), adj. Well-ridden; having ridden well; of a horse, having been ridden well; of a race, marked by skillful riding. Rare.

well room. 1. A room where a well or spring is situated, esp. one built over a mineral spring.

2. Naut. A depression in the bottom of a boat, into which water may run, to be then bailed out. Rare.

well'-saf'froned, adj. Thoroughly flavored or colored with saffron. Rare.

well'-seen' (66), adj. a Obs. Evident; plain. b Archaic. Accomplished; experienced.

well'-set' (66), adj. 1. Properly or firmly set; fixedly established.

2. Well put together; having symmetry of parts; also, firmly knit.

well'-set'-up', adj. Nicely formed framed, or fashioned. Colloq.

A handsome well-set-up blond young man. Dorothy Canfield Fisher.

well shrimp. Any of various crustaceans, usually blind and white, living in subterranean waters, often in wells.

Wells'i·an (wĕl'zĭ·ăn), adj. Of a quality characteristic of H. G. Wells or his writings.

well sinker. A well borer or well driller.—well'-sink'ing, adj. & n.

wells'ite (wĕlz'īt), n. [After H. L. Wells (1855–1924), Am. chemist.] Mineral. A silicate of aluminum, calcium, barium, and potassium, $(Ba,Ca,K_2)Al_2Si_3O_{10}\cdot 3H_2O$, of the phillipsite group, occurring in glassy, colorless, or white, monoclinic crystals. H., 4–4.5. Sp. gr., 2.28–2.37.

well smack. Naut. See 6th SMACK.

well'-spo'ken (66), adj. [well + speak, past part. spoken. See SPEAK.] 1. Speaking well; speaking with fitness; speaking kindly. "A knight well-spoken." Shak.

2. Spoken with propriety; as, well-spoken words.

well'spring' (wĕl'spring'), n. [AS. wyllspring, welsprynge. See WELL, n.; SPRING, n.] 1. A fountainhead; a spring.

2. A source of continual supply.

Understanding is a wellspring of life unto him that hath it; but the instruction of fools is folly. Prov. xvi. 22.

well staircase, stairs, stairway, etc. Arch. A staircase or stairs having a wellhole.

well'stead (wĕl'stĕd), n. A location of or for a well.

well'strand' (wĕl'strănd'), n. A stream from a spring. Scot.

well sweep. = SWEEP, n., 10.

well'-tem'pered (66), adj. 1. Having a good or equable disposition; hence, good-natured.

2. Treated so as to develop the desired degree of hardness and elasticity; as, well-tempered steel, tools.

3. Mixed to the proper consistency; — said esp. of mortar, clay, or the like.

4. Music. Tuned in equal temperament. J. S. Bach's Well-Tempered Clavichord (Das wohltemperirte Klavier) is a collection of preludes and fugues, finished in 1744, and written in all the major and minor keys in order to exhibit the system of equal temperament, which was then new.

well'-thewed' (-thūd'; 66), adj. Having good thews; well-knit; also, Obs., having good mental or moral characteristics.

well'-thought'-of', adj. Being of good repute; reputable; as, a well-thought-of young man.

well'-thought'-out', adj. Logically considered; well-reasoned.

Another well-thought-out bit of wisdom. Samuel Adams.

well'-tim'bered (-tĭm'bĕrd; 66), adj. 1. Having a good quantity of growing timber, as a tract of land.

2. Well braced or strengthened by timbers, as a house or mine; hence, strongly made or put together.

well'-timed' (66), adj. 1. Timely; happening or coming at an opportune moment.

2. Trained or adjusted to keep time; as a well-timed crew; a well-timed chronometer.

well'-to-do' (66), adj. Also well to do. Well off; prosperous; as, well-to-do people; also, indicative or characteristic of prosperity. "The class well to do in the world." Newman.

well to do. People, collectively, who are well to do; a well-to-do class of persons; as, the well to do think one way, the poor another way.

well to live. Well off; well-to-do. Obs.

well'-to-live', adj. Also well'-to-pass'. = WELL-TO-DO. Scot.

well tomb. A tomb the entrance to which is a well-like shaft.

well trap. A trap, as in a sewer or drainpipe, holding water and checking the escape of foul air, odors, etc.

well'-turned' (66), adj. 1. Expertly rounded or turned; as, a well-turned arch, column.

2. Well-formed; shapely; — of persons, or parts of the body.

3. Concisely and appropriately expressed; as, a well-turned phrase, compliment.

well vessel. A well boat.

well'-ware'd (wĕl'wārd'; -wârd'), -waurd' (-wôrd'), adj. Scot. & N. of Eng. a Well-spent. b Well-earned. c Well-done.

well'-willed', adj. Well-disposed; generous; also, very willing. Chiefly Scot.

well'-will'er, n. 1. A well-wisher; one bearing good will.

2. = AMATEUR, 1; — with to. Obs.

well'-will'ing, adj. Favorably or kindly disposed. Now Rare.

well'-will'ing, n. Obs. a Good will or intention. b Well-willer; a well-wisher.

well'-wish', n. A good or kindly wish.

well'-wish'er, n. One who wishes another well.

well'-wish'ing, n. Act of one who wishes well to another or to others. — adj. That wishes well; kindly.

---

wel'a·day' (wĕl'ȧ·dā'), interj. & n. Corruption of WELLAWAY.

wel'a·neer', interj. = WELLADAY. Obs. [made. Obs.] well'-art'ed, adj. Artistically well'-a·year', interj. Welladay. Obs.

well'-base' rim. = DROP-CENTER RIM.

well'-be·gone', adj. Happy; also, prosperous. Obs. [Obs.] well'-be·strut'ted, adj. Plump.

well'-ere·at'ed, adj. Noble; valiant. Obs. Oxf. E. D.

well'fared', adj. Var. of WELLFAVORED. Scot. — well'fared'ly, adv. Scot.

well'-ground'ed. = WELLFOUNDED.

Wel'ling·to'ni·a (wĕl'ĭng·tō'nĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after the Duke of Wellington.] Syn. of SEQUOIA.

well'-less, adj. See -LESS.

well'-like', adj. See -LIKE.

well'most, adv. Well-nigh; almost. Obs.

well'ness, n. See -NESS.

well'soon', adv. Very soon. Obs.

well'-sound'ing, n. Euphony. Obs. [Obs.] well'-speak'ing, n. Eloquence.

well'-stream', n. A stream issuing from a spring. Obs.

well'-wait'ing, adj. Serving well as attendant. Obs.

well'well', n. Something satisfactory; something that pleases very well. Obs.

well'-will'y, adj. = WELLWILLED. Obs. exc. Dial.

well'-wished' (66), adj. Held in good will; given with good will. Obs.

well'-worked'-out', adj. Well-planned; logically developed.

well'-worn' (66), adj. 1. Showing the effects of having been much used or worn; as, well-worn shoes; hence, made stale or threadbare by use; trite; commonplace; as, a well-worn quotation.
2. Worn well or properly. Rare.

well worship. Anthropol. Religious ceremonies performed at a well or water hole, addressed to the deity associated with the particular well. See HOLY WELL.

well'y (wĕl'ĭ), adv. Well-nigh. Dial. Eng.

wels (wĕls), n. [G.] The sheatfish.

Wels'bach (wĕlz'băk; -bäk; G. vĕls'bäk), adj. Of or pertaining to Carl Auer von Welsbach, Austrian chemist.

Wels'bach, n. A trade-mark for gaslight appliances and accessories, applied esp. to a burner (Welsbach burner) in which the combustion of a mixture of air and gas or vapor is employed to heat to incandescence a mantle called a Welsbach mantle. See MANTLE, 4 a.

welsh (wĕlsh), v. t. & i.; WELSHED (wĕlsht); WELSH'ING. Slang. a To cheat by avoiding payment of bets; — said esp. of an absconding bookmaker at a race track. b To avoid dishonorably the fulfillment of any obligation.

Welsh (wĕlsh; 55), adj. [AS. wælisc, welisc, fr. wealh a stranger, foreigner, not of Saxon origin, a Welshman, a Celt, Gael; akin to OHG. walh, whence G. wälsch or welsch, Celtic, Welsh, Italian, French, foreign, strange, OHG. walhisc; from the name of the Celtic tribe. See WALNUT; cf. WALACHIAN, WALLOON.] Of or pertaining to Wales or its inhabitants or their language.

Welsh (wĕlsh), n. 1. The language of Wales or of the Welsh people. It possesses an extensive literature in prose and poetry, dating according to tradition from the 6th century, although authentic documents date mostly from the 12th and succeeding centuries. See INDO-EUROPEAN LANGUAGES.
2. (Used only as a pl.) The natives or inhabitants of Wales. The Welsh call themselves Cymry, their country Cymru, and their language Cymraeg. Cf. CELT.
3. A Welsh pony.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

Welsh-begotten	Welsh-fashion	Welsh-rooted
Welsh-born	Welsh-looking	Welsh-speaking
Welsh-English	Welsh-made	Welsh-wrought

— Welsh'er-y (wĕl'shĕr-ĭ), n. — Welsh'ism, n.

welsh (wĕlsh), adj. = WALLOWISH. Dial. Eng.

Welsh bait. Letting a horse stop to rest at the top of a hill.

Welsh bean. The common kidney bean.

Welsh Calvinistic Methodist Church. See PRESBYTERIAN, adj.; cf. Welsh Calvinistic Methodist, under METHODIST, n., 2.

Welsh Calvinistic Methodist Connection. See PRESBYTERIAN, adj.

Welsh cattle. Any of several breeds or strains of large hardy beef cattle allied to the Sussex and Devon. The best types are black.

Welsh Church. = CHURCH IN WALES.

Welsh drake. The gadwall. Local, U. S.

Welsh dresser. a A type of open oak dresser (sense b) common in Wales. b A similar piece of furniture made in the United States; — a trade name.

welsh'er (wĕl'shĕr), n. One who welshes; esp., one who at a race track makes bets or receives money to be bet, and absconds without paying his losses or returning the money entrusted to him; anyone who evades his share of the responsibility in a joint undertaking. Slang.

Welsh fiddle. The itch.

Welsh flannel. A fine kind of flannel made from the fleece of the sheep of the Welsh mountains, and largely manufactured by hand.

Welsh glaive or hook. A weapon of the halberd or pole-ax type, with a hook opposite the blade, used in former times by the Welsh.

Welsh groining. Underpitch groining.

Welsh Guards. See FOOT GUARDS.

Welsh harp. Music. A large triple harp, with two rows of strings tuned diatonically in unison, the third row supplying the chromatic sharps and flats; — originally used in Wales.

Welsh hook. 1. A bill with curved blade. Obs.
2. See WELSH GLAIVE.

Welsh'land (wĕlsh'lănd), n. Wales. Rare.

Welsh language. See 3d WELSH, 1 & 2.

Welsh main. A cockfight in which a number of cocks are paired, the winners again paired, and so on until there is but a single survivor.

Welsh'man (wĕlsh'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. A native or inhabitant of Wales; one of the Welsh.
2. [not cap.] a A squirrelfish. b Southern U. S. The largemouthed black bass.

Welsh'man's but'ton (wĕlsh'mănz). Angling. An artificial fly with wing coverings of red feather from a partridge tail, peacock-herl body, and black hackle, tied to imitate a beetle.

Welshman's hose. Figuratively, a thing wrested awry. Obs

Welshman's hug. = WELSH FIDDLE. Dial.

Welsh medlar. The azarole.

Welsh Methodist. = WELSH CALVINISTIC METHODIST. See Welsh Calvinistic Methodist, under METHODIST, n., 2.

Welsh mortgage. Law. A mortgage in which the mortgagee may keep the rents and profits without account, in satisfaction of interest, but cannot enforce payment of the principal, and the mortgagor can redeem at any time by payment of the principal. It is now obsolete. Cf. LIVING PLEDGE.

Welsh mountain sheep. One of a breed of pure white, horned sheep bred in Wales and noted for their mutton (Welsh mutton).

Welsh onion. A Siberian species of Allium (A. fistulosum) having hollow inflated stalks and leaves, but scarcely any bulb. It is said to have been introduced from Germany, and to have derived its name from the German word wälsch, foreign.

Welsh parsley. Hemp, or a hangman's halter of hemp. Obs. & Jocular.

Welsh pony. A pony of a usually bay, brown, or gray breed originating in Wales. It resembles a miniature coach horse and possesses endurance and speed.

Welsh poppy. A widely cultivated plant (Meconopsis cambrica), family Papaveraceae, of western Europe, with showy, pale-yellow, pedunculate flowers.

Welsh Presbyterian. See METHODIST, n., 2.

Welsh Presbyterian Church. See PRESBYTERIAN, adj.

Welsh process. A process in which copper ore is smelted to matte, which is then changed to metallic copper by alternate roasting and smelting, in reverberatory furnaces. It is mostly superseded by Bessemer converting.

Welsh rabbit. A dish, variously made, of melted or toasted cheese, often mixed with ale or beer, poured over toasted bread or crackers; — a jocose term, like "Cape Cod turkey" (codfish), that through failure to recognize the joke is commonly modified in cookbooks to Welsh rarebit.

Welsh runt. One of the Welsh cattle.

Welsh'ry (wĕlsh'rĭ), n. [See -RY.] A district or quarter, as of a town or city, populated by Welsh.

Welsh springer spaniel. See SPRINGER SPANIEL.

Welsh terrier. A wiry-coated terrier of a breed supposed to have originated nearly two hundred years ago in Wales, but not recognized as a definite breed until 1886. It is one of the gamest and most useful of the terriers, hunting otter, fox, and badger. It is similar, except in size, to the Airedale terrier. Its head is also proportionately shorter and wider than the Airedale's. It is about 15 inches high, and weighs about 20 pounds.

Welsh vault. An underpitch vault.

Welsh'y (wĕl'shĭ), adj. Resembling or suggesting Wales or its people, as in appearance, habits, etc. Rare.

wel'si-um (wĕl'sĭ-ŭm), n. [See 1st WELSBACH.] Chem. A supposed element belonging to the rare-earth metals, announced in 1920, but never confirmed.

welt (wĕlt), n. [ME. welte, walte, of obscure origin; cf. ME. wellen to overturn (see WELT to turn, WELTER).]
1. That which, being sewed or otherwise fastened to an edge or border, serves to guard, strengthen, or adorn, it; as: a A small cord covered with cloth, sewed on a seam or border to strengthen it; or an edge of cloth folded on itself, usually over a cord, and sewed down. b Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. A hem, border, or fringe. c In steam boilers and sheet-steel work, a strip riveted or otherwise fastened upon the edges of plates that form a butt joint. d In machine-made stockings, a strip, or flap, knitted on the stocking after forming. e Eng. The lap of a welted joint.
2. A ridge or raised stripe, narrow band, or the like. Now Rare.

The farmer's wife continued to raise welts of muscle along her arms beside the sink and in the garden. Thomas Beer.

3. A wale, or ridge raised on the flesh or skin by a blow; also, a heavy stroke or blow, esp. one that may raise a wale. Colloq. & Dial.

I'll give him an extra welt, Uncle, for your sake. W. J. Locke.

4. Carp. A strip of wood fastened over a flush seam or joint, or an angle, to strengthen it.
5. Glovemaking. The act of binding the wrist and opening of a glove with either a hem or a welt.
6. Her. A narrow border, as of an ordinary, but not extending around the ends.
7. Shoe Mfg. A narrow strip of leather used in making a welt shoe, in which the welt, shoe upper, and lining, are sewed to a lip on the surface of the insole. The outsole is afterward sewed to the welt, leaving the shoe perfectly smooth inside. Welts are used in making certain stitch-down shoes to reinforce the stitches uniting the outsole to the middle sole and upper.

welt, v. t.; WELT'ED; WELT'ING. 1. To furnish with a welt; to sew, bind, or fasten, a welt on; as, to welt a boot, seam; to welt a garment.
2. To beat or lash, esp. so as to raise a welt. Colloq.
3. Plumbing. To join (two pipes) by lapping the metal at the ends over each other and pressing the lapped portion together. Eng.

welt, v. i. & t. [ON. velta. See WELTER.] To turn; roll; overturn; upset. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

welt, n. Quilt. Obs.

welt (wĕlt). Dial. Eng. var. of WILT, v.

‖Welt'an'schau'ung (vĕlt'än'shou'ŏŏng), n.; pl. WELTANSCHAUUNGEN (-ĕn). [G.] Literally, world view; a conception of the course of events in, and of the purpose of, the world as a whole, forming a philosophical view or apprehension of the universe; the idea embodied in a cosmology.

‖Welt'an'sicht (vĕlt'än'zĭkt), n. [G.] A world view; an aspect in which the universe is regarded; a special view or apprehension of reality as a whole.

welt'ed (wĕl'tĕd; -tĭd; 119), adj. a Having a narrow ridge or raised stripe, also, having a welt or welts on the skin. b Having a welt or edging, as a garment; sewed with a welt, as a shoe. c Quilted or wadded, esp. in narrow strips.

wel'ter (wĕl'tĕr), v.; WEL'TERED (-tĕrd); WEL'TER-ING. [ME. weltren, fr. MD. & MLG. welteren, freq.; akin to MHG. welzern, and to AS. wiltan, gewæltan, to roll, G. walzen to roll, to waltz, sich wälzen to welter. OHG. walzan to roll, ON. velta, Dan. vælte, Sw. vältra välta, Goth. waltjan, and to E. WALLOW. Cf. WALTZ.] Intransitive: 1. To tumble about or wallow, as a hog in mire; to roll while prostrate, esp. in a liquid; hence, figuratively, to wallow in something regarded as sinful or degraded.

When we welter in pleasures and idleness. Latimer.

2. To rise and fall tumultuously, or roll, toss, or tumble, as if by the motion of waves; hence, figuratively, to be agitated or disturbed; to be in a turmoil; as, the people's passions weltered in revolution; a vessel weltering in the trough of the sea. "Weltering waves." Milton. "Weltering sea." Trench.
3. To move unsteadily; to reel; stagger. Dial. Eng.

—, Transitive: 1. To roll or roll over; also, to overturn; to upset. Obs. exc. Dial.
2. To effect or accomplish with or by weltering. Rare. "Weltering your way." Carlyle.

Syn. — See GROVEL.

wel'ter, n. 1. Act or motion of weltering; a rising and falling tumultuously, or a rolling or tumbling, as of waves; hence, confusion; turmoil; as, the welter of the tempest.

The foul welter of our . . . controversies. Carlyle.

2. A rolling, tossing, surging mass or jumble.

The squalid and pitiful human welter. Arnold Bennett.

wel'ter, v. t. [See WILT.] To wither; wilt. Rare.

wel'er (wĕl'tĕr), n. One who welts leather goods, hosiery, etc.

wel'ter (wĕl'tĕr), adj. Horse Racing. Of, pertaining to, or designating, a race in which welterweights are carried. — n. A welterweight. Both Colloq.

wel'ter-weight' (-wāt'), n. [From earlier welter a heavyweight, prob. fr. welt to thrash, beat.] 1. Horse Racing. A weight of 28 pounds (one of 40 pounds is called a heavy welterweight) sometimes imposed in addition to weight for age, chiefly in steeplechases and hurdle races.
2. Boxing & Wrestling. A boxer or wrestler whose weight does not exceed 147 pounds. Cf. LIGHTWEIGHT, n. a.

‖Welt'geist' (vĕlt'gīst'), n. [G.] World spirit; anima mundi.

welt'ing, n. 1. Act of sewing on or attaching a welt; a sewed, ribbed, quilted, or otherwise thickened, edging; a welt; also, material for welts.
2. A beating, such as might raise welts. Colloq.

‖Welt'kind' (vĕlt'kĭnt'), n. [G.] A child of the world; i. e., a worldly-minded, sophisticated person.

‖Welt'li'te-ra-tur' (vĕlt'lĭt'ē-rä-tōōr'), n. [G.] Literally, world literature; literature universally known.

‖Welt'macht' (vĕlt'mäkt'), n. [G.] World power; world rule; also, one of the great powers.

‖Welt'po-li-tik' (vĕlt'pō-lĭ-tēk'; -pō-lē'tĭk), n. [G.] Literally, world politics or policy; international politics; participation in the discussion and decision of international problems; specif., the prewar imperialism manifested in the foreign policy of Germany.

‖Welt'schmerz' (vĕlt'shmĕrts'), n. [G., fr. welt world + schmerz pain. See WORLD; SMART, v.] Sorrow or sadness over the present or future evils or woes of the world in general; sentimental pessimism.

welt seam. A seam made by stitching a narrow strip of material between two parts to be seamed and turning the seam.

‖Welt'spra'che (vĕlt'shprä'kĕ), n. [G.] Literally, world speech; a language widely familiar to cultivated persons other than those using it as their native tongue.

Wel-witsch'i-a (wĕl-wĭch'ĭ-ä), n. [NL., after Friedrich Welwitsch (1806–72), Austrian botanist.] Bot. A genus of remarkable plants (family Gnetaceae) consisting of a single species (W. mirabilis) of the deserts of southwestern Africa. The plant has a trunk or caudex less than a foot high, but often 6 feet in circumference, bearing two persistent leaves which grow at the base and die at the apex. It bears conelike inflorescences. Syn. Tumboa.

wem (wĕm), n. [AS. wam, wamm, but influenced by the v. See WEM, v.] 1. Spot; stain; flaw; scar. Archaic & Dial.
2. Archery. A discolored or diseased spot in wood; — often confused with wen.

wem, v. t. [AS. wemman, fr. wamm a spot, stain.] To stain; harm; corrupt. Obs.

wem. Var. of WAME. Obs. exc. Dial.

wem'less, adj. Having no blemish; spotless. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

Wem'mick, John (wĕm'ĭk). In Dickens's Great Expectations, confidential law clerk of Mr. Jaggers. He supports an Aged Parent.

we'mod' (wā'mōd'), adj. [AS. wēamōd, fr. wēa woe, evil, malice + mōd mind.] Angry; peevish; sullen. Obs. — we'mod'ness, n. Obs.

wen (wĕn), n. [AS. wenn; akin to D. wen, MLG. wene, and perh. to E. WOUND.] 1. a Med. An indolent, encysted tumor of the skin; esp., a sebaceous cyst. b Veter. = CLYER a.
2. An abnormal bulbous growth on a tree. Now Rare.
3. Any excrescence or imperfection; a blemish. Obs.
4. Archery. In bows, an excrescence in the wood.

wen (wĕn), n. Also wyn, wynn (wŭn; wĭn). [AS.] One of the runes (Ƿ) adopted into the Anglo-Saxon, or Old English, alphabet. It had the value of Modern English w, and after the 13th century was entirely replaced by that letter. See W.

wen, wên (wûn; wĕn), n. [Chin. (Pek.) wên[3]. See WEN-LI.] See 4th CASH b.

wen. Var. of WON (coin).

Wen'ces-laus, Saint (wĕn'sĕs-lôs). A 10th-century Duke of Bohemia, whose moral reforms led to his assassination. See Wenzel Bible, under BIBLE, 2.

wench (wĕnch; 105), n. [ME. wenche, for wenchel child, fr. AS. wencel, wincel, child; akin to ON. vākr child, weak person, and E. WINK.] 1. A child of either sex. Obs.
2. A girl or maiden; young woman; damsel.

She (an actress) was both illiterate and vulgar, but the little wench had an instinctive knowledge of art and the artist. Ludwig Lewisohn.

3. A girl of the peasant class; also, a female servant; a serving maid; as, a kitchen wench.
4. A lewd woman; a strumpet. Archaic.

She shall be called his wench or his leman. Chaucer.

5. An Indian woman, or squaw; also, sometimes, a colored woman, esp. a colored maidservant. Local, U. S.

wench, v. i.; WENCHED (wĕncht; 105); WENCH'ING. 1. To consort with wenches; esp., to commit fornication.
2. To go courting. Dial. Eng.

Wên' Ch'ang' (wûn'chäng'). [Chin. (Pek.) Wên[2] Ch'ang[1].] The god of literature in China; — known also as Wên Ti (dē').

wench'er (wĕn'chĕr; 105), n. One who wenches.

wend (wĕnd), v.; WEND'ED, Obs. WENT; WEND'ING. [AS. wendan to turn, to go; akin to OS. wendian, OFris. wenda to turn, D. wenden, G. wenden, ON. venda, Sw. vända, Dan. vende, Goth. wandjan, and, as Teut. caus. from the pret., to E. WIND to turn. Cf. WENT.] Intransitive: 1. Obs. a To turn round. b To shift; change; alter. c To proceed on one's way; to depart. d To disappear; to vanish. e To go; pass; to move about.

And thurgh the strete men mighte ryde or wende. Chaucer.

2. To betake oneself or direct one's course; to travel.

Out through the fields and the woods and over the walls I have wended. Robert Frost.

—, Transitive: 1. To turn round or over; to shift. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. Cursor Mundi.
2. Obs. a To change; alter; convert. Dan Michel. b To translate. c To overthrow; strike down.
3. To direct; to proceed on; — used esp. in, to wend one's way. "Great voyages to wend." Surrey.
4. Naut. To turn in tacking.

Wend (wĕnd), n. [G. Wende.] One of a Slavic people of eastern Germany, chiefly peasants of Lusatia. They are remnants of a Slavic migration of the early Middle Ages which was driven back but left a few communities in Saxony and Silesia. Cf. SORB.

wend, n. Eng. Law. In early records, a large extent of ground; a perambulation; a circuit. Obs.

wend, v. i. = WEEN. Obs.

wend. Obs. past tense & past part. of WEEN.

wende (wĕnd). Obs. past tense of WEEN.

Wend'ish (wĕn'dĭsh), adj. Also Wend'ic (-dĭk). Of or pertaining to the Wends or their language. — n. The language of the Wends; Sorbian. See SORBIAN.

---

welm. † WALM.
welme. † WHELM. weloo, interj. An exclamation expressing grief. Obs. wel'schap', n. A form for well shape, beauty of figure. Obs.
Welsh'like', adj. See -LIKE.
Welsh'ness, n. See -NESS. welsht. Welshed. Ref. Sp.
Welsh'wom'an, n., fem. of WELSHMAN. wel'som, adj. A form for WEALSOME, prosperous. Obs. welte. Obs. past tense of WIELD. wel'terd. Weltered. Ref. Sp. welth. † WEALTH. [Ref. Sp.] welth, welth'y. Wealth, wealthy welwel. † WELLWELL. wel'wet. † VELVET.
wel'y, adj. [AS. welig. See WEAL.] Happy. Obs. wem'ble (wĕm'l). Dial. Eng. var. of WHEMMEL. weme (wēm). Dial. Eng. var. of QUEME, adj. [WOMAN.] wemen. Obs. exc. dial. pl. of wem'my, adj. Blemished; tainted. Obs. wem'my, v. t. = WEM. Obs. wenche. † WINCH. wench'el, n. [See WENCH.] A maid; also, a child. Obs. wench'less, adj. See -LESS. wench'like' adj. See -LIKE.
Wen'chow' (wĕn'chou'), n. Also Wen'chow-ese' (-ēz'; -ēs'). See INDO-CHINESE LANGUAGES. wencust. Obs. past tense & past part. of VANQUISH.
Wend'ic (wĕn'dĭk), adj. & n. = WENDISH. wen'di-go. Var. of WINDIGO.

W′-en′gine, n. Mach. A type of internal-combustion engine in which three sets of cylinders are arranged side by side in three planes making angles so that a cross section perpendicular to the shaft would have the general shape of the letter W.

wen′-li′ (wŭn′lē′), n. [Chin. (Pek.) *wên*²-*li*³, fr. *wên*³, orig., a mark, hence, written character, collocation of characters, literary + *li*³ style, arrangement.] In Chinese literature, the archaic classical style in which, until the literary revolution, which began in 1917, all the literature of China, except novels, dramas, and some poetry, was transmitted; literary style, as distinguished from the colloquial, pai-hua, or kuo-yü.

wen′liche (wĕn′lĭch), adj. [Cf. AS. wēnlīc fair, comely. See 1st WEEN.] Hopeful; pleasant; good. Obs.

Wen′lock (wĕn′lŏk), n. Geol. The middle subdivision (Wenlock formation) of the Upper Silurian in Great Britain; — so named from the typical locality of Shropshire, England. See GEOLOGY, Chart. — Wen·lock′i·an (wĕn-lŏk′ĭ·ăn), adj.

wen′ne·berg·ite (vĕn′ĕ·bûrg·ĭt), n. [From Wenneberg, Ries, near Nördlingen.] Petrog. A granite porphyry with phenocrysts of orthoclase, biotite, and quartz, in a microcrystalline, chlorite-bearing groundmass containing much apatite and titanite.

wen′ny (wĕn′ĭ), adj. [From WEN.] Having the nature of a wen; resembling a wen; also, afflicted with a wen or wens.

We·no′nah (wē-nō′nȧ), n. [Santee winona first-born child, if a girl.] a = WINONA. b The mother of Hiawatha.

Wen′roh·ro′non (wĕn′rō·rō′nŏn), n. An Indian of an Iroquoian tribe, formerly living south of Lake Erie. Harried by the Iroquois, they took refuge with the Huron and the Neutral Nation, and became merged in those tribes.

Wens′ley·dale′ (wĕnz′lĭ·dāl′), n. [From Wensleydale, Yorkshire, Eng.] An English sheep of long-wooled breed descended from crosses of English Leicesters on native Yorkshire sheep.

went (wĕnt), past tense & past part. of WEND; — now used only as a past tense of go. See GO.

went, n. [Cf. WEND, v., and AS. wend a course, an alternative.] Obs. exc. Dial. a Obs. Course; progress; journey. b Obs. Plan; device. c Obs. A turn of events. d A cross-road; a road; lane; passageway; an alley.

went. Obs. past tense & past part. of WEEN.

Wēn′ Tī′ (wŭn′dē′). See WÊN CH'ANG.

wen′tle·trap′ (wĕn′t'l·trăp′), n. [D. wenteltrap a winding staircase; cf. G. wendeltreppe.] Any of numerous elegant, usually white, marine shells of the genus Epitonium, or the family Epitoniidae. The shell of E. pretiosa was formerly highly valued.

Wentletrap (Epitonium pretiosa).

wen′zel (vĕn′tsĕl), n. [G., orig., a Czech, fr. Wenzelaus Wenceslaus.] A knave; jack; Skat, a jack when the four jacks are trumps.

wep′man (wĕp′măn), n. [AS. wǣpmann, wǣpenmann. See WEAPON; MAN.] A man. Obs.

wep′man·kin′ (-kĭn′), n. The male sex. Obs.

wer (wûr; wĕr), n. [AS. wer, were; akin to OS. & OHG. wer, ON. verr, Goth. wair, L. vir, OIr. fer, Skr. vīra, Lith. syras, and prob. to L. vis strength. See VIM; cf. DECEMVIR, FIRBOLG, QUIRITES, VIRILE, WEREWOLF, WERGILD, WORLD.] 1. A man; a husband; a warrior; a vassal. Obs.

2. A man's wergild. Obs. exc. Hist.

wer (wĕr; wûr), pron. Unstressed form of OUR. Dial.

wer- (wûr-). Var. of WERE-.

Wer·cho′win·ci (vĕr·kô′vĭn·tsĭ), n. [Ukrainian Verkhovintsy, fr. verkh summit, top.] A division of the Little Russians in the Carpathians; — not an ethnic term, but a geographical epithet name.

were (wûr; also, esp. in British usage, wär; 71; 277). [AS. wǣre (thou) wast, wǣron (we, you, they) were, wǣre imp. subj. See WAS.] A verb form supplying the past tense indicative plural, and past tense subjunctive singular and plural, of the verb be. See BE; 1st WAS, Note.

were (wĕr), n. [Cf. MLG. were disorder, disquiet, E. WAR.] Obs. a Difficulty; peril. b Doubt; perplexity; uncertainty. c Dread; apprehension.

were (wĕr), v. t. [ME. See 1st WEAR.] To check; ward off; guard. Obs. exc. Scot.

were- (wĕr-; wûr-). A combining form from werewolf (which see), denoting a human being metamorphosed into a (specified) creature, as in:

were-animal	werecalf	werejaguar
were-ass	werefox	wereleopard
werebear	werehyena	weretiger were′folk′ (wĕr′fōk′), n. [were- + folk.] Persons who follow the practices associated with were-animals.

were n't (wûr′nt; wär′-). Colloquial contraction of were not.

were′wolf′ (wĕr′wŏŏlf′; wûr′-), n.; pl. -WOLVES (-wŏŏlvz′). [AS. werewulf, fr. were, wer man + wulf wolf. See WER; WOLF.] 1. Folklore. A person transformed into a wolf in form and usually in appetite, temporarily or permanently, or a person capable of assuming a wolf's form; a lycanthrope. Belief in werewolves is ancient and widespread, appearing in the literature of many races. The original transformation is often imposed as a diabolical bewitchment. In other cases the wolf's form is assumed voluntarily, as to gratify a craving for human flesh. One who was a werewolf by choice could in general resume human form at will. Other animals (were-animals) also figure in such transformations, as the tiger and leopard in India, Assam, and China, and the jaguar in South America. Cf. UTURUNCU.

2. Loosely, any huge and savage wolf.

were′wolf·ism (-ĭz′m), n. a Belief in werewolves. b The condition of being a werewolf. — were′wolf′ish (-ĭsh), adj.

werf (vĕrf), n. [S. Afr. D., fr. D. werf shipyard. See WHARF.] The space around homestead and outbuildings; farmyard. S. Africa.

wer′gild′ (wûr′gĭld′; wĕr′-), were′gild′ (wĕr′gĭld′; wĕr′-), n. [AS., fr. wer, were, man + gild payment. See WER; GELD, n.] Law. In Anglo-Saxon and Germanic law, the value set upon a man's life; the fixed price to be paid by the kindred of a manslayer to the kindred of the slain person as composition to avoid the blood feud. A fixed scale of values was established varying from that of the chief to that of the king. Originally acceptance of the wergild by the kindred of the person killed was optional. Later it was made compulsory. Ultimately it could not be demanded nor could the blood feud be waived, but the slayer was left to public justice. Similar methods of composition have existed among primitive peoples. Cf. BLOODWITE.

we′ri (wā′rē), n. [Maori.] The aweto.

Werl′hof's dis·ease′ (vĕrl′hŏfs). [After P. G. Werlhof (1699–1767), Ger. physician.] Med. Purpura haemorrhagica.

werm′eth′e (wĕrm′ăt′ē), adj. [ME., fr. AS. wyrmǣte.] Worm-eaten. Obs.

Wer·ne′ri·an (wĕr·nēr′ĭ·ăn), adj. Of or pertaining to A. G. Werner (1750–1817), a German mineralogist and geologist, who classified minerals according to their external characters, and advocated the theory that the strata of the earth's crust were formed by depositions from water; designating, or according to, Werner's system or theory; Neptunian. — n. A supporter of Werner's theory; a Neptunist.

Wer′ner·ism (wûr′nĕr·Iz′m), n. Geol. The Wernerian or Neptunian doctrine, now discredited.

Wer′nick·e's cen′ter (vĕr′nĭ·kĕz). [After K. Wernicke (1848–1905), Ger. neurologist.] Anat. & Physiol. The auditory word center, located in the posterior part of the superior temporal convolution.

Wernicke's convolution or gyrus. Anat. The superior temporal convolution.

Wernicke's prism. Optics. A direct prism for projection.

wer′o·wance (wĕr′ō·wăns), n. [Virginian wirowǎntĕsu, lit., he is rich, fr. wiro to be rich.] A chief of the Indians of Virginia or Maryland.

wert (wûrt; unstressed wĕrt; 71). A verb form supplying the second person singular, past tense indicative and subjunctive, of the verb BE. It is a modern formation from were, with the ending -t, after the analogy of wast. Now used only in solemn or poetic style.

Wer′ther (vĕr′tĕr), n. [G.] The hero of Goethe's sentimental romance Die Leiden des jungen Werthers ("The Sorrows of Werther"), a young man who falls in love with Lotte, the wife of a friend, and takes his own life.

Wer·the′ri·an (vĕr·tēr′ĭ·ăn), adj. Resembling, or characteristic of, Werther; hence, morbidly sentimental. See WERTHER. — Wer′ther·ism (vĕr′tĕr·Iz′m), n.

we′-ship, n. A mock title for one using the editorial "we." R.

wes′kit (wĕs′kĭt). Dial. var. of WAISTCOAT.

Wes′ley·an (wĕs′lĭ·ăn or, esp. Brit., wĕz′-), adj. Of or pertaining to the Wesley family or a member of it; specif., of or pertaining to John Wesley (1703–91), the founder of Methodism or the Methodist denomination; of or pertaining to Wesleyanism or the Wesleyan Methodists.

Wes′ley·an, n. Eccl. A follower of John Wesley; one who adopts the principles of Wesleyanism; a Methodist; esp., a Wesleyan Methodist.

Wes′ley·an·ism (-Iz′m), n. Theol. The system of theology taught by John Wesley, which was essentially Arminian; Wesleyan or Methodist Arminianism; Arminian Methodism; the system of doctrines and church polity of the Wesleyan Methodists. See METHODIST, n., 2.

Wesleyan Methodist Connection, Wesleyan Methodists, Wesleyan Reform Union. See METHODIST, n., 2.

wes′sel (wĕs′ĕl), adv. Westward. Scot.

wes′sel·ton (wĕs′ĕl·tŏn), n. [From one of the Kimberley mines, S. Afr.] A high-grade diamond, ranking below a river.

Wes′sex·man (wĕs′ĕks·măn; -Iks-), n. A resident or inhabitant of Wessex, England; also, one born in and having the characteristics of a person resident in Wessex, England.

west (wĕst), n. [AS., adv.; akin to D. west, G. west, westen, OHG. westan, ON. vestr, Sw. west, vester, vestan, Dan. vest, vesten, and perh. to L. vesper evening, Gr. hespera, Lith. vakaras. Cf. VESPER.] 1. The point in the heavens where the sun is seen to set at the equinox, or the corresponding point on the earth; that one of the four cardinal points of the compass which is in a direction at right angles to that of north and south, and on the left of a person facing north; the point opposite to east.

And fresh from the west is the free wind's breath. Bryant.

2. A quarter, region, locality, country, section, or the like, which, with regard to the speaker or some particular place, is situated in the direction toward the west (in sense 1); as, the peoples on the west; also, a portion of a country lying toward the west; as, the west of Europe; touring in the west of England.

3. [cap.] Specif.: a The Western Hemisphere, or the New World so called, it having been discovered by sailing westward from Europe; the Occident. b Europe and the Americas, as distinguished from Asia; as, the culture or civilization of the West. c U. S. Hist. & Geog. Formerly, that part of the United States west of the Allegheny Mountains; now, commonly, the whole region west of the Mississippi River, esp. that part north of Arkansas, New Mexico, etc.; — usually with the definite article. d Anc. & Med. Hist. The Western Roman Empire after the division of the Roman Empire (A.D. 395) into two parts.

4. [cap.] Eccl. Hist. The Western Church.

5. Short for WEST WIND.

— in the west. Of the wind, coming or blowing from the west.

west (wĕst), adj. 1. Lying toward the west; situated at the west, or in a western direction from the point of observation or reckoning; proceeding toward the west; western; as, a west course is one toward the west.

2. Designating a district, region, or place, which is the more westerly of two places of the same kind or name; as, the west meadow; West Hartford.

3. Facing toward the west; as, a sun porch with a west exposure.

4. Coming from the west; — said chiefly of the wind.

5. Eccl. Designating, or situated in, that part of a church directly opposite the altar or apse. See EAST, adj., 2.

west, adv. [AS.] To or toward, or in, the west; westward. — to go west. See under GO, v.

west- (wĕst-). Combining form of west, adj. & adv., as in:

westaway	west-faced	west-going, adj.
west-central	west-facing, adj.	west-turning, adj.

west (wĕst), v. i. To turn or move to the west.

west, v. t. [AS. wēstan to lay waste.] To lay waste. Obs.

west, n. [Origin uncert.] = 5th STY. Now Dial.

West, Rebecca. 1. In Ibsen's Rosmersholm, an adventuress.

2. See FAIRFIELD, CICELY, in Biog.

west′-a·bout′, adv. Toward the west; westwardly.

West African oil palm. The African oil palm.

West African pepper. African cubeb.

west′bound′ (wĕst′bound′; 66), adj. Going, or prepared to go, west.

west′-by′ (wĕst′bī′), adv. Westward. Scot.

west by north. Navig. & Surv. One point, or 11° 15′, north of due west; N. 78° 45′ W. See COMPASS CARD.

west by south. Navig. & Surv. One point, or 11° 15′, south of due west; S. 78° 45′ W. See COMPASS CARD.

west coast fir. The Douglas fir; also, its wood.

west coast hemlock. = WESTERN HEMLOCK.

west country. a The western district or region of a country considered as a distinct topographical, ethnical, political, or social, unit. b Specif. [sometimes cap.], in England, the counties in the region to the southwest of London. c [sometimes cap.] In Scotland, the district to the west of Edinburgh.

we′ste (wā′stĕ), adj. & n. [AS. wēste, adj.] Waste; desert. Obs.

West End. 1. The western portion of London, Eng., esp. that part just west of Charing Cross, Regent St., and Portland Place, including the region of the parks, the fashionable shopping district, and the aristocratic residence sections of Mayfair and Belgravia. See EAST END.

2. Hence, the fashionable quarter or district of any large city.

The west ends of the world would reek with deodorizers. H. G. Wells.

— West′-end′er, west′-end′er, n.

West′-End′ish, west′-end′ish, adj. Suggesting in appearance, character, or manners, the west end or fashionable quarter of town. — West′-End′ism, west′-end′ism, n.

west′-end′y, adj. West-endish.

west′er (wĕs′tĕr), v. i. 1. To turn or move westward.

The wan sun westers, faint and slow. W. E. Henley.

2. Of the wind, to change into the west.

west′er, n. A westerly wind, esp. a storm.

The wester came as steady as the Trades. Masefield.

west′er, adj. Western. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

west′er·ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WESTER. Hence: adj. That westers, or turns westward; as, westering streams; esp., of the sun, that lies in or is descending in the west; as, the westering sun, sunset, sunshine.

west′er·ing, n. A movement toward the west; esp., the apparent movement of the sun toward the horizon.

west′er·ing, n. [See -LING.] One living in the west. Obs.

west′er·ly (wĕs′tĕr·lĭ), n.; pl. -LIES (-lĭz). A wind blowing from the west; as, the westerlies of the temperate zones.

west′er·ly, adj. Of or pertaining to the west; western; as, westerly habits and speech; situated in or towards, or proceeding or having a direction towards, the west; as, the westerly motion continued; facing the west; as, a westerly exposure; also, coming from the west; as, a westerly breeze. — west′er·li·ness (-lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n.

west′er·ly, adv. 1. Toward the west; westward.

2. From the west; as, the winds blew westerly.

west′er·most (-mōst), adj. = WESTERNMOST. Rare.

west′ern (wĕs′tĕrn), adj. [AS. westerne.] 1. Of or pertaining to the west; situated in the west, or in the region nearly in the direction of west; as, the western shore of France; also, dwelling in or originating in the west; as, a western folk; grown or produced in the west; as, western apples, grain.

Far o'er the glowing western main. Keble.

2. [cap.] Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, a region specifically called the West, as the Occident or the western portion of the United States; as, Western as opposed to Oriental civilization; Western life, prairies; specif., Eng., of or pert. to the counties to the southwest of London; Scot., of or pertaining to the district west of Edinburgh.

3. Directed, tending, or the like, toward the west; as, the ship is on a western course; a room with western exposure.

4. Coming from the west; — said chiefly of the wind.

5. Of the sun, appearing in the west; hence, near its setting; hence, pert. to the end; declining; as, western years.

6. [cap.] Of or pertaining to the Western Church or churches; as, Western liturgies.

☞ Western, as applied to names of American animals or plants, usually designates species or subspecies which closely resemble corresponding Atlantic coast forms, but whose geographical distribution is west of the Mississippi.

☞ For many expressions beginning with western, see the word or phrase with which western is used.

west′ern, n. 1. A westerner; specif., U. S., a native or resident of one of the States west of the Mississippi.

2. [cap.] A member of the Western Church. Rare.

3. Something coming from, developed, produced, or grown in, the west; as, eggs classified as westerns.

The ewes in this experiment were two-year-old westerns. W. C. Coffey.

4. A story or novel dealing with life and conditions in the west of the United States, esp. in the period when this region was first being settled; a piece of fiction treating of frontier life, characters, and action.

5. Motion Pictures. A picture having its scene laid in the western United States and, usually, with cowboys for its principal characters.

west′ern, v. i. To wester; as, the westering sun.

west′ern, n. [AS. wēstern.] Wilderness. Obs.

West′ern, Sophia. See TOM JONES.

Western, Squire. A eccentric English country gentleman in Fielding's Tom Jones.

Squire Western stands alone; imitated from no prototype, and in himself an inimitable picture of ignorance, prejudice, irascibility, and rusticity, united with natural shrewdness, constitutional good humor, and an instinctive affection for his daughter. Scott.

---

wene. † WEAN, WEEN. wene. Scot. pseudoarchaic form of WON, dwelling. [EATH.] weneth. Obs. corrupt. of UNwenge. † WING. [of ONMUN.
Wen′mun′ (wĕn′mŏŏn′). Var. wenne. † WEN, WHEN, WHENNE, WHENCE, WINNE. wen′nel (wĕn′ĕl), n. = WEANEL. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. [NY.]
wen′nish (wĕn′ĭsh), adj. = WENwen′tle, v. i. To turn or toss about. Obs.
Wen′zel Bi′ble. See BIBLE, 2. weomen. Obs. pl. of WOMAN. wepe. † WEEP, WIPE. wep′on. Weapon. Ref. Sp. wept (wĕpt), past tense & past part. of WEEP. [Obs.] wep′yn·taille, n. Wapentake.
wer. Were. Ref. Sp.
wer. † WAR.
wer. † FAR; VER; WAR, worse; WEAR, to defend; WEIR; WERE, doubt; WHERE.
wer′ble. † WARBLE.
werd, v. t. [AS. wyrdan.] To harm; injure. Obs. [WORLD.
werd. † WEIRD, WORD, WEERD, werde. † WEIRD, WORD, WORLD. were. † VERE; VER; WAR; WARE, wary; WEAR; WER, a man; WHERE; WIRE. [WHETHER.
were. † VERY, WAUR, WEIR, we′red, n. [AS. weorod.] A band; troop; host. Obs.
were′geld′, were′gelt′, were′gild′. Vars. of WERGILD. we′ren. Var. of were, form of BE. Obs. exc. Dial. were′wall′ n. [See 1st WEAR; WALL.] A bulwark. Obs. wer′geld′, wer′gelt′. Vars. of WERGILD. werie. † WEARY.
wer′ing, n. [See WAR.] Military force. Obs. werk, n. & v. [AS. wærc.] Pain; ache. Obs. [Dial.] werk. Var. of WORK. Obs. werke. † WORK.
wern, werne. † WARN.
wer′nard, n. [AF. (assumed), OF. guernari.] Deceiver; liar. Obs.
wer′ner·ite (wûr′nĕr·ĭt), n. [See WERNERIAN.] = SCAPOLITE a.
Wer′ner's ĕhe′o·ry (vĕr′nĕrz). [After Alfred Werner (1866–1919), Ger. chemist.] Chem. = COORDINATION THEORY. werousness, n. [From WERE doubt.] Anxiety. Obs. werp. † WARP.
werr. † WAR, WAUR, WEAR.
werre. † WAR. [of WORRIT. wer′ret, wer′rit (wûr′ĭt). Vars. wer′ry. Obs. exc. dial. var. of WORRY; illit. var. of VERY.
wers. † VERSE, WORSE.
werse. † WORSE.
wersh (wĕrsh), wersh′ly. Vars. of WEARISH, WEARISHLY. wersiete, n. Prob., a quiver. Obs. werst. † FIRST; VERST; WERT (form of BE); WORST. wert. † WART.
werte. † WART, WORT.
Wer·te′ri·an, Wer′ter·ism. Vars. of WERTHERIAN, WERTHERISM.
Wert′heim Bi′ble (vĕrt′hĭm). See BIBLE, 2. wert′er·ber (wûr′-; wĕr′-). Var. of WERETIGER. See WERE-.
wert′wale′, wert′wall′, n. [AS. wyrtwala root.] Flesh growing over the nail. Obs.
wer′vel, n. = VERVEL. wer′wolf′ (wûr′-; wĕr′-). Var of WEREWOLF. we′sand. Var. of WEASANO. weschę. † WASH.
we′se. Short for we shall. Dial.
we′sel. † WEEZLE. wesh (wĕsh). Var. of WASH. Dial.
weshe. † WASH.
Wes′ley·ism, n. = WESLEYANISM. west′ar, n. [Cf. WEST to lay waste.] = 1st WASTER. Obs. Scot. west′en, n. Waste; desert. Obs. west′en, adv. [AS. westan.] Western; from the west. Obs.

---

western arborvitae. = RED CEDAR, 2 a. western beard grass. = NEEDLE GRASS a. western bee. Angling. An artificial fly with dark-gray wings, yellow-and-black body, and brown hackle.
western birch. The western paper birch. western black pine. The Jeffrey pine; also, its wood. Calif.
western blight. = WESTERN TOMATO BLIGHT.
western bluebird. See BLUEBIRD a. western brome grass. A perennial grass (Bromus marginatus) of western North America, valued as one of the best range grasses. western buckeye. A shrub (Aesculus arguta) of the central U. S., sometimes cultivated for its handsome palmately compound leaves and dense raceme of yellow flowers.
Western Caliphate. See CALIPH.
western catalpa. The hardy catalpa (Catalpa speciosa), often cultivated for its beautiful, purple-streaked paniculate flowers. See CATALPA.
western cedar. a A timber tree (Juniperus occidentalis) of the Pacific coast of the United States, often shrublike in the mountains; also, its wood, which is seldom found in large sizes. b = RED CEDAR, 2 a. western chokecherry. The chokecherry Padus demissa, of the western United States. See CHOKECHERRY, 1 a.
Western Church. The church of the Latin Patriarchate; the church of those who recognize the Pope as Patriarch as well as Pontiff in distinction from such Eastern churches as recognize him only as Pontiff. See UNIAT. In modern usage it is sometimes interpreted to include the Anglican Church, or, in the widest sense, all the churches of western Christendom.
western clematis. The western virgin's-bower. western coffee. The cascara buckthorn. western crab apple. The Iowa crab apple. western daisy. A violet-flowered herb (Bellis integrifolia) of the central United States, resembling the common English daisy (see DAISY, 1) but with branched stem. western dewberry. An upright-growing dewberry (Rubus ursinus); also, its black sweet fruit. It is evergreen in California. See LOGANBERRY. western diamond rattlesnake. See RATTLESNAKE. western dogwood. The Pacific dogwood (Cynoxylon nuttallii). See CYNOXYLON. western dropwort. The Indian physic Gillenia trifoliata.
Western Empire. The Western Roman Empire. See ROMAN EMPIRE.
west'ern·er (wĕs'tĕr·nĕr), n. 1. A native or inhabitant of the west, esp. [cap.] of the West in the United States.
2. [sometimes cap.] A native of an occidental country or people; — contrasted with easterner.
3. Motion Pictures. = WESTERN, n., 5. western fir. The Douglas fir; also, its wood.
Western fish. Astron. See FISH. western frame. = PLATFORM FRAME.
western framing. A method of building construction in which the supporting studs extend from the top of each tier of joists to the under side of the tier next above, the studs being provided with top plates and soleplates.
Western frank. Philately. A device printed on government stamped envelopes to indicate additional payment of postage on mails carried by stage and express companies in the West (1853–95). U. S.
western grape rootworm. See GRAPE ROOTWORM. western grebe. A large grebe (Aechmophorus occidentalis) of western North America. See GREBE.
Western Hemisphere. See HEMISPHERE, 2. western hemlock. An important timber tree (Tsuga heterophylla) ranging from Alaska to California; also, its valuable wood. Called also Pacific hemlock and west coast hemlock. west'ern·ism (wĕs'tĕr·nĭz'm), n. 1. An idiom of the west or people living in the west.
2. [cap.] A characteristic or practice of the West or of people living in the West; Occidentalism.
west'ern·ize (-nīz), v. t. & i. [sometimes cap.] To make or become Western. — west'ern·i·za'tion (-nĭ·zā'shŭn; -nĭ·zā'-), n.
western June grass. = JUNE GRASS b. western juniper. = WESTERN CEDAR a.
Western Land. = HESPERIA, 1. western larch. An important timber tree (Larix occidentalis) of western North America, with pale-green, sharply pointed leaves and oblong cones; also, its valuable wood. Called also Oregon larch and western tamarack. western meadow lark. See MEADOW LARK. west'ern·most (wĕs'tĕrn·mōst), adj. Situated the farthest towards the west; most western.
western mugwort. The prairie sage. western oak. The Oregon oak.
Western Ocean. Among the ancients, the ocean lying to the west of the then known world.
western palm warbler. See PALM WARBLER. western paper birch. A birch (Betula fontinalis) of western North America, resembling the paper birch of the northeastern United States but with brownish bark. western peach borer. The peach-tree borer Sanninoidea opalescens. western pine. The bull pine Pinus ponderosa; also, its wood. See BULL PINE a. western pine beetle. A destructive bark beetle (Dendroctonus brevicornis) attacking various pines in the western United States.
western pitch pine. The bull pine Pinus ponderosa.
western plum. = SIERRA PLUM. western poppy. A showy Californian annual herb (Papaver californicum) with flowers having striking red petals, green at the base.
western red cedar. a An important timber tree (Juniperus scopulorum) of western North America; also, its wood. b = RED CEDAR, 2 a. c = WESTERN CEDAR a. western red lily. A slender, erect herb (Lilium umbellatum) of the prairies of central North America, with narrow, mostly alternate leaves, and erect, orange-red flowers, spotted towards the base.
western redtail. See RED-TAILED HAWK.
Western Reserve. A tract of about 3,500,000 acres near Lake Erie, reserved by the State of Connecticut at the time of the cession of the Northwest Territory to the United States, and now forming a part of the State of Ohio.
Western Roman Empire. See ROMAN EMPIRE. western rust. Plant Pathol. A rust of the raspberry caused by Phragmidium imitans. western rye grass. = SLENDER WHEAT GRASS. Canada. western sage. The prairie sage (Artemisia gnaphalodes); also, the related and somewhat similar A. ludoviciana. western sand cherry. The sand cherry Prunus besseyi. western sandpiper. A small sandpiper (Ereunetes mauri) very closely allied to the semipalmated sandpiper, which it chiefly replaces in western North America. It frequently occurs also along the Atlantic coast.
Western Schism. Also Great Western Schism. A breach in the Western Church caused by the disputed election of Urban VI (1378) and healed at the Council of Constance (1417) by the election of Martin V. During the schism there were two, sometimes, three rival Popes.
western sneezeweed. A rather rank perennial herb (Helenium hoopesii) of the western United States, with yellow flowers. It is poisonous to stock and causes spewing sickness in sheep. western spruce. The Sitka spruce; — a trade term. western sugar maple. A forest tree (Acer grandidentatum) of western North America, differing from the common sugar maple of the northeastern United States chiefly in having the leaves hairy underneath.
western tamarack. The western larch; also, its wood.
western tanager. See TANAGER.
Western text. See TEXT, 9.
western tomato blight. Plant Pathol. A disease of the tomato, common west of the Rocky Mountains, caused by the same virus as that producing curly top of beets but producing entirely different effects, as yellowing of foliage, sometimes with some purple coloration, premature ripening of the fruit, rigidity of the foliage, etc., transmitted as well by the beet leaf hopper; — called also western blight, tomato yellows, and sometimes curly top. Cf. CURLY TOP.
western virgin's-bower. A climbing vine (Clematis ligusticifolia) of western North America, with 5-foliolate leaves, and leafy panicles of white flowers. western wallflower. a A prairie rocket (Cheirinia aspera) chiefly of the western United States, with orange-yellow flowers. b The spreading dogbane. western wheat grass. a A valuable forage grass (Agropyron smithii) of the western U. S. b = BLUESTEM, 1 a. western white fir. = WHITE FIR, 1 b. western white pine. a The white pine Pinus monticola. b The bull pine Pinus ponderosa. c The limber pine (Pinus flexilis). western wolf. See COYOTE, n., 2. western yellow blight. = WESTERN TOMATO BLIGHT. western yellow pine. The bull pine Pinus ponderosa. western yew. = PACIFIC YEW. west'er·wards (wĕs'tĕr·wĕrdz), adv. Toward the west. Dial., U. S. west'fal·ite (wĕst'fôl·īt), n. A blasting explosive composed of ammonium nitrate and resin, used in Europe.
West Germanic languages. See INDO-EUROPEAN LANGUAGES, Table.
West Goth. See GOTH, 1.
West Greenlander. See ESKIMO, 1.
West Highland, or West Highland cattle. A very hardy breed of small beef cattle from the Highlands of Scotland. They have thick shaggy hair varying from dun to brindle or black, and long curved horns set widely apart.
West Highland white terrier. A dog of a breed originating in Scotland at an uncertain date and used in digging small quarry. The color is pure white. It has a hard, uncurled outer coat, about 2½ inches long, and a soft undercoat. It has a medium-width skull, powerful jaws, sharp-pointed small ears, compact body, short and muscular forelegs and hind legs, and a tail about five or six inches long, carried gaily. The height is from 8 to 12 inches, and the weight from 13 to 19 pounds.
West India, West Indian. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, the West Indies; coming from or produced in the West Indies.
West Indiaman. A ship used in trade with the West Indies.
West Indian, n. A native of, or a dweller in, the West Indies. — adj. See WEST INDIA.
West Indian arrowroot. The common arrowroot (Maranta arundinaceae) grown in Bermuda and the West Indies.
West Indian bark. The bark of the princewood Exostema caribaeum.
West Indian birch. = GUMBO LIMBO a.
West Indian bitterwood. The bitterwood Aeschrion excelsum.
West Indian boxwood. = ZAPATERO, 2.
West Indian cabbage tree. a The cabbage tree Andira inermis. b The acapú.
West Indian cane weevil. A tropical American snout beetle (Metamasius hemipterus), destructive to sugar cane, esp. in the West Indies.
West Indian chawstick or chewstick. = CHAWSTICK.
West Indian cherry. = BARBADOS CHERRY a.
West Indian corkwood. The balsa Ochroma lagopus.
West Indian ebony. Cocuswood.
West Indian fruit fly. A small fly (Anastrepha fraterculus), family Trypetidae, destructive to citrus and other fruits in tropical America, the larvae developing in the fruits.
West Indian gherkin. A rough-hairy vine (Cucumis anguria) of Florida and tropical America; also, its oval or oblong, furrowed, prickly fruit.
West Indian goldenrod. A shrubby, perennial herb (Neurolaena lobata) of tropical America, having flower heads somewhat resembling those of Solidago.
West Indian ivy. Any climbing plant of the genus Marcgravia.
West'-In'di·an–ī'vy fam'i·ly. The Marcgraviaceae.
West Indian kino. See KINO.
West Indian laurel. A West Indian plum (Laurocerasus occidentalis) bearing a finely flavored fruit.
West Indian locust. A tropical American tree (Hymenaea courbaril) of large size and with hard brown wood used for building. It has bijugate leaves, white flowers, and woody pods containing an edible pulp. It yields animé.
West Indian marigold. A fleshy annual plant (Wedelia carnosa), family Carduaceae, of the West Indies, with yellow heads of flowers.
West Indian mastic. = GUMBO LIMBO a.
West Indian mistletoe. A leafless parasitic plant (Arceuthobium gracile) attached to Jamaican trees, with tiny apetalous flowers; — called also gad bush.
West Indian muskwood. A timber tree (Guarea grandifolia) of tropical America, common on the island of Jamaica.
West Indian redwood. a Brazilwood, derived from Caesalpinia brasiliensis. b The bonduc Guilandina crista.
West Indian sandalwood. The Jamaica rosewood Amyris balsamifera.
West Indian satinwood. = SATINWOOD, 2 a; — a trade term.
West Indian spikenard. = WILD BASIL b.
West Indian tea. The goatweed Capraria biflora, the leaves of which are sometimes used in the West Indies for tea.
West Indian tulip. The majagua.
West Indian yellowwood. = HERCULES'-CLUB a (1).
West India seal. A large earless seal (Monachus tropicalis) inhabiting the West Indies and now nearly extinct. west'ing (wĕs'tĭng), n. 1. Navig. & Surv. Departure in a westerly direction. See DEPARTURE, 7 a & 8 a.
2. Westerly direction or course.
west'ing, adj. Going, moving, or inclining, toward the west; westering.
West'ing·house' brake (wĕs'tĭng·hous'). [After George Westinghouse, Am. inventor.] Railroads. A kind of continuous brake worked by compressed air from a pump on the engine first used on passenger trains in 1868 and on freight trains in 1887. The later variety acts automatically when a car coupling disconnects. The brake cylinders are charged, and the brakes released, by a triple valve (which see). west'land (wĕst'lănd; -lănd), west'lan, n. The west part of a country; esp. [cap.], the southwest of Scotland. — adj. Of, in, or from, the westland. Both Chiefly Scot. — West'land·er (-lăn·dĕr), n. — west'land·ways' (-lănd·wāz'; -lăn·wāz'), adv. Both Scot.
west'lins (-lĭnz), adv. Westward. Scot. west'me, west'me·less. Vars. of WASTME, etc. Obs.
West Midland. See MIDLAND DIALECT.
West'min'ster, Provisions of (wĕst'mĭn'stĕr). Eng. Hist. Various provisions or laws enacted by the barons and consented to by the king in 1259; — called also Provisions of the Barons. They supplemented the Provisions of Oxford.
Westminster Abbey. The Collegiate Church of St. Peter, in the borough of Westminster, London, reconstructed from a church built (1049–65) by Edward the Confessor. It was originally the abbey church of a monastery founded in the 8th century. It is the national sanctuary and burial place, the sovereigns being crowned there and the remains of many sovereigns, statesmen, soldiers, poets, etc., being interred under its pavement.
Westminster Assembly. An assembly, consisting chiefly of divines (hence called Assembly of Divines), which by act of Parliament assembled at Westminster, July 1, 1643, and remained in session until February 22, 1649. It framed the Westminster Confession (of Faith), the (Westminster) Larger Catechism and the (Westminster) Shorter Catechism, the Directory of Public Worship, and the Directory for Church Polity and Discipline, collectively called the Westminster Standards, a name also often used for the first three as a group. These are accepted as authoritative by nearly all the English-speaking Presbyterian churches of the world.
West Mongolian. See URAL-ALTAIC LANGUAGES, Table. west'most (wĕst'mōst), adj. Westernmost. west'ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS.
West North Central States. See NORTH CENTRAL STATES. west'–north'west', n., adj., & adv. Navig. & Surv. Two points, or 22°30′, north of due west; N. 67°30′ W. Abbr. WNW. See COMPASS CARD. — west'–north'west'er·ly, adv.
Wes'ton cell (wĕs'tŭn). Also Weston standard cell. Phys. Chem. An electric cell containing cadmium amalgam and mercury electrodes in solutions saturated with cadmium sulphate and mercurous sulphate, which has a constant and reproducible electromotive force of 1.0183 volts, and hence is used as a standard.
Wes'ton's, or Wes'ton, pul'ley block (wĕs'tŭnz). Mach. A kind of pulley tackle consisting of a fixed upper block containing two pulleys of different diameters fixed together on the same axis, a single movable pulley, and an endless chain passing round the pulleys; a differential chain block.
West'phal bal'ance (wĕst'fôl). A balance in which the buoyancy of a float is balanced by sliding weights. It is used for determining the specific gravity of liquids, mineral fragments, etc.

Westphal Balance.

West·pha'li·an (wĕst·fā'lĭ·ăn), adj. Of or pertaining to the province of Westphalia in Prussia, the ancient Saxon duchy of the same name, or the Napoleonic kingdom of Westphalia (1807–13). — n. A native or inhabitant of Westphalia.
Westphalian ham. A ham of distinctive flavor produced by smoking with juniper twigs and berries over a beechwood fire.
West Point. a See Gaz. b The United States Military Academy, located at West Point, N.Y.
West Pointer. A cadet, or graduate, of the United States Military Academy at West Point.
Wes·tral'ian (wĕs·trāl'yăn), adj. Of or pertaining to Westralia, or Western Australia. — n. A native or inhabitant of Westralia. — Wes·tral'ian·ism (-ĭz'm), n.
West Saxon, n. a A dialect of Anglo-Saxon. See ANGLO-SAXON, 3. b A person native of the West Saxon kingdom; also, one whose native tongue was West Saxon (sense a). — West Saxon, adj.
west side. a The side, part, or section, located in or toward the west. b [caps.] = WEST END.
West South Central States. See SOUTH CENTRAL STATES. west'–south'west', n., adj., & adv. Navig. & Surv. Two points, or 22°30′ south of due west; S. 67°30′ W. Abbr. WSW. See COMPASS CARD. — west'–south'west'er·ly, adv.
West Syrian Church. See JACOBITE CHURCH.
West Virginian, adj. Of or pertaining to West Virginia. — n. A native or inhabitant of West Virginia.
west'ward (wĕst'wĕrd), adj. [From WESTWARD, adv.] Moving, lying, or facing, toward the west. west'ward, west'wards (-wĕrdz), adv. [AS. westweard. See WEST, -WARD.] Toward the west. west'ward, n. The western regions or countries; the west.
Westward Ho (hō)! 1. A historical romance (1855) by Charles Kingsley, of adventure at sea and in South America in the Elizabethan era. Drake, Raleigh, and Hawkins appear as characters. See LEIGH, SIR AMYAS.
2. Hence, in adverbial use, into the West; toward the western country, sea, etc.

west'ern·ly, adj. & adv. = WESTERLY. west'lin (wĕst'lĭn). Scot. var. of WESTLAND.
West·pha'li·a (wĕst·fā'lĭ·ȧ), n. See TREATY, Table.
West'phal's com'et (wĕst'fälz). [After J. G. Westphal (1824–59), Ger. astronomer.] See COMET, Table.
West Turki. See URAL-ALTAIC LANGUAGES, Table.

N O P O R S T U V W

west'ward-look'ing, adj. a Looking or gazing toward the west. b Facing westward.

west'ward·ly (wĕst'wĕrd·lĭ), adv. Toward the west. — adj. a Of winds, from the west; westerly. b Going or lying to the west.

west'ward·most (-mōst), adj. Westernmost.

west'wards (-wĕrdz), adv. Westward.

west wind. A wind blowing from or out of the west. — west'-wind'ed, adj. — west'-wind'y, adj.

west'y (wĕs'tĭ), adj. Dizzy; confused; giddy. Obs. exc. Dial.

wet (wĕt), adj.; WET'TER (-ĕr); WET'TEST. [ME. wet, wete, wett, wette, fr. past part. of the v., and fr. AS. wǣt; akin to OFris. wēt, ON. vātr, Sw. våt, Dan. vaad, and WATER.] 1. Consisting of, containing, covered with, or soaked with, water or other liquid; soaked with moisture; having water or other liquid upon the surface; as, wet land; a wet cloth; wet with tears, perspiration, blood; wet cheeks; wet as a drowned rat.
2. a Rainy; esp., abounding in rains; as, the wet season; wet weather; a wet locality. b Foreboding or apt to be followed by rain, snow, etc.; as, a wet sky. See WET WIND. c Laden with or bearing moisture or vapor; as, a cold, wet draft of air.
3. Grown in wet or damp soil; as, a wet crop.
4. Moistened or dampened, as by sprinkling with or dipping in water; as, erase it with a wet sponge.
5. Not yet dry; — said of an application of some liquid to a surface or of the surface so treated; as, wet paint; ink still wet on the page; wet newsprint
6. Of fish, fresh; not dried.
7. Preserved, as by bottling, in a liquid.
8. Lax in the observances of one's sect; — said orig. and usually of Friends. Colloq., Brit.
9. Colloq. a Intoxicated or somewhat intoxicated; also, addicted to intoxicating liquors. b Marked or characterized by the drinking of intoxicating liquors; as, to make a wet night of it.
10. Colloq. a Consisting of intoxicating liquors; as, a wet cargo. See WET GOODS. b Trafficking in liquor; as, a wet canteen. c Chiefly U. S. Permitting, or not prohibiting or marked by the prohibition of, traffic in intoxicating liquor; as, a wet town or county; a wet Sunday; hence, pertaining to or concerned with the principle or policy of permitting such traffic; as, the wet issue; specif., favoring or in favor of this principle or policy; opposed to prohibition; as, a wet candidate; to vote wet; — opposed to dry.
11. Wrong; misguided; crazy; "off"; as, he's all wet; that's a wet idea. Slang, U. S.
12. Chem., Metal., etc. Employing, or done by means of or in the presence of, water or other liquid; as, the wet extraction of copper, in distinction from dry extraction, in which dry heat or fusion is employed; the wet process or way.
13. Coopering. Of containers, designed to contain liquids; as, a wet cask or barrel; also, of or pertaining to such containers; as, wet coopering; a wet cooper.
14. Naut. Having a tendency to take water or spray over the bows or sides; — said of a vessel or small boat.
Syn. — Humid, damp, moist.
Ant. — Arid, parched. See DRY.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wet-air	wet-eyed	wet-pipe
wet-bulb	wet-footed	wet-plate wet-cheeked	wet-lipped	wet-worked — with a wet finger. Without difficulty; easily; readily; also, lightly. Now Rare.

wet (wĕt), n. [AS. wǣt, wǣta. See WET, adj.] 1. Water or wetness; moisture.

Have here a cloth and wipe away the wet. Chaucer.

2. Rainy or drizzly weather; rain; also, a shower or a spell of rain.
3. Liquor or, esp., a drink of liquor. Slang.
4. One in favor of allowing the sale of intoxicating liquors; — opposed to dry. Colloq., U. S.
— to take wet. To be injuriously affected by wetness. Obs.

wet, v.; WET or WET'TED; WET'TING. [AS. wǣtan.] Transitive: 1. To make wet; to fill, soak, or moisten, with water or other liquid; to dip or soak in a liquid; as, to wet a sponge; to wet the hands; to wet cloth. "[The scene] did draw tears from me and wetted my paper." Burke.
2. To make (tea) by pouring boiling water on the leaves. Dial.
3. To take a drink or treat to drink in celebration or honor of; as, to wet a bargain; to wet a commission. Slang.
—, Intransitive: 1. To become wet.
2. Chiefly Dial. To exude or diffuse water or other moisture; as: a To rain. b To sweat. c To urinate.
3. To drink liquor; — also with up. Rare.
Syn. — Soak, moisten, dampen. Ant. — Dry, desiccate.
wet down. To dampen, as by sprinkling, with water.
wet off. Glass Mfg. To detach (the blown glass) from the blowpipe by touching it with a tool often wet with water.
wet one's whistle or one's clay. To take a drink, esp. of liquor; to drink. Colloq.
wet out. Textile Mfg. To cleanse (a raw material) or to remove, as gum from silk, grease from wool or wax from cotton, by means of soaking or boiling.
wet the other eye. To take a second drink. Humorous.

we'ta (wā'tä), n. [Maori.] Any of certain large wingless long-horned locusts of New Zealand, esp. the large, clumsy Deinacrida heteracantha (called also we'ta pun'ga), measuring four inches in length, and now practically extinct.

wet'-air' pump. A pump which exhausts a mixture of air and water.

wet bargain. = DUTCH BARGAIN.

wet'bird' (wĕt'bûrd'), n. The chaffinch, whose cry is said to foretell rain. Local, Eng.

wet blanket. A blanket soaked in water, as one used for quenching a fire; figuratively, a person or thing that quenches or dampens enthusiasm, pleasure, or the like.

wet'-blan'ket, v. t. To quench or dampen with or as with a wet blanket; to discourage; dispirit; depress. — wet'-blan'ket·ing, adj. & n.

wet bob. A boy who goes in especially for rowing and water sports. Cf. DRY BOB. Eton College, Eng.

wet brain. Med. Edema of the brain.

wet'-bulb' ther·mom'e·ter. Physics. That one of the two similar thermometers of a psychrometer the bulb of which is moistened; also, the entire instrument. See PSYCHROMETER.

wet butt. Plant Pathol. A softening and discoloration of tobacco caused by freezing before curing is complete.

wet cell. Elec. A cell (battery) in which the electrolyte is a liquid. Cf. DRY CELL. — wet'-cell', adj.

wet'-clean', v. t. To clean by means of water. Cf. DRY-CLEAN. — wet cleaner.

wet cooper, coopering. See WET adj., 13.

wet cupping. See CUPPING, n.

wet dock. A dock where the water is shut in and kept at a given level, to facilitate the loading and unloading of ships.

wet feet. Hort. The condition of plants produced by excessive watering without proper drainage.

wet flashover voltage. Elec. See FLASHOVER VOLTAGE.

wet fly. Angling. Any of various artificial flies intended to be presented to the fish below the surface of the water. Cf. DRY FLY.

wet fog. See FOG, n., 1.

wet gas. Any natural gas containing appreciable quantities of readily condensible constituents, as gasoline.

wet goods. Com. Liquid goods in casks or bottles, as paints, oils, beer, spirits, etc.; specif., Colloq., intoxicating liquors.

wethe, adj. [AS. wēthe.] Soft; pleasant. Obs.

weth'er (wĕth'ĕr), n. [AS.; akin to OS. wethar, withar, a ram, D. weder, G. widder, OHG. widar, ON. vethr, Sw. vädur, Dan. vædder, Goth. withrus a lamb, L. vitulus calf, Skr. vatsa, L. vetus old, vetustus old, veternus old, veterinus pertaining to a beast of burden, OSlav. vetŭchŭ old, Gr. etos year, Skr. vatsara; basic idea: year, hence yearling. Cf. ETESIAN, VEAL, VETERAN, VETERINARY.] 1. A ram, esp. one castrated before sexual maturity, usually when only a few weeks old, before the development of secondary sex characters. Cf. BELLWETHER.
2. A eunuch.
3. Wool Trade. Wool obtained by any shearing subsequent to the first. Cf. HOG, n., 2.
☞ For the phrase gray wether, see GRAYWETHER.

weth'er (wĕth'ĕr), Var. of WHETHER. Obs. exc. Dial.

weth'er·hog' (wĕth'ĕr·hŏg'), n. A wether of the second season. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

Weth'er·ill proc'ess (wĕth'ĕr·ĭl). [After J. P. Wetherill, Am. inventor.] A process for making zinc oxide from ore by concurrent reduction, vaporization, and oxidation, in a specially designed furnace.

weth'er·teg' (wĕth'ĕr·tĕg'), n. [See TEG.] A wetherhog. Dial.

wet measure. Liquid measure. Obs.

wet meter. See 3d METER, 2.

wet mill. A sawmill at which logs are sorted in water.

wet mix. The mixture obtained when water is added in the mixer to cement, sand, and coarse aggregate.

wet'-my-lip', n. [From its note.] The European quail. Local, Eng.

wet'ness, n. [AS. wǣtness.] 1. The quality or state of being wet; also, something wet, as a wet spot.
2. Short for WETNESS FRACTION.

wetness fraction. Steam Engin. A fraction expressing the ratio of the weight of free water particles to that of the whole in a quantity of wet steam.

wet norther. See ANTICYCLONE b. Southwestern U. S.

wet nurse. A nurse who suckles a child. Cf. DRY NURSE.

wet'-nurse', v. t. 1. To care for and suckle as a wet nurse.
2. To care for with extreme tenderness or as if helpless; — used contemptuously.

wet pack. Med. A form of bath, in which a patient is wrapped in wet sheets, used esp. to reduce fever.

wet'-pipe' sys'tem. See SPRINKLER SYSTEM.

wet'-plate' proc'ess. Photog. See COLLODION PROCESS.

wet'-proc'ess ma·chine'. A machine for cleaning apples and pears of spray residues by means of washes, sprays, and dips, of either acid or alkaline solutions.

wet provisions. Naut. Molasses, vinegar, etc., or beef or pork in brine.

wet puddling. See PUDDLING, 2.

wet return. Steam Heating. A pipe line, for returning water of condensation to the boiler, that occupies a position lower than the water line of the boiler. Owing to the position of the line, in a wet return there can be only water, while in a dry return there may be steam mixed with the water.

wet rot. Plant Pathol. Any decay or decomposition of plant tissues resulting in soft watery lesions.

wet'-salt', v. t. To treat (hides) with wet salt.

wet'-sea'son, v. t. To water-season.

wet'-shod', adj. Having one's shoes or feet wet. Dial.

wet steam. Steam mixed with free water particles.

wet'ta·ble (wĕt'ä·b'l), adj. That may be wetted. — wet'ta·bil'i·ty (-bĭl'ĭ·tĭ), n.

wettable sulphur. Sulphur to which powdered glue, or calcium caseinate, etc., has been added, so that it mixes readily with water; — called also sulphur paste.

wet'ted (wĕt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), past tense & past part. of WET.

wetted perimeter. The distance across a water channel measured along the sides and bottom and from water's edge to water's edge.

wetted surface. Shipbuilding. The surface of a ship's hull in contact with the water under the conditions considered.

wet'ter (wĕt'ĕr), n. One who or that which wets; specif., a workman who wets the work in various manufacturing processes.

wet'ter-off', n. Glass Mfg. A worker who wets off the blown glass. See wet off, under WET, v.

wet'ting (wĕt'ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WET. Hence: n. 1. Act of one who or that which wets, or state of being wet; as, to get a wetting.
2. A liquid used to make something wet, or to moisten it; as, to use milk as the wetting for dough.
3. A small drink of liquor; a nip; a drop.

wet'tish (wĕt'ĭsh), adj Somewhat wet; moist; humid.

We·tump'ka (wē·tŭmp'kä), n. An Indian of a major division of the Alibamu. See ALIBAMU.

wet wash. Laundry returned damp or moist, and unironed.

wet way. Chem., Metal., etc. A method, esp. of analysis, employing a liquid; as, the wet way of assaying copper.

wet wind. Meteorol. Any one of the winds at any given place which are most frequently followed by rain or snow.

we'-uns (wē'ŭnz), pron. We or us. Dial., Southern U. S.

weve (wēv), v. t. To give. Obs.

weve, v. t. [ME. weven. See WEAVE to move.] To move; lift; shake; twist. Obs. — v. i. To move; to go. Obs.

we've (wēv). Colloq. contraction of we have.

we'ved (wē'vĕd), n. [AS. wēofod, wīobud, wīgbed.] An altar. Obs.

we'vet (wē'vĕt), n. [See WEFT.] A cobweb. Dial. Eng.

We'we·noc (wē'wē·nŏk), n. An Indian of an Algonquian tribe of the Abnaki Confederacy, formerly dwelling at the mouth of the Kennebec River, Maine. They retired to Canada in the 18th century, where their descendants, mingled with other Abnaki, live at St. Francis, Province of Quebec. See ABNAKI.

wey (wā), n. [ME. weye, fr. AS. wǣge, wǣg, weight. See WEIGH.] A certain quantity estimated by weight; any of various local English measures of weight. In Scotland and Ireland, it is commonly equal to about 40 bushels.

wey (wā), v. t. [ON. vei, interj., woe. See WOE.] To lament for; bewail. Obs. Scot.

wey, v. t. [AS. weegan.] To move; agitate. Obs.

wey (wā). Var. of WE, WAY, WEIGH, WEE, WHY. Obs. exc. Dial.

Wey'mouth pine (wā'mŭth). The white pine Pinus strobus.

wh. A consonantal group, usually representing Anglo-Saxon, or Old English, initial hw. See W; H; Pron., § 258.

wha (hwŏ; hwä). Var. of WHO. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wha (wä), interj. Why! Scot. & Dial. Eng.

whack (hwăk), v.; WHACKED (hwăkt); WHACK'ING. [Perh. partly imitative. Cf. THWACK.] Transitive: 1. To strike, esp. with a smart or resounding blow; also, to make, effect, or accomplish, with whacks; as, to whack one's way through a thicket. Colloq.
2. To get the better of; beat, as in a game. Colloq. & Dial.
3. To divide into shares; as, to whack the spoils of a robbery; — often with up. Slang.
—, Intransitive: 1. To strike anything with a smart or resounding blow or blows. Colloq.
2. To make division; — often with up. Slang.

whack, n. 1. A smart or resounding blow; also, the sound of or as of such a blow. Colloq.
2. A stroke; an attempt or trial; as, it looks difficult, but I'll take a whack at it; also, a turn, or try. Slang.
3. A portion; share; allowance. Slang.
4. Condition; order; fettle; as, he 's in fine whack. Slang.
— out of whack. Out of order; out of sorts; also, out of accord. Slang.

whack (hwăk). Scot. var. of QUACK.

whack'er (hwăk'ĕr), n. Colloq. 1. One who whacks; specif., U. S., a drover.
2. Anything uncommonly large; specif., a great lie.

whack'er (wăk'ĕr). Dial. Eng. of QUAKER, v.

whack'ing (hwăk'ĭng), adj. Very large; whopping; — also used adverbially; as, a whacking big lie. Colloq.

whale (hwāl; 258; 277), n.; pl. WHALES (hwālz), sometimes WHALE. See PLURAL, Note. [ME. whal, fr. AS. hwæl; akin to D. walvisch, G. wal, walfisch, OHG. wal, ON. hvalr, L. squalus a large sea fish. Cf. NARWHAL, WALRUS.] 1. Zool. Any of numerous aquatic mammals of the order Cetacea, esp. those of large size, in distinction from the smaller species mostly called porpoises and dolphins. Whales, while fishlike in form, are true air-breathing, warm-blooded, viviparous mammals and suckle their young. The forelimbs are paddle-shaped, the hind limbs rudimentary and internal, the tail (flukes) fishlike but horizontal. The skin is smooth and hairless, sometimes with a few bristles on the muzzle. The single or double nostrils open far back on the head. The act of spouting, or blowing, is the exhalation of air from the lungs, the appearance of the spout being caused mostly by condensation of moisture in the breath. Owing to pursuit for oil and whalebone, many whales are nearing extinction. There are three groups: the whalebone whales (Mysticeti), including the baleen or right whales, sulphur-bottom, etc., which have no teeth in the adult, but plates of baleen suspended from the upper jaw; the toothed whales (Odontoceti), including porpoises, dolphins, killers, narwhals, belugas, blackfish, sperm whales, etc., which have numerous simple conical teeth; the extinct zeuglodonts (Archaeoceti or Zeuglodontia), with teeth of different kinds corresponding to the incisors, canines, and molars, of most mammals. The largest whale is the sulphur-bottom, known to become 100 feet long or more.

Right Whale.

2. A person or thing resembling or suggesting a whale; as: Slang: a One with a large appetite or capacity; as, a whale for facts; a whale on reading. b Chiefly U. S. Something impressive as in size or qualities, or superlatively good of its kind; as, a whale of a difference; a whale of a story; a whale of a fellow.
3. [cap.] Astron. = CETUS.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

whaleboned	whale-hunting, adj.	whaleship whale-headed	whale-mouthed	whale-tailed whale, v. i.; WHALED (hwāld); WHAL'ING (hwāl'ĭng). To engage in whale fishing.

whale (hwāl), v. t. [Var. of 4th WALE.] To lash so as to mark with stripes; to wale; thrash; drub; as, to whale a boy for lying; hence, to strike or hit vigorously; as, to whale the ball for a home run; also, to effect or bring about by so thrashing, striking, etc. — v. i. To perform vigorously some (indicated) action. Both Colloq., Chiefly U. S.

whale (hwāl). Variant of WALE, n.

whale'back' (hwāl'băk'), n. 1. Something, as a hill, a wave, etc., shaped like the back of a whale.
2. Naut. a Shipbuilding. A turtleback. b A form of steam vessel having sides curving in towards the ends, a spoon bow, and a very convex upper deck, much used on the Great Lakes, esp. for carrying grain.

whale'-backed' (-băkt'), adj. Also whale'back'. Shaped like or resembling a whale's back or a whaleback.

whale barnacle. Any of several barnacles of Coronula and allied genera, parasitic on whales.

whale'bird' (hwāl'bûrd'), n. 1. Any of several gregarious sea birds which follow whaling vessels to feed on oil and offal; esp., a petrel of the genus Pachyptila (syn. Prion) of southern oceans. They have a peculiar broad lamellate bill.
2. a Hudson Bay. The turnstone. b Labrador. A phalarope. c The ivory gull.

wet. † WHAT, WHEET, WIT.	wete. † WEET, WET, WHEAT.	we'vil (wē'v'l). Var. of WEEVIL.	weyne. † VEIN, WAIN, WINE.	We'zen (wā'z'n), n. See STAR, Table.	whaff (wäf). Dial. var. of WAFF.
wet'a·ble, adj. Var. of WETTABLE.	weth'er. † WEATHER, WHITHER.	wex. Archaic infin. & obs. past tense & part past. of WAX.	weyte. † WHITE.	whaap (hwäp). Var. of WHAUP.	wha·hoo' (hwä·hōō'). Var. of WAHOO.
wetch'ed (wĕch'ĕd), wetch'et (-ĕt; -ĭt). Dial. Eng. of WET-SHOD.	weth'er, weth'erd. Weather.	wex. Dial. var. of WAX, n.	weyve. † WAIVE.	whabb'by (hwŏb'ĭ), n. = WABBY.	whai'sie (hwā'z'l), whal'sie. Scot. vars. of WHEEZLE.
wete. Var. of WIT. Obs. exc. Dial.	weathered. Ref. Sp. [WHETHER.	weybrede † WAYBREAD. [WY.	We'zen (wā'zĕn), n. [Ar. al-wāsin the weight; — so called because it seems to rise with difficulty from the horizon.] See STAR, Table.	whaddie. † WADDY.	whale'back'er, n. Naut. = WHALEBACK, 2 b.
	weth'ir. † WEATHER, WETHER.	weye. † WAY; WEIGH; WHEY.		whae (hwē). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WEO. wet'ly, adv. of WET.	weyle. † WAIL, WALE, WEEL. wev'er. † WEAVER.

whale'boat' (hwāl'bōt'), n. Naut. A long narrow row-boat with a bold sheer, sharp and raking at both ends, and often steered with an oar, originally used by whalemen and now carried by many large merchant and war vessels.

whale'bone' (-bōn'), n. 1. A horny substance from the upper jaw of baleen whales; baleen. It is used as a stiffening in stays, fans, screens, whips, etc. It is chiefly obtained from the bowhead, or Greenland whale, and the antarctic, or southern, right whale. It is softened by boiling, and dyed black. The whalebone of the finback whales is shorter and less valuable.

Whalebone, or Baleen. A single plate showing articulation with upper jaw. Much reduced.

2. An article made of whalebone, as a whip, a strip of stiffening in a corset, or the like.

whale'bone', adj. Of or employing, esp. stiffened with, whalebone; figuratively, stiff; inflexible; severe.

whale'bone', v. t. To shape, stiffen, etc., with whalebone.

whalebone tree. a A medium-sized tree (Pseudomorus brunoniana), family Moraceae, of Norfolk Island and Australia, with yellow, close-grained hard wood. b The Victorian dogwood.

whale'-built', adj. Built on the lines of a whaleboat.

whale feed or food. = BRIT b.

whale fin. Whalebone, esp. in original form. Trade Slang.

whale fisher or fisherman. = 1st WHALER, 1 a.

whale fishery. The occupation of taking whales, or a region where whales are pursued. — whale fishing. — whale'-fish'ing, adj.

whale'head' (hwāl'hĕd'), n., or whale'-head'ed stork. The shoebill.

whale iron. A harpoon.

whale'like' (hwāl'lĭk'), adj. See -LIKE'.

whale line. A strong rope carefully made, such as is used in whaling, as a harpoon line or towline. It varies in size up to about four inches in circumference.

whale louse. Any of several degraded amphipod crustaceans of the genus Cyamus, parasitic on cetaceans, esp. C. ceti.

Whale Louse (Cyamus delphini). Dorsal View.

whale'man (hwāl'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A man employed in the whale fishery.

whale oil. A water-white to brown oil obtained from the blubber of whales, esp. the right whale. It is used as an illuminant and lubricant, in making soap, in tempering steel, in currying leather, etc.

whal'er (hwāl'ĕr), n. 1. a A vessel or person employed in the whale fishery. b A whaleboat.

2. A strolling bushman; a swagman; a sundowner; esp., a swagman who keeps near some large river, ascending on one bank and descending on the other. Slang, Australia.

whal'er (hwāl'ĕr), n. One who whales, or beats; hence, anything extraordinary, esp. in size; a whopper. Slang, U. S.

whale'road' (hwāl'rōd'), n. The sea. Poetic.

whal'er·y (hwāl'ĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -ERIES (-Iz). a The business of whaling. b A whaling establishment.

whale shark. A harmless shark (Rhineodon typus, syn. typicus) found in all tropical waters, and reaching a length of 45 feet. It has very small teeth, and its food consists of small fish and other animals strained out of the water by its fine-set gill rakers.

whale shot. Spermaceti. Obs.

whale's'-tongue' (hwālz'tŭng'), n. A marine worm of the genus Balanoglossus.

whal'ing (hwāl'ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WHALE. Specif.: n. The occupation of catching whales.

whal'ing, adj. Extraordinary of its kind, esp. in size; whacking; whopping; — used also adverbially; as, a whaling big family. Slang.

whal'ing (hwāl'ĭng), n. A thrashing; a beating. Slang.

whaling gun. A gun or any device for discharging a harpoon, bomb, or other projectile, at a whale.

whaling master. A captain of a whaling vessel, or a man in charge of a whaling station.

whaling port. A port where many whalers are owned or registered.

whaling rocket. A rocket carrying a bomb lance or the like, fired into a whale.

whal'ish (hwāl'ĭsh), adj. Like a whale. Rare.

whall'y (hwŏl'ĭ), adj. Having the iris of light color. Rare.

whal'y (hwāl'ĭ), adj. Of, like, pertaining to, or characteristic of, whales. Rare.

wham (hwăm), n. [ON. hvammr grassy hollow.] Swamp; marsh. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wham (hwăm). Scot. var. of WHOM.

wham (hwăm), interj. An exclamation expressing the loud sound of hard impact. — wham, n. — wham, v. t. & i.

whame (hwām), n. A breeze fly.

whamp (wămp), n. A wasp. Dial. Eng.

wham'ple (hwăm'p'l), n. A blow; stroke. Rare. Scot.

whang (hwăng; dial. also wăng, wäng), n. [Var. of THONG.] A thong, esp. one of leather. Chiefly Scot.

whang, v. [Partly imitative, and partly fr. whang thong.] Transitive: 1. To beat; thrash; bang; also, to strike with force. Dial. & Colloq.

2. Scot. & Dial. a To throw, hurl, or fling about violently. b To throw about or together slapdash. "I'll maybe whang up a pie." Maristan Chapman.

3. To slice, esp. in large pieces; to chop. Scot. & N. of Eng.

—, Intransitive: To strike or assail with force or violence.

whang, n. 1. A blow; whack; bang. Chiefly Dial.

2. A large piece or slice; a chunk. Scot. & Dial.

whang (hwăng), n. A resounding impact, blow, or the like; also, its sound; a bang. — whang, v. i. & t. — whang, adv. — whang, interj.

whang'am (hwăng'ăm), n. A name coined by Goldsmith for some animal represented as eating grasshoppers.

whang'doo'dle (-dōō'd'l), n. 1. An imaginary creature, of undefined character; — applied also to persons. Humorous, U. S.

2. Stuff and nonsense; poppycock; frippery. Slang, U. S.

3. Poker. A round of jack pots, usually after a hand of agreed value is shown, such as a full or fours. Slang.

whang·ee' (hwăng·ē'), n. [Prob. fr. Chin. (Pek.) huang[2]-li[2], fr. huang[2] yellow + li[2] bamboo cane.] 1. One of several Chinese bamboos of the genus Phyllostachys.

2. A walking stick of whangee (sense 1).

wha'pu·ku (hwä'pōō·kōō; colloq. hwä·pōō'-), n. Also wha'pu·ka (-kä), wha'pu·kee (-kē). [Maori.] A large edible marine fish (Polyprion oxygeneios), family Serranidae, of New Zealand waters, closely related to the European stone bass.

wha're (hwä'rā; colloq. hwŏr'ĕ), n. [Maori.] A Maori hut or house; also, any temporary hut in the New Zealand bush; Colloq., a house. Australia & New Zealand.

wha're-ku'ra (hwä'rā·kōō'rä), n. Also wha'rę-wa'nang-a (-wä'näng·ȧ). [Maori.] The house in which the high priest imparted the ancient esoteric lore to his pupils; house of learning or theological college of the Maori. New Zealand.

wha'rę-pu'ni (hwä'rā·pōō'nē), n. [Maori.] Among the Maoris, a large meetinghouse or village assembly lodge, used in cold weather as a sleeping house.

wharf (hwôrf; 258), n.; pl. WHARVES (hwôrvz), also WHARFS (hwôrfs). [ME. wharf(e), wherf, fr. AS. hwerf, hwearf, a bank, shore, orig., a turn, turning, hence a place of activity; akin to AS. hweorfan to turn, turn about, go about, D. werf a wharf, G. werft, Sw. varf a shipbuilder's yard, Dan. værft wharf, dockyard, G. werben to enlist, to engage, woo, OHG. werban to turn about, go about, be active or occupied, ON. hverfa to turn, Goth. hwairban, Gr. karpos wrist. Cf. CARPUS, WHIRL.] 1. a A structure of timber, masonry, cement, earth, or other material, built on the shore of a harbor, river, canal, or the like, esp. one extending parallel to the shore line, so that vessels may lie close alongside to receive and discharge cargo, passengers, etc. b Any structure or surface, as a pier or dock, alongside which a vessel may lie.

2. The bank of a river, or the shore of the sea. Obs.

The fat weed that roots itself in ease on Lethe wharf. Shak.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wharf dues	wharf hand	wharfland wharf duty	wharfhead	wharf owner wharf end	wharfholder	wharfside wharf fee	wharf laborer	wharf worker wharf (hwôrf), v.; WHARFED (hwôrft); WHARF'ING (hwôr'fĭng). Transitive: 1. To guard or secure by a firm wall of timber or stone constructed like a wharf. Obs.

2. To furnish with a wharf or wharves.

3. To place upon a wharf; to bring to a wharf.

—, Intransitive: Of a vessel, to dock.

wharf'age (hwôr'fĭj), n. 1. The provision or the use of a wharf; also, the handling or stowing of goods on a wharf.

2. The fee or duty paid for the privilege of using a wharf; pierage; quayage.

3. A place's wharves, collectively; wharf accommodations.

wharf boat. 1. A boat moored at a bank of a river or in a like situation, used for a wharf, where the height of the water is so variable that a fixed wharf is impracticable. U. S.

2. A boat employed about wharves.

wharf fish. The cunner Tautogolabrus adspersus. Local, U. S.

wharf'ing, n. 1. Something serving as a wharf; the materials of a wharf; also, wharves collectively.

2. Hydraul. Engin. The facing of sea walls and embankments with sheet piling secured by ties.

wharf'in·ger (hwôr'fĭn·jĕr), n. [For wharfager, with an intrusive n, as in passenger.] An owner or manager of a wharf, esp. a wharf equipped with cranes and other appliances for loading and unloading vessels, and having sheds, etc., for storage.

wharf lumper. A stevedore. See LUMPER, 3. Austral.

wharf'man (hwôrf'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A man working on or about a wharf.

wharf'mas'ter (-mäs'tĕr; 83), n. A wharfinger. U. S.

wharf monkey. A terrestrial isopod of the genus Ligyda, common about wharves along the coasts of most warm countries.

whar·frae' (hwär·frā'), adv. [Dial. whar where + frae from.] Wherefrom. Chiefly Scot.

wharf rat. 1. The common brown rat.

2. A man or boy who loafs, or, sometimes, lives, around wharves, sometimes with intent to steal from vessels, warehouses, etc. Slang.

wharf spike. = DOCK SPIKE.

wharl (hwärl). Variant of WHORL.

wharl (hwärl), n. A guttural pronunciation of the letter r; a burr. See 1st BURR, 13. — wharl, v. t. & i. Both Now Rare.

wharp (hwôrp), n. [Var. of WARP, n. (sense 6).] A kind of fine sand from the banks of the Trent, used in polishing. Eng.

whar'row (hwär'rō), n. [From wharrow, var. of WHARVE.] Obs. a A ball or pulley for a spindle thread. b A wharrow spindle.

wharrow spindle. A spindle formerly used to spin while walking. Obs.

Wharrow Spindle (Her.).

Whar'ton's duct (hwôr't'nz). [After T. Wharton (1614–73), Eng. anatomist.] Anat. The duct of the submaxillary gland. It opens into the mouth on a papilla at the side of the frenum of the tongue.

Wharton's jelly. Anat. = JELLY OF WHARTON.

wharve (hwôrv), warve (wôrv), n. [AS. hweorfa. See WHORL.] Spinning. Orig., the small fly or flywheel on the lower end of a spindle used for momentum in hand spinning; in modern spinning machinery, the small grooved pulley on a spindle, by which the spindle is driven; — called also whirl, whorl, etc.

what (hwŏt; 71; 258), pron. [AS. hwæt, neuter of hwā who; akin to OS. hwat what, OFris. hwet, D. & LG. wat, G. was, OHG. waz, hwaz, ON. hvat, Sw. & Dan. hvad, Goth. hwa. See WHO.] A pronominal word used both as singular or plural. It is: 1. An interrogative, referring to the nature or identity of an object or matter in question; as, what is this? what did you say? In certain cases what is used still of a person, where the reference is esp. to his character, occupation, or position, rather than to his identity. "What is that Barnardine?" Shak.

What is man, that thou art mindful of him? Ps. viii. 4.

Specif., equivalent to: a Of what value or consequence? "What's Fame?" Pope. b What did you say? What is it? c Colloq. What do you think of it?; — used after a statement; as, a clever play, what?

☞ Originally, what, when, where, which, who, why, etc., were interrogatives only, and it is often difficult to determine whether they are used as interrogatives or relatives.

2. A simple relative: that; which. Now Dial.

That what is extremely proper in one company may be highly improper in another. Chesterfield.

3. A compound relative, equivalent to which with an antecedent demonstrative. It is used of both persons and things for: a That which, or those [persons] who, or those [things] which.

With joy beyond what victory bestows. Cowper.

I'm thinking Captain Lawton will count the noses of what are left before they see their whaleboats. Cooper.

I know well . . . how little you will be disposed to criticize what comes to you from me. J. H. Newman.

But what has the force of who, or that, . . . not; as, he never had any money but what he absolutely needed, that is, that he did not need. b The kind or amount that; such as; as much as; as, very much what we might expect.

4. An indefinite relative: Whatever; whatsoever; what thing soever; as, call it what you please; also, Obs., whoever.

Twelfth Night, or What you Will. Shak.

5. An indefinite pronoun: Something; anything; — now only in such phrases as I tell you what, where what anticipates the following statement, being elliptical for what I think, what it is, how it is, etc.

I tell thee what, corporal Bardolph, I could tear her. Shak.

— what all. a See ALL, adj., 10. b Colloq. What it all might be; as, a jumble of chairs, dishes, and I don't know what all. — what an if. What if. Archaic. — what for. a For what reason or purpose; why. b Colloq. A whipping; punishment; as, I'll give him what for. — what for a. [Cf. G. was für ein?] What sort of; — in questions; as, what is he for a fighter? Obs. exc. Dial. — what have you. Whatever you please; anything or something else of that sort; as, a novel, a play, or what have you. Slang, U. S. — what if. What will it matter if; what will or would happen or be the result if. "What if it be poison?" Shak. — what is thee? What is the trouble with thee? Obs. — what of? What do you say or think of? as, watchman, what of the night? — what of this? that? it? etc. What follows from this, that, it, etc., often with the force of what matters, implying that it is of no consequence. "All this is so; but what of this, my lord?" Shak. "The night is spent, why, what of that?" Shak. — what's what. The true state or value of things; the proper thing; which is which; as, that will teach him what's what. Colloq. — what though. Even allowing that; supposing it true that; what matter that? "What though the field be lost? All is not lost." Milton.

what (hwŏt), adj. 1. An interrogative, referring to the nature or identity of a person, object, or matter, in question; as, what child is lost? "What manner of man is this?" Matt. viii. 27.

2. A relative, equivalent to: a The . . . which or who; the sort or kind of . . . which; such . . . as.

We know what master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel. Longfellow.

To restrain what power either the Devil or any earthly enemy hath to work us woe. Milton.

b Any . . . which or that; whatever.

Spirits . . . assume what . . . shapes they please. Pope.

c Rarely also for, the . . . on, or at, which; at the . . . when, as in the poetic "what time."

What time the mighty moon was gathering light. Tennyson.
What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee. Ps. lvi. 3.

3. How remarkable; how great; as, what folly! what eloquence! what courage!

What a piece of work is man! Shak.

What in this use has a or an between itself and its noun if the qualitative or quantitative importance of the object is emphasized. Cf. WHAT, adv., 4.

what (hwŏt), n. 1. a An interrogation of "what?" b An exclamation of "what!"

2. That which a thing is; the essence, substance, or matter, of something; also, its distinctive quality; quiddity.

3. A thing; object; something; also, matter, stuff, goods, etc.; hence, portion.

Such homely what as serves the simple clowne. Spenser.

what (hwŏt), adv. 1. Why? Obs.

What should I stay? Shak.

2. How? in what respect? as, what does it benefit him? Formerly also with exclamatory and intensive force: how great; to what degree.

3. In part; partly; somewhat; — followed by a preposition, esp. with, and often repeated with distributive force.

What for lust [pleasure] and what for lore. Chaucer.

Thus, what with the war, what with the sweat, what with the gallows, and what with poverty, I am custom shrunk. Shak.

4. Prefixed to adjectives, as nearly equivalent to how; as, what happy boys! Cf. WHAT, adj., 3.

What partial judges are our love and hate! Dryden.

what (hwŏt), conj. 1. As much as; so far as; as, he helped them what he could. Now Dial.

2. That;—in but what, but that; that . . . not. Cf. BUT, conj., 5.

Never fear but what our kite shall fly as high. Ld. Lytton.

what (hwŏt), interj. An exclamation expressing surprise or excitement, used: a Absolutely, often with the force of an uncompleted question; as, what? for "what do you mean?" etc., and frequently introducing a question. b Archaic & Dial. As a summons, or as a mere expletive, like well!; as, what ho! "What, Jessica!" Shak.

What, could ye not watch with me one hour? Matt. xxvi. 40.

what, adj. [AS. hwæt. See WHET, v.] Quick; active; bold. Obs. wha'ta (hwä'tä), n. [Maori.] A storehouse, usually thatch-roofed, built on posts capped with inverted cones to prevent rats from getting in; — called also futtah. New Zealand.

what'a·bouts' (hwŏt'ȧ·bouts'), n. Also what'a·bout' (-bout'). The things with which one is busied. Colloq.

what'-d'you (or d'ye)-call'-it (hwŏt'dyŭ-[dyĕ-]kôl'ĭt; hwŏch'ŭ-[ĕ-]), n. A thingumbob. — what'-d'you-call'-'em, -her, -him (-ĕm, -ĕr, -ĭm), etc., n. All Colloq.

what-e'er' (hwŏt·ār'; -ăr'; 79), pron. Whatever; — a contraction used esp. in poetry.

what·ev'er (hwŏt·ĕv'ĕr), pron. An emphasized equivalent of what, used: 1. Interrogatively, expressing surprise or perplexity; as, whatever do you want? Colloq.

2. Relatively: a Anything or everything that; as, take whatever you want; anything soever which.

Whatever Earth, all-bearing mother, yields. Milton.

---

whale'dom, n. See -DOM. whale'fish', n. = WHALE. Obs. whalm (hwälm; wälm). Var. of WALM (Obs.), WHELM (Dial.). whalp (hwälp; wälp). Var. of WHELP. Scot. & Dial. wham'ble (hwăm'l). Var. of WHEMMEL, n. & v. wham'mel, wham'mle (hwăm'l). Dial. vars. of WHEMMEL. wham-pee' (hwŏm-pē'). Var. of WAMPEE. [WHEN. Obs. exc. Dial. whan (hwăn; hwän). Var. of whan. + WHOM, WON. whand (hwän(d); wän(d)). Scot. var. of WAND. whang'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.
whang·hee' (hwăng·hē'). Var. of WHANGEE. whank (hwängk) v. & n. = WHANG, bang, cut, etc. Scot. & Dial. Eng. [WHOP. whap (hwŏp; wŏp; wäp). Var. of whap'per. Var. of WHOPPER. whap'per, whap'per-jawed', etc. Dial. vars. of WAPPER, WAPPER-JAWED, etc. whap'pet (hwŏp'ĕt), n. [Var. of WAPPET.] A cur. Obs. exc. Dial. whap'ping (-ĭng). Var. of WHOPPING. whar. + WARE, WERE, WHETHER.
whar, ware (hwär). Vars. of WHERE. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
whar-e'er'. Scot. var. of WHEREVER. whar'less, adj. See -LESS. whar'ry (hwŏr'ĭ). Var. of WHARE. whart (hwärt). Var. of QUART. Obs. exc. Dial. whart. + WART, THWART. whase (hwäz; hwŏz; hwäz). Scot. & Dial. var. of WHOSE.
wha's'le (hwä'z'l). Scot. var. of WHEEZLE. whate, n. [AS. hwæt augury.] Fortune; fate; omen. Obs. what'en. Var. of WHATTEN.

b No matter what; as, whatever you do, take care; also, notwithstanding anything that.

Take no repulse, whatever she doth say. Shak.

what-ev'er (hwŏt-ĕv'ĕr), adj. Of any kind soever that it may be; — often following its noun; as, no food whatever.

Whatever fortune stays him from his word. Shak.

what ho (hwŏt hō'). An exclamatory phrase used in calling or hailing or, formerly, inciting.

what-is'-it (hwŏt-ĭz'ĭt), what 's'-it (hwŏts'ĭt), n. A thingumbob. Colloq., U. S.

what'kin (hwŏt'kĭn), adj. What kind of. Obs. exc. Dial.

what'like' (hwŏt'lĭk'), adj. Of what sort or kind; — used as an indefinite relative. Chiefly Dial.

what'ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. The what of a thing; esp., its quiddity, or distinctive nature.

what not. An elliptical expression, equivalent to what might I not mention, say, do, or the like, used esp. at the close of an enumeration to imply other items not considered worth mentioning; hence, anything, or whatever, you choose to name, supply, add, or the like.

Men hunt, hawk, and what not. Becon.
Some dead puppy, or log, or what not. C. Kingsley.
Battles, tournaments, hunts, and what not. De Quincey.

what'not' (hwŏt'nŏt'), n. 1. a A thing; a something; esp., a thing that might be mentioned by way of addition to others in the context; also, a nondescript object or article; as, ornamented with a few glass whatnots. b A miscellany.

2. Furniture. A light open set of shelves used in 19th-century parlors for bric-a-brac, etc.

what price. Of what worth or value [is]? hence, what 's the use of? as, what price glory? also, loosely, what about? how about? Slang.

what'reck' (hwät'rĕk'; hwŏt'-), adv. [See WHAT, interrog.; RECK, n. & v.] Notwithstanding. Scot.

what 's (hwŏts). Colloq. contraction of what is.

what 's'-its-name' (hwŏts'ĭts-nām'), n. A thingumbob. — what 's'-his-name' (-ĭz-), n. — what 's'-her-name' (-ĕr-), n. All Colloq.

what'so (hwŏt'sō), pron. a Archaic. Whatever. b Obs. Whoever. — adj. Whatever. Archaic.

Whatso the heaven in his wide vault contains. Spenser.

what'so-e'er' (hwŏt'sō-ā'r'; -ā'r'; 79), pron. Whatsoever; — a contraction used chiefly in poetry.

what'so-ev'er (-ĕv'ĕr), pron. & adj. A more formal or intensive form of whatever. "In whatsoever shape he lurk." Milton. "Whatsoever God hath said unto thee, do." Gen. xxxi. 16. As an adjective it is sometimes divided by tmesis. "What things soever ye desire." Mark xi. 24.

what'ten (hwŏt'n), pron. & adj. What; what kind of. Obs. exc. Dial.

what'-you-may-call'-it (hwŏch'ŭ-mā-kôl'ĭt), n. A thingumbob. — what'-you-may-call'-'em, -her, -him (-ĕm, -ĕr, -ĭm), n. All Colloq.

what way. Scot. a Why. b How.

whau (wä; wô), interj. = WHY interj. Dial. Eng.

whau (hwou), n. [Maori.] A New Zealand tree (Entelea arborescens), family Tiliaceae; also, its very light wood used for making floats for native fishing nets.

whaup (hwäp; hwôp), n. [From one of its notes.] The European curlew Numenius arquatus; — called also the *great whaup. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

whaup, v. i. To cry like a whaup; to whistle or whine. Scot.

whaup, n. Outcry; fuss. Scot. & N. of Eng.

whaup (hwäp; hwôp), n. Pod; also, lout; scoundrel. Scot.

whauve (wôv), v. t. & i. [ON. hvalva. See WHELM.] To cover, as by turning upside down; to hang or lean over. Dial. Eng.

wheal (hwēl), n. [ME. whele, fr. AS. hwele (doubtful word); akin to AS. hwelian to suppurate, and perh. to Lett. kwēle inflammation of a wound. Cf. WHELK pustule.] 1. A pustule; a whelk.

2. Med. A flat burning or itching eminence on the skin, such as is produced by a mosquito bite, or in urticaria.

wheal, v. t. & i. To suppurate. Obs.

wheal (hwēl), n. [From weal a wale, confused with wheal a pustule.] A more or less elongated mark raised by a stroke; also, a like mark made in any way; a weal; wale.

wheal, v. t.; WHEALED (hwēld); WHEAL'ING. To make or cause a wheal or wheals upon.

wheal (wēl), n. [Corn. hwel.] Mining. A mine. Cornwall.

wheal'worm' (hwēl'wûrm'), n. The harvest mite; — so called from the wheals caused by its bite.

wheat (hwēt; 258), n. [ME. whete, fr. AS. hwǣte; akin to OS. hwēti, D. weit, G. weizen, OHG. weizzi, ON. hveiti, Sw. hvete, Dan. hvede, Goth. hwaiteis, and E. WHITE.] 1. Any grass of the genus Triticum, esp. T. vulgare, the common wheat of cultivation and the source of most of the varieties of wheat, which are characterized by their wide climatic adaptability and are grown in the great wheat-raising areas of North America, Europe, and Australia. Wheat is closely related to rye and barley and has a long, dense, 4-sided spike, the lemmas awned or awnless (bearded or beardless wheats), and the spikelets containing two to three, sometimes four or more, white to dark-red kernels which separate readily from the chaff in threshing. Besides the common wheat which contains most of the bread wheats, the cultivated varieties form a number of groups each belonging to a separate species and varying in economic importance (see CLUB WHEAT, DURUM WHEAT, EMMER, EINKORN, POLISH WHEAT, POULARD WHEAT, and SPELT).

Wheat. a Bald (or Beardless) Wheat; b Bearded Wheat.

2. a The well-known cereal grain produced by these plants, the most important food of temperate climates and next to rice the most largely used of any grain. It yields a fine white flour, which is made into bread, cakes, pastry, etc., of all kinds (see FLOUR). Wheat is also largely used coarsely ground, rolled, or crushed. From the hard wheats macaroni, spaghetti, and similar pastes are made. Wheat is highly nutritious, containing more protein and slightly less starch than corn. Flour milled from the whole or nearly whole grain (called graham flour, and entire-wheat, or whole-wheat, flour) contains about 2 per cent more proteins and 4 per cent less carbohydrates than ordinary flour, from which the bran of the grain is removed; experiments have shown, however, that ordinary flour is the more completely digested. The secondary products of milling wheat, as bran, middlings, etc., also inferior grades of flour, are largely used as feed for stock. The origin of wheat is not definitely known, and it probably no longer occurs in a wild state. It was an important food crop in ancient Egypt and in Palestine, and among the lake dwellers of Switzerland, wheat grains being found commonly in various archaeological remains. At the present time the United States exceeds all other countries in the total annual output of wheat, but Denmark in recent years has produced the largest yield per acre. Among the important varieties of wheat are: in the United States, Marquis, Turkey, Kanred, Hultz, and Kubanka; in Australia, Federation; in Great Britain and central Europe, Squarehead. b A crop of this cereal whether growing or harvested.

3. Exchanges. Wheat as a commodity on the exchanges.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wheat berry	wheat-growing, adj.	wheat-rich wheat-blossoming, adj.	wheat-hid	wheat seed wheat-colored	wheat meal	wheat sheaf wheat-fed	wheat-producing, adj.	wheatstalk
wheat field	wheat-raising, adj.	wheat stem wheat-straw, adj.
		wheat weigher

wheat aphid or aphis. Any of several plant lice of the family Aphididae, which suck the sap of growing wheat, as the grain aphid Macrosiphum granaria and Rhopalosiphum pruniforae.

wheat beetle. a A small, slender, rusty-brown beetle (Silvanus surinamensis) whose larvae feed upon wheat, rice, and other grains. b The drugstore beetle, whose larvae eat the interior of grains of wheat. c A grain beetle or flour beetle.

Wheat Beetle (Anobium paniceum). a Imago; b Larva.

wheat belt. An agricultural region in which more land is devoted to the production of wheat than to any other one crop. In the United States there is a winter wheat belt south of the great corn belt and a spring wheat belt northwest of the corn belt in Minnesota and the Dakotas. The spring wheat belt extends into Canada.

wheat'bird' (hwēt'bûrd'), n. a (pron. also wēt'-) Local, Eng. The chaffinch. b Western N. A. The horned lark.

wheat bug. Any true bug that damages wheat, as Miris tritici or an allied species.

wheat bulb fly. The adult of the wheat bulb worm.

wheat bulb worm. The larva of a small fly which infests the stalk of wheat, as Meromyza americana in North America or Hylemyia coarctata in Europe.

wheat chafer. Any beetle that feeds on growing wheat, esp. Anisoplia austriaca, often a pest in parts of Europe.

wheat cutworm. Any lepidopterous larva that cuts off the stalk of wheat at the base, as the fall army worm and several true cutworms.

wheat duck. The American widgeon. Western U. S.

wheat'ear' (hwēt'ēr'), n. An ear of wheat. — wheat'-eared' (-ērd'), adj.

wheat'ear' (hwēt'ēr'), n. [Prob. for white-ear, where ear is perh. fr. ME. ers rump (cf. ARSE), mistaken as a pl. Cf. WHITE-EAR, WHITETAIL.] A small bird (Oenanthe, syn. Saxicola, oenanthe) of northern Europe, Asia, and America, allied to the stonechat and whinchat. The male has a bluish-gray back, buffy breast, white rump and belly, blackish wings, and a black line through the eye. It inhabits rocky places chiefly. The white rump is conspicuous in flight.

Wheatear.

wheatear cockle. The wheatworm.

wheat eel or eelworm. The wheatworm.

wheat'en (hwēt''n), adj. [AS. hwǣten.] Of, pertaining to, or made of, wheat; as, wheaten bread, straw; also, of the color of wheat.

wheat'en, n. The color of wheat.

wheat fly. a The wheat midge. b The wheat gallfly. c The Hessian fly. d Any of several flies of the genus Oscinis, as O. soror whose larvae live in the stems of wheat.

wheat gallfly. The imago of the jointworm.

wheat grass. Any grass of the genus Agropyron, esp. the bearded wheat grass (A. caninum), the western wheat grass A. smithii, and the couch grass A. repens.

wheat'grow'er (hwēt'grō'ĕr), n. One who grows wheat.

wheat'-head' ar'my worm. The larva of a noctuid moth (Neleucania albilinea), destructive to the heads of timothy, wheat, and other grasses.

wheat jointworm. See JOINTWORM.

wheat'land' (hwēt'lănd'), n. Land sown, or to be sown, with wheat.

wheat louse. Any wheat aphid.

wheat maggot. The larva of any wheat fly, esp. of a wheat midge.

wheat midge. a A small two-winged fly (Thecodiplosis mosellana) which is very destructive to growing wheat, both in Europe and America. The female lays her eggs in the flowers of wheat, and the larvae suck the juice of the young kernels and when grown change to pupae in the earth. b The Hessian fly.

Wheat Midge (Thecodiplosis mosellana). a Larvae in Flowers of Wheat; b Larva on a Grain of Wheat; c Larva; d Female Imago.

wheat mildew. Plant Pathol. Either of two diseases of wheat; the powdery mildew caused by Erysiphe graminis and the downy mildew caused by Sclerospora macrospora.

wheat mite. A flour mite.

wheat mixed feed. Wheat offals used as a stock feed.

wheat moth. Any moth whose larvae devour the grains of wheat, chiefly after it is harvested; a grain moth, flour moth, or meal moth. See ANGOUMOIS MOTH.

wheat pest. A small midge (Oscinis frit) that does great damage to wheat in Europe.

wheat plant louse. A wheat aphid.

wheat rosette. Plant Pathol. A virus disease of wheat characterized by retarded growth, excessive tillering, a dark-green coloration of the overwintering leaves, and more or less mosaic mottling.

Wheat Pest. (× 5)

wheat rust. Plant Pathol. a Any of three diseases of wheat caused by rust fungi, of which the stem rust caused by Puccinia graminis is the most serious. The stem rust spreads throughout the summer by means of urediniospores which as they develop cause rusty patches on the leaves and stems. Toward fall the fungus produces teliospores which survive the winter; in the following spring they germinate, forming a promycelium with sterigmata from which basidiospores are abstricted; these develop only upon the leaves of the common barberry, on which they produce aecia, or "cluster cups." The spores now arising (aeciospores) in turn infect wheat, thus completing the life cycle of the rust. The barberry phase in the life cycle is often absent, as in Australia, parts of the U. S., etc. The common orange leaf rust is caused by P. triticina, and stripe rust by P. glumarum (see these terms). b Any fungus causing one of these diseases. See RUST, n., 6; UREDINALES; PUCCINIA.

wheat sawfly. a The wheat-stem sawfly. b Any of several small American sawflies of the genus Dolerus, as D. sericeus and D. arvensis, whose larvae injure the stems or heads of wheat. c Pachynematus extensicornis, whose larvae feed principally on the blades of wheat.

wheat scab. Plant Pathol. A destructive disease of wheat caused by the sac fungus Gibberella saubinetii, characterized by head blight. The same fungus also attacks barley and corn.

wheat'sel bird (hwēt'sĕl). [wheat + sele time, season.] The male chaffinch. Local, Eng.

wheat smut. Plant Pathol. Any smut of wheat, as bunt.

wheat States. Those States of the United States producing the main crop of wheat. They include: spring-wheat States, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington; winter-wheat States, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Washington. Durum wheat is included under spring wheat in the above classification.

wheat'-stem' mag'got. The larva of a small pale-yellow, black-striped fly (Meromyza americana), family Oscinidae, which bores in the stems of wheat and other cereals.

Wheat-stem Sawfly (Cephus pygmaeus). (× 1½) wheat stem rust. See STEM RUST.

wheat-stem sawfly. Either of two sawflies (Cephus pygmaeus and C. cinctus), whose larvae bore in the stalks of wheat, doing great injury.

Wheat'stone's, or Wheat'stone, bridge (hwēt'stŭn[z]; -stōn[z]). [After Sir Charles Wheatstone, Eng. physicist, its inventor.] Elec. A device for the measurement of resistances, so called because the balance between the resistances to be measured is indicated by the absence of a current in a certain wire forming a bridge or connection between two branches of the circuit. When no current flows through the bridge wire, the arms, R_1, R_2, R_3, R_4 are said to be in electric balance, the voltage drop in R_1 being equal to the voltage drop in R_2 and the voltage drop in R_3 being equal to the voltage drop in R_4.

Diagram of Wheatstone's Bridge. R_1, R_2 Ratio Arms of known resistance; R_3 Resistance to be measured; R_4 Variable Resistance Arm; G Galvanometer; E Battery. When G shows no current, $R_1 : R_2 = R_3 : R_4$.

Wheatstone's net. Elec. A system of electric circuits in multiple with each other or partly in multiple and partly in series. The simplest form is a Wheatstone's bridge.

Wheatstone's rods. [See WHEATSTONE'S BRIDGE.] Acoustics. Flexible rods the periods of vibration of which in two planes at right angles are in some exact ratio to one another. When one end of such a rod is fixed, the free end describes, in vibrating, the corresponding Lissajous figure.

Wheatstone transmitter. An automatic telegraph transmitter using a perforated tape engaging with one end of a marking rod or lever, the other end of which opens and closes the circuit.

wheat take-all. = TAKE-ALL.

wheat thief. Gromwell, which is a weed troublesome to wheat.

wheat thrips. Any of numerous thysanopterous insects which infest wheat and damage the grain, as in America Frankliniella (syn. Thrips) tritici or Anaphothrips obscurus and in Europe Limothrips denticornis, L. cerealium, or Haplothrips aculeatus.

wheat weevil. a The grain weevil. b The rice weevil when found in wheat. c The wheat thrips.

wheat'worm' (hwēt'wûrm'), n. A small nematode worm (Tylenchus tritici) which attacks wheat, advancing through the stem to the grains in the ear.

wheat'y (hwēt'ĭ), adj. Like wheat; also, formerly, wheaten.

whee (hwē), interj. [Cf. WHEW, WHOO.] An exclamation expressing a whistling sound; — used often to express delight. — whee, n. — whee, v. i.

whee'dle (hwē'd'l), v.; WHEE'DLED (-d'ld); WHEE'DLING (-dlĭng). [Perh. fr. AS. wǣdlian to be in want, to beg, fr. wǣdl poverty.] Transitive: 1. To entice by soft words or the like; to cajole; flatter; coax; as, to wheedle one out of one's money.

And wheedle a world that loves him not. Tennyson.

2. To gain, or get away, by flattery or coaxing; as, to wheedle permission from a parent.

The money which these men wheedle out of you. C. Kingsley.

—, Intransitive: To flatter; coax; cajole.

Syn. and Ant. — See COAX.

whee'dle, n. Act or an instance of wheedling; also, one who wheedles; a wheedler. Rare.

whee'dler (hwē'dlĕr), n. One who wheedles.

whee'dling (-dlĭng), adj. Coaxing; cajoling; flattering. — whee'dling-ly, adv.

wheel (hwēl; 258), n. [ME. wheel, hweol, fr. AS. hwēol, hweogul, hweowol; akin to D. wiel, ON. hvēl, hjōl, Gr. kyklos, Skr. cakra, OSlav. kolo wheel, Gr. polos axis, L. colere to be busy, cultivate, dwell, Gr. pelomai I go, move, am, telos end, teleos complete, tēle far, palai long ago, palaios ancient, Skr. carati he moves, goes. Cf. CALASH, CHUKKER, COLONY, CULTURE, CYCLE, CYCLOPEDIA, 1st JACK, PALEOLITHIC, 1st POLE, PULLEY, SCARLET, TALISMAN amulet, TELEOLOGY, TELESCOPE.] 1. A disk, or a circular frame or body, whether solid or built up, capable of turning on a central axis; as, a cart wheel; a cog*wheel;* a fly*wheel;* a spur wheel. The common vehicle wheel consists usually of a central nave or hub, in which the axle is inserted, connected by radial spokes with fellies over which is shrunk the iron rim or tire. Wheels are used to lessen friction, and hence to diminish tractive force, esp.

---

what'n (hwŏt''n), what'na (hwŏt'nä). Vars. of WHATTEN.

what'some (hwŏt'sŭm), adj. & pron. Whatever. Obs.

what'som-ev'er (wŏt'sŭm-ĕv'ĕr), adj. & pron. = WHATSOEVER. Now Dial. [of WHACK.]

whauk (hwäk; hwôk). Scot. var. of WHACK.

whaur (hwōr; hwär). Scot. & Ir. var. of WHERE.

whawl (wôl). Var. of WAUL.

whay. Var. of WHEY. Dial.

wheal'y, adj. See -Y.

wheam (hwēm). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of QUEME.

wheat. † WHITE.

wheat'less, adj. See -LESS.

wheat'like', adj. See -LIKE.

whed'der, whed'er (hwĕd'ĕr). Vars. of WHETHER. Obs. exc. Dial.

whee (wē). Var. of QUEY. Obs. exc. Dial.

whee'did. Wheedled. Ref. Sp.

whee'dle-some, adj. See -SOME.

FIFTY WILD FLOWERS OF AMERICA

COPYRIGHT, 1934, G. & C. MERRIAM CO.

when supporting a vehicle. When provided with cogs or teeth on the rim, or more rarely on the face, wheels are largely used to transmit and modify force and motion in machinery, etc. For other uses, see BALANCE WHEEL, FLYWHEEL, etc.

2. Anything resembling or likened to a wheel (sense 1); also, chiefly Poetic, any of various things shaped like an orb or disk.

3. An instrument or device in which the chief essential consists of a wheel or wheels; specif.: a Short for POTTER'S WHEEL, SPINNING WHEEL, PADDLE WHEEL, etc. b A wheeled vehicle specif., Colloq., a bicycle, or, rarely, a tricycle.

Dished Cart Wheel. a Axle, bent to bring bottom of the tapered Spindle (b) horizontal, so as to prevent crowding of Spindle Box against the Nut c. The Wheel is thus swung out of the perpendicular, and if flat, as at d f, it would bear against the ground obliquely, as at f. By dishing it, the Rim takes the shape and position e g, which brings it fairly against the ground, and the Spokes (h) come in turn to the perpendicular, as each is brought to bear.

4. a An instrument used in an old mode of torture or execution in which the victim was fastened to a cart wheel, or a frame somewhat resembling one, with his legs and arms extended, and his limbs were broken by striking them with an iron bar. b The torture or punishment itself.

5. The emblematic wheel of the personified Fortune, symbolizing the rapid alternations of human fate; as, each turn of Fortune's wheel seemed to bring him better things.

6. A turn or revolution; rotation; compass. "The common vicissitude and wheel of things." South.

[He] throws his steep flight in many an aery wheel. Milton.

7. Figuratively: a pl. The machinery which propels or operates anything; the moving power or elements; as, the wheels of government; money oils the wheels of life; also, sing., one of the constituent parts or elements of such machinery. b The directing or controlling force or element.

8. = CART WHEEL, a dollar.

9. The refrain or burden of a song. See BOB, n., 6.

10. Archaeol. In ancient art, any circular design with radii suggesting spokes, usually symbolic, as in representations of the sun-god. The four-spoked wheel is also known as the wheel cross, esp. as used by Celts in the bronze age representing the chariot of the sun.

11. Fireworks. A firework which rotates while burning. Cf. PIN WHEEL, c.

12. Mil. & Nav. A movement of troops or vessels in line in which the units preserve alignment and relative positions but change direction, pivoting on a unit at the end of the line or upon an imaginary point beyond it.

13. Naut. a A circular frame having handles on the periphery, and an axle so connected with the tiller as to form a means of controlling the rudder for steering. Usually the axle is prolonged in a barrel around which the tiller or wheel ropes are wound, and the larger the wheel the greater the leverage and hence the power obtained. When steam steering gear is used, as in most large vessels, the wheel usually operates ropes connected to the valve of the steering engine which in turn moves the tiller. b A trick, or spell, at the wheel; the steersman's watch. c By extension, the man at the wheel; the steersman.

14. Needlework. A circular design with radiating bars, in imitation of a cart wheel or a spider's web.

15. Old Astron. One of the revolving, concentric spheres to which the planets and fixed stars were supposed to be attached.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wheel-broad	wheel-marked	wheel-spun wheel-cutting, adj.	wheel-mounted	wheel-supported wheel-footed	wheel-resembling, adj.	wheel-turned wheel-going, adj.		wheel-turning, adj.
wheel-made	wheelroad	wheelway wheelmaker	wheel-shaped	wheel welder wheelmaking	wheel-smashed	wheel-worn

— at the wheel. a Occupying a position next to the wheel; — said of a draught animal, orig. and esp. a horse. See WHEEL HORSE. b Stationed at or controlling the steering wheel; hence, guiding; directing; in control or charge. — a wheel within a wheel, or wheels within wheels. A complication of circumstances, motives, etc. — in the wheel. = at the wheel a, above. — on the wheel. = on wheels a, below. — on wheels. a Riding on or in a wheeled vehicle. b As if rolling on wheels; smoothly; easily; also, quickly.

wheel (hwēl, 258), adj. 1. Of or consisting of a wheel; as, a wheel trap.

2. Wheel-shaped; like a wheel in design or construction; specif., having or using a central point or points from which main lines radiate like the spokes of a wheel; as, wheel tracery; a medieval wheel map, with Jerusalem as its center; a city built on the wheel plan.

3. Having, esp. mounted on, a wheel or wheels; wheeled; as, a wheel excavator; also, riding in or on a wheeled vehicle.

4. Next to the wheels; — of draught animals. See WHEEL HORSE.

wheel (hwēl), v.; WHEELED (hwēld); WHEEL'ING. Transitive: 1. To convey or move on wheels, or in a wheeled vehicle; as, to wheel a load; to wheel a piano into place.

2. To cause to turn or revolve; to rotate; revolve; as, to wheel one's horse in a circle; to wheel a regiment.

3. To make or perform in a circle; to make circular in form. "The beetle wheels her droning flight." Gray.

4. To put wheels on; as, to wheel a wagon.

5. To treat on a wheel; as: a To shape on a potter's wheel. b To dress (a skin) on a wheel. See FLUFF, v. t.

6. To subject to torture by the wheel. Obs.

7. Shoemaking. To indent with a wheel. See WHEEL, v. i., 6, below.

8. Tanning. To treat by revolving in a pin wheel.

—, Intransitive: 1. To turn on or as on an axis; to revolve.

The moon carried about the earth always shows the same face to us, not once wheeling upon her own center. Bentley.

Specif., to reel, as in giddiness; to become giddy.

2. To change direction as if revolving upon an axis or pivot; to turn; as, the troops wheeled to the right; he wheeled completely around in his opinion.

3. To go round in a circuit; to fetch a compass.

Then wheeling down the steep of heaven he flies. Pope.

4. To go on or as if on wheels; to roll forward; to move or proceed smoothly, easily, rapidly, or the like.

5. Specif., to ride a bicycle or, rarely, a tricycle; also, formerly, to ride in a wheeled vehicle. Colloq.

6. Shoemaking. To make or form with a wheel a series of small indentations, as along the upper edge of the heel of a shoe.

wheel (hwēl). Var. of WHEAL, n.

wheel (wēl). Var. of WEEL, n.

wheel'age (hwēl'ĭj), n. A tax or toll for allowing wheeled vehicles to pass.

wheel and axle. A device consisting of a grooved wheel (turned by a cord or chain) with a rigidly attached axle (for winding up a weight by a cord or chain), together with the supporting standards. Cf. SIMPLE MACHINE.

wheel animal or animalcule. A rotifer.

wheel back. A chair back having a splat cut out or carved or having spindles arranged so as to represent a wheel. — wheel'-back', wheel'-backed', adj.

wheel'band' (hwēl'bănd'), n. Formerly: a The tire of a wheel. b A belt or band that goes around a wheel.

wheel barometer. A siphon barometer with a float, from which a cord passes over a pulley and moves an index.

wheel'bar'row (hwēl'băr'ō), n. Any of various small vehicles with handles and one or more wheels, for conveying small loads, esp. one with a single wheel pivoted between the ends of a pair of shafts formed into handles at the other end, and supporting the body of the vehicle.

1 Gardener's Wooden Wheelbarrow; 2 Steel Foundry Wheelbarrow.

wheel'bar'row, v. t. To convey in a wheelbarrow. — wheel'-bar'row·er (-ō-ĕr), n.

wheel base. 1. The figure enclosed by lines through the points of contact of the wheels of a vehicle, etc., with the surface on rails on which they run; more esp., the length of this figure measured in the direction of motion of the vehicle.

2. In automotive vehicles, the distance in inches between the front and rear axles, or between the centers of the points of contact of the front and rear wheels with the ground.

wheel bearer. A rotifer.

wheel'bird' (hwēl'bûrd'; wēl'-), n. The European nightjar. Local, Eng.

wheel'box' (hwēl'bŏks'), n. Naut. A box or casing over the steering gear of a vessel.

wheel bug. A large North American hemipterous insect (Arilus cristatus) which sucks blood of other insects; — so called from a high serrated crest on its prothorax.

Wheel Bug. A Adult; B Young.

wheel case. A fireworks case for attaching to the rim of a pin wheel or other revolving piece.

wheel chain. a See CHAIN, n., 9. b Naut. A chain used as a wheel rope.

wheel chair. A chair mounted on wheels, usually to be pushed or pulled by an attendant, as a Bath chair.

wheel colter. Agric. Mach. A rolling colter. See COLTER.

wheel control. Control by rotation of the wheel of a control column. See CONTROL COLUMN.

wheel cross. See WHEEL, n., 10.

wheel cultivator. Agric. Mach. a A cultivator with blades on the periphery of a wheel. b A cultivating machine mounted on and supported by wheels.

wheel'-cut', adj. Cut on a revolving wheel; — of (cut) glass.

wheeled (hwēld), adj. Having a wheel or wheels; as, a wheeled chair; wheeled vehicles.

-wheeled (-hwēld). A combining form of wheeled, denoting having (so many or such) wheels, as in:

broad-wheeled	ten-wheeled	wire-wheeled fire-wheeled	three-wheeled	wooden-wheeled four-wheeled	two-wheeled wheeled hand hoe. Agric. Mach. A wheel hoe.

wheel'er (hwēl'ĕr), n. 1. One who or that which wheels; as: a One who conveys, esp. one whose occupation is to convey, articles by wheeling; — often with away, in, off, out. b One who wheels about in marching, esp. the pivot man in the evolution; hence, one who readily turns about in opinion, etc. c Colloq. A cyclist. d = WHEEL SCRAPER.

2. A maker of wheels; a wheelwright. Obs. exc. Dial.

3. That which has wheels, as a vehicle or vessel; — now chiefly in compounds; as, a side-wheeler; a four-wheeler.

4. A wheel horse or, by extension, other draught animal in a similar position; — used also figuratively. See WHEEL HORSE.

5. One of the granite paving blocks laid contiguous to the curb, esp. on grades, to carry heavy wheel loads.

6. The European nightjar. Local, Eng.

7. Shoemaking. One who indents with a wheel; as, a seat wheeler, welt wheeler.

wheel'er·y (-ĭ), n. Wheeling; a turning about. Rare.

wheel excavator. A power-driven, wheel-supported machine for excavating trenches for tile drains.

wheel governor. Mach. A common variety of shaft governor (see GOVERNOR, 6) arranged inside the rim of a wheel.

wheel hoe. Agric. Mach. A wheel cultivator, esp. one pushed and manipulated by hand.

wheel horse. A horse, or one of the horses, nearest to the wheels, as opposed to a leader, or forward horse; figuratively, one in any labor or enterprise who does especially steady and effective work; as, a wheel horse of a party.

wheel'house' (hwēl'hous'), n. A structure housing a wheel or wheels; specif., Naut.: a A small house on or above deck, containing the steering wheel. b A paddle box.

wheel'ing (hwēl'ĭng), n. 1. Act of one that wheels; as: a Act of conveying anything, or traveling, on wheels, or in a wheeled vehicle. b A turning or circular movement. c Colloq. Cycling. d A furnishing with wheels. e Obs. Subjection to the punishment of breaking on a wheel.

2. Condition of a road, or roads, which admits of passing on wheels; as, it is good wheeling, or bad wheeling.

3. A woolen yarn of a medium coarse grade.

4. Leather. = FLUFFING.

wheel'ing, adj. That wheels (in various senses). — wheel'ing·ly, adv.

wheel lathe. Math. See 2d LATHE, 1.

wheel load. That part of the load of a vehicle which is carried by a single wheel and transmitted by it to a road surface, a track, or the like. The larger the number of wheels, the smaller is the single wheel load and the less is the potential injury to the road.

wheel load weigher. A portable device for determining the wheel load of a motor vehicle.

wheel lock. a A former kind of gunlock in which sparks were struck from a flint, or piece of iron pyrites, by a revolving wheel; also, a gun equipped with such a gunlock. b = 2d LOCK, 13 b.

wheel'man (hwēl'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. One who makes wheels or tends a wheel; specif., Now Rare, a wheelsman.

2. One who rides a bicycle or tricycle; a cycler, or cyclist.

wheel map. See WHEEL, adj., 2.

wheel money. Archaeol. One of the wheel-shaped metal objects of the Bronze Age, regarded by some as money, but by others as symbols of the sun.

wheel of fortune. a = WHEEL, n., 5. b A gambling or lottery device consisting of a wheel which is spun horizontally, articles or sums, which certain marks on its circumference indicate when it comes to rest, being distributed according to varying rules.

wheel of life. a A zoetrope. b Hinduism & Buddhism. The process of transmigration, likened to a wheel.

wheel ore. The mineral bournonite; — so called when occurring in wheel-shaped twin crystals.

wheel organ. Zool. The trochal disc of a rotifer.

wheel pen. A drawing pen with the nib replaced by a rotating toothed wheel.

wheel pit. A pit in which the lower part of a flywheel runs.

wheel plate. a = QUADRANT PLATE. b A flat, horizontal, metallic ring fastened to the under forward end of a carriage bottom and having its center, which is in the axis of the king bolt, coinciding with the center of the sweep plate.

wheel plow. Agric. Mach. A plow mounted on wheels.

wheel'race' (hwēl'rās'), n. The place in which a water wheel is set.

wheel rod. Naut. A length of metal rod taking the place of a portion of a wheel chain or wheel rope.

wheel rope. Naut. A rope leading from the axis or barrel of a steering wheel, or from a steering engine, to the tiller, enabling the rudder to be moved by revolving the wheel. Chains are now more commonly used on large vessels.

wheel scraper. A road scraper mounted on wheels. Modern types may be operated singly or in trains of several units drawn by powerful tractors.

wheels'man (hwēlz'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). One who handles a wheel; esp., a steersman; strictly, one who steers by turning a wheel.

wheel'smith' (hwēl'smĭth'), n. A smith who makes wheels.

wheel'spin' (-spĭn'), n. Automobiles. Rotation of the wheels without securing traction.

wheel stitch. Needlework. A stitch resembling a spider's web, worked on the material, not over an open space.

wheel tracery. Tracery, as in a wheel window (which see), radiating from a center like the spokes of a wheel.

wheel trap. A fish trap, used esp. in Alaska, consisting of a wheel revolved by the current and provided with scoops for taking the fish and a receptacle in which the scoops deposit them.

wheel tree. a The paddlewood. b An Australian tree (Stenocarpus sinuatus), family Proteaceae, having the flowers in a circular cluster.

wheel trolley. Elec. Railways. See TROLLEY, n., 5.

wheel window. Arch. A circular window having radiating mullions like the spokes of a wheel. Cf. ROSE WINDOW; WHEEL TRACERY.

wheel'work' (hwēl'wûrk'), n. Mach. Wheels in gear, and their connections, etc., in a machine or mechanism.

wheel'wright' (-rīt'), n. A man whose occupation is to make or repair wheels and wheeled vehicles. — wheel'-wright'ing, n.

wheel'y (hwēl'ĭ), adj. Colloq. a Circular; suitable to rotation. b Rolling, whirling, etc., like a wheel.

wheen (hwēn), n. [AS. hwēne, hwǣne, a little, somewhat, fr. hwōn little, few. Cf. WHONE.] Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir. a A few; several; a quantity or considerable number. b A division; a group.

— a wheen. A little; — used adverbially. Scot.

wheen, adj. Few. Obs. Scot.

wheen'cat' (hwēn'kăt'; wēn'-), n. [Dial. wheencat, queancat. See QUEAN.] A female cat. Local, Eng.

wheep (hwēp). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WHIP.

wheep (hwēp), n. [Imitative.] a A wheeple. b A sound like that of a steel blade being unsheathed. — wheep, v. i. & t.

whee'ple (hwē'p'l), n. [Imitative.] The drawn-out shrill cry or whistle of certain birds, as the curlew or plover. — whee'ple, v. i. & t.

Then there was perhaps three minutes' silence, till a fainter wheeple came from the direction of the Tower. John Buchan.

wheer'l·kins (hwēr'l·kĭnz), n. pl. The posteriors. Scot.

whee'tle (hwē't'l), v. i. [Imitative.] To chirp or whistle shrilly. Chiefly Scot.

wheeze (hwēz; 258), v. i.; WHEEZED (hwēzd); WHEEZ'ING (hwēz'ĭng). [ME. whesen, fr. or akin to ON. hvæsa to hiss; akin to L. queror I complain, Lith. šušinti to hiss through the air, Skr. śvasiti he breathes, snorts, sighs; but not to AS. hwōsan to cough, E. hoose. Cf. 2d QUARREL.] To breathe hard, and with an audible piping or whistling sound, as persons affected with asthma; also, to make a sound like or suggestive of such breathing; as, an old car wheezing along. "Wheezing lungs." Shak. — v. t. To utter with a wheeze.

wheeze, n. 1. A piping or whistling sound caused by difficult respiration; also, any similar sound; as the wheeze of the broken exhaust pipe in his car.

2. Slang. a Orig., a theatrical gag, esp. one used repeatedly; hence, a familiar saying, adage, or tale; a joke or witticism, esp. an old one. b A device, dodge, or trick; a contrivance; also, a tip, or hint.

wheez'er (hwēz'ĕr), n. a One who or that which wheezes. b Local, N. Y. The American merganser.

wheez'ing·ly (hwēz'ĭng·lĭ), adv. With a wheeze.

whee'zle (hwē'z'l), v. i. To wheeze. — whee'zle, n. Both Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

wheez'y (hwēz'ĭ), adj.; WHEEZ'I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WHEEZ'I·EST. Wheezing, or making or having a sound like wheezing; as, a wheezy melodeon. — wheez'i·ly, adv. — wheez'i·ness, n.

Dan waited for him to invoke deity with the asthmatic wheeziness to which mirth reduced his vocal apparatus. Meredith Nicholson.

wheft (hwĕft), n. Naut. A waft, or pennant. See WAFT, n., 5.

wheel'bar'row·ful, n. See -FUL. wheel'dom, n. See -DOM. wheel'less, adj. See -LESS. wheel'like', adj. See -LIKE.
wheel'swarf', n. = SWARF a. wheel'wise', adv. See -WISE. wheem (hwēm; wēm). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of QUEME. wheenge (hwēnj). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WHINGE. wheer (wēr). Var. of WHERE, whether. Obs. exc. Dial. wheesht (hwēsht). Scot. & Ir. var. of WHIST, silence. wheez, wheezd. Wheeze; wheezed. Ref. Sp.
wheeze. † WEEZE. whein (wēn). Var. of QUEAN. Obs. exc. Dial. whe'kau (hwē'kou). Var. of WHEKAU. whe'ki (hwē'kē), n. = WEKI (see FERN, Table). whele. † WHEAL, a pustule WHEEL; WHILE.

whelk (hwĕlk; wĕlk; 258), n. [ME. welke, wilke, fr. AS. weoloc, wioloc; akin to D. wulk, wilk, welc, MD. willox, and to Goth. -walvjan to roll; — named from its spiral shell. See WALLOW.] Any of numerous large marine snails belonging to Buccinum and allied genera; esp., Buccinum undatum, common on the coasts both of Europe and North America, and much used as food in Europe. Also, esp. with a qualifying word, any of various similar snails, as the dog whelks, and in the United States, the winkles (Busycon).

Whelk (Buccinum totienis). ½ whelk, v. i. To obtain or gather whelks. — whelk'er (hwĕl'kĕr), n.

whelk (hwĕlk), n. [ME. whelke, fr. AS. hwylca, fr. hwelian to suppurate. See WHEAL, pustule.] A papule; a pustule; acne. "His whelks white." Chaucer.

whelk (wĕlk), n. & v. Thump. Dial. Eng.

whelked (hwĕlkt), adj. Formed like a whelk shell; twisted.

whelked, adj. Having whelks; whelky; as, whelked horns. Shak.

whelk tingle. A dog whelk. Eng.

whelk'y (hwĕl'kĭ), adj. [See 1st WHELK.] Pertaining to or like a whelk shell.

whelk'y, adj. [See 3d WHELK.] Having whelks (pustules); resembling a whelk.

whelm (hwĕlm), v.; WHELMED (hwĕlmd); WHELM'ING (hwĕl'mĭng). [ME. hwelmen to turn over, prob. due to confusion of AS. helmian to cover (see HELM to cover; HELMET), with ME. whelven, fr. AS. hwelfan, hwylfan, in āwhylfan, āwhelfan, to overwhelm, cover over; akin to OS. bihwelbian, D. welven to arch, G. wölben, OHG. welben, ON. hvelfa to overturn, Gr. kolpos bosom, a gulf.] Transitive: 1. To turn upside down; to overturn; upset. Obs. exc. Dial.

2. To put or throw (anything) over a thing so as to cover it. Obs. exc. Dial.

3. To cover over completely; now esp., to cover with water or other fluid; to cover by immersion; to overwhelm; engulf.

She is my prize, or ocean whelm them all! Shak.

4. Figuratively, to cover or engulf completely and disastrously; to overwhelm; as, to whelm one in sorrows.

—, Intransitive: To pass, roll, or descend so as to engulf, overwhelm, or crush something.

This whelming east wind swells. Robert Frost.
The whelming weight of crime. J. H. Newman.

whelm, n. [From WHELM, v.] 1. A drainpipe of wood; orig., a vertical section of a tree trunk, hollowed and laid inverted. Dial. Eng.

2. A whelming or submerging mass or weight, as of water, snow, or earth. Poetic.

whelp (hwĕlp; 258), n. [AS. hwelp; akin to D. welp, OHG. welf, hwelf, ON. hvelpr. Cf. GUELPH.] 1. One of the young of a dog or a beast of prey; a puppy; a cub.

2. a A youth; child; "cub"; — used in contempt or humorously. b Sometimes, any person regarded as contemptible.

That awkward whelp with his money bags. Addison.

3. A kind of ship. Obs.

4. Mach. a Any of the longitudinal ribs or ridges on the barrel of a capstan, windlass, etc.; — usually in pl.; as, the whelps of a windlass. b = SPROCKET, 2 a.

whelp, v. i.; WHELPED (hwĕlpt); WHELP'ING. To bring forth young; — said of the female of the dog or of some beasts of prey. — v. t. To bring forth, as cubs or young; hence, figuratively, in contempt, to give birth to.

Did thy foul fancy whelp so black a scheme? Young.

whelp, n. A welt, or wale. Dial., U. S.

whelp'less (hwĕlp'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Having no whelps; esp., bereft of whelps.

whelp'ling (-lĭng), n. A little whelp.

whelve (wĕlv), v. t. [ME. whelven. See WHELM.] To roll; to turn upside down; to cover as with a hollow vessel. Obs. exc. Dial.

whem'mel, whem'mle (hwĕm''l; wĕm''l), v. t. & i. [From WHELM.] To overturn; upset; tumble; toss. — whem'mel, whem'mle, n. Both Scot. & Dial. Eng.

when (hwĕn; 258), adv. [ME. when, whan, whenne, whanne, fr. AS. hwenne, hwanne, hwonne; akin to OS. hwan, MD. wan, OHG. wanne, G. wann when, wenn if, when, Goth. hwan when, and to E. WHO. Cf. WHENCE.]

1. At what time; in what period; on what occasion; how long ago; how soon; after how long a lapse of time; as, he asks when we shall arrive.

When shall these things be? Matt. xxiv. 8.

Elliptically, in phrase "say when," at what point to stop.

2. At which time; at the same time or moment that; (after a negative, or hardly, scarcely, etc.) by the time that; before; also, and then; whereupon; as, when he at once consented.

3. Come; what; — as an exclamation of impatience. Obs.

when, conj. 1. At the time that; at, during, or after the time that; at, or just after, the moment that; while; as, come when you please; he was poisoned when asleep; also, at any or every time that; as, when he hears a minor chord he is likely to cry; — formerly, and sometimes archaically, followed by that or as.

2. In the event that; on condition that; in virtue of the circumstance that; as, when in doubt, win the trick; an alien becomes a citizen when he is naturalized.

3. Whereas; although; — introducing a dependent adverbial clause, having a causal, conditional, or adversative relation to the principal proposition; as, he turned thief when he might have continued honest; he removed the tree when it was the best in the grounds; how can he buy it when he has no money?

when, pron. What or which time; the or a time at which; the or an occasion on which; as, Till when will you wait? I can remember when I didn't have to wait. Cf. WHAT, pron., 1, Note.

I was adopted heir by his consent;
Since when, his oath is broke. Shak.

when, n. The time of a happening or action; a particular moment or period; also, Rare, continuance or duration.

-when. A combining form of the adverb when, as in: anywhen, elsewhen, everywhen, nowhen, somewhen.

when'a·bouts' (hwĕn'ȧ-bouts'), adv. At about what or which time. Dial. Eng.

when'a·bouts', n. sing. The time or occasion of a happening.

when-as' (hwĕn·ȧz'), conj. Archaic. 1. At the or any time when; while; also, Obs., whereupon.

Whenas in silks my Julia goes. Herrick.

2. For the reason that; as.

3. Whereas; while.

whence (hwĕns), adv. [ME. whennes, whens (with adverbial s, prop. a gen. ending; — cf. -WARD, -WARDS), also whenne, whanene, fr. AS. hwanan, hwanon, hwonan, hwanone. See WHEN; cf. HENCE, THENCE.] 1. From what place; hence, from what or which source, origin, antecedent, premise, or the like; — used interrogatively, and sometimes with a redundant from.

Whence hath this man this wisdom? Matt. xiii. 54.

From whence come wars and fightings among you? James iv. 1.

2. From which place, source, material, cause, etc.; — used relatively, and sometimes with a redundant from or, formerly, of.

Grateful to acknowledge whence his good Descends. Milton.

3. Upon which ground; by reason of or in consequence of which fact, particular, etc.; wherefore; as, he was merciless toward opponents, whence he was called the Tiger.

whence, n. A place or source from which anyone or anything springs; an antecedent.

whenc'ev'er (hwĕns'ĕv'ĕr), adv. Poetic contr. whenc'e'er (-ȧr'; -ȧr'; 79). Whencesoever.

whence'forth' (hwĕns'fôrth'; 181), adv. Whence. Rare.

whence'for'ward (hwĕns'fôr'wĕrd), adv. From which time or place onward. Rare.

whence'/-from' (hwĕns'frŏm'), adv. Whence. Rare.

whenc'so·e'er' (hwĕns'sō-ȧr'; -ȧr'; 79), adv. Whencesoever; — a poetical contraction.

whence'so·ev'er (-ĕv'ĕr), adv. From what place soever; from what cause or source soever.

whence'so·ev'er, conj. From any or every place from which.

when·e'er' (hwĕn·ȧr'; -ȧr'; 79), conj. Whenever; — a poetical contraction.

when·ev'er (hwĕn·ĕv'ĕr), adv. 1. At whatever time; no matter when; as, to welcome death whenever it shall come.

2. Also when ever. When; — used in questions expressive of surprise or puzzlement. Now Colloq.

when·ev'er, conj. 1. At any or all times that; in any or every instance in which; as, to rest whenever one desires.

2. As soon as. Scot. & Ir.

when issued. See for the coming out, under COMING OUT.

when-is'sued, adj. Stock Exchange. Designating a contract on which settlement is not required until the securities are ready for delivery.

when'ness (hwĕn'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Position or relation in time. Rare.

when'so (hwĕn'sō), adv. Whensoever. Archaic.

when'so·ev'er (hwĕn'sō-ĕv'ĕr), adv. 1. At what time soever; at whatever time.

2. At any time whatever.

when'so·ev'er, conj. Every time that; whenever.

when'som·ev'er (hwĕn'sŭm·ĕv'ĕr), adv. & conj. Whensoever. Dial.

where (hwâr; 258), adv. [ME. wher, whar, fr. AS. hwǣr; akin to D. waar, OS. hwār, OHG. hwār, wār, wā, G. wo, ON. and Sw. hvar, Dan. hvor, Goth. hwar, and E. who; cf. Skr. karhi when. See WHO; cf. THERE.] 1. At or in what place; hence, in what situation, position, or circumstances; — used interrogatively; as, where can we expect to find a welcome, if not among our kin?

God called unto Adam, . . . Where art thou? Gen. iii. 9.

Often used rhetorically, suggesting the answer, "Nowhere."

2. At or in which place; at the place in which; — used relatively.

That place where first she was so happy. Sir P. Sidney.

3. At which part, stage, or passage; — used interrogatively and relatively; as, I forget where we were reading; where do I come in?

4. To what or which place; in what or which direction; hence, to what goal, result, or issue; whither; — used interrogatively and relatively.

But where does this tend? Goldsmith.

Lodged in sunny cleft,
Where the cold breezes come not. Bryant.

5. From what place or source; as, where did he get his suspicions?

6. Here; there; — unemphatically indicating direction in exclamations. Archaic. "Lo, where it comes again!" Shak.

7. In some place or places; — limited by an indefinite, esp. any, other, many a, how many; as, "found but one where at once." Now Dial.

Syn. — See WHITHER.

where, conj. 1. a At or in the place in which. "Where thou lodgest, I will lodge." Ruth i. 16. b In the or a case or situation in which; in circumstances in which; in the contingency that; also, in the respect in which; as, where others are weak, he is strong.

Where one on his side fights, thousands will fly. Shak.

c At or to the point, passage, etc., at or to which.

2. To the place at, in, or to which; in or to whatever place; as, let me take you where you live.

3. To, with, or with respect to, whatever object; as, to love where one wishes.

4. Obs. a Since; considering that; inasmuch as. b While on the other hand.

where, pron. What or which place; the or a place in or to which; the or a particular or respect in which; as, where does he hail from? (Colloq.); that is where he made his mistake. Cf. WHAT, pron., 1, Note.

The Son of man hath not where to lay his head. Matt. viii. 20.

Within about twenty paces of where we were. Goldsmith.

where, n. A place or spot; formerly, a passage in a book; also, the place in which something is or occurs; as, all the wheres and hows of a circumstance.

Finding the nymph asleep in secret where. Spenser.

where (hwâr; wâr; wûr), pron., adv., & conj. Contraction of WHETHER. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

-where (-hwâr). A combining form of where, adv., as in any*where,* every*where,* no*where,* some*where.*

where'a·bouts' (hwâr'ȧ·bouts'; 66), adv. Now rarely where'a·bout' (-bout'). 1. About where; near what place; as, whereabouts did you meet him?

2. At what work; on what business or errand. Obs.

3. About or round which; concerning which. Obs. "The object whereabout they are conversant." Hooker.

where'a·bouts', n. sing. Also where'a·bout'. The place where a person or thing is; as, his whereabouts is known.

A puzzling notice of thy whereabout. Wordsworth.

where·aft'er (hwâr·ȧf'tĕr), adv. After which.

where'a·nent' (hwâr'ȧ·nĕnt'), adv. [where + anent.] Concerning which. Chiefly Scot.

where·as' (hwâr·ȧz'), conj. 1. Considering that; it being the case that; since; — implying a recognition of facts, followed by inferences or something consequent; and often used to introduce a preamble, as to laws, contracts, etc., which is the basis of declarations, affirmations, commands, requests, or the like, that follow.

2. When in fact; while on the contrary; the case being in truth that; — implying opposition or contrast to what precedes; as, it fuses, whereas tungsten resists fusion.

3. While before; while on the one hand; — implying contrast

One thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see. John ix. 25

4. Where. Archaic.

Home she came, whereas her mother blind
Sat in eternal night. Spenser

5. Although. Rare. Gen. xviii. 27 (Douay Ver.) where·as' (hwâr·ȧz'), n.; pl. WHEREASES (-ȧz'ĕz; -ĭz; 119) An introductory consideration; also, a clause, item, document, etc., beginning with "whereas."

where·at' (hwâr·ăt'), adv. 1. At or toward which; sometimes, formerly, at what.

2. On which occasion; on which account; whereupon.

They vote; whereat his speech he thus renews. Milton.

where away? a Naut. In what direction? — a query in response to a call from a lookout that something, as land, has been sighted. b Chiefly Dial. Where are you going?

where'a·way' (hwâr'ȧ·wā'), adv. Whereabouts. Chiefly Scot.

where·by' (hwâr·bī'), adv. 1. By or through which; by the help of which; in accordance with which; also, Now Rare, near or along which; — used relatively. "The means whereby I live." Shak.

2. By what; how; why; — used interrogatively. Now Rare.

Whereby shall I know this? Luke i. 18.

3. On which account; as a result of which; also, whereupon. Obs. exc. Dial.

wher·e'er' (hwâr·ȧr'; -ȧr'; 79), adv. Wherever; — a poetical contraction.

where·for' (hwâr·fôr'), adv. For which; also, formerly, in return for it.

where'fore (hwâr'fôr; 181), adv. [where + for.] 1. For what reason; for what end or object; why.

But wherefore that I tell my tale? Chaucer.
Wherefore didst thou doubt? Matt. xiv. 31.

2. By reason, or in consequence, of which; why; as, the reason wherefore preference is shown. Archaic.

3. For which reason; and in consequence of that fact or consideration; so; — used conjunctively

[The Lord] rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it. Ex. xx. 11.

Syn. — See THEREFORE.

where'fore, n. The reason; cause; an answer or statement explaining why. "The whys and wherefores of her sister's moods." Mrs. Humphry Ward.

wherefore soever. For whatever reason. Obs.

where·forth', adv. Also where·hence'. Whence. Obs.

where·from' (hwâr·frŏm'), adv. [where + from.] From which; from which or what place; as, an event wherefrom sprang great results; — used also interrogatively.

where·in' (hwâr·ĭn'), adv. 1. In what; in what particular or regard; — used interrogatively.

Yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him! Mal. ii. 17.

2. In which; in the course of or during which; in regard to which; also, into which; — used relatively.

Her clothes wherein she was clad. Chaucer.
There are times wherein a man ought to be cautious. Swift.

3. In whatever regard; — used adversatively. Rare.

Wherein our entertainment shall shame us
We will be justified in our loves. Shak.

where·in', pron. A case or respect in which; one that. Rare where·in'so·ev'er (hwâr·ĭn'sō-ĕv'ĕr; hwâr'ĭn·sō-), adv. In whatever matter, respect, or the like.

where·in'to (hwâr·ĭn'tōō; -tŏō; hwâr'ĭn·tōō'), adv. Into which.

where'ness (hwâr'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. The quality or condition of being in the relation of place; presence in a definable place; ubiety; also, a place or position.

where·of' (hwâr·ŏv'; -ŏf'), adv. 1. Of what; — used interrogatively in various senses of of, esp.: a Obs. Indicating source, purpose, or reason. b Indicating material or subject of thought or expression; as, he knows whereof he speaks.

Whereof was the house built? Johnson.

2. Of which; of whom; formerly, also, with or by which; — used relatively.

Wine Whereof his sire, the Pope, was poisoned. Marlowe.

where·on' (-ŏn'), adv. 1. On what; — used interrogatively; as, whereon do we stand?

2. On which; — used relatively in the chief senses of on, esp.: a Indicating position of rest or place as the end of motion. b Indicating time or occasion of an action. c Indicating close succession in time or effect. d Indicating direction or object of action, emotion, etc.

O fair foundation laid whereon to build. Milton.
He prophesied The coming fate: whereon
I pleaded sore. Browning.

3. Whereof; — used relatively. Obs. Lydgate.

where·out' (-out'), adv. Out of which; whence; — formerly often followed by of. Now Rare.

where·o'ver (-ō'vĕr), adv. Over which.

where'so (hwâr'sō), adv. Wheresoever. Archaic.

where'so, conj. Wherever. Archaic.

where'so·ev'er (hwâr'sō-ĕv'ĕr), adv. Poetic contr. where'so·e'er' (-ȧr'; -ȧr'; 79). [Cf. AS. swā hwǣr swā.] In, to, or, formerly, from, whatsoever place; wherever.

where'so·ev'er, conj. = WHEREVER.

where'som·ev'er (hwâr'sŭm·ĕv'ĕr), adv. Wheresoever. Obs. exc. Dial.

where·through' (hwâr·thrōō'), adv. Through which; — used relatively in the chief senses of through, esp.: a Indicating space or direction of motion, vision, etc. b Indicating duration. c Obs. Indicating means. d Now Rare. Indicating reason or consequence.

where·till' (-tĭl'), adv. Whereto; whither. Now Scot.

where·to' (-tōō'), adv. 1. To what; to what place, purpose, end, or the like; — used interrogatively. "Whereto tends all this?" Shak.

2. To which; — used relatively.

Whereto all bonds do tie me day by day. Shak.

3. Obs. a In addition to which. b To which end.

where'to·ev'er (hwâr'tōō·ĕv'ĕr), where·to'so·ev'er (hwâr·tōō'sō-ĕv'ĕr), adv. To whatever place. Rare.

where·un'der (hwâr·ŭn'dĕr), adv. Under which.

where'un·til' (hwâr'ŭn·tĭl'; -ŭn·tĭl'), adv. Whereto. Rare.

where'un·to' (hwâr'ŭn·tōō'), adv. Whereto. Archaic.

where·up' (hwâr·ŭp'), adv. 1. Whereupon. Obs.

2. Up which. Rare.

whelk'like', adj. See -LIKE. whelk'-shaped', adj. See -SHAPED. whelkt. Whelked. Ref. Sp. whelmd. Whelmed. Ref. Sp. whelp'hood, n. See -HOOD. whelp'ish, adj. See -ISH. whelp'ly, adv. As a whelp. Obs. whelpt. Whelped. Ref. Sp.
when. † WHENNE. whene. † QUEEN, WAIN, WHEN.
whenne, adv. & conj. Whence. Obs. whense. Whence. Ref. Sp. wher. Var. of WHERE, whether. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
where. † WEAR.
where'a·gainst', conj. Against which. Obs. Shak. where·mid', adv. Wherewith. Obs. where·of'ten, adv. Whereof. Obs. where'some, adv. Wherever. Obs. where·thor'ough, adv. = WHERE-THROUGH. Obs. [why. Obs.
where·till', adv. To what end;

where·up·on′ (hwâr′ŭ-pŏn′), adv. 1. Upon or concerning what; also, formerly, to what end; for what reason; — used interrogatively.
2. Upon which; — used relatively; esp.: a On the top or surface of which; above which. b Upon which as ground or support; also, Obs., by reason of which. c Closely following and in consequence of which fact, happening, etc.; as, "The townsmen mutinied and sent to Essex; whereupon he came thither." Clarendon. d Obs. Concerning which. e To or towards which.

wher·ev′er (hwâr-ĕv′ĕr), adv. Poetic contr. wher·e′er′ (-âr′; -ār′; 79). 1. Where; — used in questions expressing astonishment or puzzlement; — also written where ever. Now Colloq.
2. At, in, or to any or every place in which; as, wherever he is or goes; at any or every place to which; hence, in every instance or circumstance in which; as, wherever need presses, generosity comes to the fore.
3. Regardless of the place where; whether in this, that, or the other place; as, he will do well, wherever he may be placed; sometimes, in spite of the place where or source whence; as, admit him, wherever he comes from.
4. Anywhere at all. Rare. Milton.

where·with′ (hwâr-wĭth′; -wĭth′; 234), adv. 1. With what; — used interrogatively.
2. With which; — used relatively; esp.: a By means of which. b In that mode or measure in which; to the degree to which.

The love wherewith thou hast loved me. John xvii. 26.
Whate'er the force wherewith you fling your speech. Browning.

c Through the supply or bestowal of which; as, honors wherewith the King loaded Macbeth. d Archaic. On account of which; by reason of which; in association with or addition to which; against which; whereupon.

where·with′, pron. That or something with or by which; — followed by to and an infinitive; also, formerly, that with which to supply or serve the implied purpose.

where·with′, n. Wherewithal.

where′with·al′ (hwâr′wĭth-ôl′), adv. & pron. Wherewith.

where′with·al′ (hwâr′wĭth-ôl′), n. Also, less commonly, where·with′. That with which anything can be purchased or done; — generally with the; as, he hadn't the wherewithal for a dinner.

wher′ret (wûr′ĕt), v. t. & i. [Prob. imitative.] Hit; box; slap. — wher′ret, n. Both Now Dial.

wher′ret, wher′rit (wûr′ĭt). Var. of WORRIT. Obs. exc. Dial.

wher′ry (hwĕr′ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). [Origin unknown.] 1. Any of various light boats; as: a A long light rowboat, sharp at both ends, used, esp. formerly in England, to transport passengers on rivers and about harbors. b A narrow open racing or exercise boat rowed by one person with sculls. c Eng. A large light barge, lighter, or fishing boat varying in type in different parts of Great Britain; specif., a broad-beamed light-draft cargo or passenger boat with sharp stem and stern, little freeboard, and, usually, a single gaff sail without a boom; — called also Norfolk wherry. d A small square-sterned rowboat pulled by a single pair of oars.
2. A low flat vehicle for bulky goods. Brit.

wher′ry, v. t. & i.; WHER′RIED (-ĭd); WHER′RY·ING. To carry in, or to sail or propel, a wherry.

wher′ry·man (hwĕr′ĭ-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. One who sails or drives a wherry; esp., one who rows passengers in a wherry for hire. Chiefly Brit.
2. A water strider.

whet (hwĕt; 258), v. t.; WHET′TED; WHET′TING. [AS. hwettan; akin to D. wetten, G. wetzen, OHG. wezzen, ON. hvetja, Sw. vässtja, and AS. hwæt vigorous, brave, OS. hwat, OHG. waz (also was) sharp, ON. hvatr bold, active, Sw. hvass sharp, Dan. hvas, Goth. hwassaba sharply, and perh. to Skr. codati he impels, urges on.] 1. To sharpen by rubbing on or with some substance, as a piece of stone; to sharpen by attrition; as, to whet a knife or scythe.

Here roams the wolf, the eagle whets his beak. Byron.

2. To make sharp, keen, or eager; to excite; stimulate; as, to whet the appetite, the courage, anger.

Since Cassius first did whet me against Caesar. Shak.

3. To preen (the wings). Obs. Marvell.
Syn. — Sharpen, point; rouse, quicken.
Ant. — Dull, blunt; surfeit. whet on or forward. To urge on or forward; to instigate.
whet one's whistle. To wet one's whistle. Obs.

whet, n. 1. Act of whetting; also, an edge; sharpness.
2. That which whets or sharpens; esp., an appetizer, as a drink of liquor. "Sips, drams, and whets." Spectator.
3. A turn or spell of work between two whettings of the scythe; hence, an attempt; try; also, a time; occasion. Now Dial. Eng. "I'll bear it this whet." C. Brontë.

wheth′er (hwĕth′ĕr; 258), conj. Indicating that the elements which follow are alternatives in an interrogation or statement of choice, doubt, hesitancy, etc.; — followed usually by its correlative or, indicating a second or contrasting alternative, and usually by or whether when the contrasting alternative is a complete clause. When this contrasting alternative is the negative of the first, it is sometimes expressed simply by not or no after the correlative, and sometimes omitted as being implied by the whether of the first. Used: 1. Orig. but now rarely, to introduce a direct question involving alternatives, also, Obs., a direct question without alternatives, often in the subjunctive mood.

Whether is not this the sone of a carpenter? Wycliffe.

2. To introduce an indirect question; if it be the fact, true, better, etc., that; as, uncertain whether to go or stay; ask whether he is going or not. "You have said; but whether wisely or no, let the forest judge." Shak.

Who knows But you, Lorenzo, whether I am yours? Shak.

3. To introduce alternative condition; — here having the force of: a In case that; in either case, namely if . . . (or) if; no matter if; as, whether we escape or not, we must make an attempt.

For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord. Rom. xiv. 8.

b Either; as, to win, whether by hook or crook.

wheth′er (hwĕth′ĕr), pron. [ME., fr. AS. hwether, hwæther; akin to OS. hwethar, OFris. hweder, OHG. hwedar, wedar, G. weder, conj., neither, ON. hvārr whether, Goth. hwathar, Lith. katras, L. uter, Gr. koteros, poteros, Skr. katara; with compar. suff. fr. pronom. stem in Skr. kas, AS. hwā, who. See WHO; cf. EITHER, NEITHER, OR, conj.] Which (of two); which one (of two); — used interrogatively and relatively. Archaic. — wheth′er, adj. Obs.

Now choose yourself whether that you liketh. Chaucer.

wheth′er (hwĕth′ĕr), n. A choice between alternatives; a matter of doubt or questioning. Colloq.

wheth′er, adv. Obs. a Nevertheless. b Either (sense 1).

whether or no, whether or not. a Introducing an indirect question or alternative condition; as, to ask whether or no it be advisable; whether or no it be virtuous, I will do it; — now commonly in the form whether or not. b In either case; in any case; as, I will go whether or no.

whet′ile (hwĕt′ĭl), n. [Var. of WITWALL.] The green woodpecker. Dial. Eng.

whet′rock′ (hwĕt′rŏk′), n. A whetstone. Dial., U. S.

whet slate. A variety of slate used for sharpening cutting instruments.

whet′stone′ (hwĕt′stōn′), n. [AS. hwetstān.] A stone, natural or artificial, for whetting edge tools. Some are used dry; others are lubricated with water or oil. Figuratively, something that sharpens, makes keen, incites, etc.; as, a whetstone for his courage.

The dullness of the fool is the whetstone of the wits. Shak.

— to give, get, etc., the whetstone. To give, get, etc., a prize for extravagance in lying. Obs.

whetstone slate. Whet slate.

whet′ter (hwĕt′ĕr), n. 1. One who or that which whets.
2. A tippler; one who drinks whets. Obs.

whet′tle-bone′ (hwĕt′ĭl-bōn′), n. A vertebra.

whew (hwū; hū), interj. An exclamation, like a half-formed whistle, expressing astonishment mingled with dismay, scorn, relief, admiration, etc. — n. An utterance of "whew"; also, a whistling sound; as, the whew of flying bullets.

whew, v. i. [Imitative.] 1. (pron. hwū, wū) To whistle or make a whistling noise.
2. To utter the interjection whew.

whew (hwū; dial. Eng. also wū), v. i. [Cf. WHEW to whistle.] To move quickly; to bustle about. Dial.

whew duck (hwū; wū). The widgeon. Local, Eng. & Scot.

whew′ell·ite (hū′ĕl·īt), n. [After Wm. Whewell, Eng. philosopher.] Mineral. Calcium oxalate, $CaC_2O_4.H_2O$, in colorless or white monoclinic crystals.

whew′er (hwū′ĕr; wū′-), n. [See WHEW to whistle.] The European widgeon. Local, Eng.

whewl (wūl), v. i. [Imitative.] To whine; to howl; to cry beseechingly. Now Dial. Eng.

whewt (wūt), n. & v. [Imitative.] Whistle; shout; whine. Dial. Eng.

whey (hwā; 258), n. [ME. whey, hwey, fr. AS. hwæg, hweg; akin to D. wei, hui, MLG. hoie whey, Goth. hwaihô foam, L. caseus cheese, OSlav. kvasĭ leaven, Prakrit chāsĭ buttermilk, Skr. kvathati it seethes. Cf. CHEESE.] a The serum, or watery part, of milk, separated from the more thick or coagulable part, or curd, esp. in the process of making cheese. b Obs. Blood serum.

whey, adj. Of or containing whey; like whey, as in consistency or color; watery; thin; pale. — whey′ness, n.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

whey-bearded, whey-blooded, whey-brained, whey-colored.

whey, v. t. To cause whey to separate from (milk, buttermilk, etc.); also, formerly, to thin or turn (the blood) watery. — v. i. To separate from milk, buttermilk, etc. in the form of whey; — used often with off.

whey (wā; wĭ). Var. of QUEY. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

whey′beard′ (wā′bērd′; wĭ′-), whey′bird′ (-bûrd′), n. The European whitethroat. Local, Eng. & Scot.

whey butter. Butter made from whey. One thousand pounds of whey yields about 2.5 pounds of butter.

whey cure. Treatment with whey as a drink and in baths.

whey′ey (hwā′ĭ), adj. Of the nature of, or containing, whey; resembling whey; wheyish. — whey′ey·ness, n.

whey′face′ (-fās′), n. A face pale or pallid, as from fear, or one having such a face. — whey′faced′ (-fāst′), adj.

whey′ish (-ĭsh), adj. Somewhat like whey. — whey′ish·ness, n.

whey whig. A drink of whey made aromatic with herbs and usually fermented. Dial. Eng.

whey′worm′ (hwā′wûrm′), n. A kind of pimple or pustule. — whey′wormed′ (-wûrmd′), adj. Obs.

which (hwĭch; 258), pron. [ME. which, whilk, fr. AS. hwilc, hwylc, hwelc, from the stem of hwā who + that of lic body, hence prop., of what sort or kind; akin to OS. hwilik which, OFris. hwelik, D. welk, G. welch, OHG. welih, hwelih, ON. hvilikr, Dan. & Sw. hvilken, Goth. hwileiks. See WHO; LIKE, adj. Cf. SUCH.] An indeclinable pronominal word, used as singular or plural, and for either persons or things. It is: 1. An interrogative, used in both direct and indirect questions, to ask for or concerning one or more of a group or number, esp. among several individuals of a class; as, which is the house? he asked which he should take; which is best, to live or to die? "Which of you convinceth me of sin?" John viii. 46. Formerly also: a What sort of? b What? c Who?

☞ See WHAT, pron., 1, Note.

2. A simple relative, introducing an added qualification or statement, sometimes a restriction of its antecedent. See 1st THAT, 2. It is used: a Archaic & Dial. For who, whom, that, referring to persons.

Our Father, which art in heaven. Matt. vi. 9.

b Now referring chiefly to animals, things, or ideas, its antecedent being sometimes a phrase or clause; as, a letter which he wrote; a subject of which he knew little.

The snow was three inches deep and still falling, which prevented him from taking his usual ride. Irving.

c Introducing a restrictive clause following the word that. d Sometimes with its antecedent following, that which; what.

And, which is worse, all you have done Hath been but for a wayward son. Shak.

e Formerly sometimes: (1) Of what sort or kind. "And which they weren and of what degree." Chaucer. (2) Together with a personal pronoun, as, "which . . . he" = "who"; and "which . . . his" = "whose"; as in "The kynges dere sone, . . . which alwey for to don wel is his wone." Chaucer. Cf. 1st THAT, 2. (3) Archaic. In the phrase the which, and, by way of definiteness or emphasis, in which that, the which that, which as.

That worthy name by the which ye are called? James ii. 7.

f Dialectically, as an expletive, merely introductory; as in, "Which the same I would rise to explain." Bret Harte.

☞ Which, referring to a series of preceding sentences, or members of a sentence, may have all joined to it adjectively. "All which, as a method of proclamation, is very convenient." Carlyle.

3. A compound relative or indefinite, pronoun, standing for any one which, whichever, that which, those which and the like; as, take which you will.

Syn. — See WHO.

— which is which. Which is the one to be distinguished as different from the other; — used interrogatively or relatively; as, you say these men are John and James. Which is which? I do not know which is which.

which (hwĭch), adj. 1. An interrogative, used to ask for or concerning one or more of a group or number of persons or things; as, which men are guilty? Cf. WHICH, pron., 1.
2. A simple relative, now referring chiefly to animals, things, or ideas; as, after three days, during which time he had not eaten. Cf. WHICH, pron., 2 b.
3. A compound relative or indefinite adjective, standing for whichever, whatever, etc.; as, it will not fit, turn it which way you like.

which·ev′er (hwĭch-ĕv′ĕr; 258), pron. & adj. An emphasized form of which implying choice among a number, used relatively and interrogatively; any (undetermined) one that; no matter which; as, whichever road you take, it will lead you to town.

which′so·ev′er (hwĭch′sō-ĕv′ĕr), pron. & adj. Whichever; — a more formal or intensive form of whichever.

which way. a Dial. Where; as, which way is he? b Colloq., U. S. = EVERY WHICH WAY; — written also which′-way′ (hwĭch′wā′), (Dial.) which′ways′ (-wāz′).

whick′er (hwĭk′ĕr; wĭk′ĕr), v. i. [Imitative; cf. G. wiehern, E. WHINNY.] To neigh; whinny; bleat; also, to snigger. — whick′er, n. Both Colloq. & Dial.

The horses cocked, and pawed, and whickered. Masefield.

whid (Scot. hwĭd; hwŭd), n. [Cf. AS. cwide a saying.] ■ Obs. Slang. A word. b Chiefly Scot. A lie; fib. — v. i. To lie; fib. Chiefly Scot.

whid (hwĭd; hwŭd), v. i. [Cf. ON. hvitha a squall of wind.] To whisk; frisk; — of nimble, noiseless movement. — whid, n. Both Scot. & Ir.

whid′ah (hwĭd′ä), n. A whidah bird.

whidah bird, whidah finch. [Alteration of widow bird, on assumption that it was prop. named from Whydah (now Ouidah) in Dahomey.] Any of various African weaverbirds of the subfamily Viduinae. The males, though not larger than a canary, have drooping tail feathers often a foot in length during the breeding season. They are mostly black with white or buffy markings. Many are kept as cage birds, as the paradise whidah bird (Steganura paradisea), called also paradise weaver.

Paradise Whidah Bird (Steganura paradisea). Male.

whiff (hwĭf; 258), n. [Partly imitative, and partly fr. ME. weffe vapor, whiff, of obscure, perh. imitative, origin; cf. Dan. vift a puff, gust.] 1. a A quick puff or slight gust of air; as, a whiff of fresh air. "The whiff and wind of his fell sword." Shak. b Figuratively, something resembling or suggesting such a puff or gust; as, a whiff of temper. "A whiff of hope." Conrad.
2. a A puff, gust, or wave of odor; as, whiffs of incense floated towards him; also, an odor, esp. an offensive one; as, the indescribable whiffs of a slum. b Figuratively, savor; smack; as, a whiff of prudery.
3. A puff of smoke, vapor, etc.; esp., an exhalation as of tobacco smoke from the mouth.

The skipper, he blew a whiff from his pipe. Longfellow.

4. a An inhalation of tobacco smoke or the like; also, Obs., the use of tobacco. b Obs. A drink or sip (of liquor).
5. a A puffing or whistling sound; also, an action producing such sound. b A discharge, as of grapeshot.
6. An instant; a jiffy. Colloq.
7. A flag, or the like, used as a signal.
8. A kind of narrow, open, wooden, usually outrigged, sculling boat. Local, Eng.

whiff, v.; WHIFFED (hwĭft); WHIFF′ING. Transitive: 1. To expel or puff out in a whiff or whiffs; to exhale, as tobacco smoke; hence, to smoke (a pipe, cigar, or the like).
2. To carry or convey by a whiff, or as by a whiff; to puff or blow away; as, the breeze whiffed the fog away.
3. To inhale or draw in, as air or tobacco smoke; to "drink" (tobacco); also, to drink (liquor). Obs.
4. Baseball. To cause to whiff; to fan. Slang.
——, Intransitive: 1. To emit whiffs, as of smoke; to puff; also, Slang, to emit a smell, esp. a stench.
2. To move with or as with a puff of air; also, to make or produce a puffing or whistling sound; specif., Baseball Slang, to fan.
3. To fish with a hand line baited near the surface.

whiff (hwĭf), n. [Origin obscure.] Any of certain flatfishes allied to the turbot, as: a Lepidorhombus megastoma of Europe. b Citharichthys spilopterus and closely related small species of the West Indies and adjacent waters.

whiff′er (-ĕr), n. One who or that which whiffs.

whiff′let (hwĭf′ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n. 1. A little whiff or puff.
2. A small or insignificant person or animal. Colloq., U. S.

whiff′le (hwĭf′ĭ), v.; WHIFF′LED (-ld); WHIFF′LING (-lĭng). [Freq. of WHIFF to puff.] Intransitive: 1. To blow unsteadily or in gusts; to shift, turn, or veer, about; — said of the wind.
2. To change from one opinion or course to another; to vacillate; to be fickle; also, to use evasions.

A person of whiffling and unsteady turn of mind. I. Watts.

3. To flicker; flutter.
4. To make a whistling or puffing sound.
5. To idle; trifle. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
——, Transitive: 1. To blow, disperse, emit, or expel, with or as if with a whiff or puff.
2. To wave or shake quickly. Rare.
3. Rare. a To cause to whiffle, or vacillate. b To treat with evasions; to utter or answer evasively.

whiff′le, n. a Rare. A whiffet. b Act of whiffling; something whiffled; a whiffling sound.

whiff′le (hwĭf′ĭ), n. Short for WHIFFLETREE.

whiff′le, n. [ME. woyfle, fr. AS. wifel; akin to ON. veifa to wave. See VIBRATE.] A weapon, prob. either a kind of battle-ax or a long sword. Obs.

whiff′le (hwĭf′ĭ), v. i. To act as a whiffler, as in clearing a way. See 2d WHIFFLER. Hist.

whiff′ler (-lĕr), n. 1. One who whiffles, or frequently changes his opinion or course; one who uses shifts and evasions in argument; an idle talker; an idler; trifler.

Every whiffler in a laced coat who frequents the chocolate house shall talk of the constitution. Swift.

2. The goldeneye. Local, U. S.

wher′so, conj. Whether. Obs. wherve. † WHARVE. whet. † WAIT, WHAT, WHEAT. wheth′en, adv. Whence. Obs. wheth′er. † WEATHER, WETHER. wheth′er·so, wheth′er·so·ever, pron. Whichever. Obs. whet′stone′-shaped′, adj. See -SHAPED. [Obs. whet′ten (hwĕt′n), v. t. = WHET. wheugh (hwū). Var. of WHEW. whey′i·ness. Var. of WHEYEYNESS. whey′like′, adj. See -LIKE. whi, n. Neigh. Obs.
whi′ba (hwī′bd; wī′bd), n.; pl. WHIBA or WHIBAS (-bdz). [Ar. wahbah.] See MEASURE, Table.
whib′lin. † QUIBLIN. whick (hwĭk; wĭk). Var. of QUICK. Obs. exc. Dial.
whick′en (wĭk′ĕn). Dial. Eng. var. of QUICKEN, n. whid′der (hwĭd′ĕr; hwŭd′ĕr). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WHITHER, n. & v.
whid′er. † WHITHER. whie. † WHY.
whif. Whiff. Ref. Sp. whif′fid. Whiffled. Ref. Sp.

whif'fler (hwĭf'lĕr), n. A soldier or officer equipped with a whiffle, or weapon, esp. one who instructed recruits and kept order on a march; hence, one of those clearing the way for a procession. Hist.

whif'fler·y (-I), n.; pl. -FLERIES (-Iz). Actions or characteristics of a whiffler; specif., frivolity; trifling.

whif'fle·tree' (hwĭf''l·trē'; -trĭ), n. A whippletree.

whif'fling (hwĭf'lĭng), adj. That whiffles. — whif'fling·ly adv.

whiff'y (hwĭf'ĭ), adj. Of the nature of or like a whiff; also, Slang, smelly.

whift (hwĭft), n. A whiff. Now Dial. Eng.

whig (hwĭg; wĭg), n. [See WHEY.] Whey; buttermilk; sour milk; a beverage of whey and herbs. — adj. Whey. — v. i. & t. To curdle. All Now Scot. & Dial.

whig (hwĭg). Var. of WIG.

whig (hwĭg), v. i. [See WHIGGAMORE.] To move steadily on; to jog along. Scot.

Whig (hwĭg; 258), n. [From WHIGGAMORE.] 1. [not cap.] A Scotch Presbyterian or Covenanter. Contemptuous. Obs. 2. Eng. Politics. One of a political party which grew up in England in the 17th century, in the reigns of Charles I and II, during the great contests respecting the royal prerogatives and the rights of the people. Those who supported the king in his high claims were called Tories, and the advocates of popular rights, of parliamentary power over the crown, and of toleration to Dissenters, were, after 1679, called Whigs. In later times the points of difference between the parties frequently changed, but the names were retained until changed from Tory to Conservative and from Whig to Liberal (see LIBERAL, adj., 7). The Whigs may be loosely described as the party of change toward democracy and the Tories as the party of conservatism. 3. U. S. & Amer. Hist. a A friend and supporter of the American Revolution; — opposed to Tory and Royalist. b One of a political party in the United States formed about 1834 from a fusion of the National Republicans and other elements opposed to the Democrats. It elected William Henry Harrison, 1840, and Zachary Taylor, 1848, to the presidency. About 1856 it became hopelessly disrupted over the slavery issues.

Whig, adj. Of, pertaining to, or consisting of, Whigs.

Whig (hwĭg), v. i. & t.; WHIGGED (hwĭgd); WHIG'GING. Formerly, to act the Whig (towards).

Whig'ga·more (hwĭg'ä·mōr; 181), n. [From earlier whiggamaire, appar. fr. whig to drive, urge on, jog along (of uncert. origin) + mare horse. Cf. WHIG.] Scot. 1. A member of a band composed largely of inhabitants of the southwestern part of Scotland that in 1648 marched to Edinburgh to oppose the king, Duke of Hamilton, and court party.

2. [not cap.] Later, one opposed to the court party, or, by extension, any Scotch Presbyterian; — used in contempt.

Whig'garch·y (hwĭg'är·kĭ), n. [Whig + -archy.] Government by Whigs. Rare.

Whig'ger·y (hwĭg'ĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -GERIES (-Iz). The principles or practices of Whigs, esp. of the English Whigs; Whiggism.

Whig'gess (hwĭg'ĕs; -Is; 119; 258), n. A female Whig.

Whig'gi·fy (-ĭ·fī), v. t. See -IFY. — Whig'gi·fi·ca'tion (-fĭ·kā'shŭn), n.

Whig'gish (-ĭsh), adj. Of or pertaining to Whigs, in any sense; partaking of, or characterized by, the principles of Whigs. — Whig'gish·ly, adv. — Whig'gish·ness, n.

Whig'gism (-Iz'm), n. The principles or characteristics of Whigs esp. of the English Whigs.

Whig'let (hwĭg'lĕt; -lĭt; 119), Whig'ling (-lĭng), n. A petty Whig; in contempt.

whig'ma·lee'rie, whig'ma·lee'ry (hwĭg'mä·lē'rĭ), n. A gimcrack; knickknack; also, a whim; vagary; fancy. Chiefly Scot.

while (hwīl; 258), n. [AS. hwīl; akin to OS. hwīl, hwīla, OFris. hwīle, D. wijl, G. weile, OHG. hwīla, wīla, Goth. hweila time, ON. hvīla bed, hvīld rest, L. quies, OSlav. pokoj̆ĭ rest, Skr. cira lasting a long time. Cf. QUIET, WHILOM.] 1. A space of time, esp. when short and marked by some action or happening; a time; as, stay here (for) a while; all this while; once in a great while; specif., esp. formerly, the duration of, or time required for, some (indicated) action, or the like; as, a kissing while; a paternoster while.

This mighty queen may no while endure. Chaucer.
Woven in one noontide's while. Daniel Rock
[Some guest that] hath outstaid his welcome while. Coleridge.

2. Time used in doing something; labor; pains; — now only in the phrase worth while or worth one's while.

— one while. At one time; in one case. Archaic. — the while. In or during the time that; meantime; while.

What shall I do the while? where bide? how live? Shak.

— within a while. In a short time; soon.

while, adv. Sometimes; once; meantime. Obs.

while, conj. [From WHILE, n.] 1. During the time that; prior to, or until, the end of the time that; as long as; whilst; — formerly often followed by that or as; as, while I write, you sleep. "While I have time and space." Chaucer. 2. Until; till; — formerly often followed by that, sometimes by at. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

Fast, and welcome, sir, while hunger make you eat. Marlowe.

3. At or during which time; and at the same time; as, he rose slowly, while kings knelt in silence; also, in loose style, in a merely additive sense, — and besides that; and. 4. At the same time that; — used (1) with much the adversative force of although; as, while respected, he is not liked; while I accept his ideas, I cannot befriend him; (2) with the force of whereas. This use of while is often regarded as improper.

while, prep. Until; till. Now Scot. & Dial.

while, adj. Quondam. Obs.

while, v. i.; WHILED (hwīld); WHIL'ING (hwīl'ĭng). [Perh. due to confusion with wile.] To cause to pass away, esp. pleasantly or without irksomeness; to spend or pass; — usually followed by away. "Whiling the time somehow." Hardy. "To while away the tedium of a journey." W. S. Maugham. — v. i. To pass away, as time. Now Dial.

Syn. — WHILE, BEGUILE are here compared with reference to the passing of time. TO WHILE (usually away) is to cause to pass (esp.) pleasantly; BEGUILE commonly suggests relief from tedium or irksomeness; as, "They can while away an hour very agreeably at a card table" (Lamb); "and, skilled in legendary lore, the lingering hours beguiled" (Goldsmith); "Others . . . beguiled the little tedium of the way with penny papers" (Hawthorne).

-while (-hwīl). A combining form of the noun while, as in erst*while,* mean*while.*

while·as' (hwīl·ăz'), conj. While. Archaic.

whil·een' (hwĭl·ēn'), n. [See -EEN.] A little while. Anglo-Ir.

whiles (hwīlz), adv. [See WHILE, n., and, for s, -WARD, -WARDS.] Now Dial. & Scot. a Obs. Formerly. b Sometimes; at times. c Meanwhile; meantime. "The good knight whiles humming to himself." Scott.

whiles, conj. 1. During the time that; while; — formerly often followed by that. Now Chiefly Dial.

Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him. Matt. v. 25.

2. Obs. a Whereas. b Until.

whiles, n. a A while; — often in the phrases that, the, or to whiles, during the time that; meantime. Obs. exc. in the whiles. b Plural of WHILE, n.

— at whiles. At times; at intervals. — between, Archaic betwixt, whiles. Between times. — by whiles. At times; from time to time.

whil'le, while'y (hwīl'ĭ), n. A little while. Scot.

whilk (dial. hwĭlk, wĭlk, hwŭlk), pron. Which. Obs. exc. Dial.

whilk (hwĭlk). Var. of WHELK.

whilk, n. [Cf. dial. willock, willy, guillemot, and GUILLEMOT.] A scoter. Local, Eng. & Scot.

Whil'kut (hwĭl'kŭt), n. An Indian of an Athapascan tribe of the Mad River Valley in northwestern California.

whil'la·bal·loo (hwĭl'ä·bä·lōō), n. [See WHILLALOO.] A hullabaloo. Scot. & Ir.

whil'la·loo (hwĭl'ä·lōō), whil'li·lew (-ĭ·lōō), n. [Ir. uilelüūgh. Cf. ULLALULLA.] A commotion; hubbub. Scot., Ir., & N. of Eng.

whil'ly (hwĭl'ĭ; hwŭl'ĭ), v. t. [Origin uncert.] To cajole; wheedle; gull. Scot.

whil'ly·wha (-hwō), v. t. & i. To wheedle; cajole; flatter. Scot. — adj. Cajoling; flattering. — n. A deceitful flatterer; also, pl., flattery. Scot.

whil'ock (hwĭl'ŭk), n. A little while. Scot.

whil'om (hwī'lŭm), adv. [AS. hwīlum, prop. at times, dat. pl. of hwīl; akin to G. weiland formerly, OHG. hwīlōm. See WHILE, n.] Formerly; once; of old; erewhile; at times. Archaic.

whil'om, adj. Former; sometime; as, his whilom friends.

whil'om (hwī'lŭm), conj. While. Obs. exc. Dial.

whilst (hwīlst; 258), conj. [From WHILES; cf. AMONGST.] a While. b Obs. Till.

Whilst the emperor lay at Antioch. Gibbon.

whilst (hwĭlst), adv. Meanwhile. Obs. exc. Dial.

whilst (hwĭlst), n. = WHILES, n., a; — in phrases below.

— a whilst. For a time. Obs. — the whilst. Archaic. a In the meantime; — formerly also in the whilst. b While; — formerly also with that.

whilst, prep. Formerly, during; now, Dial., until.

whim (hwĭm; wĭm), n. [Appar. of Scand. origin; cf. ON. hvima to wander with the eyes, vim giddiness, Nor. kvima to whisk or flutter about, to trifle, Dan. vimse to skip, whisk, jump from one thing to another, Sw. dial. hvimsa to be unsteady, dizzy.] 1. A pun; double meaning. Obs 2. A sudden turn or start of the mind; a capricious notion; a humor; caprice; fancy.

3. A fanciful or fantastic device, object, or (Obs.) person. 4. Any of various machines for hoisting; specif.: a A device, used esp. for raising ore or water from mines, having a large vertical drum (on which the rope is wound) with one or more radiating arms or beams to which a horse or horses, etc., may be yoked; — called also whim, whimsey, whim gin. b Australia. A large jinker.

Syn. — Freak, whimsey, vagary. See CAPRICE.

whim, v. i.; WHIMMED (hwĭmd); WHIM'MING. To be giddy or whimsical or freakish; — sometimes with indefinite it. — v. t. To influence or turn aside, as by a whim.

whim (hwĭm; wĭm), n. [Cf. WHIMBREL.] The European widgeon. Local, Eng. & Scot.

whim'brel (hwĭm'brĕl), n. [Prob. of imitative origin. Cf. WHIMPER.] A European curlew (Phaeopus phaeopus), allied and similar to the Hudsonian curlew of America; — so called in distinction from the larger or true curlew of Europe (Numenius arquatus). Applied also to other small curlews.

whim'ling (-lĭng), n. [whim + 1st -ling.] One given to whims; hence, a weak, childish person; a child.

Go, whimling, and fetch two or three grating loaves. Beau. & Fl.

whim'my (hwĭm'ĭ), adj.; -MI·ER (-I·ĕr); -MI·EST Full of whims; whimsical.

whim'per (hwĭm'pĕr; 258), v. i.; WHIM'PERED (-pĕrd); WHIM'PER·ING. [Prob. of imitative origin; cf. G. wimmern.] To cry with a low, whining, broken voice; as, a child or a puppy whimpers; hence, to make a similar low plaintive sound; as, the wind whimpering in the beeches. — v. t. To utter with or as with a whimper.

whim'per, n. A low, whining, broken cry; a low peevish sound, expressive of complaint or grief; a plaintive murmur.

whim'per·er (-ĕr), n. One who or that which whimpers.

whim'per·ing (-Ing), adj. That whimpers. — whim'per·ing·ly, adv.

whim'sey, whim'sy (hwĭm'zĭ), n.; pl. -SEYS (-zĭz); -SIES (-zĭz). [See WHIM.] 1. A whim; freak; caprice.

Men's folly, whimseys, and inconstancy. Swift.
The whimseys of a feverish brain. Bancroft.

2. Whimsicality; as, whimsey characterized his plays.

3. A mining whim. See 1st WHIM, 4 a.

4. Glass Mfg. A support on which the table of crown glass is laid while it is detached by shears from the punty and before it is put into the annealing oven.

whim'sey, whim'sy, adj. Whimsical.

whim'sey, whim'sy, v. t. To fill with whimseys, or whims; to make fantastic; to craze. Rare.

whim'si·cal (-zĭ·kăl), adj. Rarely whim'sic (-zĭk). [From WHIMSEY.] 1. Full of whims; actuated or characterized by a whim or whims; freakish; as, a whimsical old character. "A whimsical insult." Macaulay. 2. Odd; queer; fantastic; as, a whimsical situation.

Syn. — Capricious, fanciful. Ant. — Staid, sober, steady.

— whim'si·cal·ly, adv. — whim'si·cal·ness, n.

Whim'si·cal, n. [usually pl.] Eng. Hist. One of a certain class of Tory in the reign of Queen Anne.

whim'si·cal'i·ty (-kăl'ĭ·tĭ), n.; pl. -TIES (-tĭz). Quality or state of being whimsical; whimsicalness; also, usually pl., anything whimsical, as a speech or action.

whim'sied (hwĭm'zĭd), adj. Filled with whimseys, whimsical. "With a whimsied pathos." E. A. Robinson.

whim'wham' (-hwăm'), n. [Redupl. of WHIM.] 1. A whim; whimsey; freak.

2. A whimsical thing or device; a trinket; gimcrack.

whin (hwĭn), n. [Of Scand. origin; cf. Dan. & Nor. hvine, hvene, ON., hvein (in place names) a marshy field.] a Gorse; furze. "Through the whins, and by the cairn." Burns, b The restharrow. c Woodwaxen.

whin (hwĭn), n. [See WHINSTONE.] Any particularly hard rock, especially one which, on weathering, cumbers the ground with large fragments; whinstone. Cf. WHIN SILL.

whin (hwĭn), n. [Var. of WHIM.] Mach. A whim or winch.

whin. Var. of WHEEN, n.

whin'ber·ry (hwĭn'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-Iz). [From winberry (taken as whin + berry), fr. AS. wīnberige. See WINEBERRY.] The bilberry (sense 1). Dial. Eng.

whin'chack'er (-chăk'ĕr), whin'check' (-chĕk'), n. The whinchat. Local, Eng.

whin'chat' (hwĭn'chăt'), n. [So called because it frequents whins.] A small European saxicoline bird (Saxicola rubetra). It is mottled brown and buff above, buff below, with white markings on the wings and above and below the eyes. It frequents grassy meadows and sings well.

Whinchat.

whin'cow' (hwĭn'-, wĭn'-, hwŭn'-; -kōō', -kou'), n. A whin, or furze, bush. Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

whin'die (dial. wĭn''l), v. i. To whine; whimper. Obs. exc. Dial.

whine (hwīn; 258), v. i.; WHINED (hwīnd); WHIN'ING (hwīn'Ing). [ME. whinen, fr. AS. hwīnan to make a whizzing sound; akin to ON. hvīna to whiz. Cf. WHINNY, WHISPER.] To utter a low plaintive nasal sound, esp. in complaint or distress; to moan with a childish noise; hence, to complain or to beg in a mean or unmanly way; also, to make a low, shrill, moaning sound; as, the wind whining down the alley.

The hounds were . . . staying their coming, but with a whining accent, craving liberty. Sir P. Sidney.

A wretched, puling fool,
A whining mammet. Shak.

— v. t. a To utter or express with a whine, plaintively, or in mean or unmanly complaint, appeal, or the like. b To cause to whine. "The old man . . . whined the whip over his roans' backs." Tarkington.

whine, n. 1. a Act of whining. b A plaintive somewhat prolonged sound, usually expressive of distress or complaint; as, the whine of a begging dog; also, a nasal tone of childish or weak or mean complaint; as, the whine of a beggar; hence, mean or unmanly complaint.

2. Music. An exaggerated vibrato in fretted instrument playing.

whine, adv. Whence. Obs.

whin'er (hwīn'ĕr), n. One who or that which whines.

whing (hwĭng), interj. [Imitative.] An exclamation expressing a sharp ringing sound. — whing, n. — whing, v. i. & t.

whinge (hwĭnj; wĭnj), n. & v. [AS. hwinsian. See WHINE.] Whine; whimper. Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

whing'er (hwĭng'ĕr), n. [See WHINYARD.] A whinyard. Archaic.

whin'ing·ly (hwīn'Ing·lĭ), adv. In a whining tone or manner.

whin'ner (hwĭn'ĕr; wĭn'ĕr), n. & v. Whine; whinny. Dial.

whin'ner (hwĭn'ĕr), v. i. To whiz along or past. Scot.

whin'nock (wĭn'ŭk), n. & v. [See WHINE.] Whimper. Dial. Eng.

whin'nock (wĭn'ŭk), n. [Gael. cuinneag, Ir. cuinneog, fr. L. congius. See CONGIUS.] A pail; also, a leather bottle. Dial. Eng.

whin'ny (hwĭn'ĭ), adj. Abounding in whin, gorse, or furzes.

A fine, large, whinny, . . . unimproved common. Sterne.

whin'ny (hwĭn'ĭ), v. i.; WHIN'NIED (-Id); WHIN'NY·ING (-I·Ing). [Akin to E. whine and G. wiehern. See WHINE; cf. WHICKER.] Of a horse, to neigh, esp. in a low or gentle fashion; hence, to make a similar gentle or coaxing sound. — v. t. To utter with or as with a whinny.

whin'ny, n.; pl. WHINNIES (-Iz). The ordinary cry or call of a horse; a neigh, esp. a low or gentle neigh; also, a sound resembling a horse's whinny.

Whin Sill. Geol. An intrusive sheet of basaltic rock which, in the north of England, is traceable for over 80 miles and ranges from 20 to 150 feet in thickness.

whin sparrow. The hedge sparrow. Scot.

whin'stone' (hwĭn'stōn'), n. [Perh. fr. whin gorse + stone.] Basaltic rock; trap; also, among British miners, any of various other dark resistant rocks, as chert.

whin'-wrack' (-răk'), n. A European grass (Holcus mollis); — so called because it occupies places where whin (furze) has been removed.

whin'y (hwĭn'ĭ), adj. Whining; querulous. — whin'i·ness (-I·nĕs; -nIs; 119), n.

whin'yard (hwĭn'y·ĕrd), n. [Cf. dial. whinger; perh. fr. AS. hwīnan to whiz (cf. WHINE, v.).] 1. A short sword or hanger. Obs.

2. [From the shape of the bill.] a Local, Eng. The shoveler. b Local, Eng. The pochard.

whip (hwĭp; 258), v.; WHIPPED (hwĭpt) or WHIPT; WHIP'PING. [ME. whippen, wippen; akin to D. wippen to shake, to move up and down, and L. vibrare to shake. See VIBRATE; cf. WHIFFLETREE, WHIPCORD.] Transitive: 1. To move, take, pull, snatch, jerk, or the like, suddenly and forcibly; — usually followed by a preposition or an adverb, as into, out, up, off, and the like; as, he whipped the coin into his pocket.

He whips out his pocketbook every moment. Walpole.

2. To strike with a lash, whip, rod, or anything slender and lithe; to lash; beat; as, to whip a horse, or a carpet.

3. Specif.: a To punish by whipping (in sense 2, above); to flog; loosely, to beat or spank; as, to whip a naughty child. b To force, urge, or drive by whipping (in sense 2); to make go with or as with a whip; as, to whip a top. c To belabor with stinging or biting words; to lash with sarcasm, abuse, or the like. "They would whip me with their fine wits." Shak. d To strike as a lash does. "The rain whipping the pavement." Thackeray.

4. To overlay (a cord, rope, or the like) with other cords, rope, or the like, going round and round it; to wrap; — often with about, around, or over.

Its string is firmly whipped about with small gut. Moxon.

5. To wind, wreathe, or bind, about something; to seize; as, to whip string about the end of a fishing rod.

6. Colloq. a To conquer; to defeat, as in a contest. b Now Rare. = CONFOUND, v. t., 3. c To pierce, as with a sword thrust.

---

whig'ship, n. See -SHIP.

while. † WHEEL; WILE; WILL, v. whil'end, adj. Also whil'end·ly. Temporary; transitory. Obs.

while'ness, n. Change; vicissitude. Obs.

whil'ere', adv. [while + ere.] = EREWHILE. Archaic whill. Scot. var. of WHILE, till.

whils. Eng. var. of WHILES. Now Dial.

whilt'er (hwĭl'ĭ·tĕr), n. See [CHECKERS, n.] whim'ber'ry. Var. of WHINBERRY whim'ble (hwĭm'b'l; wĭm'b'l). Var. of WIMBLE, a brace.

whim gin See 1st WHIM, 4 a.

whim'perd. Whimpered. Ref. Sp.

whim'-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF whim'stone'. Var. of WHINSTONE.

whim'sy. Var. of WHIMSEY.

whine'y, Var. of WHINY.

whin'nel. Var. of WHINDLE.

whin'nid. Whinnied. Ref. Sp.

7. a To make or bring out by or as by striking with a whip; as, to whip oneself holy. b To gather together or hold together for united action, in the manner of a party whip. See WHIP, n., 19 a.
8. Angling. To fish (water) with rod, line, and artificial fly, the motion being likened to that employed in using a whip.
9. Archery. To overlay (a bowstring) with thread to protect it from nock and bracer.
10. Cookery, etc. To beat (eggs, cream, or the like) into a froth, as with a whisk, fork, or the like.
11. Naut. To hoist or purchase by a whip (sense 6 a).
12. Sewing. To overhand lightly; specif., to form (a fabric) into gathers by loosely overcasting the rolled edge with fine stitches and drawing up the thread.
——, Intransitive: 1. To move nimbly; to start, turn, go, pass, or the like, quickly, or suddenly; to whisk; as, he whipped around the corner.
2. To thrash about flexibly in the manner of a whiplash; swish; as, flags and pennants whipping in the wind.
3. Angling. To fish by whipping the water.
Syn. — Snatch, jerk; scourge, goad; impel, urge.
whip in. To drive in, or keep from scattering, as hounds in a hunt; hence, to collect, or to keep together, as members of a party, for legislative action.
whip off. a To drive away with or as with a whip, as hounds from the chase. b Slang. To drink quickly.
whip the cat. a Dial. Eng. To practice extreme parsimony. b Dial. To go from house to house working by the day, as done by itinerant tailors and carpenters. c Slang, Australia. To show annoyance or disappointment. d To play a practical joke.
whip the Devil round, or around, the stump. To effect by indirect means, or by a subterfuge, what cannot be accomplished directly. Colloq.
whip (hwĭp), n. [ME. whippe, wippe. See WHIP, v.]
1. An instrument consisting usually of a lash attached to a handle, or of a handle and lash forming a flexible rod, used in whipping or lashing of any kind, as in driving a horse, in punishing an animal or a person, in spinning a whip top, etc.
2. A stroke or cut with or as with a whip (sense 1).
> For who would bear the whips and scorns of time? Shak.

3. An instant. Obs. exc. Scot.
4. A quick movement; a sudden rush or start. Obs.
5. One of the arms or frames of a windmill, on which the sails are spread; also, the length of such an arm reckoned from the shaft.
6. a A purchase consisting of a single block and a small rope, for lifting light articles; — called specif. single whip. A similar purchase with two blocks is called a double whip. b In the rocket apparatus for lifesaving, a double or endless line, rove through a block with a tail attached to it, and used to haul the hawser, on which is slung the breeches buoy or the like, aboard the wrecked ship.
7. One who handles a whip; specif.: a A coachman; a driver of horses; as, a good whip. b A huntsman who whips in the hounds; a whipper-in.
8. A person employed in making appeals or exhortations.
9. Money contributed or collected in equal amounts among a company of persons, esp. for liquor. Eng.
10. A whipping motion; a thrashing about; as, the whip of a tense rope or wire which has suddenly parted; also, the quality of being whiplike or flexible; flexibility; suppleness; as, the whip of the shaft of a golf club.
11. a A circular swinging motion. b An amusement device of cars which circle with sudden jerks.
12. An attack of sickness. Scot.
13. Baseball. A pitching or throwing arm. Slang.
14. Cookery. A dish made by whipping cream, eggs, etc.
15. Hort. A young unbranched shoot, as of a fruit tree, the first year's growth from the bud or graft.
16. Mach. Any of various pieces that operate with a quick vibratory motion, as a spring in certain electrical devices for making a circuit, or a rocking lever actuated by the prolong in certain piano actions. See PIANO, Illust.
17. Mil. The transverse vibration of the muzzle end of long guns.
18. Naut. See PENNANT, 2 a.
19. Politics. a Also party whip. A person, as a member of a legislature, esp. of the English Parliament, appointed to enforce party discipline, and secure the attendance of the members of a party at any important session, esp. for voting. He also usually obtains pairs for members who cannot be present to vote, keeps count of the votes, and keeps the party leader advised of the opinions and intentions of members. Cf. FLOOR LEADER. b A call made on members of a legislative party to be in their places at a given time.
20. Sewing. An overcast stitch.
21. Weaving. Yarn, or a yarn used in figure weaving and not belonging to warp or filling.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

whip-bearing, adj.	whipcraft	whip-marked whip-corrected	whipmaker	whip-shaped whip-cracking, adj.	whipmaking	whip-wielding, adj.

whip (hwĭp), adv. Quickly; in an instant. — interj. Presto! whip and der'ry (dĕr'ĭ). Mining. A hoisting whip used with a derrick. whip and spur. Using both whip and spur; hence, with the utmost haste. whip behind. A call to a driver to intimate that someone is stealing a ride on his vehicle.
whip'bel'ly (hwĭp'bĕl'ĭ), or whis'tle·bel'ly (hwĭs''l-), ven'geance. Thin, weak, or sour, drink; esp., sour beer. Slang.
whip'bird' (hwĭp'bûrd'), n. The coachwhip bird.
whip'cat' (-kăt'), adj. Drunken. Obs. whip'cat', n. One who whips the cat. See whip the cat, under WHIP, v. Dial.
whip'cord' (hwĭp'kôrd'), n. [See WHIP, v. & n.; CORD.]
1. A kind of hard-twisted or braided cord, sometimes used for making whiplashes.
2. A cord made of animal intestines; catgut.
3. A hard-woven worsted fabric with fine close diagonal cords or ribs on the face.
4. The slender whiplike or cordlike seaweed, Chorda filum; also, a smaller but similar species, Chordaria flagelliformis.
whip'cord', adj. Of, pertaining to, or resembling whipcord. whipcord willow. The purple willow.
whip'cord'y (hwĭp'kôr'dĭ), adj. Like whipcord; sinewy. whip'crack' (-krăk'), n. The cracking or a crack of a whip. — v. i. To crack one's whip. — whip'crack'er (-ĕr), n.
whip crane. A simple form of crane on the principle of the wheel and axle.
whip crop. Any of several European shrubs or trees the stems of which are used for whipstocks, as the whitebeam, the wayfaring tree, and the guelder-rose.
whip'-end'ed, adj. Archery. Bending too much near the ends; — said of a bow. whip gin. A gin block.
whip graftage or grafting. Also whip graft. Graftage or grafting in which a cleft or slit is made in the end of both cion and stock in the direction of the grain, forming a kind of tongue, so that the tongue of each may be inserted in the slit of the other. See GRAFTAGE, Illust. — whip'graft' (hwĭp'grăft'; 83), v. t.
whip grass. An American nut rush (Scleria triglomerata) with stout, angled stems and flat leaves. whip hand. The hand holding the whip in driving; hence, advantage; control; as, to have or get the whip hand.
whip handle. a The handle of a whip. b The whip hand. whip hoist. = WHIP, 6 a. whip horse. A horse used with a whip hoist.
whip'jack' (hwĭp'jăk'), n. A beggar pretending to have been shipwrecked; hence, a rogue or vagabond. whip'king' (-kĭng'), n. A ruler or maker of kings. Obs. whip'lash' (hwĭp'lăsh'), n. The lash of a whip, also, a thing resembling it; a sea lace. — whip'lash', adj.
whip'lash', v. t. To flay with a whiplash.
whip line. = WHIPCORD, 1. whip'man (hwĭp'măn), n. A driver. — whip'man·ship, n.
whip'mas'ter (-mȧs'tĕr; 83), n. Flogger. Rare.
whip'pa (hwĭp'ȧ), n. A fine large person. Isle of Man.
whip'pa·ble (hwĭp'ȧ·b'l), adj. Capable of being whipped or beaten. whip'pa·ree' (-ȧ·rē'), n. [Prob. for whip ray.] A whip ray.
whipped (hwĭpt), adj. Subjected to whipping, in various senses; esp., beaten by or as by whipping; hence, flogged; streaked; also, frothy; factitious.
whip'per (hwĭp'ĕr), n. 1. One who whips; as: a An officer who inflicts the penalty of legal whipping. b A flagellant. c Eng. One who operates a whip in unloading a ship. d A stitcher who whips cloth.
2. One that whips; as: a Paper Mfg. A machine for beating rags to loosen dirt. b Spinning. A kind of simple willow.
3. One unusually fine or effective. Slang. whip'per·gin'ny (-jĭn'ĭ), n. An old card game; also, a harlot. Obs.
whip'per-in', n.; pl. WHIPPERS-IN (hwĭp'ĕr·z·ĭn'). 1. A huntsman's assistant who whips in the hounds.
2. A parliamentary whip. See WHIP, n., 19 a. Eng.
3. Racing. The horse in the rear. Slang.
whip'per·snap'per (hwĭp'ĕr·snăp'ĕr), n. [See WHIP; SNAP, v.] A diminutive, insignificant, or presumptuous person. — whip'per·snap'per, adj. whip'per·tail' (hwĭp'ĕr·tāl'), n. The smooth dogfish Cynias canis. Chiefly Maine.
whip'pet (hwĭp'ĕt), v. i. [From whip it. See WHIP to move nimbly.] To move briskly. Obs. whip'pet (hwĭp'ĕt; -ĭt; 258), n. [From WHIP to move nimbly.] 1. A spry or puny creature; — applied chiefly to women and children. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
2. a Formerly, a dog of a small breed. b A dog of a breed developed in the north of England, from a cross between the Italian greyhound and a terrier, in the 19th century and recognized as a show breed in 1892. It is very swift and is almost identical, except for size, with the greyhound. The height is from 16½ to 19 inches, and the weight from 20 to 23½ pounds. See GREYHOUND.
3. Someone or something resembling a whippet (sense 2 b), as in comparatively small size or in swiftness. Colloq.
4. Also whippet tank. A kind of small armored tank, very mobile and speedy, used in the World War by the Allied armies.
whip'pet, v. i. To breed, train, or keep whippets. — whip'pet·er (-ĕr), n.
whip'ping (hwĭp'ĭng), n. 1. Act of one that whips; as: a A beating; flogging. b Overcasting; also, overstitching. c Act of one that whips a stream in fishing.
2. Material used to whip, or bind; as: a Naut. Small stuff with which a rope end is whipped. b Pitched twine, binding together the head and shaft of a golf club, or the like. c Archery. Protective wrapping of the middle of a bowstring.
whip'ping, adj. That whips. — whip'ping·ly, adv.
whipping boy. Formerly, a boy educated with a prince and punished in his stead; hence, figuratively, scapegoat. whipping cheer. Flogging. Obs. whipping cream. Cream suitable for whipping, containing not less than 30 per cent of butterfat. whipping girl. Figuratively, a girl who takes the punishment or burdens of another person. whipping post. A post, formerly usually in public, to which offenders are tied to be legally whipped.
whipping Tom. One conspicuous for whipping others; also, a flagellant. whipping top. See 5th TOP, 1. whip'ple·tree' (hwĭp''l·trē'; -trĭ), n. [From WHIP. Cf. WHIFFLETREE.] The pivoted or swinging bar to which the traces, or tugs, of a harness are fastened, and by which a carriage, a plow, or the like, is drawn; a whiffletree; swingletree; singletree. whip'ple·tree' (-trē'), n. Prob., the cornelian tree. Obs. Chaucer.
Whip'ple truss (hwĭp''l). [After Squire Whipple (1804–88), Am. civil engineer.] See TRUSS, n., 7, Illust. (30). whip'poor·will' (-pōōr·wĭl'; -ĕr·wĭl'; 66), n.; pl. -WILLS (-wĭlz'), sometimes -WILL. See PLURAL, Note. [From its call.] 1. A nocturnal bird (Antrostomus vociferus) of the eastern United States and Canada, allied to the European nightjar. Unlike the nighthawk, it is seldom seen, but its peculiar call is often heard at nightfall or just before dawn. It is nine to ten inches long and spotted, barred, and vermiculated with black, brown, and buffy. The terminal half of the outer tail feathers is white, and there is a crescent on the throat, white in the male and buffy in the female. A subspecies (A. v. arizonae) called Stephens whippoorwill, occurs in the southwestern United States. Cf. CHUCK-WILL'S-WIDOW and POORWILL.

Whippoorwill. (⅛)

2. a Local, U. S. The moccasin flower. b [cap.] A variety of cowpea with buff seeds marbled with brown.
whip'poor·will's'-boots', n. The pitcher plant Sarracenia purpurea.
whip'poor·will's'-shoes', n. a Any American plant of the genus Cypripedium. b The pitcher plant Sarracenia purpurea. whip'post' (hwĭp'pōst'), n. Whipping post. whip purchase. A whip crane; a whip (tackle).
whip'py (hwĭp'ĭ), adj. 1. Like or likened to a whip. Colloq.
2. Springy; resilient; as, a whippy rod or shaft.
whip ray. The whip-tailed ray.
whip rod. A fishing rod whipped with twine or thread, etc., from tip to butt.
whip roll. Weaving. A roll or bar, behind the reeds, on which the warp threads rest. whip'-round', n. A collection of money. Cf. WHIP, n., 9. Colloq., Brit.
whip row. Agric. The row easiest to hoe; hence, advantage. Colloq., U. S. whip'saw' (hwĭp'sô'), n. A kind of narrow pit saw, tapering from butt to point, with hook teeth, and averaging from 5 to 7½ feet in length, used by one or two men.
whip'saw', v. t. To saw with a whipsaw; hence, to defeat in, or to cause to lose, two different bets at the same turn or in one play, as at faro; hence, to worst in two ways at once; esp., in speculation, to cause to buy high and sell low, or vice versa. — whip'saw'yer (-sô'yĕr), n.
whip scorpion. Any of numerous arachnids belonging to Thelyphonus and allied genera, constituting the order Pedipalpida. They somewhat resemble true scorpions, but usually have a long slender bristle, or lashlike organ, at the end of the body, and no sting. Certain species (family Tarantulidae) lack the whiplike appendage and are known as tailless whip scorpions.

Whip Scorpion (Thelyphonus caudatus). ½ whip snake. Any of various slender snakes; specif.: a A long, bright-green, harmless tree snake (Philodryas viridissimus) of South America; — called also emerald whip snake. b The coachwhip snake. c A tree snake (Dryophis mycterizans) or related species of Asia.

whip'sock'et (hwĭp'sŏk'ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n. 1. The whipstock into which the whip is fitted.
2. The socket into which the butt end of a whip is inserted when the whip is not in use.
whip'staff' (-stȧf'; 83), n. 1. A whipstock.
2. Naut. Formerly, a vertical lever pivoted in the deck of a vessel and working athwartships. The upper end, above deck, was operated by the helmsman; the lower end was connected to the tiller below deck, thus controlling the rudder.
whip'stalk' (-stôk'), n. A whipstock.
whip'ster (hwĭp'stĕr), n. [whip + -ster.] 1. A whippersnapper.
2. A wanton, smart, or mischievous person. Now Dial.
3. A driver; also, a scourger.
whip'stick' (hwĭp'stĭk'), n. 1. A whipstock.
2. a Australasia. Any dwarf species of Eucalyptus. b See FERN, Table.
whip'stitch' (-stĭch'), v. t. 1. To sew by passing the thread over and over; to overcast; whip.
2. Agric. To rafter; to plow in ridges, as land. Eng.
3. Bookbinding. a To sew (as a book) with an overcast stitch from one section to the next. b To reinforce (a signature) along the back by stitching through half of its leaves.
whip'stitch', interj. An exclamation expressing sudden motion. Obs. whip'stitch', n. 1. A tailor. Contemptuous.
2. Anything hastily put or stitched together or composed.
3. A small interval of time; an instant; a minute. Colloq.
whip'stock' (-stŏk'), n. 1. The handle of a whip.
2. A long wedge dropped into or placed in a petroleum well to deflect the drill to one side of some obstruction.
3. Obs. a A whipping post. b A flagellant. c = WHIPSTAFF, 2. whip'sy-der'ry (hwĭp'sĭ·dĕr'ĭ), n. A whip and derry. whip'tail' (hwĭp'tāl'), n. 1. A whip-tailed animal; as: a A whip scorpion. b A long-tailed skua. c Any lizard of the genus Cnemidophorus.
2. Plant Pathol. A disease of cauliflower caused by malnutrition, characterized by narrowed, ruffled leaves with irregular edges, sometimes reduced nearly to the midrib.
whip'-tailed' (-tāld'), adj. Also whip'tail'. Having a tail like a whiplash. whip-tailed lizard. = WHIPTAIL, 1 c. whip-tailed ray. Zool. Any ray of the group Masticura. whip-tailed scorpion. A whip scorpion. whiptail, or whip-tailed, shark. The thresher shark. whip thread. In some fabrics, a secondary warp thread which, in the weaving, is twisted around another warp thread to make the fabric firmer, as in lappet weaving and in weaving gauze.
whip'-tom'-kel'ly (hwĭp'tŏm'kĕl'ĭ), n. Any of certain vireos, as the black-whiskered vireo and the red-eyed vireo; — so called in imitation of their notes.
whip'-tongue' (-tŭng'), n. The wild madder Galium mollugo.
whip top. See 5th TOP, 1. whip'tree' (hwĭp'trē'), n. A whippletree. Eng.
whip upon (a) whip. A whip (tackle) on the fall of another. Cf. LUFF UPON LUFF. whip'worm' (hwĭp'wûrm'), n. [So called from its shape.] A round worm (Trichuris, syn. Trichocephalus, trichiura) often found parasitic in the human intestine. Its body is thickened posteriorly, but is very long and thread-like anteriorly.

---

whip'craft', n. See -CRAFT. whipe (dial. wip). Var. of WIPE. Obs. exc. Dial. whip'like', adj. See -LIKE. whip'pa·ble, adj. See -ABLE.
whip'per-ee' (hwĭp'ĕr·ē'), n. Var. of WHIPPAREE. whip'pl·ness (hwĭp'l-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS. whip'ping-snap'ping, adj. = WHIPPERSNAPPER. [Rej. Sp.] whip'poor·wil'. Var. of WHIPPOORWILL. whip'po·will'. Var. of WHIPPOORWILL. whip'ship, n. See -SHIP.
whipt (hwĭpt), past tense & past part. of WHIP. whip'wise', adv. See -WISE.

---

whip yarn. A whip thread.

whir (hwûr; 258), v. i.; WHIRRED (hwûrd); WHIR'RING. [Cf. Dan. hvirre, and E. WHIRL.] To move, fly, revolve, or the like, quickly with a buzzing or whizzing sound; to whiz.

The partridge bursts away on whirring wings. Beattie.

— v. t. To cause to whir; also, to move or hurry along with a whizzing sound.

whir, n. 1. Hurry; commotion.

2. A buzzing or whizzing sound due to rapid motion; as, the whir of wings or of a spinning wheel.

whir, interj. An exclamation simulating a whirring sound or motion.

whirl (hwûrl; 258), v.; WHIRLED (hwûrld); WHIRL'ING. [ME. whirlen, fr. ON. hvirfla (Dan. hvirvle); akin to D. wervelen, G. wirbeln; freq. of the verb seen in ON. hverfa to turn. See WHARF; cf. WARBLE, WHORL.] Intransitive: 1. To revolve or rotate with great speed; to circle; revolve, gyrate. "The whirling year." J. H. Newman.

The wooden engine flies and whirls about. Dryden.

2. To move, go, pass or the like, hastily or swiftly.

But whirled away to shun his hateful sight. Dryden.

3. To turn about or aside swiftly.

4. To hurl something from or as from a sling.

5. To feel giddiness; to reel; as, my head whirls.

6. Engin. To turn around while bent considerably out of true through the effect of centrifugal force; — said of a shaft revolving at speeds, called the critical speeds, at which the centrifugal force of the revolving shaft, already slightly deflected by gravity, etc., is just sufficient to overcome the elastic resisting forces of the material of the shaft, and so, the centrifugal force increasing with the deflection, other things being equal, the shaft eventually swings around considerably bent.

—, Transitive: 1. To turn round rapidly; to cause to rotate or revolve with velocity; as, to whirl a top.

He whirls his sword around without delay. Dryden.

2. To remove or carry quickly with or as with a revolving motion; as, the wind whirls along the dead leaves.

3. Obs. a To hurl with or as with a revolving motion. b To cast (dice). c To make giddy.

Syn. — See TWIRL.

whirl (hwûrl), n. [Cf. ON. hvirfill ring, circuit, crown of the head, MD. & MLG. wervel. See WHIRL, v.] 1. Rapid rotation, gyration, or circumvolution; hence, a rapid or violent turn; as, the whirl of a top, or of a wheel.

2. Anything that moves with a whirling motion; an eddy; a vortex; as, a whirl of wind, water, dust, etc.

3. Swift and confusing motion; a rush; hurry; figuratively, commotion; bustle; tumult; as, a whirl of jollity.

In no breathless whirl. J. H. Newman.

4. A mental state of dizziness, confusion, or distraction; as, a whirl of passion, of wonder.

5. A hook or reel of a rope winch, or the rope winch itself, by which the strands of a rope are twisted.

6. The wharve of a spindle. Obs.

7. Bot. & Zool. A whorl.

whirl'a·bout' (hwûrl'ȧ·bout'), n. Act of whirling about; also, something that whirls or turns about in a rapid manner; a whirligig — whirl'a·bout', adj.

whirl'blast' (-blȧst'; 83), n. A whirlwind.

whirl'bone' (-bōn'), n. Now Chiefly Dial. Eng. a The hucklebone. b The patella, or kneepan.

whirl'brain' (-brān'), n. One who glances from subject to subject. Rare.

whirl drill. Mach. A hand drill consisting of a spindle with a small heavy flywheel near the drill end, turned by two twisted strings attached to the other end of the spindle and to the ends of a transverse piece which slides on the spindle.

whirled (hwûrld), adj. Having whorls.

whirl'er (hwûr'lĕr), n. One who or that which whirls; specif.: a A whirling dervish. b A whirling table for coating photographic plates. Cf. SWINGER, n. c Dial. A high twisting or whirling wind. d A hook for twisting hemp into rope yarn. e A circular appliance capable of being rotated by hand, used by potters for finishing wares. f U. S. In making pottery, one who operates a whirling table.

Whirler b, turned by Handle (a) to whirl Plate (b).

whirl'i·cane (hwûr'lĭ·kān; -kăn; -kĕn), n. A contamination of *whirl*wind and hurr*icane.* See CONTAMINATION, 4.

whirl'i·cote (hwûr'lĭ·kōt), n. [Cf. 1st COTE.] A sort of wheeled litter, a heavy carriage or chariot. Obs.

whirl'i·gig' (-gĭg'), n. [See WHIRL; GIG.] 1. A child's toy having a whirling or spinning motion, as a teetotum or a spindle spun by a string.

2. Specif.: a A carrousel, or merry-go-round. b A medieval instrument for punishing petty offenders, being a kind of wooden cage in which the offender was whirled round with great velocity. c A whirligig beetle.

3. Anything having a circular or whirling course or motion; also a whirling motion or course. "The whirligig of time." Shak.

A whirligig of jubilant mosquitoes. G. W. Cable.

4. A person who whirls either physically, as in dancing, or mentally, as in giddiness, fickleness, or fancifulness.

5. A fanciful trifle or notion. Obs. exc. Scot.

6. An English country-dance for six dancers.

whirl'i·gig', v. i. To whirl like a whirligig.

whirl'i·gig', adj. Like a whirligig. — adv. As a whirligig.

whirligig beetle. Any of numerous beetles of the family Gyrinidae. Their body is firm, oval or boatlike, and usually dark with a bronzelike luster. They live mostly on the surface of water, and move swiftly about in curves. They also dive and swim rapidly. The larva is aquatic.

Whirligig Beetle (Gyrinus borealis). a Imago; b Larva. Natural size.

whirligig mullet. A small mullet (held to be the young of Mugil brasiliensis) of the southern Atlantic coast of the United States. It often swims round and round in schools.

whirl'ing, n. Art or state of one who whirls; rotation; vertigo; hurling.

whirl'ing, adj. That whirls. — whirl'ing·ly, adv.

whirling blue dun. Angling. An artificial fly with gray wings, bluish-gray body and hackle, gold ribbing, and gray tail.

whirling dervish. See DERVISH, 1.

whirling dun. Angling. An artificial fly with gray wings, bluish-gray body, brown hackle, and brown hair tail.

whirling plant. The telegraph plant.

whirling table. a Any of various apparatus for producing rapid rotary motion, usually horizontal, as to demonstrate certain laws in physics, to coat plates evenly in photography, etc. b A potter's wheel.

whirl'pool' (hwûrl'pōōl'), n. 1. An eddy or vortex of water; water moving rapidly in a circle so as to produce a depression or cavity in the center, into which floating objects may be drawn; any body of water having a more or less circular motion caused by its flowing in an irregular channel, by the meeting of opposing currents, or the like.

2. A sea monster of the whale kind. Obs.

3. Her. = GURGES, 2.

whirl'pool', v. i. To eddy like a whirlpool.

Whirlpool Nebula. Astron. a [not cap.] = SPIRAL NEBULA. b Specif., the nebula Messier 51 in Canes Venatici, the first nebula to be recognized as spiral; — so called by Lord Rosse in 1845.

whirl'puff' (hwûrl'pŭf'), n. A whirling blast. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

whirl'-shaped', adj. Whorled.

whirl'wig' (hwûrl'wĭg'), n. [Cf. WHIRLIGIG, EARWIG.] A whirligig beetle.

whirl'wind' (hwûrl'wĭnd'), n. [After ON. hvirfilvindr. See WHIRL; WIND, n.] 1. A rotating windstorm of limited extent, marked by an inward and upward spiral motion of the lower air, followed by an outward and upward spiral motion, and usually a progressive motion at all levels; a vortex of air; — applied by some meteorologists to the larger rotary storms also. Cf. CYCLONE.

The swift dark whirlwind that uproots the woods. Bryant.

2. A rush or thing rushing likened to a whirlwind in its violence and destructiveness.

whirl'wind', adj. Of, pertaining to, or like a whirlwind.

whirl'wind', v. t. To move like a whirlwind.

whirl'wind'y (-wĭn'dĭ), adj. Also whirl'wind'ish (-dĭsh). Like a whirlwind.

whirl'y (hwûr'lĭ), n. A little whirlwind.

whirl'y, adj. Whirligig.

whir'ry (hwûr'ĭ), v. t. & i. To whir; to whirl away. Scot.

whir'tle (hwûr'tĭ), n. [Origin uncert.] Mech. A perforated steel die through which wires or tubes are drawn.

whish (hwĭsh; dial. also wĭsh; hwŭsh), interj. & v. t. & i. [Cf. WHISHT.] Hush. — adj. Silent. — n. A slight sound, as of one saying "whish."

whish (hwĭsh; 258), v. i.; WHISHED (hwĭsht); WHISH'ING. To move with a whizzing or swishing sound; to whiz or swish. — n. A whizzing or swishing sound; a swish.

whisht (hwĭsht; wĭsht; Scot. also hwŭsht), interj. An exclamation equivalent to whist. — adj. Silent; hushed. — v. t. & i. To silence; to be silent. — n A faint sound; a whisper. All Chiefly Scot.

whisk (hwĭsk; wĭsk), n. Whist. Obs. exc. Dial.

whisk (hwĭsk; 258), n. [ME. wisk, wysk, of Scand. origin; cf. Dan. & ON. visk; akin to D. wisch, OHG. wisc, G. wisch, and prob. L. virga a rod. In sense 1 from the v. Cf. VERGE, n., VIRGIN, VISCERA, WHIST, n., WISP.] 1. a A quick sweeping or brushing motion, as of something light; a quick light stroke, as of a brush. b Act of whisking.

This first sad whisk
Takes off thy dukedom; thou art but an earl. J. Fletcher.

2. A hairlike appendage; — used esp. of the setae of the Ephemeridae.

3. A type of falling band or shoulder collar, often adorned with lace, worn esp. in the late 17th century.

4. A small culinary instrument made of wire, or the like, for whisking or beating eggs, cream, etc.

5. A small bunch of grass, straw, twigs, hair, or the like; esp., such a bunch used for brushing or lightly sweeping; hence, a small brush or broom, as for brushing clothes, etc.

6. A panicle, as of the millet; hence, the common millet.

7. A wisp or tuft; as, whisks of straw.

8. A plane for trimming the chimes of a cask.

9. An impertinent fellow. Obs.

10. Angling. The tail of an artificial fly.

— in or with a whisk. In a trice; briskly.

whisk, v.; WHISKED (hwĭskt); WHISK'ING. [Of Scand. origin; cf. Dan. viske, Sw. viska; akin to G. wischen, D. wisschen, AS. weoxian to wipe. See WHISK, n.] Intransitive: To move nimbly and quickly; to make a sudden agile movement; as, to whisk away.

— Transitive: 1. To move, pass, carry, or the like, with a quick sweeping motion; to whip; as, to whisk out one's handkerchief; to be whisked through the country at high speed.

He that walks in gray, whisking his riding rod. J. Fletcher.

2. To beat or whip lightly; as, to whisk eggs into froth.

3. To sweep or brush with a light rapid motion; as, to whisk dust, a coat.

whisk, interj. An exclamation expressing sudden swift motion.

whisk (hwĭsk; hwŭsk), n. Short for WHISKY. Scot.

whisk broom (hwĭsk). A whisk. See WHISK, n., 5.

whisk'er (hwĭs'kĕr; 258), n. 1. A thing that whisks or is used in whisking, as a small brush or broom, a rod, a fan, etc. Now Dial.

2. Chiefly in pl. a Formerly, the hair of the upper lip; a mustache. "Hoary whiskers and a forky beard." Pope. b That part of the beard which grows on the sides of the face, or on the chin, or on both; as, side whiskers.

3. a A hair of the beard. b One of the long projecting hairs or bristles growing near the mouth of a cat, bird, or other animal. c Such hairs collectively.

4. Formerly, a long curl hanging over the cheek.

5. A raveled fringe on a garment.

6. An operator of a whisking apparatus, as for mixing nougat.

7. Obs. a A brisk or lively person. b A monstrous lie.

8. Naut. Usually in pl. Either of two bars or rods extending on either side of the bowsprit, to spread the jib and flying jib guys; — called also whisker boom.

9. Plant Pathol. pl. An abundant grayish-white growth of any mold (genus Mucor and related fungi) on fruit, meat, bread, etc., consisting of superficial hyphae.

whisk'er, v. i. To grow whiskers; specif., of bread, fruit, etc., to become covered with mold. Cf. WHISKER, n., 9.

whisk'er·age (hwĭs'kĕr·ĭj), n. Whiskers. Rare.

whisk'er·an'do (-ăn'dō), n.; pl. -DOS (-dōz). [From Don Ferolo Whiskerandos.] A heavily bearded man. — whisk'·er·an'doed (-dōd), adj.

Whisk'er·an'dos, Don Fe·ro'lo (dŏn fĕ·rō'lō hwĭs'kĕr·ăn'·dōz). [Quasi Sp., fr. E. WHISKER.] A sentimental lover in Sheridan's The Critic.

whisker boom. Usually pl. Naut. = WHISKER, 8.

whisk'ered (hwĭs'kĕrd), adj. 1. Furnished with whiskers; having or wearing whiskers.

2. Formed into whiskers. Rare.

3. Having elongated hairs, feathers, or bristles on or about the cheeks. "The whiskered vermin race." Grainger.

whiskered auklet or auk. See AUKLET.

whiskered bat. A small bat (Myotis mystacinus), of Europe and Asia, having a fringe of long hairs on its upper lip.

whiskered tern. A common tern (Chlidonias leucopareia) of central Europe and the Mediterranean region, having a broad white stripe at the corner of the mouth.

whisk'er·er (hwĭs'kĕr·ĕr), n. One who wears whiskers.

whisker jumper. Usually pl. Naut. Any of the stays leading from the ends of the whiskers to secure them to the cutwater.

whis'key (hwĭs'kĭ). Var. of WHISKY.

whisk'ey, whisk'y (hwĭs'kĭ), n.; pl. -EYS; -IES (-kĭz). [From WHISK, v.] A light carriage used about 1800 whis'kied (hwĭs'kĭd), adj. Permeated with whisky.

whis'ki·fied (-kĭ·fīd), adj. Intoxicated with whisky.

whisk'in (hwĭs'kĭn), n. [Origin uncert.] A shallow drinking bowl. Obs.

whisk'ing, adj. That whisks. — whisk'ing·ly, adv.

whisk tail. A tail like a whisk. — whisk'-tailed', adj.

whis'ky, whis'key (hwĭs'kĭ), n.; whisky, pl. WHISKIES (-kĭz) is the usual spelling in the U. S. for imported spirits, whiskey, pl. WHISKEYS (-kĭz) for spirits made in the U. S. [Ir. & Gael. uisge water, in uisgebeatha whisky, prop., water of life. See USQUEBAUGH.] 1. A distilled alcoholic liquor made from any of various grains, esp. in Scotland, Ireland, and the United States and Canada. See DISTILLED LIQUORS. In the United States whisky has been generally distilled from rye, wheat, and maize or corn. In Scotland and Ireland whisky is often made from malted barley, and when distilled in the old-fashioned pot stills from malt dried over open fires it has a smoky flavor. New whisky is colorless and raw of taste, but by storing in oak casks becomes mellow, at the same time extracting coloring matter from the wood. The content of alcohol by weight varies from about 40 to 54 per cent. Much liquor sold as whisky is made by compounding strong alcohol with water and flavoring and coloring materials. Whisky, or spiritus frumenti, is defined by the United States Pharmacopoeia to be: "An alcoholic liquid obtained by the distillation of the mash of fermented grain (usually of mixtures of corn, wheat, and rye), and at least two years old. . . . Its specific gravity should not be more than 0.930 nor less than 0.917, corresponding, approximately, to an alcoholic strength of 44 to 50 per cent by weight, or 50 to 55 per cent by volume." Under the United States Pure Food and Drug Act of 1906 whisky is defined as: "a distillate, at the required alcoholic strength, from the fermented mash of malted cereals, or from malt with unmalted cereals, and containing the congeneric substances formed with ethyl alcohol which are volatile at the ordinary temperature of distillation, and which give the character to the distillate."

2. A drink of whisky.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are: whisky drinker, whisky-drinking, adj., whisky-sodden.

whis'ky, adj. Of, pertaining to, or like whisky; made of, or containing, whisky as a chief ingredient; as, a whisky punch; a whisky smash; whisky sour.

whis'ky, v. t. To furnish with whisky.

whisk'y (hwĭs'kĭ), adj. Lively; flighty. Rare.

whisk'y (hwĭs'kĭ), n. The European whitethroat. Local, Eng. & Scot.

whisky and soda. Whisky mixed with soda water; also, a drink of it.

whisky cherry = BLACK CHERRY b.

whis'ky·fied, whis'key·fied (hwĭs'kĭ·fīd), adj. [whisky + -fy.] Drunk with whisky; intoxicated. Humorous.

whisk'y-frisk'y, adj. Flighty. Rare.

Whisky Insurrection or Rebellion, the. U. S. Hist. An outbreak, with little disorder, in western Pennsylvania in 1794, resulting from an attempt to enforce an excise law passed in 1791, imposing duties on domestic distilled liquors; — popularly so called. It spread into the border counties of Virginia, but was easily suppressed.

whisky jack. A hydraulic jack; — from the mixture of water and alcohol commonly used in it. U. S.

whis'ky-jack', n. [Also whisky john, of Algonquian origin; cf. Cree wiskatjān.] The Canada jay.

whisky liver. Med. Cirrhosis of the liver due to alcoholism whisky poker. A variation of poker in which an extra hand is dealt face down. Each player in turn may exchange his whole hand for it or pass. If it is taken, the taker's cards are left face up for exchange, individually or entire, by each following player. As soon as any one is satisfied with his hand, he knocks, and the drawing ends when it comes to his turn, the hands being shown for the pool.

Whisky Ring. U. S. Hist. A conspiracy of distillers and government officials during the administration of President Grant to defraud the government of the excise taxes. The frauds were detected in 1875 through the efforts of the Secretary of the Treasury, B. H. Bristow, and most of the offenders were convicted.

whisky sour. A mixture made with varying proportions of whisky, lime or lemon juice, bitters, and carbonated water.

whisp (hwĭsp), n. [Imitative.] A low sound as of puffing, rustling, or sprinkling. — whisp, v. i.

whisp (wĭsp). Var. of WISP. Chiefly Dial.

whis'per (hwĭs'pĕr; 258), v.; WHIS'PERED (-pĕrd); WHIS'PER·ING. [AS. hwispriań; akin to G. wispern, wispeln, OHG. hwispalōn, ON. hvīskra to whisper, and to E. WHINE. Cf. WHISTLE.] Intransitive: 1. To speak softly, or under the breath, so as to be heard only by one near at hand; to utter words or sounds in a whisper.

Whispering tongues can poison truth. Coleridge.

All that hate me whisper together against me. Ps. xli. 7.

whird. Whirred. Ref. Sp. whirk'en. Var. of QUERKEN. whirl. ✝ HARL, HERL. whirl'bat', ✝ HURLBAT. whirld. Whirled. Ref. Sp. whirl'er·y, n. Whirling. Obs. whirley. Var. of HURLY. whirl'fire', n. Lightning. Obs. whirl'gig'. Var. of WHIRLIGIG. whirl'i·ma·gig' (hwûr'lĭ·mȧ·gĭg'), n. Also whirl'ma·gee (hwûrl'·mȧ·jē). = WHIRLIGIG. Scot. whirl'pit', n. = WHIRLPOOL. Obs. whirl'wa'ter, n. A waterspout. Obs. whirl'y·bat', n. A hurlbat. Obs. whirl'y·gig'um (hwûr'lĭ·gĭg'ŭm), n. = WHIRLIGIG. Scot. whirr. Var. of WHIR. whir'ra. Var. of WIRRA. whir'ret. Var. of WHERRET. whir'rey, n. = WHERRY, n. whir'rick. ✝ WHERRET. whir-roo'. Var. of WIRRA, interj. whisht. Whished. Ref. Sp. whisk'erd. Whiskered. Ref. Sp.
whisk'er·ette', n. [See -ETTE.] = WHISKER, 4. whisk'er·less, adj. See -LESS. whisk'er·like', adj. See -LIKE. whisk'er·y, adj. See -Y. whisk'et. Var. of WISKET. whisk'ful, n. See -FUL. whiskt. Whisked. Ref. Sp.
whis'ky·like', whis'key·like', adj. See -LIKE.

2. To speak covertly, esp. in conspiracy or criticism; — often with against.
3. To make a low sibilant rustling sound, as of a whisper.
The hollow, whispering breeze. Thomson.
4. Used expletively, listen. Anglo-Ir.
—, Transitive: 1. To utter in a low and nonvocal sound; to say under the breath; hence, to mention privately and confidentially in or as in a whisper.
They might buzz and whisper it one to another. Bentley.
2. To address or speak to in a whisper, or undertone, as in privacy. "He came to whisper Wolsey." Shak.
Where gentlest breezes whisper souls distressed. Keble.
3. To bring by whispering; — often with into or out of.
whis'per (hwĭs'pĕr; 258), n. 1. A low soft sibilant utterance, which can be heard only by those near at hand; speech without voice. "Whisper cannot give a tone." Bacon. "Soft whispers through the assembly went." Dryden. Specif. Phonet. Speech in which tone (vibration of the vocal cords) is replaced by a fricative sound made by the breath in the cartilage glottis while the cord glottis is closed; also, this glottal fricative sound itself, sometimes called whispering voice. In whispered speech all voiceless sounds, as f, p, s, are made as in speaking aloud, while all voiced sounds, as v, b, z, l, m and all vowels are accompanied with "whispering voice." Cf. VOICE, n., 1; see Pron. § 26.
2. Act of communicating, or something communicated, by or as by whispering; a secret or private utterance, word, hint, suggestion, insinuation, or the like; a hint; a rumor.
Cutting honest throats by whispers. Scott.
3. A low, sibilant, rustling sound, as of whispered speech.
The whispers of the leaves. Tennyson.
whis'per, adj. Uttered in whisper.
whis'per-a'tion (-ā'shŭn), n. Whispering. whis'pered (hwĭs'pĕrd), adj. Expressed in or by a whisper or whispers; specif., Phonet., uttered in a whisper; spoken without use of the voice. Cf. LOUD, adj., 5. whis'per-er (hwĭs'pĕr-ĕr), n. 1. One who whispers.
2. A tattler; a talebearer; hence, a backbiter; slanderer.
A whisperer separateth chief friends. Prov. xvi. 28.
3. One supposed to manage horses by whispering.
whisper glide. See GLIDE, n., 8. whisper glottis. See CORD GLOTTIS. whis'per-ing, n. Act of one who whispers; whispered sound, talk, rumor, suggestion, etc.
whis'per-ing, adj. That whispers. — whis'per-ing-ly, adv. — whis'per-ing-ness, n. whispering bells. The California yellow bells. whispering gallery or dome. A gallery or dome of such form that sounds produced in certain parts are concentrated by reflection from the walls so that feeble sounds are audible at an extraordinary distance. The most celebrated is that of St. Paul's, London.
whispering office. A confessional. Swift. whispering pectoriloquy. Med. Pectoriloquy in which the whispering voice of the patient is distinctly heard.
whispering voice. See WHISPER, n., 1. whis'per-ous (hwĭs'pĕr-ŭs), adj. Like a whisper; full of whispers. — whis'per-ous-ly, adj.
whis'per-y (-ĭ), adj. Whisperous.
Her voice so whispery and strained. Galsworthy. whiss (hwĭs), v. i. To whistle; whiz; hiss. Obs.
whist (hwĭst; 258), interj. [Cf. G. stl pstl bstl Cf. HUSH, WISTFUL.] An exclamation enjoining silence and attention; be still; hush. Now Chiefly Dial. — n. Silence; as, hold your whist. Tr.
whist, adj. [From WHIST, interj.] Silent; mute; still; quiet. — adv. Silently. Both Archaic & Dial.
That winds are whist and the owl is still. J. R. Drake. whist, v. i. [From WHIST, interj.] To hush. Archaic & Dial. — v. t. To silence; keep secret. Obs. whist, n. [Earlier whisk, from whisking up the tricks, but later accommodated to whist, from the silence observed during play. See WHISK, v.; cf. WHIST, interj.] A card game for four players (those opposite being partners), played with a pack of 52 cards. The cards are dealt one at a time, and the last card, which belongs to the dealer, is turned to determine the trump suit for that hand. The highest card of the suit led, or the highest trump, if any, in each trick determines the winner of that trick. A player must follow suit if possible. Partners score one for each trick they take in excess of six. Partners holding three of the four honors (ace, king, queen, and knave of trumps) score two points; holding four, score four points. Tricks are scored before honors. In short whist, five points make a game; in long whist, ten points make a game; in American whist, so-called, honors are not counted and seven points make a game. Whist is also played commonly in America for continuous points, without counting honors. See DUPLICATE WHIST, PROGRESSIVE WHIST; cf. BRIDGE, MORT, AUCTION BRIDGE, CONTRACT BRIDGE.
whist, v. i. To play whist. — whist'er, n.
whist. Dial. var. of WISHT. whist drive. Progressive whist in which the players progress after a specified number of deals, usually four.
whis'ter-poop' (hwĭs'tĕr-pōōp'), n. A buffet. Dial.
whis'tle (hwĭs''l; 258), v.; WHIS'TLED (-'ld); WHIS'TLING (-lĭng). [ME., fr. AS. hwistlian to hiss; akin to ON. hvīsla to whisper, and E. WHISPER.] Intransitive: 1. To make a kind of shrill musical sound, or series of sounds, by a more or less forcible expulsion of the breath, with the tongue, lips, and teeth in a certain position, the pitch of the sound being varied by changing this position, esp. by motion of the tongue; to utter this sound as a call, in derision or surprise, or in reproducing a melody.
2. To emit or utter from the mouth or beak a sound like a whistle, as birds; to pipe; to hiss.
3. To move, pass, go, or the like, with a shrill sound; to make a sharp shrill sound; as, a bullet whistled past.
The wild winds whistle, and the billows roar. Pope.
4. To sound a wind or steam whistle; to blow on a whistle (see WHISTLE, n., 1); to make a shrill sound by blowing through an orifice formed by the fingers or hands.
5. To rustle, as silk garments. Obs. exc. Dial.
6. Obs. a To summon. b To give information secretly.
—, Transitive: 1. To form, utter, express, or modulate by whistling; as, to whistle a tune or an air.
2. To send, bring, signal, or call by or as by a whistle.
I wish he could whistle you here today. Lockhart.
3. To send, dispatch, or shoot with a whizzing or whistling sound, as an arrow or bullet.
4. To tell secretly, esp. as an informer. Obs.
— go whistle. To begone and do what one will without having received satisfaction. "Let the law go whistle." Shak.

whistle down the wind. To talk, argue, urge, or the like, to no purpose; — from hawks being cast off down the wind when loose. Colloq.
whistle for. To call by whistling; hence, Colloq., to demand, but fail to get; as, he may whistle for his money.
whistle for a wind. Naut. To make a low sibilant sound to induce a breeze to spring up or freshen, an old superstitious practice general among seamen.
whistle off. a To dismiss by or as by a whistle; — a term in hawking. b To turn loose; to abandon; dismiss. c To take off (brakes). d To go away quickly. whistle on one's thumb. To pipe in an ivy leaf. Scot.
whis'tle (hwĭs''l), n. [AS. hwistle a pipe, flute. See WHISTLE, v.] 1. An instrument for producing a shrill whistling sound; specif., an instrument in which air, steam, or the like, is forced into a cavity, or against a thin edge; as, a tin whistle; a steam whistle.
2. a Colloq. The mouth and throat.
Let's drink . . . to wet our whistles. Walton.
b Obs. exc. Scot. A reed, pipe, or flute.
3. A sharp, shrill, more or less musical sound, made by the expulsion of the breath in whistling (see WHISTLE, v. i., 1), or by blowing through an instrument giving a similar sound; as, the whistle of a boy, of a boatswain's pipe.
4. An act of whistling, as in calling, rendering a melody, or in surprise or derision.
5. A call or summons.
The lure and whistle of earthly preferment. Milton.

Steam Whistle, in section.

6. A sound likened to a whistle (in sense 3); as: a The shrill or soughing sound made by wind passing among trees or through crevices, or that made by a bullet, or the like, passing rapidly through the air. b The noise (much used as a signal, etc.) made by steam or air escaping through a small orifice, or impinging against the edge of a metallic bell or cup. c The shrill note or series of notes of a bird; as, the blackbird's whistle.
whis'tle, adj. Used for or sounding like a whistle. whistle duck. The American goldeneye. Local, U. S. whis'tle-fish' (hwĭs''l-fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH, -FISHES (-fĭsh'-ĕz; -ĭz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. A rockling, esp. the three-bearded rockling. whis'tle-pig' (-pĭg'), n. The woodchuck (the mammal). Local, U. S. whistle punk. Logging. A workman in the timber who operates the signal wire running to the donkey engine whistle.
whis'tler (hwĭs'lĕr), n. [AS. hwistlere.] 1. One who whistles; also, formerly, a player on the fife, flute, or pipe.
2. Any of various birds, mostly so called from the whistling sound of their wings in flight; as: a The ring ouzel. b Local, Eng. The widgeon. c A goldeneye. d The golden plover. e The black-bellied or gray plover.
3. A thing that makes a sound like whistling.
4. A large mountain marmot (Marmota caligata) of northwestern North America, of a hoary color with blackish head and feet.
5. The whistlefish.
6. Veter. A horse subject to whistling (sense 2).
Whis·tle'ri·an (hwĭs·lĕr'ĭ·ăn), adj. Pertaining to, or characteristic of, James Abbot McNeill Whistler (1834–1903), American painter and etcher. — whis'tler·ism (hwĭs'-lĕr·ĭz'm), n.
whis'tle-wing' (hwĭs''l-wĭng'), n. The American goldeneye. whis'tle-wood' (hwĭs''l-wŏŏd'), n. Any tree having an easily separable bark, used by boys for making whistles; specif.: a In the United States, the striped maple; also, the basswood (Tilia). b In England, the willow, the alder, the sycamore maple, or the rowan tree. whis'tling (hwĭs'lĭng), n. [AS. hwistlung.] 1. Act or noise of uttering or producing whistles; a whistle; as, the whistling of the wind.
2. Veter. A peculiarly shrill sound produced by a horse (a whistler) with a respiratory obstruction due to paralysis of a laryngeal muscle. A similar, but temporary, sound may arise from severe sore throat. Cf. ROARING, n., 2. whis'tling, adj. That whistles. — whis'tling-ly, adv.
whistling arrow. An arrow made to whistle in flight, the large head, of vegetable ivory, wood iron, a nutshell, or the like, being hollowed out and pierced near the front with a few holes. whistling buoy. Naut. See BUOY, 1. whistling coot. The American scoter. Local, U. S. whistling dick. a In Tasmania, an Australian shrike thrush (Colluricincla harmonica strigata). b Local, Eng. The song thrush. whistling duck. a A goldeneye. b A tree duck. c The American scoter. whistling eagle or kite. A small Australian eagle (Haliastur sphenurus). whistling hawk. a The whistling eagle. b A chanting falcon.
whistling jar. Peruvian Archaeol. A clay bottle, often in the form of a bird or animal, with two apertures so arranged that when a liquid is poured from one, the inrushing air produces a whistling sound in the other.
whistling marmot. = WHISTLER, n., 4. whistling moth. An Australian moth (Hecatesia fenestrata) of the family Agaristidae. The male makes a whistling noise when flying. whistling plover. a The golden plover. b The black-bellied plover. whistling snipe. The American woodcock. Local, U. S. whistling swan. a A wild swan (Cygnus columbianus) formerly widely distributed in North America and still breeding in some numbers in Alaska and northwestern Canada, migrating to, and wintering in, the United States (on the Atlantic coast, now chiefly in the southern States). It has a soft musical note. b The whooping swan. whistling teal. A tree duck. whistling thrush. a Any of several timaliine birds of the genus Myiophoneus, of Asia and the East Indies. They are generally black, glossed with blue, and have a patch of bright blue on each shoulder. Their note is a loud and clear whistle. b Local, Eng. The song thrush.
Whis·to'ni·an (hwĭs·tō'nĭ·ăn), adj. Of or pertaining to William Whiston (1667–1752), an English divine. whit (hwĭt), n. [For wit, ME. wight, wiht, fr. AS. wiht a creature, a thing. See WIGHT; cf. AUGHT, NAUGHT.] The smallest part or particle imaginable; a bit; jot; iota; — commonly used in an adverbial phrase in a negative sentence; as, he cared not a whit. "Samuel told him every whit." 1 Sam. iii. 18. "Every whit as great." South.
So shall I no whit be behind in duty. Shak.
whit (hwĭt), interj. An exclamation simulating the chirp of a bird or a quick dull sound, as of a bullet impinging on something. — n. An instance of this sound. — v. i. To make this sound. whit. Var. of WHITE. Obs. exc. Dial.
Whit, adj. Whitsun. whit (hwĭt; whŭt). Scot. var. of WHAT.
whit'blow (hwĭt'blō). Var. of WHITLOW. Obs.
white (hwīt; 258), adj.; WHIT'ER (hwīt'ĕr); WHIT'EST (hwīt'ĕst; -ĭst; 119). [ME. whit, fr. AS. hwīt; akin to OFris. and OS. hwīt, D. wit, G. weiss, OHG. wīz, hwīz, ON. hvītr, Sw. hvit, Dan. hvid, Goth. hweits, Lith. šveisti to make bright, OSlav. světŭ light, dawn, Skr. śveta white. Cf. WHEAT, WHITSUNDAY.] 1. a Of the color of pure snow, milk, or sunlight; reflecting to the eye all the rays of the spectrum combined; — the opposite of black or dark.
White as the whitest lily on a stream. Longfellow.
b Technically, of the color white; — the opposite of black; as, white paper. Cf. COLOR.
2. Hence, light or relatively light in color; as: a Colorless or transparent, as clear glass; also, of a light yellow or amber color, as certain wines. b Chiefly Poetic. Very blond or fair. c Gray, silvery, or hoary; as, white hairs. d Wanting in color; ashen; pale; wan; as, lips white with fear. e Blank, as, in printing, a space unmarked by ink. f Snowy; snow-covered; as, a white Christmas.
3. Free from spot or blemish; hence, innocent; pure.
White as thy fame, and as thy honor clear. Dryden.
4. Light gray and lustrous; — of metal or metal objects, esp. silver; hence, made of silver.
5. Clothed or habited in white; as, white friars; also, designating, or belonging to, the Carmelites or other monastic orders whose dress is white; as, a white abbey.
6. Bright; shining; — said of burnished steel or iron.
7. a That turns light in ripening; — of grain; hence, fit for crops of such grain; — of soil. b That is whitened in purifying or refining; as, white flour, salt, soap.
8. Without evil in intent; relatively harmless; as, a white lie; white magic.
9. Fortunate; happy; favorable; auspicious. Now Rare.
One of the white days of his life. Scott.
10. a Having a light-colored skin; Caucasian; as, a white man. Cf. WHITE PERSON. b Composed of or controlled by the white race; as, the policy of a white Australia. c Orig. Slang, U. S. Honest; square-dealing; honorable.
11. Being at white heat (which see).
The French are in a white rage about it. Spectator.
12. Obs. a Appearing fair or good; specious. b Regarded with especial favor; favorite; darling.
13. European Politics. Opposed to a radical, revolutionary party or doctrine; antired; as, a white faction or party.
14. Silverware. Unburnished.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

white-ankled	white-flowing	white-red white-armed	white-foot	white-ribbed white-backed	white-footed	white-ribboned white-barked	white-frilled	white-rinded white-barred	white-fringed	white-robed white-beaked	white-frocked	white-roofed white-bearded	white-fronted	white-ruffed white-bellied	white-fruited	white-rumped white-berried	white-girdled	white-russet
white-billed	white-glittering	white-salted white-blood	white-gloved	white-satin white-blooded	white-gray	white-set white-blue	white-green	white-shafted white-bodied	white-haired	white-sheeted white-boned	white-hairy	white-shouldered white-bordered	white-hatted	white-sided white-bosomed	whitehearted	white-skinned white-breasted	white-hoofed	white-sleeved white-brick	white-horned	white-spored white-browed	white-horsed	white-spotted white-brown	white-jacketed	white-stemmed white-burning	white-laced	white-stoled white-capped	white-leaf	white-strawed white-cheeked	white-leaved	white-tailed white-chinned	white-legged	white-thighed white-churned	white-lined	white-throated white-clad	white-linen	white-tinned
white-clothed	white-lipped	white-tipped white-coated	white-loaf	white-tomentose
white-colored	white-looking	white-tongued white-crested	white-maned	white-toothed white-crossed	white-mantled	white-topped white-crowned	white-marked	white-tufted white-domed	white-mooned	white-tusked white-dotted	white-mottled	white-uniformed white-dough	white-mouthed	white-veiled white-ear	white-necked	white-veined white-eared	white-nosed	white-vented white-eyed	white-painted	white-waistcoated white-favored	white-paneled	white-walled white-feathered	white-petaled	white-wanded white-felled	white-piped	white-waving white-flanneled	white-plumed	white-whiskered white-flecked	white-rag	white-wigged white-fleshed	white-railed	white-woolly white-flower	white-rayed	white-wristed
white-flowered		white-zoned

-white (-hwĭt). A combining form of the adjective white, as in:

dun-white	lily-white	paper-white fleecy-white	lint-white	snow-white gray-white	milk-white	water-white ivory-white

white (hwīt; 258), n. 1. Whiteness; fairness of complexion; figuratively, purity; innocence; truth. Specif.: a The neutral or achromatic color of highest brilliance; the lightest gray; the achromatic color bearing the least resemblance to black. b Loosely, any of several colors of very low saturation and very high brilliance. Cf. COLOR.
2. The white-colored part of something, as of meat or wood; also, a white spot. Specif.: a The albumen surrounding the yolk of an egg. b The white part of the ball of the eye surrounding the transparent cornea. c pl. Blank spaces in a printed picture or design; also, the corresponding parts of a plate or mold. d pl. S. Africa. Wing feathers of the male ostrich.
3. A kind of something having the color white, or a color near white; specif.: a White drapery; pl. white garments, esp. surplices or trousers; as, tennis players dressed in whites. b White cloth; specif., white longcloth. c White wine. d A white-colored breed or variety; specif. [Leap.], of swine: (1) An animal of a pure-white breed distinguished, according to size, as Large, Middle, or Small White. See YORKSHIRE, n., 2. (2) See CHESTER WHITE. e Any white pigment; as, zinc white. f pl. A white-colored product, as whis'per-a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.	whis'per-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.	whis'tle, WHISTLE.	whis'tle-drunk', adj. Dead drunk. Obs.

whis'perd. Whispered. Ref. Sp.	whis'tle (hwĭs''l; wĭs''l; hwŭs''l). Dial. var. of WHISTLE.	whis'tle-bel'ly ven'geance See WHIPBELLY VENGEANCE.	whis'tle-like', adj. See -LIKE.
whis'per-hood, n. See -HOOD.	whis'son (hwĭs''ŭn; wĭs'-). Scot. & dial. Eng. of WHITSUN.	whistled. Ref. Sp.	whist'ly (hwĭst''lĭ), adv. of WHIST. whis'per-less, adj. See -LESS.	whist'er, v. i. & i. = WHISPER.	whistling. Ref. Sp.	whist'ness, n. See -NESS. Rare.
			whit. † WIGHT.

N O P Q R S T U V W

white flour, pins, sugar. g Any of numerous butterflies of Pieris and allied genera in which the color is usually white. The cabbage butterfly, often known as the cabbage white, is an example.
4. a Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. Silver; as, he has both white and yellow (silver and gold). b Slang. A silver coin; specif., a blank.
5. Snow; also, its color.
6. pl. Leucorrhea.
7. A person with a white skin; a member of the white, or Caucasian, races of men. Cf. WHITE PERSON.
8. Archery. a Archaic. A white target. b The fifth or outermost circle of a target; also, a shot that hits it. Cf. BLUE. c Any light-colored mark shot at in rovers. d The mark pinned on a butt.
9. Chess & Checkers. The light-colored men; also, the player having them; Obs., the light-colored squares.
10. European Politics. One of a white party; hence [sometimes cap.], an ultraconservative or a reactionary.
11. [cap.] pl. It. Hist. = BIANCHI.
12. Railroading. A white light used in signaling.
— in the white. a Limed, but not yet tanned; — said of skins. b Finished but unpainted and unvarnished; — said of woodwork.

white (hwīt; 258), v.; WHIT'ED (hwīt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119); WHIT'ING (hwīt'ĭng). [Cf. AS. hwītan to make white, hwītian to become white.] Intransitive: To whiten.
—, Transitive: 1. To make white; to whiten; whitewash; bleach.

So as no fuller on earth can white them. Mark ix. 3.

2. Hence, to give a deceptive gloss to; to gloss over.

Whited sepulchers, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of . . . uncleanness. Matt. xxiii. 27.

3. Print. To make blank spaces in; — often with out.

white (hwīt; wīt), n. & v. t. & i. [See THWITE.] Cut; whittle. Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir. white (wīt). Var. of WITE, blame. Obs. exc. Dial. white. Obs. var. of QUIT, to requite; WIT, v.
white acid (hwīt). Com. Hydrofluoric acid, or a solution of ammonium fluoride in the acid, used for etching and frosting glass.
white'-a'cre, n. a In common-law usage, an arbitrary designation of a piece of land in distinction from blackacre. b White quartz.
white adder's-mouth. A small North American terrestrial orchid (Malaxis brachypoda) with a single leaf and a spike of greenish-white flowers.
white adder's-tongue. A white-flowered dogtooth violet (Erythronium albidum) found in mountainous woods of eastern North America.
white admiral. Any of certain butterflies of the genus Basilarchia, having white bands on the wings esp. B. arthemis, the banded purple. Cf. RED ADMIRAL.
white agaric. Purging agaric.
white alder. a Any of several alders of western America, as Alnus rhombifolia. b See CLETHRA. c The South African tree Platylophus trifoliatus (family Cunoniaceae). d The privet andromeda. e The winterberry Ilex verticillata. white'-al'der fam'i·ly. The Clethraceae. white ale. A mixture composed of ale with other ingredients, as flour, eggs, spirit, spice, etc., variously compounded. Dial. Eng.
white alkali. a Agric. A mixture of salts (sodium sulphate, magnesium sulphate, sodium chloride), forming a white crust on some alkali soils. b Com. Refined soda ash.
white allison or alison. The alpine rock cress.
white amber. Spermaceti. Obs.
white ant. Any of numerous pale-colored, soft-bodied social insects of the order Isoptera (which see); a termite. Each colony consists of distinct castes, the winged sexual forms (queen and king) and many wingless sterile workers and often large-jawed sterile wingless soldiers. The sexual forms shed the wings after the marriage flight, and the queen becomes enormously enlarged. The wings are four in number, long, narrow, and somewhat leathery. The mouth parts are fitted for biting. The metamorphosis is incomplete. White ants occur in the Temperate Zones but are abundant in tropical regions. Some of the species, as Termes bellicosus of southern and tropical Africa, build great nests of clay twenty feet or more in height; others construct large nests on the branches of trees; others tunnel the ground. Most are small, but some reach a length of an inch or more. They are often very destructive to buildings, books, etc. The common white ant of the eastern United States is Reticulitermes flavipes; the common European species is R. lucifugus.

White Ants (Reticulitermes lucifugus). a Young; b Worker; c Soldier; d Male; e Female, or Queen, after losing her wings; f Older Queen with Eggs.

white'-armed' sea a·nem'o·ne. The anemone Sagartia leucolena, having white tentacles.
White Army. The White Guard.
white arsenic. Arsenic trioxide.
white ash. 1. a An American ash (Fraxinus americana) having leaves pale green or silvery white below; also, its hard brownish wood, used for tools, furniture, and interior finishings. Also, sometimes, the green ash. b Local, U. S. The fringe tree. c In Australia, any of several eucalypts, esp. Eucalyptus coriacea (often called scribbly gum), E. fraxinoides, E. globulus, etc. d = WHITE ALDER c.
2. Colloq. An oar.
white'-ash' (66), adj. Made of the wood of the white ash.
white ash herb. The goutweed.
white asp or aspen. The white poplar Populus alba.
White Australia. A phrase common in Australian politics, expressing a general aim of making the country a "white man's country" by exclusion of aliens not of the "white" races. It has no reference to the aborigines.
white avens. The bennet Geum virginianum.
white bachelor's-button. = WHITE CAMPION a. white'back' (hwīt'băk'), n. 1. Canvasback. Local, Eng.
2. The white poplar Populus alba; so called from the whitish undersurface of its leaves. white'-backed' skunk. A skunk (Conepatus mesoleucas) of the southwestern United States.
white'bait' (hwīt'bāt'), n. a The young of several European species of herrings, esp. of the common herring (Clupea harengus) and of the sprat (C. sprattus), esteemed a delicacy. b Any of various other small fishes likened to the European whitebait and used as food; esp.: (1) The icefish in Japan. (2) The young of various troutlike fishes of the genus Galaxias and of certain trout (Salmonidae) of Retropinna, which appear in large schools in New Zealand rivers and lakes. (3) A small goby (Lepidogobius lepidus) of the coast of California. (4) Any of numerous species of silversides (family Atherinidae) and certain anchovies of both fresh and salt water in the United States.
white baker. Spotted flycatcher. Local, Eng.
white ball. Billiards. Specif., the cue ball that has no spot; — called also plain ball.
white balsam. a Either of two firs of western America: (1) The white fir Abies concolor. (2) The alpine fir. b Balsam of Peru. c The balsamweed Gnaphalium obtusifolium. white baneberry. Either of two white-berried herbs, Actaea alba of central and western North America and A. brachypoda of the eastern states.
white'bark' (hwīt'bärk'), n. a Any of several American trees with pale or whitish bark, as the white poplar, white-bark pine, etc. b In Australia, a blueberry ash (Elaeocarpus cyaneus). c Plant Pathol. A disease of the rock cedar (Juniperus mexicana) caused by the sac fungus Cyanospora albicedrae, characterized by white patches on the twigs and branches.
whitebark pine. A pine (Pinus albicaulis) of the western United States, having thin pale-brown or creamy white bark and soft brittle wood.
white bass (băs). a A North American fresh-water food fish (Lepibema chrysops) abundant in the region of the Great Lakes and upper Mississippi. It is very similar to the striped bass, but is shorter and more compressed. b The largemouthed black bass. See BLACK BASS. c = ROCK BASS a. white basswood. An American basswood (Tilia heterophylla) of the Allegheny region.
white bay. a The red bay. b = SWEET BAY, b. white bead. The white baneberry.
white'beam' (hwīt'bēm'), n. A European ornamental tree (Sorbus aria) having leaves with a white-tomentose undersurface, corymbose white flowers, and red fruits.
white bear. The polar bear. white'beard' (-bērd'), n. 1. An old man; a gray beard.
2. An Australian heathlike shrub (Styphelia ericoides); — so called from the white hairs on the corolla.
white bearing metals. See BEARING METAL. white bedstraw. The wild madder Galium mollugo. white beech. a The common American beech. b Dial. Eng. The hornbeam Carpinus betulus. c The Queensland beech. white beet. = CHARD, 2 a. white'-bel'lied nut'hatch'. The white-breasted nuthatch.
white-bellied seal. The monk seal. white-bellied snipe. The knot. Jamaica.
white-bellied swallow. A widely distributed North American swallow (Iridoprocne bicolor) which nests in holes in trees. It is iridescent greenish blue above and pure white below.
white'bel'ly (hwīt'bĕl'ĭ), n. a The American widgeon. b Local, U. S. The prairie chicken. c Local, U. S. The sharp-tailed grouse. d Jamaica. A pigeon (Leptoptila jamaicensis). white ben. = BLADDER CAMPION a. white bent, white bent grass. = REDTOP a. white'ber'ry (hwīt'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr·ĭ), n. The white baneberry. white'bill' (-bĭl'), n. 1. The American coot. Local, U. S.
2. The slate-colored junco. See JUNCO, 1 b.
3. A West Indian sardine (Harengula macrophthalmus).
white birch. a The common birch (Betula alba) of Europe, with white or ash-colored bark. b In North America, the closely related paper, or canoe, birch (B. papyrifera); less correctly, the gray birch B. populifolia. c See BIRCH, 1 c. white'bird' (hwīt'bûrd'), n. The spotted flycatcher. Local, Eng.
white bird's-eye. Either of two common stitchworts (Alsine media and A. holostea).
white blast. Plant Pathol. An injury to plants caused by the feeding of certain insects, which results in a fading and shriveling of the tissues.
white'blaze' (hwīt'blāz'), n. See WHITEFACE. white blister. White rust.
white blood cell. See LEUCOCYTE. white'blow' (hwīt'blō'), n. The whitlow grass Draba verna.
white'-bone', or white'-boned', por'gy. A porgy (Calamus leucosteus) of the southeastern coast of the United States.
white bonnet. A puffer at auctions. Chiefly Scot.
white book. An official report of government affairs bound in white; — esp. of German, Portuguese, Czechoslovak, Japanese, and the Papal reports.
White Book of Rhydderch, The. See MABINOGION.
White Bordeaux wines. See BORDEAUX, 2. white boree. One of the Australian blueberry ashes (Elaeocarpus cyaneus). white'bot'tle (hwīt'bŏt''l), n. a The bladder campion. b = DAISY, 2. white box. Any of several Australian eucalypts having white or light-colored bark. white'boy' (hwīt'boi'), n. 1. A favorite. Obs.
2. [cap.] One of an agrarian association formed among the Irish peasants in 1761, to redress their grievances against their landlords, to resist collection of tithes, etc. They went on night raids, leveling fences, hocking cattle, burning homesteads, etc. They wore white outside shirts in their raids. — White'boy·ism (-ĭz'm), n.
white brant. A snow goose.
white brass. Brass containing more than 49 per cent zinc, — an inferior grade.
white bread. Wheaten bread.
white'-breast'ed nut'hatch'. See NUTHATCH.
White Brethren. Ch. Hist. An Italian white-robed order of religious ascetics suppressed by the Pope about 1400.
white bronze. Bronze of a very light color because of the large proportion of tin in its composition.
white broom. A low European shrub (Cytisus albus), with trifoliolate leaves and yellowish-white flowers.
white brush. A low shrub (Lippia ligustrina) of the southwestern United States and adjacent Mexico, having fragrant, white racemose flowers which yield much honey. white bryony. A species of bryony (Bryonia alba). See BRYONY. white buffalo, or white buffalo fish. See BUFFALO FISH. white bush. a Eng. The common hawthorn. b U. S. The sweet pepper bush Clethra alnifolia; also, the privet andromeda. white bush poppy. The giant poppy.
white buttercup. Grass-of-Parnassus. white butterfly. = 2d WHITE, 3 g. white buttonwood. a The white mangrove Laguncularia racemosa. See LAGUNCULARIA. b The common plane, or buttonwood (Platanus occidentalis). white C. The green comma. See COMMA BUTTERFLY. white cabbage tree. A tree (Senecio leucadendron) of St. Helena, with showy yellow flowers and silvery foliage. white camomile. The common camomile (Anthemis nobilis).
white campion. Any of several white-flowered herbs; as: a A viscid-pubescent European herb (Lychnis alba) with fragrant flowers. b The starry campion. c The snowy campion.
white candlewood. The Jamaica rosewood Amyris balsamifera. white cankerroot or cankerweed. The rattlesnake root Prenanthes alba.
White Canon. See 3d CANON. white'cap' (hwīt'kăp'), n. 1. a The male of the European redstart. b Local, Eng. The European whitethroat. c The European tree sparrow.
2. A wave crest breaking into white foam.
3. a = HARDHACK a. b A horse mushroom.
4. a One who wears a white cap. b [cap.] U. S. A member of a self-appointed vigilance committee attempting by lynch-law methods to drive away or coerce persons obnoxious.
— white'cap', v. — white'cap'per (-kăp'ĕr), n.
white cat. a A fresh-water catfish (Haustor catus) of the coastal streams of the eastern and southern United States and, as an introduced species, in the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers of California. It is pale olive, bluish above and silvery below, and reaches a length of two feet. b The channel cat (Ictalurus punctatus).
white cedar. a In the United States: (1) An evergreen tree (Chamaecyparis thyoides) somewhat like a juniper, found in cold swamps along the Atlantic coast. Also, its soft wood, largely used for woodenware, shingles, boats, posts, etc. (2) The Port Orford cedar. (3) The Macnab cypress. (4) The California juniper. (5) = RED CEDAR, 2 a. (6) The incense cedar. (7) The common arborvitae (Thuja occidentalis). b In Guiana, a timber tree thought to be Protium altissimum; also, its fragrant wood, used for canoes and cabinetwork. c In Australia, the China tree; also, its wood.
white cedar swamp. A low swampy area dominated by the white cedar Chamaecyparis thyoides, common along the Atlantic coast in the United States, esp. southward. white cell. A leucocyte.
white'-cell' blood. Med. Leukemia.
White'chap'el (hwīt'chăp'ĕl; -'l; 258), n. 1. Also Whitechapel district. A quarter of London just east of the City, now largely Jewish.
2. Billiards. An intentional pocketing of the adversary's ball. Eng.
3. Whist. A lead from a singleton. Eng.
Whitechapel cart. A kind of light two-wheeled cart often used by country gentlemen, tradesmen, etc.
Whitechapel play. Whist. Leading winning cards in succession without regard to the hand. Eng.
white charlock. The jointed charlock.
white'-cheeked' goose. See CANADA GOOSE. white cherry. An Australian tree (Schizomeria ovata), having white, pleasantly acid fruits.
white chestnut oak. The chestnut oak Quercus prinus.
white'-chinned' pet'rel. A large petrel (Procellaria aequinoctialis) of southern oceans, all black except for a white mark on the chin, often extended on to the face.
white choker. See CHOKER, n., 2 b. white chub. The spawneater.
white cinnamon. a Winter's bark. b = CANELLA, 3. white city. A pleasure resort where there are merry-go-rounds, roller coasters, shooting galleries, etc.; — so called because the structures are mostly painted white. Colloq.
white clematis. Western virgin's-bower. white clergy. Orthodox Ch. Among Russians, the secular clergy. See BLACK CLERGY. white clintonia. White adder's-tongue.
white clover. A widely known Eurasian clover (Trifolium repens) said to be the shamrock (which see). It is a common ingredient of lawn and pasture grass-seed mixtures. The white flowers furnish a favorite food for bees. Called also Dutch clover. The white sweet clover is Melilotus alba. white coal. a Water power; — first so called by the French (houille blanche). b Tasmanite. c Metaldehyde in compressed form, used as a fuel. white'coat' (hwīt'kōt'), n. 1. A soldier wearing a white coat; now, an Australian soldier.
2. A newborn hair seal, esp. a harp seal; also, its white woolly skin.
white coat. Plastering. A skim coat.
white cohosh. The white baneberry.
white'-col'lar (66), adj. Designating or pertaining to the class of salaried workers, esp. office and mercantile workers, as clerks, salesmen, bookkeepers, etc., whose duties permit or require a well-groomed appearance; as, white-collar jobs. Colloq.
white'comb' (hwīt'kōm'), n. Veter. Comb disease of poultry. The fungus causing it attacks also dogs, cats, rabbits, and mice. white commissure. See SPINAL CORD, Illust.
White Company. 1. Any of several bands of freebooters of the 13th and 14th centuries; esp., a band of English adventurers under Sir John de Hawkwood (d. 1394) who ravaged northern Italy in the 14th century.
2. The White Company. A romance (pub. 1891) by Conan Doyle, dealing with a similar band.
white coolwort. The false miterwort.
white cooper. A cooper employed in making churns, pails, tubs, etc., usually in the white.
white copper. A white alloy of copper; paktong.
white copperas. Mineral. a The mineral coquimbite. b The mineral goslarite. white coral. An ornamental branched coral (Amphihelia oculata) native of the Mediterranean. white'corn' (hwīt'kôrn'; wīt'-), n. Wheat, barley, or oats. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

white cornel. The flowering dogwood.
white corpuscle. See LEUCOCYTE. white'-cot'ton tree. The silk-cotton tree.
white count. Med. The count, or the total number, of the leucocytes in the blood, specif. in one cubic millimeter.
white crab. A beach crab; the sprite. white'-crest'ed black Pol'ish. A variety of domestic fowl of the Polish breed. See 4th POLISH, 2 a. white-crested touraco. A South African touraco (Turacus corythaix). white cricket. A tree cricket.
white crop. Agric. A crop of grain which loses its green color, or becomes white, in ripening, as wheat, rye, barley, and oats, as distinguished from a green crop and a root crop.
white'-cross' di'a·tom. A diatom of the genus Stauroneis (family Naviculaceae), with longitudinal and transverse bands, forming a cross. white crow. An old World vulture (Neophron gingini-anus). S. Africa.
white crownbeard. The Virginia crownbeard. white'-crowned' pi'geon. A large chiefly slate-colored pigeon (Columba leucocephala) of Florida and the West Indies, whose head is white above. white-crowned sparrow. A sparrow (Zonotrichia leucophrys) of northern and western North America, allied to the white-throated sparrow. Its head is striped with white and black.
white'cup' (hwīt'kŭp'), n. A prostrate woody Argentine herb (Nierembergia rivularis), with white, rarely blue-tinged or rose-tinged, tubular flowers.
white curlew. The white ibis.
white currant. A garden variety of the common red currant, having white berries.
white cypress. Bald cypress. whit'ed (hwīt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. Covered with white; whitewashed; also, whitened; bleached. See WHITED SEPULCHER. white daisy. = DAISY, 2. white dammar. Indian copal.
white damp. A kind of poisonous gas encountered in coal mines, believed to be carbon monoxide.
white dead nettle. A European dead nettle (Lamium album) with white flowers.
white deal. Carpentry. The Norway spruce or its wood. Eng.
white devil. The nailrod.
White Devil, The. The alternative title of a tragedy (published 1612) by John Webster, also known as Vittoria Corombona. See COROMBONA, VITTORIA. white diarrhea. Veter. a An often fatal bacterial disease of chickens and poults marked by dullness, inappetence, and diarrheal discharges which dry as chalky lumps about the cloaca; pullorum disease. It is caused by Salmonella pullorum, and is usually transmitted from the mother in the egg. b Rare. Coccidiosis of chickens.
white dock. A North American dock (Rumex mexicanus) having pale-green willowlike leaves. white dogwood. a Eng. The guelder-rose. b West Indies. The Jamaica dogwood.
White Do'yen'né' (hwīt dwä'yĕ'nā'). An old French variety of pear grown to some extent in America.
whited sepulcher. A person inwardly corrupt or wicked, but outwardly or professedly virtuous or holy; a hypocrite.
white Dutch. The common white clover Trifolium repens. white Dutch runner. A variety (Phaseolus coccineus albus) of the scarlet runner, with white flowers.
White Eagle. For the Order of the White Eagle of Yugoslavia, see ORDER, n., 1. white'-ear', n. [See WHEATEAR.] The wheatear. white eardrop. The Dutchman's-breeches. white'-eared' hum'ming·bird'. A hummingbird of the genus Hylocharis, as H. leucotis of Central America or H. xantusi of Lower California.

White-eared Hummingbird (Hylocharis xantusi). (⅔) white-eared thrush. An Australian honey eater (Nesoptilotis leucotis) having white ear tufts. white earth. a A siliceous earth from Lower Bavaria, used as a substrate for lake pigments for paints. b An impure silica. white elder. The guelder-rose. Dial. Eng.

white elephant. 1. An albinistic Indian elephant of which more or less of the usual dark pigment is absent from the skin, giving it a pale color. Such elephants are rare, and are venerated in India, Ceylon, Siam, and Burma.
2. Something requiring much care and expense and yielding little profit; any burdensome possession. Colloq.
3. [caps.] See ORDER, n., 1.
white elm. a The American elm. b The rock elm. white ensign. Naut. The British naval ensign. See ENSIGN, 1.
White Eskimo. The Eskimo of Coronation Gulf; — so named by Stefansson because he observed some with light hair and gray eyes. Called also Copper Eskimo. white'-eye' (hwīt'ī'), n. 1. Any of several small Old World singing birds of the genus Zosterops or related genera, as Z. palpebrosa of India, or Z. lateralis of Australia and New Zealand. The eyes are encircled by a ring of white feathers, whence the name. Called also silvereye, ringeye, and white-eyed tit.

White-eye (Zosterops lateralis). ⅓

2. a The white-eyed vireo. b The white-eyed duck Nyroca nyroca.
3. a The haddock. b The walleyed pike.
white'-eyed' coot. The white-winged scoter.
white-eyed duck. A widely distributed Old World duck (Nyroca nyroca) allied to the pochard; also, the related N. australis of Australia.
white-eyed shad. The gizzard shad (Dorosoma cepedianum).
white-eyed tit. = WHITE-EYE, 1. white-eyed towhee. A towhee (Pipilo erythrophthalmus alleni) of Florida.
white-eyed vireo. A vireo (Vireo griseus) of the eastern United States, with a greenish-olive back, white under parts, and a yellow ring around the eye.
white'-eye'lid' mon'key. A mangabey. white'face' (hwīt'fās'), n. 1. a A white mark in the forehead of a horse, descending almost to the nose; — called also whiteblaze. b A horse so marked.
2. a Local, U. S. The baldpate; also, the blue-winged teal. b Any of several Australian titmice of the genus Aphelocephala (syn. Xerophila).
white face-and-foot disease. Trifoliosis.
white'-faced' (-fāst'; 66), adj. 1. Having a wan pale face.
2. White-fronted. "The white-faced hills." Tennyson.
3. a Having the face white (in whole or in part); — said esp. of animals in which other parts of the body, hair, plumage, etc., are dark. b Having a whiteface (which see); as, a white-faced horse.
white-faced Black Spanish. The Black Spanish (fowl).
white-faced duck. The blue-winged teal.
white-faced glossy ibis. See GLOSSY IBIS. white-faced hornet. See HORNET, Illust. white-faced teal. The blue-winged teal.
White Fathers. Members of the Society of African Missioners founded in 1868 by the Abbé (later Cardinal) Lavigerie. They dress in white. They are active in northern and equatorial Africa.
white feather. A mark or symbol of cowardice, a white feather in the tail of a cock being considered an indication that he is not a true gamecock; hence, a coward. — white'-feath'er·ism, n.
— to show the white feather. To betray cowardice or timidity; to back down or out.
white fiber. Anat. a A medullated nerve fiber. b One of the inelastic fibers of typical connective tissue.
white fibrous tissue. Anat. Typical connective tissue; — distinguished from elastic tissue.
White'field Con·nex'ion (hwīt'fēld). See CALVINISTIC METHODISTS.
White·field'i·an (hwīt·fēl'dĭ·ăn), n. Also White'field·ite (hwīt'fēl'dīt). Eccl. Hist. An adherent or follower of George Whitefield (1714–70), a noted evangelist. — Whitefield'i·an, adj. — White'field·ism, n.
white fig. The purple fig (Ficus scabra). white finch. Chaffinch. Local, Eng.
white fir. 1. Any of several firs of western America; also, their wood; as: a Abies concolor, a tree with a narrow, spirelike crown, pale foliage, and soft wood, used for lumber; — called also California white fir. b A. grandis, a lofty tree of the coast region, with long curving branches, deep-green leaves, and soft wood. c One of the red firs (Abies amabilis). d Alpine fir.
2. White deal. Eng.
3. A Chinese evergreen tree (Cupressus funebris) with handsome foliage and gracefully drooping branches.
white fire. A composition burning with a brilliant white light, used in fireworks, signaling, etc. One variety contains potassium nitrate, realgar, and sulphur. Magnesium powder is the basis of some kinds. white'fish' (hwīt'fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH, -FISHES (-fĭsh'ĕz; -ĭz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. 1. Any of various food fishes of the family Coregonidae, esp. of the genus Coregonus, resembling the salmon and trout in having an adipose dorsal fin but having a smaller and nearly or quite toothless mouth. They inhabit clear lakes and streams of North America, Europe, and Asia. The largest and most important American species (Coregonus clupeiformis) is abundant in the Great Lakes and other lakes to the north and east. It reaches a length of about two feet and is highly valued for food. The Rocky Mountain whitefish (Prosopium williamsoni), ranging from Colorado to Vancouver Island, the Menominee whitefish (P. quadrilaterale), from the lakes of Maine to the Great Lakes and northward, and the ciscoes and lake herrings of the genus Leucichthys, are other important species. The lavaret (C. lavaretus) and the schnabel (C. oxyrhynchus) are European whitefishes.

Whitefish (Coregonus clupeiformis). 1/10

2. a Locally, any of various other fishes, as the menhaden, the young of the bluefish, the whiting (Merluccius bilinearis) and the Columbia chub. See BLOATER WHITEFISH. b The beluga, or white whale.
3. The flesh of any of these fishes used as food.
white'fish', v. i. To fish for whitefish. — white'fish'er, n. — white'fish'er·y, n.
white flag. A flag, or something used as a flag, of plain white. In all civilized armies it is recognized as the flag of truce and as the token of surrender when displayed over a place, position, or body of men. Hence, fig., in such phrases as to hoist, show, or wave the white flag, the sign or token of cowardice or yielding.
white flag. The Florentine iris. white'flaw' (hwīt'flô'). Var. of WHITLOW. Obs. white flesher. The ruffed grouse. Local, Canada.
white flax. Gold-of-pleasure. Rare.
white flux. Metal. A flux, chiefly of potassium carbonate, obtained as a white or grayish mass by the defiagration of tartar with an equal or larger amount of saltpeter.
white fly; pl. WHITE FLIES. Any of numerous small injurious homopterous insects of the genus Aleyrodes, and its allies, related to the scale insects. They are usually covered with a white or gray powder. The citrus white fly (Dialeurodes citri) is a serious pest of citrus trees. white'foot' (hwīt'fōōt'), n.; pl. -FEET (-fēt'). 1. A white mark on a horse's foot, between the fetlock and the coffin; also, a horse having it.
2. [cap.] One of a secret society in Ireland about 1832, replacing the Whiteboys. — white'foot·ism, n.
white'-foot'ed mouse. Any of numerous native North American mice of the genus Peromyscus, esp. the common woodland species (P. leucopus) of the eastern United States. See MOUSE, Illust. white forget-me-not. Any white-flowered species of Oreocarya or related plants.
white fox. The arctic fox.
White Friar. R.C.Ch. = CARMELITE, 2 a.
White'fri'ars (hwīt'frī'ĕrz), n. A Carmelite monastery (c. 1241–1538) in Fleet Street, London; hence, its precincts (a sanctuary till 1697) and neighborhood. Cf. ALSATIA. white fringe. The fringe tree.
white fringed orchis. A beautiful bog herb (Blephariglottis albiflora) of eastern North America, with sheathing leaves, and a spike of pure-white fringed flowers.
white fringe fungus. A fungous parasite (Fusarium aleyrodis) of the white fly; — so called from the fringe of white hyphae which grow out from affected larvae.
white fritillary. A Californian bulbous herb (Fritillaria liliacea), with white, sometimes green-veined, flowers.
white'-front'ed cap'u·chin or mon'key. A South American monkey (Cebus albifrons) of a reddish-brown color with white face, forehead, shoulders, and breast.
white-fronted goose. a A large grayish-brown goose (Anser albifrons) of northern Europe and North America, with a white forehead and black, white, and gray under parts. b The slightly larger, similar subspecies A. a. gambelli; — often called tule goose. white-fronted lemur. A true lemur (Lemur albifrons) of Madagascar, having a white forehead. white frost. See FROST, n., 3 a. white fuel. Water power. Colloq.
white gall. See 4th GALL. white game. Ptarmigan in winter plumage. white garnet. Leucite. Obs.
white gelatin. Oil pulp.
white gentian. The feverroot.
white gift. [often caps.] In some Protestant churches, a gift, usually at Christmas, symbolically of something white, or figuratively of self or service, to the Church. U. S. white ginger. See GINGER, n., 2. white glass. Clear uncolored glass.
white glasswort. A maritime plant (Suaeda fruticosa) of the Mediterranean region, formerly a source of barilla.
white goat. The mountain goat (Oreamnos montanus).
white gold. 1. Gold alloyed with 25 per cent of nickel and zinc, causing it to resemble platinum in appearance; hence, any similar white alloy of gold.
2. Bot. See 3d GOLD b.
white goldenrod. = SILVERROD b.
white goods. Fabrics, esp. dress fabrics, of white cloth, as muslin, cambric, etc.; also, products manufactured from white cloth, as sheets, tablecloths, pillowcases, etc.
white goose. A snow goose.
white goosefoot. A common goosefoot (Chenopodium album) of almost cosmopolitan distribution. It has pale-green variable leaves and mealy white flowers, and is sometimes cooked like spinach. Called also lamb's-quarters, pigweed, fat hen, and many other names.
white gourd melon. The wax gourd.
white grama or grass. A grass (Leersia virginica) found in moist places in the eastern United States.
white grape hyacinth. A white-flowered variety of the common grape hyacinth (Muscari botryoides).
white grapewort. The white baneberry.
white grass. a Velvet grass. b White grama. white grease. Specif., a fat obtained from all parts (except the intestines) of hogs that have died in transit. It is used for manufacturing purposes. Cf. YELLOW GREASE.
white grouse. a A ptarmigan. b Local, U. S. The sharp-tailed grouse. white grub. The larva of the June beetle, and other allied species. These grubs eat the roots of grasses and other plants, and often do much damage.
white grunt. See GRUNT, n., 3.
White Guard. In Russia, Finland, Hungary, etc., following the Russian Revolution, the forces, usually of the monarchist, or previously established, government, in conflict with the radical socialist, or Bolshevist, element; those organized against the revolutionists. See RED ARMY; RED GUARD.
White Guardist. One of the White Guard; one favoring the White Guard. white gum. a Any of numerous Australian eucalypts, as Eucalyptus viminalis, E. haemastoma, E. gunnii, E. coriacea, etc.; — in allusion to their pale bark. b U. S. The sweet gum.
white gyrfalcon. See GYRFALCON. white hake. See HAKE, 2.
White'hall' (hwīt'hôl'; 66), n. 1. Also White'hall' Pal'ace. A former palace in London, which stood to the north of Westminster Abbey, built in the 13th century and used first as a residence of Hubert de Burgh and after his death as a residence of the archbishops of York (hence orig. called York House or York Place). In 1530, on Wolsey's disgrace, it came into possession of the crown and received the name Whitehall. Henry VIII almost reconstructed it. It was burned in 1691 and 1698, the banqueting hall (now a royal chapel), built by Inigo Jones for James I to replace an old one burned down in 1615, being all that survives.
2. A thoroughfare in the Westminster section of London which is bordered by government offices; hence, figuratively, the British imperial government, or its policies.
white'hand'ed (hwīt'hăn'dĕd; -dĭd; 66; 119), adj. 1. Having white hands.
2. Having or keeping the hands free from evil acts; hence, pure; unstained. "Whitehanded Hope." Milton.
3. Zool. Having white paws. whitehanded gibbon. The lar.
white'-hard', adj. Ceramics. Quite dry but unfired; — said of clay. white harvest. A harvest when the ground is white from hoarfrost; hence, a late harvest.
white'hass' (hwīt'hăs'; -hôs'), white'hawse' (-hôs'; -hôz'), n. Scot. a Sausages stuffed with oatmeal and suet. b Sheep's gullet.
white hawk. The male hen harrier. Ir.
white'head' (hwīt'hĕd'), adj. Whiteheaded. white'head', n. 1. A white headdress. Obs.
2. a The blue goose. b Local, U. S. The surf scoter. c A timaline bird of New Zealand Certhiparus albicillus. d A white-headed breed of domestic pigeon. e W. Indies. The bastard feverfew. f Take-all; — often in pl. g The strawworm Harmolita grandia.
3. Med. A minute white nodule in the skin formed by secretion in a sebaceous gland with an obstructed or obliterated outlet.
white'-head'ed (66), adj. 1. Having a head with white hair, plumage, etc.
2. Fair-haired; flaxen-haired.
3. Favorite; as, my white-headed boy. Ir.
4. White-capped; forming whitecaps.
white-headed eagle. The American bald eagle.
white-headed fungus. The fungus Podonectria (syn. Ophionectria) coccicola, which is parasitic on scale insects, esp. the purple scale and the long scale destructive to citrus plants.
white-headed goose. The blue goose.
white-headed gull. Heermann's gull. white-headed harpy. The marsh harrier. Local, Eng.
white-headed saki. See SAKI, Illust. white-headed tern. A South American tern (Sterna trudeaui). white-headed woodpecker. A woodpecker (Dryobates albolarvatus) of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade ranges.

White'head' tor·pe'do (hwīt'hĕd'), or White'head', n. a A form of self-propelling torpedo. See TORPEDO, 4 c, Illust.
white'heart' (-härt'), n. A heart cherry with a whitish skin.
white heart. The Dutchman's-breeches; also, the related squirrel corn.
white'-heart' hick'o·ry. The mockernut. white heat. a The temperature, higher than red heat (for copper and iron, from 1500° to 1600° C.), at which a body becomes brightly incandescent, so as to appear white. b A state of intense mental or physical strain, emotion, or activity; as, his anger was at white heat.
white heath. The tree heath Erica arborea. See BRIER, 1 a. white heath aster. The heath aster. white heel splitter. See HEEL SPLITTER.
white hellebore. a Any herb of the genus Veratrum, esp. the European V. album and the American V. viride; — called also false hellebore. See VERATRUM. b The roots or rhizomes of any of these plants.
white hen. A favorite of fortune.
white heron. a The great white heron. b The snowy egret. white herring. A fresh, or unsmoked, herring. Rare.
white hickory. Any of several hickories, as the shagbark, the mockernut, etc.
White Holland. A medium-sized pure-white variety of domestic turkey. white holly. The common American holly (Ilex opaca). white honeyflower. = LOCUST, 3 a. white honeysuckle. a The swamp azalea. b Dial. Eng. White clover. c In Australia, the so-called honeysuckle (Banksia integrifolia). See BANKSIA. white hoolet. The barn owl. Local, Eng.
white'-hooved' (hwīt'hōōvd'; 66), adj. Having white hoofs.
white hope. 1. Orig., a white contender for a pugilistic championship held by a colored person. Slang.
2. Any person of whom much is expected; esp., a person undertaking a difficult or desperate task. Slang.
White Horde. The Eastern Kipchaks, a Mongolian tribe powerful in Russia in the 14th century. Cf. GOLDEN HORDE. white horehound. See HOREHOUND, 1 a. white horse. 1. A white-haired horse; hence [cap.], an inn bearing the figure of one as a sign.
2. A whitecap (sense 2).
3. A West Indian shrub (Portlandia grandiflora), family Rubiaceae, having large showy white flowers.
4. A large mass of tough sinewy substance in the head of sperm whales, just above the upper jaw and extending in streaks into the junk above it. It contains no oil. Also, the part of the head in which it occurs.
White Horse, the. The figure of a horse, 374 feet long, formed by cutting away the turf on the side of a chalk hill near Wantage, in Berkshire, England, said to commemorate the victory of Alfred the Great over the Danes at the battle of Ashdown in 871. From 1736 on it has been periodically "scoured," or cleaned from turf, etc. The white horse was the national symbol of the Saxons.
white horse nettle. The trompillo.
white'-hot' (66), adj. Radiating or feeling white heat.
White House, the. a In the United States, the executive or presidential mansion at Washington, a large freestone building, built in 18th-century colonial style, and painted white; — popularly so called. b Colloq. The office of President; the Federal executive.
White Hun. See EPHTHALITE.
white ibis. a An ibis (Guara alba) of tropical America and the southern United States, having white plumage, with the wings tipped with black. b An Asiatic ibis (Threskiornis melanocephala) having the plumage chiefly white, and the bare skin of head and neck blue-black.
White Indian. A Cuna.
white Indian hemp. The swamp milkweed; also, the hairy milkweed.
white insect wax. Arjun WAX.
white ipecac or ipecacuanha. a U. S. The ipecac spurge. b A Brazilian plant (Ionidium ipecacuanha); also, its root, which has the properties of ipecac.
white iron. a Iron in thin sheets coated with tin; tin plate. b A hard silvery-white pig or cast iron having its carbon content almost entirely in combined form. See CAST IRON.
white ironbark. An Australian ironbark (Eucalyptus paniculata) with pale bark and light-colored very hard wood, used in bridges and buildings, for railroad ties, etc.
white iron pyrites. Marcasite.
white ironwood. a A timber tree (Hypelate trifoliata), family Sapindaceae, of Florida and the West Indies, having edible berries and hardwood used in shipbuilding; also, its wood, which resembles mahogany and is called Madeira wood. b A South African timber tree (Toddalia lanceolata), family Rutaceae; also, its hard wood.
white jade. = ALABASTER, n., 3.
White Ju'ra (jōō'rȧ; zhū'rȧ'). Geol. See MALM, 2.
White Kal'muck. The Altaic Tartars. white kerria. See RHODOTYPOS. white kite. The male hen harrier. Ir.
White Knight. A character in Lewis Carroll's Alice through the Looking Glass, the sequel to Alice's Adventures in Wonderland.
White Lady. German Folklore. A stately woman clad in white, who appears to people and leaves them valuable gifts. She is often considered an enchanted princess awaiting relief, and is also pictured as an ancestral spirit of specific families, her appearance signifying important events, usually deaths, to come.
white lake bass. The white bass.
white lark. The snow bunting. Local, Eng.
white latten. Tin plate.
white lauan. See LAUAN a. white laurel. a The sweet bay Magnolia virginiana. b A handsome shrub (Azalea occidentalis) of the Pacific coast of the United States, with yellow-blotched flowers. white lavender. A perennial herb (Lavandula spica) of southern Europe, with spikes of blue flowers.
white lead. a A heavy, white, poisonous powder consisting of basic lead carbonate, usually having the composition $2\,PbCO_3.Pb(OH)_2$, and forming a most important pigment; ceruse; also, the paste formed by grinding it with oil (white lead in oil). In three important processes of manufacturing white lead, metallic lead is exposed to the action of acetic acid, moisture, and carbon dioxide. Most used is the old Dutch, or stack, process, in which lead gratings or plates are placed in the upper part of pots containing the dilute acid, and the pots are stacked in fermenting tanbark or manure and left for about three months. Similar, but faster, processes, using burning coke instead of tanbark as the source of carbon dioxide, are the Carter process (in which melted lead is atomized by superheated steam and placed in rotating wooden cylinders) and the German, or chamber, process (in which strips of lead are hung in heated brick chambers). In the French process white lead is precipitated by means of carbon dioxide from a solution of basic lead acetate (prepared usually by dissolving litharge in acetic acid); in the Rowley, or mild, process it is precipitated from a suspension in water of lead hydroxides and oxides (formed by exposing a suspension of atomized lead to warm air). There are various other processes, some of them electrolytic. As a pigment white lead has great opacity and covering power, flows readily and dries quickly in oil; but it forms a soft film which tends to become chalky, and darkens because of the action of hydrogen sulphide. A mixture of white lead and zinc oxide forms a very satisfactory paint. White lead is often adulterated with barite. b Native lead carbonate; cerussite. c Any of certain other white pigments containing lead, esp. basic lead sulphate; as, sublimed white lead.
white'-lead' (hwīt'lĕd'), v. t. To apply white lead to. white lead ore (lĕd). Cerussite.
white leaf. a The white poplar Populus alba. b See TRAGACANTH.
white leaf curl. Plant Pathol. A virus disease of the tomato producing a grayish coloration and rolling of the leaves.
White League. U. S. Hist. a A military organization formed in Louisiana, after the Civil War, to secure white supremacy in politics. b The Ku-Klux.
white leather. a Leather prepared with alum and salt; tawed leather. b The ligamentum nuchae of a quadruped.
white'-leaved' sage. The purple sage. white leg. Med. Milk leg.
white leprosy. Leucoderma.
white letter. Roman type.
white lettuce. Any of various species of Prenanthes.
White Lias. Geol. A subdivision of the English Lias. white lie. A lie without evil intent or in a matter of slight importance; a fib. — white'-lie', v. i.
white light. a Light of white color. See COLOR, n. b White fire. c Colorimetry. A neutral stimulus. d Physics. A form of radiant energy, free from all polarization, which, if analyzed into a spectrum, would be found to show waves of all wave lengths between certain limits. — white'-light', adj.
white'like' (hwīt'lĭk'), adj. Whitish.
white lime. a Obs. A solution or preparation of lime for whitewashing; whitewash. b Pure lime. white'-lime', v. t. To whitewash. Obs. exc. Dial.
white lime or linden. Any of several lindens or basswoods with leaves white or whitish beneath.
white line. A band or edge of something white; as: a A stripe painted on a road and used to guide traffic. b Anat. (1) The linea alba of the abdomen. (2) The tendinous arch of the pelvic fascia. c Naut. White rope. d Print. A blank line. e Veter. The cross section of the leafy layer of the wall of a horse's hoof, where the periphery of the sole unites with the lower border of the wall and bars of the hoof. All nails in shoes are driven into this white line. See HOOF, Illust.
white'-line', v. t. To mark with white lines or a white line.
white'-lined' sphinx. An American sphinx moth (Celerio, syn. Deilephila, lineata) whose larva eats the leaves of cotton, apple, grape, currant, and many other plants. Its forewings are olive brown with a longitudinal buff stripe and with most of the veins lined with white. The hind wings are black with a central reddish band.
white linn. White lime (tree).
white'-lipped' pec'ca·ry. See PECCARY.
white list. a A list of business concerns regarded as worthy of patronage by reason of compliance with certain conditions, as in regard to treatment of employees. b A list of plays, books, etc., favorably regarded. c New York Stock Exchange. The official list of all transactions, published daily on white paper, divided into sales from the hours of 10 to 12, 12 to 2, and 2 to 3.
white'-list', v. t. To include in a white list.
white'-list'ed, adj. Striped with white. white liver. See 2d LIVER, 2. white'-liv'ered (66), adj. Having a pale look; feeble; hence, cowardly; pusillanimous; as, white-livered knights. — white'-liv'ered·ly, adj. — white'-liv'ered·ness, n.
white liverwort. Grass-of-Parnassus. white locoweed. A perennial herb (Oxytropis lambertii) of the western United States, very poisonous to stock.
white lotion. Veter. A fluid astringent preparation containing lead acetate, zinc sulphate, and water, used largely in treating wounds, scratches, suppurating corns, etc.
white lupine. A Eurasian white-flowered lupine (Lupinus albus) widely cultivated in Europe for forage. white'ly (hwīt'lĭ), adj. Whitish; pale. Obs. exc. Scot. white'ly (hwīt'lĭ), adv. of WHITE.
white magic. See MAGIC, n., 1. white mahogany. a A pale or light-colored mahogany. b Primavera. c In Australia: (1) The tree Eucalyptus acmenoides; also, its wood, used for joists, flooring, etc. (2) The swamp mahogany Eucalyptus robusta.
white maidenhair. The wall rue. white maire. The maire Olea lanceolata. See 1st MAIRE. white mallow. = MARSH MALLOW.
white man. a A person of the white race. b Colloq. A trustworthy, fair-dealing person. c Obs. A man clad in white.
white mangle. The groundsel tree.
white mangrove. a See LAGUNCULARIA. b See AVICENNIA. white manjack. A tropical American timber tree (Calyptracordia alba), family Boraginaceae; also, its light, pale-brown, straight-grained wood.
white man's burden. The supposed duty of the white peoples to manage the affairs of the so-called backward, colored races; — a phrase originated by Rudyard Kipling (1899), but subsequently often used ironically.
white man's weed. = DAISY, 2. white ma'pa·u (mä'pä·ōō; mä'pou). Either of two New Zealand trees: a See CARPODETUS. b The tarata.
white maple. a A maple having pale bark, as the silver maple, the red maple, etc. b Corrupt. of WHITE MAPAU. white mariposa. A Californian perennial herb (Calochortus venustus), with white, but red-blotched flowers. See WILD FLOWERS, Plate.
white'-marked' tus'sock moth. See TUSSOCK MOTH. white Mary. A white woman; a wife. Pidgin Eng., Polynesia & Australia.
white matter. Anat. White nervous tissue (esp. of the brain and spinal cord) which consists largely of medullated nerve fibers. Cf. GRAY MATTER.
white meat. a Obs. exc. Dial. Food (as butter, cheese, etc.) derived from animal products such as milk. b Any light-colored flesh, as veal, pork, or breast of chicken; — distinguished from red (or dark) meat.
white melancholy. A slight degree of melancholy. white melilot. The sweet clover Melilotus alba. white merganser. The smew (Mergus albellus). Local, Eng.
white metal. a Any of several lead-base or tin-base bearing metals. b Any of several white alloys, as pewter, britannia, etc. c In the Welsh process or in converting, copper matte with virtually all the iron removed, containing therefore about 80 per cent copper and 20 per cent sulphur.
white mica. Muscovite.
white miller. a The common clothes moth. b A common American arctiid moth (Diacrisia virginica), pure white with a few small black spots. See WOOLLY BEAR. c Angling. An artificial fly with white wings and hackle, white silk body, and silver ribbing and tag. white'mind'ed (hwīt'mīn'dĕd; -dĭd; 66; 119), adj. Mentally pure. white mineral oil. See PETROLATUM. white min'er·al prim'er (prĭm'ẽr). A white pigment consisting of calcium carbonate. white mold. Cottony rot.
white money. Silver money. Hist.
white monk. A Cistercian.
white moss. See LEUCOBRYUM.
white moth. Angling. An artificial fly with white wings and hackle, white chenille body, and silver tag.
White Mountain Apache. a See COYOTERO. b An Apache of any of several tribes now on Fort Apache Reservation in eastern Arizona. See APACHE.
White Mountain butterfly. A delicate brownish butterfly (Oeneis semidea) of the family Agapetidae, found near the peaks of the White Mountains and the Rocky Mountains.
white mouse. An albino variety of the common mouse.
white mulberry. A common mulberry tree (Morus alba) with white berries. See MORUS. white mule. Illicit whisky or gin. Slang, U. S. white mullein. A Eurasian herb (Verbascum lychnitis) with racemose white flowers. Its down was once used for lighting, hence its specific name lychnitis.
white mullet. a A silvery mullet (Querimana curema) of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. b Any of several silvery suckers (Catostomidae) of the genus Moxostoma, esp. M. papillosum of the coastal streams from the Dismal Swamp southward, or M. album of the rivers of North Carolina.
white mundic. Mining. Arsenopyrite. white muscadine. The sweetwater grape. white mustard. A Eurasian mustard (Brassica alba) with rough-hairy foliage, a long-beaked hispid pod, and pale seeds, which yield mustard and mustard oil. The plant is also grown for forage. — white'-mus'tard, adj.
white'-mus'tard oil. See OIL, Table.
white myrtle. a Either of two related Australian trees Myrtus acmenioides and Rhodamnia argentea. b The California laurel. whit'en (hwīt'n), v.; WHIT'ENED (-'nd); WHIT'EN·ING. [ME. whitenen; cf. ON. hvītna.] Intransitive: To grow white; to turn or become white or whiter; as, the hair whitens with age; the sea whitens with foam.
——, Transitive: 1. To make white or whiter in any way, as by bleaching or blanching, or by whitewashing, etc.; as, to whiten a wall; to whiten cloth.
2. To make or make to appear pure, guiltless, etc.
3. Electroplating. To deposit a white film of silver on (a metal) by simple immersion.
Syn. — WHITEN, BLANCH, BLEACH. To WHITEN, the general word, is to make white, commonly (though not necessarily) by the application or addition of something from without; to BLANCH is to whiten esp. from within, as by the removal or withdrawal of color; to BLEACH is to whiten esp. by exposure or by chemical processes; as, "The walls . . . are whitened with lime" (Dampier); "Scattered by degrees . . . the sheep soon whiten all the land" (Cowper); "I wield the flail of the lashing hail, and whiten the green fields under" (Shelley); "How dwarfed a growth of cold and night, how blanched with darkness must I grow!" (Tennyson); cf. "the moon-blanched land" (M. Arnold); to blanch celery; "a splintered stump bleached to a snowy white" (Cowper); "There they lay till their bones were bleached" (Tennyson); to bleach linen.
Ant. — Blacken, darken; color. white neb. A rook. Dial. Eng.
white nebula. Astron. Any of a large class of nebulae showing continuous spectra instead of the bright-line spectra of true gaseous nebulae. Rare.
white'-necked' ra'ven. See RAVEN, 1. whit'ened sep'ul·cher (hwīt''nd). = WHITED SEPULCHER. whit'en·er (hwīt''n·ẽr), n. One who or that which whitens; specif., a worker or agent used in bleaching.
white'ness (hwīt'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. [AS. hwītness.] 1. Quality or state of being white, as: a White color. b Want of a sanguineous tinge; paleness, as from terror, grief, etc. c Freedom from stain or blemish; purity; cleanness.
2. White substance.
white nettle. The white dead nettle. white night. A sleepless night; — a translation of the French, nuit blanché.
whit'en·ing (hwīt''n·ĭng), n. 1. Act or process of making or becoming white.
2. That which is used to render white; whiting.
3. Leather Mfg. The operation of shaving leather with a knife on the flesh side to even its thickness.
whit'en·ing, adj. That whitens. whitening stone. A sharpening and polishing stone used by cutlers; also, a finishing grindstone of fine texture.
white Norway. The wood of the Norway spruce (Picea abies). England.
white'nose' (hwīt'nōz'), n., or white'-nosed' sucker (hwīt'nōzd'). A large sucker (Moxostoma anisurum) of the Great Lakes and the Ohio basin.
white note. Music. An open note, as 𝅗𝅥 or 𝅗𝅥.
white nun. The smew.
white oak. a A British species of oak (Quercus sessiliflora); — called also maiden oak. b An American oak (Quercus alba) of the eastern United States, having characteristic leaves with usually seven deep, rounded, entire lobes. See OAK, 1. c Any species of oak of the group of which the above is typical, having acorns maturing the first season, the cup glabrous within, as Q. lobata, Q. gambelii, Q. garryana, etc. d The wood of Quercus alba, Q. stellata, Q. bicolor, and Q. macrocarpa, these species being sources of white oak lumber in the United States.
white oakum. Oakum from untarred rope. white ocher. White mineral primer. white'-of-egg', n. = WHITE, n., 2 a. white of the eye. = 2d WHITE, 2 b. white olive. A South African shrub (Halleria lucida), family Scrophulariaceae, with white flowers.
white owl. a The snowy owl. b The barn owl.
white ozier. A deciduous shrub (Eubotrys racemosa), family Ericaceae, of the eastern United States, having showy one-sided racemes of white flowers blooming before or with the unfolding of the leaves.

white paper. a Paper of white color. b A government report on any subject, esp. an English publication, usually less extensive than a blue book. Cf. WHITE BOOK. c Print. Unprinted paper of any color. white pareira brava. The root of the tropical American woody vine Abuta rufescens. See ABUTA. white partridge. A ptarmigan.
white paternoster. See PATERNOSTER, 3. white peach. A white-fleshed peach, as the Carman. white pear. Either of two South African timber trees: a Pterocelastrus rostratus (family Celastraceae), yielding a hardwood used in wagons. b Apodytes dimidiata (family Icacinaceae), yielding a good construction timber. white pelican. See PELICAN, 1. white pellitory. The root of the sweet pellitory.
white pepper. a See PEPPER, n., 1 a. b The rocket salad. white peppermint. An Australian eucalypt (Eucalyptus stuartiana).
white perch. a A small silvery anadromous fish (Morone americana) of the family Serranidae, of the coast and coastal streams of the eastern United States. It is closely related to the yellow bass. b The croaker, or fresh-water drum. c Any California surf fish. d The crappie. e The calico bass.

White Perch (Morone americana).

white person. A person of the Caucasian race (6 Fed. Rep. 256). In the time of slavery in the United States white person was generally construed as a person without admixture of colored blood. In various statutes and decisions in different States since 1865 white person is construed as in effect: one not having any negro blood (Ark., Okla.); one having less than one eighth of negro blood (Ala., Fla., Ga., Ind., Ky., Md., Minn., Miss., Mo., N. C., S. C., Tenn., Tex.); one having less than one fourth (Mich., Nebr., Ore., Va.); one having less than one half (Ohio).
white petrolatum. See PETROLATUM. white petroleum jelly. See PETROLATUM. white phosphorus. See PHOSPHORUS, 3. white pickle, white′–pick′le mo·sa′ic. See CUCUMBER MOSAIC. white pigweed. The goosefoot or lamb's-quarters Chenopodium album. See PIGWEED a. white pine. 1. a A pine (Pinus strobus) of eastern North America, distinguished by having long-stalked green cones and the leaves in clusters of five. Its cone and tassel are the State emblem of Maine. See STATE FLOWER, Plate. Also, its soft light wood, formerly the most important commercial softwood in America, used for all kinds of construction, for woodenware, etc. The dried inner bark is used in cough sirups. b Any of numerous other pines of the same group, esp. the sugar pine (P. lambertiana) in California, the western white pine P. monticola, the limber pine (P. flexilis), and the lodgepole pine P. contorta; also, their wood.
2. a In Australia: (1) The camphorwood Callitris robusta. (2) The she-pine Podocarpus elata; — often called pencil cedar. (3) The colonial pine. b In New Zealand, the kahikatea.
white′–pine′ blis′ter rust. Plant Pathol. A disease of white pines, as Pinus strobus and P. monticola, and other 5-needled pines caused by the fungus Cronartium ribicola, which kills the tree by penetrating the sapwood and inner bark with a mass of hyphal threads, afterward appearing on the bark as white blisters. These burst and expose yellowish spore fruits bearing aeciospores, which infect currants and gooseberries, on the underside of whose leaves develop uredinia with powdery yellowish clusters of urediniospores which may germinate at once and produce new infections on other leaves. Later in the season the leaves bearing uredinia develop hairlike structures (telia) which are aggregates of teliospores. The sporidia from the germinating teliospores again infect the white pine. Called also blister rust. See CRONARTIUM. white pine resin. Australian sandarac. See SANDARAC, 3. white–pine rust. White-pine blister rust.
white–pine weevil. A small snout beetle (Pissodes strobi) of northeastern America destructive to the terminal shoot of the white pine, in which the larvae bore. They cause a bushy top and crooked trunk in affected trees.
white pitch. A turpentine obtained in Europe chiefly from Pinus sylvestris and P. pinaster, purified by melting with water and straining; — called also yellow pitch. It is frequently substituted for Burgundy pitch.
white plague. Tuberculosis, esp. of the lungs.
white plantain. a The pussytoe Antennaria plantaginifolia. b The rattlesnake plantain Peramium repens.
white plum. a Australia. = HEARTWOOD, 2. b The coco plum. white pointer. The man-eater (Carcharodon carcharias). Australia.
white polar bear. = POLAR BEAR, 1. white Polish. A white variety of the Polish breed of domestic fowl. See 4th POLISH, 2 a. white pond lily. The white water lily, esp. Nymphaea odorata.
white pope. The Pope; — from his white vestments. Cf. BLACK POPE, RED POPE. white poplar. a A Eurasian poplar (Populus alba) widely cultivated and naturalized in the United States. It has whitish bark, and leaves with a white-tomentose lower surface. b The aspen Populus tremuloides. c The wood of the tulip tree Liriodendron tulipifera.
white poppy. a The opium poppy. b The white prickly poppy. white poppy thistle. The Mexican poppy Argemone mexicana.
white′pot′ (hwīt′pŏt′), n. 1. A kind of pudding made of milk or cream, eggs, sugar, bread, etc., baked in a pot.
2. Heated port wine, with lemon, sugar, and spice. Obs.
white potato. The common, or Irish, potato. white potherb. The corn salad Valerianella locusta.
white powder. A kind of gunpowder formerly believed to exist, and to explode noiselessly.
white precipitate. Chem. Specif.: a Ammoniated mercury (infusible, or true, white precipitate). b A white crystalline substance, $HgCl_2.2NH_3$, obtained by adding a solution of mercuric chloride to a hot solution of ammonia and ammonium chloride, or by dissolving mercuric chloride in liquid ammonia (fusible white precipitate).
white prickly poppy. A prickly poppy (Argemone alba) of the southern United States, often cultivated for its large, solitary, white flowers.
white puccoon. The bloodroot Sanguinaria canadensis.
white pudding. Whitehass or other similar sausage. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
white purslane. The flowering spurge.
white pyrite. Marcasite. white quebracho. See QUEBRACHO, 1 a. white rabbit. a A varying hare. b [caps.] A character in Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland.
white race. The race of mankind more usually called Caucasian race. See CAUCASIAN, adj., 3. white radiation. Physics. Radiation of the same general character as that emitted by a white body, regardless of whether it affects the eye or not, which may be analyzed by a spectroscope into trains of waves having frequencies varying continuously between certain limits; — called also general radiation. Cf. X RAYS.
white rainbow. See RAINBOW, 2. white rain lily. = EVENING STAR, 2. white rami communicantes. Anat. See RAMUS COMMUNICANS. white rat. An albino rat; specif., an albino form of the Norway rat (Rattus norvegicus), used extensively as a laboratory animal in biological experimentation.
white rattlesnake. A rattlesnake (Crotalus mitchellii), light yellowish gray with small brown spots, of the desert regions of the southwestern United States.
white rent. Eng. Law. Rent reserved or payable in silver; — opposed to black rent. See BLACKMAIL, n., 3. Hist.
white rhinoceros. See RHINOCEROS, 1. white ribbon. The distinctive badge of certain organizations for the promotion of sexual purity, or, sometimes, temperance. — white′–rib′bon·er, n.
White River series or formations. [From the White River, South Dakota and Nebraska.] Geol. Clastic formations of Oligocene age in the western plains of North America, esp. in the region about western Nebraska.
white robin. The white campion Lychnis alba. white robin snipe. The knot, in fall plumage.
white rod. Var. of WITHE ROD. white rodwood. The white stopper Calyptranthes pallens.
white′root′ (hwīt′rōōt′; 200), n. a A European Solomon's-seal (Polygonatum multiflorum). b = BUTTERFLY WEED a. white rope. Naut. Untarred hemp rope. It is the strongest hemp cordage, but not as pliable as manila rope.
White Rose. 1. With the, the royal house of York, one of the two great factions in the English civil wars (1455–85); — commonly so called from its emblem, a white rose. Also, a member of this house. See RED ROSE; Wars of the Roses, under WAR, Table.
2. See ORDER, n., 1.
white rosemary. The heath aster.
white rot. 1. Any of several plants, as marsh pennywort and butterwort, thought to produce rot in sheep. Obs.
2. Plant Pathol. a A disease of grapes caused by the imperfect fungus Coniothyrium diplodiella, affecting the fruit and young shoots. b Any of several wood rots of various trees caused chiefly by pore fungi of the genus Fomes. c Moldy nose.
3. A watery spoiled condition of eggs in which the white is mixed with the yolk; also, an egg so spoiled.
white′rump′ (hwīt′rŭmp′), n. a Local, U. S. The Hudsonian godwit. See GODWIT. b Local, Eng. & Scot. The wheatear. white′–rumped′ sand′pip′er. A common, small, migratory sandpiper (Pisobia fuscicollis) of eastern North America, which breeds in the Arctic and winters in southern South America. It is streaked buff and grayish brown with a conspicuous white rump. white–rumped shrike. See SHRIKE. white rush. See GRASS, Table.
White Russian. See RUSSIAN, n., 1 & 2. white rust. Plant Pathol. a Any fungus disease of plants caused by a species of Albugo; — so called from the white sori which develop beneath the epidermis of the host. b Any fungus of the genus Albugo.
whites (hwīts), n. pl. 1. Med. Leucorrhea.
2. The finest flour made from white wheat.
3. See WHITE, n., 3 a.
White's (hwīts). A club, more fully White's Club, or its clubhouse, in St. James's Street, London. The club probably originated about 1697 in White's Chocolate House, established by Francis White (d. 1711) in 1693. It was long a noted gambling club.
white sage. Any of several shrubs of western America, having canescent, or hoary, foliage; specif.: a See 1st RAMONA. b One of the common sagebrushes (Artemisia mexicana). c The winter fat. d The chamiso Atriplex canescens. e A Californian aromatic herb (Salvia apiana) furnishing much honey.
white sale. A sale of white goods. white Sally. One of the Australian white gums (Eucalyptus coriacea). white salmon. a The silver salmon. b Local, Eng. The salmon (Salmo salar). c A large food fish (Ptychocheilus lucius), family Cyprinidae, of the Colorado River basin. It reaches a length of five feet. d = YELLOWTAIL a. e The largemouthed black bass. See BLACK BASS, 1. white sandalwood. The true sandalwood (Santalum album).
white sandbox. See YELLOW SANDBOX. white sanicle. The white snakeroot. white sapota. A Mexican and Central American tree (Casimiroa edulis) cultivated for its round, pulpy, edible fruit. The leaves are styptic and the seeds narcotic. white sapphire. Clear or colorless corundum. See SAPPHIRE, 1 b.
white′sark′ (hwīt′särk′), n. A surplice. Scot.
white sauce. a Milk thickened with a mixture of flour and butter, with or without seasonings. b Velouté sauce.
white scale. Any of various white scale insects; as: a Oleander scale (Aspidiotus hederae). b Cottony-cushion scale (Icerya purchasi). c The rose scale Aulacaspis rosae.
White's Club. See WHITE'S. white scour. An infectious diarrhea of calves appearing shortly after birth and marked by profuse yellowish-white discharges, with great dullness, prostration, sunken eyes, retracted belly, hurried breathing, and a subnormal temperature; — usually pl. in form.
white sea bass. See SEA BASS b.
white′seam′ (hwīt′sēm′), n. Plain needlework, as sewing of underclothing or linen. — v. t. To do plain needlework. Both Scot.
white senega. a Senega root. b Pharm. = SENEGA, 2 b. white′–sew′ing, n. Plain sewing; whiteseaming. Colloq.
white shad. The common shad (Alosa sapidissima). white′shank′ (hwīt′shăngk′), n. Barn grass. Local, U. S. white shark. The man-eater (Carcharodon carcharias). See SHARK, Illust. white sheep. 1. A white mountain sheep (Ovis dalli) of Alaska.
2. A normal, well-behaved individual among a group of discreditable individuals; — contrasted with black sheep.
white shellac. See SHELLAC, 1. white shoe button. The globular white flower head of a common pipewort (Eriocaulon decangulare). white′side′ (hwīt′sīd′), n. The goldeneye. Local, Eng.
white′–sid′ed dol′phin (-sīd′ĕd; -ĭd; 119). A dolphin (Lagenorhynchus acutus) of the North Atlantic. white–sided duck. = TUFTED DUCK a. Ir.
white silk–cotton tree. An East Indian tree (Cochlospermum gossypium) having seed pods which yield the fiber called kumbi (which see).
White Sisters. Missionary nuns corresponding to the White Fathers (which see). white′–skin′, adj. White in complexion or surface. Rare.
white slave. 1. A woman held unwillingly for purposes of commercial prostitution.
2. In the United States (since 1910) a woman transported in interstate commerce in violation of the White-slave-traffic Act (which see).
white slaver. One engaged in white-slave traffic; a procurer of white slaves; specif., a violator of the White-slave-traffic Act. — white slavery. — white′–slav′ing, n. & adj.
White′–slave′–traf′fic Act. An act of Congress, passed June 25, 1910, to regulate interstate and foreign commerce by prohibiting the transportation therein of women and girls for immoral purposes, and certain acts done in assistance thereof; — often popularly called White-slave Act. Called also Mann Act, after Congressman James R. Mann (1856–1922), of Illinois, who introduced the bill.
white′smith′ (hwīt′smĭth′), n. 1. One who works in tinned or galvanized iron, or white iron; a tinsmith.
2. A worker in iron who finishes or polishes the work, in distinction from one who forges it.
white′smith′, v. i. To be employed as a whitesmith.
white′smith′, n. [From white, adj., after Sir William Sidney Smith, Eng. admiral.] A kind of white gooseberry.
white smut. Plant Pathol. a Any disease caused by a fungus of the genus Entyloma; — so called because the leaf spots formed by the sori are often light-colored and covered with aerial conidia giving them a white powdery appearance. b Any fungus of the genus Entyloma.
white snail. A large edible European snail (Helix pomatia). Rare. white snakeroot. A North American herb (Eupatorium urticaefolium) bearing flat-topped clusters of small white flower heads. It yields tremetol. white snipe. a Eastern U. S. The sanderling. b Local, Utah. The avocet. white soapwort. The red campion. white son. A favored son. Cf. WHITE-HEADED, 3. Obs.
white sour. Bleaching. a A treatment with dilute mineral acid to complete the bleaching process and cleanse the fabric. b The bath, or solution, used in this treatment.
White's parallel motion. = WHITE'S STRAIGHT-LINE MOTION (see STRAIGHT-LINE, 1). white spear grass. = REED MEADOW GRASS. white speck. = FROGEYE a.
white spine, or white′–spine′ cu′cum·ber. A race of garden cucumbers with pointed white tubercles.
white spirit or spirits. = MINERAL SPIRITS.
white spot. Plant Pathol. a A disease of alfalfa characterized by spotting and yellowing of the foliage. It is caused by an unbalanced water supply, as heavy rainfall following a drought. b Heat canker (which see).
white spruce. a A North American spruce (Picea glauca) with short blue-green leaves and slender cones; also, its light, yellowish wood, used for construction and in the manufacture of paper pulp. b Engelmann's spruce. c Loosely, any of several other related spruces.
White Squadron. The first vessels of the modern United States Navy, built 1883–85; — so called because they were painted white.
white squall. Naut. A sudden gust of wind, or furious blow, which comes up without being marked in its approach otherwise than by whitecaps, or white, broken water on the surface of the sea; — said by naval officers to be outside of their experience, and probably a popular myth.
White's straight–line motion. See STRAIGHT-LINE, 1. white staff. 1. The wand or staff of the Lord High Treasurer of England, the Lord Steward of the Household, and of certain other officials.
2. Hence: a Also white staff officer. An official who carries a white staff. b The office of such an official.
white star. 1. Astrophysics. A star of white color, whose spectral type is about A. See SPECTRAL TYPE.
2. An annual morning-glory (Ipomoea lacunosa) of the southern United States, with star-shaped leaves and small white or purplish flowers.
white steenbras. See STEENBRAS. white stem pine. The whitebark pine.
White's thrush. [After Gilbert White (1720–93), Eng. naturalist.] A ground thrush (Oreocichla aureus) of eastern Asia which rarely straggles to Europe.
white stick. = WHITE STAFF.
white stock. Stock made from veal, or veal and chicken, and without colored seasonings.
white stone. A symbol of something memorable, auspicious, or fortunate; — from the Roman custom of marking a dies fastus with a white stone. Cf. RED-LETTER, adj.
white′stone′ (hwīt′stōn′), n. Granulite. white stopper. A common West Indian tree (Calyptranthes pallens) with light-gray bark, shining leaves, and small, paniculate flowers; also, any one of various related trees of the same genus. See STOPPER, 3. white stork. The common European stork. See STORK. white′straits′ (hwīt′strāts′), n. A kind of coarse narrow cloth. Obs.
white stringybark. An Australian stringybark (Eucalyptus eugenioides) with white wood.
white stuff. 1. A composition of whiting and glue used by gilders to cover frames before gilding.
2. A narcotic drug, as cocaine. Slang.
white stumpnose. See STUMPNOSE. white sturgeon. A sturgeon (Acipenser transmontanus) of the Pacific coast of North America from Monterey, California, to Alaska. It sometimes becomes eleven feet long. Large numbers are marketed. white substance of Schwann (shvän). Anat. Myelin. white sucker. a The common sucker (Catostomus commersonii). See SUCKER, Illust. b Any of certain redhorses, as, in the eastern United States, Moxostoma macrolepidotum, and in the Great Lakes region, Mississippi Valley, etc., M. aureolum and Placopharynx carinatus.
white sumac. The smooth sumac.
White Sunday, etc. Vars. of WHITSUNDAY, etc.

white surf fish. Any of several surf fishes of the California coast of a white or dull silvery color. Phanerodon furcatus and Damalichthys argyrosomus are the best known.
white swallowwort. = SWALLOWWORT b. white swamp gum. = CIDER GUM. white swamp honeysuckle. The swamp azalea. white sweet clover. The sweet clover Melilotus alba. Cf. HUBAM CLOVER. white sweetwood. a Any sweetwood of the genera Ocotea and Nectandra. See SWEETWOOD b. b = CASCARILLA b.
white swelling. Med. A chronic swelling of the knee, due to tuberculous inflammation of the knee joint; — applied also to a lingering chronic swelling of almost any kind.
white sycamore. a An Australian tree (Cryptocarya obovata). b A showy, handsome tree (Polyscias elegans), family Araliaceae, of the same region, sometimes cultivated for ornament. white'tail' (hwīt'tāl'), n. a The white-tailed deer. b Local, Eng. The wheatear. c An Ecuadorian hummingbird (Urochroa leucura), having the tail partially white. d Any of various white-tailed animals.
white'-tailed' buz'zard or hawk. A large hawk (Buteo albicaudatus) ranging from Texas to South America.
white-tailed deer. The most widely distributed deer (Odocoileus virginianus and allied species) of the United States. It has a rather long tail, white on the under side, and graceful forward-arching antlers with upright basal snags. Cf. VIRGINIA DEER.
white-tailed eagle. The bald eagle.
white-tailed emerald. Any of several greenish Central American hummingbirds of the genus Elvira. white-tailed gnu. The common gnu.
white-tailed hawk. = WHITE-TAILED BUZZARD. white-tailed jack rabbit. The jack rabbit Lepus townsendi. See JACK RABBIT. white-tailed kite. See 1st KITE, 1. white-tailed mongoose. A mongoose of the genus Ichneumia, distinguished by its white tail.
white-tailed ptarmigan. See PTARMIGAN. white-tailed sea eagle. See SEA EAGLE a. white tamarind. A timber tree (Acacia glomerosa) of Mexico and Central America; also, its moderately hard, nearly white wood, used for veneers. white tansy. a The agrimony of Europe. b = SNEEZEWORT b. white tassel flower. A prairie clover (Petalostemon candidus) with silky spikes of white flowers white teaberry. The creeping snowberry. white teak. An Australian tree (Atalaya multiflora), family Sapindaceae; also, its useful hard wood. white tea tree. a One of the Australian tea trees (Melaleuca leucadendron) having white bark. See TEA TREE, 2 a. b A New Zealand tea tree (Leptospermum ericoides) with heathlike foliage. white tern. A Pacific tern of the genus Gygis. See TERN.
White Terror. a Fr. Hist. The reactionary movement, marked by atrocious crimes, under returned émigrés, etc., in southeastern France in 1795. b See TERROR, 4 a. — White Terrorist.
white'-thighed' col'o·bus (hwīt'thīd'). A West African monkey (Colobus vellerosus). white thistle. The prickly poppy. white'thorn' (hwīt'thôrn'), n. a The hawthorn. b In the United States, the scarlet haw. c In Australia, an evergreen tree (Bursaria spinosa), family Pittosporaceae.
white thread Plant Pathol. A bark disease of rubber trees (genus Hevea) and cacao caused by the basidiomycete Cyphella heveae; — so called from the appearance of white strands of mycelium on the tapped surfaces of the trees.
white'throat' (hwīt'thrōt'), n. a Any of several Old World warblers of the genus Sylvia. They are white below with grayish-brown upper parts. The common, or greater, whitethroat is S. communis, syn. sylvia; the lesser whitethroat, S. corruca; and the garden warbler, S. borin. b The white-throated sparrow. c A South American hummingbird (Leucochloris albicollis).
white'throat', adj. White-throated; also, of or pertaining to a whitethroat.
white'-throat'ed spar'row. A common brown sparrow (Zonotrichia albicollis) of eastern North America, having a large square white patch on the throat.

White-throated Sparrow. 1/5 white-throated thickhead. = THUNDERBIRD, 1. white timothy. = VELVET GRASS. white'tip' (hwīt'tĭp'), n. Any hummingbird of the genus Urosticte, with white-tipped tail feathers. white titi. See 2d TITI b.

white tombac. Tombac that is white; specif., tombac containing arsenic.
white'-tooth', v. t. To smile, etc., at, so as to show white teeth. white'-toothed' shrew. A shrew of the genus Crocidura. See CROCIDURA. white'top' (hwīt'tŏp'), n. 1. a = REDTOP a. b = FLEABANE. c The white snakeroot. d Australia. = FLINTWOOD. 2. Colloq. a A white-haired person. b A white covered wagon.
White Tower. See TOWER OF LONDON. white trash. Poor whites or a poor white. Colloq.
white tree. = WHITE TEA TREE a. See also CAJUPUT. white trefoil. White clover.
white trout. a The bastard weakfish. b The salmon (Salmo salar). c The sand squeteague. d = BLACK BASS 1. e = WHITE SALMON b. white trumpet flower. A frangipani (Plumiera alba) resembling the red jasmine, but with white flowers.
white veil. See 1st VEIL, 3. white'vein' (hwīt'vān'), white'veins' (-vānz'), n. A disease of tobacco manifesting itself in the veins of the leaves, which become white during curing.
white vervain. A common American vervain (Verbena urticaefolia) with narrow spikes of white flowers.
white vetch. The grass pea.
white vine. a The bryony. b The traveler's-joy.
white vitriol. See ZINC SULPHATE. white wagtail. The pied wagtail. Local, Eng. white'wall' (hwīt'wôl'), n. The spotted flycatcher, which has white under parts. Local, Eng.
white walnut. a The butternut; also, its wood. b Eastern U. S. The shagbark; also, its wood. white'ware' (hwīt'wâr'), n. White pottery in general, usually earthenware. white'wash' (-wŏsh'), v.; WHITE'WASHED' (-wŏsht'); WHITE'WASH'ING. Transitive: 1. To wash, treat or cover with white liquid composition; to whiten with whitewash.
2. Colloq. a To gloss over or cover up, as vices, crimes, etc.; to give a speciously fair appearance to the character, acts, or conduct of; esp., to exonerate or clear of charges, by means of an investigation or trial of a perfunctory or superficial character; as, historians who whitewash Louis XV; the grafters were whitewashed. b Eng. To clear (a bankrupt) or free a bankrupt from (debt), by legal process. c U. S. In various games, to defeat (an opponent) so that he fails to score or to reach a given point or score.
3. To cause a permanent efflorescent scum to form on (brick), usually by careless drying, too rapid an application of heat in a kiln, or the use of a clay containing soluble sulphates.
—, Intransitive: To whitewash something or someone; of a brick wall, etc., to become whitewashed.
white'wash' (-wŏsh'), n. 1. Any wash or liquid composition for whitening something; as: a A wash for making the skin fair. b A composition of lime and water, whiting, size, and water, or the like, used for whitening walls, etc.
2. Colloq. a The act or an instance of whitewashing, or glossing over or clearing a bankrupt; specif., a book, an article, a verdict, a report, an investigation, etc., that whitewashes somebody or something. b A defeat in a game in which the loser fails to score.
3. Brickmaking. An efflorescence on the surface of a brick.
white'wash'er (-wŏsh'ĕr), n. One who or that which whitewashes; specif., one who puts on whitewash.
white water. a Frothy water, as in breakers, rapids, or waterfalls; quick water. b Sea water appearing light in color over a sandy bottom. c Water extracted from pulp in the making of paper, and hence containing fine fiber and often other useful materials. — white'-wa'ter, adj.
white'-wa'ter, v. i. Whaling. To beat the water with the flukes; — said of a whale.
white water lily. A water lily of the genus Nymphaea, esp. N. odorata, as distinguished from the yellow water lilies of the genus Nymphaea. See WILD FLOWERS, Plate.
white wax. a Beeswax (sense b) rendered white by bleaching. See WAX, n., 1. b Chinese wax. c A similar wax secreted by other wax insects.
white way. A brilliantly lighted street or avenue, esp. in a city's business or theater district. Cf. GREAT WHITE WAY.
white'-way', adj. Brilliantly illuminated. white weasel. = ERMINE, 1. white'weed' (hwīt'wēd'), n. Any of various weeds with a white or whitish flower; specif., the daisy (sense 2). white whale. The beluga.
white wheat. Any kind of common or club wheat with relatively white (pale-yellow) kernels, usually soft and used for pastry, etc. See SOFT WHEAT. white whisky John. The common shrike. Local, Eng.
white widgeon. The smew. Local, Eng.
white'-wig', n. A white-wigged person. white wild indigo. Any white-flowered plant of the genus Baptisia. white willow. a A willow (Salix alba) of Eurasia and northern Africa, often cultivated. It is a large tree with silky pubescent leaves, gray bark, and light soft tough wood variously used. Called also Huntingdon willow. b Any of several American willows having canescent leaves.
white wine. See WINE, n., 1. white'wing' (hwīt'wĭng'), n. 1. a Local, Eng. The chaffinch. b Local, U. S. The white-winged scoter. c Jamaica. A white-winged dove (Melopelia asiatica).
2. Usually white wing. A sail. Poetic.
3. A person, esp. a street sweeper, wearing a white uniform.
white'-winged' (-wĭngd'; 66), adj. Having wings that are white or marked with white.
white-winged blackbird. = LARK BUNTING a. white-winged black tern. See BLACK TERN.
white-winged coot. The white-winged scoter.
white-winged crossbill. See CROSSBILL. white-winged dove. A wild pigeon (Melopelia asiatica) of the southern United States, and southward. white-winged junco. See JUNCO, 1 b. white-winged scoter. A large and very common American scoter (Melanitta deglandi) closely allied to the velvet scoter of Europe. It has the speculum of the wing (and, in the adult male, a spot under the eye) white.
white wintergreen. The creeping snowberry.
white witch or wizard. A witch or wizard who practices white magic; a beneficent magician. white wolf. A large wolf (Canis tundrarum) of arctic North America.
white'wood' (hwīt'wŏŏd'), n. 1. Any of numerous trees having white or light-colored wood; also, the wood itself. Specif.: a In the United States: (1) The pale-yellow or brown soft wood of the tulip tree, used largely for house finishings, boatbuilding, woodenware, etc.; also, the tree. (2) The linden or basswood; also, the wood. (3) = COTTONWOOD a. (4) The tree Drypetes diversifolia, of South Florida and the Bahamas, having milky white bark. (5) See CANELLA, 2. b In the West Indies: (1) The tree Tabebuia leucoxylon; also, the related T. pentaphylla. (2) Either of the trees Ocotea leucoxylon and Nectandra antillana. c In Australia: (1) The tree Atalaya hemiglauca. (2) The cheesewood Pittosporum bicolor. (3) The tree Lagunaria patersonii. d In Great Britain, locally, the linden; also, the wayfaring tree and the Norway spruce. e The rock plant of St. Helena (Petrobium arboreum).
2. Alburnum.
white'wood', adj. Made of the white wood of any of several trees, as Tilia, Liriodendron, Populus, etc.
white wood aster. A common North American perennial herb (Aster divaricatus) with large basal leaves, and handsome tall clusters of white-rayed flower heads. whitewood bark. Canella bark.
white wood sorrel. The wood sorrel Oxalis acetosella. white'wort' (hwīt'wûrt'), n. a Feverfew. b = WHITEROOT a. white wreath aster. A North American herb (Aster multiflorus) with a profusion of small white flower heads. Because of its late blooming, it is often called fall flower.
white X rays. Physics. X rays other than those constituting the characteristic radiation. white yam. A species of yam (Dioscorea alata) widely cultivated throughout Australasia and Polynesia for its large roots, which have a fine white flesh, and are eaten baked or boiled or cooked with coconut milk in various ways. white yolk. See YOLK, 1 b. whit'finch' (hwĭt'fĭnch'; 105), n. The chaffinch. Local, Eng.
whith'er (hwĭth'ĕr; 258), adv. [ME. whider, fr. AS. hwider; akin to E. which, where, who; cf. Goth. hwadre whither. See WHO; cf. HITHER, THITHER.] 1. To what place; — used interrogatively; as, whither goest thou? Chaucer.
2. To what or which place; — used relatively.
We came unto the land whither thou sentest us. Num. xiii. 27.
3. To what point, degree, end, conclusion, or design; whereunto; whereto; — used interrogatively and relatively in a sense not physical; as, whither are you impelling him?
Nor have I . . . whither to appeal. Milton.
Syn. — WHITHER, WHERE. WHITHER was formerly in common use with verbs of motion, WHERE with verbs of rest; but in modern usage where has displaced whither, except in poetical or elevated style. Cf. HITHER, THITHER.
-whith'er. A combining form of the adverb whither, forming adverbs signifying to a (specified) place, end, etc., as in any*whither*, every*whither*, no*whither*, some*whither*.
whith'er (hwĭth'ĕr; wĭth'ĕr), v. Scot. & Dial. Eng. Intransitive: 1. To hurry; rush; whiz; bluster.
2. To tremble; totter.
—, Transitive: To throw violently; to hurl; shake.
whith'er, n. A sharp blow; hurry; rush; flurry; pet. Scot.
whith'er·so·ev'er (hwĭth'ĕr·sō·ĕv'ĕr), adv. [whither + soever.] To whatever place; to what place soever; wherosoever; as, I will go whithersoever you lead.
whith'er·ward (hwĭth'ĕr·wĕrd), whith'er·wards (-wĕrdz), adv. In what direction; toward what or which place; toward the place that.
A poor young man, adventuring for life and fortune and scarcely knowing whitherward. T. Hardy.
whit'ing (hwīt'ĭng), n.; pl. WHITINGS (-ĭngz), sometimes WHITING. See PLURAL, Note. [MD. wijting. See WHITE, adj.] a A common European marine food fish (Merlangus merlangus) of the family Gadidae. b A North American marine fish (Merluccius bilinearis) superficially resembling the preceding. See HAKE, 1. c Any of several North American food fishes belonging to Menticirrhus or a closely allied genus (family Sciaenidae), esp. M. americanus, known as sand whiting and Carolina whiting, found from Chesapeake Bay to Texas; M. saxatilis, known as northern whiting, found from Cape Ann to southern Florida; M. undulatus, known as California whiting, of the coast of southern California; and Umbrula, syn. Menticirrhus, littoralis, known as silver whiting, of the south Atlantic and Gulf coasts. d In Australia, any of several marine fishes of the genus Sillago, as the sand whiting (S. ciliata), or of the genus Odax (see ROCK WHITING). e Any of various other fishes locally called whiting, as the butterfish, the sailor's choice (Orthopristis chrysopterus), the Pacific tomcod (see TOMCOD a) the harvest fish, etc.
whit'ing, n. [From WHITE, v.] 1. The act or process of making white, as by whitewashing; specif., bleaching. Obs
2. Chalk (calcium carbonate) prepared as an impalpable powder by pulverizing and washing, used as a pigment, esp in putty and cold water paints, for polishing metals, etc.
☞ PHRASES are:

whiting bottle	whiting furnace	whiting paste
whiting box	whiting kit	whiting powder whiting brush	whiting loader	whiting sponge whiting can	whiting maker	whiting tin whiting dabber	whiting mill
whiting filler	whiting packer whit'ing-mop' (-mŏp'), n. A young whiting; hence, lass. Obs. whiting pollack. = POLLACK. whiting pout. The bib (fish).

whit'ing's-eye' (hwīt'ĭngz·ī'), n. A wistful, amorous look. Obs.
whiting time. The time for bleaching clothes.
whit'ish (hwīt'ĭsh), adj. Somewhat white; approaching white; very pale in color or hue. — n. A whitish hue.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

whitish-blue	whitish-flowered	whitish-red whitish-brown	whitish-green	whitish-tailed whitish-cream	whitish-lavender	whitish-yellow

Whit'ley Coun'cil (hwĭt'lĭ). [After John H. Whitley (b. 1866), member of British Parliament.] One of a number of permanent voluntary boards in certain industries, first set up in 1917, representative of both capital and labor and organized to settle wages, hours, and other matters of dispute. Hence, Whit'ley-ism (-īz'm), n. Eng.
whit'ling (hwĭt'lĭng), n. [white + 1st -ling.] A young bull trout in its second season. Scot. & N. of Eng.
whit'low (hwĭt'lō), n. [Perh. fr. dial. whickflaw, for quickflaw, i. e., a flaw or sore at the quick; cf. ON, kvika the quick under the nail or under a horse's hoof. See QUICK, adj.; 1st FLAW.] 1. Med. An inflammation of the fingers or toes, generally of the last phalanx, often attended with suppuration. The inflammation may occupy any seat between the skin and the bone, but the name is usually applied to inflammation of the periosteal structures of the bone, or around the nail bed.
2. Veter. An inflammatory disease of the feet. It occurs round the hoof, where an acrid matter is collected.
whitlow grass. Any of several inconspicuous herbs formerly thought to cure whitlow; as: a An annual weed (Draba verna) of Europe and North America, with a rosette of basal leaves and tiny flowers succeeded by oblong silicles; — called also shadflower. b A small Old World saxifrage (Saxifraga tridactylites). c = WHITLOWWORT. whit'low·wort' (-wûrt'), n. Any plant of the genus Paronychia (which see). whitlowwort family. The Corrigiolaceae.
Whit'man·ism (hwĭt'măn·ĭz'm), n. Theory and practice of poetry such as is characteristic of Walt Whitman. — Whit'man·ize (-īz), v. i.
Whit'mon'day (hwĭt'mŭn'dĭ; 66), n. The day after Whitsunday. It is a bank holiday in England and Ireland. whit'ney·ite (hwĭt'nĭ·īt), n. [After J. D. Whitney, Am. geologist.] Mineral. A reddish-white copper arsenide, Cu_3As. Sp. gr., 8.4–8.6. whit'rack' (hwĭt'răk'), n. [ME. whitrat, whytrat. See WHITE; RAT.] The common European weasel; also, the stoat; — often affectionately of children. Scot. & Dial.
whits (hwĭts), n. pl. Mining. Partially concentrated tin ore, the first concentrates. Cornwall, Eng.
whit'ster (hwĭt'stĕr), n. One who bleaches. Now Rare.
Whit'sun (hwĭt'sŭn; -s'n), n. Whitsuntide.
Whit'sun (hwĭt'sŭn; -s'n), adj. Of, pertaining to, or observed at, Whitsunday or Whitsuntide; as, Whitsun eve, week; Whitsun plays.

white-topped aster. See SERICOCARPUS. [Table.] white-topped grass. See GRASS, 1. white'wards, adv. See -WARDS. white'worm' (hwĭt'wûrm'), n. = WHITE GRUB. whith'er. Var. of WHITY. whith'er. † WHETHER.
whith'er·so', adv. = WHITHERSOever. whit'leath'er, n. = WHITE LEATHER.
Whit'man·esq', n. See -ESQUE. whit'ney. Var. of WITNEY.

Whitsun ale. A church-ale formerly held at Whitsuntide.

Whit'sun'day (hwĭt'sŭn'dĭ; hwĭt'sŭn-dā'; -s'n-; 277), n. Also, erroneously, Whitsun Day. [AS. hwīta sunnandæg, lit., white Sunday; — prob. from white robes worn at baptism.] 1. Eccl. The seventh Sunday, and fiftieth day, after Easter, observed as a festival in commemoration of the descent of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost (Acts ii. 1–4); Pentecost.
2. Scots Law. See TERM, n., 13 a.

Whitsun farthings. Offerings to the parish priest, or to the mother church, at Pentecost. Obs. exc. Hist.

Whitsun gillyflower. A double-flowered variety of the garden rocket.

Whitsun lady, Whitsun lord. One playing the part of a lady or lord at a Whitsun ale. Obs.

Whitsun Monday. Eccl. = WHITMONDAY.

Whit'sun-tide' (hwĭt'sŭn-tīd'; -s'n-), n. Also Whitsun Tide, Whit'sun, Whit'-week'. [ME. white sune tide. See WHITSUNDAY; TIDE.] Eccl. The week beginning with Whitsunday, esp. the first three days (Whitsunday, Whitmonday, and Whit-Tuesday); the season of Pentecost.

Whitsun Tuesday. Eccl. = WHIT-TUESDAY.

whit'taw (wĭt'ô), whit'taw-er (-ĕr), n. [See WHITE, adj.; TAW to dress (leather).] A saddler. Now Dial.

whit'ten (hwĭt'n), n., or whitten tree. [AS. hwīting-trēow. See WHITE, v., 2d WHITING; TREE.] Dial. Eng. a The guelder-rose. b = WAYFARING TREE a. c The rowan.

whit'ten (hwĭt'n). Dial. var. of WHITEN.

whit'ter (hwĭt'ĕr; wĭt'ĕr), n. & v. [Imitative. Cf. TWITTER.] Dial. a Chirp; twitter; chatter. b Whimper; murmur.

whit'ter, n. A hearty draft (of liquor). Scot.

whit'ter-ick (-ĕr-ĭk), n. The European curlew. Local, Brit.

whit'ter-ick. Variant of WHITRACK.

whit'tie-what'tie (hwĭt'ĭ-hwŏt'ĭ; hwŭt'-), n. A pretext; vague or frivolous talk. — v. i. To indulge in whittie-whattie. Both Scot.

Whit'ting-ton, Dick (hwĭt'ĭng-tŭn). Sir Richard Whittington, Lord Mayor of London (1397–98, 1406–07, 1419–20). According to a popular legend attached to him two centuries later, he was running away from London to which he had recently come to seek his fortune when he heard Bow bells ringing and seeming to say, "Turn again, Whittington, thrice Lord Mayor of London town." He returned to service, and later became rich and married his master's daughter.

whit'tle (wĭt''l), n. [AS. hwītel; akin to ON. hvītill a white bed cover. See WHITE.] Now Dial. Eng. a A blanket, esp. one used as a shawl; a mantle. b A flannel petticoat; a baby's flannel.

whit'tle (hwĭt''l), n. [ME. thwitel, fr. AS. thwītan to cut; akin to ON. tveita to hew. Cf. THWITTLE, THWAITE a piece of ground, DOIT.] 1. A knife; esp., a large sheath, or clasp, knife. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng. "A butcher's whittle." Dryden.
2. A steel or whetsone. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

whit'tle, v.; WHIT'TLED (-'ld); WHIT'TLING (-lĭng). Transitive: 1. To pare or cut off chips from the surface of (wood) with a knife; to cut or shape, as a piece of wood, by so paring or cutting; also, to make or form in such a way; as, to whittle a stick or a figurine.
2. Hence, to reduce, remove, destroy, etc., gradually, as if by cutting off bits with a knife; to pare; — with away, down, off, up, etc.; as, to whittle down expenses; to whittle away a fortune.
3. To whet the spirits of by drink; to ply with liquor; to render drunk, inebriated, or wrought up with drink. Obs.
—, Intransitive: 1. To cut or shape a piece of wood by slowly paring it with a knife.
Americans must and will whittle. Willis.
2. To wear one or oneself out worrying or fretting. Dial.
It won't make it any better to whittle about it. D. H. Lawrence whit'tle, v. i. To turn informer; to peach. Obs. Slang whit'tle. = WHITLOW, n. Dial.

whit'tler (hwĭt'lĕr), n. One who whittles.

whit'ting (-lĭng), n. A chip made by whittling.

Whit'-Tues'day (hwĭt'tūz'dĭ; 66), n. The day after Whitmonday.

whit'ty-tree' (hwĭt'ĭ-trē'), n. a The rowan tree Sorbus aucuparia. b = WAYFARING TREE a.

Whit'-week', n. Whitsuntide.

Whit'worth plane (hwĭt'wûrth). See SURFACE PLATE.

Whit'worth's quick return (motion) (hwĭt'wûrths). Mach. A quick return in which the follower is a bar (a in Illust.), rotating or oscillating about one end, and carrying a sliding driving sleeve or block (b) rotated uniformly in a circle eccentric to the bar's motion.

Whitworth's Quick Return.

Whitworth thread. [After Sir Joseph Whitworth, Eng. engineer.] Mach. The standard form of screw thread in Great Britain. See SCREW THREAD, Table.

whit'y (hwĭt'ĭ), adj. Whitish.
COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are: whity-brown, whity-gray, whity-yellow.

whit'y, n. Rare. a A white man. Cf. BLACKY. b A whiting (fish).

whiz, whizz (hwĭz), v. i.; WHIZZED (hwĭzd); WHIZ'ZING. [Of imitative origin.] To hum, whir, or hiss like a speeding arrow, ball, etc.; to fly or move swiftly with a hissing or buzzing sound.
It flew, and whizzing, cut the liquid way. Dryden.
—, v. t. To cause to whiz; esp., to rotate very rapidly; specif., to treat in a whizzer, as grain, sugar, etc.

whiz, whizz, n. 1. A hissing, buzzing, or whirring sound; also a movement or passage (of something) accompanied by such a sound.
Like the whiss of my crossbow. Coleridge.
2. Slang, U. S. a A bargain; a go. b An extremely clever or capable person; anything strikingly excellent; a "corker."

whiz, whizz, adv. With a whiz.

whiz'-bang', whizz'-bang', n. 1. A whizzing ending in a bang; hence, one who or that which speeds, usually noisily, to a climax; a whiz.
2. A kind of small shell of such high velocity that the sound it makes in passing through the air is almost simultaneous with its explosion; also, Fireworks, a firecracker or similar firework resembling such a shell.
Parakeets flash through leaves like so many whiz-bangs on the fourth of July. Amy Lowell.

whiz'gig' (hwĭz'gĭg'), n. [whiz + 1st gig.] Something that whirls with a whizzing sound.

whiz'zer (hwĭz'ĕr), n. Something that whizzes; specif.: a A toy that whizzes; esp., a bull-roarer. b A centrifugal machine for drying grain, sugar, nitrated cotton, etc.; a hydroextractor; also, its attendant. c Slang. Something or someone of exceptional ability or quality; a whiz.

whiz'zer-man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). An operator of a whizzer.

whiz'zing, adj. That whizzes. — whiz'zing-ly, adv.

whiz'zle (hwĭz''l), v. i. To whiz; speed. Chiefly Dial. — v. t. To get by stealth or cunning. Rare.

who (hōō; 71), pron.; possessive WHOSE (hōōz); objective WHOM (hōōm). [ME. who, wha, fr. AS. hwā, interrog. pron., neut. hwæt; akin to OFris. hwa, neut. hwet, OS. hwē, neut. hwat, D. wie, neut. wat, G. wer, neut. was, OHG. wer, hwer, neut. waz, hwaz, ON. hvat, neut., Dan. hvo, neut. hvad, Sw. ho, hvem, neut. hvad, Goth. hwas, fem. hwo, neut. hwa, Lith. kas, Ir. & Gael. co, W. pwy, L. quod, neut. of qui, Gr. poteros whether, Skr. kas, kad, L. quis, quid; cf. Hittite kuis (kwis). Cf. HOW, KICKSHAW, QUALIFY, QUANTITY, QUORUM, QUOTE, UBIQUITY, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE, WHETHER, WHICH, WHITHER, WHOM, WHOSE, WHY.] A substantive pronoun, either singular or plural. It is used: 1. As an interrogative in sentences or dependent interrogative clauses: What or which person or persons? — used specif. in: a Asking for specification; as, who were there? b Asking for identification; as, who is she?; I cannot find out who they are. c Questioning one's (or their) character, status, authority, or antecedents; as, who are you to give commands? d Replacing a person's name; as, Mrs. Who? e Introducing a rhetorical question implying the answer no one, nobody; as, who could?
2. As a simple relative; — now properly used of persons (corresponding to which as applied to things) except occasionally of animals, etc., esp. in personification, or, in the case of the possessive whose, of anything, esp. when the construction of which would be awkward. Who may introduce either a restrictive, a nonrestrictive, or a continuative clause. See 1st THAT, Note.
One who had such liberal power. Gray.
Happy the man whom this bright court approves. Pope.
Adders who with cloven tongues Do kiss me into madness. Shak.
The heavy door whose bronze network closes the place. Ruskin.
3. As a compound or indefinite relative, with its antecedent implied: a Whoever; the person or persons that.
Who cheapens life abates the fear of death. Young.
b One who; one that; — now only in the archaic phrase, as who should say.
4. In substantive uses: a A person as an abstraction; as, we are concerned with a "who," not a "what." b The person or persons involved, meant, or the like. "I shall ask the next banana peddler the who or the why of it." Carl Sandburg. c A person whose status, antecedents, etc., may be inquired about; hence, a person of prominence; as, one of the whos in Who's Who.
☞ Use of who for whom as object either of a verb or of a preposition which follows intervening words, though ungrammatical, is common colloquially and is still found in good writers, esp. in interrogations and indirect questions; as, who are you thinking of?; I do not know who you can ask. See WHOM, pron., Note.
Syn. — WHO, WHICH, THAT are here compared as relative pronouns. In modern usage WHO refers to persons (less commonly to animals); WHICH, to animals or inanimate objects; THAT may be used of persons, animals, or things. If a relative clause merely conveys an additional idea, who or which (preceded by a comma) is usually employed; if the relative clause is explanatory or restrictive, either who, which, or that, without a preceding comma, is used; as, this gentleman, who (not that) was here yesterday, desires to see you; the gentleman who (or that) was here yesterday desires to see you; knock at the first door, which you will find open; knock at the first door that (or which) you find open. In the restrictive use some writers prefer that, esp. instead of which.

whoa (hwō; wō), interj. [Var. of 1st HO.] An exclamation ordering a draft animal to stand still; hence, Jocular, stop! desist!

whoa, v. i. To call "whoa!"

whoa back. A command to a draft animal to cease going forward and start moving back; — often merely an emphatic "whoa."

who all. All who; as, I forget who all were there. Colloq., U. S. & Canada.

who-ev'er (hōō-ĕv'ĕr), pron. Whatever person; any person soever; no matter who; as, he shall be punished, whoever he may be. "Whoever envies or repines." Milton. "Whoever the king favors." Shak.

whole (hōl), adj. [ME. hole, hoole, hale, complete, all, well, healthy, fr. AS. hāl well, sound, healthy; akin to OFris. & OS. hēl, D. heel, G. heil, ON. heill, Goth. hails well, sound, OSlav. cělŭ. Cf. HALE, adj., HAIL to greet, HEAL to cure, HEALTH, HOLY, WASSAIL.] 1. Being uninjured or without signs of injury; of a wound, healed; more widely, sound and healthy or restored to soundness and health as of body, mind, or soul; in perfect condition physically and mentally; as, to escape with a whole skin.
They that be whole need not a physician. Matt. ix. 12.
When Sir Lancelot's deadly hurt was whole. Tennyson.
2. Not broken or defective; unimpaired; undamaged; intact; — esp. of a body, organism, or structure; as, not an egg was whole; the vessel came out of the storm whole.
3. Not divided into smaller parts or particles; not broken or cut up, comminuted, or the like; as, whole pepper; creamed whole onions; whole grains.
4. Containing all its constituent or integral parts or elements; having nothing lacking or taken away; full; entire; as, take the whole loaf; let us have the whole story; specif.: a Not deprived of any of its original elements in processing, preparation for use or the market, etc.; as, whole (often, unskimmed) milk; whole (ground but not refined) wheat. b Not defibrinated, treated, or modified; — said of blood.
5. Representing the sum or aggregate of its parts, members, etc.; taken collectively or as a unit; total; as, the whole solar system, army, or nation; hence, undivided; not scattered, diffused, distracted, etc.; as, to give one's whole attention; with one's whole heart or soul; he put his whole soul into his sermon that morning.
6. Obs. a Giving one's full devotion or allegiance. b Unanimous. c Sole; not shared with another.
7. Of blood (family or racial blood), unmixed with any other; pure; now usually, having the same mother and father; as, a whole brother or sister. See BLOOD, n., 6.
As for me, who am of the whole blood of the whites. J. F. Cooper.
8. All; each one of the; as, the whole ten days; as, he fought through the whole series of battles. Colloq.
9. Whole-colored.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

whole-backed	whole-feathered	whole-minded
whole-bodied	whole-headed	whole-mouthed whole-eared	whole-hoofed	whole-spirited whole-eyed	whole-leaved	whole-witted

Syn. — WHOLE, TOTAL, ENTIRE, COMPLETE, PERFECT, INTACT. WHOLE and TOTAL (except in the sense of "absolute, unqualified"; as, a total eclipse, total blindness) refer to an object as made up of parts, whole implying that none are lacking, total, that all are present and taken together as an aggregate; as, a whole week, the whole creation; "half a share . . . a whole one, I" (Shak.); the total amount, his total income from all sources; "These foreign lands . . . constituted the total world to a Greek" (De Quincey). ENTIRE and COMPLETE do not necessarily imply parts. Entire (or in a few phrases, whole) describes an object as continuous or unbroken; complete refers to it as without deficiency (from the point of view of a given standard), or as having attained the limit of its development; as, an entire day, an entire specimen; cf., with a whole skin; "one entire and perfect chrysolite" (Shak.); "I . . . have always regretted that you don't give us an entire work, and not sprinkle yourself in detached pieces" (Byron); "I have the whole plan entire from beginning to end in my mind" (Coleridge); The Complete Angler, complete combustion, a complete revolution of the sun; "the submission of man's nothing-perfect to God's all-complete" (R. Browning). PERFECT, so far as it differs from complete, lays greater stress on the possession of consummate excellence, or on freedom from blemish or defect; that is INTACT which is left entire or unimpaired; as, a perfect circle, crystal, illustration; "a perfect poem like Lycidas, a perfect fiction like Esmond, a perfect handling of a theory like Newman's Idea of a University" (W. Pater); "The group was in wonderful preservation: the figure of Bacchus intact, that of the young faun lacking only the arm" (Vernon Lee); "That high courage which enabled Fielding . . . to keep his manly benevolence and love of truth intact" (Thackeray). The same object may be, according to the point of view, at the same time whole, complete, and entire; as, a whole bridge may be shipped in parts, but it is not entire so long as the parts are not put together, nor complete so long as anything remains to be done. When, however, the last part is in place, the bridge is whole, entire, and complete.
Ant. — Unsound; impaired, defective; partial, incomplete, imperfect, unfinished, fragmentary.
— out of whole cloth. Entirely fabricated; hence, without basis; as, a lie, story, or the like, made out of whole cloth. — to go the whole figure. To do the thing thoroughly. Slang. — to go the whole hog. To accept or perform unreservedly; to go the limit. Slang.

whole (hōl), n. 1. The entire thing without loss of parts, elements, or members, or without impairment of its integrity or totality; the whole amount, collection, body, structure, extent, etc.; as, give him the whole of the money; what is good for the whole is good for any of its parts; the whole of the human race; throughout the whole of the state.
2. All that is comprehended under some concept, generic term, or abstraction of any sort; as, the whole of arithmetic; the whole of our aim.
3. A totality, sum, or entirety; a complete assemblage or organization of parts or elements; specif.: a An aggregate of units or parts physically assembled; as, the whole of this machine; the whole of space. b An organic unity or system (as the human body or the solar system) in its completeness.
All are but parts of one stupendous whole. Pope.
☞ Various specific kinds of wholes are distinguished. These include: actual whole, one which can exist only if its parts exist, or to which its parts are essential; comprehensive, or formal, whole, complete logical comprehension, or whole meaning, of a term; constituent whole, one essential to its parts, as a genus to the individuals it denotes, — contrasted with constitute whole, which is the same as actual whole (above); continuous whole, a continuum; definite, or definitive, whole, one constituted by genus and difference; discrete whole, one whose parts or members are disjoined and distinct; essential whole, one consisting of matter and form; extensive, potential, or subjective, whole, one the parts or members of which are capable of arithmetical or physical subtraction and addition; a sum; heterogeneous, or dissimilar, whole, one whose parts differ from the whole, as a machine, — contrasted with homogeneous whole, whose parts resemble he whole, as the air; integral whole, a whole that is or may be integrated, one having part distinct from part, — called also mathematical, or quantitative, whole; logical whole, same as extensive whole (above); physical whole, one consisting of substance and accident of matter and form; metaphysical whole, variously: the whole of a species as comprehending genus and differentia; the whole made up of specific nature and individual differentia; the whole of existence constituted by the singular essence plus existence; the whole formed by the addition of subsistence to existence; — called by Hamilton a natural whole; objective whole, an object apprehended by the mind as single and real; organic whole, one whose parts are mutually dependent or intrinsically related; positive whole, one consisting of parts, — contrasted with negative whole, a unit taken as a whole.
Syn. — See SUM. Ant. — Part, portion, share, piece.
— on, or upon, the whole. a Considering all things; in view of all the circumstances or conditions. b Obs. In conclusion; finally. c In general; with few or no exceptions.

whole, adv. Wholly; entirely. Obs., except in combinations, as in whole'-dirt'y, adj., whole'-dress', v., whole'-red', adj.

whole, v. t. & i. To make or become whole; heal; unite. Obs.

whole'-and-half' com'pass. See COMPASS, n., 7.

whole binding. Bookbinding. = FULL BINDING.

whole block. Ordnance. See BLOCK, n., 30.

whole blood. See WHOLE, adj., 7; BLOOD, n., 6.

whole brother. See BROTHER, n., 1.

whole burnt offering. See SACRIFICE, n., 1 (2).

whole cannon. In some classifications of 16th and 17th century ordnance, a cannon throwing a projectile weighing from 70 to 120 pounds.

whole'-chest'ed, adj. Sound in the chest; loyal. Obs.

whole cloth. Cloth all in one piece, without being cut; figuratively, as in the phrase out of whole cloth, a complete new fabric or fabrication. See out of whole cloth, under WHOLE, adj. — whole'-cloth' (66), adj.

whole coal. Mining. The portion of a coal seam not yet opened for mining. Dial. Eng.

---

whit'ten-er, n. = WHETTER. whit'tid. Whittled. Ref. Sp.
Whit'tle-sey, Lake (hwĭt''l-sĭ). Geol. See PLEISTOCENE LAKES. whit'tret (hwĭt'rĭt; hwŭt'-). Scot. var. of WHITRACK. whit'trick. Var. of WHITRACK. whit'wall' (hwĭt'wôl'; wĭt'-). Var. of WITWALL. whiz'zi-ness, n. See -NESS. whizzing arrow. = WHISTLING ARROW. whizzing stick. = BULL-ROARER.
who. † WHOA.
whode. † HOOD, WOOD. whoide. Obs. past part. of HOLD. whole'-bound' (66), adj. = FULL-BOUND.

whole'-col'ored, whole'-col'oured, adj. Being all of one color. whole cradle. Mining. A platform suspended in a shaft, occupying nearly the whole area. whole culverin. In some classifications of 16th and 17th century ordnance, the largest kind of culverin, throwing a ball of from 40 to 60 pounds. whole deal. See 4th DEAL, 1 a. whole'-foot'ed (66), adj. a Having whole feet or a whole foot. b Obs. Web-footed. c Using the whole foot in treading; also, flat-footed. d Collog. Frank; ingenuous; intimate. whole gale. See WIND SCALE.
whole'heart'ed (hōl'här'tĕd; -tĭd; 66; 119), adj. Single-hearted; hence, sincere; devoted; earnest; as, a wholehearted man, work. — whole'heart'ed·ly, adv. — whole'heart'ed·ness, n.
Syn. — Complete, unreserved, unmitigated.
Ant. — Grudging, reluctant, halfhearted, perfunctory. whole hog. Figuratively, altogether; the whole way; without reservation; — used in the phrase to go the whole hog (which see, under WHOLE, adj.). — whole'-hog', adj. Both Slang.
whole'-hog'ger, n. One who goes, or is inclined to go, the whole hog. See go the whole hog, under WHOLE, adj.
whole learning. Learning by repeated study of an entire unit, as a poem, in which a general idea is gained first and scattered details subsequently.
whole'-length' (66), adj. Not cut short; presented in or exhibiting the entire length; esp., of a portrait or statue, full-length; as, a whole-length mirror, conjugation, or picture. — n. A full-length portrait or statue.
whole life insurance. See LIFE INSURANCE. whole meal. Entire-wheat meal. whole milk. Milk from which no constituent has been removed; — distinguished esp. from skim milk.
whole note. Music. A note equal in value to four quarter notes or two half notes; a semibreve. See 1st NOTE, 14 a. whole number. Math. An integer. whole offering. See SACRIFICE, n., 1 (2). whole'-or-none', adj. Demanding everything or nothing refusing to share or divide. whole plate. Photog. A plate or film of the size 6½ × 8½ inches. Chiefly Brit. whole rest. Music. A rest corresponding in value with a whole note. See 3d REST, 12 b. whole'-sail', adj. Of a breeze or wind, permitting use of full sail or of nearly full sail; not requiring taking in of light sails.
whole'sale' (hōl'sāl'), n. 1. Sale of goods by the piece or in large quantity; — distinguished from retail.
2. A wholesale business.
— by wholesale. In the mass; in large quantities; hence, without distinction or discrimination.
Some, from vanity or envy, despise a valuable book, and throw contempt upon it by wholesale. I. Watts.
whole'sale', adj. 1. Of, pertaining to, or engaged in, wholesale trade or business; selling or sold to retailers or jobbers rather than consumers.
2. Extensive and indiscriminate; as, wholesale slaughter.
Time for wholesale trust. Mrs. Humphry Ward.
☞ PHRASES are:

wholesale butcher	wholesale lot	wholesale representative wholesale dealer	wholesale market wholesale grocer	wholesale merchant	wholesale salesman wholesale house	wholesale price	wholesale store whole'sale' (66), adv. In a wholesale manner; by wholesale; as, they sent out invitations wholesale.

whole'sale', v. t. & i.; -SALED' (-sāld'); -SAL'ING (-sāl'ĭng). To sell or dispense by wholesale. — whole'sal'er (-sāl'ĕr), n. whole'-seas', adj. Also whole'-seas' o'ver. Wholly drunk; completely intoxicated. Cf. HALF-SEAS OVER b. whole shift. Music. See SHIFT, n., 17 a. whole show. One, esp. a person, worthy of or receiving undivided attention or regard. whole sister. See SISTER, n., 1 a. whole'-skinned' (hōl'skĭnd'; 66), adj. Unhurt; unscathed. whole snipe. The common European snipe, as distinguished from the half snipe (Jacksnipe). whole'some (hōl'sŭm), adj.; WHOLE'SOM·ER (-sŭm·ĕr); WHOLE'SOM·EST. [ME. holsum; akin to ON. heilsamr, G. heilsam, D. heilzaam. See WHOLE; 1st -SOME.] 1. Promoting spiritual or mental health or well-being; conducive to moral or mental soundness; beneficial to the character; salutary; as, wholesome advice, preaching, or experiences; a wholesome truth or example.
2. Promoting physical well-being; beneficial to the health or the preservation of health; salubrious; healthful; also, Obs., health-restoring; as, wholesome air, food.
3. Healthy; sound in body, mind, and morals; healthy-minded; as, a clear-eyed wholesome boy.
4. Indicative or characteristic of health, esp. physical health; robust; vigorous; hearty; as, a wholesome complexion; wholesome laughter.
A dash of fire, of wholesome wickedness, of adventure. Edna Ferber.
5. Rare. a Favorable; propitious. "Not wholesome to our cause." Shak. b Now Dial. Tidy; neat; clean. c Seaworthy; of the sea, safely navigable.
6. Safe for one to remain in, as a place, or to face, as a situation. Slang.
Syn. and Ant. — See HEALTHY.
— whole'some·ly, adv. — whole'some·ness, n. whole'some, n. Something wholesome; — chiefly in pl. whole'-souled' (hōl'sōld'; 66), adj. Noble-minded; wholehearted; sincere and zealous; devoted.
whole step. Music. An interval comprising two half steps, as C–D, F♯–G♯, etc.; a major second. See STEP, n., 16 b. — whole'-step', adj.
whole stitch. = CLOTH STITCH. whole stuff. Paper Mfg. Pulp thoroughly beaten up and ready for use. whole thing. = WHOLE SHOW. whole time. = FULL TIME. — whole'-time' (66), adj. — whole'-tim'er (-tīm'ĕr), n. whole tone. Music. A whole step. — whole'-tone', adj.
whole'-tone' scale. Music. A scale progressing by whole steps, used by Debussy and other modern composers. whole vamp. See 1st VAMP, 2.

whole'-wheat' (66), adj. Entire-wheat. whole-wheat flour. Entire-wheat flour. See FLOUR, n., 1 a. whole'wise' (hōl'wīz'), adv. Wholly. Rare. whole working. Coal Mining. The first mining which blocks out the pillars. Eng. whole works. Everything or everybody. Slang.
whol'ly (hōl'lĭ; hōl'ĭ), adv. 1. In entirety; fully; as a whole without loss; as, to see a situation wholly.
2. To the whole extent; totally; entirely; completely; thoroughly; as, to be wholly at a loss; wholly finished.
3. To the exclusion of other things; solely.
They employed themselves wholly in domestic life. Addison.
whom (hōōm), pron. [ME. whom, wham, fr. AS. dative hwām, hwǣm. See WHO.] The objective of who; — in early English also common as a dative. See WHO.
And every grass that groweth upon root
She shall eke know, and whom it will do boot. Chaucer.
Special uses are: a Archaic. Whomever. "We cannot know whom we would." Ruskin. b Obs. Objective of which.
☞ Often used ungrammatically for who in a dependent, esp. relative, clause when erroneously regarded as object of a verb; as, those whom we thought would come; whom is it you mean? See WHO, Note.
Let him be whom he will. Dekker & Chettle. whom, v. i. To use the pronoun "whom."
whone (hwōn), adj. & n. [AS. hwōn a little.] Few; little. Obs. whoo (hwōō; wōō), interj. [Var. of HOO.] Expressing various emotions, usually admiration or pleasure. Dial. & Collog.
whoo, v. t. & i. a Obs. To hoot. b To say "whoo" (to).
whoof (hwōōf; wōōf), n. [Imitative.] A deep, full, snorting sound, as that made by a beast. — v. i. To make the sound of a whoof.
whoop (hōōp), interj. A loud exclamation or shout expressing exultation, derision, incitement, etc.
whoop (hōōp), v.; WHOOPED (hōōpt); WHOOP'ING. [ME. whopen, whoupen, houpen, fr. OF. houper, fr. houp, interj. Cf. HOOP, v. i.] Intransitive: 1. To make the sound of "whoop"; specif: a To utter a loud cry, as of eagerness, enthusiasm, or enjoyment; to shout; halloo.
Each whooping with a merry shout. Wordsworth.
b To hoot, as an owl.
When naught was heard but now and then the howl
Of some vile cur, or whooping of the owl. W. Browne.
c To make the sonorous inspiration which characteristically follows a paroxysm of coughing in whooping cough.
2. Hence: a To speak or express oneself with enthusiasm or vehemence. "It 's miraculous past all whooping, Colonel." Kipling. b To campaign vigorously (for a candidate).
—, Transitive: 1. To utter, express, cheer, etc., with a whoop, or whoops; to cheer, praise, urge, etc., lustily or vigorously; — often with up.
2. To affect or effect with whoops, or shouts; to call, incite, insult, drive, chase, etc., with whoops.
And suffered me by the voice of slaves to be Whooped out of Rome. Shak. whoop it or her, or things, up. To raise a disturbance with or as if with whoops, or shouts; hence, in general, to create excitement by excessive gaiety, roistering, etc.; as, a drunken cowboy whooped it up in town. Slang.
whoop, n. 1. The sound or utterance of "whoop"; a whooping; specif.: a A loud cry or shout of war, pursuit, enthusiasm, vengeance, etc. b A hoot. c The sonorous intake of breath following a paroxysm in whooping cough.
2. A game of hide-and-seek.
3. A whooping up or about; an expression of enthusiasm, interest, etc.; — chiefly in not worth a whoop; hence, the least possible amount, degree, etc. Collog.
A whoop my father cares! Willa Cather.
whoop (hōōp), n. [See HOOPOE.] The hoopoe. whoop'ee (hwōōp'ē; hwŏōp'ē; wŏōp'ē; hōōp'ē), interj. [From WHOOP.] An exclamation expressing exuberant or hilarious delight, or the like. — n. a An utterance of "whoopee." b A gay or lively time; hilarity. All Slang.
— to make whoopee. To have a gay or hilarious time.
whoop'er (hōōp'ĕr), n. One who whoops or whoops up; hence: a A whooping crane. b A whooping swan. whoop'ing (hōōp'ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WHOOP. Hence: adj. That whoops, or is characterized by or associated with whoops; also, Slang, immense; whopping. — whoop'ing·ly, adv.
whooping cough (hōōp'ĭng; hŏōp'-). An infectious disease, usually of children, characterized by a violent convulsive cough, returning by fits, and consisting of several expirations, followed by a sonorous inspiration, or whoop.
whooping crane. A large white North American crane (Grus americana) noted for its loud whooplike note. See CRANE, n., 1. whooping swan. A common Old World swan (Cygnus cygnus).
whoosh (hwŏōsh), v. i. [Imitative.] To make or emit a sound like whizzing but duller and less sibilant. — n. A whooshing sound. — interj. An exclamation expressing, variously, surprise, scorn, disgust, etc. whop (hwŏp; wŏp), whap (hwŏp; wŏp; wăp), v. [Prob. partly imitative; cf. ME. quappen to palpitate, E. awhape, wap. Cf. QUAP, v. i.] Intransitive: Now Dial. 1. a To strike quickly. b To move quickly.
2. To throw or plump oneself; to flop. Chiefly U. S.
—, Transitive: Now Dial. 1. a To beat; strike; thrash; shake. b To thrust or seize quickly; to dash; cast.
2. To surpass.
whop, whap, n. Now Dial. a A stroke; a blow; a knock. b A bump; a fall. c The noise of a blow.
whop, whap, adv. [See WHOP, v.] Violently or abruptly with a bump, knock, or flop. Dial.
whop'per, whap'per (-ĕr), n. [See WHOP.] Something uncommonly large of its kind; specif., a monstrous lie; an utterly false story. Collog. whop'ping, whap'ping (-ĭng), adj. [See WHOPPER.] That whops or is a whopper; extremely large or great; enormous; thumping; — often used adverbially as an intensive. Collog. "Two whopping big bottles." De Morgan.
whor'age (hōr'ĭj; 181), n. The state of a whore; the class of whores. Pardy.

whore (hōr; 181; the former pron. hōōr, as in 17th century, was used by many as late as the early 19th century, chiefly as a euphemism), n. [ME. hore, fr. AS. hōre, fr. ON. hōra (Dan. hore, Sw. hora); akin to D. hoer, hoere, G. hure, OHG. huora, huorra, Goth. hors adulterer, ON. hōrr (whence AS. hōr), OHG. huor, L. carus dear. See CHARITY.] 1. A woman who practices unlawful sexual commerce, esp. one who prostitutes her body for hire; a prostitute; harlot.
2. Now Rare. As a term of abuse or contempt for: a A community or a religious group accused of idolatry or idolatrous practices; — commonly applied (more fully whore of Babylon) to the Roman Catholic Church or its head in the 16th and 17th centuries. b A corrupt practice, esp. in a church. "The widow'd whore Plurality." Milton.
Syn. — Courtesan, strumpet, drab, wench. whore (hōr), v.; WHORED (hōrd); WHOR'ING (hōr'ĭng). [Cf. ON. hōra. See WHORE, n.] Intransitive: 1. To have unlawful sexual intercourse, as a man, with a whore or whores, or, as a woman, esp. for hire; to be promiscuously lewd.
2. To commit idolatry; — in allusion to Deuteronomy xxxi. 16; hence, to seek desirously and in unfaithfulness (after).
A pity you did n't live up to it . . . instead of whoring after abstractions. Aldous Huxley.
—, Transitive: 1. To spend in or on whoring. Obs.
2. To corrupt by lewd intercourse; to debauch.
whore'dom (hōr'dŭm; 181), n. [ME. hordom, fr. ON. hōrdōmr.] 1. The practice of whoring; harlotry; illicit sexual intercourse; fornication; also, a lewd act or practice.
2. Idolatry or unfaithfulness to God; hence, sinful desire or affection. "The land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord." Hosea i. 2. whore'mas'ter (-mäs'tĕr; 83), n. A man given to whoring; a lecher; whoremonger. — whore'mas'ter·ly (-lĭ), adj. — whore'mas'ter·y (-ĭ), n. whore'mon'ger (-mŭng'gĕr), n. A whoremaster; a lecher. — whore'mon'ging, n. Both Now Rare.
whore's bird (hōrz). A bastard. Vulgar.
whore'son (hōr'sŭn), n. A bastard; Colloq., a low, scurvy fellow. Archaic. — whore'son, adj. Archaic.
whor'ish (hōr'ĭsh; 181), adj. That is or is like a whore; characteristic of a whore or whores; lewd. — whor'ish·ly, adv. — whor'ish·ness, n.
whorl (hwûrl; hwôrl; 277), n. [Also wharl, fr. ME. wharwyl, whorlwyl, whorwil, wharle, the whorl of a spindle; akin to AS. hweorfa the whorl of a spindle, hweorfan to turn, obs. D. worvel the whorl of a spindle. See WHIRL, n. & v.] 1. The wharve, or small flywheel, of a spindle.
2. Something like or suggesting a whorl (sense 1); specif., one of numerous terra-cotta disks found in ruins of ancient cities in Asia Minor, Africa, Italy, and India, and supposed by some to have been used on spindles.
3. Something that whirls or seems to whirl as a whorl, or wharve; a convoluted line or convoluted lines; a coil; as, the whorl of a rapid; embroidered whorls.
4. A type of fingerprint in which the central papillary ridges turn through at least one complete circle. See FINGERPRINT, Illust.
5. Bot. A verticil. See VERTICIL, Illust.
6. Zool. One of the volutions, or turns, of a univalve shell.
whorl, v. t. To form, draw, etc., in whorls, or convolutions. — v. i. To be or become whorled; to be shaped in coils or whorls.
whorl (hwûrl; wûrl). Scot. & Dial. Eng. var. of WHIRL. whorled (hwûrld; hwôrld), adj. Having, or arranged in, a whorl or whorls; esp., verticillate; as, whorled leaves.
whorled aster. A North American perennial herb (Aster acuminatus) with apparently whorled leaves and showy white flowers.
whorled loosestrife. A common North American yellow-flowered herb (Lysimachia quadrifolia) with whorls of four or five leaves. whorled mallow. The curled mallow. whorled milkweed. Either of two North American herbs, Asclepias verticillata, mostly of the Eastern States, and A. galioides of the Great Plains region, with narrow leaves and greenish-white flowers.
whorled pogonia. A North American green-flowered, terrestrial orchid (Isotria verticillata) with a whorl of five leaves.
whorled rosinweed. A tall, perennial herb (Silphium trifoliatum) of the eastern United States, with yellow flowers and leaves in whorls of three.
whorled snakemouth. The whorled pogonia. whorl'flow'er (hwûrl'flou'ĕr; hwôrl'-), n. Any plant of the genus Morina (family Dipsacaceae). They are Eurasian herbs with flowers in dense whorls. whorl'y (hwûr'lĭ; hwôr'-), adj. Whorled. Rare.
whorl'y·wort' (-wûrt'), n. Culver's root. whort (hwûrt), whor'tle (hwûr't'l), n. [See WHORTLEBERRY.] a The whortleberry of Europe. b = BEARBERRY a. whor'tle·ber'ry (hwûr't'l·bĕr'ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). [Earlier hurtleberry (also whortle, whort, hurt), prob. fr. AS. horte whortleberry. See BERRY; cf. HUCKLEBERRY.] a A European species of blueberry (Vaccinium myrtillus); also, its glaucous blackish berry, widely used as an article of diet and in making beverages. b The huckleberry. whose (hōōz), pron. [ME. whos, whas, fr. AS. hwæs, gen. of hwā. See WHO.] The possessive of who, originally also of what, and sometimes of which. See WHO, 2.
Whose daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee. Gen. xxiv. 23.
May he whose eye is over all protect you! Wordsworth.
When referring to inanimate or abstract things whose is usually replaced by of which except to avoid clumsiness. who'so (hōō'sō), pron. Whosoever. who'so·ev'er (hōō'sō·ĕv'ĕr), pron. Whatsoever person; any person whatever that; whoever.
Whosoever will, let him take . . . freely. Rev. xxii. 17.
who 's who (hōōz' hōō'). a = which is which (of persons), under WHICH, pron. b Which persons are of standing or importance. c [caps.] A book of biographical records of contemporary persons of importance.
whuff (hwŭf), whuf'fle (hwŭf'l), v. i. [Imitative.] To emit a violent whiff or series of whiffs; specif., of a dog or horse, to expel the breath in noisy whiffs.
whul'ter (hwŭl'tĕr), n. A whopper. Scot.

whole'ness, n. See -NESS. wholesale insurance. See LIFE INSURANCE. whole'sale'ly, adv. of WHOLESALE. whole'sale'ness, n. See -NESS whom'ble, whom'le, whom'mle (hwŏm'l; hwŭm'l). Scot. vars. of WHEMMEL. whom·ev'er, pron. Objective of WHOEVER. whom'so (hōōm'sō), pron. Objective of WHOSO. whom'so·ev'er (-sō·ĕv'ĕr), pron. Objective of WHOSOEVER. whon. † ONE, WHEN.
whoope. † WHOOP. whoop'like', adj. See -LIKE. whoops, interj. = WHOOP. Colloq., U. S. whoopt. Whooped. Ref. Sp. whoot. † HOOT.
whop. † WHOOP.
whope. † WHOOP; dial. var. of WHOP. whop'per-jawed', adj. Corrupt. of WAPPER-JAWED. whopt. Whopped. Ref. Sp. whore. † HOAR, WHERE.
whore'cop, n. A bastard. Obs. whore'like', adj. See -LIKE.
whore'ling, n. Dim. of WHORE. whore'ship, n. See -SHIP. whorld. Whorled. Ref. Sp. whorle. † WHIRL.
whorry. † HURRY.
whose. † WHOSO. whos'en (ōz'ĕn), pron. Whose. Dial. Eng.
whose'so·ev'er (hōōz'sō·ĕv'ĕr), pron. Possessive of WHOSOEVER. who's·ev'er (hōōz·ĕv'ĕr), pron. Possessive of WHOEVER. who'some (hōō's sŭm), pron. Whosoever. Obs. who'som·ev'er (hōō'sŭm·ĕv'ĕr), pron. Whosoever. Obs. exc. Dial. who'sum·dev'er. Dial. var. of WHOSOEVER. whot (wŏt). Var. of HOT. Obs. exc. Dial. whouff. Var. of WHOOP. whud (hwŭd). Scot. & Ir. var. of WHID. whuder. † WHETHER.
whulche. † WHICH.
whule. † WEEVIL, WHEWL, WHILE.
whuling. † HOWLING. whulk (hwŭlk). Dial. Eng. var. of WHILK, which.

whute (wŭt), v. i. [Imitative.] To whistle. Now Dial.

whut'ter (hwŭt'ĕr), n. [Imitative. Cf. FLUTTER.] A noisy fluttering or flapping of wings. — whut'ter-ing, adj. & n.

why (hwī; 258), adv. [ME. whi, why, fr. AS. hwī, hwȳ, instrumental case of hwā, hwæt; akin to ON. hvī why, Dan. & Sw. hvi; cf. Goth. hwe. See WHO.] 1. For what cause, reason, or purpose; on what account; wherefore; — used interrogatively; as, why did he go so soon? Why must we have so much noise?
2. For which; on account of which; — used relatively; as, I know no reason why he opposes me.
3. For what reason or cause; on account of what; on what account; — used as a compound relative; as, I don't know why he left town so suddenly.
— for why. Because; why. See FORWHY. Now Dial.

why (wī; hwī), interj. An exclamation or expletive used in expressing surprise or content at a turn of affairs, impatience in calling, hesitation, etc.; as, why, this is the very book I want. "Why, Jessica!" Shak.
If her chill heart I cannot move, Why, I'll enjoy the very love. Cowley.

why (hwī; 258), n. 1. That which constitutes a reason or cause; as, to ask the why of race prejudice.
2. A baffling problem; an enigma.
All the great whys of life. H. G. Wells.
3. (wī; hwī) An utterance of why. See WHY, interj.

why (wī). Var. of QUEY, a heifer. N. of Eng.

why-ev'er (hwī-ĕv'ĕr), adv. Properly why ever. For what or whatever reason. Colloq.

why'for' (hwī'fôr'), adv. & n. Forwhy; wherefore; why. Dial. & Archaic.

why'-not', n. A peremptory challenge for reasons to the contrary.

why'o (hwī'ō), n. A gangster; also, a footpad; — from the signal cry of a former New York City gang, "Oh why-oh-why-oh. Local, U. S.

Wich'i-ta (wĭch'ĭ-tô), n. [See WASHITA.] 1. An Indian of a confederacy of Caddoan tribes formerly ranging between the Arkansas River in Kansas, and central Texas. The survivors, numbering about 300, are citizens of Oklahoma.
2. [From Wichita River and Co., Texas.] Geol. A subdivision of the American Permian. See GEOLOGY, Chart.

wich'tis-ite (vĭk'tĭ-sīt; vĭch'-), n. [From Wichtis, near Helsingfors, Finland.] Petrog. A glassy modification of basaltic rocks. Cf. SORDAWALITE.

wick (wĭk), n. [AS. wīc village, fr. L. vicus. In some names of places fr. Scand.; cf. ON. vīk an inlet, creek, bay (see WICK creek). See VICINITY; cf. VILLA.] 1. A village, borough, or town. Obs., exc. in place names (see -WICK, 1).
2. A farmstead; specif., dairy farm or house. Local, Eng.

-wick (-wĭk; -ĭk). [See 1st WICK.] 1. A suffix in place names, as Ware*wick,* and, in the form wich, Green*wich,* etc.
2. [Cf. WIKE office.] A suffix denoting jurisdiction of, district of jurisdiction of, as in bailiwick, sheriffwick. Cf. -ALTY; -ATE; -DOM.

wick (wĭk), n. [ME. wicke, wike, weke, fr. AS. wēoce, wēoc; akin to D. wiek a roll of lint, G. wieche, G. dial. wicke, OHG. wiocha, L. velum sail, curtain, veil, OIr. figim I weave, Skr. vāgurā a net, noose. Cf. VEIL.] 1. A bundle of fibers, or a loosely twisted, braided, or woven cord, tape, or tube, usually of soft spun cotton threads, which by capillary attraction draws up a steady supply of the oil in lamps, the melted tallow or wax in candles, or other material used for illumination, in small successive portions, to be burned.
2. Material for, or similar to that used for, wicks; wicking.

wick, n. [ON. vik; akin to ON. vīkja to turn. See WEAK.] A corner, esp. of the eye or mouth; an angle. Now Dial.

wick, n. [ON. vīk; akin to MLG. wīk, and to ON. vīkja to turn, recede. See WEAK.] Creek; small bay; bend in a river or lake. Now Dial.

wick, v. i. [Origin unknown.] Curling. To inwick.
— v. t. To make an inwick upon (another stone).

wick a bore. To make a shot through a wick, or narrow port.

wick, n. Curling. a A narrow port in the course, flanked by the stones of previous players. b An inwick.

wick, adj. = WICKED. Now Dial.

wick, n. = WICKEDNESS. Obs.

wick (wĭk). Dial. var. of QUICK, WEEK.

wick'a-wee (wĭk'ȧ-wē), n. [Of Algonquian origin; prob. fr. Massachuset.] The painted cup Castilleja coccinea.

wick'ed (wĭk'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. [ME., fr. wicke wicked; prob. akin to AS. wīcan to yield, give way. See WEAK.]
1. Morally bad; evil in character, conduct, principle, purport, or influence; being or acting contrary to moral or divine law; iniquitous; as, a wicked king, nation, or woman; wicked deeds, designs, or language; a wicked law.
2. Bad; — without, or with little, moral connotation. Variously: a Fierce; vicious; — chiefly of animals. b That does or may harm; dangerous; causing or likely to cause trouble; devastating; as, wicked weeds, weather, or wounds. "Shook a wicked spear." George Kelly. c Vile; horrid; beastly; disgustingly bad or unpleasant; as, a wicked odor or taste. "They talk wicked French." H. Walpole. d Obs. Difficult; impassable; inaccessible. e Disposed to mischief; mischievous; roguish.
Pen looked uncommonly wicked. Thackeray.
f Ir. Cross; stern; as, a wicked look. g Slang. Verging on the indecent; slightly improper or risqué.
Syn. — Sinful, criminal, guilty, unjust, unrighteous, unholy, irreligious, ungodly, profane; vicious, atrocious, nefarious, heinous, flagrant, flagitious, abandoned. See BAD.
Ant. — Upright, righteous, virtuous. See GOOD.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wicked-acting	wicked-looking	wicked-speaking wicked-eyed	wicked-minded	wicked-tongued wick'ed, n. A wicked person; with the, wicked persons collectively.

wicked (wĭkt), adj. Having a wick; — used chiefly in combination; as, a two-wicked lamp.

Wick'ed Bi'ble (wĭk'ĕd; -ĭd; 119). See BIBLE, 2.

wick'ed-ly, adv. In a wicked manner; with wicked aims or motives; iniquitously; evilly; maliciously.

wick'ed-ness, n. Quality or state of being wicked; wicked character or conduct; also, wicked thing or act; an iniquity.

wicked one, the. The Devil; Satan.

wick'er (wĭk'ĕr), n. [ME. wyker, wekir, osier, of Scand. origin; cf. Sw. dial. vikker willow; akin to Sw. vika to bend, turn, yield, AS. wīcan to give way. See WEAK.] 1. A small pliant twig or osier; a rod for plaiting basketwork; a withe.
2. Wickerwork; also, a piece of wickerwork, as a basket.
3. A wike, or mark. Now Dial.

wick'er, v. t. To incase or cover with wickerwork.

wick'er, adj. Made or consisting of wicker or wickers; incased in wickerwork.
☞ PHRASES are:

wicker basket	wicker chair	wicker flask
wicker bottle	wicker couch	wicker furniture wicker cage	wicker cradle	wicker table
wicker carriage	wicker crate	wicker tray wick'er, n. One that trims wicks.

wick'er-ware' (wĭk'ĕr-wâr'), n. Goods made of wicker.

wick'er-work' (-wûrk'), n. Work consisting of a texture of osiers, twigs, or rods; basketwork; wickerware. — wick'er-worked' (-wûrkt'), adj. — wick'er-work'er (-wûr'kĕr), n.

wick'er-wo'ven, adj. Woven of wicker.

wick'et (wĭk'ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n. [ME. wiket, fr. ONF. wiket (OF. & F. guichet), of obscure Teut. origin; cf. ON. vīkja to turn, E. WEAK.] 1. A small gate or door, esp. one forming part of, or placed near, a larger gate or door.
"Heaven's wicket." Milton.
2. A windowlike opening; a loophole; esp., a grilled or grated window, as at a ticket office, cashier's or teller's desk, etc.
3. A small gate by which the chamber of a canal lock is emptied, or by which the amount of water passing through a channel, as to a water wheel, is regulated.
4. A lead grating used in making white lead (which see).
5. Ceramics. The entrance door to a kiln.
6. Civil Engin. Any gate of a shutter dam (which see).
7. Coal Mining. A very wide stall or heading used with very wide pillars in a variety of the bord-and-pillar system called wick'et-work' (-wûrk'). North Wales.
8. Cricket. a Either of the two frameworks at which the ball is bowled, orig. consisting of two vertical sticks (technically called stumps) stuck in the ground some distance apart and surmounted by a single bail, now consisting of three vertical stumps stuck in the ground less than a bail's length apart from each other and spaced by two bails placed in grooves on top of them. b The playing pitch included between the wickets; as, a fast wicket. c One of the stumps of a wicket. d The stay or turn of a batsman at the wicket; also, the period during which two men bat together; as, the fourth wicket added 58 runs. e An innings (of a batsman) that is not completed or never begun; as, the eleven won by four wickets (that is, with the two "not-outs" still at bat and three men yet to go in).
9. Croquet. An arch, or hoop. U. S.
— first, second, etc., wicket down. Cricket. After one batsman, two batsmen, etc., have been put out; as, Mr. Jones goes in fourth wicket down. — to get, secure, or take, a wicket. Cricket. To put a batsman out; — usually said of the bowler from whose bowling the striker is put out. See 4th CRICKET, n. — to keep wicket. Cricket. To act as wicketkeeper.

wick'et-keep'er (wĭk'ĕt-kēp'ĕr; wĭk'ĭt-; 119), n. Cricket. The player who stands behind the wicket to prevent byes and if possible to catch, stump, or run out the batsmen. See CRICKET, game, Illust. — wick'et-keep'ing, n. & adj.

Wick'field, Agnes (wĭk'fēld). The second wife of David Copperfield in Dickens's novel of that name.

Wick'ham's fan'cy (wĭk'ăms). Angling. An artificial fly with gray wings, gold-tinsel body, brown hackle tied like that of a palmer fly, and brown hair tail.

wick'ing (wĭk'ĭng), n. Material made esp. for wicks; a loosely braided or woven cord, tape, or tube, of cotton.

wick'i-up', wik'i-up' (wĭk'ĭ-ŭp'), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Menominee wikiop, Sac & Fox wikiyap a dwelling; from same root as WIGWAM.] The hut used by the nomadic Indian tribes of the arid regions of the western and southwestern United States, typically elliptical in form, with a rough frame covered with reed mats or grass or brushwood; hence, any rude, temporary shelter or hut.

wick'y (wĭk'ĭ), n. [Cf. QUICKEN TREE.] a Local, U. S. (1) The sheep laurel. (2) A closely related species of laurel (Kalmia hirsuta) of the Southern States, having hirsute foliage and small pink flowers; — called also hairy laurel. b Dial. Eng. = ROWAN TREE a.

wic'o-py (wĭk'ō-pĭ), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Abnaki wighebi inner bark, bast, Massachuset wik'pi, Cree wikupiy.] a The leatherwood Dirca palustris. b The basswood Tilia glabra. c Any of various species of willow herb (Epilobium and Chamaenerion), often distinguished as Indian wicopy.

Wi'dal's', or Wi'dal', re-ac'tion (vē'dȧlz', -dȧl'). [After Fernand Widal (b. 1862), French physician.] Med. A specific reaction consisting in agglutination of typhoid bacilli in bouillon or saline suspension when mixed with serum from a patient having typhoid fever. It constitutes a test (Widal's, or Widal, test) for typhoid fever.

wid'bin' (wĭd'bĭn'), n. [Var. of WOODBINE.] a Scot. The woodbine or honeysuckle. b Dial. Eng. The dogwood Cornus sanguinea.

widbin pear tree. The white beam. Dial. Eng.

wid'di-fow' (wĭd'ĭ-fōō'), adj. [Scot. widdie halter (cf. WITHY) + fou, fow, full.] Deserving the halter; rascally. Scot. — n. A rascal; scamp. Scot.

wid'dle (wĭd'l), n. & v. i. [Cf. WADDLE.] Wriggle; waddle; struggle. Chiefly Dial.

wid'drim (wĭd'rĭm), n. [AS. wōdendrēam, wōddrēam. See WOOD, adj.; 1st DREAM.] Mental excitement or confusion; a madness. Obs. Scot.

wid'dy (wĭd'ĭ), n. [Var. of WITHY.] Scot. & Dial. Eng. a A rope made of osiers or similar twigs; a withy. b A rope, noose, or halter; hence, the hangman's noose; the gallows; also, a gallows bird.

wid'dy (wĭd'ĭ). Dial. var. of WIDOW.

wide (wīd), adj.; WID'ER (wīd'ĕr); WID'EST (wīd'ĕst; -ĭst; 119). [ME. wid, wyde, fr. AS. wīd; akin to OFris. & OS. wīd, D. wijd, G. weit, OHG. wīt, ON. vīthr, Sw. & Dan. vid, prob. to Skr. vi asunder. See WITH.] 1. Having or covering great extent; extending over a vast area; far-spreading; spacious; extensive; as, wide waters; the wide world. Now Rhetorical.
Unending, wide silence. J. Stephens.
2. Of a specified measure in a direction at right angles to that of length; of a designated width, or breadth; as, a table three feet wide.
3. Having considerable distance or extent between the sides; of its kind or class, large laterally; not narrow; broad; as, wide cloth; a wide table, bed, hall, road, etc.; also, Rare, of the sides, boundaries, etc., far apart.
4. Roomy; loose; ample; as, wide breeches.
5. Expanded or distended; opened to full width; as, eyes wide with wonder.
6. Of large scope or range; covering, including, or permitting of, great variety or latitude, as of details, instances, subjects, etc.; comprehensive; not limited; all-inclusive; as, wide reading or experience; a wide field of study or view; a wide word or definition.
It is a wide word — sincerity. Galsworthy.
7. Now Rare. a Far off; situated at (such) a distance; — with of; as, a place five miles wide of London. b Far apart in nature, character, etc., from something specified; being different or disparate; — with of; as, views wide of ours.
8. Deviating or diverging from something specified or understood, as a point aimed at, the real issue, the truth, a clear understanding, etc.; far off in a play, a shot, an argument, an opinion, etc.; — formerly with from, now often with of; as, a wide ball or arrow; a conclusion wide of the mark. "Our wide expositors." Milton.
How wide is all this long pretense! Herbert.
9. Lax; loose in character; fast.
10. Agric. Containing a relatively small amount of protein as compared with the carbohydrates and fats; — said of a feed ration. Cf. NARROW, 9.
11. Phonet. = LAX, 5.
12. Stock Exchanges. Having or showing a wide difference or fluctuation between the highest and lowest prices, amount of supply, etc.; as, a wide opening; wide prices, where the prices bid and asked differ by several points.
Syn. — See BROAD. Ant. — Strait, constricted. See NARROW.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wide-arched	wide-handed	wide-ribbed wide-armed	widehearted	wide-rimmed wide-banked	wide-hipped	wide-row wide-branched	wide-jointed	wide-skirted wide-breasted	wide-kneed	wide-sleeved wide-brimmed	wide-leafed	wide-soled wide-chapped	wide-leaved	wide-spaced wide-doored	wide-lipped	wide-spanned wide-eared	wide-minded	wide-streeted wide-elbowed	wide-necked	wide-throated wide-eyed	wide-nosed	wide-toed wide-faced	wide-palmed	wide-tracked wide-framed	wide-patched	wide-veined wide-gated	wide-petaled	wide-wayed wide-girdled	wide-realmed	wide-winged wide (wīd), adv. [AS. wīde.] 1. Over or to a great distance or extent; far; widely; as, his fame was spread wide; to hunt far and wide for something.

2. So as to have or leave a wide space or distance between; so as to form a large opening, to keep at a distance, to manifest great difference or disparity, etc.; as, the issues are wide apart; — sometimes with of.
Riding a little wide of the caravan. Lord Dunsany.
3. So as to be wide of the mark; so as to strike far from or aside from the aim, objective, subject, truth, etc.; as ray; as, the ball went wide; also, narrowly, irrationally, incoherently; not cogently; discursively.
Is my lord well, that he doth speak so wide? Shak.
He could reason close or wide, as he saw best for the moment. Boswell.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wide-abounding	wide-gaping	wide-sanctioned wide-accepted	wide-honored	wide-seen wide-branching	wide-imperial	wide-set wide-cast	wide-lamented	wide-shaped wide-circling	wide-met	wide-shown wide-climbing	wide-opened	wide-sold wide-consuming	wide-permitted	wide-sought wide-distant	wide-pledged	wide-straddling wide-echoing	wide-ranging	wide-stretched wide-expanded	wide-reaching	wide-stretching wide-expanding	wide-resounding	wide-wasting wide-extended	wide-rolling	wide-winding wide-extending	wide-said	wide-yawning wide-flung

-wide (-wīd). A combining form of the adjective wide, signifying extended throughout, or of the adverb wide, signifying over the distance or extent specified, as in:

city-wide	county-wide	state-wide country-wide	nationwide	world-wide wide (wīd), n. 1. Width; a wide space or extent. Chiefly Poetic. "The waste wide of that abyss." Tennyson.

2. That which goes wide, or to one side of the mark; specif., Cricket, a bowled ball that goes out of the batsman's reach. It counts as a run to the batting side. Cf. EXTRA, n., 3.
3. A wide, or lax, vowel. See LAX, adj., 5.

wide, v. t. To widen. Rare.

wide'-an'gle, adj. Photog. & Optics. Having or covering an angle wider than the ordinary; — applied to certain lenses of relatively short focus. Lenses for ordinary purposes have an angle of 50° or less. Wide-angle lenses may cover as much as 100° and are useful for photographing at short range, but the pictures appear more or less distorted.

wide'-a-wake' (66), adj. Fully awake; not drowsy or dull; hence, knowing; keen; alert. — wide'-a-wake'ness, n.

wide'-a-wake', n. 1. Also wide-awake hat. A low-crowned soft felt hat.
2. The sooty tern or any similar tern.
3. [cap.] A member of any of the companies of young men in the presidential campaign of 1860 favoring the Republican candidate and wearing uniforms including a wide-awake hat. U. S.

wide cards. At cribbage, cards that are unlikely to complete a sequence in discarding for the dealer's crib, or in play.

---

whum'mle, whum'le (hwŭm'l). Scot. & dial. vars. of WHEMMEL.

whun (hwŭn). Var. of WHIN.

whun'stane (hwŭn'stān), n. Scot. var. of WHINSTONE.

whup. Dial. var. of WHIP.

whurl, v. i. [Imitative.] To make a howling or snarling sound. Obs. [WHIRL. New Dial.] whurl (hwûrl; wûrl). Var. of whurt (hwûrt). + WHORT.

whush. Var. of HUSH. Obs. exc. Dial.

whush (hwŭsh). Var. of WHISH.

whus'kie (hwŭs'kĭ). Scot. & Ir. var. of WHISKY.

whus'sle, whus'tle (hwŭs'l). Dial. vars. of WHISTLE.

whust. + WHIST.

whut. Dial. var. of WHAT.

wuth'er (hwŭth'ĕr). Scot. & N. of Eng. of WHITHER, n. & v.

whutt. Dial. var. of WHEAT.

whus (hwŭz; wŭz). Dial. var. of WHIZ, WHIZZED.

whyd'ah. Var. of WHIDAH.

whyles. Var. of WHILES.

whyne. + WHIN, WHINE, WINE.

why'ness, n. See -NESS.

whyou. Var. of WHEW.

whyt. + QUICK, WHIT, WHITE, WIGHT, WITH.

Whyte system (hwĭt). [After F. M. Whyte, Am. mechanical engineer.] Railroads. See LOCOMOTIVE.

whutt. Dial. var. of WHEAT.

wi' (wĭ). Scot. & dial. shortening of WITH.

wib'ble, n. A wimble. Obs.

wice (wīs). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WISE.

wich. + WHICH.

wich, n. See -WICK, 1.

wiche. + WHICH, WITCH.

wich'-ha'zel, n. Var. of WITCH HAZEL.

wicht (wĭkt). Scot. var. of WIGHT.

wich'tje, n. [D. See WEIGHT.] Short for WICKETKEEPER. [n., 7.]

wick'et-keep', n. See WICKET, [n., 7.]

wick'et-work', n. See WICKET, [n., 7.]

wick'e-up', wick'ey-up' (wĭk'ĭ-ŭp'). Vars. of WICKIUP.

wick'less, adj. See -LESS.

Wick-lif'fi-an, Wick'lif-fite, etc. Vars. of WYCKLIFFIAN, WYCKLIFFITE, etc.

wick'o-py. Var. of WICOPY.

wickt. Wicked. Ref. Sp.

wick'up' (wĭk'ŭp'), n. = WICOPY.

wick'y-up'. Var. of WICKIUP.

wid. Var. of WITH. Obs. exc. Dial.

wid (wĭd). Scot. var. of WOOD.

wid (wĭd). Scot. & dial. var. of WOULD. [DREAM.]

wid'den-dream'. Var. of WID-wid'der. + WIDER.

wid'der. Dial. var. of WIDOW.

wid'der-shins. Var. of WITHERSHINS. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wide. + WEED.

---

wide'gab' (wīd'găb'), wide'gap' (-găp'), n. The angler (Lophius piscatorius). wide gauge or gage. Railroads. See GAUGE, n., 15 a. wide'ly (wīd'lĭ), adv. 1. Over a wide space, range, or extent; so as to cover or include a great number of places, ideas, subjects, etc.; extensively; as, the gospel was widely disseminated by the apostles; to use a word widely.
2. So as to be far apart, as in space, time, meaning, or nature; so as to have or leave a great interval or difference between; as, widely extending jaws; to separate widely; to differ widely in opinion; also, so as to be wide of the mark; as, widely mistaken.
3. Rare. a With laxity; unconventionally; uncivilly. b Roomily; loosely. wide'mouthed' (wīd'mou̇thd'; -moutht'; 66), adj. 1. Having a wide mouth; as, a widemouthed person, vase, bottle.
2. Having a wide-open mouth, as in speaking, attempting to speak, eating, etc.; hence: a Noisy; loud; barking. b Greedy; devouring. c Struck dumb with fear or amazement.
wid'en (wīd''n), v. t.; WID'ENED (-'nd); WID'EN-ING. To make wide or wider; to extend in width range, etc.; as, to widen a path, one's interests, or a breach between friends. — v. i. To grow wide or wider; to enlarge; spread; expand; as, the gulf between them widened.
Arches widen, and long aisles extend. Pope.
Syn. — Broaden, expand, extend. Cf. DILATE.
Ant. — Narrow, limit, restrict, contract, decrease, straiten. wid'en, adv. Wide; far. Obs. wid'en-er (wīd''n-ĕr), n. One who or that which widens; specif., Mach., a broach, or reamer.
wide'ness (wīd'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. [AS. wīdness.] Quality or state of being wide; breadth; width; vastness; extensiveness; comprehensiveness. wide'-o'pen (66), adj. Opened wide; specif., lax in enforcing laws regulating or prohibiting the sale of liquors, etc.; tolerating gambling, vice, etc.; as, a wide-open town. — wide'-o'pen-ly, adv. — wide'-o'pen-ness, n.
wide ration. A ration containing little protein in proportion to the fat and carbohydrates.
wide'spread' (wīd'sprĕd'; 66), adj. 1. Widely extended; spread far or as far as possible; as, widespread wings or fields.
2. That has spread to many places, regions, peoples, etc.; widely distributed, scattered, communicated, effective, etc.; as, a widespread doctrine, movement, or plant.
Syn. — General, rife, extensive, sweeping.
Ant. — Local, restricted, circumscribed, limited.
— wide'spread'ly, adv. — wide'spread'ness, n.
wide'-spread'ed, adj. Widespread. — wide'-spread'ed-ly, adv. Both Rare.
wide'-spread'ing, adj. That is or is becoming widespread.
wide'-wa'tered, adj. Having a wide expanse of water; specif., Poetic: a Bordering the sea or other large body of water. "Some wide-watered shore." Milton. b Traversed by a wide stream or wide streams.
Some wide-watered fen. Pope.
wide'where' (wīd'hwâr'), adv. Widely; far and wide. Archaic.
wide'work' (-wûrk'), n. Coal Mining. A kind of bord-and-pillar system in which the very narrow pillars left to support the roof are not recovered.
widg'eon, wi'geon (wĭj'ŭn), n.; pl. WIDGEON, WIDGEONS (-ŭnz). See PLURAL, Note. [Prob. fr. an OF. or AF. var.

American Widgeon (Mareca americana).

of F. vigeon, vingeon, gingeon, of uncert. origin; cf. L. vipio, -onis, a kind of small crane.] 1. Any of several fresh-water ducks of the genus Mareca, in size between the teal and the mallard; also, Chiefly Local, with a qualifying word, any of various ducks; as, sand widgeon, sea widgeon. The male of the Old World widgeon (M. penelope) has the crown pale buff, the head and neck chestnut, becoming grayish lavender on the breast and white on the belly. The American widgeon (M. americana), often called baldpate, is similar in general color, but its crown is white. A third species (M. sibilatrix), having the entire head nearly white, inhabits southern South America.
2. Figuratively, a foolish fellow; a simpleton; goose. Obs. widg'eon, v. t. To make a fool of. Rare.
widgeon coot. The ruddy duck. Local, U. S. widgeon grass. Eel grass (Zostera marina). Ir.
Wid'man-stat'ten fig'ures (vĭt'män-shtĕt'n). Also Wid'man-stat'ti-an fig'ures (-shtĕt'ĭ-ăn). [After A. B. Widmanstätten, of Vienna, who first described them in 1808.] Mineral. Certain figures appearing on etched meteoric iron and exhibiting its crystalline structure. See METEORITE, Illust. wid'ow (wĭd'ō), n. [ME. widewe, widwe, fr. AS. weoduwe, widuwe, wuduwe; akin to OFris. widwe, OS. widowa, D. weduwe, G. witwe, OHG. wituwa, witawa, Goth. widuwo, OSlav. vĭdova, OIr. fedb, L. vidua, Skr. vidhavā, Gr. eitheos unmarried youth (see W), and to Skr. vindhate becomes empty, lacks. Cf. DIVIDE, VIDUAL.] 1. a A woman who has lost her husband by death; the female survivor of a marital union. b A woman who has not remarried after the death of her husband. In the absence of express provisions in the law with respect to the rights of a widow, her rights are not affected by a second marriage. See PRECEDENCE; also Forms of Address, in Appendix.
2. In the early church, one of a special class of women, occupied as deaconesses in works of charity and having some liturgical offices, as in the baptism of women; — now found chiefly in designations of saints; as, St. Monica, widow.
3. A woman deserted by her husband, or without his company for a time; — commonly qualified; as, a golf widow. Colloq.
4. A widowed person; a widower. Now Chiefly Dial.
5. Colloq. a A pearl that has been pierced and worn. b Card Playing. In various games, any extra hand or part of a hand, as one dealt to the table. c Print. A short line or single word carried over from the foot of one column or page to the head of a succeeding column or page.
wid'ow (wĭd'ō), v. t.; WID'OWED (-ōd); WID'OW-ING. 1. To reduce to the state of a widow or, less often, widower; to bereave of a husband or wife; as, thousands widowed by the war. Now Rare, except in past participle.
2. Rare. a To endow with a widow's right. b To survive as the widow of. Shak.
3. To deprive of anything esteemed; to make desolate; to bereave. "The widowed isle, in mourning." Dryden.
Trees of their shriveled fruits Are widowed, dreary storms o'er all prevail. J. Philips. wid'ow, adj. Widowed. Now Dial. "A widow woman." 1 Kings xvii. 9. "This widow lady." Shak. wid'ow-bench', n. Eng. Law. The portion allowed to a widow from her deceased husband's estate besides her jointure. Cf. FREE BENCH. widow bewitched. A woman separated from her husband; a grass widow. Colloq.
widow bird. [widow + bird; after Pg. viuva widow bird, lit., widow, fr. L. vidua; — so named from the somber color of its plumage and long black tail feathers like a widow's veil. Cf. WHIDAH BIRD.] A whidah bird. widow duck. A West Indian tree duck (Dendrocygna viduata). wid'owed (wĭd'ōd) adj. That has been bereaved of her, or his, mate; of or pertaining to a widow or widowhood; bereaved; mourning; desolate; solitary.
wid'ow-er (wĭd'ō-ĕr), n. 1. A man who has lost his wife by death, and has not married again.
2. One who or that which widows women. Rare.
widower bewitched. A deserted husband. Rare.
wid'ow-ered (wĭd'ō-ĕrd), adj. Made a widower. wid'ow-er-y (-ĕr-ĭ), n. Widowerhood; esp., the absence of one's wife. Rare.
widow finch. A whidah bird. widow fish. The viuva. widow flower. = MOURNING WIDOW b. wid'ow-hood (wĭd'ō-hŏŏd), n. 1. State of being a widow or, Rare, a widower; time during which one is widowed.
Johnson clung to her memory during a widowhood of more than thirty years. Leslie Stephen.
2. Estate or property right of a widow. Shak. wid'ow-ly (-lĭ), adj. Widowed; widowlike. — adv. In a manner becoming to, or like, a widow.
wid'ow-mak'er (-măk'ĕr), n. 1. One who makes widows by killing husbands.
2. Something dangerous to a man's, esp. a workingman's, life or health; specif., Logging, a loose limb hanging in the top of a tree.
wid'ow-man (-măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A widower. Dial. widow monkey. A South American titi (Callicebus torquatus). It is black except the dull-whitish arms, neck, and face, and a ring of pure white around the face. widow right. A widow's dower right. wid'ow's cham'ber (wĭd'ōz). Eng. Law. In London, the apparel and furniture of the bedchamber of the widow of a freeman, to which she was formerly entitled.
wid'ow's-cross', n. An evergreen, fleshy-leaved herb (Sedum pulchellum) of the eastern United States, often cultivated for its rosy-purple, showy flowers. widow's cruse. An inexhaustible supply; — from the story told in 2 Kings iv. 1–7. Cf. 1 Kings xvii. 10–16.
widow's lock. = WIDOW'S PEAK. widow's man. Nav. One of a class of imaginary sailors formerly carried on the books of British men-of-war, whose pay went to a widows' fund. Eng.
widow's mite. A small contribution, willingly given, that is all one can afford; — in allusion to Mark xii. 42.
widow's peak. A point in the hairline on a woman's forehead, once believed to be an omen of early widowhood.
widow's quarantine. = QUARANTINE, n., 5. wid'ow's-tear', n. Any flower of the genus Tradescantia; — in allusion to the tearlike substance into which the evanescent flower resolves. widow's weeds. The heavy mourning, including a long black veil, which was formerly customarily worn by widows.
Wid'ow Wad'man (wŏd'măn). See WADMAN, WIDOW. wid'ow-wail', n. a A low narrow-leaved evergreen shrub (Cneorum tricoccum) of southern Europe. b = MEZEREON a. widow-wail family. The Cneoraceae. widow woman. A widow. Now Chiefly Dial. wid'ow-y (wĭd'ō-ĭ), adj. Of or pertaining to a widow. Rare.
Wid'sith (wĭd'sĭth), n. [AS. Wīdsīth, lit., far-traveled one.] The title and hero of one of the oldest of extant Anglo-Saxon poems. It contains a list of traditional Teutonic kings and heroes. width (wĭdth), n. [From WIDE.] 1. The dimension of an object measured across from side to side or in a direction at right angles to the length; lateral, horizontal, or transverse measurement; as, what width of braid do you want? A road 30 feet in width.
2. The fact, state, or property of being wide or having breadth; wideness; as, to give width to a sleeve; a mind lacking in width.
3. Something that has width; specif., one of the breadths, or measured and cut pieces, which are sewed together to make a skirt.
4. Shoe Mfg. The girth of the foot at the widest part as designated by letters (A, B, C, D, E) written after size numerals. B has a sole ½2 of an inch wider than A, and so on.
width'less, adj. Having relatively little width; very narrow. width'way' (wĭdth'wā'), n. The direction of the width. — adv. Also width'ways' (-wāz'). Along the width.
width'wise' (-wīz'), adv. Widthway.
‖Wie'der-komm' (vē'dĕr-kŏm'), n. [G., come again.] A tall round beaker used in Germany.
‖wie geht's? (vē gāts). [G.] Short for wie geht es Ihnen (or dir), how do you do?
Wie'land (vē'lănt), n. [G.] 1. Var. of WAYLAND.
2. The short title and hero of a novel (1798), Wieland, or The Transformation, by Charles Brockden Brown, sometimes called the "first American novel."
wield (wēld), v.; WIELD'ED; WIELD'ING. [ME. welden to govern, to have power over, to possess, fr. AS. wyldan, wieldan, wealdan; akin to OS. waldan, OFris. walda, G. walten, OHG. waltan, ON. valda, Sw. välla to occasion, to cause, Dan. volde, Goth. waldan to govern, rule, OIr. flaith power, rule, L. valere to be strong. Cf. HERALD, VALIANT.] Transitive: 1. Obs. a To have sovereign power over; to govern; rule. b To ordain; determine. c To manage; to deal or cope with. d To have; possess. e To bear; endure. f To carry the weight of. g To express
2. To use (an instrument, implement, etc.) with full command or power; to handle with skill, effectiveness, etc.; to employ, manipulate, or ply; as, to wield a sword or a spade; to wield a pen or a brush.
Base Hungarian wight! wilt thou the spigot wield? Shak.
3. To exercise or show one's power or authority by means of (a wielded (sense 2) staff, a scepter, etc.); hence, to exercise (power, authority, sovereignty, etc.).
Her newborn power was wielded . . . by unprincipled and ambitious men. De Quincey.
Syn. — See HANDLE.
— Intransitive: 1. To be dominant; to prevail. Now Dial.
2. To be engaged in some activity or operation contextually understood. Obs.
wield a scepter. To exercise sovereign power; to hold sway. wield, n. [AS. weald, geweald, gewyld.] Control; power. Obs.
wield'er (wēl'dĕr), n. 1. One who wields a weapon, an implement, power, etc.
2. A ruler; governor; manager. Obs. wield'y (wēl'dĭ), adj. 1. Capable of wielding; strong. Obs.
2. Capable of being wielded; manageable; wieldable; — opposed to unwieldy.
wie'ner-wurst' (wē'nĕr-wûrst'), n. [G., fr. Wiener of Vienna + wurst sausage.] A kind of sausage, usually of mixed beef and pork, made in a shorter and more slender link than a frankfurter; — often shortened to wiener. U. S.
Wien's dis-place'ment law (vēnz). [After W. Wien (1864–1928), Ger. physicist.] Physics. A law concerning the emission of radiation from black bodies, which states that on raising the absolute temperature of such a body from T_1 to T_2 the ordinates of the curve giving the distribution of energy according to the wave length are shifted toward the shorter wave lengths so that if λ_1 and λ_2 are corresponding values $T_2\lambda_2 = T_1\lambda_1$.
Wien's radiation law. A law stating the energy emitted by a black body: if T is the absolute temperature of the body, the energy associated with radiation whose wave lengths lie in the range between λ and $\lambda + d\lambda$ is given by $E d\lambda$, where $E = \frac{C_1}{\lambda_5} e^{\frac{-C_2}{\lambda T}}$ in which C_1 and C_2 are constants. wife (wīf), n.; pl. WIVES (wīvz). [ME. wif wife, woman, AS. wīf; akin to OFris. & OS. wīf, D. wijf, G. weib, OHG. wīb, ON. vīf, Dan. viv, and perh. to ON. vīfinn veiled, veifa to wave. See VIBRATE; cf. HUSSY, WOMAN.] 1. A woman; an adult female. Now Rare, except in dialect and in certain compounds (see -WIFE) and phrases; as, old wives' tales.
2. A woman united to a man in lawful wedlock; a married woman; spouse; — correl. of husband. See PRECEDENCE.
3. A mistress of a house, inn, etc.; a housewife or landlady. Obs.
4. The female of a pair of mated animals.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wife-awed	wife-bound	wife-ridden wife-beating	wife-hunting	wife-worn

— to give or take to wife. To give or take (a woman) in marriage.
-wife (-wīf). A combining form of wife; — used in nouns, as in:

applewife	hostlerwife	puddingwife butterwife	housewife	roupingwife cocklewife	kalewife	saltwife fishwife	midwife	seawife
goodwife	oldwife	washerwife henwife	oysterwife	witchwife herbwife	piewife wife (wīf), v. i.; WIFED (wīft); WIF'ING (wīf'ĭng). To marry; wive; also, esp. with it, to play the wife. Now Rare.

Wife'hat'er Bi'ble (wīf'hāt'ĕr). An edition of the Bible, published in 1810, having a reading in Luke xiv, 26. "If any man come to me and hate not his father . . . yea, and his own wife also."
wife'hood (-hŏŏd), n. [AS. wīfhād.] State of being a wife; wifely character or condition.
wife'less, adj. 1. Without a wife, as a bachelor or widower; celibate.
2. Not a wife; not lawfully married. Rare.
— wife'less-ness, n.
wife'ly (wīf'lĭ), adj.; -LI-ER (-lĭ-ĕr); -LI-EST. [AS. wīflīc womanly.] Befitting, like, or pertaining to, a wife; having the character of a good wife; as, wifely virtues or women; a wifely act. wife'ly, adv. As a wife. Obs.
Wife of Bath. One of the pilgrims in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, a lusty, free-spoken woman who had survived five husbands. wife's equity (wīfs). Law. The equitable right or claim of a married woman, as against her husband or his assignees or creditors, to a reasonable provision, by way of settlement or otherwise, out of her choses in action, or out of any property of hers under the jurisdiction of the court of chancery, for the support of herself and her children.
wife'thing' (wīf'thĭng'), n. [AS. wīfthing.] Nuptials. Obs. wife'ward (wīf'wĕrd), adj. & adv. Towards one's wife. R. wig, wigg (wĭg), n. [MD. & MLG. wigge (D. wig) wedge-shaped cake. See WEDGE.] A kind of seedcake or currant bun. Now Dial.
wig (wĭg), n. [From PERIWIG.] 1. A manufactured covering of hair for the head, made usually of human hair interwoven or united by a kind of network, either imitating a natural growth, or supplying a coiffure, and worn to cover wid'end. Widened. Ref. Sp. widge, n. [AS. wicg.] A horse. Obs. wid'ish (wĭd'ĭsh), adj. See -ISH. wid'owd. Widowed. Ref. Sp. wid'ow-er-hood', n. See -HOOD. wid'ow-er-ship', n. See -SHIP. wid'ow-head, n. Widowhood. Obs. wid'ow-ish, adj. See -ISH. wid'ow-like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE. wid'ow-shroud', n. A widow's [dress. Obs.

wi-du', Var. of WUDU. wid'u-al, adj. [For vidual, influenced by widow.] Vidual. Obs.
‖Wie'gen-lied' (vē'gĕn-lēt'), n. [G., cradle song.] Music. = BERCEUSE. wiel (wēl). Scot. var. of WEEL, a [whirlpool. wielare, n. [AS. wiglere.] A sorcerer; conjurer. Obs. wield'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.
wield'i-ness (wēl'dĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS. wield'less, adj. Unwieldy. Obs.
wie'ner (wē'nĕr), n. Short for WIENERWURST.
‖Wie'ner Schnit'zel (vē'nĕr shnĭt'zĕl). = SCHNITZEL, 1. wie'nie (wē'nĭ), n. Slang contraction for WIENERWURST. wier. † WEIR, WIRE.
wier'an'gle (wēr'ăng'g'l). Var. of WARIANGLE. wierd. † WEIRD.
wies, n., pl. of WY.
wife'carl' (wīf'kärl'); ш = BETTY, 2. Scot. wife'dom, n. See -DOM. wife'head, n. = WIFEHOOD. Obs. wife'ism, n. See -ISM. Rare.
wife'kin, n. Dim. of WIFE. wife'let, wife'ling, n. Dims. of WIFE. wife'like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE. wif'el-kin. Var. of WIFEKIN. wife'ship, n. See -SHIP. wif'fet (wĭf'ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n. Var. of WHIFFET. Rare.
wif'fie (wĭf'ĭ), n. Dim. of WIFE. wif'fie-kie, n. = WIFIE. Scot. wif'ish, adj. See -ISH. wif'le, n. [AS. wifel. See WHIFFLE weapon.] A battle-ax. Obs. wif'ler. † WHIFFLER. wif'ock (wĭf'ŭk), n. [wife + -ock.] = WIFIE. Scot. wift (wĭft). Dial. Eng. of WHIFT.

deficiency of natural hair, for ornament, in the theatrical costume, or, as in Great Britain by judges and barristers, as a part of an official or professional dress; a periwig; a peruke.
2. The coarse fur on the shoulders of a large male hooded seal; also, the seal itself; — originally so called by fishermen of the southern Pacific.
3. Colloq. a Hair; esp., long hair; as, curly wig. b One who wears a wig, as a judge; a dignitary. c A rebuke or reprimand. d See WIGS ON THE GREEN.
— my wig! An expletive or mild imprecation.

wig (wĭg), v. t.; WIGGED (wĭgd); WIG'GING (wĭg'ĭng). 1. To supply or provide with a wig or wigs.
2. To censure or rebuke; to scold severely. Colloq.

wig, v. i. & t. [See WIGGLE.] To wag. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wig. Scot. var. of WHIG, whey.

wig'an (wĭg'ăn), n. [From Wigan, Lancashire, Eng.] A canvaslike cotton fabric, used to stiffen parts of garments.

wig block. A round-topped block for making, dressing, or holding a wig.

wigged (wĭgd), adj. Furnished with or wearing a wig.

wig'ger (wĭg'ĕr), n. A wigmaker.

wig'ger·y (wĭg'ĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -GERIES (-ĭz). 1. A wig; a peruke; also, wigs collectively; the use of wigs.
2. Red tape as a characteristic of judicial courts; formality. Rare.

wig'ging (wĭg'ĭng), n. 1. A scolding. Colloq.
2. Wool. The removal of the wool from around the eyes of sheep to prevent obstruction of vision; also, wool so removed. Australia.

wig'gism (-ĭz'm), n. The custom of wearing wigs.

wig'gle (wĭg'l), v. i.; WIG'GLED (-'ld); WIG'GLING (-lĭng). [ME. wiggelen to totter, reel; akin to (or perh. fr.) MLG. (& D.) wiggelen; cf. MLG. wiggen, E. wig to wag. Cf. WAG, WAGGLE.] Originally, to wobble; stagger; now chiefly, to move to and fro with a quick jerky or shaking motion; to waggle; wriggle; as, don't let the line wiggle; to wiggle through a crowd; a child that wiggles. — v. t. To cause to wiggle, or shake or move jerkily; as, a dog wiggles his tail; wiggling one's fingers.

wig'gle, n. 1. Act of wiggling; a wriggle.
2. A dish of creamed shellfish or fish with peas; as, shrimp wiggle.
— to get a wiggle on. To hurry up; speed up. Slang.

wig'gler (wĭg'lĕr), n. 1. One who or that which wiggles.
2. The larva or pupa of the mosquito; a wriggler.

Wigglers. a Larva, b Mosquito Pupa. (× 5) wig'gle-tail' (wĭg'l'l·tāl'), n. a = WIGGLER, 2. b Dial. A tadpole.

wiggle-tail cultivator. Agric. Mach. A riding row-crop cultivator designed to permit easy control of the cultivator gangs in the cultivation of crooked rows.

wig'gly (wĭg'lĭ), adj. That wiggles; wriggly; of a line, etc., wavy; wavering.

wig'gy (wĭg'ĭ), adj. Bewigged; characteristic of wiggery.

wight (wīt), n. [ME. wight, wiht, wight, whit, fr. AS. wiht creature, thing; akin to D. wicht child, OS. & OHG. wiht creature, thing, G. wicht creature, ON. vætt wight, vætta wht, Goth. waihts, waiht, thing, OSlav. vĕstĭ thing. Cf. WHIT.] 1. A creature; a living being; now only, a person; a man. Now Jocose or Archaic.
Every wight that hath discretion. Chaucer.
2. A preternatural being, as a fairy, witch, etc. Archaic.
3. A whit; bit; jot. Obs.

wight (wīt), adj. [ME. wight, wiht, fr. ON. vīgr in fighting condition, neut. vīgt; akin to ON. vīg war. See VICTOR.] Archaic or Dial. 1. Brave; valiant; also, strong; powerful.
2. Loud; rough; also, active; nimble; swift. Now Dial.

wight, wight'ly, adv. In a wight manner; quickly. Obs.
— wight'ness, n. All Archaic & Dial.

wig'mak'er (wĭg'māk'ĕr), n. One who makes wigs. — wig'mak'ing, n. & adj.

wigs on the green. Wigs pulled off in fighting; hence: a A fray; a coming to blows. b An office lost through a political fight or contest.

wig sumac, or wig tree. The smoke tree of Europe.

wig'tail' (wĭg'tāl'), n. A tropic bird of the genus Phaëthon.

wig'wag' (wĭg'wăg'), v. t. & i.; WIG'WAGGED' (-wăgd'); WIG'WAG'GING (-wăg'ĭng). [See WIG; WAG.] 1. To move to and fro; to wag.
2. Mil. & Nav. To signal by means of a flag, or portable light, waved according to a code. Movements of the flag or light to the right (dot) and left (dash) are the elements of the code alphabet, while movements to the front are used to indicate the ends of words, paragraphs, etc.

1, 2, 3 First, Second, and Third Motions in Wigwagging.

3. Hence, to make signals (to or with).

wig'wag', n. [See WIGWAG, v. t. & i.] 1. Mil. & Nav. Act or art of wigwagging; also, a message wigwagged; — used chiefly attributively; as, the wigwag system or code.
2. A rubbing tool on and driven by a watchmaker's lathe.

wig'wag', adv. To and fro; waveringly. Colloq.

wig'wag'ger (-ĕr), n. One who wigwags; a signalman using a wigwag code.

wigwag signal. A signal at a highway crossing, the indication of which is given by a disc swinging horizontally with or without a red light attached.

wig'wam (wĭg'wŏm; -wôm; 277), n. [Of Algonquian origin; cf. Abnaki wiqouam, Lenape wikwam, Ojibway wigiwam, lodge, tent, prop., their dwelling. Cf. WICKIUP.]
1. A cabin or hut of the Indians of the region of the Great Lakes and eastward, formed of a framework of poles overlaid with bark, rush mats, or hides. The usual form of the eastern wigwam was rectangular with arched top; in the west it was often conical. Cf. HOGAN, PUEBLO, TEPEE, WICKIUP, LODGE, n., 7.

Wigwam.

2. Slang, U. S. a Any large structure, formerly often temporary and of rude construction, used for political conventions, etc. b [cap., with the.] = TAMMANY HALL.
3. A house; dwelling. Humorous.

wiik'ite (vēk'ĭt; wĭk'ĭt), n. [After F. J. Wiik, Finnish scientist.] Mineral. A columbate, titanate, and silicate of iron and the rare earths, usually occurring in black, brown, or yellow irregular masses. H., 6. Sp. gr., 3.8–4.8.

wike (wĭk), n. Also wik'en (wĭk'ĕn). [AS. wīce.] Office; charge; duty. Obs.

Wik·stroe'mi·a (wĭk·strē'mĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after J. E. Wikström (1789–1856), Sw. botanist.] Bot. A genus of chiefly Asiatic shrubs (family Thymelaeaceae), the bark of some species, esp. W. canescens, yielding a fiber used in papermaking and for cloth. See SALAGO.

Wil'bur (wĭl'bĕr), n. [AS. Wilburh, OG. Wilburj. See 1st WILL; BOROUGH.] Masculine proper name.

Wil'cox for·ma'tion (wĭl'kŏks). [From Wilcox Co., Ala.] Geol. The upper of the two principal divisions of the Lower Eocene strata of the Gulf coastal region of the United States.

wil'cweme (wĭl'kwēm), adj. [AS. wil- (cf. WELCOME) + gecwēme pleasing.] Content; satisfied. Obs.

wild (wīld), adj.; WILD'ER (wīl'dĕr); WILD'EST. [ME. wild, wilde, fr. AS. wilde; akin to OFris. wilde, D. wild, OS. & OHG. wildi, G. wild, Sw. & Dan. vild, ON. villr wild, bewildered, astray, Goth. wiltheis wild, G. & OHG. wild game, deer, W. gwyllt wild, Corn. gwyls. Cf. WILDER, WILDERNESS.] 1. Living in a state of nature; inhabiting natural haunts, as the forest or open field; not tamed or domesticated; as, a wild boar; a wild ox.
Winter's not gone yet, if the wild geese fly that way. Shak.
2. Growing, produced, or prepared, without the aid and care of man; native; not cultivated; brought forth by unassisted nature or by animals not domesticated; as, wild parsnip; wild camomile; wild honey; wild yeast.
The woods and desert caves,
With wild thyme and the gadding vine o'ergrown. Milton.
3. Not inhabited or cultivated; hence, rough; waste; desolate; as, wild land.
4. Savage; uncivilized; not refined by culture; rude; as, the wild tribes of Africa or America; of animals, destructive; ferocious.
5. Impatient of, or not subjected to, restraint or regulation; as: a Turbulent; tempestuous; violent; stormy; as, a wild coast. "The wild winds howl." Addison. "Wild work." Milton. b Inordinate; unrestrained; ungoverned. "Passions wild and strong." Burns. c Boisterous; rollicking; gay. "The wild prince and Poins." Shak. d Fantastic in appearance or in nature; as, his wild look and still wilder garb; of ideas, plans, or the like, visionary; crazy. "A wild, speculative project." Swift. e Colloq. Licentious; dissolute. f Raging beyond the control of man; as, a wild fire in a forest.
6. Valiant; brave; daring. Obs.
7. Indicating strong emotion, excitement, elevation of the spirit, or the like. "Wild and whirling words." Shak.
Rapt Isaiah's wild seraphic fire. Burns.
8. Eager, as with desire, enthusiasm, or anticipation; keen; as, horses wild to start; girls wild to dance; also, angry; vexed; as, when he heard the news, he was wild. Colloq.
9. Erratic; as, a wild remark, question; deviating from an intended aim or object; as, a wild pitch in baseball.
10. Biol. Not living near or associated with man, as certain mosquitoes that do not breed near human habitations, in distinction from certain others that habitually do so.
11. Card Games. Having its denomination determined by the will of the holder; — said of a card. Cf. DEUCES WILD, JOKER.
12. Naut. Hard to steer or tending to yaw from the course; — said of a vessel.
13. Oil Drilling. Not capped or brought into controlled or regulated production.
Wild wells were permitted to burn for years. W. Kaempffert.
14. Paper Mfg. Loose and irregular in formation so as to be mottled in appearance; not well closed.
Syn. — Savage; untilled, uninhabited; barbarous, barbarian; tumultuous, riotous; unruly, obstreperous, uncontrollable; chimerical, irrational; uncertain, aberrant.
Ant. — Tame, domesticated; cultivated; peopled, settled; civilized, cultured; calm, orderly, restrained; sensible, practical, reasonable, pragmatic; direct, controlled.

wild (wīld), adv. 1. Wildly; as, to talk wild.
2. Without regulation or control; uncontrollably.
Given over to violence, society is an engine running wild; law-abiding, it is an engine working under control. F. H. Giddings.

wild-. Combining form of wild, adj. & adv., as in:

wild-acting, adj.	wild-eyed	wild-notioned wild-aimed	wild-flying, adj.	wild-phrased wild-billowing, adj.	wild-fought	wild-spirited wild-blooded	wild-grown	wild-staring, adj.
wild-booming, adj.	wild-haired	wild-warbling, adj.
wild-born	wild-headed	wild-warring, adj.
wild-brained	wild-headedness	wild-winged wild-bred	wild-looking, adj.	wild-witted wild-chosen	wild-made	wild-woven wild (wīld), n. [See WILD, adj.] 1. An uninhabited, uncultivated tract or region, as a forest or desert; a wilderness; waste; as, the wilds of Africa. "A barren waste, a wild of sand." Addison.

2. Elliptical for wild deer, wild fox, etc.; often, in pl., wild animals generally. Obs.
3. [cap.] Eccl. Hist. In the Church of Scotland, a member of the evangelical party; — opposed to Moderate. Cf. MODERATE, n.
— the wild. The wilderness or, by extension, wild, or free, natural life; as, the call of the wild.

wild, v. i. & t. To make, or to grow or become, wild. Rare.

wild (wīld), n. A weald. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

Wild, Jonathan. See JONATHAN WILD.

wild agrimony. = SILVERWEED a.

Wild'air', Sir Har'ry (wīld'ăr'). A gay gallant, hero of Farquhar's Constant Couple and its sequel, named after him.

wild alder. The goutweed (Aegopodium podagraria).

wild alfalfa. a = SWEET CLOVER. b A yellow-flowered Eurasian medic (Medicago falcata). c The scurvy pea Psoralea floribunda. d Calif. = DEERWEED.

wild allspice. The spicebush.

wild almond. a The Kaffir chestnut. b The Java almond.

wild ananas. The pinguin.

wild and woolly. Lacking the polish and refinement of civilization; — used esp. to characterize the western United States of the 19th century.

wild angelica. A European herb (Angelica sylvestris) with compound leaves and white flowers, adventive on Cape Breton Island.

wild apple. 1. Any apple which grows wild; esp.: a The Oregon crab apple. b The Siberian crab.
2. In Australia, the fruit of the native cranberry.

wild apricot. = MAMMEE a. West Indies.

wild arsenic. The spotted wintergreen.

wild arum. The cuckoopint.

wild ash. The mountain ash Sorbus americana.

wild ass. Any of several plain-colored or nearly plain-colored animals of Asia and northeast Africa which in form closely resemble the domesticated ass. The kiang and onager are examples.

wild bachelor's-button. a The yellow milkwort. b See BACHELOR'S-BUTTON b.

wild balsam. = TOUCH-ME-NOT, n., 2 a.

wild balsam apple. A North American vine (Echinocystis lobata) somewhat like the true balsam apple but with spiny fruit.

wild banana. = PAPAW, 2 a.

wild barley. The wall barley Hordeum murinum.

wild basil. a An aromatic herb (Clinopodium vulgare) widely distributed in the United States, Europe, and Asia. It has capitate clusters of small pink-and-white flowers. b A weedy, tropical herb (Hyptis suaveolens) with small white flowers in dense axillary clusters.

wild bean. Any of various wild plants of the pea family, mostly species of Phaseolus, Apios, and Strophostyles.

wild bee. Any of numerous undomesticated social bees; esp., the domestic bee when escaped from domestication and having its nest in a hollow tree.

wild beet. a The sea beet Beta maritima. b The sea lavender. c The green amaranth Amaranthus retroflexus.

wild bergamot. A fragrant North American herb (Monarda fistulosa) having a terminal capitate cluster of rather large pink or purple flowers.

wild black cherry. = BLACK CHERRY b.

wild black currant. An unarmed North American shrub (Ribes americanum) with racemose, greenish-yellow flowers, and black, smooth fruit; — called also flowering currant.

wild bleeding heart. A weak, glaucous herb (Dicentra eximia) of the eastern United States, with finely divided leaves. It is often cultivated for its rose-pink, short-spurred, handsome flowers.

wild bluegrass. Any of several forage grasses of the genus Poa, esp. P. sandbergii, found in prairie regions of North America.

wild blue phlox. A showy North American herb (Phlox divaricata) often cultivated for its profusion of tubular, blue, faintly fragrant flowers.

wild boar. A wild hog (Sus scrofa) of continental Europe, southwestern Asia, and northern Africa, from which most domestic swine have been derived. Its hair is coarse and grizzled, and its tusks or canines of both jaws are often much enlarged. Various allied species, also called wild boar, inhabit southeastern Asia.

Wild Boar of Ar'dennes' (är'dĕn'). Guillaume de la Marck, a ferocious Belgian soldier in Louis XI's pay, beheaded in 1485. He is introduced into Scott's Quentin Durward.

wild'bore' (wīld'bōr'), n. [Origin uncert.] A woolen fabric for women's dresses, popular around 1800.

wild box. The box brier.

wild brier. Any uncultivated species of brier; specif.: a The dog rose. b The sweetbrier.

wild broom. Deerweed. Calif.

wild buckwheat. a The black bindweed (Bilderdykia convolvulus). b In California, Eriogonum fasciculatum. c Local, U. S. The heath aster.

wild bugloss. See LYCOPSIS.

wild burnet. The burnet Sanguisorba canadensis, of North America. See SANGUISORBA.

wild bush bean. An erect tropical herb (Phaseolus lathyroides) having red or purple flowers, and foliage often used as forage in warm regions; — called also phasemy.

wild cabbage. a The wild original of the cultivated cabbage. It is common near the seacoast in various parts of Europe. b A succulent herb (Caulanthus crassicaulis), family Brassicaceae, of the western United States, having edible foliage.

wild calla. a An arrow arum (Peltandra sagittaefolia) of the southern United States. b = WATER ARUM.

wild camomile. Any plant of the genus Matricaria, esp. M. chamomilla, the source of camomile.

wild canary. Local, U. S. a The American goldfinch. b The yellow warbler.

wild caper. a The caper spurge. b = PIN CHERRY a.

wild caraway. Either of two related North American herbs (Mesadenia atriplicifolia and Synosma suaveolens); — often called Indian plantain.

wild cardamom. A South African tree (Zanthoxylum capense) with compound leaves and greenish, paniculate flowers.

wild carrot. A Eurasian weed (Daucus carota), the original of the cultivated carrot and widely naturalized as a weed. Its root is acrid and unpleasant.

wild'cat' (wīld'kăt'), adj. 1. Not sound or safe; unreliable; irresponsible; — applied esp. to unsound business houses, enterprises, or methods; as, a wildcat bank, mine, scheme; wildcat currency, such as was issued by a wildcat bank (see WILDCAT BANK); wildcat insurance.
2. Designating any business, enterprise, promotion, or the like, which is considered outside the bounds of recognized or legitimate practice; as, wildcat breweries; wildcat brands of canned goods.
3. Started by a local union or small group of workers without authorization from responsible union officers or in violation of contract; as, a wildcat strike or walkout.

wild'cat', n., pl. WILDCATS (-kăts'), in sense 2 sometimes WILDCAT. See PLURAL, Note. Also wild cat, wild'-cat'.
1. A European native cat (Felis sylvestris), similar in color to the domestic tabby cat, but larger, stronger, and having a shorter, blunter tail. That it is the parent stock of domestic cats is doubtful.
2. Any of the small or medium-sized undomesticated cats, as a lynx.
3. A savage, quick-tempered, hard-fighting person.

wigd. Wigged. Ref. Sp. [-DOM.] wig'dom. See WIG, n., 3 b: VIHARA. wigeling, n. [AS. wig(e)lunc.] Sorcery. Obs. [GEON. wi'geon (wĭj'ŭn). Var. of WIDwig'ful, n. See -FUL. wigg (wig). ✝ 2d WIG.
wigg. Var. of 1st WIG. wig'gen or wig'gin (wĭg'ĭn), n. [Cf. WICKEN.] = ROWAN TREE a. Dial. wiggen tree. = WIGGEN. wig'gish, adj. See -ISH. — wig'gish·ness, n. wig'gld. Wiggled. Ref. Sp. wig'gle-wag'gle, v. i. & n. Intensive form of WIGGLE or WAGGLE. [GLE-WAGGLE.] wig'gle-wog'gle. Var. of WIGwig'gley, adj. Var. of WIGGLY. wig'gly-wag'gly, adj. Intensive form of WIGGLY or WAGGLY. wigher. ✝ WHICKER. [WITH.]
wight. ✝ WEIGHT, WHITE, WITE, mighte. ✝ WEIGHT.
wig'less, adj. See -LESS.
wig'let, n. Dim. of WIG. wig'like', adj. See -LIKE. wig'wagd'. Wigwagged. R. S.
wi·ha're (wĭ·hä'rā). Var. of wike. ✝ WICK.
Wi·ke'no. See HEILTSUK. wiking. ✝ VIKING.
wik'i·up'. Var. of WICKIUP.
wil. ✝ WHILE, WILE, WILL.
wil. Will. Ref. Sp.
Wil'bur·ite (wĭl'bĕr·ĭt), n. See FRIEND, n., 6. wild. ✝ WEALD, WIELD. wild'brain', n. = HAREBRAIN. Obs.

4. An unsound or unreliable business, promotion, or enterprise of any kind; as, in prosperous times securities of wildcats are easily floated.
5. A locomotive and tender running without cars; as, they sent out a wildcat to help haul the train up the grade. Local, U. S.
6. Naut. A drum or wheel on a windlass or capstan having in its circumference a deep groove with projections which engage the links of a chain cable as it passes, thus regulating the speed of the cable; — called also cable wheel.
7. Petroleum. Any well drilled for oil or gas in territory which is not known to be productive.

wild'cat' (wīld'kăt'), v. t. In petroleum exploration, to prospect and drill experimental wells in (some territory not known to be productive). — v. i. In railroading, to run, as a locomotive and tender, without cars.

wildcat bank. Before the enactment of the National Bank Act of 1863–64, a bank which issued notes in excess of its capacity to redeem them. Colloq., U. S.

wild catchfly. = WILD PINK a.

wild'cat'ter (wīld'kăt'ĕr), n. a One who drills wells in the hope of finding oil in territory not known to be an oil field. b One who promotes unsafe and unreliable enterprises; esp., one who sells stock in enterprises of this kind. — wild'cat'ting, n. & adj. All Colloq., U. S.

wildcat well. Petroleum. = WILDCAT, n., 7.

wild celandine. Jewelweed.

wild celery. a The tape grass. b In South Africa, the herb Peucedanum galbanum. See GALBANUM. c Australian celery.

wild cherry. a Any uncultivated cherry tree or its fruit, as in Europe the gean (Prunus avium) and in the United States the pin cherry P. pennsylvanica, the wild black cherry (Padus serotina), etc. b Bahamas. A tropical American shrub (Rhacoma crossopetalum), family Celastraceae; also, its edible red fruit. c The color vin rosé. — wild'-cher'ry (66), adj.

wild chervil. A European annual herb (Anthriscus vulgaris) with finely dissected leaves, white flowers, and beaked fruit; — called also bur chervil and bad man's porridge.

wild chestnut. a The African almond. b A South African tree (Calodendron capense), family Rutaceae, with panicles of handsome white flowers, for which it is sometimes cultivated; also, its edible black seed. c Phil. I. A tree (Castanopsis philippinensis), related to the true chestnut; also, its seed.

wild China tree. The soapberry Sapindus saponaria.

wild cicely. The wild chervil.

wild cinnamon. a See CANELLA, 2. b = BAYBERRY b.

wild clary. = WILD SAGE a.

wild clove. = BAYBERRY b.

wild coffee. U. S. a Feverroot. b The cascara buckthorn.

wild columbine. The columbine Aquilegia canadensis.

wild comfrey. A perennial herb (Cynoglossum virginianum) of the eastern United States, having large bristly leaves and small blue flowers.

wild corn. Dog plum.

wild cornel. The red dogwood Cornus sanguinea.

wild cotton. a Cotton grass. b An African tree (Ipomoea gerrardi) which yields Natal cotton. c See THURBERIA. d = INDIAN HEMP a.

wild crab. Also wild crab apple. The crab apple Malus coronaria.

wild crane's–bill. Either of the wild geraniums (Geranium maculatum and G. dissectum.

wild crocus. The pasqueflower.

wild cucumber. Any of various vines, as the squirting cucumber, the star cucumber, the wild balsam apple, etc.

wild cumin. An annual herb (Lagoecia cuminoides), family Ammiaceae, of southern Europe.

wild date. A Spanish bayonet (Yucca mohavensis) of southern California with edible fruit used by the Indians.

wild dilly. See 4th DILLY.

wild dog. Any of many wild canine animals, esp. one of those belonging to the genus Cuon (which see).

wild dove. The mourning dove.

wild duck. Any undomesticated duck; esp., in England, the mallard.

Wild Duck, The. A play (1884) by Ibsen.

wil'de·beest' (wĭl'dē·bēst'; vĭl'dē·bāst'), n.; pl. -BEESTS (-bēsts'; -bāsts'), sometimes -BEEST. See PLURAL, Note. [S. Afr. D., fr. D. wild wild + beeste beast.] A gnu.

wild'ed (wīl'dĕd; -dĭd; 119), adj. Become wild; escaped or returned to a wild state. Rare.

wild elder. The bristly sarsaparilla.

wild emmer. = WILD WHEAT, 1.

wil'der (wĭl'dĕr), v. t.; WIL'DERED (-dĕrd); WIL'DER·ING. [Prob. fr. wilderness; cf. Dan. for*vilde* to bewilder, ON. villr bewildered, villa to bewilder. See WILDERNESS, WILD; cf. BEWILDER.] To lead astray; to bewilder; perplex. Now Chiefly Poetic.

Long lost and wildered in the maze of fate. Pope.

— v. i. To stray; wander; also, Rare, of cultivated land, to go back to the wild; of civilized people, to degenerate toward barbarism.

wild'er·ing (wĭl'dĕr·ĭng), n. A wilding.

wil'der·ment (wĭl'dĕr·mĕnt), n. Bewilderment. Poetic.

Wil'der·muth's au'ri·cle or ear (vĭl'dĕr·mōōts). [After Hermann A. Wildermuth (b. 1852), Ger. neurologist.] Anat. A type of ear in which the antihelix is large and the helix bent downward.

wil'der·ness (wĭl'dĕr·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. [ME. wilderness, wildernesse, fr. wilderne wild, wilderness, fr. AS. wilddēoren, fr. wilddēor (after dēor deer, animal) wild beast, fr. wildor; cf. D. wildernis wilderness. See WILD.]
1. A tract of land, or a region, whether a forest or a wide barren plain, uncultivated and uninhabited by human beings; a wild; waste; hence, a pathless waste of any kind; as, a wilderness of sea.

Makes the mind the wilderness it is. Cowper.
The wat'ry wilderness yields no supply. Waller.

2. A part of a garden devoted to wild growth.
3. Quality or state of being wild; wildness. Obs.
4. A confusing multitude or mass; a great number or quantity; as, such a wilderness of things to see and do.

I would not have given it for a wilderness of monkeys. Shak.

Syn. — See DESERT.

wilderness area. An area of national forest land set aside by government for preservation of natural conditions, either for scientific or recreational purposes. U. S.

wild fennel. Horse fennel.

wild fig. a The caprifig. b In Florida, any of several wild species of Ficus, as F. aurea. c In the West Indies, a tree (Clusia flava) or its fig-shaped fruit.

wild'fire' (wīld'fīr'), n. 1. A sweeping and destructive conflagration.
2. a An inflammable composition very hard to quench when kindled; Greek fire; — now chiefly in the phrase, to spread like wildfire, to spread, or be diffused, rapidly; — said of news, a rumor, or the like.

Brimstone, pitch, wildfire . . . burn cruelly. Bacon.

b A combustible substance used in warfare, as for priming, for discharge against an enemy, etc.

A tinderbox, which I had made of the lock of one of the muskets, with some wildfire in the pan. Defoe.

3. Anything resembling or suggesting wildfire, as in unquenchable intensity, inclusiveness in action, etc.; as, the wildfire of his love consumed him; a wildfire of applause burst forth at the conclusion of the concert.
4. The ignis fatuus, and similar phosphorescent appearances.
5. = NEEDFIRE, 1.
6. A sort of thunderless lightning. Cf. HEAT LIGHTNING.
7. a Now Rare. Erysipelas or a similar disease. b A disease of sheep, attended with inflammation of the skin.
8. Coal Mining. Fire damp. Obs.
9. Plant Pathol. A destructive disease of tobacco caused by Phytomonas (syn. Pseudomonas) tabaca, producing small brown spots surrounded with light-colored areas; — so called because it spreads rapidly. The spots enlarge quickly, dry or rot, and fall out.

Wild'fire', Madge (măj wīld'fīr'). In Scott's Heart of Midlothian, a nickname of Margaret Murdochson, an insane gypsy girl.

wild flag. Any Australian plant of the genus Patersonia (family Iridaceae); also, its handsome blue or purple flower.

wild flax. a The gold-of-pleasure. b The toadflax Linaria vulgaris.

wild flower, or wild'flow'er (wīld'flou'ĕr), n. The flower of a wild or uncultivated plant; also, the plant itself. The term wild flower is not usually applied to the blossoms of flowering trees or shrubs.

wild'–flow'er·y, adj. Abounding in or covered with wild flowers.

wild forget–me–not. The bluet (Houstonia).

wild four–o'clock. A common umbrellawort (Allionia nyctaginea) of the central United States.

wild fowl, or wild'fowl' (wīld'foul'), n.; pl. -FOWL, -FOWLS (-foulz'). See PLURAL, Note. Wild game and water birds; now, esp., wild ducks and geese; also, one of these birds. — wild'–fowl'er, n. — wild'–fowl'ing, n. & adj.

wild foxglove. The downy false foxglove.

wild fuchsia. The California fuchsia Zauschneria californica.

wild garden. Hort. A garden in which colonies of hardy wild and garden plants are naturalized in positions where they will appear to be growing naturally. Hence, wild gardening.

wild garlic. Any of several species of the genus Allium; esp., the wild onion Allium vineale.

wild gas or gasoline. Any gasoline which is too volatile for commercial use.

wild gean. = GEAN, 1.

Wild Geese. Eng. Hist. Irish Jacobites who left Ireland after the abdication of James II and served in French armies on the Continent.

wild geranium. A common wild flower (Geranium maculatum) of eastern North America, with deeply parted leaves and rose-purple flowers; also, any of several closely related species of the genera Geranium and Erodium. See WILD FLOWERS, Plate.

wild germander. a The germander speedwell. b The common germander.

wild ginger. a A tropical Old World aromatic plant (Zingiber zerumbet) related to and like common ginger. b A North American perennial herb (Asarum canadense) having a pungent, ginger-flavored rootstock; — called also Indian ginger, heart snakeroot; also, any nearly allied species. See ASARUM. c In Australia, the perennial plant Alpinia coerulea, related to common ginger.

wild gladiole. The water lobelia.

wild goat. Any undomesticated goat of the genus Capra, in a broad sense including the ibexes.

wild goose. Any undomesticated goose; esp., in England, the graylag; in America, the Canada goose.

wild gooseberry. A common North American spiny shrub (Grossularia cynosbati) with racemose green flowers and bitter, bristly, green fruit; also, the fruit itself. Called also pasture gooseberry and dogberry.

wild'–goose' chase. a Obs. Also wild–goose race. A cross-country ride in which the leading horseman can set the course for all contestants so long as he can hold the lead. b A pursuit after something as unlikely to be caught as a wild goose; hence, a pursuit after something unattainable; a futile pursuit or chase.

wild–goose plum. One of a race of American plums referred to the species Prunus hortulana, but more probably resulting from a cross between P. americana and P. angustifolia. The varieties of this plum are best adapted to the South.

wild gourd. The calabazilla.

wild'grave' (wīld'grāv'), n. [G. wildgraf. See WILD; MARGRAVE. Cf. WALDGRAVE.] A waldgrave, or head forest keeper.

wild guelder–rose. The cranberry tree.

wild hazel. a The American hazel (Corylus americana). b Calif. = JOJOBA.

wild heat (of steel). A heat of molten steel which is boiling violently, and so, if poured, honeycombs the ingot with the contained gases.

wild hedgebur. The cleavers Galium aparine.

wild heliotrope. Any of various plants of the genus Phacelia having blue or purple flowers. Calif.

wild hemp. Hemp agrimony.

wild hippo. a The ipecac spurge. b The flowering spurge.

wild hoarhound. Any of several herbs of the genus Eupatorium, esp. E. rotundifolium, E. verbenaefolium, etc.; — more often called thoroughwort.

wild holly. = MOUNTAIN HOLLY a.

wild hollyhock. Any of several mallows, resembling the common hollyhock, mostly of the genera Callirhoë, Sidalcea, and Phymosia, esp. the handsome pink-flowered P. rivularis of central North America.

wild honey. Honey made by wild bees.

wild honeysuckle. a A showy pink-flowered shrub (Azalea nudiflora) of eastern North America, its slightly irregular flowers expanding with or before the leaves; — called also pinkster flower. b Tex. = SCARLET GAURA.

wild hop. The common bryony.

wild horse. a Any undomesticated horse, as Przhevalski's horse. b A domestic horse in the natural or feral state.

Wild Hunt. In European folklore, a nighttime chase or rushing of a rout of spectral hunters through the wilderness or athwart the sky; — called also the Furious Host. The leader, the Wild Huntsman, was probably originally Odin, or Woden, god of the wind and of the dead, his attendants being the souls of the dead. In medieval times, however, the story is often attached to other legendary personages. Cf. HOLDA.

wild hyacinth. a A North American bulbous plant (Camassia esculenta) with linear basal leaves and white racemose flowers. b The wood hyacinth.

wild hydrangea. A North American shrub (Hydrangea arborescens) with white flowers, cultivated for ornament.

wild hyssop. The blue vervain.

wild indigo. a Any American plant of the genus Baptisia; esp., a tumbleweed (B. tinctoria) having bright-yellow flowers and trifoliolate leaves with cuneate leaflets, and B. australis, called also blue false indigo, of the southeastern United States. b The false indigo (Amorpha). c The bastard indigo Tephrosia purpurea, which yields a yellow dye.

wild'ing (wīl'dĭng), n. 1. a A wild or uncultivated plant of natural origin and growth; esp., a wild apple or crabapple tree; also, the fruit of such a plant. b A cultivated plant sprung up spontaneously; an escape.
2. Hence, figuratively, a variant from the mass of persons or things.

The 17th century in Germany . . . producing nothing but . . . wildings like Grimmelshausen. Saintsbury.

wild'ing, adj. Not tame, domesticated, or cultivated; wild.

The wilding bee. Bryant.

wild ipecac. a The ipecac spurge. b Feverroot.

wild iris. The common iris. See BLUE FLAG a.

wild Irishman. The tumatakuru. New Zealand.

wild'ish (wīl'dĭsh), adj. Somewhat wild. — wild'ish·ly, adv. — wild'ish·ness, n.

wild ivy. An Australian woody vine (Platylobium triangulare), family Fabaceae, having ivylike leaves, yellow flowers, and broad flat pods. It is often cultivated. Australia.

wild jalap. = MANROOT a.

wild jasmine. The wood anemone Anemone quinquefolia.

wild Job's–tears. The Virginia false gromwell.

wild kale. Charlock.

wild land. Land not cultivated, or unfit for cultivation; hence, waste lands; desert. wild lantana. Any of various American trailing plants of the genus Abronia, with flowers resembling those of Lantana.

wild leek. An American species of Allium (A. tricoccum) having large oblong elliptical leaves and greenish-white flowers.

wild lemon. a U. S. = MAY APPLE a. b In Australia: (1) Any of several shrubs of the genus Plectronia (family Rubiaceae), as P. oleifolia; — in allusion to the yellow fruit. (2) A species of caper (Capparis nobilis) c In New Zealand, the tarata.

wild lettuce. a Any uncultivated species of lettuce which becomes a weed; specif., the prickly lettuce. b A tall North American herb (Lactuca canadensis) resembling the prickly lettuce, but without prickles. c = FALSE WINTERGREEN.

wild licorice. a A North American herb (Glycyrrhiza lepidota) closely related to the true licorice and having a root with similar properties; — called also American licorice. b The Indian licorice. c Any of several other plants with sweetish roots, as in the United States either of two bedstraws (Galium circaezans and G. lanceolatum) and in Australia a germander (Teucrium corymbosum). d Buttonbush.

wildlife, n. = LIFE, n., 8 c.

wild lilac. Any shrub of the genus Ceanothus. Calif.

wild lily of the valley. U. S. a The false lily of the valley. b The white adder's-tongue. c The shinleaf Pyrola elliptica.

wild lime. a The mountain plum. b = 1st COLIMA. c The Ogeechee lime.

wild'ling (wīld'lĭng), n. [wild, adj. + 1st -ling.] a A wild flower or plant. b A wild animal.

As a caught wildling covers trap and chain. L. McLeod.

wild lupine. An erect herb (Lupinus perennis) of eastern and central North America, with palmately compound leaves and showy racemose blue flowers; — called also old-maid's-bonnet and Indian beet.

wild madder. a = MADDER, 1 & 2. b Either of two species of bedstraw: (1) The European Galium mollugo, with ample panicles of small white flowers; — called also infant's-breath, white bedstraw. (2) The American G. tinctorium, with terminal flowers in clusters of two or three.

wild mallow. = WILD HOLLYHOCK. See also MALLOW.

wild man. a An uncivilized man; a savage; also, a man of fierce and ungovernable character. b Also wild man of the woods. An orangutan. c Slang. An independent or radical, esp. in politics.

wild mandrake. a The enchanter's nightshade Circaea lutetiana. b = MAY APPLE a.

wild mango. The hog plum (Spondias).

wild mangosteen. a The sandal tree Sandoricum koetjape; also, its large edible acid fruit. Often called santol. b An East Indian date plum (Diospyros peregrina).

wild mare. Obs. a A nightmare. b A seesaw.

wild marigold. a The pot marigold. b An annual aromatic herb (Matricaria matricarioides) of the Pacific coast of North America, having dissected leaves and rayless yellow flowers. It is widely naturalized as a weed.

wild marjoram. A Eurasian, perennial herb (Origanum vulgare) resembling sweet marjoram, but less aromatic.

wild masterwort. Goutweed.

wild millet. a = MILLET GRASS a. b = SLOUGH GRASS a. c = DURRA.

wild mint. Any wild plant of the Lamiaceae; specif., pennyroyal.

wild morning–glory. Hedge bindweed.

wild mulberry. The yawweed. W. Ind.

wild musk. Alfilaria.

wild mustard. The charlock.

wild nard. The Celtic nard.

wild navew. The rutabaga (Brassica napobrassica). wild'ness, n. 1. Quality or state of being wild, in any sense.

2. A wild, or waste, place. Obs.

wild nettle. = ROMAN NETTLE.

---

wilde, adj. [AS.] Powerful. Obs wil'dered·ly (wĭl'dĕrd·lĭ), adv. of wildered, past. part. wil'dern, n. [ME. wilderne.] A wilderness. Obs. — adj. Wild; uncultivated. Obs. wild'hede, n. [See -HEAD.] Wildness. Obs. wild'like', adj. See -LIKE. wild'ly, adv. of WILD.
wild man of the woods. See WILD MAN b.

---

wild nutmeg. Macassar nutmeg.

wild oat or oats. 1. a Any wild grass of the genus Avena, esp. the European A. fatua, a common weed in meadows and pastures. b The tall meadow oat. c In Australia, the seaside brome grass (see GRASS, Table). d Any plant of the genus Uvularia.

Wild Oat (Avena fatua). 1 Whole Plant, much reduced; 2 Panicle; 3 Single Spikelet; 4 Lemma or Scale, nat. size.

2. pl. Youthful escapades; the indiscretions and peccadilloes ascribed to youthful exuberance of spirits; as, he settled down to sedate middle life with his wild oats soon forgotten; to sow one's wild oats.

wild oat grass. = WOOD GRASS a.

wild′-oat′ kick′er. Agric. Mach. A kind of grain cleaner in which the sieve, or riddle, is so constructed that the wheat kernels pass through an angle in the throat, while the oats, being too long to pass through this angle, are kicked backward in the direction of the throw of the riddle and are eventually discharged from the machine.

wild okra. a Any plant of the genus Malachra (family Malvaceae), esp. M. capitata, yielding a fiber. b Indian mallow.

wild oleander. Swamp loosestrife.

wild oleaster. Buffalo berry.

wild olive. a = OLEASTER b. b Any of many other trees more or less like the olive, or having olivelike fruit, as, in the United States, the tupelo gum, the silver bell, devilwood, and the mastic tree Sideroxylon mastichodendron; in Europe, the oleaster (Elaeagnus angustifolia) and related trees or shrubs; in the West Indies, the Java almond, the mountain plum, etc.; in India, the trees Putranjiva roxburghii (family Euphorbiaceae) and Elaeocarpus serratus, often called Molucca berry.

wild onion. a Any of several plants of the genus Allium, as A. cernuum, the nodding onion, A. vineale, the crow, or wild, garlic, etc. b Western U. S. Death camas. c Australia. The plant Bulbine semibarbata (family Liliaceae).

wild opium. = WILD LETTUCE b.

wild orach. A common orach (Atriplex hastata), often a weed in gardens.

wild orange. a The trifoliate orange. b Southern U. S. The cherry laurel Laurocerasus caroliniana. c Australia. = WILD LEMON b (1). d The West Indian tree Drypetes glauca (family Euphorbiaceae). e = HERCULES′-CLUB a (1). f A tree (Gaertnera vaginata), family Loganiaceae, of the island of Réunion. Its seeds, destitute of caffeine, are known as mussaenda coffee. g Any orange growing wild (sense 2).

wild orange lily. The wood lily Lilium philadelphicum.

wild pansy. A common European herb (Viola tricolor) cultivated for centuries as the Johnny-jump-up or heartsease. It has rounded basal leaves and pinnately parted stem leaves. Its short-spurred flowers are prevailingly blue or purple, mixed with white and yellow. From it most of the common garden pansies are derived. See PANSY.

wild parsley. Any of numerous wild plants of the carrot family with parsleylike foliage.

wild parsnip. The wild original form of the cultivated parsnip, found as a weed in both Europe and America. Its root is acrid and bitter.

wild passionflower. The maypop.

wild pea. Any of several plants, usually vines, of the pea family (Fabaceae), esp. of the genera Lathyrus, Vicia, Strophostyles, etc.

wild peach. The cherry laurel Laurocerasus caroliniana. Southern U. S.

wild peanut. = EARTHPEA a.

wild pear. 1. Any shrub of the genus Aronia. Local, U. S. 2. A South American timber tree (Clethra tinifolia) resembling the pear tree in habit and foliage.

wild pellitory. = SNEEZEWORT b.

wild pennyroyal. Any of several low-growing aromatic herbs of the mint family (Lamiaceae), esp. of the genera Mentha, Satureia, etc.

wild pepper. a A tropical Old World shrub (Vitex trifolia) with pleasantly aromatic foliage. The seeds are used medicinally. b Dial. Eng. Yarrow. c Jack-in-the-pulpit.

wild peppergrass. = PEPPERGRASS a.

wild pieplant. A dock (Rumex hymenosepalus) found from Texas to California. Its acid, juicy stems are used as a substitute for the garden rhubarb.

wild pigeon. Any undomesticated pigeon; esp., in Great Britain, the rock dove; in America, the now extinct passenger pigeon.

wild pine. a The Scotch pine. b In the West Indies, any of various plants of the pineapple family (Bromeliaceae), esp. the pinguin.

wild pineapple. a The pinguin. b Either of two plants of the genus Ananas (A. bracteata and A. magdalenae). wild pink. a Any American catchfly of the genus Silene, esp. S. pennsylvanica of the eastern United States, having pale-pink flowers. b The orchid Arethusa bulbosa. c Any of several pinks, as the Deptford pink, growing wild (sense 2).

wild plantain. A tropical American plant (Heliconia bihai) much like the banana, but having brilliant-orange flowers with scarlet sheaths. Its leaves are used in the West Indies as coverings for packages.

wild plum. a Any uncultivated species of plum See PLUM, 1; PRUNUS. b The wild prune. c The black apple. d The wild red plum.

wild pomegranate. An Australian caper tree (Capparis mitchelli).

wild poppy. a The corn poppy. b The prickly poppy Argemone mexicana.

wild potato. a The manroot Ipomoea pandurata. b A tropical American plant (Ipomoea fastigiata) thought by some to be the original of the sweet potato. c In the southern United States, the tuber of an arrowhead (Sagittaria platyphylla), the food of ducks; — called also duck potato. d The spring beauty Claytonia virginica.

wild privet. The privet andromeda.

wild prune. A South African tree (Pappea capensis) having hard wood used for furniture; also, its edible, red, cherrylike fruit.

wild pumpkin. Calabazilla.

wild purslane. The devil's-milk, which is prostrate like purslane.

wild quinine. The American feverfew.

wild radish. Any of several plants of the genus Raphanus, esp. R. raphanistrum, the jointed charlock.

wild raisin. The sheepberry Viburnum lentago. U. S.

wild rape. Wild radish.

wild red cherry. = PIN CHERRY a.

wild red currant. In South Africa, any of several shrubs of the genus Rhus, esp. R. laevigata.

wild red lily. The wood lily Lilium philadelphicum.

wild red morning-glory. The star ipomoea.

wild red plum. A common North American tree (Prunus americana); also, its edible, usually red, rather bitter fruit.

wild red raspberry. The red raspberry Rubus idaeus.

wild rice. a A tall aquatic North American perennial grass (Zizania aquatica) with ample panicles bearing pistillate flowers above and staminate below. The grain is used for food, formerly esp. by the Indians, but now also gathered and marketed. b A similar Asiatic species (Z. latifolia). c Shama millet.

wild rocket. a The plant Cleome serrulata. See CLEOME. b = HEDGE MUSTARD a.

wild rose. 1. Any of various roses growing without cultivation, as the sweetbrier, the swamp rose (Rosa carolina), and many others in the North Temperate Zone. It is the State flower of New York, North Dakota, and Iowa. See STATE FLOWER, Plate.

2. A color, red in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. It is of lower saturation and higher brilliance than damask and laurel pink. Cf. COLOR.

wild rosemary. a The moorwort. b The marsh tea. c A small Australian shrub (Cassinia laevis), family Carduaceae.

wild rubber. Rubber derived from uncultivated trees, esp. that from Hevea brasiliensis in Brazil, as distinguished from that derived from plantation trees. See PARÁ RUBBER; RUBBER, n., 3.

wild rye. Any of several grasses of the genus Elymus.

wild saffron. An endemic shrub (Bumelia loranthifolia) of the Bahama Islands; also, its edible, nearly globose, black fruit.

wild sage. a A Eurasian sage (Salvia verbenaca), naturalized in North America, having blue flowers and verbenalike foliage; — called also wild clary, vervain sage, and eyeseed. b Western U. S. The sagebrush. c Local, U. S. Boneset. d Red sage.

wild sago. The coontie.

wild sapodilla. = 4th DILLY.

wild sarsaparilla. A common North American perennial herb (Aralia nudicaulis), having long-stalked basal ternate leaves with pinnately 3–5-foliolate divisions. The greenish flowers are borne usually in three simple umbels. The aromatic roots are used as a substitute for sarsaparilla.

wild scammony. = MANROOT a.

wild senna. A North American perennial herb (Cassia marilandica) the leaves of which are used medicinally, like those of the official senna.

wild sensitive plant. Any herb of the genus Chamaecrista; — often called sensitive pea (which see).

wild seringa. A South African shrub or small tree (Burkea africana), family Caesalpiniaceae, with pinnate leaves, and small, racemose flowers. It is common in the veld.

wild service tree. Also wild service. See 1st SERVICE a.

wild sheep. Any undomesticated sheep, as the argali, the mouflon, and the bighorn.

wild shot. See SHOT, n., 17.

wild silk. Silk furnished by the larvae of wild silkworms. See SILK, SILKWORM, TUSSAH.

wild silkworm. Any of various silkworms, which have not been domesticated, esp. certain Asiatic species, as the tussah, yamamai, pernyi, and ailanthus, silkworms, whose silk is commercially valuable.

wild smoke tree. The American smoke tree (Cotinus americanus). See SMOKE TREE.

wild snakeroot. = GROUND IVY a.

wild snowball. The New Jersey tea; — so called from its clusters of small white flowers.

wild Spaniard. = SPANIARD, n., 3. See SPEAR GRASS, 2 b.

wild spikenard. a The false spikenard Smilacina racemosa. b Wild sarsaparilla.

wild spinach. Any of several plants of the genus Chenopodium, as C. album and C. bonus-henricus, sometimes used as substitutes for spinach.

wild squill. = WILD HYACINTH a.

wild steel. Steel in, or made from, a wild heat. See WILD HEAT.

wild stonecrop. A succulent herb (Sedum ternatum) of rocky woods in the eastern United States, often cultivated for its cymose, white flowers.

wild strawberry. a Any uncultivated plant of the genus Fragaria; specif., the European F. vesca, naturalized, or perhaps native, in North America, having luscious red or, rarely, white fruit. It is one of the species used in breeding the common garden strawberry. b Also, the fruit of any of these plants wild succory. Chicory.

wild sunflower. a Any of several uncultivated plants of the genus Helianthus, esp. H. decapetalus, the river sunflower. They are tall herbs with yellow flowers. See HELIANTHUS. b Elecampane.

wild swan. Any swan except the mute or tame swan; esp., the whooping swan.

wild sweet pea. = CATGUT, n., 4.

wild sweet potato. a The manroot Ipomoea pandurata. b The sand vine.

wild sweet William. a A species of phlox (Phlox maculata) of the eastern United States, often cultivated for its blue or purple flowers. b The common soapwort wild syringa. The syringa Philadelphus lewisii. See SYRINGA, n., 2 wild tamarind. Any of several West Indian trees somewhat like the tamarind, as Lysiloma bahamensis, species of Pithecolobium, etc.

wild tansy. a The common ragweed (Ambrosia elatior). b = SILVERWEED a.

wild tare. The bush vetch.

wild tea. The lead plant Amorpha canescens.

wild teasel. A Eurasian herb (Dipsacus sylvestris) resembling fuller's teasel, and naturalized in the United States.

wild thimble. The plant Campanula rotundifolia. See BLUEBELL a. U. S.

wild thyme. A species of thyme (Thymus serpyllum) common on banks and hillsides in Europe.

wild thyme oil. See OIL, Table.

wild timothy. See GRASS, Table.

wild tobacco. a Any of several plants of the genus Nicotiana; as: (1) A shrubby poisonous South American herb (N. glauca) widely naturalized; — called also tree tobacco and marijuana. (2) The six-o'clock. (3) An herb (N. rustica) of eastern North America, formerly cultivated by the Indians. b A tropical shrub (Solanum verbascifolium) with white flowers and yellow fruit. c A tropical American herb (Pluchea odorata) with aromatic foliage and pink flowers. d The Indian tobacco Lobelia inflata.

wild tomato. = BLOODBERRY.

wild tuberose. One of the ladies'-tresses (Spiranthes cernua).

wild tulip. 1. In England: a The native European tulip Tulipa sylvestris. b Dial. The guinea-hen flower

2. In California, the Mariposa lily.

wild turkey. See TURKEY.

wild turnip. a The rutabaga (Brassica napobrassica). b The jack-in-the-pulpit.

wild unction. A West Indian woody vine (Urechites lutea), family Apocynaceae, found also in Florida. Its leaves yield urechitin.

wild vanilla. A perennial herb (Trilisa odoratissima) of the southeastern United States, the leaves of which have the fragrance of vanilla and are sometimes mixed with tobacco to give aroma.

wild vetch. The plant Hosackia americana.

wild vine. Any vine that grows wild; specif.: a Eng. The bryony or the black bryony. b U. S. The fox grape Vitis labrusca.

wild West. The western United States in its frontier and lawless period; — often used attributively; as, wild West novel, wild West show.

wild wheat. 1. A type of wheat (Triticum dicoccum dicoccoides) found wild in Palestine, thought by some to be the prototype of cultivated wheat. It has a brittle rachis with the joints separating at maturity, and stiff glumes holding the kernels very tightly. Called also wi-emmer.

2. = GOAT GRASS.

wild′-wil′liams (wīld′wĭl′yăms), n. The ragged robin. Dial. Eng.

wild′wind′ (wīld′wĭnd′), n. A hurricane.

wild wisteria. = GROUNDNUT, 2 a.

wild woad. Dyer's rocket.

wild′wood′ (wīld′wŏŏd′), n. A wild or unfrequented wood.

wild woodbine. a The Virginia creeper. b The Carolina jessamine.

wild wormwood. The bastard feverfew.

wild yam. a Any of various uncultivated species of yam (Dioscorea), as D. paniculata of eastern North America. b An Australian and Tasmanian orchid (Gastrodia sesamoides). See NATIVE POTATO a. c = WAW-WAW.

wild yeast. Any yeast as it occurs in nature.

wild yellow lily. The meadow lily.

wile (wīl), n. [ME. wile, wil, prob. fr. ONF. var. of OF. guile, fr. AS. wigle divination, sorcery; akin to E. WITCH. Cf. GUILE.] 1. A trick or stratagem intended to ensnare or deceive; a sly artifice; also, loosely, a beguiling or playful trick; as, coquettish wiles.

Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the Devil. Eph. vi. 11.

2. Trickery; deceit; guile; as, a man of wile and subtlety.

Syn. — See ARTIFICE.

wile, v. t.; WILED (wīld); WIL′ING (wī′lĭng). 1. To lure by or as by a magic spell; to entice; beguile; allure.

Intensity of purpose, which is so often wiled out of him by the spells of the South. Mrs. Humphry Ward.

Say, whence is yond warlow with his wand
That thus would wile our folk away? Towneley Plays.

2. To practice artifice upon; to deceive. Obs.

3. [Confused with while.] To while; to pass or spend pleasurably; — often with away.

Wiled, not untaught, the silent time away. Shelley.

wile (wīl). Scot. var. of WALE, choice, choose.

Wil′fley ta′ble (wĭl′fĭl). Ore Dressing. A type of sand table, used for concentrating ores. It separates heavy mineral particles from lighter gangue by means of longitudinal riffles impeding the downward flow and a horizontal reciprocating motion carrying the heavy particles off the end of the table; — so called after the inventor.

Wil′fred (wĭl′frĕd; -frĭd; 119), Wil′frid (-frĭd), n. [AS. Wilfridh, Wilferdh, OG. Wilfred, Willifrid. See 1st WILL; FRITH peace.] Masculine proper name.

wil′ga (wĭl′gȧ), n. [Native name in New South Wales.] Any Australian tree of the genus Geijera (family Rutaceae), esp. G. parviflora with aromatic hard wood.

wil′gers (wĭl′gĕrz), n. [Dial. var. of WILLOW.] The osier Salix viminalis.

Wil′hel·mi′na (wĭl′hĕl·mē′nȧ; wĭl′ĕ·mē′-), n. [G. Wilhelmine, fr. Wilhelm William. See WILLIAM.] Fem. prop. name. F. Guillelmine (gē′yĕl′mēn′), Guillemette (-yĕ·mĕt′), Wilhelmine (vē′lĕl′mēn′); It. Guglielma (gōōl·yĕl′·mä); Sp. Guillelmina (gēl′yĕl·mē′nä; 170); G. Wilhelmine (vĭl′hĕl·mē′nĕ). — Dim. Wil′mett, Wil′mot, Mina (mē′nȧ), Minella (mĭ·nĕl′ȧ).

Wil′helm Meis′ter (vĭl′hĕlm mīs′tĕr). The usual short title and hero of Goethe's Wilhelm Meister's Apprenticeship (1795–96) and Wilhelm Meister's Travels (1821), which together reveal the hero's mental and moral development. Meister is emotional, speculative, and critical, ever striving for the harmonious development of his mind, and with exalted ideas of reforming the German stage. His love troubles finally end in a permanent attachment, and he finds happiness in a life of useful activity. The character is in large part a portrayal of the author's own development.

Wil′helm·stras′se (vĭl′hĕlm·shträs′ĕ), n. [G., lit., Wilhelm's or William's, street.] A street in the central part of Berlin, Germany, running south from Unter den Linden to the Belle Alliance Platz, on which are many government offices, including the foreign office; hence, figuratively, the German Foreign Office or its policies.

wil′ke·ite (wĭl′kē·īt), n. [After R. M. Wilke, Am. mineral collector.] Mineral. A member of the apatite group containing calcium silicate, carbonate, sulphate, and oxide, in addition to calcium phosphate. See APATITE.

wild′ren, adj. [ME. See WILDERNESS.] Wild. Obs.

wild′ship, n. Wildness. Obs.

wild′some. Var. of WILSOME.

wile. † VILE, WALE, WEEL, WHILE, WILL.

wile′ful, adj. See -FUL.

wile′less, adj. See -LESS.

wile′ly. adj. = WILY, adj. Obs.

wile′proof′ (66), adj. See -PROOF.

wil′ful, wil′ful·ly, wil′ful·ness. Vars. of WILLFUL, etc.

wil′ful·hed, n. Wilfulness. Obs.

wil′hede, n. [ME. wylhede. See WILL, n.; -HEAD.] Will. Obs.

Wil′helm (vĭl′hĕlm), n. [G.] = WILLIAM a.

Wil′hel·mi′ne (vĭl′hĕl·mē′nĕ), n. = WILHELMINA. [TELL.]

Wil′helm Tell. See WILLIAM wiliecoat. † WYLIECOAT.

wil′i·ly (wĭl′ĭ·lĭ), adv. of WILY.

wil′i·ness, n. See -NESS.

wilk (wĭlk). Dial. Eng. of WELK, v.

wilk. Var. of WHELK.

wilk. † WHICH.

wil′kin, n. Obs. dim. of WILLIAM.

Wil′kins Mi·caw′ber, Mr. See MICAWBER, MR. WILKINS.

Wil'kin·son (wĭl'kĭn·sŭn; -s'n), n. Angling. An artificial salmon fly with wings of a combination of teal and peacock wing tippets, golden pheasant tail, red, yellow, and black swan feathers, mallard feathers, and topping, and with silver tinsel body and no hackle.

will (wĭl), n. [ME. will, wille, wil, wile, fr. AS. willa, will; akin to OFris. willa, OS. willio, D. wil, G. wille, ON. vili, Dan. villie, Sw. vilja, Goth. wilja. See WILL, v. auxiliary.] 1. Wish or desire; specif.: a Inclination; pleasure, either a state or an object of desire.

My poverty, but not my will, consents. Shak.

b Appetite or passion; fleshly or carnal desire.

His taste delicious, in digestion souring, Devours his will, that lived by foul devouring. Shak.

c Purpose; determination; choice; intention.

2. What is wished or desired by another; esp., the choice or determination of one who has authority; discretionary pleasure. Hence, a request, command, or decree.

Thy will be done. Matt. vi. 10.
Our prayers should be according to the will of God. Law.
The mariner hath his will. Coleridge.

3. Power coupled with desire or intention; specif.: a Arbitrary disposal; power to control, dispose, or determine.

Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies. Ps. xxvii. 12.

b Power of controlling one's actions or emotions; self-control; as, the will to endure; a man of iron will.

4. The act or experience of willing; specif.: a The settlement of mental uncertainty or indecision; choice or decision of a mental issue; a volition (in sense 2).

"Will" . . . is frequently substituted for "volition," as when I say that my hand moves in obedience to my will. Stewart.

b The total conscious process involved in effecting a decision; desire, struggle, and decision, viewed as a single mental act.

5. The power of choosing; also, the power of choosing and of acting in accordance with choice; as, freedom of the will; sometimes, in a broader sense, a disposition to act according to certain principles, or to conform, in conduct and thought, to general or ideal ends; as, the will to power, success; the will to win; the will to agree; the will to live, to do.

6. Law. The legal declaration of a person's mind as to the manner in which he would have his property or estate disposed of after his death; the written instrument, legally executed, by which a man makes disposition of his estate, to take effect after his death. The term testament, originally a Roman and Civil law term, is often now used as synonymous with will. In English law the will developed from the early post-obit gift, and for a time (about the 12th century) was limited (except in case of burgage tenements) to disposition of chattels (which, in the absence of a will, fell into the hands of the church to administer for the good of the dead man's soul), not primarily to transmit the inheritance, but to provide for the welfare of his soul and for his burial. A will or testament may be nuncupative (oral) or written (see TESTAMENT, 2). Orig. an oral will might consist of any authenticated declaration by the deceased on his deathbed of his wish as to the disposition of his goods, but now such a will is valid in English law only under exceptional conditions (see NUNCUPATIVE WILL b), a written will duly authenticated by witnesses and sealed being in general the only valid form. In England the restriction on the disposition of land by will was temporarily obviated by creating a use, and was largely removed by the Statute of Wills (32 Hen. VIII) and later by abolition of feudal tenures (by 12 Chas. II). In the United States in general any form of property may be disposed of by will.

7. Philos. & Historical Psychol. a In early Greek conceptions, wish; willingness; willing intention; — still found in phrases such as the will to believe. b According to Aristotle, the Scholastics, and others, rational choice as distinguished esp. from instinctive or purely natural desires; choice governing action, belief, or the like, in accordance with what the individual reason holds as good or bad. In this sense, will is inoperative in the feeble-minded, the intoxicated, and the like.

It is the will that moves the intellect to action, and it is the element of will in the act of faith that makes faith meritorious. Free will is the proximate cause of moral evil. Wm. Turner.

c A power, or so-called faculty, of determining action, esp. in accordance with ideal motives, principles, or the like Appetite is the will's solicitor, and the will is appetite's controller; what we covet according to the one, by the other, we often reject. Hooker.

The will is plainly that by which the mind chooses anything. J. Edwards.
His will and judgment at continual strife. Cowper.

d With Fichte, Schopenhauer, and others, an overindividual and transcendent reality, conceived as a metaphysical reality of which individual wills are particular and partial manifestations. See VOLUNTARISM, 2. e Conation or action directed towards a goal, especially when the goal is clearly known in advance and when effort is required to overcome obstacles or contrary desires.

8. Scots Law. That part of a summons or other signet letter expressing its will or command, beginning "Our will is."

Syn. — WILL, VOLITION are sometimes interchangeable. But in ordinary usage (for technical distinctions see defs.) WILL commonly denotes the power or faculty of willing or choosing, VOLITION, the exercise of that power, or the act; as, "that iron will" (Tennyson); "Attention is the first and fundamental thing in volition" (W. James).

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

will-commanding, adj. willmaker will-strong will-fraught willmaking

— after one's will. According to one's choice or purpose; as one wishes. — against one's will. Against one's wish or intention. — at will. As one wishes; as it pleases or suits oneself. — one's own sweet will. One's own wish, desire, or intention. — with a will. With willingness and zeal; earnestly; heartily.

will (wĭl), v.; WILLED (wĭld); WILL'ING. Indic. present, I will, thou willest, he wills or willeth; we, you, they will. [AS. willian. See WILL, n.] Transitive: 1. To wish or long for; to desire. Archaic.

'T is a withered pear; will you anything with it? Shak.

2. To enjoin or command; to direct; order. Obs.

They willed me say so, madam. Shak.

3. To form a distinct volition of; to determine by an act of choice; hence, to ordain; decree.

Two things he [God] willeth, that we should be good, and that we should be happy. Barrow.
To will an aggressive war is a crime. John Burroughs.

4. To influence by one's will, as through hypnotism; as, he willed her to raise her arm; she willed herself to sleep.

5. To give or direct the disposal of by will or testament; to bequeath; devise; as, to will one's estate to a son; also, to order or direct by testament; as, he willed that his estate should be divided among his children.

—, Intransitive: To exercise volition; to choose; decide; determine; decree.

At Winchester he lies, so himself willed. Robert of Brunne.

will (wĭl; 71), v. t. & auxiliary; pres. ind., sing., 1st & 3d pers. WILL, 2d WILT, pl. WILL; past tense WOULD; past part. (Obs.) WOLD, WOULD. Infinitive and imperative lacking. [ME. willen, pret. wolde, fr. AS. willan, pres. ind., 1st pers. wille, 2d pers. wilt, 3d pers. wil(l)e, pret. wolde; akin to OS. willian, OFris. willa, D. willen, G. wollen, OHG. wollan, wellan, ON. & Sw. vilja, Dan. ville, Goth. wiljan, Oslav, voliti, L. velle to wish, volo I wish, Skr. vṛṇóti, vṛṇāti, he chooses, desires. Cf. VOLUNTARY, VOLUPTUOUS, WALE choice, WELCOME, WELL, adv.] 1. As verb transitive: Wish; desire; incline to have; — now chiefly in the form would (which see).

A wife as of herself no thing ne sholde [should] Wille in effect, but as her husband wolde [would]. Chaucer.
Caleb said unto her, What wilt thou? Judg. i. 1.

2. As an auxiliary verb followed by the infinitive without to (see also SHALL, 2; WOULD): a Am (is, are, etc.) willing or desirous to, or, emphatically, determined to; choose to. Hence, simply, am (is, are, etc.) to; — forming future-tense phrases. b Am (is, are, etc.) accustomed to; have a practice or habit to.

They will go to Sunday schools, through storms. . . .
They will stand behind a table at a fair all day. O. W. Holmes.

c Can; as, the word will bear that construction; a square peg will not fit a round hole.

☞ Sometimes, esp. in dialect, will and its verb are used with the force merely of the simple verb; as in, I 'm thinking this will be [is] your birthday.

—, Intransitive: To be willing; to be inclined or disposed; to be pleased; to wish; desire.

And behold, there came a leper and worshiped him, saying, Lord, if thou wil, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus . . . touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. Matt. viii. 2, 3.

☞ This word has been confused with 2d will, v. i., to choose, which, unlike this, is entirely of the weak conjugation.

— will I, nill I, or will ye, nill ye, or will he, nill he. [See NILL, v. t.] Whether I, you, or he, will it or not; hence, without choice; compulsorily; — sometimes corrupted into willy-nilly. "If I must take service willy-nilly." J. H. Newman. "Land for all who would till it, and reading and writing will ye, nill ye." Lowell.

Syn. — See SHALL, v. t., 2 a; cf. MAY, OUGHT.

will, v. i. [From refl. of ON. villa to bewilder, fr. villr bewildered. See WILL, adj.] To wander; to be lost; to go astray. Obs. exc. Shet.

will (wĭl), adj. & adv. [ON. villr. See WILD.] Astray; bewildered; at a loss. Now Dial.

Will (wĭl) n. Dim. of WILLIAM.

will'a·ble (wĭl'ȧ·b'l), adj. That may be willed, wished, determined by will etc.

Wil'lans's line (wĭl'ăn·zĭz). [After P. W. Willans, Eng. steam-engine expert.] Steam Engines. A curve, plotted from Cartesian co-ordinates, having as ordinates the total steam consumed by an engine per hour and as abscissae the corresponding horsepowers (indicated, brake, or electric). When the horsepower is varied by altering the initial steam pressure without changing the cutoff, this curve is sensibly a straight line passing above the origin. The equation of this straight line is called Willans's law.

willed (wĭld), adj. Having a will; — chiefly in composition; as, strong-willed; weak-willed. — willed'ness, n.

wil'lem·ite (wĭl'ĕm·īt), n. [After Willem I, king of the Netherlands.] Mineral. Native zinc orthosilicate, Zn_2SiO_4, occurring in hexagonal prisms and also in massive or granular forms, and varying in color from white or greenish yellow to green, reddish, and brown. In the variety troostite, occurring in large reddish crystals, the zinc is partly replaced by manganese. H., 5.5. Sp. gr., 3.89–4.18.

will'er (wĭl'ĕr), n. One who wills; esp., one who wields an influence by means of a strong will.

Willes'den proc'ess (wĭlz'dĕn). [From Willesden, suburb of London, the orig. place of manufacture.] A process of waterproofing paper, canvas, rope, or other cellulose material, by passing it through Schweizer's reagent and drying, whereby it is converted on the surface into a green, varnish-like substance. The product is known as Willesden paper, Willesden canvas, Willesden ware, etc. wil'let (wĭl'ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n.; pl. WILLETS (-ĕts; -ĭts), sometimes WILLET. See PLURAL, Note. [Imitative.] A large shore bird (Catoptrophorus semipalmatus) of central North America. Its summer plumage is barred and mottled with blackish patches. In winter the upper parts are plain brownish gray, the breast pale gray, and the belly white. Its loud whistle resembles the syllables pilly-will-willet, whence its name.

Willet.

wil'ley (wĭl'ĭ), v. t. To willow, as cotton, etc.

wil'ley. Var. of WILLY, a willow.

will'ful, wil'ful (wĭl'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. [will + full.] 1. Willing; disposed or ready; also, wishful; desirous. Obs.

2. Self-determined; voluntary; intentional; as, willful murder.

In willful poverty. Chaucer.

3. Governed by will without yielding to reason; obstinate; perverse; stubborn; as, a willful man or horse.

Syn. and Ant. — See WAYWARD.

— will'ful·ly, wil'ful-, adv. — will'ful·ness, wil'ful-, n.

will'ful, n. A willful or a voluntary act.

Will Hon'ey·comb'. See HONEYCOMB, WILL.

Wil'liam (wĭl'yăm), n. [ONF. Willame, Willaume (OF. Guillaume), of G. origin; cf. G. Wilhelm, OHG. Willehelm, Willihelm, and OHG. willo, willjo, will, G. wille, and G. helm helmet. See WILL, n.; HELMET.] a Masculine proper name. L. Gulielmus (gwĭl'ĭ·ĕl'mŭs), or Gulielmus (gū'lĭ·ĕl'mŭs); F. Guillaume (gē'yōm'); It. Guglielmo (gōō·lyĕl'mō); Sp. Guillermo (gē·lyĕr'mō; 170); Pg. Guilherme (gē·lyĕr'mä); G. Wilhelm (vĭl'hĕlm). — Dim. Will, Willy, Bill, Billy (Wil'kin, obs.). — Fem. Wilhelmina. b See ORDER, n., 1.

William and Mary furniture. A style of English furniture influenced by the Dutch (see DUTCH, adj., 5) and developed after 1689, the accession of William and Mary. At this time walnut supplanted oak in favor.

Wil'liam Gup'py. See GUPPY, WILLIAM.

Wil'liam of Cloudes'ly (kloudz'lĭ). A famous archer and outlaw of an old English ballad who cleaves a hazel rod at twenty score paces. He also sends an arrow through an apple on his son's head. Cf. WILLIAM TELL.

Wil'liams, or Wil'liam's, Bon' Chré'tien' (wĭl'yămz bŏN' krā'tyĂN'). = BARTLETT. Eng.

wil'liams·ite (wĭl'yăms·īt), n. Mineral. A green variety of serpentine, used for decorative purposes.

Wil'liam·so'ni·a (wĭl'yăm·sō'nĭ·ȧ), n. [After W. C. Williamson (1816–95), Eng. naturalist.] Paleontol. A genus of fossil cycads typifying a family, Wil'liam·so'ni·a'ce·ae (-ā'sē·ē), having slender, more or less branched stems, and conspicuous bracts, or scales, associated with the fructification. They are found in rocks from the Upper Triassic to Middle Cretaceous in both the New and Old Worlds.

Wil'liam·son's blue or violet (wĭl'yăm·sŭnz; -s'nz). [After A. W. Williamson (1824–1904), Eng. chemist.] A variety of Prussian blue (see PRUSSIAN BLUE).

William, or Wilhelm, Tell (tĕl). 1. A legendary Swiss patriot and archer who, for refusing to salute the cap which Gessler, the Austrian governor, had set up in the market place, was sentenced to shoot an apple from the head of his own son. This he successfully did. He subsequently shot Gessler, and freed his country from Austrian oppression. The Tell legend, in its essential features, is widely spread in Europe and Asia. Cf. WILLIAM OF CLOUDESLY.

2. The title and hero of a drama, Wilhelm Tell (1804), by Schiller.

3. An opera (1829) by Rossini, based on Schiller's drama.

Wil'liam Thorn'hill', Sir. See THORNHILL, SQUIRE.

Wil'lie (wĭl'ĭ), n. 1. Dim. of WILLIAM.

2. Feminine proper name; — orig., dim. of WILHELMINA.

Wil'lie-boy', n. A dandified young fellow; a dude. Slang.

wil'lie gow (gōō). The herring gull. Local, Eng. & Scot.

wil'lie hawk'ie (hôk'ĭ). The little grebe. Ir.

wil'lies (wĭl'ĭz), n. pl. A fit of nervousness; the creeps; — usually with the. Slang, U. S.

wil'lie wag'tail'. a Orkney I. The pied wagtail. b The wagtail flycatcher (Leucocirca tricolor) of Australia.

will'ie-waucht', will'ie-waught' (wĭl'ĭ·wäkt'; -wŏkt'; wĭl'ĭ-), n. A deep draft, as of ale; — a use arising from an abbreviation or misunderstanding of Burns's "A right guid-willie waught," i. e., a good-will draft, erroneously printed in most editions as "a right guid willie-waught." Scot. & N. of Eng.

wil'lie wick'et. The common sandpiper. Local, Eng.

will'ing, adj. [From WILL to wish.] 1. Inclined or favorably disposed in mind; desirous; ready; as, willing to go.

Felix, willing to show the Jews a pleasure, left Paul bound. Acts xxiv. 27.

2. Ready to act; prompt to do, give, grant, etc.; not slow, lazy, or reluctant; as, a willing horse, crew.

3. Accepted, done, given, etc., of choice, or without reluctance; voluntary; as, a willing sacrifice, gift.

[They] are held, with his melodious harmony,
In willing chains and sweet captivity. Milton.

4. Intentional; deliberate; as, a willing theft by a willing thief. Now Rare.

5. Of or pertaining to the will or power of choosing; volitional; as, the willing faculty or capacity.

Syn. — Agreeable, disposed, minded, free, unforced.

Ant. — Unwilling, averse, opposed; reluctant, grudging.

— will'ing·ly, adv. — will'ing·ness, n.

will'ing, n. Desire; longing. Rare.

will'ing, adv. Willingly. Now Rare.

will'ing·heart'ed (wĭl'ĭng·härt'ĕd; -tĭd; 66; 119), adj. Heartily willing or disposed.

will'ing·hood, n. Willingness. Rare.

Wil'lis's ar'ter·y (wĭl'ĭs·ĭz). [See WILLIS'S CORDS.] = COMMUNICATING ARTERY.

Willis's circle. = CIRCLE OF WILLIS.

Willis's cords or trabeculae. [After T. Willis, (1621–75), Eng. anatomist.] Anat. Slender fibers crossing the venous sinuses of the dura mater, esp. at the lower extremity of the superior sagittal sinus.

Willis's valve. The anterior medullary velum. See MEDULLARY VELUM.

Wil'lis sys'tem (wĭl'ĭs). [After Robert Willis (1800–75), Eng. mechanician.] Gearing. The system of using for the generating circle of cycloidal teeth a circle equal in radius to a pinion having twelve teeth of the given pitch.

wil'li·waw (wĭl'ĭ·wȯ), n. [Origin uncert.] A sudden violent gust of cold land air, common along mountainous coasts of high latitudes.

will'-less, adj. Involuntary. — will'-less·ly, adv. — will'-less·ness, n. Rare.

will'ness, n. a Obs. Madness; folly. b Orkney I. Dizziness.

wil'lock (wĭl'ŭk), n. Local, Eng. & Scot. a The common guillemot. b The puffin. c The razor-billed auk.

will'-o'-the-wisp' (wĭl'ō·thĕ·wĭsp'), n. a Ignis fatuus; hence, figuratively, a misleading or elusive object. b A blue-green alga of the genus Nostoc, esp. N. commune which appears suddenly. See NOSTOC. c See CHECKERS, n.

will'-o'-the-wisp', adj. Of the nature of a will-o'-the-wisp, or ignis fatuus; hence, visionary; impractical; as, a will-o'-the-wisp scheme. — will'-o'-the-wisp'ish, adj. — will'-o'-the-wisp'y, adj.

wil'low (wĭl'ō), n. [ME. wilowe, wilwe, fr. AS. welig; akin to MD. wilge, D. wilg, LG. & MHG. wilge, Gr. helikē willow, helix twisted, spiral, L. volvere to turn. See HELIX, VOLUBLE; cf. WILLY basket.] 1. Any tree or shrub of the genus Salix (which see). The willows are of much economic importance. The tough pliable shoots of many species are used in basketry, etc. (see OSIER); others yield bark useful for tanning. A few, as the white willow and weeping willow, are ornamental shade trees. Others are shrubs, as the sand-bar willow (S. longifolia). Their wood is also valuable. The willow, esp. the weeping willow, is often used as an emblem of sorrow, desolation, or desertion. Hence, a lover forsaken by, or having lost, the person beloved, is said to wear the willow.

Willow (Salix nigra). 1 Leaves and Fruiting Ament (⅔); 2 Detached Staminate, and 3 Detached Pistillate, Flower (⅓); 4 Staminate Ament.

---

will. ✝ VILE, WELL.
will'a·way' (wĭl'ȧ·wā', wĭl'-). Scot. form of WELLAWAY. wil'la·wins (wĭl'ȧ·wĭnz; wĭl'-ȧ·wŭnz), interj. An exclamation expressing sorrow or pity. Obs. Scot. willd, wild. Willed. Ref. Sp.
wille. ✝ VILE, WELL, WILL.
willeliche, adv. [ME., fr. AS. willīce.] Voluntarily. Obs. willes, adv. Voluntarily. Obs. willesful, adj. Willful; desirous. Obs. will'ey·er, n. = WILLEWER.
Wil'liams, Caleb (wĭl'yămz). See FALKLAND, 2. williche, adv. [ME. See WILLELICHE.] Voluntarily. Obs. willie-beguily. ✝ WILY-BEGUILY. wil'li·er, n. = WILLOWER. will'-in-the-wisp', n. Will-o'-the-wisp. Obs.
Wil'lis'a. See ALMACK'S, 1.

2. The wood of the willow; hence, Colloq., something made of that wood, as a cricket or baseball bat.
3. Any of several other plants more or less like a willow, as the willow herbs and in Australia the wilga.
4. A trap for fish; a willy. Obs.
5. Angling. An artificial fly with dark-gray wings, green silk body, brown hackle, and yellow ribbing and tag.
6. Textile Mfg. A machine in which cotton or wool is opened and cleansed by long spikes projecting from a drum or drums revolving in a box studded (internally) with spikes.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

willow-bordered	willow-grown	willow-tufted willow-colored	willow-shaded	willow-veiled willow-fringed	willow-skirted	willow-wood wil'low (wĭl'ō), adj. Of or pertaining to the willow; made of willow wood.

wil'low, v. t. [See WILLOW, 6.] To open and cleanse, as cotton, flax, or wool, with or as with a willow. — wil'low·er (wĭl'ō-ĕr), n.
willow acacia. An Australian shrub or small tree (Acacia saligna) commonly cultivated for its long showy racemes of yellow heads. willow amsonia. The plant Tabernaemontana amsonia. willow apple. The willow gall. willow beauty. A handsome European geometrid moth (Selidosema gemmaria). willow beetle. Any of several leaf beetles that feed on the leaves of willows; also, any beetle that bores in the wood.
wil'low-bīt'er (wĭl'ō-bĭt'ĕr), n. Local, Brit. a Blue titmouse. See TITMOUSE. b Marsh titmouse. See TITMOUSE. willow borer. a Any of several small bronzy longicorn beetles of the genus Agrilus that bore in the sapwood of the willow tree, often killing the tree; esp., A. politus or A. anxius. The latter infests also poplars and birches. b The poplar borer (Saperda calcarata). c A European weevil (Cryptorhynchus lapathi) introduced and destructive to willows in the eastern United States.
willow buffer. See 3d BUFFER, 1. willow cactus. Any cactus of the genus Rhipsalis.
willow cat or catfish. A large yellowish unspotted market catfish (Ictalurus anguilla) of the lower Mississippi Valley. willow chafer. The goldsmith beetle; also, any of several allied beetles.
willow charcoal. A superior variety of charcoal, made from willow wood. wil'low-cone' gall. The pine-cone willow gall. willow cottonwood. A narrow-leaved cottonwood (Populus angustifolia) of western North America.
wil'lowed (wĭl'ōd), adj. Abounding, covered, or overgrown, with willows. "Willowed meads." Collins.
wil'lowed, adj. Opened and cleansed, as cotton or wool, by means of a willow.
wil'low·er (wĭl'ō-ĕr), n. [From WILLOW, v.] One who or that which willows; specif., a willow (the machine).
willow family. The Salicaceae. willow fly. Any of certain greenish European stone flies of the genus Chloroperla.
willow gall. Any of various galls on willow leaves or shoots esp. the pine-cone willow gall.
willow goldfinch. See GOLDFINCH b. willow green. The color reseda. willow grouse. = WILLOW PTARMIGAN. See PTARMIGAN. willow herb. a A perennial herb (Chamaenerion angustifolium) found throughout the North Temperate Zone, having narrow willowlike leaves and showy rose-purple flowers; — called fireweed from its frequency after fires, great willow herb, and French willow. Also, as a book name, any other species of this genus or related Epilobium. The hairy willow herb is E. hirsutum. Called also gooseberry foot. b The loosestrife Lythrum salicaria. c Swamp loosestrife.
wil'low·ish (wĭl'ō-ĭsh), adj. Somewhat resembling a willow, as in the color of leaves, the pliancy of branches, the drooping appearance, or the like; willowlike.
willow lark. The sedge warbler. Local, Eng. willow leaf. = GRANULE, 2. willow leaf beetle. Any of many leaf beetles that infest willows; esp.: a In North America, Lina scripta, which often defoliates and kills willows and poplars, and cultivated osiers, and Galerucella decora, which has similar habits. b In Europe, a related beetle (Phyllodecta vitellinae) harmful to willows. wil'low-leaved', adj. Having leaves resembling or suggesting those of the willow. willow-leaved jasmine. A South American shrub (Cestrum parqui) often cultivated for its greenish-yellow, fragrant flowers.
wil'low-like' (wĭl'ō-līk'), adj. Resembling or suggesting a willow, as in the color of leaves, the pliancy of branches, etc.
willow louse. Any plant louse that infests the willow, as the two large black species Lachnus viminalis and Aphis salicicola.
willow moth. Any of numerous moths whose larvae infest the willow tree; esp., the dagger moths (Acronycta, or Apatella, oblinata and A. americana). willow myrtle. An Australian shrub or tree (Agonis flexuosa), family Myrtaceae, with willowlike leaves and showy white flowers in axillary heads.
willow oak. a An oak (Quercus phellos) of the eastern United States, with linear, entire leaves; also, its light-brown wood, soft, but strong and heavy, sometimes used in construction. b = LAUREL OAK a.

Willow Pattern.

willow pattern. [From the willow tree in the design.] Pottery. A design used in decorating china, orig. the blue china of Nanking, introduced in English earthenware by Thomas Turner of Caughley, England, about 1780. willow peeler. See PEELER. willow poplar. = BLACK POPLAR a. willow ptarmigan. See PTARMIGAN.
willow sawfly. Any of numerous sawflies that infest the willow; esp.: a The large American sawfly (Cimbex americana), whose larva is pale greenish with a black dorsal stripe. b The steel-blue sawfly (Dolerus arvensis) and the smaller brownish species (D. bicolor). c The black sawfly (Pteronidea ventralis), whose yellow-spotted blackish larva infests also the wild cherry.

Willow Sawfly (Cimbex americana).

willow shoot. 1. A shoot or branch of a willow.
2. Plant Pathol. One of the abnormal slender willowlike shoots produced by peach trees affected with the yellows. See PEACH YELLOWS.
willow slug. The larva of a willow sawfly. willow slug caterpillar. The spinose larva of a moth (Euclea delphinii) that feeds on willow, oak, and pear, and other deciduous trees. willow sparrow. Willow warbler. Local, Eng. willow thorn. Sea buckthorn. willow thrush. A thrush (Hylocichla fuscescens salicicola) closely allied to the veery. willow tree. a Any tree of the genus Salix. b Any Australian tree or shrub of the genus Pittosporum. wil'low-tree' mon'ey. Silver coins (sixpence and twelvepence) issued in 1652 by the Massachusetts colony. Cf. PINE-TREE MONEY. willow wand. A wand, rod, or shoot, of willow; esp., formerly, in Scotland, such a wand peeled and laid across a door to prohibit entrance.
willow warbler. Any of certain Old World warblers of the genera Phylloscopus and Acanthopneuste; esp., P. trochilus, a small songbird common in Europe, commonly called willow wren. It is delicate greenish above and white below. Ken'ni-cott's (kĕn'ĭ-kŏts) willow warbler (A. borealis kennicotti) breeds in Alaska.
wil'low-ware' (wĭl'ō-wâr'), n. Ceramics. Ware decorated with a willow pattern. wil'low-weed' (-wēd'), n. a A European loosestrife (Lysimachia vulgaris). b Dial. Eng. Any of various narrow-leaved species of Persicaria. wil'low-wield'er (-wēl'dĕr), n. One who wields a willow, esp. a cricket bat. Colloq.
wil'low-worm' (-wûrm'), n. A larva of a willow moth or willow sawfly. wil'low-wort' (-wûrt'), n. a Obs. A willow. b = WILLOW-WEED. willow wren. a The willow warbler Phylloscopus trochilus. b Chiffchaff. wil'low·y (wĭl'ō-ĭ), adj. 1. Abounding with willows; edged, as a walk or garden, with willow trees; shaded by willows. 2. Resembling a willow; pliant; flexible; of persons, tall and graceful. will power. Energy or force of will as expressed in determination, resoluteness, or purpose; strength of mind.
Will's (wĭlz), n. A famous coffeehouse formerly at the corner of Bow and Russell Streets in London; — so called from the first name of its proprietor. It was much frequented by gamesters, poets, and wits in the time of Queen Anne.
Will Scar'let. See SCARLET, WILL. will'-wil'let, n. The willet. Local, U. S.
Will Wim'ble. See WIMBLE, WILL.
will'-wor'ship, n. Worship merely in accordance with individual will or fancy, or without being divinely authorized or inspired. Col. ii. 23. — will'-wor'ship·er, n. wil'ly, v. t.; wil'LIED (-Id); WIL'LY-ING. To willow, as cotton, etc. will'y (wĭl'ĭ), adj. 1. Willing; voluntary; also, favorable. Now Rare.

And ev'ry whispering I've heard From willy wind in leaves and grass. Galsworthy.

2. Willful. Scot.
wil'ly (wĭl'ĭ), n. [AS. wilige; akin to E. WILLOW tree. Cf WEEL a trap.] 1. A large wicker basket. Dial. Eng.
2. A kind of wicker or plaited fish trap. Local, Eng.
3. = WILLOW, n., 6.
Wil'ly (wĭl'ĭ), n. Dim. of WILLIAM.
will'yard (wĭl'yĕrd; wĭl'-), will'yart (-yĕrt), adj. Chiefly Scot. a Wild; willful. b Bewildered; also, shy.
wil'ly·er (wĭl'ĭ-ĕr), n. A willower. wil'ly-muf'ty (wĭl'ĭ-mŭf'tĭ), n. The willow warbler. Eng.
wil'ly-nil'ly (wĭl'ĭ-nĭl'ĭ), adv. & adj. Having no regard for one's wishes; without choice; compulsorily. See will I, nill I, etc., under 3d WILL.
wil'ly-wag'tail', n. The pied wagtail. Local, Eng.
wil'ly-wick'et (wĭl'ĭ-wĭk'ĭt), n. The common sandpiper. Local, Eng. & Scot. wil'ly-wil'ly, n. A tornado or cyclone. Australia.
Wil'mot Pro·vi'so (wĭl'mŏt). U. S. Hist. A proviso, introduced by David Wilmot of Pennsylvania in 1846 as an amendment to a bill in Congress appropriating money for purchasing territory from Mexico, that slavery should be prohibited in that territory. It passed the House, but was rejected by the Senate.
Wilm's tu'mor (vĭlmz). [After M. Wilms (1867–1918), Ger. surgeon.] Med. A teratomatous tumor of the kidney, occurring in infancy or childhood. wil'some (wĭl'sŭm), adj. [Cf. AS. wilsum willing.] Willful; violent. — wil'some·ly, adv. — wil'some·ness, n. All Now Dial. wil'some, adj. [ON. villusamr erroneous, false.] Obs. exc. Scot. a Wild and desolate; dreary. b Astray; bewildered. — wil'some·ly, adv. — wil'some·ness, n.
Wil'son, Pud'd'n·head' (wĭl's'n). See PUDD'NHEAD WILSON.
Wil'son Act (wĭl's'n). 1. A customs act framed chiefly by Representative W. L. Wilson of West Virginia, and Senator A. P. Gorman of Maryland, passed by Congress as a Democratic tariff-reduction measure in 1894, and allowed to become a law without the signature of the President. Called also Wil'son–Gor'man Act (-gôr'măn).
2. Also Wilson Law. See ORIGINAL PACKAGE.
Wil·so'ni·an (wĭl-sō'nĭ-ăn), adj. Pertaining to, or characteristic of, Woodrow Wilson; as, Wilsonian policies.
Wil'son·ism (wĭl's'n-ĭz'm), n. The doctrines or theories of Woodrow Wilson.
Wilson projection gauge. An optical comparator for screw threads, in which the optical system is duplicated and arranged so that the opposite sides of the thread are simultaneously projected on a screen, so that they intermesh and exactly meet when the thread is correct as to form and size.
Wil'son's black'cap' (wĭl's'nz). [After Alexander Wilson (1766–1813), Am. ornithologist.] Wilson's warbler.
Wilson's petrel. See PETREL, 1.
Wilson's phalarope. See PHALAROPE.
Wilson's plover. A ring plover (Pagolla wilsonia) of the coast of the United States, Central America, and South America.
Wilson's snipe. An American snipe (Capella delicata). See SNIPE, n., 1 a.
Wilson's tern. The common tern. See TERN.
Wilson's theorem. [After J. Wilson (1741–93), Eng. mathematician.] Theory of Numbers. The theorem that if p is a prime number factorial $(p-1)$ plus unity is divisible by p.
Wilson's thrush. The veery.
Wilson's warbler. A small fly-catching warbler (Wilsonia pusilla) of eastern and northern North America. It is bright yellow with a black crown. See FLY-CATCHING WARBLER, Illust.; cf. PILEOLATED WARBLER. wilt (wĭlt), v.; WILT'ED; WILT'ING. [Also welt, dial. var. of WELK.] Intransitive: 1. To lose freshness and become flaccid, as a plant in a dry day, or when cut; to droop.
2. To grow weak or faint; to languish; flag; as, she wilted for shame and grief; hence, Colloq., to lose courage, spirit, or the like; as, to wilt before an accuser's gaze.
—, Transitive: 1. To cause to droop; to make flaccid, as a plant.
2. To cause to languish; to lower in spirit, force, or vigor.

Despots have wilted the human race into sloth and imbecility. Dr. T. Dwight.

wilt, n. 1. Act of wilting; in persons, a state of depression, weakness, or faintness.
2. Also wilt disease. A disease of certain caterpillars caused by a filtrable virus, which develops mainly in the nuclei of the cells in the insect's body. It is highly infectious, with great mortality, and aids greatly in reducing the abundance of many species such as the gypsy moth. When the caterpillar dies its viscera liquefy and its body becomes flaccid, hence the name.
wilt, (wĭlt), 2d pers. sing. of WILL, v. t. & auxiliary. wilt'er (wĭl'tĕr), v. i. To wilt; wither. Dial. Eng.
Wil'ton, n., or Wil'ton car'pet or rug (wĭl'tŭn; -t'n). A kind of carpet or rug woven with loops like the Brussels, but differing from it in having the loops cut, forming an elastic velvet pile, in being generally of better materials, and in having designs adapted from Oriental patterns; — so called because first made at Wilton, Eng.
Wilt'shire (wĭlt'shĭr; cf. -SHIRE), n. [From Wiltshire Co., Eng.] A pure-white sheep of an old English breed having long spirally curved horns and a long arched head, the parent stock of the Hampshire Down.
Wiltshire cheese. An English variety of Cheddar cheese.
Wiltshire side. A cut of pork which includes the ham, full side, and shoulder.
wil'y (wĭl'ĭ), adj.; WIL'I·ER (-ĭ-ĕr); WIL'I·EST. [From WILE.] Full of wiles, tricks, or stratagems; crafty; artful; subtle.

This false, wily, doubling disposition of mind. South.

Syn. and Ant. — See CUNNING. wil'y, adv. Wilily; cunningly. Obs. wim (wĭm), v. t. & i. [Origin uncert.] To winnow (grain). Dial. Eng.
wim'ble (wĭm'b'l), n. [ME., through ONF., fr. MD. wimpel, MLG. wimmel. Cf. GIMLET.]
1. Any of various instruments for boring holes; as: a A gimlet. "It is but like the little wimble, to let in the greater auger." Selden. b A kind of brace. c An auger for boring in earth; a scoop to clear out a borehole. Cf. SLUDGER a.

Wimble b.

2. An instrument for twisting ropes or bands, as for tying fagots. wim'ble (wĭm'b'l), v.; WIM'BLED (-b'ld); WIM'BLING (-blĭng). Transitive: 1. To bore or pierce, as with a wimble.
2. To twist with a wimble. See WIMBLE, n., 2.
—, Intransitive: To penetrate. Obs. exc. Dial. wim'ble (wĭm'b'l; -'l), adj. [Cf. Sw. vimmelkantig giddy, whimsical, Sw. dial. vimmla to be giddy or skittish, and E. whim.] Active; sprightly. Now Dial.
Wim'ble, Will (wĭm'b'l). A character in The Spectator, noted for his simplicity and good-humored officiousness. wim'ick (wĭm'ĭk), v. i. [Imitative.] To cry; whimper. Dial. Eng.
Wim'mer-a rye grass (wĭm'ĕr-ä). [From Wimmera, Australia.] An Australian grass (Lolium subulatum) grown for forage. Australia.
wim'ple (wĭm'p'l), n. [ME. wimpel, fr. AS. wimpel; akin to D. & G. wimpel a pennant, streamer, OHG. wimpal a veil, ON. vimpill, Dan. & Sw. vimpel a pennant, streamer. Cf. GIMP, GUIMPE.] 1. A covering of silk, linen, or other material, formerly worn by women over the head and around the neck and chin as an outdoor protection, and still retained in the dress of some nuns. Chaucer.

Wimple.

2. Scot. a A fold; plait. b A winding turn; a curve; bend, as in a road. c A crafty or wily act.
3. A flag or streamer. Obs.
wim'ple, v.; WIM'PLED (-p'ld); WIM'PLING (-plĭng). Transitive: 1. To clothe with or as with a wimple; to veil.
2. To confuse; hoodwink; deceive. Obs.

This wimpled, whining, purblind, wayward boy. Shak.

3. To draw down, or to lay in folds or plaits, as a veil; hence, to cause to appear as if folded or plaited; to cause to ripple or undulate; as, the wind wimples the lake.
—, Intransitive: 1. To lie in folds; also, to appear as if folded or plaited; to ripple. "Wimpling waves." Longfellow.

For with a veil, that wimpled everywhere,
Her head and face was hid. Spenser.

2. Chiefly Scot. a To meander, as a stream. b To wriggle. The little brook which wimpled along below. J. R. Lowell.
Wims'hurst, or Wims'hurst's, ma·chine' (wĭmz'hûrst, -hûrsts). [After James Wimshurst (1832–1903), Eng. engineer.] Elec. A self-exciting induction machine for prowil'lowd. Willowed. Ref. Sp. will'shrift', n. Voluntary confession. Obs. will'some, will'some·ly, will'some·ness. Vars. of WILSOME, WILSOMELY, WILSOMENESS.

Wil'lug·bae'ya (wĭl'ĭg-bē'yä; wĭl'ē-), n. [NL., after Francis Willughby (1635–72), Eng. naturalist; — Necker's original spelling.] Syn. of MIKANIA.
Wil'lugh·be'ia, n. [NL. See WILLUGBAEYA.] Syn. of ANCYLOCLADUS. wil'l'-with-the-wisp', n. = WILL-O'-THE-WISP, ignis fatuus. Dial. wil'ly-waw. Var. of WILLIWAW. wilne, v. t. & i. [AS. wilnian.] To desire. Obs. [Scot.] wil'rone, n. A wild boar. Obs. wil'roun, adj. Prob., savage; cruel. Obs. Scot. [Obs.] wils'ful·ly, adv. = WILLFULLY. will'proof' (60), adj. See -PROOF. wil'yard, wil'yart. Vars. of WILLYARD, WILLYART. wil'y-be·guil'y, n. Deception or injury reacting on oneself; one that beguiles. Obs. — wil'y-beguiled', adj. Obs.
wil'y-coat', Var. of WYLIECOAT. wil'yeove, adj. [Cf. WELCOME; GIVE, past part. given, AS. gifen.] Given willingly. Obs. wim'ber'ry. Var. of WHINBERRY. wim'bl. Wimble. Ref. Sp. wim'ble-like', adj. See -LIKE. wim'brel (wĭm'brĕl). Var. of WHINBREL. wime (wēm). Scot. var. of WAME. wim'en. Women. Ref. Sp. wimlunge, n. = WIMPLE. Obs. wim'men. Obs. pl. of WOMAN. wim'pld. Wimpled. Ref. Sp. wim'ple-less, adj. See -LESS. wim'ple-like', adj. See -LIKE. wim'pler, n. A waving tress or lock of hair. Obs. Scot.

ducing static electricity, consisting essentially of two glass disks set close together face to face, revolvable in opposite directions, and having on their outer surfaces sectors of tinfoil each of which is connected, twice during each revolution, with the one diametrically opposite it by a curved metallic rod. Two bifurcated combs collect the electricity.

win (wĭn), v.; past tense WON (wŭn), Obs. WAN (wăn); past part. WON; pres. part. & verbal n. WIN'NING. [ME. winnen, fr. AS. winnan to strive, labor, fight, endure; akin to OFris. winna, OS. winnan, D. winnen to win, gain, G. gewinnen, OHG. winnan to strive, struggle, ON. vinna to labor, suffer, win, Dan. vinde to win, Sw. vinna, Goth. winnan to suffer, Skr. vanoti, vanati, he acquires, desires. See WISH.] Intransitive: 1. To labor; struggle; endeavor; also, to strive in opposition or contention; to contend; fight; war. Obs.

2. To gain the victory in any contest; to be victor; to triumph; prevail; succeed.

3. To succeed by effort in reaching a specified place or state (often expressed by an adverb or preposition); to succeed in getting; to get; as, to win across, away, back, by, down, forward, off, out, over, through, and the like; he won through the tacklers and scored a touchdown.

I cannot win to shore. Gilbert Murray.

—, Transitive: 1. To get possession of by or as by labor or effort; hence, to get; gain; obtain; secure; as, to win praise; to win fame or notoriety.

2. Specif., to gain in competition or contest; to obtain by victory; as, to win the prize in a game; to win money; also, to be successful in (a contest or competition of any kind); to come off victor in; as, to win a race or battle; to win an election; the allied armies won the war in 1918. "This city for to win." Chaucer.

3. To acquire as a compensation for service done; to earn; as, to win a livelihood; to win one's daily bread.

4. To effect or achieve by or as by effort; as, to win one's way by pluck and perseverance.

5. To come to by toil or effort; to reach; also, Obs., to cause to reach or arrive at; to conduct; lead; bring; sometimes, to conquer; vanquish.

The stony path began,
By which the naked peak they won. Scott.

6. To persuade; influence; also, to entice; allure.

Nothing . . . could win me to believe. Shak.

7. To influence so as to gain the favor of; as: a To render friendly or favorable to one's cause; as, tears won the jury; to win over an enemy. b To gain the affection of; esp., to induce to accept one in marriage.

She is a woman; therefore to be won. Shak.

8. Obs.: a To save; redeem. b To beget; procreate. c Perhaps, to rule; govern. d To lift or raise (up).

9. Metal. To recover (metal, etc.) from ore.

10. Mining. To obtain, as ore or coal, by mining; hence, also, to prepare, as a vein or bed, by shafts, gangways, levels, etc., for the operation of regular winning.

Syn. — See OBTAIN. Ant. — Lose, forfeit, miss.

win, or achieve, a check. To inflict a reverse or a defeat on a foe in a contest. Obs.

win in a canter, walk, etc. To win a race so easily as not to be forced to great exertion; hence, figuratively, to achieve one's end easily. Colloq.

win of. To be conqueror over. Obs. Shak.

win on or upon. a To gain favor or influence with. "You have a softness and beneficence winning on the hearts of others." Dryden. b To gain ground on. "The rabble . . . will in time win upon power." Shak.

win one's shoes. To win one's spurs; — orig. said of a knight. Obs.

win one's spurs. To gain knighthood by or as by some act of bravery; hence, to gain recognition and reward; broadly, to prove one's worth or ability; to show one's mettle under trial.

win out. To be successful. Colloq.

win the day. To gain the victory; to be successful, as in a race, battle, or contest of any kind.

win the exchange. Chess. See EXCHANGE, n., 6.

win through. To succeed in making one's way to the end; to gain one's end or purpose.

win to. a To be able to go or get to. b Scot. & N. of Eng. To begin to eat; to "fall to."

win up. a To ascend, as a mountain. b To mount, as a horse. c Scot. To arise, as from bed.

win up to, or with. To overtake. Obs. exc. Dial.

win (wĭn), n. 1. Obs. a Strife. b Labor. c Acquisition.

2. Colloq. a A success; victory, as in a game or competition. b Gain; profit; winnings.

3. Joy; happiness. Obs.

win (wĭn), v. t. [Cf. WIND moving air.] To dry, as hay, esp. by exposure; also, to winnow (grain). Chiefly Scot. & N. of Eng.

win, v. i. = WON, dwell, live. Scot.

win (wĭn). Dial. Eng. var. of WHIN, furze.

win (wĭn). Scot. & dial. var. of WIND.

Win (wĭn), n. Dim. of WINFRED, WINIFRED.

wince (wĭns; 232), v.; WINCED (wĭnst); WINC'ING (wĭn'sĭng). [ME. wincen (also winchen, wenchen), fr. (assumed) AF. wencir (or wenchir), var. of OF. guencir, guenchir (cf. also guenchier, guencier), to give way, turn aside, of Teut. origin; cf. OHG. wenken to give way, to waver, OS. wenkean, G. wanken to totter. See VAGARY, WINK.] Intransitive: 1. To shrink, as from a blow, or from pain; to draw back; to flinch.

I will not stir, nor wince, nor speak a word. Shak.

2. To kick or start, as a restive or impatient horse. Obs.

Paul . . . wynside agen the pricke. Wycliffe.

—, Transitive: To throw by wincing, or kicking or plunging. Rare.

Syn. — See SHRINK.

wince, n. Act or fact of wincing.

wince, n. [Var. of WINCH an instrument.] Dyeing & Calico Printing. A reel used in dyeing, steeping, or washing, cloth; a winch. It is placed over the division wall between two wince pits so as to allow the cloth to descend into either.

wince, v. t. To treat (cloth) in a wince pit.

wince. Dial. var. of WINCH.

wince pit or pot. A tank or a pit in which cloth in the process of dyeing or manufacture is washed, dipped in a mordant, or the like.

winc'er (wĭn'sĕr), n. One who or that which winces.

winc'er, n. = WINCHER.

win'cey (wĭn'sĭ), n. [From -woolsey, after linsey-.] A fabric with wool filling and a linen or cotton warp.

winch (wĭnch; 105), n. [ME. wynch, fr. AS. wince a winch, a reel. See WINK.] 1. A crank with a handle, for giving motion to a machine, a grindstone, etc.

2. Any of various machines or instruments to turn or strain something more or less forcibly; as: a A powerful machine having one or more barrels or drums on which to coil a rope, etc., for hauling or hoisting; a more or less elaborate form of windlass. b Local, Eng. A screw vise. c A reel for a fishing rod.

Winch, 2 a. 1, 1 Cranks; 2 Winding Drum; 3 Lever for disengaging Pinion; 4 Band Brake operated by Lever 6; 5 Pawl to prevent unwinding.

3. Weaving. A divided roller for warps. Eng.

winch (wĭnch; 105), v. t. To hoist by means of a winch; to haul with or as if with a winch.

winch (wĭnch), v. & n. = 1st & 2d WINCE. Obs. exc. Dial.

winch'er (wĭn'chĕr), n. An attendant or operator of a winch.

Win'ches'ter (wĭn'chĕs'tĕr; -chĭs-tĕr), n. A trade-mark applied originally to a breech-loading repeating rifle having a tubular magazine under the barrel and a horizontal bolt operated by a lever on the underside of the stock, which was made (first about 1866) by, and named after, Oliver Fisher Winchester (1810–1880), American manufacturer; and applied subsequently to firearms of various types and other products of the manufacturer of this rifle.

Win'ches'ter goose (wĭn'chĕs'tĕr; -chĭs-tĕr). The bubo or one infected with it. Obs. Cant.

Winchester measure. Dry and liquid measures according to standards formerly recorded at Winchester, Eng., as the Winchester bushel (see BUSHEL, n., 1).

winch'man (wĭnch'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). One who runs a winch.

winc'ing (wĭn'sĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WINCE. Hence: adj. That winces.

wincing machine. A wince, or a succession of winces.

wind (wīnd), v.; past tense & past part. WOUND (wound), rarely, exc. in nautical senses, WIND'ED (wīn'dĕd; -dĭd; 119); pres. part. & verbal n. WIND'ING (wīn'dĭng). [ME. winden, fr. AS. windan; akin to OS. windan, D. & G. winden, OHG. wintan, ON. & Sw. vinda, Dan. vinde, Goth. windan (in comp.). Cf. WAND, WANDER, WEND, WINDLASS.] Transitive: 1. To turn completely, or repeatedly, esp. about something fixed; to cause to form convolutions about anything; to twist; twine; coil; wreathe; as, to wind thread on a spool or into a ball.

Whether to wind The woodbine round this arbor. Milton.

2. To brandish; wield, as a weapon. Obs.

3. To move in a curved path or course; to curve.

4. To make by or as by twisting, plaiting, weaving, or the like; to weave, as a net. Obs.

5. To cover, surround, infold, or the like, with something coiled, twisted, or otherwise wrapped around; to entwine; entwist; as, to wind a rope with twine.

Sleep thou, and I will wind thee in my arms. Shak.

6. To turn the course or direction of; to vary or alter at will the course of; hence, to manage; control; govern; regulate. "To turn and wind a fiery Pegasus." Shak.

Were our legislature vested in the prince, he might wind and turn our constitution at his pleasure. Addison.

7. To turn (a horse or horses) to one's left.

8. To effect or accomplish by or as by bending or turning.

The stream winded its way among the broken sculpture and moss-grown stones. Scott.

9. To introduce sinuously or stealthily; to insinuate.

You have contrived . . . to wind Yourself into a power tyrannical. Shak.

10. To extricate sinuously or stealthily; as, we must find some way to wind him out of this trouble. Obs.

11. To get or bring about by trick or artifice. Obs.

12. To turn over, or keep in circulation, as money. Obs.

13. To wind up; as, to wind a watch; to wind the strings of a mandolin.

14. To hoist or haul by a rope, etc., pulled by machinery, as coal from a pit or a vessel to her wharf.

—, Intransitive: 1. To fly; leap; spring; also, to go; pass away; proceed. Obs.

Into rest his soul wond. Genesis & Exodus.

2. To wriggle; writhe; twist; squirm. Obs. exc. Dial.

3. To go or move in a devious or sinuous course; to curve; meander, as a stream; also, to double on one's course; as, a hare pursued turns and winds.

The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea. Gray.

4. To work, make one's way, or gain an end, by sinuous, stealthy, or indirect, methods; as, to wind into favor.

5. To extricate oneself sinuously or stealthily from some predicament. Obs.

6. To coil, as about something; to assume a convolved or spiral form; twine; as, vines wind around a pole.

7. To warp, as a board.

8. Of a horse or horses: a To turn or veer to the left. b To exhibit the defective gait of winding.

9. Naut. To turn or lie, as in swinging round when at anchor; — of a ship.

wind a vessel. Naut. To turn it end for end; as, the port side being loaded, the vessel was winded to allow loading at the starboard side.

wind off. To unwind; uncoil.

wind out. To extricate. Obs. Clarendon.

wind up. a To coil into a ball or small compass, as a skein of thread; to coil completely. b To bring to a conclusion or settlement; as, to wind up one's affairs; to wind up an argument. c To put in a state of renewed or continued motion, as a clock, a watch, etc., by winding the spring, or that which carries the weight; hence, to prepare for continued movement or action. "Fate seemed to wind him up for fourscore years." Dryden. d To make tense or tight; to subject to strain; hence, figuratively, to arouse; excite. "Thus they wound up his temper to a pitch." Atterbury. e To tighten, as the strings of a musical instrument, so as to tune it. f To hoist, as water from a well, by or as by a windlass. g Colloq. To come to a finish; to gather one's arguments together by way of conclusion; to conclude; finish. h Baseball. To give a preliminary swing to the arm before delivering a pitched ball.

wind (wīnd), n. [Cf. MD. & MLG. winde windlass, convolvulus. See WIND, v.; cf. WINZE shaft.] 1. A device or piece of machinery, as a winch, for winding.

2. A convolvulaceous plant.

3. Act of winding, or state of being wound; a turn; bend; twist; coil.

‖ = WINDING, n., 3.

5. Mach. The condition of being twisted or warped away from straightness and parallelism, or the amount of such twisting or warping.

— out of wind. Out of winding. See WINDING, pres. part. & verbal n., 6.

wind (wĭnd; orig., and now poet., archaic, or dial., wīnd), n. [AS.; akin to OS., OFris., D., & G. wind, OHG. wint, Dan. & Sw. vind, ON. vindr, Goth. winds, W. gwynt, L. ventus, Skr. vāta, Gr. αἔτης a blast, gale, αἔναι to breathe hard, to blow, as the wind, Skr. vāti it blows, AS. wāwan to blow, D. waaien, G. wehen, OHG. wāen, wājen, Goth. waian. Cf. AIR, ASTHMA, VENT scent, VENT opening, VENTAIL, VENTILATE, WEATHER, WINDOW, WING, WINNOW.] 1. Any movement of air, usually restricted to natural, horizontal movements; air in motion with any degree of velocity. The vertical or inclined movement of the air often is spoken of as a current or as a wind with a vertical component.

2. Hence, a strong or destructive wind; a wind storm; hurricane; as, the year of the great wind.

3. A direction from which the wind may blow; a point of the compass; esp., one of the cardinal points, which are often called the four winds.

Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain. Ezek. XXXVII. 9.

4. Air artificially put in motion by any force or action, as, the wind of a cannon ball; the wind of a bellows; he pumped some wind into the tire of his car.

The whiff and wind of his fell sword. Shak.

5. Air impregnated with a scent, as of game; hence, scent or, figuratively, intimation of something; — used in phrases.

A pack of dogfish had him in the wind. Swift.

6. Power of respiration; breath; as, he had the wind knocked out of him. Cf. SECOND WIND.

Is not your voice broken? your wind short? Shak.

7. Mere breath or talk; idle words; as, his arguments are but wind; also, conceit; vain self-satisfaction; as, all puffed up with wind, nothing but wind.

8. A current of air conceived as imparting motion to something, or influencing or carrying along something; as, the wind of his imagination bore him far; it's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

9. Air used and regulated for producing tone, as breath by the vocal organs in singing and in blowing on a wind instrument, or as compressed air by the pipes in an organ.

10. Often pl. Musical wind instruments, collectively; also, sometimes, by extension, the players of these instruments.

11. Air or gas generated in the stomach or bowels; flatulence; as, to be troubled with wind.

12. Boxing. The pit of the stomach, where a blow may paralyze the diaphragm and cause temporary loss of breath or other injury; the mark. Slang or Cant.

13. Veter. A disease of sheep, in which the intestines are distended with gas as a result of a violent inflammation. It occurs immediately after shearing.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wind-balanced	wind-flowing	wind-rent
wind-balancing	wind-footed	wind-scattered wind-beaten	wind-laid	wind-struck wind-blazing	wind-lashed	wind-stuffed wind-built	wind-making	wind-swung wind-chapped	wind-nodding	wind-toned
wind-clipped	wind-obeying	wind-wandering wind-delayed	wind-outspeeding	wind-waved wind-dispersed	wind-parted	wind-waving wind-driven	windproof	wind-whipped wind-exposed	wind-puffed	wind-winged wind-fanned	wind-raising	wind-worn

Syn. — WIND, AIR, BREEZE, GUST, FLAW, BLAST, GALE, STORM, TEMPEST. WIND is the general word for air naturally in motion, with whatever degree of velocity; as, "a sound as of a rushing mighty wind" (Acts ii. 2); "the soft wind blowing over meadowy holms" (Tennyson). A BREEZE is a relatively light, but fresh, wind; AIR (chiefly poetical in this sense) denotes a gently stirring breeze; as, "The fair breeze blew, the white foam flew, the furrow followed free" (Coleridge); "the breeze murmuring in the musical woods" (Shelley); "when sweet airs come seaward from heaths starred with broom" (M. Arnold); cf. "Bring with thee airs from heaven or blasts from hell" (Shak.). GUST, BLAST, and FLAW denote a sudden and violent rush of wind, usually of short duration; as, "An angry gust of wind puffed out his torch" (Tennyson); "blasts that blow the poplar white, and lash with storm the streaming pane" (id.); "like a great sea mark, standing every flaw" (Shak.). A GALE (often poetical, esp. in the 18th century, for a gentle breeze or "zephyr") is more violent than a breeze, more continuous than a gust, blast, or flaw; as, "At the close of day a stiffer gale at east arose" (Dryden). A STORM is a violent disturbance of the atmosphere; a TEMPEST is an extremely violent or furious storm; both may be attended by rain, snow, hail, or lightning; as, "the pelting of this pitiless storm" (Shak.); "an ever-fixed mark that looks on tempests and is never shaken" (id.). For HURRICANE, TORNADO, and CYCLONE, see defs.

— against the wind. In a direction counter to the wind.

— all in the wind. See in the Vocabulary. — before the wind. a Naut. In the direction of the wind and aided by its impulse; having the wind aft. b Hence, figuratively, under happy or favorable circumstances, auspices, or the like. — between, or betwixt, wind and water. a Naut. About at the water line, so as often to be alternately above and below water, esp. with reference to injuries. b Hence, figuratively, at a serious or dangerous point; as, struck between wind and water. — by the wind. Naut. Pointing as closely as possible toward the wind; sailing on the wind; — said of a vessel when close-hauled. — down the wind. a See DOWN, prep., 3. b Obs. Decaying; declining; toward a state of decay. "He went down the wind still." L'Estrange. — how the wind blows, lies, or sits. a The direction whence the wind comes. b The state of things in any particular affair; as, straws show how the wind blows. — in the wind. a Stirring; moving; afoot. "There is something in the wind." Shak. b Naut. To windward. c Slang. Intoxicated; — esp. in the nautical phrase, three sheets in the wind. See the phrases under 5th SHEET. — in, or into, the wind's eye, or, the teeth of the wind. Naut. Directly toward the point from which the wind blows. — off the wind. Naut. With the wind abaft the beam; sailing free; as, to sail off the wind. Cf. ON THE WIND. — on a, or the, wind. Naut. Close-hauled. — to cast, fling, throw, etc., to the wind, to the winds, to the four winds. a To scatter broadcast; to throw away recklessly. b To cease to take into consideration; as, to throw propriety to the winds. — to get the wind of, or to get wind of. a To catch the scent of. b Hence, to get a hint or slight intimation of. — to have, or get, the wind up. Slang. a To be or become afraid. b To be or become angry. Cf. WIND-UP, n.; put the wind up, under PUT, v. — to have in the wind, to have the wind of. To be on the scent of. See def. 5, win. † WEEN, WHIN, WIND, WINE.

Wī'na-bo'jo. = MANABOZHO.

winare. Var. of WINER, a seller of wine. Obs. Scot.

win'ber'ry. Dial. var. of WHINBERRY.

win'brow', n. [MLG. winbrā.] = EYEBROW. Obs.

wince. † QUINCE.
winch driver. See DRIVER, 1.

winc'ing-ly. adv. of WINCING. win'co-pipe. † WINK-A-PEEP.

above. — to have the wind of. To be to windward of; hence, to have a superior position to; to have at a disadvantage. — to raise the wind. To raise money; also, to cause a stir or excitement or, sometimes, a suspicion. — to sail close to the wind. a See CLOSE TO THE WIND. b To manage economically. c To approach vulgarity, indecency, indiscretion, or the like, in speech or conduct. — under the wind. To leeward; also, under the lee. — up the wind. In a direction counter to the wind. — with the wind. = before the wind, above. — which way the wind blows, lies, or sits. = how the wind blows, etc., above.

-wind (-wĭnd). A combining form of the noun wind, as in: bellwind, breakwind, stormwind, thickwind, upwind, whirlwind wind (wĭnd), adj. Of or pertaining to the wind; caused by wind; serving for passage of or defense against wind.

wind (wĭnd), v.; WIND'ED; WIND'ING. Transitive: 1. To expose to the wind; to dry by exposing to the wind or air; to ventilate; Dial. Eng., to winnow.
2. To perceive or follow by the scent; to scent; as, the hounds winded the game.
3. To render scant of wind by violent exertion; to put out of breath.
4. To rest, as a horse, in order to allow the breath to be recovered; to breathe.
5. To regulate the wind supply of (an organ pipe).
6. To make rancid or sour, as butter, bacon, or milk, by exposure to the air. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
—, Intransitive: 1. To pause for breath. Dial. Eng.
2. To scent game; to sniff in the air as if catching the scent of game; — said of an animal, esp. a dog.
3. To become tainted or sour by exposure to the wind or air. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
4. To brag; to boast; vaunt oneself. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wind (wĭnd; wīnd), v. t.; past tense & past part. WOUND (wound), rarely WIND'ED; pres. part. & verbal n. WIND'ING. [From WIND air, but confused in sense and in conjugation with wind to turn.] 1. To blow; to sound by blowing, esp. with prolonged and mutually involved notes.

Hunters who wound their horns. Pennant.

2. To signal or direct and regulate by blowing a horn. Rare.

wind (wĭnd; wīnd), n. The dotterel. Local, Eng.

wind (wĭnd). Var. of WYND.

Wind (wĭnd). Var. of WEND.

wind'a·ble (wīn'dȧ·b'l), adj. Capable of being wound.

wind'age (wĭn'dĭj), n. [From WIND air.] 1. The disturbance of the air caused by a passing projectile.
2. a The influence of the wind in deflecting the course of a projectile; also, the amount of deflection due to wind. b In gunnery, the amount of sight deflection necessary to compensate for wind displacement.
3. Mach Air friction against a rapidly moving (esp. rotating) object, as a flywheel or the armature of a dynamo.
4. Naut. The surface exposed by a vessel to the wind.
5. Ordn. a The space between the projectile of a smooth-bore gun and the surface of the bore. b In a muzzle-loading rifled cannon, the difference between the diameter of the bore and that of the projectile cylinder.

win'das (wĭn'dȧs), n. [ME. windas, wyndas, fr. ON. vindāss, fr. vinda to wind, turn + ǎss pole, beam (akin to Goth. ans). See WIND to turn.] Obs. a A windlass. b A contrivance to bend a crossbow.

win'das, n. [Cf. AS. windwian to winnow.] A winnowing machine.

wind'bag' (wĭnd'băg'; 111), n. A bag of wind; as: a A bellows. b Jocose. The chest, considered as containing the lungs. c Slang. One who talks much to little effect.

wind'bagged' (-băgd'), adj. Having a windbag, bellows, or the like.

wind'bag'ger·y (-băg'ĕr·ĭ), n. Pompous but meaningless talk.

wind'ball' (-bôl'), n. A ball inflated with air.

wind band (wĭnd). Music. A band of wind instruments; esp., a military band; also, the wind instruments of an orchestra, collectively; the winds.

wind beam. Arch. A beam as between adjoining roof trusses, used as a wind brace.

wind belt. A belt or row of trees planted to serve as a windbreak.

wind'ber'ry (wĭn'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr·ĭ), n. a The mountain cranberry. b Var. of WHINBERRY.

wind'bib'ber (wĭnd'bĭb'ĕr), wind'cuff'er (-kŭf'ĕr), n. [Cf. WINDHOVER.] The kestrel. Local, Eng.

wind bill. Com. Accommodation bill. Scot.

wind blast. Mining. = AIR BLAST.

wind'-blown', adj. 1. Blown by the wind; as, wind-blown swirling leaves of late autumn; also, of trees, having a permanent set or character of growth determined by the prevailing wind or winds.
2. Designating a type of bob haircut in which the hair (usually waved) is cut and brushed so that its ends turn outward and to the front as if blown by a wind from behind.

wind'-borne', adj. Borne or carried along by the wind, as spray, leaves, sand, etc.

wind'-bound', adj. a Naut. Prevented from sailing, by a contrary wind. See WEATHER-BOUND. b Hence, figuratively, held or restrained as if by contrary winds.

wind box. 1. A receptacle from which a blast of air ("wind") is supplied, as to the tuyères of a cupola, blast furnace, or forge.
2. = WIND CHEST.

wind brace. A brace, usually a strut, to strengthen a frame or structure against the wind.

wind'brac·ing (wĭnd'brās'ĭng), n. Act or process of bracing a frame against winds; also, wind braces collectively.

wind'break' (-brāk'; 111), n. 1. A clump of trees or shrubs serving to break the force of wind; hence, any protective shelter from the wind, as a fence or the like.
2. Forestry. The breaking of trees by wind.

wind'-break', v. i. To put out of wind, or breath; to cause to lose breath. Rare.

Wind'break'er (wĭnd'brāk'ĕr), n. A trade-mark for a sports jacket of leather, heavy wool, or the like, commonly lined and having a fitted band at the waist; also [sometimes not cap.], a garment bearing this trade-mark.

wind'broach' (wĭnd'brōch'), n. Music. A hurdy-gurdy (sense 1 a); a vielle.

wind'-bro'ken, adj. Having the power of breathing impaired by the rupture, dilatation, or running together of air cells of the lungs, so that while the inspiration is by one effort, the expiration is by two; affected with pulmonary emphysema or with heaves; — said of a horse.

wind burn. 1. Hort. Injury caused by excessive wind on foliage or thin bark.
2. Med. An irritated condition of the skin, analagous to sunburn, caused by excessive exposure to wind.

wind catcher. A wind scoop.

wind'-chang'ing, adj. Changeable as the wind. Rare.

wind chest. A reservoir for supplying air under pressure to the pipes or reeds in an organ. See ORGAN Illust. of action.

wind'clothes' (wĭnd'klōthz'), n. pl. Clothes made of a windproof material, — used esp. in arctic exploration.

wind cloud. A cloud bringing or portending wind, esp. a strong wind.

wind colic. = INTESTINAL COLIC.

wind component table. Mil. In artillery fire, a table in which the effect of the wind, as a component in the conditions affecting fire, is translated into terms of range and deflection.

wind cone. Aviation & Meteorol. A cone-shaped sleeve of cloth, held open at the larger end by a light ring, and attached by cords to a support. It is used to show the direction of the wind.

wind contusion. Med. A lesion attributed to the compression of air due to passage of a missile near a part of the body.

wind cripple. Forestry. A tree stunted or injured by the wind.

wind cutter. 1. Music. The upper lip of the mouth of an organ flue pipe.
2. A hat with a broad brim designed to protect the wearer's face from the wind. Slang.

wind'dog' (wĭnd'dŏg'), n. = WINDGALL, 2.

wind drift. The average direction of the wind over a given period of time.

wind dropsy. Med. a Tympanites. b Emphysema of the subcutaneous areolar tissue.

wind'ed (wĭn'dĕd; -dĭd; 119), adj. 1. Exposed to the wind or air; also, tainted by such exposure.
2. (pron. wīn'dĕd; wĭn'-; -dĭd; 119). Operated by air; esp., blown by one's breath; as, the winded horn.
3. Having lost one's wind, or breath, as from exertion; blown; as, both runners were thoroughly winded at the end of the race.
— wind'ed·ly, adv. — wind'ed·ness n.

-wind'ed. A combining form of winded, esp. in sense 3, as in broken-winded, long-winded, short-winded. Corresponding adverbs are formed by adding -ly, as short-winded*ly;* corresponding nouns are formed by adding -ness, as short-winded*ness.*

wind eddy. An eddy or swirl of wind.

wind egg. An imperfect, unimpregnated, or addled, egg; one with a soft shell, not calcareous.

wind engine. An engine deriving its motive power from the wind, as a windmill, the rotor of a rotor ship, etc.

wind'er (wīn'dĕr), n. [From WIND to turn.] One who or that which winds; as: a A twining plant or vine. b A person who winds yarn or the like for a weaver. c An apparatus or a device used in the winding of thread, yarn, etc., as one for winding on spools, reels, etc., one for holding skeins being unwound, or one on which thread is wound. d A key for winding up a spring, as a universal watch key used by watchmakers, or a device for winding up a spring roasting jack. e Any of a flight of steps that are not parallel, so that a person turns to one side or the other in ascending or descending.

wind'er (wĭn'dĕr), n. 1. A blow that takes away one's breath. Slang.
2. One that winnows grain; a winnower. Rare.

wind'er (wĭn'dĕr; wĭn'-), n. One who winds (a bugle, horn, etc.).

win'der (wĭn'dĕr), v. i. To wither; fail; to pine away. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

win'der (wĭn'dĕr). Dial. or illit. var. of WINDOW; dial. Eng. form of WINNOW; Scot. var. of WONDER.

wind'er-on' (wĭn'dĕr·ŏn'), n. The operator of a machine that winds dyed yarn from a dyer's beam onto a weaver's beam.

wind'er rod (wĭn'dĕr). Carp. A rod marked with the widths of winders (stairs) on the walking line or any fixed axis.

Win'des·hei'mer (vĭn'dĕs·hī'mĕr), n. A member of the Order of Canons Regular of Windesheim, founded in 1386 as an offshoot of the Brothers of the Common Life. The order was notable for its efforts to reform the moral conditions among monks, clergy, and people, and for its services in writing and copying books. More than half its monasteries were destroyed during the Reformation.

wind'fall' (wĭnd'fôl'; 111), n. 1. Anything blown down or off by the wind, as fruit from a tree or the tree itself.

They became a windfall upon the sudden. Bacon.

2. A tract where the trees have been blown down by the wind.
3. An unexpected legacy, or other gain.

He had a mighty windfall out of doubt. B. Jonson.

4. A sudden downrush of air from higher land.

wind'fall' (wĭnd'fôl'), adj. Windfallen. Obs.

wind'fall'en (-ĕn), adj. Blown down by the wind.

wind'fan'ner (-făn'ĕr), n. The kestrel. Local, Eng.

wind'-fast', adj. Made fast or secure against the wind; windtight.

wind'-fer'ti·lized, adj. Anemophilous. — wind'-fer'ti·li·za'tion, n.

wind'firm' (wĭnd'fûrm'), adj. Firm enough to withstand strong wind.

wind'fish' (wĭnd'fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH, -FISHES (-fĭsh'ĕz; -lz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. a The fallfish (Leucosomus corporalis). b The golden shiner.

wind'flaw' (-flô'), n. A gust of wind; a flaw. See 3d FLAW, 1.

On the warmth of windflaw came the taint. Masefield.

wind'flow'er (-flou'ĕr), n. [Trans. of Gr. anemōnē. See ANEMONE.] a Any plant of the genus Anemone; also, the related rue anemone (Anemonella thalictroides). b The marsh gentian Dasystephana pneumonanthe.

windflower gentian. The marsh gentian Dasystephana pneumonanthe.

wind'-force', n. a A definite number, as 5 or 7, on an arbitrary wind scale (see WIND SCALE). b The pressure exerted by a wind.

wind furnace. A natural-draft furnace.

wind'gall' (wĭnd'gôl'), n. 1. Veter. In horses, a soft tumor or synovial swelling generally found on the fetlock joint; — so called from having formerly been supposed to contain air.
2. A watergall, or broken rainbow.

wind'galled' (-gôld'), adj. Of a horse, affected with windgall.

wind gap. Phys. Geog. A notch in the crest of a mountain ridge; a pass not occupied by a stream; an air gap.

wind gauge. 1. Apparatus used, as in connection with target firing, to determine and sometimes record the force and direction of the wind. It comprises an anemometer and a wind vane.
2. Gun. A graduated scale on the rear sight of a small arms rifle whereby the sight may be adjusted to correct the deviation of the bullet due to a wind component perpendicular to the line of fire. The corresponding scale on sights for cannon is called a deflection scale.
3. Music. A device on an organ for measuring and indicating the amount of wind pressure.

wind'-god', n. A god who controls the winds.

wind'-grass', n. The silky bent grass.

wind guard. A chimney cowl.

wind gun (wĭnd). = AIR GUN.

wind harp. Music. = AEOLIAN HARP.

A wind harp in a cedar tree grieves and whispers. Amy Lowell.

wind hawk. The kestrel. Local, Eng.

wind herb. A mint (Phlomis herba-venti) of southern Europe, with dense, axillary clusters of purple flowers.

wind'hole' (wĭnd'hōl'), n. a Obs. The windpipe. b A hole, as one in a fuselage, made by the wind. c Mining. A shaft for ventilation. d Organ Building. A hole in the foot of a pipe for admitting wind.

wind house. A covered shelter for refuge during hurricanes.

wind'hov'er (wĭnd'hŭv'ĕr), n. [From its habit of hovering over one spot.] The kestrel. Local, Eng.

wind'-hun'gry, adj Wanting wind; — said esp. of sails hanging slack.

win'di·go (wĭn'dĭ·gō), n. [Ojibway.] In the mythology of the northern Algonquians, an evil spirit: a devil; one of a fabulous tribe of cannibals.

wind'i·ly (wĭn'dĭ·lĭ), adv. In a windy manner; as: a As if blown or tossed by wind. b Slang. With many words but little substance or meaning.

They argued windily with him. Sinclair Lewis.

wind indicator. Aeronautics. A large weathercock mounted on the ground at airports to indicate the direction of the wind.

wind'i·ness (wĭn'dĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. 1. Quality or state of being windy; windy weather or weather conditions.
2. Flatulence.
3. Tendency to generate wind or gas; tendency to cause flatulence; as, the windiness of vegetables.
4. Tumor; puffiness; hence, boastfulness; conceit; also, verboseness; speech abounding in words but lacking in substance.

The swelling windiness of much knowledge. Brerewood.

5. Music. = BREATHINESS.

wind'ing (wīn'dĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WIND. Hence: n. [Cf. AS. windung something woven or plaited.]
1. Act of one who or that which winds, bends, curves, coils, or the like; a turn or turning; a bend; curve, or movement in a curve or curves; flexure; meander; as, the windings of a road or stream; also, sinuous, intricate, or sometimes dishonest, movements, devices, or methods of thought or action; as, it is hard for an honest man to follow the windings of a thief's logic.
2. The coiling, twisting, or twining, of some pliable material about itself or about some object; as, the winding of thread on a spool; silk winding.
3. The hoisting or pulling by a device that winds, as a winch; also, the tightening of a spring or other mechanism, as in a watch or clock, by turning a key, screw, stem, or the like.
4. The material, as wire or rope, wound or coiled about anything, or a single round or turn of the material; also, the manner in which anything is wound; as, Elec., a series winding; a shunt winding. Cf. ARMATURE WINDING, FIELD WINDING.

Windings, 4. 1 Series; 2 Shunt; 3 Compound, Short Shunt (which see); 4 Compound, Long Shunt (which see).

5. A pliable reed, rod, or withy, as used in wattling, in plaiting, or the like.
6. State, quality, or fact, of being twisted or warped out of a plane; as, in winding; out of winding.
7. In horses, a defective gait in which there is a twisting of one leg around the other.
8. Music. A melodic and, usually, improvised variation or embellishment.

wind'ing, adj. That winds, curves, coils, etc.; as: a Sinuous; of a stairway, spiral. b Flexible; pliable. c Obs. Tricky; deceitful; wily. d Rambling this way and that. — wind'ing·ness, n.

wind'ing (wīn'dĭng), n. [From WIND to blow.] Naut. A call on a boatswain's whistle.

winding engine. Mining. A hoist; a hoisting engine. Eng.

winding frame. A machine which winds yarn.

winding lily. The greater bindweed.

winding pendant. Naut. A pendant secured around a masthead into an eye at the lower end of which a winding tackle hooks.

winding sheet. a A sheet in which a corpse is wound or wrapped. b Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. A sheetlike formation of dropped tallow or wax around a guttered candle, supposed to portend death to the person in whose direction it forms.

winding strips. Also winding sticks. Two equal short straightedges with parallel edges, placed transversely on a surface to test its trueness. If on looking across the two the top edges correspond exactly, the surface is out of winding, that is, not twisted.

winding tackle. Naut. A tackle consisting of a fixed triple block and a double or triple movable block hooked to a winding pendant, for hoisting heavy articles in or out of a vessel.

wind instrument (wĭnd). Music. Any instrument sounded by wind, esp. by the breath. Those blown by the breath are classified as: wood-wind instruments, or wood winds, as the flute, oboe, bassoon, clarinet; and wind. † WEND, WIN, WON, WOUND. wind'bore' (wĭnd'bōr'; 181), n. = SNORE PIECE. wind'catch', n. = SQUALL. Obs. wind'cuff'er, n. = WINDBIBBER. win'del, n. [AS.] A basket. Obs. wind'er·most, adj. Farthest windward. Obs. wind'flaucht', adj. [Cf. FLAUGHT a flutter.] Driven with the wind. Obs. Scot.

---

Wind'io (wĭn'dĭk). Var. of WENDIC. windill. † WINDLE, to wind.
wind'ing-cloth', n. A winding sheet. Obs. wind'ing·ly, adv. of WINDING.

---

brass-wind instruments, or brass winds, as the trumpet, horn, trombone, tuba. The pitches produced by wind instruments are regulated partly by various mechanical devices, as the slide of the trombone, the valves of the trumpet, or the keys and finger holes of the flute; and partly by the embouchure, air pressure, and type of tonguing used by the player, as these latter influence the generation of pitch-dominating harmonics. — wind′-in′stru·men′tal, adj. — wind′-in′stru·men′tal·ist, n.

wind′jam′mer (wĭnd′jăm′ĕr; 111), n. 1. Naut. A sailing vessel or one of its crew; — orig. so called contemptuously by sailors on steam vessels. Colloq.
2. An army bugler or trumpeter. Soldiers' Slang.
3. A player on a wind instrument; in circus cant, a bandsman with a circus. Slang.
4. A very talkative person, usually with a derogatory implication. Slang.

wind′jam′ming, n. Verbose talk; loquaciousness. Colloq. — wind′jam′ming, adj. Colloq.

wind′lass (wĭnd′lăs), n. [Icel. vindilāss. See WINDAS.] 1. Any of various machines for hoisting or hauling. The simplest form consists of a horizontal barrel for the hoisting rope, supported in vertical standards and turned by a crank with a handle (cf. DIFFERENTIAL WINDLASS). The windlass used on ships for raising the anchor consisted essentially in its earlier form of a horizontal barrel, drum, or spindle, with whelps, turned by handspikes inserted in radial holes near each end (cf. CAPSTAN). Most large modern ships use a powerful steam winch on the forecastlehead. A windlass sometimes used in agriculture has a vertical drum and is operated by a portable steam engine.
2. An apparatus resembling a winch or windlass for bending the bow of an arbalest, or crossbow. Obs.
3. A winding and circuitous movement, orig. in intercepting game; a roundabout course; hence, an artifice; shift. Obs.

wind′lass, v. t. & i.; -LASSED (-lăst); -LASS·ING. To hoist or haul with or as with a windlass; to use a windlass for hoisting or hauling.

wind′lass, v. i. a To take a roundabout course. b To work warily. — v. t. To turn about; perplex. All Obs.

wind′lass·er, n. One who or that which windlasses.

win′dle (wĭn′d'l; wīn″l), v. i. [From WIND to turn.] Scot. & Dial. Eng. a To wind yarn. b To whirl around; to meander; also, to drift, as snow.

win′dle, n. [ME. windel (in comp.). See WIND to turn.] A kind of reel on which a hank of thread or yarn is placed to be wound on spools, etc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

win′dle, v. i. To waste away. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

win′dle, n. [From earlier windles windlass, taken as pl.] A windlass; winch. Dial. Eng.

win′dle, n. [From WINDLE, v.] Drifted snow. Dial. Eng.

win′dle, n. [AS. windel.] A basket; esp., a basket or other vessel for grain, etc.; hence, a locally varying measure. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

win′dle, n. [From WIND air.] The European redwing. Local, Eng.

win′dles (wĭn′d'lz), n. sing. & pl. The ribwort Plantago lanceolata.

win′dle·strae′ (wĭn′d'l·strā′; wĭn″l-), win′dle·straw′ (-strô′), n. [AS. windelstrǣw, fr. windel a basket + strǣw straw.] 1. A grass or grass stalk used for making ropes or for plaiting; hence, a trifling, feeble person or object. Scot. & Dial.
2. The common European whitethroat. Local, Eng.

win′dling (wĭn′dlĭng; wĭn′lĭng), n. Also win′dlin (-dlĭn; -lĭn). [Prob. fr. 1st WINDLE.] A small bundle of hay or straw. Scot.

wind load. The load on a structure due to the action of wind.

wind machine. A device used in theaters for imitating the sound of the wind, or for creating artificially a blast of wind.

wind mantle. Forestry. = WINDBREAK, 1.

wind′mill′ (wĭnd′mĭl′; wĭn′mĭl′; 111; 277), n. 1. A mill

Modern Windmill. a, a Sails; b Vane to bring Windmill into the wind.

operated by the wind, usually by the wind acting on oblique vanes or sails which radiate from a horizontal shaft. Cf. SMOCK MILL. Also, the wind-driven wheel of such a mill or a similar device, used for various purposes as for pumping water; a wind wheel.

An old form of Windmill, with sides cut away to show the Interior.

2. Something resembling or suggesting a windmill; as: a Rare. In printing, any of various marks of reference, as an asterisk, cross, etc. b A child's toy, consisting of paper, cardboard, or the like, cut, folded, and attached loosely to the end of a stick in such a way as to revolve in the wind.
3. a Now Rare. A fanciful scheme or plan. b An imaginary wrong, evil, or opponent; — esp. in the phrases to fight windmills, to tilt at windmills, etc., in allusion to those which Don Quixote took for giants.
4. An air-driven screw used to drive auxiliary apparatus on an aircraft.
5. One that propels; a propeller. Colloq., Eng.
6. An autogiro. Slang.

wind′mill′, v. i. & t. To move like a windmill.

windmill grass. Any of several species of Chloris; esp., the Australian Chloris truncata, having numerous long spikes disposed like the vanes of a windmill.

windmill orchid. A Himalayan orchid (Cirrhopetalum refractum) often cultivated for its reddish-brown, showy flowers.

windmill palm. The hemp palm Trachycarpus excelsa.

windmill pink. A European catchfly (Silene gallica) widely naturalized in North America, with hairy foliage and small, white, racemose flowers; — called little brown pigs in California.

windmill plane. An autogiro. Slang.

windmill plant. The telegraph plant.

windmill tower. See TOWER.

wind′mill′y (wĭnd′mĭl′ĭ), adj. Abounding in windmills. R.

wind motor. = WINDMILL, 1.

wind music. Music written for or produced by wind instruments as a band.

wind of the word, the. The least hint. Dial. Eng.

win′dore (wĭn′dōr), n. [From window, after door.] A window. Obs. exc. Dial.

win′dow (wĭn′dō; 203), n. [ME. windowe, windoge, fr. ON. vindauga window, prop., wind eye; akin to Dan. vindue. See WIND air; EYE. Cf. ULLAGE.] 1. An opening in the wall of a building for admission of light and air, usually closed by casements or sashes containing transparent material, as glass, and capable of being opened and shut.
2. A windowpane; as, to break a window; to wash windows.
3. a An opening, or an imaginary opening, like, or suggestive of, a window (sense 1), as a shutter, slot, valve, or the like. "The windows of heaven." Gen. vii. 2. b Obs. An eyelid. Shak. c Rare or Poet. The eye. "Her two blue windows." Shak. d The opening through which a ticket agent, clerk, bank teller, or the like, conducts his business; as, the ticket window in a railroad station; the cashier's window in a restaurant.
4. The transparent portion, usually of celluloid, of a window envelope.
5. Anat. & Surg. A normal or pathological aperture, as an artificial opening in a bone. See FENESTRA.
6. Arch. The shutter, casement, sash with its fittings, or other framework, which closes a window opening.
7. Geol. An opening through overthrust rock, commonly due to erosion, exposing the underlying rock; an inlier.
8. Physics. A small opening in the wall of a vacuum tube, the opening being covered by a piece of thin metal foil.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

window-breaking, adj.	window-cleaning, adj.	windowmaker windowmaking
window-broken	window curtain	window-opening, adj.
window case	window decorator	window-smashing, adj.
window catch	window display	window-ventilating, adj.
window cleaner	window furniture

Syn. — WINDOW, CASEMENT. As a synonym for WINDOW, CASEMENT (which properly denotes a window sash or frame which opens on hinges) is chiefly elevated or poetical in its associations; as, "Come to the window, sweet is the night air" (M. Arnold); "magic casements, opening on the foam of perilous seas in faery lands forlorn" (Keats). Cf DOOR.

win′dow (wĭn′dō), v. t.; -DOWED (-dōd); -DOW·ING. 1. To furnish with a window or windows; — usually in past part. and in composition; as, a many-windowed house.
2. To fill with holes suggestive of windows.

Looped and windowed raggedness. Shak.

3. To place at or in a window. Rare.

Wouldst thou be windowed in great Rome? Shak.

win′dow (wĭn′dŭ). Scot. & N. of Eng. form of WINNOW.

win′dow back (wĭn′dō). Arch. The inside face of the piece of wall between the window sill and the floor, esp. when ceiled.

window bar. 1. A bar in a window; as: a A wood or metal division between the panes; — called also muntin. b A bar for fastening a window or a shutter. c A bar for preventing egress or ingress through a window.
2. Openwork on the front of a woman's dress. Obs.

window bay. = BAY WINDOW window board. A wooden piece used in a window, either as a part of the ledge or frame, or as a shutter.

window bole. = 3d BOLE, n.

window box. a One of the hollows in the sides of a window frame for the weights which counterbalance a lifting sash. b A box on a window sill designed to hold soil for growing plants, etc.

window card. A card displayed or for display in a window; specif., a descriptive advertising card used in a retail store window.

window decoration. Any decoration for a window; esp., Advertising, any material used to trim a retail store window.

window display. In merchandising, a display of goods in a window designed to attract customers.

window dressing. The arrangement of trim and commodities attractively in retail store windows. Hence, figuratively, a specious statement of facts, as of financial condition, or of a political situation, so as to give a misleadingly favorable appearance. — window dresser. — win′dow·dress′ing, adj.

win′dow-of·fi′cien·cy ra′tio. Photom. The ratio of the illumination at a specified point inside a building to that outside the building, the two being measured simultaneously under the condition of an unobstructed hemisphere of sky; — called also daylight factor.

window envelope. An envelope having a transparent panel through which the address on the enclosure is visible.

window fixture. Any furniture, forms, etc., used in dressing a store window.

window fly. Any fly of the family Scenopinidae, often found on windows, esp. Scenopinus fenestralis whose larvae feed on the larvae of the clothes moth.

window frame. The frame of a window which receives and holds the sashes or casement.

window gardening. The growing of ornamentals in receptacles placed in the windows of the home.

window glass. Glass, usually of the soda-lime variety, in shapes suitable for windows; esp., cylinder glass.

window head. The upper, transverse member of a window.

Window in Thrums, A (thrŭmz). A collection of short stories of Scotch life, by Sir James M. Barrie (1889). See THRUMS.

window lead. = CAME, n.

win′dow·man (wĭn′dō·măn, n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A man in charge of a window, as in a ticket office, bank, or the like.

window martin. The European martin (Delichon, syn. Chelidon, urbica).

window mirror. A small mirror attached to or outside of a window and adjusted to reflect objects within a desired area; as, a window mirror on an automobile.

window money. = WINDOW TAX. Obs.

window oyster. A marine bivalve shell (Placuna placenta) native to the East Indies and China. Its valves are very broad, thin, and translucent, and are sometimes used in place of glass.

Window-pane.

win′dow·pane′ (wĭn′dō·pān′), n. 1. Arch. A pane in a window. See PANE, n., 4 b.
2. A thin, spotted American flounder (Lophopsetta maculata) remarkable for its translucency. It is not valued for food.

win′dow·peep′er (-pēp′ĕr), n. 1. A person who peeps out of windows or through windows to see what is going on.

The Howlands across the street are such windowpeepers. Sinclair Lewis.

2. An official who counted windows for the window tax. Obs.

window sash. = SASH, n., 1 a. window screen. 1. A screen, as of wire mesh, designed to fit against a window frame and to keep out flies, mosquitoes, etc., when the window is open.

2. A decorative grill, piece of stained glass, latticework, or the like, used to fill a window opening.

window seat. A seat built in the recess of a window. See STOOL OF A WINDOW.

window shade. A shade or blind for a window, usually one hung on a roller.

window shell. = WINDOW OYSTER.

win′dow-shop′, v. i. To inspect the window displays of goods in stores without entering the stores or making purchases. — win′dow-shop′per, n. — win′dow-shop′ping, adj. & n.

window show. A window display of merchandise.

win′dow·shut′ (wĭn′dō·shŭt′), n. A window shutter. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

window shutter. A shutter or blind to close or darken windows.

window sill. = SILL, n., 1 c. window sole. = WINDOW SILL. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

window space. Advertising. The area of floor space in a show window.

window stile. A stile of a window frame. See 2d STILE.

window stool. Arch. = STOOL OF A WINDOW.

window stop. A narrow strip which holds a window sash in position in a window frame.

window swallow. The common European martin.

window tax. A tax or duty formerly levied in England on all windows, or openings for light, above the number of eight in houses of cities or towns. It was replaced in 1851 by a house duty, based on rental. In France there was formerly a tax on all openings in a building, as doors and windows.

window trim. = WINDOW DECORATION. — window trimmer. — window trimming.

window work. Structure of or like that of a window.

win′dow·y (wĭn′dō·ĭ), adj. Having many windows or windowlike openings. Rare.

wind part. Music. A part for a wind instrument.

wind′pipe′ (wĭnd′pĭp′; 111), n. The passage for the breath from the larynx to the lungs; the trachea; weasand. See TRACHEA.

wind′pipe′, v. i. To utter through the windpipe.

wind plant. A windflower.

wind′play′er (wĭnd′plā′ĕr), n. A wind that seems to play an air. Poetic.

Listen among windplayers in cornfields,
The wind learning over its oldest music. Carl Sandburg.

wind′-pol′li·nat′ed, adj. Bot. Anemophilous. — wind′-pol′li·na′tion, n.

wind poppy (wĭnd). A poppy (Meconopsis heterophylla), family Papaveraceae, of the western United States, resembling the Welsh poppy, but with bright-red flowers.

wind porch. A vestibule, usually temporary, beyond an outer door to keep out cold air. Se STORM DOOR.

wind power. Mechanical power derived from winds. — wind′-pow′er, adj.

wind′-puff′, n. Veter. a Puffing of the skin about a wound, caused by air that has entered, as after the caponizing of cockerels. b Windgall.

wind pump. A pump moved by a windmill.

wind resistance. The resistance that still air offers to movement, esp. of a vehicle.

win′dring (wĭn′drĭng), adj. Winding or wandering; — perh. a mistaken reading for one or the other of these words. Shak.

wind ripple. One of many wavelike undulations produced on the surface of sand by wind and occasionally found in rocks of aeolian origin.

Wind River formation. Geol. A series of richly fossiliferous fresh-water deposits, from Lower to Middle Eocene age, occurring in the Wind River Basin, west central Wyoming.

wind′-rode′ (wĭnd′rōd′), adj. Naut. Caused to ride with head to the wind, practically unaffected by tide or current; — said of a vessel at anchor with wind and tide approximately opposed, and opposed to tide-rode.

wind rose. [Cf. G. windrose, D. windroos. See WIND air; ROSE, n.] 1. a A European poppy (Papaver argemone) adventive in North America, with red, dark-eyed flowers. b A purple-flowered perennial herb (Roemeria hybrida), family Papaveraceae, of southern Europe. c Mexican poppy. d Corn poppy.
2. a A diagram showing, for a given place, the relative frequency, or frequency and strength, of winds from different directions. b A diagram showing, for a different place, the average occurrence of other meteorological phenomena, as rain, sunshine, etc., with winds from different directions.

wind′row′ (wĭnd′rō′; wĭn′rō′), n. [wind + row.] 1. A row of hay raked up to dry before being rolled or pitched into cocks; also, any similar row for drying, as of grain.
2. By extension, a wind-swept line or row, as of dry leaves or dust, of foam, surf, etc.
3. A deep furrow, esp. for sugar cane planting. Unstripped stalks are cut off and laid in it and covered with soil.
4. A long, low ridge of road-making material which has been scraped to the side of the road.

wind′row′, v. t.; WIND′ROWED′ (-rōd′); WIND′ROW′ING. To arrange (as hay, grain sheaves, peat, etc.) or store (as sugar cane) in windrows.

---

wind′latch′, n. A windlass. Obs.
wind′less, adj. See -LESS. — wind′less·ly, adv. — wind′less·ness, n. wind′lift′, n. A windlass. Obs.
wind′like′, adj. & adv. See -LIKE.
wind′mill′-like′, adj. See -LIKE. win′dock (wĭn′dŭk; -ŭk). Var. of WINNOCK, window. windoge. † WINDOW. win′do·let, n. [See -LET.] Dim. of WINDOW. Obs. win′dowd. Windowed Ref. Sp. win′dow·ful, n. See -FUL. win′dow·ing, n. Window furniture. Obs. win′dow·less, adj. See -LESS. — win′dow·less·ness, n. win′dow·let, n. See -LET. Rare. win′dow·light′, n. = WINDOW-PANE, 1. win′dow·like′, adj. See -LIKE.
win′dow·ward, win′dow·wards, adv. See -WARD, -WARDS. win′dow·wise′, adv. See -WISE. wind′road′, n. Mining. An airway. wind′root′, n. = BUTTERFLY WEED a.

wind'row'er (wĭnd'rō'ĕr; wĭn'-), n. Agric. Mach. a A curved finger device located on the rear of the cutter bar of a mowing machine to windrow the swath. b A hayrake which throws the hay sideways into a windrow; a side-delivery hayrake.

wind sail (wĭnd). a Naut. A wide tube or funnel of canvas, used to convey air for ventilation into the lower compartments of a vessel. b The sail or vane of a windmill.

wind scale. A systematic arrangement of words or numbers used for expressing and recording the velocity or force of the wind. The following are some of the wind scales that have been used: (1) Beaufort's scale (0–12), defined in 1805 by Admiral Beaufort. (2) The Continental or land scale (0–6), for the use of European observers at stations on land. (3) The Mannheim or old Continental scale (0–4), adopted in 1700 by the Mannheim Association. (4) The "ten" scale (0–10), adopted by the Smithsonian Institution about 1850 and the International Meteorological Congress about 1880. (5) "Nine," "eight," and "seven" scales, used locally, but not generally recommended. (6) The latest United States Weather Bureau scale for use in official forecasts. The relations between these scales are shown approximately in the following table by the equivalent wind velocities in miles per hour:

WIND SCALE

No.	Beaufort	Ten	Eight	Seven	Six	Four	Weather Bureau		No.
	mi.	mi.	mi.	mi.	mi.	mi.		mi.
0	0	0	0	0	0	0	Light	less than 1	0
1	1–3	2	2	2	2	7		1–3	1
2	4–7	7	4	7	11	18		4–7	2
3	8–12	11	10	11	18	36	Gentle	8–12	3
4	13–18	18	22	18	36	58	Moderate	13–18	4
5	19–24	27	34	36	58		Fresh	19–24	5
6	25–31	36	50	58	90		Strong	25–31	6
7	32–38	45	70	90				32–38	7
8	39–46	58	90				Gale	39–46	8
9	47–54	76						47–54	9
10	55–63	90					Whole gale	55–63	10
11	64–75							64–75	11
12	above 75						Hurricane	above 75	12

wind scoop. Any device projecting from an interior to intercept wind and divert it inside, as on a vessel.

wind scorpion. [Trans. of Ar. 'aqrab al-rīḥ.] A member of the Solpugida; — from their extreme agility.

wind'screen' (wĭnd'skrēn'), n. A screen which keeps off wind; specif., Brit., a windshield.

wind's eye (wĭndz). The point of the compass from which the wind blows.

— in the wind's eye. Toward the point of the compass from which the wind blows.

wind shake. Forestry. Shake attributed to the action of high winds; anemosis.

wind'-shak'en (wĭnd'shāk'ĕn), adj. Shaken by the wind; specif., Forestry, affected by wind shake.

wind sheet. Organ Building. In a flue pipe, the stream or sheet of wind striking the upper lip.

wind shelf. A smoke shelf.

wind'shield' (wĭnd'shēld'; 111), n. In automotive vehicles, a shield or screen of glass extending upward from the body of the car in front to protect the occupants from wind, rain, etc. — wind'shield', adj.

windshield wing. In automotive vehicles, an adjustable glass piece attached to the side of the windshield.

windshield wiper. In automotive vehicles, a device, usually in the form of a rubber squeegee, attached to the windshield for cleaning or wiping it off.

wind'-shift' line. The squall line.

wind'shock' (wĭnd'shŏk'), n. 1. A wind shake. Obs. 2. A shock from sudden violence of wind.

wind side. The windward side.

wind signal. In general, any signal announcing information concerning winds, and esp. the expected approach of winds whose direction and force are dangerous to shipping or other interests. The wind-signal system of the United States Weather Bureau consists of storm, hurricane, and hot wind, signals (see these terms).

wind slash. Forestry. = WINDFALL, n., 2.

Wind'sor (wĭn'zĕr), n. 1. A town in Berkshire, England. 2. a The Windsor bean. b A Windsor chair. c A kind of toilet soap, ordinarily brown.

3. Hort. A dark-red variety of sweet cherry with firm flesh.

Windsor, House of. [From Windsor Castle, Berkshire, Eng.] The royal family of Great Britain from 1917, when the name was changed by proclamation from House of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, which had succeeded House of Hanover on the accession of Edward VII in 1901.

Windsor bean. The broad bean. See BEAN, 1 a.

Windsor blue. A color, reddish-blue in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

Windsor chair. a A type of wooden chair popular esp. in 18th-century England and the American colonies, with Windsor Chairs: 1 Hoop-back Armchair; 2 Side Chair; 3 Comb-back Armchair.

spindle back, turned raking legs, and, usually, a saddle seat. It was commonly made of three kinds of wood, as oak or hickory for the back, elm or pine for the seat, and beech or maple for the legs. b A kind of low-wheeled carriage.

Windsor fern. The climbing fern.

Windsor green. The color light chrome green.

wind'sor-ite (wĭn'zĕr-ĭt), n. [From Windsor, Vermont.] Petrog. A leucocratic, monzonitic dike rock, characterized by oligoclase-andesine, often bordered by orthoclase or microperthite, and biotite, augite, and hornblende.

Windsor Knight. A member of an order of military pensioners, quartered within the precincts of Windsor Castle.

Windsor soap. = WINDSOR, n., 2 c.

Windsor tan. A color, red-yellow in hue, of high saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

Windsor tie. A kind of broad silk necktie, tied in a double bow.

wind stack (wĭnd). A stack of straw made by a wind stacker.

wind stacker. Agric. Mach. An apparatus using an air current generated by a fan to stack straw, etc., from a theshing machine.

wind stop (wĭnd). a That part of a window frame which covers the joint between the movable sash or casement and the hanging stile. b A weather strip.

wind'storm' (wĭnd'stôrm'; 111), n. A storm characterized by high wind with little or no precipitation.

windstorm insurance. See INSURANCE, n., 1.

wind'suck'er (-sŭk'ĕr), n. A crib-biter. See CRIB BITING.

wind sucking. Veter. The swallowing of air, as during the act of crib biting. — wind'-suck'ing, adj.

wind supply. See ORGAN, 1 b.

wind'-swept', adj. Swept by winds.

wind'-swift', adj. Swift as the wind.

wind'-taut', adj. Naut. Heeling to the force of the wind. R.

wind tee. Aviation. A large T-shaped weather vane on or near a landing field.

wind throw. Forestry. A tree uprooted by the wind.

wind thrush. The European redwing. Local, Eng.

wind tie. A wind brace.

wind'tight' (wĭnd'tīt'; 66), adj. Airtight; also, wind-taut.

wind trunk (wĭnd). In a pipe organ, the duct by which compressed air passes from the bellows to the wind chest. See ORGAN, Illust.

wind tunnel. A tunnellike passage through which air is blown at a known velocity to determine the action of wind pressure on structures, automobiles, airplanes, etc. It is usually necessary to use models of these with reduced dimensions.

wind'up' (wĭnd'ŭp'), n. 1. Act of winding up or closing. 2. A concluding act or part; the end; finish; settlement. 3. Baseball. A preliminary swing of the arm before pitching the ball.

wind'up', adj. 1. Made to be wound up. 2. Forming or pertaining to a windup (sense 2).

wind'-up (wĭnd'ŭp'), n. [From to have or get the wind up. See under WIND, n.] A state of mind characterized by nervous excitement, anxiety, fear, etc. Slang.

Many other pilots . . . have been through the same stages of "wind-up." Encyc. Brit.

wind valley (wĭnd). A wind gap.

wind vane. a The sail of a windmill. b A device that shows the direction the wind is blowing. c A wind tee.

wind'ward (wĭnd'wĕrd; collog., chiefly naut., wĭn'dĕrd; cf. -WARD), n. The point or side from which the wind blows; as, to sail to the windward; — opposed to leeward.

— to windward of. Into or in an advantageous position with respect to.

wind'ward, adv. Toward the wind; in the direction from which the wind blows.

wind'ward, adj. 1. Moving windward. 2. On the side toward the point from which the wind blows. 3. Weatherly.

— wind'ward·ly, adv. — wind'ward·ness, n.

windward ebb. Naut. An ebbing tide with a wind blowing against it.

windward flood. Naut. A tide setting in with a wind blowing out.

windward tide. Naut. A tide which sets toward the wind; — opposed to leeward tide.

wind'way' (wĭnd'wā'), n. A passage for air; specif.: a Mining. An airway, as for ventilation. b Music. The narrow slit between the languet and lower lip of a flue pipe, through which the air current is directed against the upper lip. See FLUE PIPE, Illust. c Naut. The course of the wind.

wind'way'ward (-wĕrd), adj. Wayward as the wind. — wind'way'ward·ly, adv. Both Poetic.

wind wheel. 1. a The wheel of a windmill; that part of a windmill which translates the linear impulse of the wind into a circular impulse. b Local, U. S. A windmill.

2. A motor actuated by wind pressure on a wheel.

wind'y (wĭn'dĭ), adj.; WIND'I·ER (-dĭ·ĕr); WIND'I·EST. [AS. windig.] 1. Consisting of or pertaining to wind; accompanied or characterized by wind; as, windy spray.

Blown with the windy tempest of my heart. Shak.

2. Specif.: a Exposed to wind; swept by wind. "The windy hill." M. Arnold. b Tempestuous; boisterous; as, windy weather. c Like the wind; swift; stormy; changeable; as, windy passion, wings. "Windy sighs." Shak.

3. Producing, or tending to produce, wind or gas in the stomach or intestines; also, due to, attended with, or affected by, flatulence; flatulent; as, windy food, colic.

4. Moving by means of, or so as to produce, a wind; as, a windy reed. "A windy fan." Spenser.

5. Given to, or characterized by, vain or empty talk; esp.: a Verbose; bombastic. b Given to boasting.

6. Controlling the winds. "Neptune's windy power." Marlowe.

7. Airy; empty; unsubstantial. "Windy joy." Milton.

8. Inflating or inflated with vainglory. Obs. exc. Scot.

9. Produced or played by compressed air.

The windy organ. Longfellow.

10. a Dial. Eng. Harebrained; skittish. b Slang. Nervous; feeling or evincing fear, nervous excitement, anger, or the like.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

windy-aisled	windy-footed	windy-mouthed windy-blowing	windy-headed	windy-voiced windy-clear	windy-looking	windy-worded

— on the windy side. Situated windward; hence, out of reach; secure. Shak.

win'dy (wĭn'dĭ). Dial. var. of WINDOW.

Wind'y Cit'y (wĭn'dĭ). Chicago, Illinois (see Gaz.); — a nickname.

wine (wīn), n. [ME. win, fr. AS. wīn, fr. L. vinum (whence also OS., OFris., & OHG. wīn, G. wein, D. wijn, Goth. wein, ON. vīn), prob., together with Gr. oinos, of Aegean origin; cf. Etruscan vinu. Cf. VINE, VINEGAR, VINEYARD, VINOUS, VINTAGE.] 1. Fermented juice of grapes. Wine is essentially a dilute solution of alcohol, to which its stimulating properties are due, together with small quantities of certain ethers and esters, which impart to it the bouquet. The properties of these compounds, in connection with the amounts of sugar, albuminoids, glycerin, carbon dioxide, acid, coloring matter, etc., determine its character. The composition depends upon the grapes used, the climate and soil, and the various details of handling. Red wine is made by allowing the juice of dark-colored grapes to ferment in contact with the skins so as to extract their coloring matter; wine made in other ways is yellow or colorless and is termed white wine. Wines are further characterized as dry or sweet, still or sparkling, heavy or light, full or thin, rough or smooth. In making the strong wines alcohol is added, since the maximum of alcohol produced by fermentation is not much over 13 per cent. Wine is considerably used in pharmacy as a menstruum, and, with a qualifying phrase or word indicating the medicinal substance dissolved, the word (cf. VINUM) appears in the names of many solutions; as, wine of opium; orange wine. The varieties of wine are very many; their names are derived from the variety of grape, place of manufacture, etc. Wherever possible, varieties have been described and classified under certain types. See BORDEAUX, 2; BURGUNDY, 2; CANARY, n., 2; MADEIRA, 2; MALAGA, 2; MUSCATEL, 1; RHINE WINE; SHERRY. Wines not so classified are defined in their Vocabulary places.

2. The fermented, or, loosely, the unfermented, juice of any fruit or plant used as a beverage; as, currant wine.

3. The effect of drinking wine in excess; intoxication.

4. A social gathering, as at a meal, where wine is served; esp., at English universities, a wine party. Eng.

5. Any of several colors resembling those of wines, esp. red wines. See WINE RED. Cf. CHAMPAGNE SAUTERNE.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wine-black	wine flask	wine-selling, adj.
wine-bright	wine-hardy	wine-shaken wine butt	wine-heated	wineshop wine cask	wine-inspired	wine-soaked wine-colored	wine-laden	wine-stained wine cooper	wine maker	wine-stuffed wine-crowned	wine making	wine-swilling adj.
wine cup	wine merchant	wine tester wine-dark	wine-merry	wine-tinged wine-drabbed	wine party	wine tun
wine-drinking, adj.	winepot	winevat wine-driven	wine-producing, adj.	wine-wise wine-drunken	wine seller	wine-yielding wine (wīn), adj. Of, pertaining to, or for, wine or its production, storage, sale, or use.

wine, v. t. & i.; WINED (wīnd); WIN'ING (wīn'ĭng). To supply or treat with wine, or to drink wine; as, dining and wining one's friends, or with friends.

win'e (wĭn'ĕ), n. [AS.] A friend. Obs.

wine acid (wīn). = TARTARIC ACID.

wine ape. In the phrase to drink wine ape, to become foolishly drunk. Obs.

wine apple. A large red apple with a rich vinous flavor.

wine bag. A wineskin.

wine'ball' (wīn'bôl'), n. Wine stone. See 1st TARTAR, 1.

wine'ber'ry (wīn'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). [Cf. AS. wīnberiġe grape. See WINE; BERRY. Cf. WHINBERRY.] a Obs. The grape. b Dial. Eng. The red currant; also, the gooseberry. c Dial. Eng. The bilberry Vaccinium myrtillus. d A raspberry (Rubus phoenicolasius) of China and Japan, grown both for ornament and for its small red acid fruits, half enclosed in the hairy calyx. e In New Zealand: (1) The tutu. (2) The makomako.

wine'bib'ber (wīn'bĭb'ĕr), n. One who drinks wine to excess; a tippler. Prov. xxiii. 20. — wine'bib'ber·y (-ĕr·ĭ), n. — wine'bib'bing (-ĭng), n. & adj.

wine biscuit. A delicate biscuit served with wine.

wine black. A rich black pigment made by charring lees of wine. Cf. FRANKFORT BLACK.

Wine'bren·ne'ri·an (wīn'brĕ·nēr'ĭ·ăn), n. A member of the Church of God in North America. See CHURCH OF GOD IN NORTH AMERICA.

wine bush. = 1st BUSH, 3 a.

wine card. In hotels, etc., a card bearing a list of the wines that may be ordered.

wine'-cask' bor'er (bōr'ĕr; 181). Any of several ambrosia beetles that make burrows in the wood of wine casks. See AMBROSIA BEETLE.

wine cellar. A cellar adapted or used for storing wine; loosely, a stock of wines.

wine'con'ner (wīn'kŏn'ĕr), n. A winetaster or wine tester.

wine cooler. A vessel, as a pail containing ice, in which bottled wine is placed to be cooled before serving.

wine'-cup', n. The fringed poppy mallow.

wined (wīnd), adj. Mixed or flavored with wine.

wine ferment. Wine yeast.

wine fly. Any fly found about winevats, etc. as the vinegar fly.

wine fountain. A covered urn or urn-shaped vessel, used in the 18th century, from which wine was drawn through a faucet.

wine gallon. See GALLON, 1.

wine'glass' (wīn'glăs'), n. A small glass from which to drink wine, the form often varying with the wine.

wine'glass·ful' (-glăs·fŏŏl'), n.; pl. -GLASSFULS (-fŏŏlz'). As much as a wineglass will hold, usually reckoned at 2 fluid ounces or 4 tablespoonfuls (59.1 ml.).

wine grape. Any grape used in making wine; specif., the European grape Vitis vinifera.

wine'grow'er (wīn'grō'ĕr), n. One who cultivates a vineyard, and makes wine. — wine'grow'ing, n. — wine'grow'ing, adj.

wine'house' (-hous'), n. Orig., a public house where wine was served; now, a business house that deals in wines.

wine lees 1. Sediment deposited by wine.

2. The color dregs of wine.

wine'like' (wīn'līk'), adj. Resembling or suggesting wine.

win'e·may (wĭn'ĕ·mā), n. [AS. winemǣg.] A loving kinsman. Obs.

wine measure. A system of measures for wine; specif., an old system (with units smaller than in beer measure) by which wine and spirits were sold. See GALLON, 1.

wine of antimony. A solution of tartar emetic in sherry wine or diluted alcohol and acetic ester.

wine of ipecac Pharm. A solution of an alcoholic extract of ipecac in sherry wine or diluted alcohol.

wine of opium. Pharm. A solution of opium in aromatized sherry or diluted alcohol, having the strength of ordinary laudanum; — called also Sydenham's laudanum.

wine palm. Any palm from the sap of which wine is made; toddy palm. See PALM WINE, MAURITIA.

wine plant. The common garden rhubarb.

wine press. a A vat for treading out the juice from grapes. b A machine for expressing the juice from grapes for wine. — wine presser.

wine purple. A color, reddish blue-red in hue, of high saturation and low brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

win'er (wīn'ĕr), n. Orig., a vintner; now, a winebibber.

wine red. Any of several colors resembling those of red wines, varying in hue from bluish-red to red, from low to high saturation, and from very low to low brilliance. Cf. COLOR, CLARET RED, BURGUNDY, PORT, VIN ROSÉ, WINE PURPLE.

---

wind'rowd'. Windrowed. R. S.
winds (wīnz). Var. of WINEE. wind'shaked', adj. Wind-shaken. Obs. wind'ward·ly, adj. = WINDWARD. wind'ward·most, adj. See -MOST.
wind'wards, n. = WINDWARD.
wine. ✝ VINE, WIN, to dwell. wine'draf', n. [See DRAFF.] Lees of wine. Obs.
Wine'land, n. = VINLAND. wine'less, adj. See -LESS.

win'er·y (wĭn'ĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -ERIES (-ĭz). [Cf. F. vinerie.] A wine-making establishment.

Wine'sap' (wīn'săp'), n. A medium-sized variety of deep-red winter apple, much grown in the United States.

wine'skin' (-skĭn'), n. A large bag made of almost the entire skin of an animal, used esp. in the Orient for holding wine.

wine'sop' (-sŏp'), n. Sops in wine. Obs.

wine stone. See 1st TARTAR, 1.

wine'tast'er (wīn'tās'tĕr), n. a One who tests wine by tasting. b A pipette used in sampling wine.

wine thrush. a Local, Eng. The European redwing. b A South African thrush (Turdus olivaceus).

wine'tree' (wīn'trē'), n. [AS. wīntrēow.] 1. A vine. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
2. Mountain ash. Local, U. S.

wine vault. a A vault where wine is stored. b A place where wine is served.

wine vinegar. See VINEGAR.

wine whey. Whey of milk coagulated by the use of wine.

wine yeast. Any yeast inducing alcoholic fermentation in grape juice, esp. Saccharomyces ellipsoideus.

wine yellow. A color, yellow in hue, of low saturation and high brilliance. Cf. COLOR. — wine'-yel'low, adj.

Win'fred (wĭn'frĕd; -frĭd; 119), n. [AS. Winfrith; cf. AS. wine friend (akin to OHG. wini, ON. vinr and E. WIN), and frithu peace (see FRITH peace).] Literally, win peace; — masculine proper name. Dim. Win.

wing (wĭng), n. [ME. winge, wenge, fr. ON. vengr (Dan & Sw. vinge); akin to D. waaien to fly, to blow. See 3d WIND.] 1. a An organ of aerial flight; one of the movable paired appendages by means of which certain animals, as most birds, bats, and many insects, are able to fly; also, such an appendage, even though rudimentary, if possessed by an animal belonging to a group characterized by the power of flight. Among vertebrates the wing is always a modified forelimb, corresponding to the arm of a man, and such organs are possessed only by birds, bats, and pterodactyls. The tegumentary expansions of flying lemurs, flying squirrels, and modern flying lizards, or dragons, are patagia, or parachutes. In flying fishes the large pectoral fins serve as the means of limited flight. In birds the wing surface is formed chiefly of feathers. In bats and pterodactyls it is a membranous skin stretched between the side of the body and one or more of the greatly elongated digits. See BIRD, 2; 3d BAT; PTERODACTYL. In invertebrates true wings are possessed only by insects, which usually have two pairs. They consist of a double chitinous membrane strengthened by numerous tubular veins, and may have one or both surfaces covered with minute overlapping scales. In mythology, art, etc., wings are ascribed to various beings, as angels, cherubim, gods, or dragons. Wings are often symbolical, as of speed, protecting care, or omnipresence. b Any of various winglike structures, as of the flying fish, flying frog, flying lemur (see Illusts. of these); esp. the broad thin anterior lobes of the foot of a pteropod. c The shoulder of a hare or rabbit. d Humorous. A human arm.
2. a Means or instrument of flight; means of travel, progress, or rapid motion.

Fiery expedition be my wing. Shak.

b Act or manner of flying; passage by flying; flight.

Light thickens; and the crow Makes wing to the rooky wood. Shak.

3. An appendage or part likened to a wing in shape, appearance, or position, as one, or either of a pair, attached to a side or the sides of something; specif.: a A device to be attached at the shoulders, as for flight or swimming. b An ornament worn on the shoulder; a small epaulet or shoulder knot; also, a shoulder piece extending over the sleeves, as on a 17th-century gown or doublet. See PINION. c Either of the parts of a double door or screen. d A curved mudguard for a vehicle; a fender; also, a projecting sidepiece of a dashboard or carriage top. e The arc-shaped piece on a pair of wing compasses or dividers, which permits the legs to be fixed at a desired angle. f A branch office.
4. A side or outlying region or district; as, either wing of the bay.
5. Anything which agitates the air as a wing does, or which is put in winglike motion by the air, as a fan or vane to winnow grain, the vane or sail of a windmill, etc.
6. a The wing (sense 1 a) of a bird, used as food or as a brush, or imitated, as in art, in uniform, or on an artificial fly. b Poetic. A sail; — chiefly pl. c A bird; as, not a wing of game.
7. Kind; sort. Cf. FEATHER, n., 5. Obs.
8. A faction; either of two opposing groups within an organization or society.
9. Aeronautics. The portion of a main supporting surface of an airplane on either side of the plane of symmetry; thus, a monoplane has two wings, a biplane four.
10. Agric. Mach. The outside corner of the share of a moldboard plow.
11. Anat. An ala; as, the wings of the nose.
12. Archery. a A vane. b The part of a footing forming a side of the splice on an arrow; — called also tail, point. c Rare. The barb of an arrow.
13. Arch. A part or feature of a building projecting from and subordinate to the main or central part; as, one of the wings of a palace.
14. Baseball. An arm, esp. a throwing or pitching arm. Slang.
15. Bot. a Any foliaceous, membranous, or woody expansion, as that along the sides of certain stems and petioles, of samaras, of some capsules, etc. b Either of the two lateral petals of a papilionaceous flower.
16. Chess. Either side of the board; as, the queen's wing.
17. Civil Engin. An addition at the end of a dam, but not necessarily in line with it; a wing wall.
18. Fishery. A projecting part on one side of a net.
19. Fort. In a hornwork or crownwork, either of the longer sides connecting it with the main work.
20. Furniture. In an armchair, a sidepiece at the top.
21. Mach. Either or any of two or more finlike projections, serving as guides, as on certain forms of check valves (called wing valves) or as stops, as on a gudgeon (called wing gudgeon) to prevent turning in the socket, etc. See 3d GUDGEON, Illust.
22. Mil. & Nav. The right or left division of an army, fleet, or any command. There may be a center and a right and left wing, or the entire body or line may be divided between the wings. A battalion of infantry and a squadron of cavalry are usually the smallest bodies of troops divided into wings.
23. Mil. Aviation. a A unit of aircraft, chiefly tactical, consisting of a varying number and combination of squadrons. b U. S. A unit consisting of two groups. Cf. GROUP, SQUADRON.
24. Naut. That part of the hold or orlop of a vessel which is nearest the sides.
25. Politics. A section of an organization, as of a party or legislative chamber, representing a group or faction holding distinct opinions or policies. Cf. LEFT WING, RIGHT WING.
26. Railroads. A wing rail.
27. Shipbuilding. A platform, or overhanging portion of the deck, projecting forward and abaft the paddle box of a side-wheel steamer, to support the box and protect the wheel.
28. Sports. In certain team games, one of the positions, or one of the players in such positions, on either side of a center position or of the central lengthwise line of the field, court, rink, etc., called left wing or right wing, respectively, looking in a direction towards the opponents' goal; esp., such a position or player on the forward line of a team. The flying wing in Canadian rugby football is a position or player at the far end of the line of scrimmage.
29. Theater. a One of the side scenes. b A chamber or platform at either side of the stage proper; also, one of the sidepieces of scenery.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wingbeat	wing-hoofed	wing-margined wing bone	wing-leafed	wing power wing-borne	wing-leaved	wing-shaped wing-broken	wing-limed	wing-wide wing-clipped	wing-maimed

— on the wing. a Supported by, or flying with, the wings; flying. b Moving from one place to another; moving about; traveling. c Departing. — on the wings of the wind. With the utmost speed. — on wings. As if flying; lightheartedly. — to take wing. a To begin flying. b To fly or flee away; to depart. — under the wing, or wings, of. Under the care or protection of; in the charge of.

-wing (-wĭng). A combining form of the noun wing, as in:

anglewing	forewing	pigeonwing
batswing	gauzewing	pinwing beeswing	goldenwing	redwing bluewing	goosewing	saberwing bronzewing	greenwing	sapphirewing clearwing	lacewing	spurwing closewing	lapwing	swallow-wing copperwing	merrywing	underwing duckwing	notchwing	waxwing featherwing	outwing	whitewing wing (wĭng), adj. Of or pertaining to a wing; winged.

wing (wĭng), v., WINGED (wĭngd); WING'ING. Transitive:
1. a To fit with or as with wings; hence, to enable to fly or to move swiftly; to give speed to.

His own feather . . .
Winged the shaft that quivered in his heart. Byron.

b To supply with wings; as, a wide-winged house.

The main battle, whose puissance on either side Shall be well winged with our chiefest horse. Shak.

2. a To pass through in flight; to traverse with or as with wings; as, an arrow wings the sky. b To transport by flight; — chiefly used reflexively.

I, an old turtle,
Will wing me to some withered bough. Shak.

3. To effect or achieve by wings or by flying; as, the dove winged her way home; the aviator winged his flight over the enemy trenches.
4. To brush or sweep with or as with a wing. Dial.
5. To let fly; send off; dispatch; as, to wing a shaft, a telegram, a word.
6. To wound in the wing; to disable a wing of; as, to wing a bird; hence, colloq., to wound, as with a bullet, without killing; as, the duelist winged his adversary; also, to kill by shooting.
7. To carve (a bird). Obs.
8. Archery. To fletch.
9. Naut. To shift (weights) in a vessel to near the sides, in order to lengthen the period.

—, Intransitive: 1. To go with or as if with wings; to fly; as, a crow winging across a cornfield.
2. To swing one or more of the legs, more commonly the front ones, out from the body; — said of a horse. Cant.

wing and wing. Naut. With sails boomed out on either side; — said of a schooner, or her sails, when going nearly or directly before the wind with the foresail on one side and the mainsail on the other.

Win'gate sand'stone (wĭng'gāt). [From Wingate, Bernalillo Co., N. Mex.] Geol. A massive red sandstone which forms the basal member of the Jurassic in northern New Mexico and northeastern Arizona.

wing back formation. Am. Football. A formation on the offense by which one of the backfield players is placed just behind, or slightly beyond and to the rear of, the end; — called also single wing back formation. In a double wing back formation, two of the backfield players are thus placed, one behind each end of the line.

wing band. a A wing bar (sense a). b A metal clip placed in the wings of chickens, etc., used esp. to identify pedigreed ducks. — v. t. To mark (chicks, etc.) with wing bands.

wing bar. a A line of contrasting color across the middle of the wing, made by the markings on the wing coverts. b A sand bar which partially crosses the entrance to a bay or mouth of a river. c A bar running from the body to either wing of an airplane.

wing bay. See SPECULUM, n., 6.

wing bearing. Agric. Mach. The flattened portion of a wing. It carries part of the down thrust.

wing bolt. A bolt equipped with a wing nut.

wing bow (bō). 1. The lesser coverts of the shoulder or bend of a bird's wing when distinctively colored; — said esp. of poultry.
2. = BOW TIE.

wing car. A car suspended off the center line of an airship; — called also sidecar.

wing case. = ELYTRON a.

wing cell. = CELL, n., 16.

wing chair. An upholstered easy chair with high solid back and sides, the latter turned at such an angle that they provide a rest for the head and protection from drafts; — called also draft chair.

wing clipping. Act or process of clipping off the wings. — wing clipper.

wing collar. A man's stand-up collar the upper corners of which are turned down to form wings.

wing compass. See COMPASS, n., 7.

wing cover. = ELYTRON a.

wing covert. The coverts of the wing quills. See COVERT, n., 6.

wing'cut' (wĭng'kŭt'), n. Theater. See WOODCUT, 3.

wing dam. A pier dam. — wing'-dam', v. t.

wing deck. = WING, 27.

wing divider or dividers. A pair of dividers like a wing compass. See COMPASS, n., 7.

winged (wĭngd; also, esp. in some collocations, or rhetorical or poet., wĭng'ĕd, -ĭd; 119), adj. 1. a Furnished with or as with wings; as, the Winged Victory of Samothrace. b Having winglike expansions; as, a broad-winged palace.
2. Transported by wings; using wings in flight; as, the winged creatures of the air; soaring with or as if with wings; hence: a Elevated; lofty; sublime.

How winged the sentiment that virtue is to be followed for its own sake. J. S. Harford.

b Swift; rapid. "Bear this sealed brief with winged haste to the lord marshal." Shak.
3. Wounded or hurt in the wing; hence, Colloq., of persons, wounded; hurt; also, killed.
4. Swarming with birds. "The winged air." Milton.
5. Bot. a Furnished with wings. b Obs. Pinnate.
6. Her. Having wings of specified tincture.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

winged-footed, winged-heeled, winged-leaved.

-winged (-wĭngd; see the adj.) A combining form of winged, denoting having (so many or such) wings, as in:

bay-winged	lace-winged	smooth-winged blue-winged	letter-winged	soft-winged broad-winged	light-winged	spur-winged corky-winged	long-winged	stiff-winged death-winged	red-winged	straight-winged double-winged	rough-winged	strong-winged eagle-winged	round-winged	swift-winged feeble-winged	sack-winged	two-winged fin-winged	scaly-winged	weak-winged fleecy-winged	scissor-winged	web-winged golden-winged	sharp-winged	white-winged goosewinged	sheath-winged	wide-winged green-winged	short-winged	yellow-winged winged chair. A wing chair.

winged cudweed. Clammy everlasting.

winged disk. A sun disk.

winged elm. The wing elm.

winged everlasting. An Australian herb (Ammobium alatum) with white-woolly foliage and winged stems.

Winged Horse. a Astron. = PEGASUS, 3. b Gr. Myth. = PEGASUS, 1.

winged ironweed. Golden ironweed.

winged pea. A European annual herb (Lotus tetragonolobus) having a 4-winged, edible pod.

winged petiole. Bot. A petiole having a lateral wing or foliaceous expansion often decurrent on the main stem.

winged pigweed. A tumbleweed (Cycloloma atriplicifolium) of central North America, having the fruiting calyx horizontally winged.

Winged Victory. The Nike of Samothrace.

winged words. Words that speedily and effectively bear their message; — from a phrase in Homer.

winged yam. The white yam.

wing elm. A North American elm (Ulmus alata) having the twigs and young branches with prominent corky wings or projections. The hard brown wood is sometimes used for tool handles, etc.

wing'er, n. 1. A cask stowed in a wing (sense 24).
2. Football. A player on a wing (sense 28).

wing feather. One of the feathers of a bird's wing; esp. one of the flight feathers, or remiges.

wing'fish' (wĭng'fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH, -FISHES (-fĭsh'ĕz; -ĭz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. A sea robin having large winglike pectoral fins.

wing flap. Aeronautics. a An aileron. b A section cut out at the trailing edge of a wing and attached to it by hinges. Wing flaps are operated independently of the ailerons, and in most cases automatically.

wing'-foot'ed, adj. 1. Having winged feet; swift; fleet.
2. Zool. a Having part or all of the feet adapted for flying. b Having the anterior lobes of the foot so modified as to form a pair of winglike swimming organs; — said of the pteropod mollusks. See PTEROPODA, Illust.

wing game. Game birds.

wing gap. = GAP, n., 4.

wing gudgeon. See WING, n., 21.

wing'hand'ed (wĭng'hăn'dĕd; -dĭd; 66; 119), adj. Zool. Having the anterior limbs or hands adapted for flight, as the bats.

wing jam. A jam of logs slanting upstream until the upper end rests against the shore.

win'gle (wĭng'g'l), v. i. [Scot., of Scand. origin; cf. Icel. & Sw. vingla to turn, sway, stagger, Nor. vingle to flutter, stray, shilly-shally.] To wind in and out. Southern U. S.

wing'less, adj. a Without wings; also, having very rudimentary wings, as an apteryx. b Void of birds. — wing'less-ness, n.

Wingless Victory. The Nike Apteros.

wing'let (wĭng'lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. A very small wing or winglike appendage or part; also, a bastard wing, or alula.

wing loading or load. Aeronautics. The gross weight of an airplane fully loaded, divided by the area of the supporting surface. The area used in computing the wing loading should include ailerons, but not the stabilizer or elevators.

wing'-loose', adj. Flying at liberty.

wing'man·ship (wĭng'măn·shĭp), n. [From wing, after horsemanship.] Power or skill in flying. Rare.

wing net. A fishing stake net with side extensions.

wing nut. 1. A nut with wings or ears for the thumb and finger to grasp.
2. Any tree of the genus Pterocarya.

wing over. Aviation. Half a loop. See 2d LOOP, 3.

wing pad. Zool. The undeveloped wings of the active pupa of many insects.

wing passage. A passage on a vessel below the main deck, next to a side.

wing petal. Bot. = WING, 15 b.

wing'piece' (wĭng'pēs'), n. Theater. A piece of scenery slid in from the wings.

wing plow. A snowplow with side extensions.

wing'post' (wĭng'pōst'), n. Post by carrier pigeons. Obs.

wing quill. One of the flight feathers, or remiges, of a bird's wing.

wing rail. Railroads. a = GUARDRAIL a. b Either of the outside lateral rails of a frog (see FROG, n., 14, Illust.).

wing resistance. Aeronautics. See DRAG, n., 11.

wing sac. A small pouch in the wing of any animal; specif., a pouch in the antebrachial membrane of a bat as in those of the genus Saccopteryx.

wing screw. A wing nut.

wing'seed' (wĭng'sēd'), n. Any of various plants having margined, or winged, seeds, as the hop tree.

---

wine'-sprung', adj. Intoxicated. Obs.

wine'y (wīn'ĭ). Var. of WINY. wine'yard, n. Vineyard. Obs.

winfree, v. i. To set free. Obs. Scot.

win'ful, adj. = WINNING. Rare.
wing'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

wingd. Winged. Ref. Sp. wing'ed·ly, adv. of WINGED.

wing'ed·ness, n. See -NESS. wing'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wing sheath. An elytron.

wing shell. 1. An elytron. Obs.

2. a Any of various marine bivalves of the genus Avicula or allied genera, in which the hinge border projects like a wing. b Any shell of the genus Strombus. c Any pteropod shell.

(½) Wing Shell (Avicula hirundo). wing shooting. Act or practice of shooting birds on the wing.

wing shot. a A shot at a flying bird. b One skilled in wing shooting.

wing'-shot', adj. a Shot in the wing. b Shot while flying.

wing slot. Aeronautics. An adjustable opening between (1) the leading edge of an aileron and the rest of a wing; (2) the leading edge of a wing and a cap fitting over it.

wing snail. Any pteropod, esp. one with a shell.

wing'spread' (wĭng'sprĕd'), n. The spread of the wings; specif., the extreme measurement between the tips or outer margins of the wings, as of a bird or insect, when fully extended or expanded; as, a wingspread of five inches.

wing'stem' (-stĕm'), n. The golden ironweed.

wing stopper. Naut. A cable stopper in a wing of a vessel's hold. Now Rare.

wing'-swift', adj. a Swift on the wing. b As swift as if winged.

wing tie. 1. A railroad tie having the pith of the tree at or near its side about midway between the top and bottom.

2. A bow tie, esp., one with flaring ends.

wing'-tip' flare. Mil. An electrically operated light attached to the tips of airplane wings.

wing-tip float. A small float on the underside of a tip of the lower wing of a seaplane.

wing'-tipped', adj. Clipped at the tips of the wings.

wing top. Chem. A wing-shaped metal top which fits on a Bunsen burner and gives a broad flat flame.

wing tract. The tract bearing the wing feathers, including the primaries, secondaries, and wing coverts. Cf. PTERYLOSIS.

wing transom. Shipbuilding. The upper and outer transom of the stern frame.

wing truss. Aeronautics. The framing, comprising struts, wires or tie rods, and spars, by which the wing loads of an airplane are transmitted to the fuselage.

wing valve. See WING, n., 21.

wing wale. = WING, n., 27.

wing wall. A subordinate lateral wall, such as a water wing.

wing'-wea'ry, adj. Weary from flight or traveling. — wing'-wea'ri-ly, adv. — wing'-wea'ri-ness, n.

wing'y (wĭng'ĭ), adj. 1. Having wings; hence, rapid.

2. Soaring with or as if with wings; lofty.

Those wingy mysteries in divinity. Sir T. Browne.

3. Resembling or suggesting a wing or wings, as in shape.

wing'y, n. A one-armed man. Slang.

Win'i-fred (wĭn'ĭ-frĕd; -frĭd), n. [ML. Winefreda; cf. AS. Winefrith and Winfrith, names of men. See WINFRED.] Feminine proper name. Dim. Win'nie, Win.

win'ish (wĭn'ĭsh), adj. Of the nature of or like wine.

wink (wĭngk), v.; WINKED (wĭngkt) or, Rare, WINKT; WINK'-ING. [ME. winken, fr. AS. wincian; akin to D. wenken, G. winken to wink, nod, beckon, OHG. winkan, AS. wincel a corner, wince a winch, Lith. vengti to avoid, and ult. to L. vagari to wander. See VAGARY; cf. LAPWING, WENCH, WINCH, n., WINCH instrument.] Intransitive: 1. Oris., to close one's eyes; now, to close and open the eyelids quickly; to nictitate; blink.

A baby of some three months old, who winked, and turned aside its little face from the too vivid light of day. Hawthorne.

2. To close; to blink; — said of the eyes. Archaic.

3. To avoid seeing or noting, as if by shutting the eyes; to connive at anything; to be tolerant; — usually with at, also formerly with against, on, or upon.

Obstinacy cannot be winked at, but must be subdued. Locke.

4. To gleam or flash fitfully or intermittently; to flicker; twinkle; as, the light winks.

5. To give a hint or sign by a wink, often of one eye only.

Wink at the footman to leave him without a plate. Swift.

6. Obs. a To give a glance or sign, as of command. b To close one eye in aiming; to aim. c To nod; sleep; nap.

—, Transitive: 1. To cause (the eyes) to wink.

2. To affect or influence in any way by or as if by winking; as, to wink back or away one's tears.

3. To move flickeringly; twitch.

4. To signal by flashlights.

Syn. — WINK, BLINK. Lit., to WINK is to close and open the eyelids rapidly; to BLINK is to wink with half-shut eyes, as if dazzled, or weak-eyed, or scarcely awake; as, "Dare not to breathe . . , or e'en wink, lest ye wake the monster" (Shelley); cf. "the landscape winking through the heat" (Tennyson); "A snake's small eye blinks dull and sly" (Coleridge); "He was . . . hauled up . . . blinking and tottering . . . into the blessed sun" (Stevenson). Figuratively, wink implies connivance or the conveyance of a hint; blink, evasion or shirking; as, to wink at neglect of duty, to blink the issue. Cf. GAZE.

wink, n. 1. Act of closing the eyelids in or as in sleep; hence, a sleep; nap. Hence, Colloq., forty winks, a short nap.

2. A glance, esp., formerly, one signifying command, agreement, etc.

3. The time required for such a glance; hence, an instant; a twinkling; as, he was gone in a wink.

4. Act of winking; a blink, esp. with one eye, as in conveying a hint or sign; hence, a hint thus given.

The stockjobber thus from 'Change Alley goes down,
And tips you, the freeman, a wink. Swift.

5 A sparkle; gleam; flash; twinkle.

-wink (-wĭngk). A combining form of the noun wink, as in: eyewink, hoodwink, jinniwink, tiddlywink.

wink (wĭngk), n. A periwinkle. Dial. Eng.

wink, n. [Var. of WINCH.] Dial. Eng. a A windlass or winch. b A machine for twisting straw or hay rope. c A well.

wink'-a-peep', n. 1. pl. The eyes. Obs.

2. Also wink'-and-peep'. The scarlet pimpernel. Dial. Eng.

‖win'kel (vĭng'kĕl), n. [D., a shop.] A store or shop where all sorts of goods are sold. S. Afr. — win'kel-man, n.

wink'er (wĭngk'ĕr), n. One who or that which winks; hence: a A horse's blinder; b Colloq. An eye or eyelash; — chiefly pl. c pl., Colloq. Spectacles. d Organ Building. A concussion bellows.

wink'er (wĭngk'ĕr), v. t. To provide with winkers.

wink'ered (-ĕrd), adj. Having winkers, or blinders.

That's the playboy on the winkered mule. Synge.

wink'ing, n. 1. Act of one that winks.

2. A slumbering; sleep; a nap.

3. A motion or succession of flashes like winking.

— like winking. In a trice. Slang.

wink'ing, adj. That winks. — wink'ing-ly, adv.

winking cartilage. The nictitating membrane when cartilaginous, as in the horse and certain other mammals.

winking muscle. The orbicularis oculi around the eye, which by its contraction draws the eyelids together.

winking owl. An Australian diurnal owl (Ninox connivens).

win'kle (wĭng'k'l), n. [AS. wincle (in comp.). Cf. 1st PERIWINKLE.] a Any periwinkle. b Any of various large marine spiral whelklike snails, esp., in the United States, of the genus Busycon. They destroy large numbers of oysters and clams by drilling their shells and rasping away their flesh.

Winkle (Busycon canaliculata). Female. c Canal; s Siphon; h Head; p Proboscis; r Odontophore; m m Mantle; f Foot; o Operculum.

win'kle, v. i. [wink, v. + 1st -le.] To twinkle.

Win'kle, Mr. (wĭng'k'l). A member of the club in Dickens's Pickwick Papers, represented as a cockney pretender to sporting skill.

Winkle, Rip van. See RIP VAN WINKLE.

win'kle-hawk' (wĭng'k'l-hôk'), n. Also win'kle-hole' (-hōl'). [D. winkel-haak a carpenter's square.] A rectangular rent in cloth. Local, U. S.

wink'lot (wĭngk'lŏt), n. A young woman. Scot.

win'ly (wĭn'lĭ), adv. [AS. wynlīce.] a Obs. Pleasantly. b Dial. Eng. Quietly.

win'na-ble (wĭn'ă-b'l), adj. That may be won. Colloq.

win'nard (wĭn'ĕrd), n. The European redwing. Local, Eng.

Win'ne-ba'go (wĭn'ĕ-bā'gō), n.; pl. -GOS, -GOES (-gōz). An Indian of an important Siouan tribe formerly occupying the region south of Green Bay in eastern Wisconsin, where more than half remain, the rest being gathered upon their reservation in Nebraska.

Win'neck-e's com'et (vĭn'ĕ-kĕz). [After F. A. T. Winnecke (1835–97), Ger. astronomer.] = PONS-WINNECKE'S COMET.

win'nel (wĭn''l), n. The European whitethroat. Local, Eng.

win'ner (wĭn'ĕr), n. One who or that which wins; as: a Obs. A breadwinner; also, a reaper. b A victor, esp. in games and sports; also, that which brings victory. c Slang. One that wins admiration. d Faro. The card left in the box, face up, after each turn. e Mining. A faceman.

win'ning (wĭn'ĭng), n. 1. Act of one that wins; acquisition; gaining; victory.

2. That which one wins; esp., the money, etc., won by success in any competition; any profit or gain; — chiefly pl.

Ye seek land and sea for your winnings. Chaucer.

3. Capture; a conquest. Archaic.

4. Coal Mining. A shaft or pit opening made to win coal; also, a portion of a coal bed ready for mining, or a more or less isolated section of a mine, etc.

win'ning, adj. 1. That wins; esp., successful in competition; being a winner; hence, adapted to win favor; attractive; charming; as, a winning address.

His voice was so wistful and winning. Willa Cather.

2. [From WINNING, n.] Of or pertaining to, or used for or in, the act of winning.

Syn. — Gaining; winsome, captivating.

Ant. — Losing; disagreeable, repulsive, unpleasant.

— win'ning-ly, adv. — win'ning-ness, n.

winning gallery. Court Tennis. See GALLERY, n., 8. winning hazard. Eng. Billiards. See HAZARD, n., 7 b.

winning opening. Court Tennis. The dedans, grille, or winning gallery; — so called because a stroke into any of these openings is a winning stroke.

winning post. See 1st POST, 6.

winning suit. At bridge, hearts or spades; — so called because it is easier to win game with one of these suits as the trump than with clubs or diamonds.

win'ni-nish (wĭn'ĭ-nĭsh), win'no-nish (wĭn'ō-nĭsh), n. The ouananiche.

win'nock (wĭn'ŭk), n. A window. Scot.

win'nock-bunk'er (-bŭngk'ĕr), n. A window seat forming a chest; also, a window hole. Scot.

win'now (wĭn'ō; 203), v.; WIN'NOWED (-ōd); WIN'NOW-ING (-ō-ĭng). [ME. windewen, winewen, fr. AS. windwian; akin to Goth. winthjan (in comp.), *winthi-*skauro a fan, L. ventilare to fan, to winnow, L. vannus a fan for winnowing, G. wanne, OHG. wanna. See WIND air; cf. FAN, n., VENTILATE.] Transitive: 1. To separate, and drive off, the chaff from by means of wind; to fan; as, to winnow grain.

He winnoweth barley tonight in the threshing floor. Ruth iii. 2.

2. To treat in a way likened to fanning out the chaff from the good grain; to sift, as for separating falsehood from truth, good from bad, or the like; to analyze and assort; hence, to eliminate; also, to select.

Winnow well this thought, and you shall find
'T is light as chaff that flies before the wind. Dryden.

3. To blow on, as for fanning out chaff from grain; hence, to disperse or scatter by or as if by wind; as, the breeze winnowed the leaves; hair winnowed by the wind.

4. To beat with or as with wings; to make (one's way), or to make a way through, by flying.

Where it [a snipe] winnows a random zigzag course. A. Newton.

5. To wave; to brandish; to flap. Obs.

—, Intrans.: 1. To separate chaff from grain by fanning.

Winnow not with every wind Ecclus. v. 9.

2. To move or pass through the air with wings; to fly.

The silent coming and going of wings . . . that came winnowing in from afar on the sea. Dallas Lore Sharp.

3. To blow in gusts.

Syn. — See SIFT.

win'now (wĭn'ō), n. 1. A device for winnowing.

2. Act of winnowing; also, a motion like, or likened to, that of winnowing.

win'now-corb' (wĭn'ō-kôrb'), n. A basket for winnowing. Cf. LIKNON.

win'now-er (-ĕr), n. One who or that which winnows; a winnowing machine.

win'now-ing (-ĭng), adj. That winnows. — win'now-ing-ly, adv.

winnowing basket or fan. An ancient device for winnowing grain; in Her., a representation of this.

Winnowing Basket. Her.

winnowing machine. A winnower or fanning machine.

winnow sheet. Also winnow cloth. A cloth used in winnowing. Obs. exc. Dial.

Wi-no'na (wĭ-nō'nȧ), n. Also We-no'nah (wē-). Feminine proper name.

win'race' (wĭn'rās'), n. [win, v. + race, n.] Horse Racing. In trotting, the fastest time made by the winning horse in a public race, or in an event in which it stood first in the summary.

win'some (wĭn'sŭm), adj.; WIN'SOM-ER (-sŭm-ĕr); WIN'-SOM-EST. [AS. wynsum; akin to OHG. wunnisam, and to AS. wynn joy, OS. wunnia, OHG. wunna, wunni, G. wonne, Goth. winan to rejoice (in unwunands sad). See WONT, adj.; 1st -SOME.] 1. Causing joy or pleasure; agreeable; pleasant; winning; as, a winsome voice.

2. Cheerful; merry; gay; lighthearted.

Misled by ill example, and a winsome nature. Jeffrey.

Syn. — Captivating, charming, attractive.

Ant. — Disagreeable, repulsive.

— win'some-ly, adv. — win'some-ness, n.

win'some, v. t. To be winsome. Obs.

win'ter (wĭn'tĕr), n. [AS.; akin to OFris. & D. winter, OS. & OHG. wintar, G. winter, Dan. & Sw. vinter, ON. vetr, Goth. wintrus, prob. orig., the rainy or wet season, and akin to Lith. vanduo water, E. WATER.] 1. The season of the year, in any region, in which the noonday sun shines most obliquely; the coldest season of the year; hence, cold weather. North of the equator, winter is popularly taken to include the months of December, January, and February (see SEASON, n., 4); south of the equator, as in South Africa, South America, etc., these months are summer months. Astronomically, north of the equator, it may be considered to last from the winter solstice, about December 21st, till the vernal equinox, about March 21st.

Barren winter, with his wrathful nipping cold. Shak.

Winter lingering chills the lap of May. Goldsmith.

2. A year as marked by the winter season; as, a man of seventy winters. "Of thirty winter he was old." Chaucer.

3. A period likened to winter, as being marked by dreariness, lack of activity, adversity, or the like; a period of decay, old age, death, or the like.

Life's autumn past, I stand on winter's verge. Wordsworth.

4. The last load of grain harvested; also, the state of having finished harvesting, or a feast to celebrate it. Obs. Scot.

5. The winter yellowlegs. Local, U. S.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

winter-beaten	winter-gray	winter-shaken winter-blasted	winter-grown	winter-sown winter-blooming	winter-hardened	winter-standing winter-boding	winter-long	winter-starved winter-bound	winter-loving	winter-swollen winter-chilled	winter-made	winter-thin winter-damaged	winter-old	winter-verging winter-fattened	winter-proof	winter-visaged winter-fed	winter-pruned	winter-wasted winter-felled	winter-reared	winter-withered winter-flowering	winter-ripening	winter-worn winter-gladdening	winter-seeming win'ter, adj. Of or pertaining to winter; of the kind that occurs or is engaged in, issued, occupied, etc., in winter; suited for use or wear in winter or to endure through the winter.

win'ter (wĭn'tĕr), v. i.; WIN'TERED (-tĕrd); WIN'TER-ING. To pass the winter; to hibernate; as, to winter in Florida. — v. t. To keep, feed, or manage, during the winter; as, to winter young cattle on straw; also to affect like winter.

Before the ashes wintered it to nothing. Galsworthy.

winter aconite. A small Old World perennial herb (Eranthis hyemalis) producing its bright-yellow flowers often before snow is off the ground. It is often cultivated.

winter annual. Bot. A plant which germinates in autumn, lives through the winter, and produces seed and dies in the following season.

winter apple. Any late-ripening apple that keeps well in winter.

Winter Banana. Hort. An American variety of winter apple having a pale-yellow skin mottled with pink and an aromatic flavor.

winter barley, etc. See WINTER WHEAT.

winter beer. Schenk beer.

win'ter-ber'ry (wĭn'tĕr-bĕr'ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). Any of various American species of holly (Ilex), esp. I. verticillata (black alder) and I. laevigata (smooth winterberry). They have bright-red berries persistent through the winter.

winter blight. Plant Pathol. a Mosaic of the tomato. b California blight.

win'ter-bloom' (wĭn'tĕr-blōōm'), n. a Witch hazel. b Azalea.

winter bonnet. The European gull (Larus canus); — from its dark head in winter plumage. Local, Eng.

win'ter-bourne' (wĭn'tĕr-bōrn'; -bōōrn'; 181), n. A stream which flows only or chiefly in winter.

As water in the icy winterbourne Floweth unheard. Francis Brett Young.

winter brake. The cliff brake Pellaea atropurpurea.

winter bud. a Zool. A statoblast. b Bot. In woody plants, the dormant, much condensed shoot, and its protective scales or covering, which enable it to survive the winter.

winter bunting. The snow bunting.

Win'i-fred Jen'kins. See JENKINS, WINIFRED.

winkt. Winked. Ref. Sp.

winn. Scot. var. of WIN, to winnow.

win'na (wĭn'nȧ; wŭn'nȧ). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WILL NOT.

winne. ✝ WIN.

Win'ne-cow'et (wĭn'ĕ-kou'ĕt), n. See PENNACOOK.

win'nel-straw', -straw'. Vars. of WINDLESTRAE, -STRAW.

Win'nie (wĭn'ĭ), n. Dim. of WINIFRED.

win'ni-pe-sau'kee (wĭn'ĭ-pē-sô'kē), n. See PENNACOOK.

win'nle (wĭn''l). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WINDLE, a reel.

win'no-nish. See WINNINISH.

win'now-ing-ly, adj. of winnowing pres. part.

win'row'. Dial. var. of WINDROW.

win'sey. Var. of WINCEY.

Wins'low's fo-ra'men (wĭnz'-lōz). = EPIPLOIC FORAMEN.

winst. Winced. Ref. Sp.

win'ster, n. [win + -ster.] A tradeswoman. Obs.

wint (wĭnt). Var. of wound, past tense of WIND. Obs. exc. Scot.

wint (wĭnt). Dial. Eng. var. of WENT, plan.

Win'ter-a'ce-ae (wĭn'tĕr-ē'sē-ē), n. pl. [NL.] Syn. of MAGNOLIACEAE (in part).

win'ter-age (wĭn'tĕr-ĭj), n. = WINTERING.

Win'ter-a-na'ce-ae (wĭn'tĕr-ȧ-nā'sē-ē), n. pl. [NL.] Syn. of CANELLACEAE.

---

winter cherry. a Any plant of the genus Physalis, esp. the alkekengi, or its fruit; a ground cherry. b Balloon vine. c The Jerusalem cherry Solanum pseudocapsicum. winter chip bird. The American tree sparrow.
win'ter–clad', adj. Clothed suitably for winter. winter clover. The partridgeberry. U. S. winter count. A calendar or year record of the North American Indians with pictographic accounts of events, serving as tribal chronicles. winter cress. Any of several Eurasian yellow-flowered cresses of the genus Barbarea, esp. B. verna, sometimes cultivated for winter salad. winter crookneck. See CROOKNECK, 1. winter crop. Any crop fall-sown for growth during the winter and maturing in the spring, as winter oats.
winter daffodil. An autumn-blooming perennial herb (Sternbergia lutea), family Amaryllidaceae, of the Mediterranean region, with solitary yellow flowers. winter duck. a Eng. = PINTAIL a. b U. S. The old squaw. win'ter-dykes' (wĭn'tĕr-dīks'), n. pl. A clotheshorse. Scot. win'tered (wĭn'tĕrd), adj. 1. Aged. Obs.
2. Subjected to or chilled by winter.
winter egg. Zool. A form of thick-shelled egg of many fresh-water invertebrates. It lives through the winter and hatches in the spring, as disting. from the thin-shelled, rapidly developing, often parthenogenetic, summer egg produced by the same species in spring and summer.
win'ter-er (wĭn'tĕr-ĕr), n. One who winters or spends the winter in a (specified) place; esp., an animal taken in charge through a winter; also, one who tends such animals.
win'ter–fal'low, v. t. To fallow in the winter.
winter fallow. Ground fallowed in winter.
winter fat. A tomentose shrub (Eurotia lanata), family Chenopodiaceae, of the southwestern United States, yielding valuable forage to stock; — called also white sage. win'ter-feed' (wĭn'tĕr-fēd'), v. t. To feed through the winter. — win'ter-feed', n.
winter fever. Med. Pneumonia. Colloq.
winter flounder. A small edible flounder (Pseudopleuronectes americanus) of the northeastern United States.
winter flower. Japan allspice. winter garden. A garden maintained in winter, whether outdoors or in a conservatory. winter geranium. The chrysanthemum. Dial.
winter gillyflower. a Damewort. b Local, Eng. The wallflower Cheirinia cheiri. winter golf. Golf played under special rules, permitting a player to improve the lie of his ball when on the fairway.
winter grape. Chicken grape. winter green. A color, yellow-green in hue, of low saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.
win'ter-green' (wĭn'tĕr-grēn'), n. 1. In Great Britain, any plant of the genus Pyrola; esp., P. minor, which has small round basal evergreen leaves. In the United States these plants are called false, or English, wintergreen, or more often shinleaf.
2. In North America, a low evergreen herb (Gaultheria procumbens) with white bell-shaped flowers followed by spicy red berries often called checkerberries. The aromatic leaves yield oil of wintergreen, or wintergreen oil (called also gaultheria oil) used in flavoring and in medicine. As the oil consists almost entirely of methyl salicylate, birch oil or synthetic methyl salicylate is largely substituted for the natural product and sold as oil of wintergreen or gaultheria oil.
3. Any of various other species of Gaultheria.
4. Oil of wintergreen; also, its flavor, or a lozenge, etc., flavored with it. wintergreen family. The Pyrolaceae. wintergreen oil. See WINTERGREEN, 2. win'ter–ground', v. t. To cover over in winter, as for protection; as, to winter-ground the roots of a plant. winter gull. The common European gull (Larus canus). Local, Eng.
win'ter–hab'it-ed, adj. Agric. Having growth of such a character as to require two growing seasons to mature and produce seed; — said of winter wheats. Cf. SPRING-HABITED. winter hail. See 1st HAIL, 1. win'ter-hain' (wĭn'tĕr-hān'), v. i. [See 1st HAIN.] To let pasture lie without cattle in winter. Eng. winter hawk. The red-shouldered hawk. Local, U. S. winter heath. The spring heath. winter heliotrope. A European sweet coltsfoot (Petasites fragrans) with lilac flower heads.
winter hellebore. The winter aconite.
winter house. A house for residence in winter.
winter huckleberry. The farkleberry.
win'ter-ing, n. 1. The sheltering, feeding, and tending of animals in winter; also, an animal so kept.
2. A staying in a place through winter.
3. Provision, as for cattle, for winter feeding, etc. Obs.
winter itch. Med. An itching disorder occurring in autumn and winter, caused by temperature change, dryness of the skin, and woolen underclothing.
win'ter-ize (wĭn'tĕr-īz), v. t. To convert into winter oil. win'ter-kill' (-kĭl'), v. t. & i.; -KILLED' (-kĭld'); -KILL'ING. To kill or die by exposure to winter weather; as, the wheat was winterkilled. U. S. — win'ter-kill'ing, adj. & n. U. S.
Winter King, the. Frederick of Bohemia (son-in-law of James I of England), whose reign lasted only one winter (1619–20). winter leaf. The color sedge. winter lettuce. The endive. win'ter–love', n. Prob., cold or formal love-making. Jonson. win'ter-ly, adj. [Cf. AS. winterlīc.] Like or pertaining to winter; wintry; hence, cheerless; as, winterly news.
The air growing more winterly in the month of April. Camden.
— win'ter-li-ness, n.
winter melon. A variety (Cucumis melo inodorus) of muskmelon that keeps well. It has a green or whitish flesh, usually lacking aroma. winter mew. The European gull. Local, Eng.
winter midge. Any of various flies that sometimes appear in numbers or in swarms in winter; esp., species of Trichocera of the family Tipulidae. winter moth. Any of several species of geometrid moths which come forth in late fall, winter, or early spring, as the European species Cheimatobia brumata or the American Erannis tiliaria. The female of some of the species is wingless.
Win'ter Ne'lis (nē'lĭs; nā'lĭs'). [After Jean Charles Nélis, of Malines, Belgium, who raised it from seed early in 19th century.] Hort. A variety of winter-ripening pear. winter oats. See WINTER WHEAT. winter oil. Oil prepared so as not to solidify in moderately cold weather; specif., cottonseed oil deprived of the solid portion (stearin).
Winter Palace. A large building on the Neva in Leningrad (St. Petersburg), once a royal residence, but later used only for ceremonial functions and to contain Russian art collections. Since the Revolution of 1917 it has been used chiefly to house the collections of Soviet flags, documents, and historical revolutionary objects. winter pear. Any late-ripening pear that keeps well in winter.
winter pink. The trailing arbutus (see ARBUTUS, 2). U. S. winter plum. The persimmon Diospyros virginiana. win'ter–proud', adj. Prematurely grown or luxuriant; — said of crops.
winter purslane. a = INDIAN LETTUCE c. b The purslane speedwell. winter quarters. A winter residence or station; esp., the quarters of troops in winter. — win'ter–quar'ter, v. i. winter radish. A race of radishes having compact, firm-fleshed roots which may be kept through much of the winter.
win'ter–rig' (wĭn'tĕr-rĭg'), v. t. [See WINTER; RIDGE.] To fallow or till in winter. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
winter rocket. Yellow rocket. winter rose. a The Christmas rose Helleborus niger. b A late-blooming rose of the hybrid perpetual type. winter rye. See WINTER WHEAT. winter savory. See SAVORY, n., 1 b.
Win'ter's bark (wĭn'tĕrz). [After Captain John Winter, who first brought it to England from the Strait of Magellan in 1579.] The aromatic bark of an evergreen tree (Drimys winteri) found from Mexico to Cape Horn: It is tonic and stimulant, and was used by its discoverer to cure scurvy. winter shad. The gizzard shad (Dorosoma cepedianum). winter sheldrake. The merganser Mergus merganser americanus. winter skate. A skate (Raja diaphanes) of the Atlantic coast of the United States, closely resembling the tobacco-box skate but of a lighter color. It reaches a length of about three feet. winter sleep. Hibernation. winter snipe. The dunlin Pelidna alpina sakhalina. U. S. winter solstice. See SOLSTICE, 1 a. winter spice. Japan allspice. winter spore. Bot. Any resting spore serving to carry a plant over the winter. Cf. SUMMER SPORE. winter squash. Any variety of squash that is grown to be kept for winter use, as the Hubbard squash.
Winter's Tale, The. A comedy (produced 1611, printed 1623) by Shakespeare. See PERDITA, HERMIONE, FLORIZEL. winter strawberry. = STRAWBERRY TREE a. winter sucker. A sucker (Minytrema melanops) occurring from the Great Lakes to Texas and North Carolina. winter sunscald. See SUNSCALD, n., 2. winter sweet. The wild marjoram (Origanum vulgare); also, the related O. creticum of southern Europe.
winter sweet pea. Darling pea. winter teal. The greenwing. Local, U. S. win'ter-tide' (wĭn'tĕr-tīd'), n. Also win'ter-time' (-tīm'). [Cf. AS. wintertīd.] Winter (sense 1); the winter season.
winter vetch. The hairy vetch. winter wagtail. A wagtail (Motacilla cinerea); — called also gray wagtail. Local, Eng.
win'ter-weed' (wĭn'tĕr-wēd'), n. The ivy-leaved speedwell (Veronica hederaefolia), the foliage of which is hardy; also any of several other plants that survive the winter, as the chickweed Alsine media.
winter wheat, barley, oats, rye, etc. Wheat, barley, etc., sown in autumn, and ripening the following spring or summer.
winter wolfsbane. Winter aconite.
winter wren. A very small wren (Nannus hiemalis hiemalis) of the coniferous forests of the northern United States and Canada, migrating southward. It is dark cinnamon brown barred with black, and closely resembles the common European wren. It is an exquisite singer. winter yellowlegs. See YELLOWLEGS. win'tle (wĭn'tl), n. & v. i. Stagger; reel; wriggle; roll. Scot.
Win'ton dis-ease' (wĭn'tŭn). Veter. Cirrhosis of the liver in horses and cattle, resulting from the chronic irritating effect of ragworts and related poisonous plants eaten in the pasturage of low, swampy lands; — called also Pictou disease.
win'tri-fy (wĭn'trĭ-fī), v. t. To make wintry. win'try (wĭn'trĭ), adj.; WIN'TRI-ER (-trĭ-ĕr); WIN'TRI-EST. [Cf. AS. wintrig.] 1. Winter. Now Rare.
2. Suitable to winter; resembling winter, or what belongs to winter; hiemal; cold; stormy.
3. Figuratively, aged; white; chilling; cheerless.
4. Wintered.
Syn. — Icy, frigid. Ant. — Summery, balmy, warm.
— win'tri-ly, adv. — win'tri-ness, n.
Win-tun' (wĭn-tōōn'), n. 1. Copehan.
2. An Indian of a Copehan tribe.
win'y (wīn'ĭ), adj.; WIN'I-ER (-ĭ-ĕr); WIN'I-EST. 1. Having the taste or qualities of wine; like wine; vinous; as, grapes of a winy taste.
2. Influenced or affected by wine or spirits; drunken. winze (wĭnz), n. = 1st WINCH. Cornwall. winze (wĭnz), n. [Flem. & D. wensch a wish. See WISH.] A curse. Scot. winze (wĭnz), n. [From winds, pl. of wind windlass.] Mining. A vertical or steeply inclined opening or passageway driven to connect one mine working place with another at a lower level. See MINE, Illust. winze'man (wĭnz'mĕn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A miner who works in or on winzes. U. S. wip (wĭp), n. & v. Twist; coil. Scot. & N. of Eng.
wipe (wīp), v.; WIPED (wīpt); WIP'ING (wīp'ĭng). [ME. wipen, fr. AS. wīpian. See VIBRATE; cf. WIFE.] Transitive: 1. To rub with or as with something soft for cleaning; to clean or dry by rubbing; as, to wipe the hands.
I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it, and turning it upside down. 2 Kings. xxi. 13.
2. To remove by or as by rubbing or cleansing; to rub off; hence, to obliterate; abolish; cancel; exterminate; — usually followed by away, off, or out; as, to wipe out a regiment.
Some natural tears they dropped, but wiped them soon. Milton.
3. To clear away or free from imputation of; — usually with off or out.
To wipe off jealousies and scandals. Milton.
4. To strike; beat. Now Dial. & Slang.
5. To draw, pass, or the like, for or as for rubbing or cleaning; as, he wiped his hand across his forehead; he wiped a cloth over the dusty table.
6. Obs. a To rub or stroke gently. b To cheat; defraud; trick. c To strike off.
7. Plumbing. To form (a joint between pieces of lead piping) by applying semifluid solder and shaping the joint by rubbing with a greased cloth pad or the like.
—, Intransitive: To make a motion like that of wiping something, as in striking. Colloq.
wipe off the slate. To cancel as a reckoning or matter to be settled.
wipe one's boots on. To treat with indignity.
wipe one's eye or the eye of one. a Colloq. To shoot at game that another has aimed at. b Slang. To take the conceit out of one.
wipe one's hands of. = wash one's hands of, under WASH, v.
wipe out. Colloq. a To annihilate; exterminate; as, the force was wiped out by a cross fire. b To cancel, as by payment, retaliation, etc.; as, to wipe out a score, a disgrace, a defeat. c Stock Exch. To exhaust (a margin); as, a drop in stocks wiped out his margin.
wipe the floor, or ground, with. To defeat thoroughly. Slang.
wipe the nose of. a Old Slang. To cheat. b = wipe one's eye a, above.
wipe the slate clean. = wipe off the slate, above.
wipe up. To remove by or as by wiping; hence, Slang, to destroy; defeat.
wipe (wīp), n. 1. a A blow; stroke; hit; swipe; as, to fetch one a wipe. b Now Dial. & Slang. A gibe; jeer; a severe sarcasm.
2. Stain; brand. Obs. "Slavish wipe." Shak.
3. Act of rubbing, esp. in order to clean.
4. A handkerchief. Thieves' Slang.
5. Mach. A wiper, or cam. wipe. Variant of WYPE. Obs.
wipe break or breaker. Elec. An interrupter consisting essentially of one or more wipers revolving against contact pieces. wipe joint. Plumbing. A wiped joint. See WIPE, v. t., 7.
wip'er (wīp'ĕr), n. 1. One who or that which wipes.
2. Something used for wiping, as a towel or rag.
3. Slang. a A handkerchief. b = WIPE, 1.
4. Elec. A moving contact for making connections with the terminals of an electrical device, such as a rheostat. Cf. BRUSH.
5. Firearms. A rod, or an attachment for a rod, to hold a rag for wiping out the bore of the barrel.
6. Mach. a A projecting tooth, tumbler, eccentric, tappet, or cam, on a rotating or oscillating piece, esp. for raising a stamper, the helve of a power hammer, or the like, to fall by its own weight. b = OIL RING, 2.
7. Railroads. A roundhouse employee, esp. one who cleans locomotives. wiper shaft. Mach. A shaft carrying a wiper or a wiper wheel. wiper wheel. Mach. A wheel with wipers on its rim, as in a trip hammer. wip'ing con'tact (wīp'ĭng). An electric contact made by wiping or rubbing one surface on another. wiping rod. = WIPER, n., 5. wip'pen (wĭp'ĕn), n. A whip in a piano action. See PIANO, Illusts. wir (wĭr). Our. Scot. & N. of Eng. wir'a-ble (wīr'ȧ-b'l), adj. Capable of being wired. wir'ble (wŭr'b'l), n. & v. [G. wirbeln. See WARBLE.] Whirl; eddy. Ld. Lytton. wire (wīr), n. [ME. wyre, wir, fr. AS. wīr; akin to Dan. vire, ON. vīrr wire, in vīravirki wirework, filigree, MLG. wīre wire, OHG. wiara fine gold, OIr. fiar crooked, and to L. viere to plait. See WITHY; cf. FERRULE.] 1. Metal in the form of a thread or slender rod usually very flexible, and circular in cross section; also, such a thread or rod. Cf. DRAW, v. t., 28 a; WIRE GAUGE.
2. The strings collectively or a string of a musical instrument; hence, Poetical, a stringed instrument.
3. Wirework, esp. wire netting.
A cupola made of wire. Evelyn.
4. A thing made of wire (sense 1) or wirework; — chiefly pl. Specif.: a A bar of a cage. b A metal snare, as for rabbits. c Fencing or a fence of barbed wire. d A telegraph wire or cable. e A wire rope.
5. A wirelike thing, as a thin stem, a hair, a ray, or a cylinder of silver.
6. Chiefly in pl. The system of wires used to operate the puppets in a puppet show; hence, Colloq., the network of hidden influences controlling the action of a person or organization; as, to pull the wires for office.
7. A knitting needle. Scot.
8. One who picks women's pockets. Thieves' Slang.
9. The telegraph system; as, to send a message by wire; also, Colloq. a message thus sent; a telegram.
10. Obs. a A thread or string. b A metal lash for whipping; the whip.
11. Horse Racing. An imaginary line marking the finish.
12. Optics. Any of a set of cross hairs. See CROSS HAIR.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wire bender	wire-measuring, adj.	wire-stretching, adj.
wire-bending, adj.	wire-mended	wire-stringed wire-blocking, adj.	wiremonger	wire-strung wire-borne	wire-netted	wire tester wire-bound	wire-pointing, adj.	wire-testing, adj.
wire-brushing, adj.	wire roller	wire tightener wire-caged	wire-rolling, adj.	wire-tightening, adj.
wire-coiling, adj.	wire-safed	wire tinner wire-crimping, adj.	wire-sewed	wire-tinning, adj.
wire-flattening, adj.	wire sewer	wire-toothed wire former	wire-sewn	wire weaver wire galvanizer	wire spooler	wire welder wire-galvanizing, adj.	wire-spun	wire-wheeled wire-guarded	wire straightener	wire winder wire-hung	wire-straightening, adj.	wire-winding, adj.
wire-insulating, adj.	wire strander	wire-wound wiremaker	wire-stranding, adj.	wire-woven wiremaking

wire (wīr), v.; WIRED (wīrd); WIR'ING (wīr'ĭng). Transitive: 1. To provide with wire or to use wire on for any purpose; to furnish, bind, attach, string, set up, mount, etc., with wire; as, to wire corks in; to wire a skeleton, beads, a fence; to wire a house for electric lights, etc.
2. To coil about or encircle; to wind about. Rare.
3. To snare by means of a wire or wires.

---

win'terd. Wintered. Ref. Sp. win'ter-ish, adj. See -ISH. — -ish-ly, adv. — -ish-ness, n. win'ter-less, adj. See -LESS. win'ter-like', adj. See -LIKE.
win'ter-ling, n. = YEARLING. win'ter-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. win'ter-some, adj. See -SOME.
win'ter-ward, adv. Also win'ter-wards. See -WARD, -WARDS. win'ter-wheat' States. See WHEAT STATES.
[of WINTRY.]
win'ter-y (wĭn'tĕr-ĭ; -trĭ). Var. wint'ile. Var. of UINTJIE. [-ISH. win'trish (wĭn'trĭsh), adj. See win'trous (wĭn'trŭs), adj. = WINTRY. Rare. wippe. ✝ WHIP. [ex. Dial. wips (wĭps). Var. of WISP. Obs.
Wi'ra-Ko'cha (wē'rä-kō'chä). Var. of UIRACOCHA. wirche. ✝ WORK, WRETCH.
wird (wĭrd). Scot. var. of WORD.

4. To send, or send word to, by wire, or telegraph; to telegraph; as, wire me the news. Colloq.
5. Croquet. To place (a ball) so that it will be behind the wire of an arch, thus preventing a successful shot.
—, Intransitive: 1. To pass like a wire. Rare.
2. To send a telegraphic message; to telegraph. Colloq.
wire away or in. To apply oneself busily or energetically to anything. Slang, Eng.
wire (wīr), adj. 1. Of or pertaining to wire or wire drawing; held or running by means of a wire.
2. Iron. Obs.
wire'bar' (wīr'bär'), n. A cast bar of metal ready for making into wire.
wire bed. A bedspring.
wire bent. = MATGRASS b. wire birch. The American gray birch. Nova Scotia.
wire'bird' (wīr'bûrd'), n. A plover (Charadrius sanctaehelenae) of St. Helena. It inhabits wire grass. wire bridge. A bridge suspended from wire cables.
wire cartridge. A shot cartridge having the shot in a wire network to lessen scattering.
wire chief. Elec. A trouble man. wire chisel. See CHISEL, n., Illust. wire cloth. A fabric of woven metallic wire, as for strainers. — wire'-cloth', adj.
wire coat. A coat, as of certain dogs, of extremely harsh and dense outer hair.
wire'-cut', adj. Cut or shaped by or as by a taut wire, as brick, tile, etc. wire cutter. A worker or appliance employed in cutting wire. — wire cutting. — wire'-cut'ting, adj.
wired (wīrd), adj. a Reinforced by wire, as for strength or stiffness. b Furnished with wires, as for electricity, telephone connections, etc. c Bound with wire; as, a wired container. d Having a wirework netting, fence, or the like; as, a wired enclosure for chickens.
wire'danc'er (wīr'dăn'sĕr), n. One who performs feats on a wire. — wire'danc'ing, n.
wired glass. Also wire glass. Glass with wire netting embedded in it. The netting increases its strength and holds the glass together if broken or cracked, as by a fire. Called also safety glass.
wired radio, wired wireless. Line radio. wire'draw' (wīr'drô'), v.; past tense -DREW' (-drōō'); past part. -DRAWN' (-drôn'); pres. part. & verbal n. -DRAW'ING. Transitive: 1. To draw (metal) into wire. See DRAW, v. t., 28 a.
2. To draw or stretch forcibly; to wrest; distort; also, to draw or spin out to great length, tenuity, or overrefinement.

My sense has been wiredrawn into blasphemy. Dryden.

A... surgeon often doth prolong and wiredraw his cure so long as there is any hope of pay. Burton.

3. To bring to or from by craft, introduce; induce. Obs.
4. To cause (steam or water) to pass through a restricted aperture, thus decreasing its pressure and exerting a drying action.
—, Intransitive: To be stingy or extortionate. Obs.
— wire'draw'er (-drô'ĕr), n. — wire drawing.
wire'drawn' (-drôn'), adj. Drawn out long and fine, like wire; figuratively, of distinctions, theories, etc., excessively minute and fine. wire edge. The thin wirelike thread of metal sometimes formed on the edge of a chisel, razor, or the like, in attempting to sharpen it. — wire'-edged' (-ĕjd'; 66), adj.
wire entanglement. Fort. Strong barbed wire stretched on supports or over the ground to impede the advance of assaulting troops. It has become the chief form of field obstruction in modern warfare. wire'-feed' adj. Mach. Having apparatus for maintaining a feed of wire. — wire'-feed'ing, n. & adj.
wire gauge. 1. a A gauge for measuring the diameter of wire, thickness of sheet metal, etc., often consisting of a metal plate with a series of notches of various widths in its edge. b Any one of several systems of standard wire diameters, designated by numbers; as, No. 18 Brown & Sharpe wire gauge.
2. A standard series of sizes arbitrarily indicated, as by numbers, to which the diameter of wire or the thickness of sheet metal is usually made, and which is used in describing the size or thickness. There are many different standards for wire gauges, as in different countries, or for different kinds of metal. The table gives the diameter values corresponding to the numbers of the gauges within the same range of sizes commonly used for iron, steel, etc., in Great Britain and America. There is another Stubs gauge in addition to the one given, but it is used only for drawn steel wire. There are also other Birmingham gauges used for sheet metal.

TABLE OF WIRE GAUGES

NOTE.— Column I gives the gauge number, and the other columns give the corresponding size in inches, in the following systems: — (column II) Birmingham wire gauge, or Stubs gauge, Stubs iron wire gauge, Stubs wire gauge, B. W. G., used for telegraph wires; (column III) American gauge, American wire gauge, or Brown & Sharpe wire gauge, A. W. G., or B. & S., used for copper, aluminum, and nonferrous alloy wires, and also, in general, for telephone wires; (column IV) steel wire gauge, formerly called also Washburn & Moen, Roebling wire gauge, and American Steel & Wire Co.'s wire gauge; (column V) imperial standard wire gauge, S. W. G., the legal standard for all wire in Great Britain and Canada.

I	II	III	IV	V	I	II	III	IV	V
000000	....	....	.4615	.464	16	.065	.0508	.0625	.064
00000	....	....	.4305	.432	17	.058	.0453	.0540	.056
0000	.454	.4600	.3938	.400	18	.049	.0403	.0475	.048
000	.425	.4096	.3625	.372	19	.042	.0359	.0410	.040
00	.380	.3648	.3310	.348	20	.035	.0320	.0348	.036
0	.340	.3249	.3065	.324	21	.032	.0285	.0317	.032
1	.300	.2893	.2830	.300	22	.028	.0253	.0286	.028
2	.284	.2576	.2625	.276	23	.025	.0226	.0258	.024
3	.259	.2294	.2437	.252	24	.022	.0201	.0230	.022
4	.238	.2043	.2253	.232	25	.020	.0179	.0204	.020
5	.220	.1819	.2070	.212	26	.018	.0159	.0181	.018
6	.203	.1620	.1920	.192	27	.016	.0142	.0173	.0164
7	.180	.1443	.1770	.176	28	.014	.0126	.0162	.0148
8	.165	.1285	.1620	.160	29	.013	.0113	.0150	.0136
9	.148	.1144	.1483	.144	30	.012	.0100	.0140	.0124
10	.134	.1019	.1350	.128	31	.010	.00893	.0132	.0116
11	.120	.0907	.1205	.116	32	.009	.00795	.0128	.0108
12	.109	.0808	.1055	.104	33	.008	.00708	.0118	.0100
13	.095	.0720	.0915	.092	34	.007	.00630	.0104	.0092
14	.083	.0641	.0800	.080	35	.005	.00561	.0095	.0084
15	.072	.0571	.0720	.072	36	.004	.00500	.0090	.0076 wire gauze. A gauzelike texture of fine wires. wire glass. Wired glass. wire grama. See GRASS, Table.

wire grass. Any of certain grasses having wiry culms or leaves; as: a A European slender-stemmed meadow grass (Poa compressa) widely naturalized in the United States and Canada, whence it is called also Canada bluegrass. It is useful in poor soil. b Yard grass. c Bermuda grass. d Any of several grasses of the genus Aristida. e Species of the genus Sporobolus. f Nimble Will. g Little bluestem. h The range grass. i Broomroot. wire grating. A grating or grill made of wire; specif., Optics, a diffraction grating made of fine, parallel, equidistant wires. See GRATING. wire grub. A wireworm.
wire gun. A wire-wound gun.
wire'hair' (wīr'hâr'), n. A rough-coated fox terrier.
wire'-haired' (-hârd'), adj. Having short, crisp, and slightly curly hair. wire-haired pointing griffon. See 2d GRIFFON, 2 (4). wire'-haired' ter'ri·er. A wirehair.
wire house. Exchanges. A brokerage firm connected with its branch offices and correspondents by private leased telephone or telegraph wires.
wire lath. A plaster base consisting of wire netting.
wire'less (wīr'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. 1. Having no wire or wires.
2. Radio. Chiefly Brit.
☞ PHRASES are:

wireless apparatus	wireless set wireless beacon	wireless telegrapher wireless operator	wireless telegraphist — wire'less·ly, adv. — wire'less·ness, n.

wire'less, n. 1. a Short for WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY, WIRELESS TELEPHONY, etc. b Chiefly Brit. Radio.
2. A color, greenish-blue in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR. wire'less, v. t. & i. To radio. Chiefly Brit. wireless compass. Radio. A radio compass; direction finder. Chiefly Brit.
wireless telegraphy or telegraph. Any system of telegraphy employing no connecting wire or wires between the transmitting and receiving stations. Although more or less successful researches were made on the subject by Joseph Henry, Hertz, Oliver Lodge, and others, the first commercially successful system was that of Guglielmo Marconi, patented in March, 1897. Marconi employed electric waves of high frequency set up by an induction coil in an oscillator, these waves being launched into space through a lofty antenna. The receiving apparatus consisted of another antenna in circuit with a coherer and small battery for operating through a relay the ordinary telegraphic receiver. This apparatus contains the essential features of all the systems now in use. See RADIO. wireless telephone. An apparatus or contrivance for wireless telephony; a radiotelephone.
wireless telephony. Telephony without wires; radiotelephony. wire line. 1. A line using wire, as a telegraph or telephone line.
2. In paper manufacturing, a wire mark.
wire ling. The crowberry Empetrum nigrum. wire'man (wīr'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A maker of or worker in wire; now, esp., a lineman. See LINEMAN, 2. wire mark. In paper, the mark of the wires of the paper machine. Cf. WATERMARK, n., 2. wire micrometer. A micrometer having spider lines, or fine wires, across its field. wire money. Lari.
wire nail. A nail made of wire; specif., any one of several types of nails made of wire and designed for special uses, as in finishing work. See 1st NAIL, 2 & Illust.
wire netting. A texture of woven wire coarser than wire gauze.
wire nut. A form of screw-threaded nut designed to be screwed over the ends of a splice consisting of twisted wires.
wire plant. A woody, almost leafless, New Zealand vine (Muehlenbeckia complexa) rampant in California as an introduced plant. wire press. A wiring press. See PUNCH PRESS. wire'pull'ing (wīr'pōōl'ĭng), n. The use of wires, as in operating a puppet show; hence, use of means to influence secretly the acts of a person or organization, esp. in politics. — wire'pull', v. i. & t. — wire'pull'er, n. All Colloq.
wir'er (wīr'ĕr), n. One who wires, or uses wire; a wireman; esp., a trapper who uses a wire trap. wire radio. Line radio. wire reducer. Agric. Mach. A sievelike device used in the seed cups of grain drills to cut down the rate of planting of small seeds, as millet.
wire road. A wire ropeway wire rod. A metal rod from which wire is drawn. wire rope. A rope formed wholly, or in great part, of wires. Standard transmission rope consists of 6 strands of 7 wires each, of ordinary lay, about a hemp center. In order to secure a larger percentage of contact between the surface of each strand and the drum or sheave and to increase the wearing surface, the wires in each strand of some ropes are so constructed as to form flat surfaces on the strands, called then flattened strand rope. Hand rope or tiller rope consists of 6 strands of 42 wires each, of ordinary lay, about a hemp center. It is suitable where great flexibility is required, as for signal pulls, steering lines, in the operation of tillers and of elevator controlling devices, etc. Hoisting rope differs from transmission rope chiefly in that it has many more wires in each strand. A hoisting rope of one type consists of 6 strands of 7 wires each, of Lang lay, about a hemp core, covered with a layer of 12 strands, twisted to the right, of 7 wires each, of ordinary lay, in order to prevent a free suspended load from rotating or spinning. A steel-clad rope is a hoisting rope whose strands have received an additional external serving of flat strip steel to secure additional wearing surface without a sacrifice of flexibility. A marline-clad rope is one whose strands have received an external serving of tarred marline to adapt the rope esp. for ships' rigging and other special uses. Flat rope, used chiefly in hoisting, consists of strands of wire wound alternately clockwise and counterclockwise, sewed together usually with soft wire. wire ropeway. A ropeway using a wire cable or cables.
wire rush. A slender rushlike New Zealand herb (Hypolaena lateriflora), family Restionaceae, with scalelike leaves. It often grows in dense mats. wire saw. A helicoidal saw.
wire'-shaft'ed, adj. Having all or part of the shaft without webs, as a feather; also, having wire-shafted feathers.
wire silver. Native silver in the form of wires or threads.
wire'smith' (wīr'smĭth'), n. One who makes wire, esp. by the old method of hammering up strips of metal; a wiremaker.
wire'spun' (-spŭn'), adj. Spun or drawn long and fine like wire; wiredrawn; figuratively, excessively fine; as, he advanced wirespun theories about the cause of his reactions; he resorted to wirespun arguments to prove his point.
wire stem. Plant Pathol. A disease of cabbage, cauliflower, and related plants caused by Corticium vagum, similar to damping-off but attacking older seedlings and producing a constricted wiry stem. wire stitch. A saddle wire or a side wire stitch. See 2d STITCH, 8. wire stitcher. One who or that which stitches wire; esp., a bookbinder's machine for stitching with wire. — wire'-stitched', adj., — wire stitching.
wire'tail' (wīr'tāl'), n. The ruddy duck. Western U. S.
wire'-tailed' (-tāld'), adj. Having wire-shafted tail quills, as the wire-tailed (or twelve-wired) bird of paradise. See BIRD OF PARADISE, 1 a. wire tapper. One who taps, or cuts in on, telephone or telegraph wires to get messages, information, evidence, etc.; hence, Slang, a swindler who pretends to tap wires or otherwise intercept advance telegraphic news for betting. — wire tapping.
wire'-toothed' leath'er (wīr'tōōth'; -tōōth'ĕd). Leather set or studded with wire teeth, used esp. for covering the cylinders of carding machines.
wire tramway. A wire ropeway.
wire twist. A combination of welded and twisted wires used in making the barrels of some high-class shotguns, etc.
wire vine. a Dodder laurel. b Wire plant. wire walker. One who performs feats, as of balancing, skipping, etc., on a suspended wire rope.
wire wave communication. Line radio.
wire'way' (wīr'wā'), n. 1. A conduit for wires, esp. one to conceal electric wires in a building while rendering them permanently accessible.
2. A cash or parcel railway having wire tracks.
3. A wire ropeway.
wire wheel. 1. A rotary wire brush for cleaning metalwork, etc.
2. A wheel, as for motorcars, with spokes of wire.
wire'work' (wīr'wûrk'), n. 1. Work, esp. openwork, of wires; wire netting, grillwork, or the like.
2. Wiremaking.
3. Walking on wires.
wire'work'er (-wûr'kĕr), n. 1. One who makes things from wire.
2. A wirepuller.
wire'work'ing, adj. Working wires, as in wirepulling, or with wire, as in manufacturing goods made from or mainly from wire. — wire'work'ing, n.
wire'works' (-wûrks'), n. pl.; sometimes construed as sing. A factory where wire is made, or one where wire is used in the manufacture of other articles.
wire'worm' (-wûrm'), n. a One of the larvae of various species of snapping beetles, or elaters; — so called from their slenderness and the uncommon hardness of the integument. They are sometimes very destructive to the roots of plants. b A millepede.

Wireworm. (× 2)

wire'-wound' gun (-wound'). Ordn. A gun in the construction of which an inner tube (either entire or in segments) is wound with wire under tension to insure greater soundness and uniformity of resistance. In modern construction, hoops and jackets are shrunk on the tube over the wire.
wire'-wove', adj. a Designating a superior kind of smooth and fine paper, esp. for letter writing. b Of woven wire.
wir'ing (wīr'ĭng), n. 1. Act of one who wires.
2. A system of wires, or wirework; esp., an arrangement of wires used for electric distribution, as in a building.
3. In taxidermy, the process of mounting with wire.
4. Surg. The uniting of pieces of broken bone by wire.
5. Veter. A poor conformation in the front legs of a horse, the anteroposterior diameter of the leg just below the knee being too narrow.
wir'ing, adj. That wires; employed in wiring.
wiring dies; sing. WIRING DIE. Mach. Shaping dies consisting of a matrix and wiring punch for curling sheet metal around a wire. The same dies may be used for both wiring and curling. Cf. FALSE WIRING. wiring machine. A wire stitcher. wiring press. Mach. See PUNCH PRESS. wiring punch. Mach. See 7th PUNCH, 1 a. wirl (wûrl), n. Also wirl'ing (wûr'lĭn). A stunted or puny creature. Scot. & N. of Eng.
Wi'ros (wē'rōz), n. pl. [From an (assumed) Indo-European stem wiros man. See WER.] The speakers of the Indo-European language or languages. wirr (wûr), n. & v. Growl. Scot. wir'ra (wir'ä), interj. [Ir. a O + Muire Mary.] An exclamation expressing lament, grief, etc.; — usually repeated, wirra, wirra. Ir. wir'rah (wīr'ä), n. [Native name in New South Wales.] An Australian spotted food fish (Acanthistius serratus) of the family Serranidae. wir'ras-thru' (wīr'äs-thrōō'), interj. [Ir. a O + Muire Mary + is it is + truagh a pity.] An exclamation expressing sorrow. Ir.
wirth (wûrth). Scot. var. of WORTH.
wir'y (wīr'ĭ), adj.; WIR'I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WIR'I·EST. 1. Made of, or like, wire; drawn out like wire.
2. Capable of endurance; tough; sinewy.

He seemed to retain a wiry vigor and alertness. Hawthorne.

3. Produced by or suggestive of the vibration of wire or of sound; as, a wiry twang.
4 Med. Of the pulse, small but tense.
Syn.— Hardy, well-knit. Ant. — Fragile, weak.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wiry-coated	wiry-leaved	wiry-stemmed wiry-haired	wiry-looking	wiry-voiced wir'y-brown', adj., = BONE BROWN b. wiry grass. See GRASS, Table.

wir'y-leaved' oat grass. See GRASS, Table. wis (wĭs), v. t. [AS. wissian.] To show; direct; instruct. Obs. wis (wĭs), adv. [From IWIS.] Certainly; surely; really; indeed. Obs. wis (wĭs), v. t. [From ME. iwis certainly, erron. taken as I wis I know. See IWIS.] To think; suppose; imagine; — used chiefly in I wis. See IWIS, Note. Archaic.

wire'like', adj. See -LIKE.
wir'en (wīr'ĕn), adj. Made of wire. Obs. wire'weed', n. = KNOTGRASS a.
wir'i·ly (wīr'ĭ·lĭ), adv. of WIRY. wir'i·ness (wīr'ĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS. wirk (wûrk). Scot. var. of WORK.
wir'ri·cow' (wŭr'ĭ·kōō'). Scot. var. of WORRICOW. wir'ry (wŭr'ĭ). Scot. var. of WORRY.

wis (wĭz; unstressed wŭz). Dial. var. of WAS.

Wis·con'sin (wĭs·kŏn'sĭn; -s'n), n. [Of Algonquian origin and orig. applied to tribes dwelling on the Wisconsin river; cf. Ojibway Wishkonsing, lit., place of the beaver or muskrat hole.] 1. A State and river of the United States. See Gaz.
2. Geol. See GLACIAL EPOCH.
— Wis·con'sin, adj.

Wisconsin false blossom. See FALSE BLOSSOM.

Wisconsin idea. A policy, fostered esp. in Wisconsin, for improving democracy by State laws on direct primary, initiative, industrial insurance, etc.

Wis·con'sin·ite (wĭs·kŏn'sĭn·īt; -s'n-), n. A native or inhabitant of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin weeping willow. A hybrid willow (Salix blanda) derived from a cross between the weeping willow and the crack willow S. fragilis.

Wisconsin white hemlock. In the lumber trade, the hemlock spruce Tsuga canadensis; also, its wood.

Wisconsin white pine. The common white pine (Pinus strobus); also, its wood.

wis'dom (wĭz'dŭm), n. [AS. wīsdōm. See WISE, adj.; -DOM.] 1. Quality of being wise; ability to judge soundly and deal sagaciously with facts, esp. as they relate to life and conduct; knowledge, with the capacity to make due use of it; perception of the best ends and the best means; discernment and judgment; discretion; sagacity.

Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom. Job xxviii. 28.

Common sense in an uncommon degree is what the world calls wisdom. Coleridge.

2. Scientific or philosophical knowledge; erudition; learning; as, the wisdom of the Egyptians; also, practical knowledge or expertness. Obs. exc. Hist.
3. [cap.] Jesus; also, God.
4. A wise saying, act, or course of procedure. Now Rare.
5. A person embodying wisdom; — used as a title of honor or respect. Archaic.
6. [cap.] = WISDOM OF SOLOMON. See OLD TESTAMENT.
Syn. — See KNOWLEDGE. Ant. — Stupidity; ignorance; folly.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wisdom-bred	wisdom-led	wisdom-seeking wisdom-given	wisdom-loving	wisdom-teaching wisdom-giving	wisdom-seasoned	wisdom-working wisdom literature. The class of ancient Hebrew writings which deal reflectively with general ethical and religious topics, as distinguished from the prophetic and liturgical literature, and from the law. It is comprised chiefly in the books of Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiasticus, Ecclesiastes, and Wisdom of Solomon. The "wisdom" (Hokhmah) of these writings consists in detached sage utterances on concrete issues of life, without effort at philosophical system.

Wisdom of Jesus, Son of Sirach. = ECCLESIASTICUS. See OLD TESTAMENT.

Wisdom of Solomon. See OLD TESTAMENT; PSEUDEPIGRAPHA.

wisdom tooth. [So described in Gr., and, hence, in Ar.] The last, or back, tooth of the full set on each half of each jaw in man; — familiarly so called, because appearing comparatively late (from the 17th to the 22d year, or later), when the person may be supposed to have acquired some wisdom.

wise (wīz), n. [ME., fr. AS. wīse; akin to OS. wīsa, OFris. wīe, D. wijs, wijze, OHG. wīsa, G. weise, Sw. vis, Dan. vis, ON. þithruvīs otherwise; from the root of E. wit, hence, orig., knowledge, skill. See WIT, v.; cf. GUISE.] Way of being or acting; manner; mode; fashion.

All armed in complete wise. Spenser.

☞ This word is now rare, except in such phrases as in any wise, in no wise, on this wise, etc.

Fret not thyself in any wise to do evil. Ps. xxxvii. 8.
He shall in no wise lose his reward. Matt. x. 42.
On this wise ye shall bless the children of Israel. Num. vi. 23.

-wise (-wīz). [From wise, n., as in likewise, fr. in like wise.] An adverbial suffix denoting way, manner, respect. The earliest compounds with -wise were formed, after the loss of the preposition in of a phrase, by the union of an adjective with the noun wise (any*wise,* fr. Anglo-Saxon on ænige wisan). These and other combinations with certain common nouns and pronouns (length*wise;* any*wise*), having similar meanings to -ways compounds, have come to be used interchangeably with them. See -WAYS. -wise is now used freely in combination with nouns, signifying in the characteristic manner or fashion of a (thing specified), as in crab*wise,* ballad*wise;* and with some adjectives, signifying in a (specified) manner, as in other*wise,* fickle*wise.* Other combinations are:

afterwise	flankwise	notewise altarwise	flatwise	nowise anthemwise	flockwise	pallwise anywise	fruitwise	palmwise barwise	funnelwise	pilgrimwise beewise	gablewise	processionwise beggarwise	gutterwise	rootwise bookwise	hammerwise	rosewise checkerwise	harpwise	sermonwise circlewise	hawserwise	shacklewise cloakwise	hookedwise	sidewise
clockwise	indentwise	slantwise cloisterwise	leastwise	somewise
coastwise	lengthwise	thiswise counterclockwise	likewise	thuswise crosswise	litanywise	trestlewise diewise	lovertwise	trianglewise endwise	lozengewise	triplewise facewise	manifoldwise	turbanwise fanwise	moneywise	vulgarwise wise (wīz), adj.; WIS'ER (wīz'ĕr); WIS'EST (wīz'ĕst; -ĭst; 119). [ME. wise, wis, fr. AS. wīs; akin to OS. & OFris. wīs, D. wijs, G. weise, OHG. wīs, wīsi, ON. vīss, Sw. vis, Dan. vis, Goth. weis; akin to wit, v. i. See WIT, v.; cf. RIGHTEOUS, WISDOM, WISEACRE, WIZARD.] 1. Discerning and judging soundly concerning what is true or false, proper or improper; choosing the best ends and the best means for accomplishing them; discreet; — opposed to foolish.

When clouds appear, wise men put on their cloaks. Shak.

From a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation. 2 Tim. iii. 15.

2. Dictated or guided by wisdom; containing or exhibiting wisdom; judicious; discreet; sage; as, a wise saying, plan, or decision; wise conduct or management.
3. Mentally sound; sane. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
4. Cognizant; aware; informed; — now chiefly in the slang phrase to be, or get, wise to (something).
5. Calculating; shrewd; wary; subtle; crafty; cunning; sophisticated. "A governor wily and wise." Chaucer.
6. Skilled in magic, divination, etc. Obs. exc. Dial.
7. Obs. a Versed in some art, science, or skill; skillful; skilled; dexterous. b Having knowledge; knowing; learned.

Syn. — Sage, sapient, discerning, sound, well-advised, enlightened, circumspect, erudite, profound, learned. — WISE, JUDICIOUS, SENSIBLE, SANE, PRUDENT, PROVIDENT, POLITIC, EXPEDIENT. WISE (cf. KNOWLEDGE) implies sound and discerning judgment esp. in the practical concerns of life and conduct; JUDICIOUS (cf. JUDICIAL) suggests the exercise of a wise discretion; SENSIBLE, as here compared (cf. SENSIBLE), implies sagacity, or accordance with the dictates of common sense; SANE connotes esp. balance and lucidity; as, "men . . . temperate, calm, and wise" (Pope); "after praise and scorn . . . attain the wise indifference of the wise" (Tennyson); "I am perfectly indifferent to the judgment of all, except the few who are indeed judicious" (Cowper); "I really think that, for wise men, this is not judicious" (Burke); "a moral, sensible, and well-bred man" (Cowper); a sensible plan; "I . . . have proved him every way one of our . . . most valorous, sanest, and most obedient" (Tennyson); a sane and wholesome attitude towards life. PRUDENT (cf. PRUDENT, PRUDENCE) implies cautious forethought, or circumspection in judgment or conduct; PROVIDENT suggests more definitely practical foresight and economy in providing for wants; as, "The prudent man looketh well to his going" (Prov. xiv. 15); "the parsimonious emmet, provident of future" (Milton); "No man can be provident of his time, that is not prudent in the choice of his company" (Jeremy Taylor). POLITIC implies diplomatic, sometimes artful, often cunning or crafty, management; that is EXPEDIENT (often contrasted with right) which conduces to (frequently selfish) advantage; the word sometimes suggests accordance with prudential rather than moral considerations; as, "politic maxims" (Milton); "The question with me is . . . whether it is not your interest. . . . Is a politic act worse for being a generous one?" (Burke); "Am I politic? Am I subtle? Am I a Machiavel?" (Shak.); "All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient" (1 Cor. x. 23); "too fond of the right to pursue the expedient" (Goldsmith). Cf. CAREFUL, SHREWD, CUNNING, RATIONAL.

Ant. — Unwise, foolish, stupid, inane, injudicious, ill-considered, rash, impolitic.

— none the wiser. No better informed than before. — wise in years. Old enough to be wise; wise from age and experience; hence, aged; old. Obs.

-wise (-wīz). A combining form of the adjective wise, denoting wise in the knowledge of, as in:

bridle-wise	penny-wise	weather-wise halter-wise	trail-wise	wine-wise heart-wise	way-wise	worldly-wise wise (wīz), v. [AS. wīsian. See WISE, adj.] Transitive: 1. Obs. exc. Dial. a To guide; direct. b To instruct; show; inform; advise. c To beguile; lure; persuade. d To make known; explain. e To employ; use; spend.

2. To make wise, esp., Slang, in senses 4 and 5.
—, Intransitive: 1. Scot. & Dial. Eng. To maneuver; to work one's way; also, to slip away; go.
2. To become wise, esp., Slang, in senses 4 and 5.

wise up. To make or become cognizant, informed, sophisticated, etc. Slang.

wise (wīz), n. One who is wise. Obs.
— the wise. Wise persons collectively.

wise, adv. Wisely. See FLAT, adj., 11.

wise-. A combining form of wise, adj. & adv., as in:

wise-bold	wisehearted	wise-said
wise-framed	wiseheartedly	wise-spoken wise-hardy	wise-judging, adj.	wise-valiant wise-headed	wise-lipped	wise-worded wise-heart	wise-reflecting, adj.

wise'a·cre (wīz'ā̄·kĕr), n. [MD. wijssegger, corrupt. (as if from the words for wise and sayer) fr. OHG. wīzzago prophet (whence OHG. wīssagōn to foretell, G. weissagen); akin to AS. witega, witga, E. WITTY, WIT.] 1. One making undue pretensions to wisdom; a would-be-wise person; hence, in contempt, a simpleton; dunce.
2. A learned or wise person; — usually ironical.

wise'a·cred (-kĕrd), adj. That is a wiseacre. — wise'a·cred·ness, n.

wise'crack' (-krăk'), n. A jocular smart remark. — wise'crack', v. i. — wise'crack'er (-ĕr), n. — wise'crack'er·y (-ĭ), n. All Slang.

wise fool, the. See SCOTTISH SOLOMON.

wise guy. A sophisticated person. Slang.

wise'head' (wīz'hĕd'), n. A wise person; a wiseacre.

wise'like' (-lĭk'), adj. Chiefly Scot. & N. of Eng. Resembling what is wise or sensible; judicious; decent; becoming. — adv. Becomingly; fittingly.

wise'ling (-lĭng), n. One who pretends to be wise; wiseacre; witling.

wise'ly (-lĭ); adv.; WISE'LI·ER (-lĭ·ĕr); WISE'LI·EST. 1. With wisdom, sagacity, or discretion; sagely.
2. Obs. a Heedfully. b Skillfully.

wise'man (wīz'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Now usually wise man. One who possesses or evinces wisdom. Specif.: a Archaic. A sage. b Obs. A councilor. c A wizard or magician. d One who delivers wise sayings.

Wise Men. = SEVEN WISE MASTERS.

wise men of Gotham. The inhabitants of Gotham; — so called facetiously. See GOTHAM, 1 & 2.

Wise Men of Greece, Seven. See SEVEN WISE MEN OF GREECE.

Wise Men of the East. The Three Kings of Cologne.

wis'en (wĭz''n), v. t. & i. Dial. & Slang. a To make or grow wise. b To consider.

wi'sen (wē'z'n; wīz''n). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WIZEN.

wise'ness (wīz'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. The quality or a manifestation of being wise.

wis'en·heim'er (wīz'ĕn·hīm'ĕr), n. Also wise'heim'er (wīz'-). From wise, after G. family names, as Guggenheimer, Wertheimer.] One who has the air of knowing all about something or everything; wiseacre. Slang, U. S.

wi'sent (wē'zĕnt), n. [G. See BISON.] The aurochs.

wis'er (wīz'ĕr), n. One having a claim to superior wisdom.

wise'weed' (wīz'wēd'), n. The calico aster.

wise'wom'an (wīz'wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -in; 119). A witch; also, a woman versed in charms, fortunetelling, soothsaying, midwifery, etc. Archaic & Dial.

wish (wĭsh), v.; WISHED (wĭsht); WISH'ING. [ME. wischen, weschen, wuschen, fr. AS. wīscan; akin to D. wenschen, G. wünschen, ON. æskja, Dan. ønske, Sw. önska, AS. wūsc a wish, G. wunsch, OHG. wunsc, ON. ōsk, Skr. vāñchati he wishes, vanati he likes, desires. See VENERATE, WEEN, WIN, WONT, adj.; cf. WINSOME.] Transitive: 1. To long for; to crave; to desire; — now usually with an object clause.

I would not wish
Any companion in the world but you. Shak.

2. To frame or express a desire concerning; to desire (one) to be (in some specified place or condition); — taking an objective complement (predicate adj., etc.) or an objective clause; as, to wish the day over; to wish oneself elsewhere; to wish to see one; to wish that it would rain.

Wish me partaker in thy happiness. Shak.

3. To invoke in favor of, or against, anyone; to invoke; imprecate; as, to wish one happiness or harm.

Let them be driven backward, and put to shame, that wish me evil. Ps. xl. 14.

4. In weakened sense, to bid; — used in the phrases, to wish one good morning, good-by, welcome, etc.
5. To request; command; as, I wish you to go now; also, propose; as, a question which I wish to raise.
6. To recommend; to seek favor in behalf of. Obs. exc. Dial.

I was wished to your worship by a gentleman. B. Jonson.

7. To invoke evil on by witchcraft; to bewitch. Dial. Eng.
—, Intransitive: 1. To have a desire or yearning; to long; — usually followed by an infinitive, or by for, or sometimes by after.

They . . . wished for the day. Acts xxvii. 20.

2. To frame or express a wish; specif., to do so on an occasion superstitiously regarded as propitious for fulfillment; as, to wish when one sees the evening star or the new moon.
Syn. — See DESIRE.

wish one further. To wish one out of the way; to wish one in another place. Slang.

wish on or upon (one). To inflict upon by invocation in a wish; hence, Colloq., to foist upon.

A friend wished a small blue mule on me. Ernest T. Seton.

wish (wĭsh), n. [From WISH, v.] 1. An act or instance of wishing; a desire without attempt to attain; a longing; as, if wishes were horses beggars would ride.
2. A thing desired; an object of desire.

Will he, so wise, let loose at once his ire . . .
To give his enemies their wish? Milton.

3. Expression of desire; request; petition; hence, invocation or imprecation; also, an expressed desire; as, I shall go if it is your wish.

Blistered be thy tongue for such a wish. Shak.

4. pl. A desire for welfare, good fortune, etc.; — often used in bidding farewell; as, you have my best wishes.
5. Psychoanalysis. A striving or goal seeking, either conscious or unconscious.

wish (wĭsh), n. A meadow, now one that is marshy. Obs. exc. Dial.

wish'a (wĭsh'ä), interj. [Ir. ō oh + muise indeed. Cf. MUSHA.] Indeed; well; really; — a mild expression of surprise. Anglo-Ir.

wish'bone' (wĭsh'bōn'), n. The forked bone in front of the breastbone in most birds; — called also furculum, merrythought. It is formed chiefly of the two clavicles, ankylosed together at their median or lower end and usually articulate movably with both the scapula and coracoid at the other end. At their median point of union there is often a process (the hypocleidium), which is large and flattened in the domestic fowl. The name alludes to the superstitious or joking custom of two persons breaking the bone by pulling the ends apart to see who will get the longer piece, the sign being that this person will be married first or will gain a wish formed at the instant.

wishbone bush. A Californian four-o'clock (Mirabilis laevis) with red flowers.

wished (wĭsht), past tense & past part. of WISH. Hence: adj. That is wanted or desired; also, that is present in the mind as a longing or desire. — wish'ed·ly (wĭsh'ĕd·lĭ; -ĭd·lĭ; 119), adv.

wish'er (wĭsh'ĕr), n. One who wishes.

Wish'fort, Lady (wĭsh'fĕrt). A bepainted, irritable, and affected old lady in Congreve's comedy The Way of the World.

wish'ful (-fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. [Cf. WISTFUL.] 1. Having desire or yearning; longing.

Wishful to have your cake and eat it. Peter B. Kyne.

2. Showing desire; wistful; as, wishful eyes.
3. Desirable; exciting wishes. Obs.
— wish'ful·ly, adv. — wish'ful·ness, n.

wish fulfillment. Psychoanalysis. The satisfaction of a desire, even if only symbolically, as in dreams, daydreams, symptomatic acts, neurotic symptoms, etc.

wish'ing (wĭsh'ĭng), n. Act of one who wishes; also, a wish.

wish'ing, adj. That wishes; used in wishing; also, conferring fulfillment of one's wishes. — wish'ing·ly, adv.

wishing bone. The wishbone.

wishing cap. A cap fabled to give one whatever he wishes for when wearing it.

wish'ly (wĭsh'lĭ), adv. Intently; also, wistfully. Obs. exc. Dial.

wish'—maid'en (-mād''n), n. Also wish'may' (-mā'). A Valkyrie.

wish'ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Sad or yearning desire. R.

Wish'osk·an (wĭsh'ŏs·kăn), adj. Designating, or pertaining to, a linguistic family of American Indians, consisting of a single tribe, the Wish'osk (wĭsh'ŏsk), now almost extinct, dwelling about Humboldt Bay, on the coast of northern California. By some philologists they are considered an isolated branch of the Algonquian family. See ALGONQUIAN.

wisht (wĭsht), adj. [Cf. dial. wish to invoke evil upon, to bewitch.] Dial. a Dismal; dreary; also, uncanny; eerie. b Wild or mad with fright; haggard; hence, sickly; ill; unfit; also, lonely; melancholy; wretched.

wisht (wĭsht). Var. and ref. sp. of WISHED, past tense & past part. — v. t. To wish. Dial. & Illit.

wish'ton·wish (wĭsh'tŏn·wĭsh), n. [Caddo, prairie dog. The name was erron. applied to the whippoorwill by J. Fenimore Cooper.] a The prairie dog. b The whippoorwill.

wish'—wash' (wĭsh'wŏsh'), n. Any weak, thin drink; also, foolish talk or writing. — wish'—wash', adj.

wish'y—wash'y (-ĭ·wŏsh'ĭ), adj. [Redupl. of WASHY.] Thin and pale; weak; without strength, force, or the like; — orig. said of liquids; hence, feeble; sickly; trashy.

A weak wishy-washy man who had hardly any mind of his own. A. Trollope.

— wish'y—wash'i·ly, adv. — wish'y—wash'i·ness, n.

wish'y—wash'y, n. = WISH-WASH. Dial.

---

wis'ard. † WIZARD.

Wis'by, Laws of (wĭz'bĭ). See LAWS OF OLERON.

wis'dom·ful, adj. See -FUL.

wis'dom·less, adj. See -LESS.

wis'dom·ness, n. Sapience. Obs.

wis'dom·proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

wis'dom·ship, n. See -SHIP.

wise'a·cre·dom (wīz'ā'kĕr·dŭm), n. See -DOM.

wise'a·cre·ish (-kĕr·ĭsh), adj. See -ISH. — wise'a·cre·ish·ness, n.

wise'a·cre·ism (-kĕr·ĭz'm), n. See -ISM.

wisedom. † WISDOM.

wise'har'dy, adj. Wisely brave. Cf. FOOLHARDY. Obs.

wise'hei'mer (wīz'hī'mĕr). Var. of WISENHEIMER.

wish'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

wish'hounds', n. pl. = YETHHOUNDS.

wish'less, adj. See -LESS.

Wish'ram (wĭsh'răm), n. = TLAKLIUT.

wish'—wash'y, adj. = WISHY-WASHY. — n. = WISH-WASH.

wis'i·fy (wĭz'ĭ·fī), v. t. To make wise. Obs.

Wis'i·goth'ic. Var. of VISIGOTHIC.

wisk (wĭsk). Var. of WHISK. Obs. exc. Dial.

wisk'er, n. A lie. Obs. Cant.

wisk'er. † WHISKER.

---

wis'ket (wĭs'kĕt; -kĭt; 119), n. [Cf. WHISK or brush.] 1. (pron. -kĭt) A basket; esp., a straw provender basket. Dial. Eng.
2. Mach. A small lathe for turning wooden pins.

wis·kin'ky, wis·kin'kie (wĭs·kĭng'kĭ), n. [Algonquin wiskinkhie his eye.] A doorkeeper; specif., one of the officers of the Tammany Society of New York.

Wis'li·ze'nus's cot'ton·wood' (vĭs'lĭ·tsā'nōōs·ĭz). [After F. A. Wislizenus (1810–89), Ger.-Am. explorer.] A poplar (Populus wislizenii) of the southwestern United States, with large, yellowish-green leaves. It is often planted as a shade tree in arid regions.

Wislizenus's oak. The live oak Quercus wislizenii. Cal.

wisp (wĭsp), n. [ME.; akin to Nor. dial. visp a small broom or whisk, Sw. visp a whisk, ON. visk. See WHISK.] 1. A handful; a small bunch or bundle, as of hay, straw, or the like.

In a small basket, on a wisp of hay. Dryden.

2. A band, ring, or wreath formed of hay, straw, or other material twisted.

Her Breton coif was a mere wisp of wet muslin on her head. G. A. Birmingham.

3. A bundle; a parcel. Scot. & N. of Eng.
4. A slender, twisted piece of something, as of paper or grass; hence, a torch; figuratively, a fragment; a shred; as, a wisp of smoke; a mere wisp of a woman.
5. A will-o'-the-wisp; an ignis fatuus.

The wisp that flickers where no foot can tread. Tennyson.

6. A flock (of birds, esp. snipe).
7. A whisk, or small broom.

wisp, v.; WISPED (wĭspt); WISP'ING. Transitive: 1. To brush, clean, or dress down, with or as with a wisp; as, to wisp a horse.
2. To roll into a wisp, or bundle; hence, Dial. Eng., to rumple; crumple.
3. To tie with or as with a wisp of hay or straw. Obs.
4. To whisk up; to take away. Dial. Eng.
—, Intransitive: To move like a wisp of vapor.

wisp'y (wĭs'pĭ), adj.; WISP'I·ER (-pĭ·ĕr); WISP'I·EST. Like a wisp; hence, slender; filmy.

wis'sel (wĭs''l), v. t. [MD. wisselen.] Scot. & N. of Eng. a Obs. To exchange. b To exchange (words). c To change (money).

wis'sel, -sle (wĭs''l), n. [MD. wissel.] Change; money due as balance. Scot.
— the wissel of one's groat. Retribution or recompense. Scot.

wist (wĭst), n. [Anglo-Lat. wista, prob. fr. AS. wist sustenance.] A Sussex land measure, varying from about 16 acres to about 60 acres.

wist (wĭst), v. t.; WIST'ED; WIST'ING. [From wist(e), pret. of wit to know; cf. also WIS, v.] To know. Archaic.

wist, past tense of WIT, to know.

Wis'tar·berg glass (wĭs'tĕr·bûrg). [From Caspar Wistar (d. 1752), Am glass manufacturer.] Glass made in southern New Jersey in the 18th century.

Wis·ta'ri·a (wĭs·tā'rĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after Caspar Wistar (1761–1818), Am anatomist. The spelling Wisteria is the one originally published by Nuttall.] 1. Bot. A small genus of handsome woody vines (family Fabaceae) with two species in the southeastern United States (see KIDNEY-BEAN TREE), the rest Asiatic. They have pinnately compound leaves, showy, racemose, blue, purple, or white flowers, and elongated pods. Syn. Kraunhia.
☞ In publishing the name of this genus Nuttall deliberately spelled it Wisteria. Wistaria was a later adaptation acknowledging that it was named for Caspar Wistar, former professor of anatomy at the University of Pennsylvania.
2. [not cap.] Usually spelled wis·te'ri·a (wĭs·tĕr'ĭ·ȧ). a Any vine or flower of the genus Wistaria, esp. the Chinese wisteria (W. chinensis) cultivated for its racemes of handsome purple flowers, or the Japanese wisteria (W. floribunda), which blooms later than the Chinese species. b The color wisteria violet.

wis'tened (wĭs''nd), adj. Designating a wool in which the minute curves, or waves, of the fiber do not reach the form of a half circle. Australia.

Wis·te'ri·a, wis·te'ri·a (wĭs·tĕr'ĭ·ȧ). See WISTARIA. Note.

wisteria blue. A color, reddish-blue in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

wisteria violet. A color, bluish blue-red in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

wist'ful (wĭst'fŏŏl; -fl), adj. [For wishful, but appar. fr. wistly, which is prob. fr. WHIST, interj.] 1. Intent. Obs.
2. Feeling or evincing yearning with little expectation of gratification.

Many a wistful, melancholy look towards the sea. Swift.

Syn. — See PENSIVE. Ant. — Shrinking, loathing, revolted, surfeited.
— wist'ful·ly, adv. — wist'ful·ness, n.

wis'ti·ti (wĭs'tĭ·tē), wis'tit (-tĭt), n. [F. ouistiti, imitative of its cry.] A marmoset; esp., the marmoset Callithrix jacchus.

wist'less (wĭst'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Heedless. — wist'less·ness, n wit (wĭt), v. t. & i.; inf. (to) WIT; pres. sing. WOT, pl. WITE; past tense WIST(E); past part. WIST; pres. part. & verbal n. WIT'(T)ING. (See the Note below.) [ME. witen, pres. ich wot, wai, I know (wot), pret. wiste, fr. AS. witan, pres. wāt, pret. wiste, wisse; akin to OFris. wita, OS. witan, D. weten, G. wissen, OHG. wizzan, ON. vita, Sw. veta, Dan. vide, Goth. witan to observe, wait I know, OSlav. vidĕti to see, L. videre, Gr. idein to see, oida I know, Skr. root vid to know, learn, veda I know, vindati he finds. See VEDA; cf. GUIDE, HISTORY, IDEA, IDOL, -OID, TWIT, VISION, WISE, adj. & n., WIZARD, WOT.] Archaic, except in the phrase to wit. 1. To know or have knowledge of; to learn; to be or become aware (of).

☞ The present tense was originally inflected as follows: sing. 1st pers. wot; 2d pers. wost, or wot(t)est; 3d pers wot, or wot(t)eth; pl. witen, or wite. Variant or corrupt forms are found, as, in Shakespeare, 3d pers. sing. pres. wots, and, in dialect, I wit.

Brethren, we do you to wit [make you to know] of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia. 2 Cor. viii. 1.

Thou wost full little what thou meanest. Chaucer.
When that the sooth is wist. Chaucer.

Little witting that so soon shadows would close in upon them. J. M. Barrie.

2. To know how. "Fear wist not to evade." F. Thompson (1893).
3. To be or rest assured; — followed by a noun clause, esp. in polite phrases. Obs.
4. To perceive so as to distinguish or recognize; to discern. Now Rare.
— to wit. a That is to say; namely; scilicet; — used esp. in legal language, to call attention to a more particular specification of what has preceded. b Obs. You may be sure; truly; indeed.

wit (wĭt), n. [AS. akin to OFris. wit, G. witz, OHG. wizzī, ON. vit, Dan. vid, Sw. vett. See WIT, v.] 1. Activity of mind or intellect. Obs.

Who knew the wit of the Lord? Wycliffe (Rom. xi. 34).
Will puts in practice what the wit deviseth. Sir J. Davies.

2. The power of conceiving, judging, or reasoning; intellectual power; mental capacity; understanding; sense; as, in wit, a man. Archaic.
3. Formerly, any of certain perceptional faculties, either inner, as common sense, imagination, fancy, judgment and memory, or outer, as the five bodily senses.
4. a A mental faculty, or power of the mind; — chiefly pl., and in certain phrases: as, to lose one's wits.

Men's wittes ben so dull. Chaucer.
I will stare him out of his wits. Shak.
Nothing but the quick wits under my hat. Stevenson.

b Powers of mind in a specified condition of balance or soundness, esp. in a sane state; common sense; — now only in pl.; as, in right wit; in or out of one's wit or wits.
5. Mental ability, esp. of high quality; lively intelligence; perspicacity; understanding. Archaic.
6. Practical good judgment or good sense; wisdom; — now rare except in the phrase to have the wit to.

Since brevity is the soul of wit. Shak.

7. Something that demands or shows practical wisdom or prudent management; a skillful device. Obs.
8. Mental sharpness and alertness; intellectual quickness and penetration; acumen; now esp., such capacity along with lively fancy and aptness or talent for clever expression; readiness in seizing upon and expressing brilliantly and amusingly ideas which are startlingly incongruous in association; as, a man with little wit in conversation
9. a Felicitous perception or expression of associations between ideas or words not usually connected, such as to produce an amusing surprise. Wit consists typically in a neat turn of speech by which disconnected ideas are unexpectedly associated. It may take the form, as in poetical or whimsical composition, of association of the trivial and sublime, the literal and figurative, the corporeal and abstract, or of things between which there is apparent contrariety or of various senses of the same word (cf. PARONOMASIA); it may consist of deft and spontaneous play with unperceived or artificial analogies, often with a severely critical or satirical or maliciously personal application, always expressed in a way to give mental stimulation and entertainment. b Loosely, any kind of slight satire expressed in smart sallies of disparagement or raillery.

This small artillery of city wit. Scott.

10. a Orig., one who possesses and exercises mental capacity; a student; a philosopher. b Archaic. A person of extraordinary intellectual powers or constructive genius; a person of learning, knowledge, esp. of human life and nature. c A person keen and quick in perception of felicitous and amusing associations of ideas or words or the intellectually entertaining congruities and incongruities of life; more esp., one who has marked aptness for brilliant and happy expression of such impingement of incongruous ideas upon each other.

Intemperate wits will spare neither friend nor foe. L'Estrange.

d One distinguished for clever and amusing sayings, for quick and bright repartee or the like.
11. Obs. a Wisdom; learning; erudition. b Cognizance; information; knowledge. c Constructive or inventive skill; ingenuity. d Meaning; significance; import. e An individual way of thinking or judging. f A witticism. g Cunning or intelligence in animals.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wit-abused	wit-fraught	wit-oppressing wit-assailing	wit-gracing	wit-pointed wit-beaten	wit-infusing	wit-salted wit-cherishing	wit-loving	wit-starved wit-drawn	wit-masked	wit-stung
wit-foundered	wit-offended	wit-worn

Syn. — WIT, HUMOR. WIT is more purely intellectual than humor, and implies swift perception of the incongruous; it is primarily verbal in its expression, and depends for its effect chiefly on ingenuity or unexpectedness of turn, or patness of application; HUMOR commonly implies broader human sympathies than wit, so that its sense of the incongruous is more kindly, and is often blended with pathos; as, "[The] essence [of wit] consists in a partial and incomplete view of whatever it touches" (Holmes); "Only Shakespeare had that true sense of humor which, like the universal solvent sought by the alchemists, so fuses together all the elements of a character (as in Falstaff) that any question of good or evil, of dignified or ridiculous, is silenced by the apprehension of its thorough humanity" (Lowell); "His [Chaucer's] humor pervades his comic tales like sunshine, and never dazzles the attention by a sudden flash" (id.); "humor that is touched with crosslights of pathos" (De Quincey); "Humor is wit appertaining to character, and indulges in breadth of drollery rather than in play and brilliancy of point" (Landor). Cf. WITTY, JEST, JOCULAR, LAUGHABLE.

The genius of the Spanish people is exquisitely subtle, without being at all acute; hence there is so much humor and so little wit in their literature. The genius of the Italians is acute . . . but not subtle; hence, what they think to be humorous is merely witty. Coleridge.

— at one's wit's end. Wholly at a loss for a means of extrication from a perplexing situation; at the limit of one's mental resource. — wit, whither wilt thou? To what further folly can loquacity bring you? Obs.

wit (wĭt), v. i. To play the role of a wit or indulge in witticisms. — v. t. To give back wit or the word "wit" to, by way of a threat; also, to ascribe wit to. All Rare.

wit (wĭt). Var. of WHITE, WITH. Obs. exc. Dial.

wit'an (wĭt'ăn), n. pl. [AS., pl. of wita sage, councilor.] Literally, wise men; specif., A.-S. Hist., the members of the national, or king's, council which sat to assist the king in administrative and judicial matters; also, the council. The members were ealdormen, bishops, abbots, high officers, and sometimes friends and relatives of the king.

Wit'boo·i (vĭt'bō·ē), n. [S. Afr. D., after Hendrik Witbooi, their leader (1894–1905) against the Germans.] One of a modern subdivision of the Hottentots in South-West Africa.

witch (wĭch), n. [ME. wicche, fr. AS. wicce, fem., wicca, masc.; akin to MG. wicken to witch, and prob. to L. victima. See VICTIM; cf. WILE.] 1. One who practices the black art, or magic; one regarded as possessing supernatural or magical power by compact with an evil spirit, esp. with the Devil; a sorcerer or sorceress; — now applied chiefly or only to women.

There was a man in that city whose name was Simon, a witch. Wycliffe (Acts viii. 9).

In the Hexenhammer [Witch Hammer], the idea of witchcraft is systematically determined. Witches, sorcerers, and sorceresses are people who deny God, and renounce him and his grace; who have made a league with the Devil; have given themselves up to him body and soul; who attend his assemblies and sabbaths, and receive from him poison powder, and, as his subjects, receive command from him to injure and destroy men and animals; who, through devilish arts, stir up storms, damage the corn, the meadows, and the fields, and confound the powers of nature. Howitt (Ennemoser).

2. An ugly or malevolent old woman; a hag; crone.
3. One who exercises more than common power or attraction; a charming or bewitching person; also, one given to mischief; — said esp. of a woman or child. Colloq.
4. a Also witch flounder. The pole flounder. b Local, Eng. The stormy petrel. c West Indies. An ani. d A witch moth.
5. Geom. A curve of third order, discussed by Maria Gaetana Agnesi (1718–99), Italian mathematician, under the name versiera. Its equation is $x^2y = 4a^2(2a-y)$. The curve is symmetrical about the y axis, and the x axis is asymptotic on both sides.

Witch, 5.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

witch baiter	witch burning	witch mania
witch baiting	witch-burning, adj.	witchmonger witch-baiting, adj.	witch-charmed	witch-ridden witch burner	witch-held	witch-stricken witch (wĭch), adj. Of, pertaining to, or used by witches. witch (wĭch), v.; WITCHED (wĭcht); WITCH'ING. [AS. wiccian to practice witchcraft. See WITCH, n.] Transitive: 1. To work a spell, esp. an evil spell, upon by sorcery.

2. To effect by sorcery, or witchcraft; to put, bring, produce, or the like, by witchcraft; as, witched into love.
3. To bewitch; fascinate.

[I'll] witch sweet ladies with my words and looks. Shak.

—, Intransitive: 1. To practice witchcraft. Obs.
2. To practice fascinating or enchanting powers or arts.

witch (wĭch), n. Any of several trees having pliant branches, esp. the wych-elm and the rowan tree Sorbus aucuparia.

witch alder. Any shrub of the genus Fothergilla. See AMERICAN WITCH ALDER.

witch'bells' (wĭch'bĕlz'), or witch'es'-bells' (wĭch'ĕz-; -ĭz-; 119), n. a The harebell Campanula rotundifolia. b Scot. & Dial. Eng. The bluebottle Centaurea cyanus. c = FOXGLOVE, 1.

witch bird. An ani.

witch broom. = WITCHES'-BROOM.

witch butter. = WITCHES'-BUTTER.

witch cake. A cake made by a witch for working magic or used to test one accused of being a witch.

witch chick. A swallow.

witch'craft' (wĭch'krăft'; 83), n. [AS. wiccecræft.] 1. The practices or art of witches; the practice of black magic; sorcery; enchantments; intercourse with evil spirits; also, an instance of such practice. Cf. MAGIC, n., 1.
2. Power more than natural; irresistible influence or charm.

He hath a witchcraft
Over the king in's tongue. Shak.

witch doctor. 1. Among Africans, esp. Kaffirs, one whose business it is to detect or "smell out" witches and to counteract magic spells and influences. He occupies a position in the tribe similar to that of a shaman or medicine man.
2. Loosely, any medicine man or practitioner of magic, esp., in the United States, one who practices healing by magic. Cf. HEX, WANGATEUR.
— witch doctoring. — witch doctory. — witch doctress.

witched (wĭcht), adj. Affected by witchcraft; full of witchery. — witch'ed·ly (wĭch'ĕd·lĭ; -ĭd·lĭ; 119), adv.

witch'en (wĭch'ĕn), n. [Cf. QUICKEN in this sense, QUICK-BEAM.] The rowan tree Sorbus aucuparia; also, the wych-elm. Dial. Eng.

witch'er·bub'ber (wĭch'ĕr·bŭb'ĕr), n. A silver bowl. Obs.

witch'er·cul'ly (-kŭl'ĭ), n. A silversmith. Obs.

witch'er·ing (-ĭng), n. Something done by witchcraft. R.

witch'er·tilt'er (-tĭl'tĕr), n. A sword with a silver hilt. Obs.

witch'er·y (wĭch'ĕr·ĭ), n.; pl. -ERIES (-ĭz). 1. The practice of witchcraft; sorcery; enchantment; also, usually pl., a deed of witchcraft.
2. Fascination; irresistible influence; enchantment.

The dear, dear witchery of song. Bryant.

3. Captivating women collectively or a group of them.

witch'es'-bells' (wĭch'ĕz·bĕlz'; -ĭz-; 119), n. = WITCH-BELLS.

witch'es'-be'som, n. = WITCHES'-BROOM.

witch'es'-broom', n. a Any abnormal brushlike growth of small branches on trees or shrubs; — called also hexenbesen. They are caused by various fungi, as of the order Exoascales and related forms, certain rusts, etc., by scaly mistletoes, and in some cases by insects. b Plant Pathol. A virus disease of the potato characterized by the formation of bushy clusters of slender sprouts; also, a similar disease of the cacao.

witch'es'-but'ter, n. Any of various gelatinous blue-green algae, esp. species of Nostoc (which see).

witches' caldron. See WITCH'S CALDRON witch'es'-horse', n. A stick insect. Local, U. S. witches' mark. A mark found upon one's body supposedly identifying the possessor as a witch, or caused by a witch's incantation.

witch'es'-meat', n. = WITCHES'-BUTTER.

witches' meeting. = SABBAT.

witch'es'-milk', n. = MARE'S-TAIL, 2 a.

witches' money-bags. The orpine. Local, U. S. witches' Sabbath. = SABBAT. Cf. SATANISM.

witches' stirrups. Tangles in a horse's mane.

witch'es'-thim'ble, n. Dial. Eng. Any of several European plants: a The harebell Campanula rotundifolia. b The sea campion. c The foxglove Digitalis purpurea. d The bluebottle (Centaurea cyanus).

witch'et (wĭch'ĕt; -ĭt; 119), n. 1. A plane for rounding pieces, such as handles, chair rounds, etc.
2. Coal Mining. A wide heading kept in advance of excavation. Brit.

witch'et·ty (-ĕ·tĭ; -ĭ·tĭ), n. [Native name.] A grub frequenting the roots of the acacia. It is the chief food of the marsupial mole. Australia.

---

wis'ly, adv. [AS. wislice. See WIS, adv.] Certainly. Obs. wis'muth, n. = BISMUTH. Obs. wisp'en (wĭs'pĕn), adj. Formed of a wisp, or of wisps. Obs. wisp'ish, adj. See -ISH. wisp'like', adj. See -LIKE. wispt. Wisped. Ref. Sp. wiss (wĭs). Var. of WISH. Obs. exc. Scot. wis'se (vĭs'ĭ), n.; pl. -SEN (-ĕn). [D.] See MEASURE, Table. wisse. † VICE, WIS, WISE, WISH. wisshe. Obs. past tense of WASH. wisshe. † WIS, WISH.
wis'sing, n. [AS. wissian to guide.] Guidance; instruction. Obs. wiste, past tense of WIT, to know. wis'ter, n. & v. i. Scuffle. Obs. Scot. wist'ful-eyed', adj. See EYED. wist'i·ly, adv. Wisely; prudently. Obs. wist'ing, n. Learning. Obs. wist'ly, adv. = WISTFULLY. Obs. wis'ton-wish (wĭs'tŏn·wĭsh). Var. of WISHTONWISH. wis'ure, n. [See WISE, adj.] Wisdom. Obs. Scot.
wit. † WHIT.
wit. † WHEAT; WITE, blame.
wital. † WITHAL.
wit'a·na·ge·mot'. Erron. for WITENAGEMOT. witch'-elm', n. = WYCH-ELM.

witch'-find'er (wĭch'fīn'dĕr), n. One who identifies or discloses, or obtains evidence against, a witch. Also, specif., a witch doctor (sense 1). — witch'-find'ing, n.

witch fire. St. Elmo's fire.

witch flounder. See 1st WITCH, 4 a.

witch gowan. Dial. 1. = GLOBEFLOWER a. 2. The dandelion.

witch grass. [Cf. QUITCH GRASS.] a The couch grass Agropyron repens. b A common North American panic grass (Panicum capillare) with slender brushlike panicles, often a weed in cultivated grounds.

witch hazel. 1. a The wych-elm. b The hornbeam Carpinus betulus. c The rowan tree Sorbus aucuparia. 2. a A well-known shrub (Hamamelis virginiana) of eastern North America, having hazellike leaves and small yellow flowers appearing after the leaves have fallen. b An alcoholic solution of a distillate of the bark of this plant, widely used as a remedy for bruises, sprains, etc., also internally as an astringent, but not recognized in pharmacy as a valuable therapeutic.

3. a In tropical Africa, any shrub or tree of the genus Trichocladus (family Hamamelidaceae). b See CHINESE WITCH HAZEL.

— witch'-ha'zel (66), adj.

witch'-ha'zel fam'i·ly. The Hamamelidaceae.

witch hobble or hopple. The hobblebush; also, the cranberry tree.

witch'-hunt'er, n. = WITCH-FINDER.—witch'-hunt'ing, n.

witch'ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WITCH. Hence: n. The practice of witchcraft; sorcery; also, enchantment. — adj. That witches, or enchants; suited to or concerned with enchantment or witchcraft; bewitching. "The very witching time of night." Shak. — witch'ing·ly, adv.

witch knot or lock. 1. A knot or a tangle of hair supposed to be caused by witchcraft.

2. = WITCHES'-BROOM a.

witch'leaf' (wĭch'lēf'), n. The life plant.

witch light. Corposant. witch'man (wĭch'măn), n. a A witch doctor. b A wizard; a shaman; a sorcerer.

witch mark. = WITCHES' MARK.

witch master. A wizard; a magician who controls or directs witches.

witch meal. Lycopodium powder.

witch moth. Also witch. Any of various noctuid moths, some of them large, belonging to Erebus and allied genera, as the black witch (Erebus odora) of the southern United States and West Indies, which is a very large moth marbled with dark, rich colors.

Witch Moth (Erebus odora).

Witch of Edmonton (ĕd'mŭn·tŭn). The title and heroine of a tragi-comedy (1621?) by Rowley, Ford, and Dekker, based on the execution of the reputed witch Mother Sawyer.

witch of Endor (ĕn'dôr). [From Endor, Palestine.] 1. The woman with a "familiar spirit" visited by Saul. 1 Sam. xxviii. 7–25. Hence, a typical witch.

2. A fascinating or captivating woman; also, a medium.

witch sabbath. = SABBAT.

witch's, or witches', caldron (wĭch'ĭz). A caldron in which witches prepare their magic brew, as in Macbeth, IV. i. Hence, an unholy combination or set of circumstances.

witch's elm. = WYCH-ELM.

witch's milk. Physiol. A secretion from the mammary glands of newborn children of both sexes immediately after birth. It resembles colostrum.

witch's pouch. The shepherd's-purse.

witch stick. A divining rod. Slang.

witch stitch. = HERRINGBONE STITCH.

witch tree. Witch hazel.

wit'chuck (wĭch'ŭk), n. The bank swallow. Orkney I.

witch'weed' (wĭch'wēd'), n. A semiparasitic South African herb (Striga lutea), family Scrophulariaceae, with yellow, irregular flowers.

witch'wife' (-wīf'), witch'wom'an (-wŏŏm'ăn), n. A witch. Scot., N. of Eng., & Ir.

witch'wood' (-wŏŏd'), n. [See WYCH-ELM, also WITCH wych-elm.] 1. Dial. Eng. a The wych-elm. b The rowan tree Sorbus aucuparia. c The spindle tree Evonymus europaeus.

2. The mountain ash Sorbus americana. U. S.

3. The color marron glacé.

witch'work' (-wûrk'), n. Witchery.

witch'y (wĭch'ĭ), adj. Like in nature to or resembling a witch; witching.

wit'-crack' (wĭt'krăk'), n. Crisp utterance of a witticism — wit'-crack'er (-ēr), n.

wit'craft' (wĭt'krăft'; 83), n. 1. Art or skill of the mind; contrivance; invention; wit. Obs.

2. Art of reasoning; logic. Rare.

3. Exercise of the wits.

wite (wīt), n. [AS. wīte torment. See WITE, v.] Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng. 1. Punishment; a fine or forfeit; A.-S. Law & Early Eng. Law, a penal fine payable to the king or other authority having jurisdiction; — sometimes used attributively; as, a wite theow, a man enslaved as a punishment for not paying his debts.

2. Accusation; blame; reproach; censure.

3. A blameworthy action; fault; guilt.

4. Obs. a A wrong or offense; injury. b The cause of blame; one who is to blame.

wite (wīt), v. t. [AS. wītan to see to, keep, impute; akin to D. wijten to blame, G. verweisen, and E. wit; cf. for the meaning L. animad*vertere* to observe, to punish. See WIT, v.; cf. TWIT, v.] To accuse; reproach; blame; censure; also, to impute as blame. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wite, n. [AS. wita.] A sage; counselor; elder. Obs.

wite, v. i. & t. [AS. wītan.] To depart or cause to depart. Obs.

wite, v. t. [AS. wītan; cf. also AS. witian (in comp.).] To keep; guard. Obs.

wite, v. t. [Cf. AS. witod, past part., appointed, ordained, certain.] To decree; ordain. Obs.

wite (wīt). Var. of WIT, v. Obs. exc. Dial.

wite, pres. pl. of WIT, to know. See 1st WIT, 1, Note.

wite'less (wīt'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Blameless. Obs. exc. Scot.

wit'e·na·ge·mot', wit'e·na·ge·mote' (wĭt'ĕ·nȧ·gĕ·mōt'), n. [AS. witena gemōt. See WITAN; GEMOT.] A.-S. Hist. The assembly or council of the witan. It was chiefly advisory, but also elected the king, sat as the highest court of judicature, authorized new laws, the levying of taxes, granting of land, raising of military forces, etc.

wite'pen'ny (wīt'pĕn'ĭ), n. A.-S. & Early Eng. Law. Money paid in satisfaction of a wite.

wit'ess (wĭt'ĕs; -ĭs; 119), n. A female wit. Rare.

wit'ful (-fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. 1. Obs. Intelligent; wise; knowing.

2. Full of wit (sense 8).

with (wĭth; in northern England usually wĭth, and often in America, esp. if accented or before a voiceless consonant; 234), prep. [ME. with with, against, fr. AS. with with, against, towards, opposite; akin to AS. wither against, OFris. with, OS. with, withar, D. weder, weër (in comp.), G. wider against, wieder again, OHG. widar again, against, ON. with against, with, by, at, Sw. vid at, by, Dan. ved, Goth. withra against, Skr. vitaram farther, vi asunder. Cf. GUERDON, IDIOT, ISOMETRIC, WIDE, WITHDRAW, WITHERS, WITHSTAND.] In general, with denotes a relation of proximity, contiguity, or association. In various applications: 1. Indicating opposition, being equivalent to against; specif.: a Obs. In or into the place of; in exchange for. b With intent to stop, thwart, overcome, or excel; in hostility to; — whether of action or will, with words denoting strife, competition, contention, litigation, and the like.

Thy servant will . . . fight with this Philistine. 1 Sam. xvii. 32.

c Now Naut. Up to or near to; alongside of.

2. Indicating association of a reciprocal kind or by way of participation in an action or transaction; specif.: a In speech, words, or other form of communion addressed to; by exchange between oneself and; as, to talk with friends; formerly, also, = TO, as after impart, communicate. b Archaic. In the mind or will of; — used with reflexives. c So as to give something to and receive something from; engaged in for mutual action, advantages, etc., by; in the employment of; as, to trade with the natives; a treaty with Spain; he is now with a shipbuilding concern.

3. Indicating association as object of attention or concern; specif.: a Toward as affecting or, as regards disposition, feeling, treatment, familiarity; as, patient with children; do as you will with your own; asks what we want with him; acquainted with poverty; also, upon or over; as, influence with the mayor. b In or according to the experience or practice of; in the performance, operation, or use of; as, customary with the Greeks; the trouble with this device is its fragility. c With respect to; — indicating the object after elliptical adverbial expressions equivalent to imperatives; as, to the fiend with her; off with his head. d In the case of; so far as concerns; as, satisfactory with me; usually fatal with children.

4. Indicating association in the way of comparison, equality, or sameness; as, on equal terms with another; this act is one with the conduct of scoundrels.

Can blazing carbuncles with her compare? Sandys.

Also: a Quite as well as; not inferior to; as, he can pitch with the best of them. b Obs. exc. Dial. After be, even with, that is, revenged upon.

5. Indicating association by way of alliance, assistance, or harmony; specif.: a Towards; in respect to; — after words expressing agreement or sympathy, disagreement, etc.; as, on friendly terms with all nations. b On the side of; favoring the action or opinion of; willing to give aid or support to.

Fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee. Gen. xxvi. 24.

c For a help or protection to; as, luck be with you. d After the manner or judgment of. "Better to err with Pope." Byron. e Moving in the same direction and hence favoring; as, to have the tide with us.

6. Indicating association in respect of sphere; hence, in the estimation, sight, or opinion, of.

One day is with the Lord as a thousand years. 2 Pet. iii. 8.

Such arguments had invincible force with those pagan philosophers. Addison.

7. Indicating causal connection; specif.: a By or through the means of; through; as, to defend himself with a club; to amuse one with an anecdote.

And tire the hearer with a book of words. Shak.

b Because of; through the operation or effect of; as a result of; as, a woman killed with kindness; to perish with hunger; what with winter and mutinies, the general was ready to retreat. c By the addition or provision of, in the way of contents, material, food, etc., esp. after words of filling, equipping, arraying, encircling; as, to fill a box with straw; to surround oneself with counselors. d Through the agency of; also, through the sexual participation of; — now replaced, except in dialectal uses, by by.

That with these fowls I be all to-rent. Chaucer.

Here is himself, marred, as you see, with traitors. Shak.

e By reason of having, containing, giving forth, etc., esp. in considerable quantity; as, eyes dim with tears. f As the doer, giver, or victim of; — formerly also after accuse, suspect; as, charged with arson; threatened with tuberculosis.

8. Indicating attendance by way of manner, circumstance, purpose, result, condition, etc. upon action or expression; as, dismissed with thanks; to hate with an intense hate. Hence, specif.: a Granted that a person has or receives; having, or receiving; given; — usually introducing a courteous proviso; as, with your permission. b Offering, holding out, or setting up, in this connection; as, with no exception the dullest student in school. c Obs. In the doing of.

9. Indicating association by way of addition or supplement; specif.: a Attended by; as well as; as, an astronomer with his students, is taking observations. b Inclusive of; as, fifty dollars, with the bonus. c Obs. Exclusive of; besides. d Invoking, as a curse, at the same time upon the person concerned. "Show your knave's visage, with a pox to you!" Shak. e Giving, esp. in introduction to a refrain; as, with a cheer for every fellow. f Having the fortune of; as, with good weather.

10. Indicating association in the way of possession, care, or attribute; specif.: a In the possession of; under the guidance, charge, or command of; as, he left the box with me; to bring prenatal ideas with us. b Having in one's possession or under one's care or direction; having or holding at the time in a specified position or relation; as, to arrive with good news; the firmament with its stars; a bride with a large fortune; with eyes wide open. c Having as a characteristic; characterized by; as, with a hot temper; also, as an attribute of; as, to have a pleasing way with one. d Despite having; notwithstanding; — usually followed by all; as, a plan which, with all its appeal, will not work. e So as to save; except at the cost or loss of; as, to escape with one's life; not attainable with honor.

11. Indicating association in the way of simultaneousness, specif.: a At the time of; at the same time as; as, a circumstance attendant upon; at the time that a specified action is performed or experienced by; as, up with the first light; the wind often goes down with the sun. b Immediately consequent upon; — with that and this, and formerly than. "With this he pointed to his face." Dryden. c In accompaniment, and sometimes consequent, upon the duration or variation of; in proportion to; as, pressure varies with the depth; grief moderates with the years.

12. Indicating association in respect of accompaniment; hence, alongside of; among; in the company of; as companion of; also, in attendance as guest or in the service of.

I will buy with you, sell with you, talk with you, walk with you, and so following; but I will not eat with you, drink with you, nor pray with you. Shak.

There is no living with thee nor without thee. Tatler.

13. Indicating conjunction or contiguity; specif.: a For consideration, or considered, beside or in the connection of; as part of the same group or the aggregate including; among; as, one week with another.

With thy clear keen joyances Languor cannot be. Shelley.

b Containing as ingredient. c Adjacent or joined to; in the same space as. d Along in the same direction as; as, with the wind, grain, or current. e Elliptically for with sugar, with cream, etc.; as, cold sherry with.

14. Indicating that from which, as being formerly near or closely or amicably connected, there is separation; as, he parted with them at the crossroad; a break with Austria was imminent.

☞ Various phrases, as with all one's heart, to bear with, etc., are entered under their respective nouns, verbs, etc.

Syn. — See BY.

— with that. a Obs. Provided; if. b Obs. Moreover. c Thereupon; after that. — with the sun. a In the same direction as the sun's apparent motion in the Northern Hemisphere, that is, from east to west or from east through south to west; clockwise; from right to left; to the left. Cf. against the sun, under AGAINST. b At sunrise, or at sunset; hence, very early; as, to get up, or to go to bed, with the sun.

with (wĭth; see the prep.), adv. With it or that person; together in association or time; with that; therewith. Obs.

with (wĭth), n. [Corruption of width.] One of the partitions between the flues in a chimney.

with- (wĭth-; wĭth-; 234: see the prep.). A combining form of the preposition with, prefixed to verbs, meaning: a Back, away, as in withhold, withdraw. b Against, as in withstand.

-with. A combining form of the adverb with, as in:

downwith	inwith	upwith
forthwith	outwith	wherewith herewith	therewith

with (wĭth). Variant of WITHE.

with·al' (wĭth·ôl'), adv. [with + all.] Chiefly Archaic. With this or that, in various senses of with, esp.: a Together with this; in addition to this; besides. b By means of or on account of this. c Immediately afterwards; thereupon. d On the other hand; for all that; still.

How modest in exception, and withal
How terrible in constant resolution. Shak.

with·al', prep. With; — put after its object, often at the end of a clause with an implied relative pronoun as object; as, "a potsherd to scrape himself withal." Job ii. 8. Archaic.

This diamond he greets your wife withal. Shak.

wit'ham (wĭt'ăm), n. Also wit'tome (-ŭm). [From Witham, village name in Essex and Lincolnshire, Eng.] A witless person; — by a play upon Little Witham. Obs. Eng.

with'am·ite (wĭth'ăm·ĭt), n. [After its discoverer, Henry Witham, of Glencoe, Scotland.] Mineral. A red to yellow variety of epidote having strong pleochroism.

Wi·tha'ni·a (wĭ·thā'nĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., of uncert. origin.] Bot. A small genus of Old World tropical shrubs (family Solanaceae) having woolly leaves and clustered bell-shaped flowers with an enlarged fruiting calyx. W. coagulans is used in the East Indies as a substitute for rennet in making cheese.

with·draught' (wĭth·drăft'; wĭth-; 234), n. a Withdrawal; a place to retire to. b Now Local Eng. A sewer or privy.

with·draw' (wĭth·drô'; wĭth-; 234), v.; past tense WITHDREW' (-drōō'); past part. WITH·DRAWN' (-drôn'); pres. part. & verbal n. WITH·DRAW'ING. [with against, back + draw.] Transitive: 1. To take back or away from the object upon which it was bestowed or from the place where it was deposited, directed, etc.; as, to withdraw aid, favor, one's hand, or a sheet from one's pocket; to draw back or away from its position, as a curtain or veil; to remove; as: a To turn away (the eyes). b To remove from an institution of deposit or from a capital fund or the like. c To cause to return or retire, esp. from an activity; to betake (oneself) hence. d To disengage or remove (oneself), as from an office; — generally superseded in use by the intransitive verb. e To dismiss (a member of a jury).

2. To recall or retract; specif.: a To set aside for rejection or to be ignored; to set outside of a category; as, names to be withdrawn from the list. b To renounce, or profess abandonment of (an assertion or expression); to unsay; as, a demand that the speaker withdraw the word "obstructive." c In parliamentary practice, to recall or remove (a motion), before it has been put by the chairman, from the consideration of an assembly. A request or motion to withdraw requires no second, is not debatable, and its effect is as if no motion had been proposed. d To abandon prosecution of, as a claim, an entry, or the like; to void, relinquish, or annul, as a command or support of a movement.

3. To draw away or turn aside, esp. from some activity or interest; to divert or distract, as one's mind. Now Rare.

4. To hold back; to restrain; to withhold; also, to hold oneself back from; to forbear. Obs.

—, Intransitive: 1. To retire as from one place or position to another less conspicuous or more private; to quit a company, a position, a person's presence, or a field of conflict or rivalry; to retreat; to go away; as, he withdrew from the company.

2. To remove or seclude oneself from a person, from participation, or from an activity; as, to withdraw from a political project or into one's ivory tower.

3. In parliamentary practice, to recall a motion from consideration; also, usually in the imperative, to renounce one's words; to make retraction.

4. Obs. a To recede or subside; — of waters. b To refrain.

Syn. — Recede, retrograde, go back. Ant. — Advance, proceed.

with·draw', n. Withdrawal. Rare.

with·draw'al (-ăl; -l'), n. Act of withdrawing; as: a The taking back or away of what has been possessed, granted, etc. b Removal, as from a place of deposit or investment. c Diversion or recall, as of troops. d Retraction. e Retreat or retirement, specif., into seclusion, either physical or mental; detachment.

This immense power of withdrawal, this concentration upon the things of the spirit, made possible Emerson's intellectual life. Agnes Repplier.

witch'hood, n. See -HOOD. witch'like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE. witch't. Witched. Ref. Sp.
wite. † WIGHT.
wit'en. † WIT, v.
wit'en. Obs. pres. pl. of WIT, to know. See 1st WIT, 1, Note. with-bear', v. t. To carry with others. Obs. with-beg', v. i. [Cf. WITH; BUY.] To redeem. Obs. with-bought', part. adj. [with + past part. of buy.] Redeemed. Obs. with-buw'en, v. t. [See WITH; BOW to bend.] To void. Obs. with-call', v. t. To recall. Obs. with-change', v. t. To commute. Obs. with-child', v. t. To get with child: to impregnate. Obs. with-clepe', v. t. To recall; revoke. Obs.
with-draw'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE.

with·draw'er (wĭth·drô'ĕr; wĭth-; 234), n. One who withdraws.

with·draw'ing (-ĭng), adj. That withdraws; disposed to retire or seclude oneself, as in contemplation. — with·draw'ing·ness, n.

withdrawing room. [See WITHDRAW; cf. DRAWING ROOM.] A room for retirement from another room, as from a dining room; a drawing room.

with·drawn' (-drôn'), adj. That has been taken back, removed, or retracted; that is removed from immediate contact or easy approach or from the general view; secluded; detached. — with·drawn'ness, n.

withe (wĭth; wĭth̄; wīth̄; 277), n. [ME. withe, wyth, fr. AS. withthe. See WITHY; cf. GYVE.] 1. a A flexible, slender twig or branch, esp. one used as a band or rope; a willow or osier twig; a withy; also, in the West Indies, a woody vine. b The withe rod. c A tropical American weedy herb (Heliotropium fruticosum), the stems of which are used for making baskets in Jamaica.

2. A band consisting of a twig or twigs twisted; hence, Obs., a halter; a rope.

3. Naut. Also wythe. a A boom iron; specif., the boom iron which secures the flying jib boom. b A metal ring or band on a mast or other spar.

withe, v. t.; WITHED (wĭtht; wĭth̄d; wīth̄d); WITH'ING (wĭth'ĭng; wĭth̄'-; wīth̄'-). Now Dial. 1. To wind or twist like a withe.

2. To bind or fasten with a withe or withes; as, withed to a pony's tail.

3. To snare (deer) with a noose of withes. U. S.

withe. Variant of 3d WITH, n.

with'en (wĭth'ĭn; wĭth̄'ĭn), n. A willow; a place where willows grow. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

with'er (wĭth̄'ĕr), n. [AS. withre.] Resistance; also, adversity. Obs.

with'er, v. t. [AS. witherian.] To oppose; resist. Obs.

with'er, adj. Also with'er·ly. Opposite; adverse. Dial.

with'er (wĭth̄'ĕr), v.; WITH'ERED (-ĕrd); WITH'ER·ING. [ME. wideren, var. of wederen to weather; cf. G. verwittern to decay, to be weatherbeaten. See WEATHER.] Intransitive: 1. To dry or shrivel up; to become sapless; to lose freshness; to fade.

Shall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit thereof, that it wither? Ezek. xvii. 9.

2. To lose or to want animal moisture; to dry up and waste away, as animal bodies.

Now warm in love, now with'ring in the grave. Dryden.

3. To lose vigor, power, force, or the like; to languish.

States thrive or wither as moons wax and wane. Cowper.

—, Transitive: 1. To cause to become dry and fade.

2. To cause to shrink, wrinkle, or decay, as for want of animal moisture. "Age cannot wither her." Shak.

3. To cause to languish, or lose freshness, vitality, force, or the like; to blight; as, a reputation withered by calumny.

The passions and the cares that wither life. Bryant.

4. To expose to the air; to air, as clothing. Obs.

5. Brewing. To check the growth of germinating barley on the malting floor.

Syn. — WITHER, SHRIVEL, SHRINK. To WITHER is to lose freshness, or (esp.) to become dry and faded; to SHRIVEL is to draw up or contract into wrinkles; SHRINK commonly implies contraction without corrugation or wrinkling; as, "the withered leaves of autumn" (Shelley); "a man old, wrinkled, faded, withered" (Shak.); "a poor, little, shriveled, crumpled bud" (Thackeray); "When the soul of a youth can be heated above common heat, the vices of passion shrivel up" (G. Meredith); "She now contracts her vast design, and all her triumphs shrink into a coin" (Pope); "Alum styptics with contracting power shrink his thin essence like a riveled flower" (id.).

Ant. — Revive, freshen; swell, expand.

with'er (wĭth̄'ĕr). Scot. & dial. Eng. of WITHER, n. & v.

with'er (wĭth̄'ĕr). Scot. var. of WEATHER.

with'er·band' (-băndʹ), n. [withers + band.] A piece of iron in a saddle near a horse's withers, to strengthen the bow.

with'er·blench' (-blĕnch'; 105), n. [Cf. WITHER, adv.; BLENCH a trick, BLENCH to shrink.] Assault; attack. Obs.

with'er·craft' (-krăft'), n. Craft; magic art. Obs.

with'er·deed' (-dēd'), n. A hostile deed. Obs.

with'ered (wĭth̄'ĕrd), adj. Shriveled and shrunken from withering. See WITHER, v. — with'ered·ly, adv. — with'ered·ness, adv.

with'ered (wĭth̄'ĕrd), adj. Having withers; — in composition.

with'er·er (wĭth̄'ĕr·ĕr), n. One who or that which withers, esp. causes to wither.

with'er·ing, adj. 1. That withers something or withers away; that causes to shrink, as by scorn or sarcasm.

Withering denials of happiness. Walter Lippmann.

2. Used for drying or curing of malt, tea, or the like; as, withering floor or room.

— with'er·ing·ly, adv.

with'er·ing, n. Withered brushwood used in fencing.

with'er·ite (wĭth̄'ĕr·īt), n. [After W. Withering (1741–99), Eng. physician.] Mineral. Native barium carbonate, $BaCO_3$, an orthorhombic mineral in white or gray six-sided twin crystals, and also in columnar or granular masses. H., 3–3.75. Sp. gr., 4.27–4.35.

with'er·ling (-lĭng), n. [AS.] An adversary. Obs.

with'er·ling, n. [wither + 1st -ling.] A withered or decrepit person. Obs.

with'er·nam' (wĭth̄'ĕr·năm'), n. [AS. wither against + nām a seizure, fr. niman to take.] Early English Law. A taking by way of reprisal; a second or reciprocal distress of other goods in lieu of goods which were taken by a first distress and have been eloigned; — chiefly used in the expression capias in withernam, which is the name of a writ (sometimes called a writ of reprisal) used in connection with the action of replevin, which issues to a defendant in replevin when he has obtained judgment for a return of the chattels replevied, and fails to obtain them on the writ of return.

withe rod. A North American shrub (Viburnum nudum) with tough osierlike shoots. Also, the closely related species V. cassinoides.

with'ers (wĭth̄'ĕrz), n. pl. [Prop., the parts which resist the pull or strain in drawing a load, fr. ME. wither resistance, fr. AS. wither, fr. wither against; akin to G. widerrist withers. See WITH, prep.] 1. The ridge between the shoulder bones of a horse. See HORSE, Illust.

Our withers are unwrung (not galled). Shak.

2. The part between the shoulder bones at the base of the neck, in the antelope, deer, ox, sheep, and other animals.

with'er·shins (wĭth̄'ĕr·shĭnz), adv. [AS. withersinnes backward.] In a direction contrary to the apparent course of the sun; contrariwise; topsy-turvy; contrarily. Cf. 2d. DEASIL. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

with'er·tip' (wĭth̄'ĕr·tĭpʹ), n. Plant Pathol. Any blighting of terminal shoots or of the tips of leaves, esp. characteristic of certain anthracnoses of citrus plants. See CITRUS ANTHRACNOSE, LIME ANTHRACNOSE, SATSUMA ANTHRACNOSE.

with'er·weight' (-wāt'), n. [See WITHER, adv.; WEIGHT.] A weight to balance the scale. Scot.

with'er–wrung' (-rŭng'), adj. Injured in the withers.

with'er·y (-ĭ), adj. Shriveling or inclined to shrivel and decay.

with'gang' (wĭth'găng'), n. [Cf. WITH; GANG a going.] Liberty; toleration. Obs. Scot.

with'gang', v. t. To have dealing with. Obs. Scot.

with·held' (wĭth̄·hĕldʹ; wĭth-; 234), part. adj. 1. Held in check; restrained.

2. Held back unbestowed or undelivered.

with·hold' (-hōldʹ), v.; past tense -HELD' (-hĕldʹ); past part. -HELD', Archaic -HOLD'EN (-hōl'dʹn); pres. part. & verbal n. -HOLD'ING. [with again, against, back + hold.] Transitive: 1. To hold back; to check; restrain; to keep from action.

Withhold, O sovereign prince, your hasty hand. Spenser.

2. To desist or refrain from granting, giving, allowing, or the like, also formerly from using or manipulating; to keep back or in one's possession; as, to withhold assent.

3. Obs. a To keep prisoner or in bondage. b To engage for service; to keep engaged in service. Chaucer.

4. To keep in use or possession; to maintain; to retain, esp. in the memory. Obs. Chaucer.

5. Obs. a To keep out or off, as vain. b To keep away or separated. c To prevent; to hold back or postpone. d To hold or hold up.

—, Intransitive: 1. To hold in; to refrain from action.

2. To refrain; — followed by from or sometimes an infinitive. Now Rare.

Syn. — Reserve, curb, repress.

Ant. — Express; set forth, present, manifest.

with·hold'al (-hōl'dăl; -dʹl), n. Withholdment.

with·hold'er (-hōl'dĕr), n. One who withholds.

with·hold'ment (-hōldʹmĕnt), n. The action or an instance of withholding.

with·in' (wĭth̄·ĭnʹ; 234), adv. [ME. withinne, withinnen, adv. & prep., fr. AS. withinnan, adv. & prep., fr. with with, against, toward + innan in, inwardly, within, fr. in in. See WITH, prep.; IN, prep.] 1. In or into the space or part enclosed by the outer surfaces or between encompassing sides; specif.: a On the inside or inner side; past the surface or bounds and toward the center or bottom; as, white within; the windows are locked within; to extend a tube within. b Inside the bounds, as of a region; as, besieged within. c Inside the body; underneath the skin; as, to seek pus within. d In the house, room, etc.; indoors; as, for rental rates inquire within; he nodded and passed within. e Obs. Herein. f Theater. Behind the scenes.

2. In or into the inner thought, disposition, or character, hidden behind the external features or expression; inwardly; as, outwardly calm but raging within; a eloquent seem from within.

Ills from within thy reason must prevent. Dryden.

3. Formerly, inside one's home or apartment; at home. J. Austen.

4. Under that number or amount. Obs.

with·in', prep. 1. In the inner or interior part of; inside of; not without; as, happiness lies within a man.

Come not within these doors; within this roof. Shak.

2. In the limits or compass of; specif.: a Not farther in length than; as, within five miles. b Not longer in time than; before the end or since the beginning of; as, within an hour. c Not exceeding in quantity or degree; as, expenses kept within one's income.

3. Hence, inside the limits, reach, or influence of; as, within call, hearing, reach, sight; not going outside of; not beyond, overstepping, or the like.

Both he and she are still within my power. Dryden.

4. Into. Archaic.

5. Obs. a Among. b During.

6. Fencing. Inside the guard of.

— within an ace of. See under ACE, n.

— within oneself. a In one's inner being, esp. without communication. b Now Dial. Without external connection or aid. c Without straining one's capacity or power.

with·in', adj. 1. That is inside or enclosed. Rare.

2. Used predicatively: a Rare. In possession. b Remaining or placed inside the house, office, etc. c Eng. Lying inside certain walls or boundaries; as, Bishopsgate within.

with·in'–bound', adj. Done or allowed within bounds.

with·in'doors' (wĭth̄·ĭn'dōrz'; 181; 234), adv. Indoors. — n. A person or persons staying indoors.

with·in'forth' (-fôrth'; 181), adv. Within; inwardly. Obs.

with·in'–named' (-nămd'), adj. Named in this writing or instrument.

with·in'ward (-wĕrd), with·in'wards (-wĕrdz), adv. [See -WARD, -WARDS.] Toward or in the interior.

with'ness (wĭth̄'nĕs; -nĭs; wĭthʹ-; 119; 234), n. The state or fact of being in proximity, contiguity, or association with respect to each other.

with·out' (wĭth̄·outʹ; 234), adv. [ME. without, without, outen, adv. & prep., fr. AS. withūtan, fr. with with, against, toward + ūtan outside, fr. ūt out. See WITH, prep.; OUT.] 1. On or at the outside; not on the inside; outwardly; externally.

Without were fightings, within were fears. 2 Cor. vii. 5.

2. Outside of the house; out of doors.

The people came unto the house without. Chaucer.

3. Outside of an (understood) class, community, or membership; as, secrets communicated to those who are without. Cf. OUTSIDER.

with·out' (wĭth̄·outʹ; 234), prep. 1. At, to, or on, the outside of; out of; — opposed to within; as, he stood without the gate.

2. Out of the limits of; beyond; as, without our reach.

3. Not with; specif.: a Dissociated or separated from; in absence of; not having or using; lacking.

I wolde it do withouten negligence. Chaucer.

Without the separation of the two monarchies, the most advantageous terms . . . must end in our destruction. Addison.

There is no living with thee nor without thee. Tatler.

b Exempt or free from; as, without end, fail, fear. c In absence of the act of; as, looking without seeing.

He was a slave without being a dupe. Macaulay.

4. With the lack or absence of something indicated in the context; as, if no lunch comes, we must go without.

5. Exclusive of; besides. Obs.

6. Beyond the extent, range, scope, capacity, or province, of; beyond. Obs.

☞ For phrases with without, see under the noun with which without is used.

with·out', conj. Unless; except; — often followed by that. Now Chiefly Dial.

You will never live to my age without you keep yourselves in breath with exercise, and in heart with joyfulness. Sidney.

with·out'doors' (-dōrz'; 181), adv. 1. Out of doors.

2. Outside the family, nation, etc.; formerly, outside Parliament.

with·out'en (-outʹn), prep. Without. Archaic & Dial.

with·out'forth' (-fôrth'; 181), adv. Without; outwardly. Archaic.

with·out'side' (-sīdʹ), adv. & prep. Outside. Now Rare.

with·out'wards (-wĕrdz), adv. Toward the exterior.

with·save' (wĭth̄·sāv'; wĭth-; 234), v. t. To preserve. Rare.

with·say' (-sā'), v. t. [AS. withsecgan.] To renounce; deny; gainsay; forbid; refuse; contradict. Obs.

with·say'er (-ĕr), n. One that contradicts. Obs.

with·stand' (-stănd'), v.; WITH·STOOD' (-stōōd'); WITH·STAND'ING. [AS. withstandan. See WITH, prep.; STAND.] Transitive: 1. To stand against; to oppose; resist, either with physical or moral force; — often implying success in resistance or opposition; as: a To stand successfully against, esp. a destructive or oppressive agency or one who is intent upon corrupting or overpowering; not to yield before; as, to withstand an attack; to withstand arguments. "I withstood him to the face." Gal. ii. 11. b To be proof against the weight, pressure, impact, etc., of; to remain uncrushed or unpierced despite the effect of. c To stop or obstruct the course of; to stand in the way of; to hinder in its performance or progress. d To be proof against the attraction or influence of; to resist the inclination to indulge or indulge in, as curiosity; as, too tempting to withstand. e Obs. To contradict; to controvert.

2. Obs. a To refuse to give up. b To obstruct or prevent. c To hold back or prevent from befalling or passing anywhere.

—, Intransitive To make resistance; to oppose; resist.

Syn. — Resist, confront, defy.

Ant. — Submit, yield; shun, evade.

with·stand'er (-stănd'ĕr), n. One who withstands.

with·stand'ing·ness (-dĭng·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Power or inclination to withstand.

with·stay' (-stā'), v. t. To effect a stay, stop, or check in the course or coming of; to withstand.

with·strain' (-strān'), v. t. To restrain; also, Obs., to condense.

with'y (wĭth̄'ĭ; wĭth̄'ĭ), n.; pl. WITHIES (-ĭz). [ME. withi, fr. AS. wīthig willow, willow twig; akin to AS. withthe withe, G. weide willow, OHG. wīda, ON. vithir willow, vith, vithja, withy, Sw. vide willow, vidja willow twig, Dan. vidie willow, osier, Gr. ἴτεα L. vitis vine, vitex the chaste tree, viere to plait, OSlav. vŭti to turn, wind, braid. Cf. WISE, WIRE, WITHE.] 1. A willow; esp., the osier willow.

2. A flexible slender twig or branch, as of osier, esp. in the form of a loop or hoop or used for binding.

with'y (wĭth̄'ĭ; wĭth̄'-; wĭth̄'-), adj. Like a withe or withy; flexible and tough; of a person, wiry and, usually, agile.

with'y–bound', adj. See BOUND.

with'y·pot' (wĭth̄'ĭ·pŏtʹ; wĭth̄'ĭ-), n. A vessel or nest of withes for eggs of wild fowl. Rare.

with'y·wind' (-wīndʹ), n. [AS. withewinde, withowinde. See WITHE, WITHY; WIND to turn.] a The European virgin's-bower (Clematis vitalba). b The bittersweet Solanum dulcamara.

with'y–wood'y (wĭth̄'ĭ·wŏŏd'ĭ; wĭth̄'ĭ-), n. A rope of withes.

wit'jar' (wĭt'jär'), n. [wit + jar a vessel.] A container for one's wits (alluding to such a vessel feigned by Ariosto). Rare.

wit'less (-lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. 1. Destitute of wit, or understanding; wanting intelligence, wisdom, or good sense; lacking or not guided by judgment; ill-judged; heedless; foolish; as, interrupted by some witless coxcombs; witless obstinacy; hence, indiscreet.

2. Out of one's wits; insane; mad.

3. Destitute of wit, or mental capacity; wanting or deficient in intellectual power; stupid; dull-witted.

A witty mother! witless else her son. Shak.

4. Incapable of understanding or apprehending; as, witless to discern true values.

5. Unknowing; unaware; — usually followed by of.

6. Destitute of wit (senses 8 & 9); as, a matter-of-fact speech entirely witless.

7. Obs. a Having the wits dulled; dazed. b Not endowed with reason; lacking any intellectual faculty.

— wit'less·ly, adv. — wit'less·ness, n.

wit'less, adv. Witlessly. Rare.

wit'let (-lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. A witling. Rare.

wit'ling (-lĭng), n. [wit + 1st -ling; cf. G. witzling.] A person of little wit or understanding; a pretender to wit; one given to smart sayings inferior in wit.

Ye newspaper willings! ye pert scribbling folks! Goldsmith.

---

with·draw'ment, n. See -MENT.

with'erd. Withered. Ref. Sp.

with'er·ful, adj. Hostile. Obs. — with'er·ful·ness, n. Obs.

with'er·gloom' (wĭth̄'ĕr·glōōm'). Scot. var. of WEATHERGLEAM.

with'er·ly. Var. of 3d WITHER, adj. — with'er·ly, adv.

with'er·ward, adj. [AS. witherweard.] Adverse. Obs. — adv. Contrarily. Obs.

with'er·win'e, n. [AS. witherwinna.] Enemy; adversary. Obs. with'er·worth', adv. [Cf. WITHERWARD.] Perversely. Obs.

withe'wood', n. = WITHE ROD.

with'ey. Var. of WITHY.

with·fiche', v. t. [with + ME. fiche to fix, fr. OF. fichier (F. ficher).] To fix in. Obs. [Obs.] with'fol'low·er, n. Companion.

with'heir', n. A coheir. Obs.

with·hele', v. t. [See WITH; HELE to conceal.] To cover over. Obs.

with·hie', v. i. [See WITH; HIE.] To hasten. Obs.

with·hold'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

with·hold'en, part. adj. = WITHHELD. Archaic.

with·hold'n. Withholden. R. S.

with'ie. Var. of WITHY.

with'i·en, adj. [See WITHY.] Of willow. Obs.

with·in'side', adv. & prep. Also with·in'sides'. = INSIDE. Archaic & Dial.

with·nay', v. t. [with + nay to refuse.] To refuse. Obs.

with·nim', v. t. [See WITH; NIM, v.] To blame; reprove; reproach. Obs.

with·out'door', adj. Outdoor; exterior. Obs.

withoute, withouten. + WITHOUT.

with·out'-take', prep. Except. Obs.

with·praise', v. t. To praise together. Obs.

with·sake', v. t. [AS. withsacan.] To withsay. Obs.

withsaw, n. [Cf. WITHSAY, SAW a saying.] Contradiction. Obs.

with·scape', v. i. To escape. Obs.

with·set', v. t. [AS. withsettan.] To resist; oppose. Obs.

with·set'ting, n. Exception. Obs.

with·sit', v. i. = WITHSET. Obs.

with·slip', v. i. [See WITH; SLIP, v. i.] To escape. Obs.

with·spar', v. i. [See WITH; SPAR to fasten.] To stop; block. Obs.

with·stood', past tense & past part. of WITHSTAND.

with·take', v. t. [See WITH; TAKE.] To withdraw; also, reprove. Obs. — with·take', n. Obs.

with·tee', v. i. [AS. withtēon.] To draw back; to withdraw. Obs.

with·turn', v. t. To turn away; avert. Obs.

with'vine' (wĭth̄'vīn'), n. [Cf. WITHWIND.] = COUCH GRASS, 1 a. with'ward, prep. [See WITH; -WARD.] Contrary to. Obs.

with'wind' (wĭth̄'wīnd'). Var. of WITHYWIND.

wit'ie, v. i. [AS. witian (in comp.).] To guard; keep; preserve. Obs.

wit'ie, v. t. = WITE, to blame. Obs.

wit'ing (wĭt'ĭn; -'n). Var. of WITTING. Obs. exc. Dial.

wit'loof (wĭt'lōf), n. [D., lit., white leaf.] A variety of chicory having leaves which are blanched and used raw as a salad; French endive.

wit'mon·ger (wĭt'mŭng'gĕr), n. One who passes out smart or witty sayings. Contemptuous.

wit'ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. [AS. witness, gewitness, knowledge, testimony, a witness (person). See WIT; -NESS.] 1. Attestation of a fact or an event; testimony; as by signature or oath; as, in witness whereof I hereunto set my seal; often specif., inward testimony, as of conscience; also, formerly, attestation of a person in court.

May we with . . . the witness of a good conscience, pursue him with any further revenge? Shak.

If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true. John v. 31.

2. One who is cognizant by direct experience; a person who beholds, or otherwise has personal knowledge of, anything; as, an eyewitness; an earwitness; a witness of the deed; in asseverations, one, often God, who is invoked as cognizant of a fact and offered as one's surety; as, he summoned God for witness to the truth of what he was about to say on this charge. Cf. DEPONENT.

3. That which serves as or furnishes evidence, or proof.

This heap be witness, and this pillar be witness. Gen. xxi. 51, 52.

4. That which serves as an evidential example offered in substantiation of a statement; — used to introduce a name or instance; as, this measure proved unwise, witness the increase in crime.

5. One who gives testimony by act or sufferance of fidelity to Christ; a martyr. Archaic.

6. Obs. a Wit, or understanding. b The decalogue. c A sponsor at baptism.

7. Bookbinding. A leaf having its original rough outer edge as proof that the book containing it is uncut; also, the unseparated outer edge of two leaves. Collectively, such leaves throughout an uncut book.

8. Law. a One who testifies in a cause, or gives evidence before a judicial tribunal; as, the witnesses in court agreed. The common law excluded many persons from testifying, but the tendency now is to admit all persons to testify who can furnish material and relevant evidence, leaving the question of credibility to the jury or court. b One who is called on to be present at some transaction so as to be able to testify to its having taken place, as one who witnesses a will, deed, or marriage; specif., a person who sees the execution of an instrument and subscribes it to confirm its authenticity by his testimony.

— bear one witness. To give evidence in corroboration of one's action or assertion. — bear witness. To furnish or constitute proof, esp. by oral or written testimony. — with a witness. Effectually; to a great degree; unmistakably. Archaic.

Composure with a witness. Jane Austen.

wit'ness (wĭt'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), v.; WIT'NESSED (-nĕst; -nĭst); WIT'NESS·ING. Transitive: 1. To furnish evidence or proof such as to establish; to give testimony to; to testify to; to attest; as, early writers witness the antiquity of the custom; ready to witness that the handwriting is that of the defendant.

2. To give or be evidence of; to serve as a token or sign showing or proving; to evince; as, your actions witness your guilt; our wounds witness the ferocity of the attack which you made on us.

3. To establish by sworn or attested evidence contained therein; as, this indenture further witnesseth that injury to stock amounts to two hundred dollars.

4. To show or evidence by behavior; specif., to bear witness to, by speech or conduct; as, to witness a religious faith. Now Rare.

5. To see or know by reason of personal presence, esp. something of a formal nature or of more than ordinary significance; to have direct cognizance of; to observe with one's own eyes or ears.

[He] did not live to witness the restoration of peace. Marshall.

6. To be the scene of; to form part of the setting of; as, this plain has witnessed many a battle; western Europe has witnessed many wars.

7. Law. To act as a witness of, as a signature, writing, or transaction, formerly a fact; specif., to see the execution of, as an instrument, and subscribe it for the purpose of establishing its authenticity; as, to witness a bond or will.

—, Intransitive: 1. To bear testimony; to give evidence; — usually with to or against.

I forget nothing, . . . I'll witness before anyone. Hergesheimer.

2. To observe; to take notice. Obs. Chaucer.

Syn. — Attest subscribe; see, beheld.

wit'ness, n. A witty saying or doing. Obs.

witness box. An enclosure from which a witness testifies in court.

witness corner. Mining. A post or monument serving as a reference point for the location of an inaccessible corner of a mining claim.

wit'nessed pur'chase, sale, or trans·ac'tion (wĭt'nĕst; -nĭst; 119). A purchase or sale of securities for the account of a broker who is in default on a contract made on the floor to deliver or accept delivery of such securities. Such a transaction is witnessed by a disinterested broker. See under the rule, under RULE, n.

wit'ness·er, n. A witness.

witness stand. The stand from which a witness gives evidence in a court; hence, the position of witness, as for questioning by a court or investigating committee.

wit'ney (wĭt'nĭ), n. [From Witney, Eng., where it was first made.] A heavy, woolen fabric, napped and shrunk, used for coats and blankets. — witney nap.

wit'ney·er (-ĕr), n. A textile worker who produces a witney nap.

Wi·to'to (wē·tō'tō), n. An Indian of the most important of the Uitotan tribes of very primitive savages dwelling in Colombia and Peru. — adj. Uitotan.

wit'ship (wĭt'shĭp), n. A witty person. Jocular.

wit'–snap'per (-snăp'ĕr), n. A maker of witty quips. Rare. Shak.

wit'ted (-ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. Having wit, or understanding.

-wit'ted (-wĭt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119). A combining form from wit, n., denoting having (such) a wit, as in:

afterwitted	hard-witted	slow-witted beef-witted	lean-witted	tender-witted bird-witted	light-witted	thick-witted blear-witted	quick-witted	underwitted dull-witted	shallow-witted	whole-witted gross-witted	sharp-witted	wild-witted half-witted	short-witted wit'ter (wĭt'ĕr), n. [See WITTER to inform, direct.] Scot. 1. A mark; sign; token. Obs.

2. Curling. The tee.

wit'ter, n. [Origin uncert.] A barb, as on an arrowhead. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wit'ter, adj. [ON. vitr.] Wise; knowing; also, evident; certain; sure. Obs. — wit'ter·ness, n. Obs.

wit'ter, v. t. [ON. vitra to manifest, lay open, reveal.] To inform; direct; certify; assure. Obs. exc. Scot.

wit'ter·ing (wĭt'ĕr·ĭng), n. Knowledge; information; notice; also, a hint. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wit'ter·ly (-lĭ), adv. Obs. a Wisely; knowingly. b Assuredly; certainly. c Manifestly; clearly. d Doubtless; truly.

wit'tic·as'ter (wĭt'ĭk·ăs'tĕr), n. [Formed like criticaster.] A witling. Rare.

wit'ti·chen·ite (wĭt'ĭ·kĕn·īt), n. [From Wittichen, Baden.] Mineral. A tin-white to steel-gray copper bismuth sulphide, Cu_3BiS_3, usually occurring massive. Sp. gr., 4.5.

wit'ti·cism (wĭt'ĭ·sĭz'm), n. [From witty, after criticism.] A witty saying, sentence, or phrase; a clever or amusing expressed conceit; formerly, a jeer or gibe.

He is full of conceptions, points of epigram, and witticisms; all of which are below the dignity of heroic verse. Addison.

wit'ti·cize (-sīz), v. i. To express oneself wittily or indulge in witticisms.

wit'ti·fied (-fĭd), adj. Having wit (sense 9). Rare.

wit'ting (wĭt'ĭng; -'n), n. Obs. exc. Dial. a Knowledge; intelligence; judgment. b Information; tidings; — esp. in pl.

wit'ting (-ĭng), adj. Done with the knowledge of the doer, or knowingly; not unintentional; as, witting acts or lies.

wit'ting, adv. Wittingly. Obs.

wit'ting·ly (wĭt'ĭng·lĭ), adv. [See WIT, v.] Knowingly; with knowledge of the doer; by design.

wit'tol (wĭt'ŭl; -'l), n. [From witwall, the bird, associated with the cuckoo (cf. CUCKOLD), and prob. confused with E. wit to know.] A man who knows his wife's infidelity and submits to it; a tame cuckold; a fool. Archaic.

wit'tol, n. [Prob. for whitetail. Cf. WHEATEAR.] The wheatear. Local, Eng.

wit tooth. A wisdom tooth.

Witt's planet (wĭts). Astron. The asteroid Eros. See EROS, 3.

wit'ty (wĭt'ĭ), adj.; WIT'TI·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WIT'TI·EST. [AS. witig, wittig. See WIT.] 1. Possessed of wit; as: a Obs. Having wisdom; — of God. b Obs. Having judgment or sagacity. c Now Dial. Having good mental capacity; clever. d Obs. Wise; knowing; — of beasts; also, endowed with reason. e Obs. Possessed of cunning or craftiness, esp. in intrigue.

The deep-revolving witty Buckingham. Shak.

f Obs. Having good practical judgment.

2. Possessed of learning; informed; versed. Obs.

3. Evincing or requiring good mental capacity or skillful contriving; evincing discernment or wise management. Obs.

4. Esp., possessing wit (sense 8); quick or ready in the perception or expression of amusing points of view and of intellectually entertaining congruities and incongruities; brightly or cleverly facetious; sometimes, sarcastic.

So unmercifully witty upon the women. Addison.

5. Marked by wit (sense 9); amusingly and cleverly novel in expression, point of view, or the like; as, a witty remark, poem, conception, or the like.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

witty-brained	witty-feigned	witty-pretty
witty-conceited	witty-pated	witty-worded

Syn. — WITTY, FACETIOUS. WITTY implies quick and clever speech (esp. repartee), or sparkling pleasantry; FACETIOUS commonly suggests waggishness or jocularity; as, "[Sydney] Smith was one of the very wittiest of Englishmen . . . and, among the group of founders of the new periodical, the representative of . . . polished persiflage" (Saintsbury); "Probably the most tedious bore on earth is the man who feels it incumbent upon him always to be facetious and to turn everything into a joke" (J. Fiske). Cf. JOCULAR, JEST, LAUGHABLE, WIT.

Ant. — Dull, stupid, obtuse, dense.

wit'wall' (wĭt'wôl'), n. [Cf. G. wittewal wiedewall, MHG. witewal, D. wiedewaal, wielewaal, MLG. & MD. wēdewāle; appar. the same word as ME. wodewale; perh. influenced by hickwall. Cf. WITTOL cuckold, WOODWALL.] The European great spotted woodpecker. Local, Eng. & Scot.

wit'wan'ton (-wŏn'tŭn), adj. & n. (One) using wit wantonly. Obs. — v. i. To sport as a witwanton. Obs.

Wit·wa'ters·rand (wĭt·wä'tĕrs·rănt; -rănd), adj. [From Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, Transvaal.] Geol. Pertaining to or designating the fourth from the top of the major divisions of the predominantly sedimentary, unfossiliferous, pre-Devonian rocks of South Africa.

Wit·wa'ters·rand, n. Geol. The Witwatersrand period or system.

wi·tzchou'ra (wĭ·chōō'rä), n. [F. vitchoura, fr. Pol. wilczura wolfskin, cloak lined with wolfskin, fr. wilk wolf; akin to E. WOLF.] A lady's mantle with large sleeves and a deep falling collar, in vogue at the time of George IV.

wive (wīv), v.; WIVED (wīvd); WIV'ING (wīv'ĭng). [AS. wīfian. See WIFE.] Intransitive: 1. To marry a woman; to take a wife; as, hanging and wiving go by destiny.

Wherefore we pray you hastily to wive. Chaucer.

2. To become or act as wife; — sometimes with it.

—, Transitive: 1. To marry to a wife; to provide with a wife. "Manned, horsed, and wived." Shak.

2. To take for a wife; to marry.

3. To become wife of. Archaic.

4. To bring into close union, as thoughts with words.

wiv'er (wīv'ĕr), v. i. [Var. of QUIVER.] To quiver; flutter; tremble; waver. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wiv'er (wīv'ĕr), n. One who takes or provides a woman as wife.

wi'vern (wī'vĕrn), n. [ME. wivere a serpent, fr. ONF. wivre (OF. guivre, F. givre, guivre) wivern, fr. L. vipera, but influenced by OHG. wipera, fr. L. See VIPER.] Her. A fabulous two-legged winged creature, like a cockatrice, but having the head of a dragon, and without spurs. Cf. DRAGON, n., 12.

wiz'ard (wĭz'ĕrd), n. [ME. wysard, fr. wys, wis, wise + -ard. See WISE, adj.] 1. A wise man; a sage. Obs.

The star-led wizards [Magi] haste with odors sweet! Milton.

2. One devoted to the black art; a magician; sorcerer.

The wily wizard must be caught. Dryden.

3. One endowed with exceptional skill or able to achieve the impossible; a genius or prodigy. Chiefly Colloq.

4. A witch doctor or conjurer.

wiz'ard, adj. 1. Possessed of the powers or characteristics of a wizard; being a wizard; having magical influence.

2. Of or associated with wizardry; magical; hence, enchanting; charming.

wiz'ard, v. t. 1. To practice wizardry or magic art upon.

2. To name or characterize as a wizard.

wiz'ard·ly, adj. Like, befitting, or characteristic of, a wizard; wizardlike; weird.

Wizard of the North. Sir Walter Scott; — often so called by reason of the conjuring power of his imagination.

wiz'ard·ry (wĭz'ĕrd·rĭ), n. 1. The character or practices of wizards; magical skill; witchcraft; sorcery; magic.

He acquired a reputation bordering on wizardry. J. A. Symonds.

2. The lore of wizards; magic.

3. A seemingly magical transforming power or influence.

wiz'en (wĭz'n; dial. also wē'z'n), v. i. & t. [ME. wisenen, fr. AS. wisnian, weosnian, to wither; akin to OHG. wesanēn to grow dry, ON. visna to wither, Sw. vissna, Dan. visne, Lith. vysti to fade, wither, L. viescere.] To wither; shrivel.

wiz'en, adj. [From WIZENED.] Wizened; thin; weazen.

A little lonely, wizen, strangely clad boy. Dickens.

wiz'en (wĭz'n). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WEASAND.

wiz'ened (wĭz'nd; dial. also wē'z'nd), adj. [From WIZEN, v.] Dried; shriveled; withered; shrunken; weazen; as, wizened old man; wizened crops. — wiz'ened·ness, n.

wiz'en–faced', adj. Having a shriveled thin face.

wiz'en–heart'ed, adj. Grown sterile of human affections. Dial.

wlat'some (wlăt'sŭm), adj [AS. wlætta loathing. See 1st -SOME.] Loathsome. Obs.

wlit'e (wlĭt'ē), n. [AS. See LIT.] Beauty, as of countenance or form. Obs.

wlite, v. i. [AS. wlītan.] To gaze; look. Obs.

wlo (wlō), n. [AS. wlōh.] Hem; fringe. Obs.

wo (wō). 1. With ho or ha ho, a falconer's summons to a hawk.

2. Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WHOA, interj. & v.

wo, woe. Variants of WOO.

wo. Variant of WOE.

wo. Var. of WHO. Obs. exc. Dial.

woad (wōd), n. Also wad (wăd), wade (wād). [ME. wod, fr. AS. wād; akin to D. weede, G. waid, OHG. weit, L. vitrum woad, and from its blue-green color, glass. Cf. VITRIOL.] 1. A European biennial herb (Isatis tinctoria), formerly grown for the blue coloring matter yielded by its leaves. Also, any other species of Isatis.

2. A blue dyestuff, now little used, prepared from the leaves of woad. Its essential constituent, indigotin, is identical with that of indigo.

3. The color pastel blue.

☞ COMBINATIONS are woad'–leaved', woad'–paint'ed.

woad, v. t. 1. To dye or treat with woad; to plant to woad.

2. To tinge deeply as does woad.

— woad'er (-ĕr), n. — woad'man (-măn), n.

woad vat. A vat (see 1st VAT, 3) containing woad as the reducing agent.

wob'be·gong' (wŏb'ē·gŏng'), n. [Native name in New South Wales.] The carpet shark.

wob'ble, wab'ble (wŏb'l), v.; WOB'BLED, WAB'BLED (-'ld); WOB'BLING, WAB'BLING (-lĭng). [Cf. Fris. & LG. wabbeln to wabble.] Intransitive: 1. To move or move along with an irregular rocking or staggering motion or unsteadily and clumsily from one side to the other; as, the rider wobbled in the saddle and finally fell off; to shake or tremble unsteadily like jelly; as, a wobbling chin; to vary irregularly from a true course.

Arms waved wildly, heads wobbled, short legs worked vigorously. Edna Ferber

2. To move in the manner of a rotating disk when the axis of rotation is inclined toward that of the disk; as, a top wobbles.

3. To waver or vacillate between different courses of action, policies, parties, or the like; to show indecision; as, the verse wobbles between twelve and fourteen syllables on no principle; he was constantly wobbling between conservative and liberal policies.

4. To tremble or quaver; as, his voice wobbled. Colloq.

5. To boil vigorously. Dial.

—, Transitive: To cause to move with an unsteady wobbling or lurching motion from one side to the other. Colloq.

wob'ble, n. A hobbling or rocking unequal motion, as of a wheel unevenly hung; a staggering to and fro; a wobbling gait; specif., pl., Australia, a disease of cattle and horses, similar to rickets, caused by eating species of Macrozamia.

wob'bler, wab'bler (-lĕr), n. 1. One who or that which wobbles.

2. A boiled leg of mutton. Dial. Eng.

3. Mach. An elliptic cutterhead placed on a shaft at such an angle as to correspond with an oblique section of a right circular cylinder.

---

witlosen, past part. Lost; forlorn. Obs.

wit'ness-a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

wit'ness-dom, n. See -DOM.

wit'ness·ful·ly, adv. Manifestly; evidently. Obs.

wit'nest. Witnessed. Ref. Sp.

Wi·to'tan (wē·tō'tăn; -t'n). Var. of UITOTAN.

wit·safe', † VOUCHSAFE.

wit'tal, wit'tle (wĭt'l). Vars. of VICTUAL. Obs. exc. Dial.

wit'tall. † WITTOL.

wit'tand·ly, adv. Wittingly. Obs.

Wit'te·berg se'ries (wĭt'ĕ·bĕrg). [From Wittebergen, Cape Province.] See CAPE SYSTEM.

wit'te·boom' (vĭt'ĭ·bōōm'), n. [S. Afr. D., lit., white tree.] = Silver tree a. S. Africa.

wit'ten, v. i. [ON. vina.] To attest; testify. Obs.

wit'te·na·ge·mote', Var. of WITNAGEMOT.

wit'ter·hed, n. [See WITTER, adj.; -HEAD.] Wisdom. Obs.

wit'ti·hede, n. [See WITTY; -HEAD.] Wisdom. Obs.

wit'ti·ly, adv. of WITTY.

wit'ti·ness, n. See -NESS.

wit'tle (wĭt'l). Dial. Eng. var. of WHITTLE; VICTUAL.

wit'tol·ly, adj. See -LY.

wittome. † WITHAM.

witts (wĭts). Var. of WHITS.

Wi·tum'ki (wĭ·tŭm'kĭ), n. = WETUMPKA. [testament. Obs.

wit'word', n. [AS.] Will;

wit'worm', n. A wit. Obs.

wive. † WIFE.

wivel. † WEEVIL.

wives (wīvz), n., pl. of WIFE.

Wi'yot, Wi'yat, n. & adj. = WISHOSK; WISHOSKAN.

wiz (wĭz). Short for WIZARD. Slang. U. S.

wiz'ard-ess, n. = WITCH.

wiz'ard-ism, n. = WIZARDRY.

wiz'ard-like', adj. See -LIKE.

wiz'ard-ship, n. See -SHIP.

wiz'ard-wo'ven, adj. See -WOVEN.

wize. Wise. Ref. Sp.

wiz'end. Wizened. Ref. Sp.

wi·zier' (wē·zēr'). Var. of VIZIER. [var. of WEASAND.]

wiz'zen (wĭz'n). Scot. & dial.

wiz'zen. Var. of WIZEN. Obs. exc. Dial.

wl-. For various words beginning in wl-, see forms in UL-.

wlach, wlech, adj. [AS. wlæc.] Lukewarm; tepid. Obs.

wlaff, v. i. [AS. wlaffian.] To stammer; babble. Obs. — wlaffer, n. Obs.

wlank, n. [AS. wlanc proud.] Pride. Obs.

wlate, wlatie, v. t. [AS. wlātian to cause loathing to.] To loathe; also, to nauseate. Obs.

wlat'ful, adj. Loathsome. Obs.

wlat'ing·ness, n. Loathsomeness. Obs. [make lukewarm. Obs.

wlecche, v. t. [AS. wleccan.] To wlench, v. t. & i. [AS. wlencean.] To make or be proud. Obs.

wlgat. A form for wulgat, divulged. Obs. Scot.

wlisp, v. t. & i. To lisp. Obs.

wlity, adj. Beautiful. Obs.

wlo'ka (vlō'kä), n. sing. & pl. [Pol.] See MEASURE, Table.

wlonk, adj. [AS. wlanc, wlonc.] Obs. a Proud; bold; arrogant; also, elated; gay. b Splendid; sumptuous; grand. c Beautiful.

wlonk'hede, n. [wlonk + ME. -hede -head.] Pride. Obs.

wlonk'ness, n. Pride. Obs.

wm-, wn-. For various words beginning in wm-, wn-, see forms in UM-, UN-.

woa (wō). Var. of WHOA.

woad'wax'en (wō d' wăk's ĕn; -s'n), n. = WOODWAXEN.

woad'y (wōd'ĭ), adj. See -Y.

woak (wōk). Dial. Eng. of OAK.

woald (wōld). Var. of WELD.

woan (wōn). Var. of WON, abode. Obs. exc. Dial.

wob (wŏb), n. Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WEB.

---

4. Rolling Mill. Either of the grooved ends, more or less resembling either a trilobate or a quadrilobate gear wheel in cross section, that project beyond the housings and transmit power to a roll from the coupling boxes.

wob'bli-ness, wab'bli-ness (wŏb'lĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. State of being wobbly.

wob'bling, wab'bling (-lĭng), adj. That wobbles, permits a vacillating motion, or operates with such motion.—wob'bling-ly, wab'bling-ly, adv.

wob'bly, wab'bly (-lĭ), adj. Inclined to shake, sway, or quaver unsteadily; as, a wobbly stool; wavering or trembling uncertainly, as from wear or fatigue; given to wobbling or vacillating; as, wobbly law enforcement.

wob'bly, wab'bly, n. 1. Something inclined to wobble. 2. [Said to be fr. Chin. distortion of I. W. W. into I wobbly wobbly.] A member of the Industrial Workers of the World, a labor organization with notably radical theories and policies. Slang, U. S.

wo'chein-ite (vō'chĭ-nīt), n. [From Lake Wochein, Slovenia.] Mineral. A claylike variety of bauxite.

Wo'chu-a (wō'chōō-ä), n. sing. & pl. One of a group of Pygmies of the Uele basin, Central Africa.

Wo'den (wō'dĕn), n. Also Wo'dan (-d'n). [AS. Wōden; akin to OS. Wōdan, OHG. Wuotan, ON. Óthinn. See WEDNESDAY; cf. ODIN.] Teut. Myth. Odin. Wednesday is named for him.

wodge (wŏj), n. [Appar. fr. WEDGE.] A bulky, bulging object.—wodg'y (wŏj'ĭ), adj. Both Dial.

woe (wō), interj. Also wo. [See WOE, n.] Alas; as, woe that I am deprived of it. Archaic.

woe, n. Also wo. [ME. wo, wa, woo, fr. AS. wā, interj.; akin to D. wee, OS. & OHG. wē, G. weh, ON. vei, Dan. vee, Sw. ve, Goth. wai, L. vae. Cf. WAIL.] 1. Grief; sorrow, misery. Archaic.

☞ Woe is used with a dative construction or its equivalent chiefly in denunciation, and in exclamations of sorrow.

Woe is me! for I am undone. Is. vi. 5.
Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Is. xlv. 9.

2. A miserable or sorrowful state; a condition of suffering from misfortune, grief, affliction, or the like; as, a scene or a tale of woe; also, a heavy calamity; a trouble; an affliction; as, the cause of all our woes.

3. A use or instance of the word woe as an imprecation; an anathema.

4. Obs.: a A bodily infirmity. b A torment of hell. c A feeling of mental anguish. d Wailing.

Syn. and Ant. — See SORROW.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

woe-begetting	woe-exhausted	woe-sprung woe-beseen	woe-foreboding	woe-stricken woe-bested	woe-fraught	woe-struck woe-betrothed	woe-grim	woe-surcharged woe-boding	woe-humbled	woe-threatened woe-dejected	woe-illumed	woe-tied woe-delighted	woe-infirmed	woe-wearied woe-denouncing	woe-laden	woe-weary woe-destined	woe-maddened	woe-wedded woe-embroidered	woe-revolving	woe-whelmed woe-enwrapped	woe-scorning	woe-wrinkled woe, wo (wō), adj. Woeful; sorrowful; grieved; miserable; melancholy;—generally used predicatively. Archaic & Dial.

And looking up he waxed wondrous woe. Spenser.

woe'be-gone', wo'be-gone' (wō'bē-gŏn'; 185), adj. [ME. wo begon. See WOE; BEGO.] 1. Beset or overwhelmed with woe; immersed in grief or sorrow; woeful. Archaic.

So woebegone was he with pains of love. Fairfax.

2. Indicating a condition of suffering great woe, sorrow, or misery; dismal-looking; hence, desolate; dilapidated.

Syn. — Melancholy, unhappy, dejected, dispirited.

Ant. — Merry, gay, joyous.

—woe'be-gone'ness, wo'be-gone'ness, n.—woe'be-gon'ish, wo'be-gon'ish (-gŏn'ĭsh), adj.

woe'be-gone', wo'be-gone', n. A woebegone creature.

woe'ful, wo'ful (wō'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. 1. Full of woe; sorrowful; distressed with grief or calamity; sad; afflicted; wretched; as, woeful sufferers, sights.

How many woeful widows left to bow To sad disgrace! Daniel.

2. Involving, bringing, or pert. to, woe; as, woeful want.

O woeful day! O day of woe! Philips.

3. Paltry; miserable; wretched; deplorable.

What woeful stuff this madrigal would be! Pope.

—woe'ful-ly, wo'ful-ly, adv.—woe'ful-ness, wo'ful-ness, n.

woeh'ler-ite, wöh'ler-ite (vû'lĕr-īt), n. [See WÖHLER'S LAW.] Mineral. A silicate and niobate of zirconium, calcium, sodium, etc., in yellow or brown prismatic crystals.

woe'some, wo'some (wō'sŭm), adj. Woeful.

woe'vine' (wō'vīn'), n. A dodder laurel (Cassytha americana). See CASSYTHA. W. Ind.

woe'worn' (wō'wôrn'; 181), adj. Worn or wearied by sorrow.

woe worth. Woe be to. See WORTH, v. i.

Woe worth the chase, woe worth the day,
That costs thy life, my gallant gray! Scott.

wof'fler (wŏf'lĕr), n. A repairer. Slang, Brit.

wog (wŏg), v. t. & i. To wag. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wogh (wŏk), adj. [AS. wōh.] Obs. Crooked; perverse.—wogh'ness, n.

Wo-gu'li-an (vō-gōō'lĭ-ăn), n. The Vogul language.—Wo-gu'li-an, adj.

Wöh'ler's law (vû'lĕrz). [After F. Wöhler (1800–82), Ger. chemist and metallurgist.] Mech. The law (published in 1871) that the breaking load of a member under stress is lower for a large number of repetitions than it is for a single load and that it is lowered by an increase in the range of variation of the stress.

Wohl'will proc'ess (wōl'vĭl). [After E. Wohlwill (1835–1912), Ger. inventor.] An electrolytic process for refining gold, using a hydrochloric-acid electrolyte.

woik, past tense. [Cf. AS. wīcan to yield, give way, pret. wāc.] Went about; spread. Obs. Scot.

wo'kas, wo'cas (wō'kăs), n. [Klamath wókas, wókash, the seed, woksam, the plant.] A western American yellow water lily (Nuphar polysepalum); also, its dried and roasted seeds used as food among the Klamath Indians.

wok'en (wŏk'ĕn). Archaic & dial. past part. of WAKE.

wo-ko'wi (wō-kō'wĭ), n. [Comanche.] The mescal Lophophora williamsii. See MESCAL, 1.

wold (wōld), n. [ME. wold, wald, fr. AS. wald, weald, a wood, forest; akin to OFris. & OS. wald, D. woud, G. wald, ON. völlr field, meadow. Cf. WEALD.] 1. Obs. a A wood; forest. b A low hill.

2. An upland plain; a region without woods; Obs., the ground.

The wind that beats the mountain, blows
More softly round the open wold. Tennyson.

wold (wōld). Var. of OLD, WOULD. Obs. exc. Dial.

wold mouse. A vole. Brit.

wolds'man (wōldz'măn), n. A man who dwells on a wold or in the region of wolds.

wold'y (wōl'dĭ), adj. Of the nature of or resembling a wold.

wolf (wŏŏlf), n.; pl. WOLVES (wŏŏlvz), sometimes WOLF. See PLURAL, Note. [AS. wulf; akin to OS. wulf, ON. úlfr wolf, ylgr she-wolf, Goth. wulfs, Lith. vilkas, L. lupus, Gr. lykos, Skr. vṛka. Cf. LUPINE, adj., LYCEUM, WEREWOLF.] 1. a Any of certain large doglike carnivorous mammals of the genus Canis; esp., the European C. lupus or an allied species. The European wolf is yellowish or brownish gray, with rather coarse fur, erect pointed ears, and a bushy tail. It is crafty, rapacious, and very destructive to game, sheep, and cattle.

Wolf (Canis lupus). (1/25)

It is usually cowardly, but sometimes attacks man. It is extinct in England, but still inhabits many parts of Europe. The American gray, or timber, wolf (C. occidentalis) is generally larger than, but very like, the European. It varies in color from nearly white to black. Some of the many varieties approach the coyote, or prairie wolf, in size. Allied species (or varieties) are found also in Asia, as the Japanese wolf (C. hodophylax) and the Indian wolf (C. pallipes). Wolves may sometimes breed with dogs, esp. Eskimo dogs. b The fur or pelt of a wolf.

2. a Any of various larvae of certain small beetles or moths which infest granaries; esp., the larva of the grain, or wolf, moth. b The larva of a botfly.

3. A figure of a wolf, as in heraldry.

4. A person likened to a wolf in character; a very fierce, rapacious, or destructive person; as, a wolf in sheep's clothing, that is, one who cloaks a hostile intention with a friendly hypocritical manner; formerly, the devil or one of his agents; hence, a persecuting, corrupting, or destructive agency; as, trying to ward off until mealtime the gnawing wolf in his stomach.

5. An eating ulcer or cancer. Cf. LUPUS, 1. Now Dial.

If God should send a . . . wolf into thy side. Jer. Taylor.

6. An ancient device for seizing a battering-ram so as to render it immovable. Obs.

7. The larva of a warble fly. Colloq.

8. [cap.] Astron. = LUPUS, 2.

9. Music. a Dissonance in some chords on organs, pianos, or other instruments with fixed tones, tuned by unequal temperament; also, an instance of such dissonance. See TEMPERAMENT, n., 6. b In bowed instruments, a harshness due to faulty vibration in certain tones.

10. Textile Mfg. A willow.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wolf-begotten	wolf-haunted	wolf-scaring wolf-colored	wolf-headed	wolf-shaped wolf-eyed	wolf-hunting	wolf-slaying wolf-gray	wolf-moved	wolf-suckled

—to cry wolf. See under CRY, v.—to keep the wolf from the door. To keep away poverty; to prevent starvation.

wolf (wŏŏlf), v.; WOLFED (wŏŏlft); WOLF'ING. Transitive: 1. To eat greedily as does a wolf; to devour ravenously.

2. To cry wolf at (see cry wolf, under CRY, v.); to alarm with a false warning.

—, Intransitive: 1. To live or act like a wolf; as, wolfing in the mountains.

2. To hunt for wolves.

wolf, adj. Of or pertaining to a wolf or werewolf.

-wolf (-wŏŏlf). A combining form of wolf, as in: aardwolf, warwolf, werewolf.

wol'fach-ite (wŏl'fäk-īt), n. [From Wolfach, Baden.] Mineral. A silver-white or tin-white mineral of nickel, arsenic, antimony, and sulphur. H., 4.5–5. Sp. gr., 6.37.

wolf'ber'ry (wŏŏlf'bĕr'ĭ; -bĕr-ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-īz). a A western American shrub (Symphoricarpos occidentalis) sometimes cultivated for its white berries. b Canada. The mountain cranberry. c The bittersweet Solanum dulcamara.

wolf cub. A boy who is a member of the division of the Boy Scouts for boys from 8 to 11 years old. Cf. 3d CUB, 4. Brit.

wolf dog. a Any of several breeds of dogs formerly kept in Ireland for hunting wolves. Some resembled the greyhound, others the mastiff and great Dane. b A cross of a wolf and domestic dog; also, an Eskimo dog.

wolf eel. See WOLF FISH a.

wolf'en (wŏŏl'fĕn), adj. Pertaining or belonging to a wolf; wolfilke.

Wol'fen-büt'tel frag'ments (vŏl'fĕn-büt'ĕl). [From Wolfenbüttel, Brunswick.] Ch. Hist. 1. A series of anonymous critical essays on the gospel history, written from a purely deistic standpoint and published by Lessing in Brunswick between 1773 and 1781, in 3 vols. The author is now known to have been one Hermann Samuel Reimarus (1694–1768), who was the director of the Hamburg gymnasium.

2. The portions of a New Testament palimpsest of the Gospels, preserved at Wolfenbüttel, deciphered about 1750.

wolf'er (wŏŏl'fĕr), n. One who hunts wolves or who wolfs food or drink.

Wolf'fi-a (wŏl'fĭ-ä; wŏŏl'-), n. [NL., after J. F. Wolff (1778–1806), Ger. physician and botanist.] Bot. A genus of widely distributed floating, aquatic plants (family Lemnaceae), distinguished from Lemna by the one-celled anthers and the absence of roots. They are the smallest flowering plants known, consisting merely of a minute ovoid or globose leafless thallus producing the flowers from clefts or grooves.

Wolff'i-an (wŏŏl'fĭ'ăn; vŏl'-), adj. Anat. Discovered, or first described, by Kaspar Friedrich Wolff (1733–94), the founder of modern embryology.

Wolff'i-an, adj. Also Wolf'i-an. Philos. Of or pertaining to the doctrines of Christian Wolff, or Wolf (1679–1754). Wolff's system, derived principally from Leibnitz, is important because of its wide popularity in Germany from about 1725 to 1775 and its influence upon the early period of Kant's philosophy.—Wolff'i-an-ism (-Iz'm), n.

Wolffian body. Embryol. The mesonephros of a vertebrate embryo; one of a pair of functional renal organs found in most vertebrate embryos, and becoming the kidneys in fishes and amphibians. It consists originally of a few nephridial tubules (Wolffian tubules) situated behind the pronephros and opening into a duct (Wolffian duct) that joins the posterior end of the intestine (see KIDNEY, 1). The Wolffian duct becomes the ureter in female elasmobranchs and amphibians and in male and female teleost fishes, but atrophies in female reptiles, birds, and mammals. In male elasmobranchs and amphibians it becomes a urinogenital duct; in males of higher vertebrates it serves, after degeneration of the mesonephros, only as a spermatic duct (vas deferens).

Wolffian ridge. Embryol. a A longitudinal ridge on either side of the trunk in some vertebrate embryos (as the chick), from which the limb buds arise. b A slight ridge on either side of the mid-line in vertebrate embryos, giving rise to the Wolffian body.

wolf fish. a Any of several large marine blennies notable for their strong teeth and ferocity. The common wolf fish of the North Atlantic (Anarhichas lupus) is brownish or bluish gray, with from nine to twelve dark crossbars. It reaches a length of four to six feet. The wolf fish of the North Pacific (A. orientalis) is plain brown. A long eellike wolf fish (Anarhichthys felis), distinguished as the wolf eel, occurs on the coast of California. b A large lancet fish (Alepisaurus aesculapius) of the coast of Alaska and California.

Wolf Fish (Anarhichas lupus).

wolf fruit. A South American species of Solanum (S. grandiflorum).

wolf grape. a The bittersweet Solanum dulcamara. b The matrimony vine (Lycium halimifolium).

wolf'hound' (wŏŏlf'hound'), n. A dog of any of several breeds, esp. one of gigantic proportions, originally used in hunting the wolf and other large animals. See IRISH WOLFHOUND, RUSSIAN WOLFHOUND.

Wolf'i-an (wŏŏl'fĭ'ăn; vŏl'-), adj. Of or pert. to Friedrich August Wolf, German philologist and Homeric critic.

Wolf'i-an, Wolf'i-an-ism. Vars. of 2d WOLFFIAN, WOLFFIANISM.

wolf'ish (wŏŏl'fĭsh), adj. Of or characteristic of a wolf or wolves; having the qualities or form of a wolf; wolfilke; esp., ferocious or ravenous; rarely, infested with wolves.—wolf'ish-ly, adv.—wolf'ish-ness, n.

wolf'kin (wŏŏlf'kĭn), n. A little or young wolf.

wolf'ling (-lĭng), n. A wolfkin.

wolf madness. = LYCANTHROPY, 1.

wolf'-man', n. A werewolf.

wolf moth The grain moth (Tinea granella).

wolf note. Music. = WOLF, n., 9 b. wolf'ram (wŏŏl'frăm; vŏl'-), n. [G. See WOLFRAMITE.] 1. Chem. Tungsten. Symbol, W (no period).

2. Mineral. Wolframite.

wolf'ram-ate (wŏŏl'frăm-āt; vŏl'-), n. = TUNGSTATE.

wolf'ra-min'i-um (wŏŏl'frä-mĭn'ĭ-ŭm; wŏl'-), n. [NL.] A light aluminum alloy similar to romanium.

wolf'ram-ite (wŏŏl'frăm-īt; vŏl'-), n. [G. wolframit, wolfram, said to be fr. wolf wolf + rahm cream, soot (cf. G. wolfgruss wolfram, lit., wolf's soot), but perh. fr. prop. name.] Mineral. An iron manganese tungstate, $(Fe,Mn)WO_4$, usually of a brownish or grayish-black color and submetallic luster;—called also wolfram. It occurs in monoclinic crystals (commonly twinned so as to imitate orthorhombic tabular forms) and in granular or columnar masses. It shows a highly perfect cleavage. H., 5–5.5. Sp. gr., 7.1–7.5. Wolframite is used as a source of tungsten and tungsten compounds.

wolf-ra'mi-um (wŏŏl-frā'mĭ-ŭm; vŏl-), n. [NL. See WOLFRAMITE.] Chem. = TUNGSTEN. Obs.

wolfram lamp. = TUNGSTEN LAMP.

wolfram ocher. The mineral tungstite.

wolfram steel. = TUNGSTEN STEEL.

Wolf'-Ra'yet' star (vŏlf'rä'yĕ'). Astron. Any of a remarkable class of white or yellowish stars, about 100 in number, first observed spectroscopically by MM. Wolf and Rayet of Paris in 1867. Their emission spectrum, characterized by an abundance of yellow and blue bands, indicates hydrogen, helium, etc., but not metals, and is supposed to represent an early stage of stellar development. Wolf-Rayet stars are practically confined to the Milky Way and the nubeculae near the South Pole.

wolfs'bane' (wŏolfs'bān'), n. a A plant of the genus Aconitum; aconite, or monkshood; specif., the European yellow-flowered species A. lycoctonum. b The winter aconite (Eranthis hyemalis).

wolfs'berg-ite (wŏolfs'bûrg-īt; vŏlfs'bĕrg-), n. [From Wolfsberg, Harz Mountains.] Mineral. Chalcostibite.

wolf's'-bread' (wŏolfs'brĕd'), n. Any fungus of the genus Boletus.

wolf's'-claw', wolf's'-claws', n. The common club moss.

Wolf's comet (wŏlfs). See COMET, Table.

wolf's'-fist' (wŏolfs'fĭst'), n. A puffball. Obs.

---

wobble saw. = DRUNKEN SAW.
wobbling disk. = SWASH PLATE. wo'be-gone', wo'ful, etc. Vars. of WOEBEGONE, etc. wob'ster (wŏb'stĕr), n. = WEBSTER, a weaver. Scot. & Dial. wo'cas. Var. of WOKAS. wod (wŏd). Dial. var. of WOULD.
wod. † WOAD; WOOD, mad; WOOD, n. [WADE.] wod, wode. Obs. past tense of wode (wōd). Var. of WOOD, adj. Obs. exc. Dial. wodeleie, n. [See WOOD; LEA grassland.] A grove. Obs.
Wo'den-ism (wō'd'n-Iz'm), n. = ODINISM. wodewose, wodwose. † WOODWOSE. woefare, n. Sorrow. Obs. woe'ful-wan', adj. See WAN.
wof. Obs. past tense & past part. of WEAVE. woft (wŏft), n. Scot. var. of WEFT. wo'ful, wo'ful-ly, wo'ful-ness. Var. of WOEFUL, WOEFULLY, WOEFULNESS. woge. † WOUGH, wall. wog'gle. Var. of WAGGLE. woghe. † WOUGH, wall. wo'giet' (wō'gyĕt'), n. sing. & pl. [Amharic wogēt. See WAKEA.] See WEIGHT, Table.
Wo'gul (vō'gōōl). Var. of VOGUL. wohlat, n. [See WOO, n.; for the ending cf. WEDLOCK.] Wooing. Obs. wöh'ler-ite, n. See WOEHLERITE.
[wohl'tem'pe-rir'te Kla-vier', Das (dăs vōl'tĕm'pĕ-rĭr'tĭ klä-vēr'). Music. See WELL-TEMPERED, 4. woi'be (woi'bē), n. sing. & pl. [Ar. waybah. Cf. WHIBA.] See MEASURE, Table.
woid. † WED, to wager; VOID. woidre, n. [Cf. OF. voidie, voisdie.] Stratagem; deceit. Obs. woir. † were, past tense of WEAR; WAR, worse. woi'wode, woi'wode-ship. Vars. of VOIVODE, VOIVODESHIP.
wok. † WEEK.
woke. Past tense & chiefly dial past part. of WAKE. [Weak. Obs.] woke, adj. [AS. wāc. See WEAK.] woke. † WEEK.
wokie, v. i. [AS. wācian to be or become weak.] To moisten; soften. Obs.
wol. † WILL.
wold, wolde. † WALD, power; WELD, the plant. wolde. Obs. past tense of WIELD. woldeneyed, adj. = WALLEYED. Obs. woldes, adv. Willfully. Obs. wold'like', adj. See -LIKE. wole. † WOOL; WILL, v.; WOLD; WHILE.
wolf'dom, n. See -DOM. wolf'hood, n. See -HOOD. wolf'less, adj. See -LESS.
wolf'like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE.
wolf-ram'ic (wŏŏl-frăm'ĭk; vŏl-), adj. Chem. = TUNGSTIC. wolf'ram-ine (wŏŏl'frăm-ĭn; -ēn; vŏl'-), n. [See WOLFRAMITE.] = TUNGSTITE.

wolf's'-foot', n. Club moss.

wolf's'-head', n. a A wolf's head. b Old English Law. An outlaw; outlawry; also, a cry summoning all to pursuit of an outlaw. Cf. CAPUT GERAT LUPINUM.

wolf'skin' (wŏŏlf'skĭn'), n. The skin of a wolf; also, something made from this, as a robe or rug. — adj. Made of wolfskin.

wolf's'-milk', n. Any spurge; esp., the sun spurge; — in allusion to its acrid milky juice.

wolf's moss. A yellow lichen (Letharia vulpina) of Arctic and alpine regions, sometimes used for a dye and in Scandinavia to poison wolves.

wolf snake. Any of various harmless colubrid snakes having caninelike teeth; esp., the Cape wolf snake (Lycophidion capense), of small size, widespread through tropical and southern Africa, and the common wolf snake (Lycodon aulicus) of India and Ceylon.

wolf's peach. Tomato.

wolf spider. Any of numerous running ground spiders belonging to the family Lycosidae (which see).

Wolf's sunspot numbers (vŏlfs). Numbers expressing, on an arbitrary scale devised by Wolf, of Zürich, the relative frequency of sunspots at given epochs.

wolf, or wolf's, tooth. 1. A small first premolar, which is sometimes present in the horse on each side in front of the normal grinders. It is a vestigial character. Similar teeth were regularly present in some fossil Equidae.
2. = NEEDLE TOOTH.

wolf tree. Forestry. A forest tree whose size and position cause it to prevent the growth of many small trees around it by usurping their space, light, and nourishment.

wolf willow. The buffalo berry Shepherdia argentea.

wol'las·ton·ite (wŏŏl'ăs·tŭn·ĭt), n. [After W. H. Wollaston (1766–1828), Eng. chemist and physicist.] Mineral. Native calcium metasilicate, $CaSiO_3$, a monoclinic mineral of a white to gray, red, yellow, or brown color, usually in cleavable masses, sometimes in tabular twinned crystals; tabular spar. H., 4.5–5. Sp. gr., 2.8–2.9.

Wol'las·ton prism (wŏŏl'ăs·tŭn). [See WOLLASTONITE.] Optics. A double-image prism which produces two divergent beams of light, plane-polarized at right angles to each other. The prism is compound, consisting of two equal right-angled prisms cemented along their long faces, the two prisms being so cut that in one the light passes along the optic axis, and in the other at right angles to that axis.

Wol'las·ton's dou'blet (-tŭnz). Optics. A magnifying glass consisting of two plano-convex lenses placed as shown in the Illust. It is designed to correct spherical aberration and chromatic dispersion.

Wollaston's Doublet.

Wollaston wire. A very fine wire, usually made of platinum, and first used by Wollaston for cross hairs in telescope eyepieces.

wol'lo·ma'i (wŏl'ō·mä'ĭ), n. [Native name wallamí in the language of George's River, Cowpasture, and Appin.] The Australian schnapper. See SCHNAPPER.

Wo'lof (wō'lŏf), n. One of a Negro tribe of the western Sudan, near the mouth of the Senegal. They are among the blackest of the native Africans. Most of them are Mohammedans, though a few are Christianized. Also, their language, which is a lingua franca in Senegal. Called also Jolof, Volof, Yolof.

Wol'sey, Cardinal (wŏŏl'zĭ). A character in Shakespeare's Henry VIII. See Biog.

wolve (wŏŏlv), v. i. 1. To wolf.
2. To produce a sound like the howl of a wolf, as from failure of air supply; — of an organ.

wol've·boon' (vŏl'vē·bōōn'), n. [S. Afr. D., lit., wolf bean.] A small tree or shrub (Hyaenanche capensis), family Euphorbiaceae, of South Africa, with very poisonous foliage.

wolv'er (wŏŏl'vĕr), n. One who behaves like a wolf or who hunts wolves.

wol'ver·ine', wol'ver·ene' (wŏŏl'vĕr·ēn'), n.; pl. WOLVERINES (-ēnz'), sometimes WOLVERINE. See PLURAL, Note. [From WOLF; — prob. so called from its supposed wolfish qualities.] 1. An American carnivorous mammal (Gulo luscus) of the family Mustelidae, very similar to the glutton of Europe. It is blackish with a pale forehead and a light band on each side and occurs in North America, chiefly north of the United States, and is noted for its thievishness, strength, and cunning. The shaggy fur has no great commercial value but is prized by northern tribes, as frost does not readily cling to the long glossy guard hairs. Cf. GLUTTON, 3.
2. The fur or pelt of the wolverine.
3. [cap.] A native or an inhabitant of Michigan; — a nickname. U. S.

Wolverine State. Michigan; — so called from the animal.

wom'an (wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. WOMEN (wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119). [ME. woman, womman, wumman, wimman, wifmon, fr. AS. wīfmann, wīmmann, fr. wīf woman, wife + mann a human being, man. See WIFE; MAN.] 1. An adult female person, as distinguished from a man or child; sometimes, any female person, often as disting. from lady (sense 7).

Women are soft, mild, pitiful, and flexible. Shak.

And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman. Gen. ii. 22.

2. The typical member of the female sex; — used as a generic singular without an article; the female part of the human race; womankind.

Man is destined to be a prey to woman. Thackeray.

3. With the. Distinctively feminine nature, qualities, characteristics, or disposition; womanhood; womanliness; as, subduing the woman in her; — sometimes in the phrase the woman of it, the characteristically feminine factor, action, response, reaction, or the like.
4. A female attendant or servant.
5. a A paramour; mistress. b pl. Females as partners in sexual intercourse or irregularities; as, to refrain from women.
6. A wife. Familiar.
7. A female person of a position, calling, or standing, specified in a phrase with of (sense 15); as, a woman of breeding, of color, of title; a woman of all work, of letters; the woman of the house; often in contemptuous epithets connoting easy virtue; as, a woman of pleasure, of the town, of the streets.
8. The reverse of a coin, originally as bearing figure of Britannia. Brit.
9. Bringer of woe; — by whimsical etymological derivation from woe + man. Obs.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

woman-bearing	woman-faced	woman-mad woman-born	woman-fair	woman-made woman-bred	woman-fashion	woman-murdering woman-built	woman-flogging	woman-proud woman-churching	woman-governed	woman-ridden woman-conquered	woman-hating	woman-shy woman-daunted	woman-headed	woman-tended woman-degrading	womanhearted	woman-vested woman-despising	woman-loving	woman-wary

Syn. — WOMAN'S, WOMEN'S are often used without real distinction. Strictly, WOMAN'S refers to women collectively or in the abstract; WOMEN'S regards them as individuals; as, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Young Women's Christian Association; woman's (cf. women's) suffrage, woman's (cf. women's) rights. See FEMALE.

wom'an (wŏŏm'ăn), v.; WOM'ANED (-ănd); WOM'AN·ING. Intransitive: To act the part of a woman; to become womanlike; — often with indefinite it.

—, Transitive: 1. To make into a woman or the likeness of a woman; specif., Obs., to deprive of virginity.
2. To make effeminate or womanish. Obs. Shak.
3. To associate (one) with a woman. Obs.

To have him see me woman'd. Shak.

4. To furnish or staff with women.
5. To address disparagingly by the title of "woman"; to call (one) "woman."

wom'an, adj. 1. Belonging or becoming to or characteristic of a woman or women; consisting of women; feminine; as, woman modesty, reason, or soul; a woman fib.
2. [with a plural noun, usually WOMEN] Female; as, a woman physician or investigator; a woman M.P.; women students.
3. Of or for or affecting a woman or women; as, a woman hater or movement.
4. Playing women's parts; — of an actor.
5. Producing a comparatively weaker and shriller tone.

-wom'an. A combining form of the noun woman, as in:

airwoman	forewoman	noblewoman
almswoman	freedwoman	oarswoman
applewoman	freewoman	passwoman
boatwoman	Frenchwoman	placewoman
bondwoman	fruitwoman	playwoman
bushelwoman	gentlewoman	policewoman
butterwoman	gleewoman	saleswoman
chairwoman	herdswoman	shopwoman chamberwoman	hillwoman	spokeswoman chapwoman	horsewoman	sportswoman
charwoman	huntswoman	stateswoman
churchwoman	Irishwoman	tirewoman
clergywoman	journeywoman	townswoman clubwoman	kinswoman	tradeswoman
coachwoman	lacewoman	tubwoman
congresswoman	laundrywoman	waterwoman countrywoman	laywoman	washerwoman
dairywoman	madwoman	witchwoman
draftwoman	Manxwoman	workwoman
elderwoman	markswoman	yachtswoman
Englishwoman	needlewoman wom'an·bod'y (wŏŏm'ăn·bŏd'ĭ), n.; pl. -BODIES (-Iz). A woman. Scot. & N. of Eng.

woman chaser. A philanderer.

woman child. A female infant. Archaic.

wom'an-eas'y, adj. So easy as to be performed by women. Dial.

wom'an·folk' (wŏŏm'ăn·fōk'), n. A woman. Cf. WOMENFOLK. Dial.

wom'an·ful·ly (-fŏŏl·ĭ; -fl'ĭ·ĭ), adv. With womanly constancy or spirit.

wom'an-grown' (-grōn'; 66), adj. Grown to womanhood.

wom'an·head (-hĕd), n. Womanhood. Archaic.

wom'an·hood (wŏŏm'ăn·hŏŏd), n. 1. State of being a woman; the distinguishing character or qualities of a woman, or of womankind. "Comely womanhood." Spenser.
2. Women collectively; womankind.

wom'an·house' (-hōōs'), n. A laundry. Scot.

Woman in White, The. A novel (1860) by William Wilkie Collins.

wom'an·ish (wŏŏm'ăn·ĭsh), adj. 1. Of or belonging to a woman or women; done or worn by women. Now Rare.
2. Resembling or suitable to a woman; having the qualities of a woman; womanlike; effeminate; not becoming a man; — usually disparaging.

Thy tears are womanish. Shak.

3. = WOMANLY, 2.
4. Fond of women. Obs.
Syn. — See FEMALE.
Ant. — Strong, virile, manly.
— wom'an·ish·ly, adv. — wom'an·ish·ness, n.

wom'an·ish, v. t. To make effeminate. Obs.

wom'an·ism (-Iz'm), n. Devotion to the rights and interests of women. — wom'an·ist (-Ĭst), n.

wom·an'i·ty (wŏŏm·ăn'ĭ·tĭ), n. [From woman, after humanity.] The nature of women; normal womanhood; womanliness.

wom'an·ize (wŏŏm'ăn·Iz), v. Transitive: 1. To make effeminate.
2. To affect with womanly influence or qualities.

—, Intransitive: 1. To become effeminate.
2. To consort with prostitutes. Colloq.
— wom'an·i·za'tion (-I·zā'shŭn; -ĭ·zā'-), n. — wom'an·iz'er (wŏŏm'ăn·Iz'ĕr), n.

wom'an·kind' (wŏŏm'ăn·kīnd'; 66), n. 1. The females of the human race; women collectively.

A sanctuary into which womankind, with her tools of magic, the broom and mop, has very infrequent access. Hawthorne.

2. The women members of a family, household, or group.
3. A female person. Archaic.

wom'an·like' (-lĭk'), adj. Like a woman; womanly.
Syn. — See FEMALE.

wom'an·ly (-lĭ), adj.; WOM'AN·LI·ER (-lĭ·ĕr); WOM'AN·LI·EST. (See COMPARE, v. t., 3.) 1. Possessed of the qualities peculiar to or characteristic of women, esp. the qualities proper or becoming to women, as gentleness, compassion, modesty; befitting or characteristic of a woman; womanlike; feminine; effeminate; as, womanly behavior. "Womanliest tenderness." Zangwill.
2. Possessed of the character or behavior befitting a grown woman; no longer childish or girlish; becoming to a grown woman.
3. Belonging to or done by female persons.
4. Actuated by or conforming to woman's nature.
Syn. — See FEMALE.
Ant. — Unwomanly; masculine; boydenish.

wom'an·ly (wŏŏm'ăn·lĭ), adv. In a womanly or distinctively feminine manner.

wom'an-man', n. A womanish or effeminate man.

woman movement. A movement for the recognition of the right of women to have equal political privileges with men; more broadly, any movement to extend the rights and privileges of women in political, social, or economic fields.

wom'an·muck'le (wŏŏm'ăn·mŭk''l), adj. Grown to womanhood. Scot.

wom'an·post' (-pōst'), n. Female messenger.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union. An association of women formed in the United States in 1874, for the advancement of total abstinence and prohibition, by organizing preventive, educational, evangelistic, social, and legal work.

woman's rights. The rights of women, esp. legal, political, and social rights; as a theory or cult, feminism (see FEMINISM, 2).

woman suffrage. The suffrage possessed and exercised by women. It has been one of the main objects of the movement for woman's rights. In 1919 it was granted in the United States by the Nineteenth Amendment; it has also been extended in many other countries, among them: Finland (1906), England and Russia (1917), Canada (1918), Germany (1919), Spain (1931). Cf. MANHOOD SUFFRAGE; UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE. — wom'an-suf'frage, adj. — wom'an-suf'fra·gist, n.

womb (wōōm), n. [ME. wombe, wambe, fr. AS. wamb, womb; akin to D. wam belly, OS. & OHG. wamba, G. wamme, wampe, ON. vǫmb, Sw. vǎmb, Dan. vom, Goth. wamba. Cf. WAMMUS.] 1. Obs. The belly; specif.: a The abdomen. b The stomach. c The bowels. d The hide from the belly. e A belly-shaped part of anything.
2. The uterus. "Transgressors from the womb." Cowper.
3. Any cavity like a womb in containing and enveloping.

The center spike of gold Which burns deep in the bluebell's womb. R. Browning.

4. The place where anything is generated or produced.

The womb of earth the genial seed receives. Dryden.

☞ COMBINATIONS are womb'-en·closed', womb'-lodged'.

womb, v. t. To enclose in or as in a womb. Obs.

wom'bat (wŏm'băt), n. [From the native name, wombach, wombach, wombat (in the language of George's River, Cowpasture, and Appin), in Australia.] a Any diprotodont burrowing marsupial of the genus Phascolomys. They have thick heavy bodies, short legs, a rudimentary tail, and in general form resemble a small bear. P. mitchelli and P. latifrons occur in southern Australia, P. ursinus in Tasmania. Often called Australian badger. b The brownish-gray fur or pelt of any of these animals; also, loosely, that of the koala.

Wombat (Phascolomys ursinus). (1/25) wombed (wōōmd), adj. Having a womb; — used chiefly in combination; also, Obs., gravid.

womb'stone' (wōōm'stōn'), n. Med. A calculus formed in the uterus.

womb'y (wōōm'ĭ), adj. Hollow. Rare.

wom'en·folk' (wĭm'ĕn·fōk'; wĭm'ĭn-), -folks' (-fōks'), n. pl. a Colloq. The female sex; women. b The women of a family or community or under the protection of a particular man. c Dial. The female servants.

Women's Auxiliary Army Corps (wĭm'ĕnz; 119). See WAAC.

Women's Bureau. A division of the United States Department of Labor which investigates and reports on matters affecting the welfare of employed women.

Women's Club. a An association of women meeting periodically for study, discussion, and social enjoyment. b An organization of women maintaining a clubhouse; also, the clubhouse of such an organization.

wom'er·a (wŏm'ĕr·ȧ), n. Also wom'er·ah, wom'ma·la, wom'mer·ah, wom'mer·a, woo'mer·ah, woo'mer·ang, etc. [Native name in New South Wales.] A spear thrower used by the Australian aborigines. See THROWING STICK.

won (wŭn; wōōn; wōn), v. [ME. wonen, wunen, wonien, wunien, fr. AS. wunian. See WONT, adj.] Intransitive: 1. To dwell; live; abide. Archaic & Dial.

Their habitation in which they woned. Chaucer.

2. To be or become accustomed. Obs.

—, Transitive: Obs. a To inhabit. b To accustom.

won, wone, n. [See WON, v.; cf. WANE abode.] Obs. 1. Dwelling; abode; residence; also, room; apartment.
2. Town; city; district; region.

won (wŏn), n. = 3d WONE. Obs.

won (wŏn), n. Also warn (wärn), wen (wŭn; wĕn). [Korean wǎn.] The former gold currency unit of Korea.

won (wŭn), past tense & past part. of WIN.

won (wŭn). Var. of ONE. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

won'der (wŭn'dĕr), n. [ME. wonder, wunder, fr. AS. wundor; akin to D. wonder, OS. wundar, OHG. wuntar, G. wunder, ON. undr, Sw. & Dan. under.] 1. A cause of surprise or astonishment; that which excites wonder (in sense 4), as an incident, circumstance, achievement, or the like, of perplexing unexpectedness or unaccountableness; a marvel; prodigy; as, one of the natural wonders of America.

To try things oft, and never to give over, doth wonders. Bacon.

2. That which is performed by supernatural agency or, Obs., is attributed to supernatural origin; a miracle; hence, a thaumaturgic marvel.
3. A specimen or instance such as excites admiring astonishment; as, a wonder of colorful gaiety.
4. The emotion excited by novelty, or the presentation to the sight or mind of something new, strange, extraordinary, wolft. Wolfed. Ref. Sp.

---

wolf'ward, wolf'wards, adv. See -WARD.

wolhe-nolhe. = WILLY-NILLY. Obs.

woll. † WOOL.

woll, wolle. † WILL.

wollock. † OOLAK.

wol'lop (wŏl'ŭp). Var. of WALLOP, to thrash.

wolsted. † WORSTED. [turn. Obs.] wolt, past tense of WALT, to overturn (wŏl'tĕr). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WALTER.

wolves (wŏŏlvz), n., pl. of WOLF.

wolv'ish, adj. Wolfish. — wolv'ish·ly, adv. — wolv'ish·ness, n. All Obs.

wolvs. Wolves. Ref. Sp.

wom'an·dom, n. See -DOM.

wom'an·less, adj. See -LESS.

wom'an·li·ness (wŏŏm'ăn·lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS.

wom'an·lish, adj. Womanish; effeminate. — wom'an·lish·ly, adv. — wom'an·lish·ness, n. All Obs.

wom'an·ness, n. = WOMANLINESS.

wom'an·proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

wom'an·ship, n. See -SHIP.

wom'an·tired', adj. Henpecked. Obs. [Lady. See -WISE.]

wom'an·wise', wom'an·ways', [Obs.

womb'broth'er, n. A uterine half brother. Obs.

womb-cloutes, n. pl. Tripes. Obs.

womb'ful, n. See -FUL.

wom'ble (wŏm'l). Var. of WAMBLE. Obs. exc. Dial.

womb'long', adv. On the belly. Obs.

womb'side', n. In an astrolabe, the front. Obs.

wom'en (wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119), n., pl. of WOMAN.

wom'en·kind' (66), n. = WOMANKIND, 1, 3.

woment. † WAYMENT.

wom'pift, past part. [From wompple, var. of WIMPLE.] Enveloped. Obs. Scot. [plenty.]

won. † WHEN; WAN; WONE.]

wond, n. [ON. vǫndr bad, wicked.] The evil one; the Devil. Obs.

wonde. † WOUND.

wonde (wŏnd), v. t. & i. [AS. wondian.] To flinch or refrain (from); to avoid. Obs.

or not well understood; a perplexed or bewildered condition of mind in the contemplation of something inexplicable or unaccountable; astonishment; admiration; as, wonder turned to awe in the presence of such artistic wizardry; also, Now Rare, an instance or experience of this emotion; as, and still the wonder grew.

Wonder is the effect of novelty upon ignorance. Johnson.

5. Admiration; admiring esteem. Obs.
6. Wrong; evil; destruction; harm; grief. Obs.
7. A kind of sweet friedcake.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wonder-beaming	wonder-mocking	wonder-stricken wonder-bearing	wonder-promising	wonder-striking wonder-charmed	wonder-raising	wonder-teeming wonder-dumb	wonder-seeking	wonder-waiting wonder-exciting	wonder-sharing	wonderworthy wonder-fed	wonder-smit	wonder-wounded wonder-hiding	wonder-smitten	wonder-writing wonder-loving	wonder-stirring

Syn. — Surprise; wonderment. — WONDER, ASTONISHMENT, AMAZEMENT, ADMIRATION. WONDER expresses an awakened interest, but to a less degree than ASTONISHMENT, and with not so great an element of surprise; as, "Babylon the wonder of all tongues" (Milton); "I was in the utmost astonishment and roared so loud that they all ran back in a fright" (Swift). In AMAZEMENT the element of surprise is uppermost, but with no indication of like or dislike for the object exciting the emotion; ADMIRATION involves a continued interest accompanied by a fondness or by esteem for the object exciting the emotion; as, "We seemed stuck to the ground for some time, as if actually petrified with amazement" (Goldsmith), "virtues which get admiration, as depth of wisdom, height of courage, and largeness of magnificence" (Sir Philip Sidney).

Ant. — Indifference; boredom; ennui.

— for a wonder. In the way of an exceptional, extraordinary, or surprising circumstance, esp. in view of the past.

— to a wonder. To an astonishing extent or degree; marvelously. Archaic.

won'der (wŭn'dĕr), adj. 1. Wonderful; wondrous. Obs.
2. Of, pertaining to, or like a wonder or wonders; miraculous; magical.
3. Containing or consisting of wonders.

— adv. Wonderfully. Archaic.

won'der-. The adjective or adverb used in composition in the senses of marvelous, exceedingly, very; as, *wonder*bright, *wonder*craft, *wonder*great, *wonder*long, *wonder*strong, *wonder*well. Archaic.

won'der (wŭn'dĕr), v.; WON'DERED (-dĕrd); WON'DER-ING. [AS. wundrian.] Intransitive: 1. To be affected with surprise or admiration; to be struck with astonishment; to marvel; as, to wonder at one's intrepidity.

We cease to wonder at what we understand. Johnson.

2. To feel doubt and curiosity or to be in a state of uncertain expectation concerning something; to query in the mind; as, he wondered as to the feasibility of the plan.
3. To execute marvelous feats or wonders. Rare.

—, Transitive: 1. To cause to feel wonder or astonishment; to amaze. Now Rare.
2. To feel doubt and curiosity, or to be in a state of uncertain expectation, about; to be anxious to know or find out; as, he wondered why they came; I wonder if it will rain.

I wonder, in my soul,
What you would ask me, that I should deny. Shak.

3. To excite with wonder or uncertainty; — with an objective (formerly dative) pronoun; also, impersonally; as, it wonders me. Obs. exc. Dial.
4. To say or think wonderingly; — with direct quotations.
5. To drive or affect with wondering; as, to wonder oneself into suspicion.
6. To look upon with admiration. Obs.

won'der, n. A wondering, or feeling of doubt or uncertainty.

won'der-ber'ry (wŭn'dĕr-bĕr'ĭ), n.; pl. -BERRIES (-ĭz). The edible fruit of the black nightshade (which see); also, the plant itself.

Wonder Book, The. A collection of tales (1851) by Hawthorne.

won'der-deed' (wŭn'dĕr-dēd'), n. [AS. wundordǣd wonderful deed.] A deed of magic. Obs.

won'dered (wŭn'dĕrd), adj. Having performed, or able to perform, wonders; also, wonderful. Obs.

won'der-er (-dĕr-ĕr), n. One who wonders.

won'der-ful (-fŏŏl; -fĭ), adj.; rarely WON'DER-FUL-LER (-fŏŏl-ĕr); WON'DER-FUL-LEST (see COMPARE, v. i., 2). [AS. wundorfull.] 1. Adapted to excite wonder; marvelous; surprising; strange; astonishing; also, Obs., miraculous.
2. Admirable; surprisingly interesting, amusing, lovely, etc.; excellent; — in careless use expressing vague approval. Colloq.

Syn. — Wondrous, marvelous, amazing, extraordinary, astonishing.

Ant. — Ordinary, commonplace, usual.

— won'der-ful-ly, adv. — won'der-ful-ness, n.

won'der-ful, adv. Wonderfully. See FLAT, adj., 11. Dial.

won'der-ful, n. 1. Usually with the, that which is wonderful; also, a marvel; an exhibition of or as of magic.
2. [cap.] The variable star Mira.

Wonderful One Hoss Shay, The. See ONE HOSS SHAY.

Wonderful Parliament. Eng. Hist. The Parliament of 1388, which condemned the favorites of King Richard II.

wonderful year. = ANNUS MIRABILIS.

won'der-ing (wŭn'dĕr-ĭng; 59), n. 1. Act of one who wonders; astonishment.
2. A wonderful thing; a prodigy; wonder. Obs.

won'der-ing, adj. Who wonders; marveling or admiring; evincing wonder. — won'der-ing-ly, adv.

won'der-land' (wŭn'dĕr-lănd'), n. 1. A fairylike imaginary realm.
2. A land or realm of wonders or marvels; wonderfully fertile land.

won'der-ment (-mĕnt), n. 1. Surprise; astonishment; state of wonder.

All the common sights they view,
Their wonderment engage. Scott.

2. An object, deed, incident, etc., or a matter exciting wonder; a miracle; a marvel; also, a specimen or instance that inspires admiring wonder.
3. The quality of being wonderful or marvelous.
4. An exclamation or other utterance expressive of wonder.

wonder of the world. One of the Seven Wonders of the World.

won'der-of-the-world', n. Ginseng.

won'der-smith' (wŭn'dĕr-smĭth'), n. A wonder-worker. Rare.

won'der-some (wŭn'dĕr-sŭm), adj. Wonderful. Scott. & Dial. Eng.

won'der-strick'en (-strĭk'ĕn), won'der-struck' (-strŭk'), adj. Struck with wonder, admiration, or surprise.

won'der-strong' (-strŏng'; 185), adj. Exceedingly strong.

won'der-work' (wŭn'dĕr-wŭrk'), n. [AS. wundorweorc.]
1. A wonderful work or act; a wonder; prodigy; miracle; hence, any marvelous or remarkable accomplishment.
2. A wonderful product of work or fashioning.

Wonderworks of God and Nature's hand. Byron.

3. Wonderful workmanship.

won'der-work'er, n. One who performs wonders.

won'der-work'ing, adj. Doing wonders, or marvels.

won'drous (wŭn'drŭs), adj. [As if wonder + -ous, but orig. fr. wonders, adv. See WONDER, n.; cf. (for -s) -WARD, -WARDS.] Adapted to excite surprise and astonishment; wonderful; astonishing; marvelous.

That I may . . . tell of all thy wondrous works. Ps. xxvi. 7.

— won'drous-ly, adv. — won'drous-ness, n.

won'drous, adv. In a wonderful or surprising manner or degree; wonderfully. "Wondrous cold." Coleridge.

wone (wŭn), n. [AS. gewuna. See WONT, adj., WON, v.] Custom; wont; usage; also, manner. Obs.

To liven in delight was all his wone. Chaucer.

wone, adj. [See WONT, adj.] Accustomed. Cf. WONT. Obs.

wone (wŏn), n. [ON. wān hope, expectation; akin to AS. wēn. See WEEN, v.] Obs. a Hope; resource. b Plenty; abundance; wealth.

wone (wŏn). Var. of ONE. Obs. exc. Dial.

wone. Var. of WON. Obs. exc. Dial.

wong (wŏng), n. [AS. wang, wong.] A field; meadow; — now only in place names.

wong'a-wong'a (wŏng'ȧ-wŏng'ȧ), wong'a, n. [Native name wonga along the lower Murray River, Australia.] 1. a An Australian woody vine (Pandorea australis) with loose panicles of yellowish-white flowers. b Australia. The narrow-leaved cattail (Typha angustifolia).
2. A very large Australian pigeon (Leucosarcia melanoleuca) with very white flesh.

wong'shy (wŏng'shĭ), wong'sky (-skĭ), n. [Chin. (Pek.) huang²-chih¹ yellow gardenia.] An Asiatic tree (Gardenia grandiflora); also, a yellow dyestuff resembling annatto, derived from its pods.

won'ing (wŭn'ĭng; wōn'-), won'ning (wŭn'ĭng), n. [AS. wunung. See WON to dwell.] Dwelling. Obs. exc. specif., Dial. Eng., the dwelling house on a farm.

won'ky (wŏng'kĭ), adj. [E. dial. wanky. See WANKLE.] Unsteady; shaky; feeble; awry; off. Brit. Slang.

won'na (wŭn'nȧ). Scot. & Dial. Eng. contraction of will not.

won'ner (wŭn'ĕr; wōōn'ĕr), n. [From WON to dwell.] A dweller. Archaic.

won'ner (wŭn'ĕr). Scot. & dial. var. of WONDER.

wont (wŭnt; wŏnt; wōnt; 3; 277), adj. [ME. wunt, woned, past part. of wonien, wonen, wunien, wunen, to dwell, be accustomed, fr. AS. wunian; prob. in part fr. kindred adj. ME. wone accustomed, fr. AS. gewuna, also gewun; akin to D. wonen to dwell, OS. wunōn, OHG. wonēn, G. wohnen, and AS. gewuna custom, habit, ON. una to dwell, be content, Goth. wunan to rejoice (in unwunands sad), Skr. vanati he likes. See WISH; cf. WEAN, WON, v.] Used predicatively with be: Using or doing customarily; accustomed; habituated; used; — now usually followed by an infinitive with to, in obsolete use by the preposition to and a noun; as, he slept longer than he was wont.

If the ox were wont to push with his horn. Ex. xxi. 29.

wont, n. [Cf. ME. wone, fr. AS. gewuna. See WONT, adj.] Custom; habit; use; usage.

From childly wont and ancient use. Cowper.
'T is not his wont to be the hindmost man. Shak.

Syn. — See HABIT.

wont, v.; past tense WONT; past part. WONT or WONT'ED; pres. part. & verbal n. WONT'ING. Transitive: To accustom.

To wont ourselves with their strange aspect. Emerson.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be accustomed; to be used.

A yearly solemn feast she wont to make. Spenser.

2. To dwell; reside. Obs. wont, past part. of WONT. Been accustomed or wonted; — used with the auxiliary have and followed by an infinitive with to. Obs.

wont (wŏnt). Var. of WANT, mole. Obs. exc. Dial.

won't (wōnt; wŭnt). Will not; — colloquial contraction of woll not.

won't, n. An expression using the negative auxiliary verb won't; a refusal; as, a woman's won't.

won't-. A combining form of won't, denoting (one) that will not, as in:

won't-believer, won't-learn, won't-wait, won't-work.

wont'ed (wŭn'tĕd; wŏn'-; wōn'-; -tĭd; 119), part. adj. 1. Accustomed; customary; usual.

She was wonted to the place. L'Estrange.

2. Habituated to new surroundings; as, sheep wonted to the fold. Now U. S.

— wont'ed-ly, adv. — wont'ed-ness, n.

wont'ing, n. 1. The action of accustoming a person to something, or formerly a beast to a fold.
2. Habit; wont.

wont'less (wŭnt'lĕs; wŏnt'-; wōnt'-; -lĭs; 119), adj. Unaccustomed; unwonted. Archaic.

woo (wōō), v.; WOOED (wōōd); WOO'ING. [ME. wowen, fr. AS. wōgian; possibly akin to L. vovere to vow. See VOW.] Transitive: 1. To solicit in love; to sue for the affection of, and usually, marriage with; to court.
2. To solicit or entreat; to invite or beseech, esp. with ingratiating importunity; to court solicitously.

Sweet Helen, I must woo you
To help unarm our Hector. Shak.
Thee, chantress, oft the woods among
I woo, to hear thy even song. Milton.

3. To seek to gain or bring about; to act in such a way as to tend to bring about; as, to woo wealth and fortune; to tend to bring on unintentionally.

You . . . woo your own destruction. Shak.

—, Intransitive: 1. To court; to make love.
2. To make pleading solicitation or invitation.

woo (wōō). Var. of WHOO.

woo (wōō). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WOOL.

woo'a-ble (wōō'ȧ-b'l), adj. Fit to be wooed or for wooing.

wood (wōōd; wŏd; wōōd), adj. [ME. wod, fr. AS. wōd; akin to OHG. wuot, ON. ōthr, Goth. woda, D. woede madness, G. wut, also to AS. wōth song, ON. ōthr, L. vates a seer, poet. See EDDA; cf. WEDNESDAY, WODEN.] Mad; enraged; furious; violent. Archaic & Dial.

Our hoste gan to swear as [if] he were wood. Chaucer.

wood, adv. Madly. Obs.

wood, n. Madness. Obs.

wood, v. i. To grow or act mad; to rage. Obs.

wood (wōōd), n. [ME. wode, wude, fr. AS. wudu, wiodu, widu; akin to OHG. witu, ON. vithr, Dan. & Sw. ved wood, Ir. & Gael. fiodh, OIr. fid, W. gwydd trees, shrubs.]
1. A tree; also, something made from a tree or trees, as a ship, often the Cross. Obs.
2. A dense growth of trees, usually greater in extent than a grove and smaller than a forest; — more often in pl. and often, chiefly in colloquial use in pl., construed as a singular; also, growing trees found in natural groves; as, a naturalist's study of wood and stream. "The rooky wood." Shak.

Running crisscross through the whole woods. F. Salten.

3. Hence, a standing assemblage of objects, as spears, suggestive of a forest of trees.
4. A tract of land on which stand growing trees; woodland.
5. The hard fibrous substance which makes up the greater part of the stems and branches of trees or shrubs beneath the bark and is found to a limited extent in herbaceous plants. Wood consists technically of the aggregated tougher portions or xylem elements of the vascular bundles, intersected (in dicotyledonous plants) with the medullary, or vascular, rays, which constitute the so-called silver grain. It is formed through the activity of the cambium (which see), the tissue developed in spring being composed of larger cells than that of summer. The older more central portion of the wood of a tree (heartwood, or duramen) is often of a different color and texture from that of the younger external layers (sapwood, or alburnum). With the exception of the larger bamboos and palms, the monocotyledons produce very little wood. Chemically wood consists chiefly of carbohydrates of the group of lignocelluloses, modified to a varying degree by inorganic substances, as potassium compounds, etc.
6. Timber or lumber; the trunks or large branches of trees sawed or otherwise prepared for commercial use. Wood is popularly classed as hard or soft according to its texture and weight, oak being typical of the former and white pine of the latter; but in the lumber trade all coniferous trees are called softwoods and all broad-leaved or dicotyledonous trees hardwoods, notwithstanding the fact that some conifers have exceedingly hard wood, while the wood of the tulip tree is almost as soft as white pine.
7. A kind or condition of wood substance or timber, esp. the wood of a particular kind of tree; as, some woods warp easily; a decoction of sudorific woods.
8. Something made of wood; pieces of wood cut or shaped for some particular use; specif.: a A cask, keg, or the like; as, ale drawn from the wood. b Trees or branches cut or sawed for use in the fire; firewood. c A part, as a handle or shaft, made of wood. d Now Rare. Wood in the form of an image of worship. e Slang. (1) The pulpit. (2) The players' bench. f Bowls. A bowl. g Music. = WOOD WIND. h Print. Wood in the form of blocks, as for engraving; a woodcut.
9. The fundamental substance of a person's character; as, wood of which heroes are made.
10. The color biscuit.
11. The arrangement of fibers in wood; grain. Obs.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wood acid	wood-eating, adj.	wood machinist
wood barker	wood-embosomed	wood measurer wood bender	wood-embossing, adj.	wood molder wood boiler	wood enameler	wood packing wood-born	wood-encumbered	wood painting wood-bred	wood-faced	wood-paneled wood-built	wood facer	wood-paved wood bundle	wood fagoter	wood parlor
wood calker	wood feller	wood pegger wood carver	wood filler	wood polisher
wood-cased	wood finisher	wood render wood checker	wood-fringed	wood-roofed wood cleaner	wood-girt	wood sawyer wood coker	wood grower	wood scale
wood collier	wood grubber	wood-sheathed wood-crowned	wood-hewing, adj.	wood-skirted wood distiller	wood-hooped	wood stain wood dresser	wood keeper	wood stainer wood driller	wood-keyed	wood tenoner wood duster	wood laborer	wood turner wood-dwelling, adj.	wood-lined	wood-walled wood dyer	wood machine	wood willower

— out of the woods, or, now Brit., out of the wood. Escaped from a situation of perplexity, anxiety, peril, or difficulty; safe after hazard. Colloq.

wood (wōōd), adj. 1. Wooden.
2. Suitable or used for holding or cutting wood.
3. Living or growing in woods; as, a wood nymph or thrush.

wood (wōōd), v.; WOOD'ED; WOOD'ING. Transitive: 1. To hide in the midst of trees. Obs.
2. To cover with a growth of trees; to plant with trees.
3. To supply with wood, or get supplies of wood for; as, to wood a steamboat.
4. To place wooden supports under.
5. Bowls. To surround (the jack) with bowls.

—, Intransitive: 1. To hide in the woods. Obs.
2. To take or get a supply of wood.

wood (wōōd). Var. of WOAD. Obs. exc. Dial.

-wood (-wōōd). 1. A combining form of 5th WOOD (in senses 5, 6, & 7) as in:

agalawood	bogwood	cordwood
agalwood	boxwood	corkwood agiliawood	brazilwood	cottonwood aguilawood	breastwood	crabwood aloewood	brierwood	deadwood arrowwood	brushwood	deerwood barwood	buttonwood	devilwood basketwood	cabbagewood	dogwood basswood	camphorwood	dovewood baywood	canwood	driftwood beaverwood	candlewood	dyewood beechwood	canoewood	eaglewood beefwood	carrotwood	elkwood bellwood	cheesewood	fiddlewood bentwood	citronwood	fishwood blackwood	cocuswood	flintwood bloodwood	cogwood	gopherwood bluewood	copsewood	greasewood won'der-bright', adj. See WONDER-. Archaic. [Archaic.] won'der-craft', n. See WONDER-.

won'derd. Wondered. Ref. Sp.

won'der-fele, adj. [AS. fela, feola, much.] Very many. Obs.

won'der-great', adj. See WONDER-. Obs.

won'der-land'ish (wŭn'dĕr-lăn'dĭsh), adj. See -ISH.

won'der-less, adj. See -LESS.

won'der-long', adj. See WONDER-. Obs.

won'der-ly, adj. [AS. wundorlic.] Wondrously; surprisingly. Obs.

won'der-maze', v. i. & t. To astound; to be amazed. Obs.

won'der-mon'ger, n. See -MONGER. — won'der-mon'ger-ing, n.

won'ders, adj. & adv. = WONDROUS. Obs.

won'ders-ly, adv. Wondrously. Obs.

won'der-thing', n. A marvelous thing; a miracle. Obs.

won'der-well', adj. See WONDER-. Obs. exc. Dial.

won'der-wise', n. A remarkable [way. Obs.] won'der-wise', adj. Wonderfully wise. See WONDER-. Obs.

wondie, adj. Windy. Obs. Scot.

won'dred, n. = WANDRETH. Obs.

wone. † WANE, WIN.

won'e-gan (wŏn'ē-găn). Var. of WANIGAN.

won'er. Var. of WONNER.

won'gah. Var. of WANGA.

Won-ga'ra (wŏng-gȧ'rȧ), n. = MANDINGO.

won'gen (wŏn'gĕn). Var. of WANIGAN. [Dial.] wonne. Var. of WON. Obs. exc.

wonned, won'ning. Past tense, pres. part. of WON, dwell.

won'nen. Obs. past part. of WIN.

won'not (wŭn'nŏt; -nŭt). Corrupt. of will not. Dial.

greenwood	partridgewood	smokewood gumwood	peatwood	snakewood hackwood	pegwood	sneezewood hardwood	pencilwood	soapwood heartwood	pepperwood	softwood honeywood	pheasantwood	soldierwood hoopwood	pigeonwood	sourwood hornwood	pinkwood	southernwood horsewood	pipewood	spearwood inkwood	plywood	spicewood
ironwood	poisonwood	splintwood ivorywood	prickwood	spoonwood ivywood	princewood	spoonwood jackwood	pulpwood	stavewood jasminewood	purplewood	stinkwood
joewood	rabbitwood	stonewood kingwood	redwood	stoutwood knobwood	rendlewood	stringwood lacewood	ribbonwood	swampwood ladlewood	rockwood	sweetwood lancewood	rodwood	tallwood laurelwood	rosewood	tallowwood leatherwood	roundwood	tarwood lemonwood	saffronwood	teakwood leopardwood	sagewood	thatchwood letterwood	sandwood	tigerwood lightwood	sapanwood	timberwood lowwood	sapwood	torchwood
marblewood	sateenwood	touchwood matchwood	satinwood	trumpetwood milkwood	saunderswood	tulipwood moosewood	scentwood	turnipwood muskwood	scrubwood	waddywood muttonwood	serpentwood	waterwood muzzlewood	shawneewood	whistlewood nakedwood	shelterwood	whitewood needlewood	shinglewood	withewood olivewood	shrubwood	wormwood orewood	silkwood	yellowwood paddlewood	silverwood	zebrawood
pantherwood	skewerwood

2. A combining form of WOOD in English proper names: (1) usually meaning a wood or forest, as in Sherwood, Norwood; (2) sometimes a corruption of ward [AS. weard watch], as in Haywood, Elwood.

wood agate. Agate formed by petrification of wood.

wood alcohol. Chem. Methanol; methyl alcohol. See METHANOL.

wood almond. The oily, edible seed of a West Indian woody vine (Hippocratea comosa); also, the plant itself.

wood'-and-wa'ter jo'ey (jōī'). A man of all work, esp. on a sheep station. Colloq., Australia.

wood anemone. Any of several vernal species of Anemone with tuberous roots, a single whorl of leaves, and solitary white flowers. The common wood anemone of the United States is A. quinquefolia; that of Europe is A. nemorosa.

wood ant. a A large European ant (Formica rufa), or a related American species (F. exsectoides), which lives in woods and builds large nests. b Local, U. S. A white ant. c A carpenter ant.

wood apple. a = ELEPHANT APPLE a. b The bel. c Crab apple.

wood'-ap'ple gum. A gum obtained from the elephant apple, Feronia elephantum, sometimes used to adulterate gum arabic.

wood aster. Any of several asters of eastern North America, usually growing in woods, esp. Aster cordifolius (the beeweed) with blue, A. macrophyllus with lavender, and A. divaricatus with white flowers.

wood avens. A European avens (Geum urbanum) with bright-yellow flowers, adventive in Massachusetts.

wood awl. The green woodpecker. Local, Eng.

wood baboon. = 3d DRILL.

wood'bark' (wŏŏd'bärk'), n. A brown, yellowish red-yellow in hue, of low saturation and medium brilliance.

wood bass. The green sunfish.

wood bedstraw. A European perennial herb (Galium sylvaticum) naturalized in the eastern United States, with narrow leaves in 6's or 8's, and open panicles of tiny white flowers; — called also Scotch mist.

wood betony. a The common betony (Betonica officinalis). b A lousewort (Pedicularis canadensis) of eastern North America, with pinnately parted leaves, and irregular, red or yellowish flowers in bracted spikes.

wood'bin' (wŏŏd'bĭn'), n. A bin for holding firewood.

wood'bine' (-bīn'), n. Also wood'bind' (-bīnd'). [With bine, dial. var. of bind, fr. AS. wudubind, widubindae; — so named as binding or winding about trees; cf. also AS. wuduwinde, widuwindae, where the second part is akin to wind, v. See WOOD; BIND, v.] a The common honeysuckle (Lonicera periclymenum) of Europe; also, any of several other honeysuckles. b Chiefly New Eng. The Virginia creeper. c The yellow jasmine Gelsemium sempervirens. d Hedge bindweed.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:
woodbine-clad, woodbine-covered, woodbine-wrought.

wood'bined' (-bīnd'), adj. Covered with woodbine.

woodbine green. A color, yellowish yellow-green in hue, of medium saturation and medium brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

wood bison. A variety of American bison (Bison bison athabascae). A few small herds still inhabit the wooded region of northern Alberta, Canada.

wood block. 1. A solid block of wood, usually with plane faces, as for paving.
2. A die for printing, cut in relief on wood; a woodcut; also a print from such a cut.
3. Music. = BLOCK, n.
4. Also wood'block'. Philately. An issue (1861) of Cape of Good Hope postage stamps; — so called because the plates were stereotypes mounted on wood.

wood'-block', adj. Made of wood blocks. — v. t. To pave with wood blocks.

wood borer. a The larva of any of numerous boring beetles, esp. elaters, longicorn beetles, buprestids, and certain weevils, as the apple-tree borer, etc. b The larva of any of various lepidopterous insects, esp. of the clearwing moths, as the peach-tree borer, and of the goat moths. c The larva of various hymenopterous insects (horntails) of the family Siricidae. d Any of several bivalve mollusks, which bore in wood, as the teredos, and species of Xylophaga. e Any of several small Crustacea, as the gribbles, and the boring amphipod (Chelura terebrans).

wood'-bor'ing (wŏŏd'bōr'ĭng; 181), adj. a That bores, or is used in boring; as, a wood-boring bit. b Zool. Excavating galleries in wood, in feeding or in constructing a nest; — of certain insects.

wood'bound' (-bound'), adj. 1. Bound with wood.
2. Having trees or hedges as obstructions to agriculture.
3. Surrounded by woodland.
4. Designating a trade of coopering casks for packing bottles.

wood brick. A block of wood the size and shape of a brick inserted in brickwork to supply a hold for the attachment of finishings.

wood broom. The wild teasel (Dipsacus sylvestris).

wood brown. A yellowish brown color tinged with ash gray.

wood buffalo. = WOOD BISON.

wood'bur'y-type' (wŏŏd'bĕr'ĭ-tīp'; wŏŏd'bĕr-ĭ-), n. [After W. B. Woodbury (1834–85), Eng. photographer and inventor.] A process in which a gelatin relief, produced by photographic methods (see GELATIN PROCESS b) and hardened, is powerfully pressed on a plate of soft metal, producing an intaglio impression from which pictures may be directly printed. Also, a print thus made.

wood'bush' (-bŏŏsh'), n. A region of untilled woodland. S. Afr.

wood calamint. The common calamint (Clinopodium calamintha) of Europe, related to wild basil.

wood carpet. A kind of floor covering of thin pieces of wood secured to a flexible backing, as of cloth.

wood carving. The art of fashioning or ornamenting objects of wood by cutting with a sharp implement held in the hand; also, an object of wood so fashioned or ornamented. — wood carver.

wood cell. Bot. Any cell occurring in the wood, or xylem, of plants; specif., a wood fiber.

wood cement. A cement, as glue or shellac dissolved in alcohol, for binding wooden surfaces together.

wood'chat' (wŏŏd'chăt'), n. a Any of several Asiatic birds of the thrush family and the genera Ianthia and Larvivora. The males are mostly bright blue marked with red or rufous beneath. b A European shrike (Lanius rutilus). In the male the head and nape are rufous red; the back, wings, and tail are black, varied with white.

woodchat shrike. = WOODCHAT b.

wood chess. A species of chess (Bromus ciliatus) found in woods and thickets in North America.

wood chopper. One engaged in chopping wood; esp., one who chops down trees.

wood'chuck' (wŏŏd'chŭk'), n. [From wejack, or from one of the northern Algonquian names for the wejack or fisher, assimilated to wood and chuck. Formerly woodshock, woodshaw, etc.] A thickset marmot (Marmota monax) of the northeastern United States and Canada. The color is chiefly grizzled reddish brown. Related species inhabit mountainous parts of western North America. Called also ground hog.

Woodchuck. (1/12)

wood'chuck', n. [Cf. CHUCK to strike gently.] a Local, Eng. Green woodpecker. b U. S. The redheaded woodpecker.

woodchuck day. See CANDLEMAS, 2.

wood cleaver. = WOOD CHOPPER. Rare.

wood cloth. Cloth made from wood fiber.

wood coal. a Charcoal. b Lignite.

wood'cock' (wŏŏd'kŏk'), n.; pl. -COCKS (-kŏks'), also often, in sense 1, -COCK. See PLURAL, Note. [AS. wuducoc. See WOOD, n.; COCK, n.] 1. An Old World limicoline bird (Scolopax rusticola); hence, also, a similar and related American bird (Philohela, syn. Rubicola, minor). The Old World woodcock ranges from the British Isles to Japan, migrating southward. It has a long bill, very sensitive at the tip, with which it probes in soft ground for insects. Its eye is very large. The color is variously mottled black, chestnut, gray, and buff. The American woodcock is smaller and generically characterized by having the three outer primaries shortened and conspicuously narrowed instead of the first only as in Scolopax rusticola. It frequents woodland and is prized as a game bird. The species S. saturata inhabits Java and New Guinea.

European Woodcock. American Woodcock.

2. The pileated woodpecker. Local, U. S.
3. A simpleton; a gullible person. Archaic.
4. Variously: a Short for WOODCOCK SHELL or WOODCOCK SON. b A large variety of apple.

wood'cock'ize (-īz), v. t. To make a dupe of.

woodcock owl. The short-eared owl. Local, Eng. & Scot.

woodcock pilot. The European goldcrest. Local, Eng.

wood'cock's'-head', n. a Obs. A pipe for tobacco smoking. Jonson. b A woodcock shell.

woodcock shell. The shell of any of certain mollusks of the genus Murex, having a very long canal.

woodcock snipe. a Eng. The European great snipe. b The American woodcock. See WOODCOCK, 1.

woodcock soil. A soil consisting of clay and gravel.

wood copper. A fibrous olivenite.

wood corn. Early English Law. Corn or grain paid as a woodgeld.

wood'crack'er (wŏŏd'krăk'ĕr; -krăk'ĕr), n. European nuthatch. Local, Eng. & Scot.

wood'craft' (-krăft'; 83), n. 1. Skill and practice in anything pertaining to the woods, esp. in maintaining oneself and making one's way, in hunting or trapping, or in tracking and studying wild life of the woods.
2. Skill in shaping or constructing articles from wood.

wood'crafts'man (-krăfts'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Also wood'craft'er (-krăf'tĕr). One experienced in woodcraft.

wood'craft'y (-krăf'tĭ), adj. Having the craft or instinctive cunning of wild animals of the forest. — wood'craft'i-ness, n.

wood crane's-bill. A common European herb (Geranium sylvaticum) with divided or palmately cleft leaves and light-purple flowers.

Wood Cree. See CREE.

wood cudweed. The cudweed Gnaphalium sylvaticum.

wood culver. [Cf. AS. wuduculfre.] The ringdove Columba palumbus. Local, Eng.

wood'cut' (wŏŏd'kŭt'), n. 1. An engraving on wood; also, a print from such an engraving. See ENGRAVING, 3.
2. = WOOD BLOCK, 2.
3. Theater. A piece of scenery made of canvas stretched on wooden frames, cut so as to represent ornamental pieces, as trees; — sometimes called wingcut.

wood'cut'ter (wŏŏd'kŭt'ĕr), n. 1. A person who cuts wood.
2. An engraver on wood.

wood'cut'ting (-ĭng), n. 1. Act or process of wood engraving.
2. Act or employment of cutting wood or timber.

wood'cut'ting, adj. 1. Of or pertaining to wood engraving, or the process of making such engravings.
2. That cuts wood, or is specifically made for or used in cutting wood, timber, etc.; as, a woodcutting circular saw.

wood dove. A wood pigeon, esp. the stock dove.

wood draftsman. One who makes drawings for wood engraving. — wood drawing.

wood drake. The male of the wood duck.

wood'-dried', adj. Dried in the heat from burning wood.

wood duck. a A handsome American duck (Aix sponsa). It nests in hollow trees. The male has a large crest, and its plumage is varied with green, purple, black, white, and chestnut. Called also summer duck. b Local, U. S. The hooded merganser. c An Australian goose (Chenonetta jubata) having elongated black feathers on the rear part of the neck.

Wood Duck (Aix sponsa). Male. (1/12) wood'ed (wŏŏd'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. 1. Supplied or covered with wood, or trees; as, wooded land.

2. Hence, thickly strewn. Obs.

-wood'ed. Comb. form of wooded, denoting having (such) wood, as in:

copsewooded	red-wooded	thick-wooded dense-wooded	soft-wooded	well-wooded wood'en (wŏŏd'n), adj.; sometimes WOOD'EN-ER; WOOD'EN-EST. 1. Made or consisting of wood.

2. Stiff, clumsy, awkward, as if made of or by means of wood; full of objects of wood.
3. Suggestive of the hardness and dryness of wood; lacking liveliness, ease, grace, etc.; also, spiritless; stupid.
4. Obs. a Pertaining to woods, or forest; sylvan. b Occupied with wood. c Inferior; worthless.
5. Golf. Having a head made of wood; — of clubs.
Syn. — Wood; expressionless, stolid, dull.
Ant. — Responsive, expressive, sympathetic, sensitive.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wooden-barred	wooden-legged	wooden-sided wooden-bottom	wooden-lined	wooden-soled wooden-faced	wooden-pinned	wooden-tined wooden-fastened	wooden-posted	wooden-walled wooden-hooped	wooden-seated	wooden-wheeled wooden-hulled	wooden-shoed wood'en, v. t. To make wooden. Rare.

wood'en, adj. = WOOD, mad. Now Dial.

wooden brick. A wood brick.

wooden cut. = WOODCUT. Obs.

wood end. = HOODING END.

wooden dagger. A dagger of lath carried by the Vice in morality plays. Obs.

wood'end'ite (wŏŏd'ĕnd'īt), n. [From Woodend, Victoria, Australia.] Petrog. A dark basaltic rock composed of augite, magnetite, and altered olivine in a groundmass of brown glass.

wood engraver. 1. An engraver on wood.
2. Any of several beetles (family Scolytidae) which bore beneath the bark of trees, and excavate furrows in the wood often more or less like coarse engravings, as certain species of Ips or Pityophthorus affecting coniferous trees.

Work of the Hickory Wood Engraver (Scolytus caryae).

wood engraving. a The art or process of engraving designs upon wood for printing. Wood engraving is commonly done on blocks of boxwood, which are cut across the grain. After the design has been drawn or photographed upon the polished surface of the block, the engraver cuts away the wood around all lines and spots that are to print, leaving them in relief to take the ink. The process is thus the converse of the intaglio process used in line engraving on metal, in which the grooves hold the ink after the surrounding plate has been wiped clean. b An engraving on wood; a woodcut; also, a print from such an engraving.

wood'en-head' (wŏŏd''n-hĕd'), n. A blockhead; a stupid person. Colloq. — wood'en-head'ed (-hĕd'ĕd; -ĭd; 66; 119), adj. — wood'en-head'ed-ness, n. Both Colloq.

wooden horse. a Also Trojan horse, the. In Vergil's Aeneid, the colossal hollow figure of a horse, in which a number of Greek warriors were hidden, introduced within the walls of Troy by a stratagem. At night the warriors came out and admitted the Greek army into the city. b Archaic. A ship. c Formerly, a ridged or studded wooden device on which soldiers were condemned to sit astride as a military punishment. d Obs. The scaffold; the gallows. e A sawhorse. f Gymnastics. = HORSE, 12.

wooden Indian. A standing wooden image of an American Indian brave formerly used for advertising before a cigar store; hence, Colloq., a person without animation or change of expression.

wooden judge. A lay judge. Colloq., U. S.

wood'en-ly, adv. of WOODEN.

wood'en-ness, n. See NESS.

wooden pear. An Australian tree (Xylomelum pyriforme), family Proteaceae, having a pear-shaped fruit with a thick woody epicarp.

wooden shoes. A wearer of sabots, or wooden shoes; hence, a Frenchman. Slang, Now Rare.

wooden spoon. Slang. a A real or imaginary prize awarded to a competitor who finishes with the lowest standing in his group or class; also, such a competitor; — applied esp. at Cambridge University to the last junior optime, and formerly at Yale, to the man receiving the lowest ranking in the appointments of the junior year. b Later, at Yale, the man voted the most popular in his class. — wooden spoonist.

wooden tongue. Veter. Actinomycosis of cattle.

wooden walls. Ships; — alluding to the Pythian oracle delivered about 480 B.C. on the occasion of the Persian invasion: "The wooden wall shall alone remain unconquered." Themistocles interpreted wooden wall to refer to ships.

wood'en-ware' (wŏŏd''n-wâr'), n. A general name for buckets, bowls, and other articles of domestic use, made of wood.

wood'en-wea'ry (wŏŏd''n-wē'rĭ), adj. Dulled with weariness.

wooden wedding. See WEDDING, Note.

wooden wedge. a A wedge of wood. b See WEDGE, n., 5.

wood evil. Veter. a Texas fever. b A digestive disorder of cattle, characterized by severe constipation.

wood'fall' (wŏŏd'fôl'), n. A felling of timber; also, the timber felled. Obs.

wood fern. a The evergreen wood fern Dryopteris marginalis. b The marsh fern Dryopteris thelypteris. c The American shield fern. d The common polypody (Polypodium vulgare).

wood fiber. 1. Bot. A slender cylindrical or prismatic wood cell, having usually tapering ends and thick walls and serving esp. for support.
2. Wood comminuted and reduced to a powdery or dusty mass.

wood'-fi'bered plas'ter. A gypsum plaster containing shredded wood fiber to serve as a binder, to reduce the weight, and to improve its sound-absorbing properties.

wood file. Mach. See 4th FILE, n., 1.

wood'fish' (wŏŏd'fĭsh'), n. A silverfish. See SILVERFISH, 2.

wood flour. Finely powdered wood or sawdust, used in preparing explosives, in surgical dressings, etc.

wood flower. = WOOD ROSE, 1.

wood fretter. Any animal which in the adult or larval stage bores in the wood, or beneath the bark, of trees; a wood borer.

wood fringe. The climbing fumitory.

wood frog. A common North American frog (Rana sylvatica) which lives chiefly in moist woods and woodland pools. It is drab or yellowish brown, with a black stripe on each side of the head.

wood gas. Gas obtained by the destructive distillation of wood. It contains hydrogen, carbon monoxide, methane, etc., and is used for illuminating.

wood'gate rust (wŏŏd'gāt). [From Woodgate, Oneida Co., N. Y.] Plant Pathol. A disease of the Scotch pine caused by an undetermined species of the genus Peridermium, which forms galls upon twigs and branches.

wood gatherer. a One who gathers wood. b See CAMP-FIRE GIRL.

wood'geld' (wŏŏd'gĕld'), n. [See GELD a tax.] Early Eng. Feudal Law. Money paid for the privilege of gathering or cutting wood in the forest; also, immunity from this payment, granted by the king.

wood germander. A European germander (Teucrium scorodonia), naturalized in North America, with one-sided racemes of light-yellow flowers.

wood grass. a An American perennial grass (Sorghastrum nutans) having long flat leaves and large plumelike panicles. It is valued for hay. b Knot-root grass. c Dial. Eng. A wood rush (Juncoides sylvaticum).

Wood Grass a.

wood groundsel. A European annual herb (Senecio sylvaticus), widely naturalized as a weed in North America, with pinnatifid leaves and small yellow flower heads in corymbs.

wood grouse. Local. a Eng. Capercaillie. b U. S. Canada grouse.

wood'grub' (wŏŏd'grŭb'), n. The larva of any of numerous wood-boring insects.

wood gum. Chem. = XYLAN.

wood'hack' (wŏŏd'hăk'), wood'hack'er (-ĕr), n. Green woodpecker. Local, Eng.

wood hair grass. = WAVY HAIR GRASS.

wood hen. a Any of several Old World short-winged rails of the genus Ocydromus, including the New Zealand wekas. b U. S. The American woodcock.

wood hewer. 1. A wood chopper.
2. a Any of numerous South and Central American birds, of the subfamily Dendrocolaptidae, which have a curved bill and stiffened tail feathers. They climb and feed like woodpeckers. Called also tree creeper. b A woodpecker.

wood'hole' (wŏŏd'hōl'), n. A place where wood is stored.

wood honey. Wild honey.

wood hoopoe. A bird of the family Phoeniculidae (syn. Irrisoridae). See PHOENICULUS.

Wood Hoopoe Phoeniculus, syn. Irrisor, senegalensis. ⅓ wood'horse' (wŏŏd'hôrs'), n.

1. A sawhorse.
2. = WALKING STICK b.

wood horsetail. A common herb (Equisetum sylvaticum) of the North Temperate Zone, with drooping whorls of usually forked branches.

wood'house' (wŏŏd'hous'), n. A house or shed where wood is stored.

wood'hung' (-hŭng'), adj. Surrounded or girt with hanging boughs.

wood hyacinth. A European squill (Scilla nonscripta) having a scape bearing a raceme of drooping blue, purple, white, or sometimes pink, bell-shaped flowers.

wood ibis. A large wading bird (Mycteria americana, syn. Tantalus loculator), family Ciconiidae, of wooded swamps of South and Central America and the southern United States. It has the bill heavy at the base and the head and upper neck naked in the adult, and is white, with tail and primaries black. Also, any of certain allied Old World species of the genus Ibis, syn. Pseudotantalus, usually called wood storks.

wood'ing (wŏŏd'ĭng), n. 1. The gathering of wood, as for firewood; also, the loading of wood for fuel on a steamer.
2. A grove of trees. Scot.

wood ipecac. Feverroot.

wood'ish (wŏŏd'ĭsh), adj. a Woody. b Obs. Sylvan.

wood'job'ber (wŏŏd'jŏb'ĕr), n. [See JOB to strike, JOB a jab.] A woodpecker.

wood'kern' (-kûrn'), n. An Irish robber or outlaw living in the forest. See 1st KERN. Obs. exc. Hist.

wood kingfisher. See KINGFISHER, 1.

wood'knack'er (wŏŏd'năk'ĕr), n. Green woodpecker. Local, Eng.

wood'land' (-lănd'; -lănd), n. [AS. wuduland.] 1. Land covered with wood or trees; forest; timberland.
2. A wood lot. U. S.
3. = FOREST GREEN.

wood'land (-lănd), adj. Of or pertaining to woodland; growing in woodland; being or containing woodland; of the nature of woodland.

woodland brown. The color cordovan.

woodland caribou. See CARIBOU.

wood'land-er (wŏŏd'lăn-dĕr), n. A dweller in a woodland.

woodland goldenrod. The wreath goldenrod.

woodland primrose. A European herb (Primula vulgaris) with solitary, long-stalked, usually yellow flowers. It is often naturalized in American wild gardens.

woodland star. A Californian perennial herb (Lithophragma affinis), family Saxifragaceae, cultivated for its racemose white flowers.

woodland sunflower. The rough sunflower.

wood lark. A small European lark (Lullula arborea), which, like the skylark, utters its notes while on the wing; — so called from its habit of perching on trees.

wood laurel. a The spurge laurel Daphne laureola. b U. S. = MOUNTAIN LAUREL a.

wood leopard, or wood leopard moth. The leopard moth.

wood lily. a The lily of the valley. b A red-flowered lily (Lilium philadelphicum) of the eastern United States; — called also huckleberry lily and red lily. c Any species of Trillium. d The wintergreen Pyrola minor. e In Australia, an orchid (Dendrobium speciosum).

wood loader. See LOADER.

wood lock. Naut. A piece of wood fitted between a gudgeon and a pintle to keep the rudder from rising. — wood'-locked', adj.

wood lot. A relatively restricted area devoted to the growing of forest trees; — disting. from the general forest; as, a farm wood lot.

wood louse; pl. WOOD LICE. a Any of numerous small terrestrial isopod crustaceans of Oniscus, Cubaris, or a related genus; a slater, sow bug, or pill bug. They have a flattened elliptical body, sometimes capable of being rolled into a ball, seven pairs of legs fitted for running, and are usually grayish or brownish. Most species live under stones, bark, etc., and sometimes damage roots of young plants. b Any of several small, wingless insects of the family Atropidae, which live in the crevices of walls and among old books and papers. Some species are called also book lice, death ticks, or deathwatches. c Local, U. S. A white ant.

wood'man (wŏŏd'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). 1. A forest officer in care of the king's woods; a forester. Eng.
2. A hunter of forest game; a woodsman.
3. One who cuts down trees; a woodcutter.
4. One who dwells in the woods or forest.
5. A wild man living in the woods; a satyr or faun. Obs.
6. A worker in wood, as a carpenter, wheelwright, etc.
7. A member of either of two fraternal and beneficiary, but independent, societies: (1) Modern Woodmen of America, founded at Lyons, Iowa, in 1883; (2) Woodmen of the World, founded at Omaha, Nebr., in 1890. Both are principally insurance orders. See plate of Emblems of Fraternal and Service Organizations.
8. Mining. One who prepares or sets up timber.

wood'man, n. [From WOOD mad.] Madman. Obs.

wood'man-craft' (wŏŏd'măn-krăft'; 83), n. The craft or skill of a woodman or woodsman.

wood'man-ship, n. Woodcraft.

wood'-mat' (wŏŏd'măt'), n. The hound's-tongue Cynoglossum officinale.

wood meadow grass. A slender European grass of shady places (Poa nemoralis), of some agricultural value.

wood meal. Wood flour.

Woodmen of the World. See WOODMAN, 7 (2).

wood milling machine. Mach. A machine resembling in principle the metal milling machine but designed especially for trenching, grooving, jointing, routing, gear cutting, and similar surface work in wood.

wood mite. Any of many small mites of the family Oribatidae, found chiefly in woods, on trees and stones.

wood'mon'ger (wŏŏd'mŭng'gĕr), n. A dealer in wood, lumber, etc. Now Rare.

wood'mote' (wŏŏd'mōt'), n. [See WOOD, n.; MOOT, n.] Formerly, a minor forest court with cognizance of trespasses in the forest; — called also court of attachments. England.

wood mouse; pl. WOOD MICE. Any mouse inhabiting wooded regions; as: a The European wood mouse (Apodemus sylvaticus). b Any of various American white-footed mice (Peromyscus). c A red-backed mouse.

wood naphtha. A distillation product of wood, containing chiefly methanol (wood alcohol), with some acetone, methyl acetate, etc.

wood'-nep' (wŏŏd'nĕp'), n. The mock bishop's-weed.

wood'ness, n. [AS. wōdness. See 1st WOOD.] Madness; rage; fury; reckless folly. Archaic.

wood nettle. An American perennial herb Laportea canadensis) provided with stinging hairs. It is found in rich woods.

wood nightshade. = BITTERSWEET, 3 a.

wood'-note', n. A wild or natural note, as of a forest bird.

wood nut. The filbert Corylus maxima.

wood nymph. 1. A nymph of the woods; a fabled goddess of the woods; dryad. "Wood nymphs, decked with daisies trim." Milton.
2. a Any of several handsome moths of the genus Euthisanotia. The larvae are bright-colored, and some species, as E. grata and E. unio, feed on leaves of the grapevine. b A grayling. c Any of several South American hummingbirds of the genus Thalurania. The males are bright blue, or green and blue. d = SATYR, n., 3.
3. The one-flowered wintergreen. See MONESES.

Wood Nymph (Euthisanotia grata). A Imago; B Larva. ½ wood offering. Wood burned on the altar.

wood'-of-the-Ho'ly-Cross', n. The European mistletoe, in allusion to its reputed healing virtues.

wood oil. 1. Any of various oils derived from wood; specif.: a Gurjun (sense 1). b Any of certain oils obtained with wood alcohol (methanol) by the distillation of wood.
2. a Usually, tung oil. b Japanese wood oil.

wood oil tree = TUNG TREE a.

wood'-oil'-tree' fam'i-ly. The Dipterocarpaceae.

wood opal. Mineral. See OPAL, 1.

wood owl. a Any owl living in trees, esp. one of the genus Strix, as the European tawny owl and American barred owl. b In England, the long-eared owl.

wood paper. Paper made from wood pulp.

wood parenchyma. Bot. A parenchyma occurring in the secondary xylem; xylem parenchyma.

wood partridge. a Any of several small partridges of Java, Sumatra, Borneo, and neighboring regions, belonging to the genera Caloperdix, Rollulus, and Melanoperdix. b Local, U. S. The Canada grouse.

wood pea. The flat pea.

wood peat. See PEAT.

wood'peck' (wŏŏd'pĕk'), n. Woodpecker. Rare.

wood'peck'er (-ĕr), n. Any of more than 300 species of scansorial birds of the family Picidae, found in most parts of the world except Australia and Madagascar. They have zygodactylous feet (with two toes in front and two behind), the tail feathers are stiff and spiny to aid in climbing or resting on tree trunks, the tongue is usually extensile, and the bill very hard and chisellike, enabling them to drill the bark and wood of trees for their insect food or to excavate the cavities in which they lay their glossy white eggs. A few species (see SAPSUCKER) feed partly on the sap of trees and others sometimes seek insects on the ground. They are among the most beneficial of birds. Their plumage is generally parti-colored, black, white, brown, green, yellow, orange, and red, in varying proportions and usually strongly contrasted. One group, the three-toed woodpeckers, has the innermost or first toe reduced or absent; they are black and white with yellow crowns in the male, and frequent the northern evergreen forests of the Old and New worlds. The chief European species are the green woodpecker (Picus viridis), the great spotted woodpecker (Dryobates major), the lesser spotted woodpecker (D. minor), all common in Great Britain, and the great black woodpecker (Dendrocopus martius) of northern Europe, entirely black except for a red crown. American species are very numerous, including the California, downy, hairy, imperial, ivory-billed, pileated, redheaded, and three-toed woodpeckers (see these terms). See 4th FLICKER; SAPSUCKER; PICULET; WRYNECK, 3.

Green Woodpecker (Picus viridis). (⅓) wood'pen'ny (wŏŏd'pĕn'ĭ), wood'sil'ver (-sĭl'vĕr), n. Early Eng. Feudal Law. Money paid as woodgeld.

wood penny, wood pennyroyal. The common speedwell (Veronica officinalis).

wood pewee. A small tyrant flycatcher (Myiochanes virens) of eastern North America. It is dark olive on the back, grayish olive on the breast and sides, and yellowish white on the belly. Its very plaintive note resembles the syllables pee-a-wee. A related species (M. richardsoni) inhabits western North America.

wood pie. Local, Eng. a The European great or lesser spotted woodpecker. b The green woodpecker.

wood pigeon. a The ringdove Columba palumbus; also, any of certain related eastern pigeons. b Local, U. S. The band-tailed pigeon. c New Zealand. A large purple-and-white pigeon (Hemiphaga novaeseelandiae). d The stock dove.

wood'pile' (wŏŏd'pīl'), n. A pile of wood, esp. firewood.

wood pimpernel. A European loosestrife (Lysimachia nemorum) with nearly prostrate stems, and yellow flowers.

wood planer. See PLANER.

wood'-plan'ing (wŏŏd'plān'ĭng), adj. That planes, or is used for planing, wood, timber, lumber, etc.; as, a wood-planing machine.

wood plant. a A woodland plant. b A plant having a woody stem.

wood port. A port wine aged in the wood.

wood'print' (wŏŏd'prĭnt'), n. = WOODCUT.

wood pulp. 1. Pulp from wood, now widely used in making paper. Spruce, poplar, hemlock, white pine, basswood, etc., are used for this purpose. The pulp is made either mechanically, by forcing the wood against an abrading wheel, or by a chemical process (see SODA PULP, SULPHITE PULP, SULPHATE PROCESS).
2. Explosives. Wood flour.

wood pussy. A skunk. Local, U. S.

wood quail. = WOOD PARTRIDGE a.

wood quartet. Music. = WOOD-WIND QUARTET.

wood'-queest' (wŏŏd'kwĕst'), wood'-quest' (-kwĕst'), n. [wood + queest the ring dove.] Ringdove. Local, Eng.

wood quintet. Music. = WOOD-WIND QUINTET.

wood rabbit. A cottontail. Local, U. S.

wood range. A stove, esp. a cooking stove, using wood as fuel.

wood'rang'er (wŏŏd'rān'jĕr), n. A forest ranger, or keeper.

wood rat. Any of numerous native rats of the genus Neotoma of the southern United States and western North America. They have soft fur, light gray to ocherous above and white below. Common species are N. floridana of Florida, N. cinerea of the Rocky Mountains, N. fuscipes of California, and N. ferruginea of Mexico.

wood ray. Bot. See MEDULLARY RAY b.

wood'-ray' pa-ren'chy-ma. = WOOD PARENCHYMA.

wood reed, wood reed grass. a The Indian reed Cinna arundinacea. b The feathertop.

wood'reeve' (wŏŏd'rēv'), n. The steward or overseer of a wood. Eng.

wood'rick' (-rĭk'), n. A woodpile. Dial. Eng.

wood'rime' (-rīm'), n. The edge of a wood. Obs.

wood'-rip' (-rĭp'), n. The woodruff.

wood robin. a Any of several sylviine New Zealand birds of the genus Miro. They are grayish black and white or pure white, and good songsters. b Local, U. S. The wood thrush.

wood'rock' (wŏŏd'rŏk'), n. A compact woodlike variety of asbestos.

wood rose. 1. In Mexico, the corrugated, often flower-like woody scar left upon the host, when a mistletoe is wrenched from its support.
2. The color sorghum brown.

---

wood'en-y (wŏŏd''n-ĭ), adj. = WOODEN. Chiefly Colloq.

wood'er (wŏŏd'ĕr), n. A woodman. Obs.

wood'ie (wŏŏd'ĭ). Scot. var. of WITHY.

wood'ine (wŏŏd'ēn; -ĭn; 157), n. Com. = METHANOL.

wood'i-ness (wŏŏd'ĭ-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. See -NESS. [ger. Obs.

wood'knife', n. A dirk or dag-wood'less, adj. See -LESS, — wood'less-ness, n.

wood'let, n. See -LET.

wood'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wood'lind', n. A linden. Obs.

wood'ly, adv. of WOOD, mad.

wood'maid', n. A dryad. Obs.

wood'nack'er. Var. of WOODKNACKER. Local, Eng.

wood'ris, n. [See RICE a twig.] Thicket; brushwood. Obs.

wood'roof, wood'row, wood'row'el. Var. of WOODRUFF.

wood rosin. See ROSIN.
wood rot. The disintegration of wood caused by the action of a fungus.
Wood'row Wil'son Foun·da'tion (wŏŏd'rō wĭl's'n). A permanent organization, established in Dec. 1920, with a proposed endowment of $1,000,000 in memory of Woodrow Wilson. It grants from time to time an award of $25,000 (first award in 1924) to some individual in recognition of meritorious service of a public character toward the establishment of peace. Cf. NOBEL PRIZES.
wood'ruff' (wŏŏd'rŭf'), n. [AS. wudurofe, fr. wudu wood + obscure 2d element; cf. AS. wudurife, E. dial. woodrip.] A small European sweet-scented herb (Asperula odorata) sometimes used in perfumery and for flavoring wine; — called also sweet woodruff. Also, any other plant of the genus Asperula.
Wood'ruff (wŏŏd'rŭf), n. Angling. An artificial fly with black-and-white barred wings, green wool body, brown hackle, and light-gray speckled tail.
Woodruff key. Mach. A shaft key in the form of a segment of a disk, — used only with shafts not more than 2½ in. in diameter.
wood rush. Any plant of the genus Luzula as L. campestris, differing from the true rushes (Juncus) in having the leaf sheaths open and the capsule few-seeded. They grow chiefly in woodlands.
wood sage. The wood germander; also, the related American germander. See GERMANDER.
Wood's alloy or metal (wŏŏdz). Metal. See FUSIBLE METAL. wood sandpiper. An Old World shore bird (Tringa glareola), allied to the greenshank and American solitary sandpiper.
wood saw. A saw for cutting wood; specif., a bucksaw. wood's colt. A horse whose sire and dam are unknown; hence, a bastard. Local, U. S. woods cranberry. The mountain cranberry. Local, U. S. wood screw. A pointed metal screw formed with a sharp thread of comparatively coarse pitch, for insertion in wood. The head is usually slotted for turning with a screw driver. wood'sere' (wŏŏd'sēr'), n. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng. 1. Loose, springy soil; swampy land.
2. Decayed or hollow pollard; also, the season for felling wood.
wood'sere', adj. Dry; unproductive; — said of land. Obs. wood'sere', n. = CUCKOO SPIT, 1 a & b.
Wood's halfpence (wŏŏdz). Halfpence coined for Ireland by William Wood under a patent of 1722. The patent was attacked by Dean Swift, writing under the pseudonym of M. B. Drapier, in a series of letters (Drapier's Letters, 1724) which so aroused public resentment that the patent was canceled. Cf. ROSA AMERICANA. wood'shed' (wŏŏd'shĕd'), n. A shed for wood, esp. for firewood. wood sheldrake. The hooded merganser. Local, U. S. wood'ship (wŏŏd'shĭp), n. [AS. wōdscipe. See WOOD, adj.; -SHIP.] Madness. Obs. wood shock. [See WOODCHUCK.] The fisher. See FISHER, 2. wood'shop' (wŏŏd'shŏp'), n. A workshop in which woodwork is produced. wood shrike. Any of numerous Old World singing birds of Eurocephalus, Colluricincla, Prionops, and allied genera, common in India and Australia. They are allied to the true shrikes, but feed on both insects and berries.
Wood'sia (wŏŏd'zĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after Joseph Woods (1776–1864), Eng. botanist.] Bot. a A genus of small or medium-sized rock-inhabiting ferns (family Polypodiaceæ), having pinnate or bipinnate fronds, round sori, and wholly inferior, roundish or stellate indusia. They are natives of temperate and cold regions, seven species being found in North America. b [not cap.] A plant of this genus.
wood'side' (wŏŏd'sīd'), n. The margin of a wood; also, the country bordering on woods.
wood'sil'ver (-sĭl'vĕr), n. See WOODPENNY. wood'skin' (wŏŏd'skĭn'), n. [wood + skin.] Bark from which canoes are made; hence, a bark canoe, esp. an Indian canoe.
For centuries the woodskins of the Indians had passed up and down and left no trace. William Beebe.
wood slave. A small gecko (Sphaerodactylus argus) or related species, of Jamaica.
woods'man (wŏŏdz'mȧn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A woodman, esp. one who lives in or frequents the forest; a man skilled in woodcraft.
Wood's metal. = WOOD'S ALLOY. See FUSIBLE METAL. wood snail. A European edible snail (Helix nemoralis). wood snipe. The American woodcock. Local, U. S.
wood sorrel. a Any plant of the genus Oxalis; esp., O. acetosella, a white-flowered, stemless trifoliolate species of the North Temperate Zone, thought, by some, to be the shamrock. See OXALIS. b Any of several yellow-flowered species of the genus Xanthoxalis. c = SHEEP SORREL. d A West Indian begonia (Begonia acutifolia).
wood'–sor'rel fam'i·ly. The Oxalidaceæ.
wood'–sour', wood'–sow'er (-sou'ĕr), n. Local, Eng. a The wood sorrel Oxalis acetosella. b The barberry Berberis vulgaris. wood spack (spăk; spăk). Green woodpecker. Local, Eng.
wood spear grass. See GRASS, Table. woods phlox. The soapwort Saponaria officinalis. wood spirit Any supernatural being believed to live in or among trees, esp. in a forest.
wood spirit. Methanol (wood alcohol), esp. as a crude distillate from wood (wood naphtha).
wood spirits of turpentine. See TURPENTINE, n., 2 b. wood'spite' (wŏŏd'spīt'), n. [See SPEIGHT.] Green woodpecker. Local, Eng.
wood splitter. One who splits wood, esp. for firewood.
wood spoon. A spoon of wood used esp. to stir porridge; hence, Slang, = WOODEN SPOON a (in its general use). wood spurge. A European spurge (Tithymalus amygdaloides) with greenish-yellow, terminal flower clusters.
woods run. Logging. The average run of logs, of all sizes and grades, as they come from the forest.
wood stamp. A carved or engraved block or stamp of wood, for impressing figures or colors on fabrics.
wood star. Any of several small South American hummingbirds of the genera Chaetocercus and Myrtis. wood'–stock' (wŏŏd'stŏk'), n. A wooden shaft, as of an axe.
Wood'stock (wŏŏd'stŏk), n. A historical novel (1826) by Sir Walter Scott, of the Puritan era, 1652. The subtitle is "The Cavalier."
wood'stone' (wŏŏd'stōn'), n. Petrified wood.
wood stork. A wood ibis, esp. one of the Old World species.
wood stove. A stove using, or especially designed to use, wood for fuel.
wood strawberry. The wild strawberry Fragaria vesca. wood sugar. See XYLOSE.
wood swallow. Any of several Australian, Polynesian, Asiatic and African birds of the family Artamidae, allied to the shrikes, but resembling swallows; one of the swallow shrikes. Artamus fuscus is a common species of India.
woods'y (wŏŏd'zĭ), adj. Of or pertaining to the woods, or forest; suggesting the woods; dwelling in, or coming from the woods. Colloq., U. S.
It [sugar making] is woodsy, and savors of trees. J. Burroughs.
wood tapper. A woodpecker. Local, Eng. & Scot.
wood tar. Tar obtained by the dry distillation of wood, either as a deposit from pyroligneous acid or as a residue from the distillation of the acid or of wood turpentine. The tar is used in the crude state as fuel or for preserving rope, wood, etc., and for calking, or it is fractionated to obtain creosote, oils for ore flotation, pitch, etc. — wood'–tar', adj.
wood'–tar' cre'o·sote. Creosote obtained by the distillation of wood tar, used extensively in preserving farm timbers.
wood–tar pitch. Pitch from wood tar, used in shipbuilding, in insulating, etc.
wood terrapin. = WOOD TORTOISE.
wood thrush. a A large thrush (Hylocichla mustelina) of eastern North America. It is rusty brown on the head and back, becoming olivaceous on the rump and tail. The under parts are white marked with large tear-shaped spots. It frequents woods and thickets, and is noted for its loud clear song. See BIRD, Plate. b Local, Eng. & Scot. The missel thrush. c Local, Eng. & Scot. The European song thrush.
wood tick. Any tick of the family Ixodidae whose young cling to bushes, but fasten on the body of any animal touching them. In man they often produce troublesome sores. A common species of the northern United States is Dermacentor variabilis.
wood tin. See CASSITERITE. wood titmouse. The European goldcrest. Local, Eng.
wood tortoise. A common North American tortoise (Clemmys insculpta) the shell of which is marked with strong grooves and ridges, like sculptured figures.

Wood Tortoise. (½)

wood trimmer. = TRIMMER, n., 2. wood turning. The art or process of fashioning wooden pieces or blocks into various forms and shapes by means of a lathe. — wood turner. — wood'–turn'ing, adj.
☞ Wood Turning is prefixed to definitions in this Dictionary to indicate the subject matter or field in which the word or sense is typically used.
wood'–turn'ing lathe. A lathe used in wood turning.
wood turpentine. See TURPENTINE, 2 b. wood vetch. a A European vetch (Vicia sylvatica) sometimes planted for forage. b The heath pea.
wood vetchling. = WOOD VETCH a.
Wood'vile (wŏŏd'vĭl), n. Lieutenant of the Tower in Shakespeare's 1 Henry VI. wood vine. White bryony. See BRYONY. wood vinegar. a Pyroligneous acid or crude acetic acid. b Imitation vinegar consisting essentially of dilute acetic acid colored with caramel. wood violet. 1. a The hedge violet. b Local, U. S. The bird's-foot violet.
2. A color, bluish blue-red in hue, of high saturation and low brilliance. Cf. COLOR.
wood'wall, wood'wale (wŏŏd'wôl; -wāl; -'l), n. [ME. wodewale. See WITWAL.] The green woodpecker. Local, Eng.
wood warbler. a Any American warbler, esp. one of the genus Dendroica. Among the most common in the Eastern States are the yellow warbler, black-throated green warbler, yellow-rumped warbler, blackpoll, bay-breasted warbler, chestnut-sided warbler, Cape May warbler prairie warbler, and pine warbler. b A European warbler (Phylloscopus sibilatrix). wood'ward' (wŏŏd'wôrd'), n. [AS. wuduweard.] Eng. Forest Law. A forest officer charged with guarding the woods.
wood'ward (-wĕrd), adv. & adj. See -WARD.
Wood·war'di·a (wŏŏd·wär'dĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after Thomas J. Woodward (1745–1820), Eng. botanist.] Bot. A genus of ferns to which the chain ferns (Anchistea) were formerly assigned.
wood wasp. a A horntail. b A European wasp (Vespa sylvestris) which builds its nest in trees. c Any of certain solitary wasps which excavate galleries in decaying wood.
wood'wax'en (wŏŏd'wăk'sĕn; -s'n), n. Also formerly wood'wax' (-wăks'). [AS. wuduweaxe.] A yellow-flowered Eurasian shrub (Genista tinctoria) adventive in North America, and sometimes cultivated for ornament; — called also greenwood, greenweed, dyeweed, whin, and woadwaxen. wood widgeon. = WOOD DUCK a. Local, U. S. wood wind (wĭnd); pl. WOOD WINDS. Music. A wood-wind instrument; in the pl., the wood-wind instruments of an orchestra, collectively. See WIND INSTRUMENT. — wood'–wind', adj.
wood'–wind' in'stru·ments. See WIND INSTRUMENT. wood–wind, or wood, quartet. Music. A quartet of wood-wind instruments.
wood–wind, or wood, quintet. Music. A quintet of wind instruments, in general of wood winds, but sometimes including a French horn.
wood'wise' (wŏŏd'wīz'), adj. Wise in woodcraft. Rare.
wood wool. Lumbering. Fine wood shavings or prepared wood fiber used as a substitute for hair in plaster and, when specially prepared, as a surgical dressing.
wood'work' (wŏŏd'wŭrk'), n. a Work made of wood; esp., interior fittings of wood, as moldings, stairways, etc. See MILLWORK. b Work in wood; carpentry, joinery, etc.
wood'work'er (-wŭr'kĕr), n. 1. A carpenter, joiner, cabinetmaker, or other person who works in wood.
2. A woodworking machine for various kinds of work, consisting of planer and circular saw, with attachments for dadoing, routing, gaining, boring, mortising, etc.
wood'work'ing, adj. Working or shaping things of wood. — wood'work'ing, n.
woodworking chisel. A chisel made of tool steel of a shape and temper suitable for shaping wood by chiseling. A firmer (chisel) has a handle, usually capped with leather, suitable to be driven by a mallet. A paring chisel has a somewhat shorter blade, and is driven by hand pressure. Woodworking chisels may be of the socket or of the tang type. The socket chisel has a conical opening in the end of the shank that receives the handle; it is well adapted for use as a firmer chisel. The shank of a tang chisel tapers off to a point, the tang end being driven into the handle. A firmer or paring chisel usually is either straight-edged or a gouge. The straight-edged chisel may have square or beveled sides, according to which the chisel may be designated as square-edged or bevel-edged. The cutting edge of a firmer or of a gouge or paring gouge usually lies in a plane perpendicular to the shank, and is curved to form an arc of a circle. Gouges (see GOUGE, n., 1 a) are classified according to sweep and the direction of bevel. A gouge has a regular sweep when the radius of its cutting edge is small as compared to that of a flat sweep; it has a middle sweep when its radius lies between the two extremes. A turning chisel is used to shape work while rotating in a lathe. The handle of the turning chisel is long and of a shape to be easily controlled when turning. Turning chisels are classified as gouge (or turning gouge), skew, round-nose, flat (or flat chisel), and parting. A turning chisel of the gouge type is beveled on the outside edge and has a cutting edge lying in a plane inclined to the shank. It is suitable for roughing cuts. A skew chisel has its straight cutting edge at an angle to the shank; it is beveled from both of its flat sides and is suitable for finishing operations. The parting chisel is a turning chisel which tapers lengthwise of the shank from the center to each edge to provide clearance, the cutting edge being a straight line in the center of the tool and being provided with rake both in the up and down directions. It is used for separating finished work from the stock. A chisel is designated as diamond-point when it is a flat chisel ground to a point that takes a thread-like cut. It is useful for cutting hard spots in the wood. The finishing chisels are flat, and are classified as round-nose (suitable for turning grooves and hollows), straight-front, right-hand and left-hand (used for finishing corners, undercutting, etc.). Cf. RIPPING CHISEL, SIZING TOOL. woodworking lathe. Mach. A lathe for turning wood, as a hand lathe, a face lathe, or a combination lathe. See LATHE, n., 1. wood'worm' (wŏŏd'wûrm'), n. A larva that bores in wood; a wood borer. wood'wose' (wŏŏd'wōs'; -ŭs), n. [AS. wuduwāsa.] A satyr, faun, or wild man, esp. as represented in drama or decoration. Obs. exc. Hist.
wood wren. a European wood warbler. b Willow warbler. wood'y (wŏŏd'ĭ), adj.; WOOD'I·ER (-I·ĕr); WOOD'I·EST. [AS. wudig.] 1. Abounding with wood or woods; overgrown with wood; as, woody land.
2. Of or containing wood or woody fiber; ligneous.
3. Of or pertaining to woods; sylvan. Rare.
Woody nymphs, fair hamadryades. Spencer.
4. Like, or characteristic of, wood; as, a woody taste.
wood'y (wŭd'ĭ; wŏŏd'ĭ). Scot. var. of WITHY. wood'yard' (wŏŏd'yärd'), n. A yard for storing or sawing wood.
woody aster. A woody herb (Xylorrhiza parryi), family Carduaceae, of the western United States, very poisonous to sheep. woody fiber. Bot. a Woody tissue, or xylem. b A wood fiber.
woody fungus. Any of the basidiomycetes having a woody sporophore.
woody nightshade. = BITTERSWEET, 3 a. woody pear. = WOODEN PEAR.
woody tongue. Veter. Actinomycosis of cattle. woo'er (wōo'ĕr), n. [AS. wōgere. See WOO, v. t.] One who woos; one who courts or solicits in love; a suitor. woo'er–bab' (wōo'ĕr·băb'), n. A garter tied below the knee as a love knot. Scot.
woof (wōof), n. [ME. oof, fr. AS. ōwef, fr. on on + wefan to weave. The initial w is due to the influence of E. weave. See ON; WEAVE. Cf. ABB.] 1. The threads that cross the warp in a woven fabric; the weft; the filling; the thread usually carried by the shuttle in weaving.
2. Texture; cloth; as, a pall of softest woof.
woof, v. t. To weave in the manner of a woof crossing a warp; loosely, to weave. Rare.
woof (wŏŏf), n. [Imitative. Cf. 3d WOUGH.] A low gruff sound, as of a suppressed bark. — v. i. To make a woof.
woofed (wōoft), adj. Crossed or intertwined as a woof.
woo'fell (wōo'fĕl), n. The European blackbird. woof'y (wōof'ĭ), adj. Of close texture; dense; as, a woofy cloud. woo'hoo' (wōo'hōō'), n. [Am. Sp. quebucú. See GURBUCU.] The sailfish (Istiophorus). woo'ing (wōo'ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WOO. Hence: adj. That woos, or courts. — woo'ing·ly, adv.
wool (wŏŏl), n. [ME. wolle, wulle, fr. AS. wull; akin to D. wol, OHG. wolla, G. wolle, ON. ull, Dan. uld, Goth. wulla, Lith. vilna, Skr. ūrṇā, L. lana wool, lanugo down, Gr. lēnos wool, OIr. olann, L. vellus fleece. Cf. FLANNEL, VELVET.] 1. The soft and curled, or crisped, covering or coat of domesticated sheep and some other animals; esp., that of sheep, which constitutes, next to cotton, the most important material of clothing. Wool proper is borne by wild species of sheep only as a short undercoat concealed by hair, and its development in domesticated sheep is due to long-continued selective breeding. It is distinguished from hair by the character of its covering of minute overlapping scales or plates, to which is due its felting property. There are imperceptible gradations between hair and wool, however, and neglected wool-bearing animals tend to produce an increasing amount of hair. Wool, like hair, is an outgrowth of the epidermis and consists essentially of keratin, and in its natural state contains fatty matter called yolk or suint (which see). Its quality has been greatly improved by careful breeding and crossing of breeds bearing fine wool with those bearing long wool. Wool from different parts of the body differs greatly in length of fiber, fineness, and structure. Wools are variously graded, as on the basis of length of staple, fineness, luster, elasticity, color, etc. The three main classes on the basis of staple are: (1) carding, or clothing, wools, or those of the Merino type, in which felting qualities are desired; (2) combing wools, in which length of staple is required; and (3) miscellaneous wools, long, strong, coarse wools used for carpets, blankets, and coarse clothing, and sometimes called carpet, or blanket, wools.
2. Material, esp. clothing, made from wool.
3. Short, thick hair, esp. when crisped or curled.
Wool of bat and tongue of dog. Shak.
4. Any flocculent substance; something light and fleecy or downy like wool; as, glass wool; asbestos wool; carbon wool, a filamentous mass of carbon produced in some forms wood'ward'ship, n. See -SHIP. wood'ware', n. = WOODENWARE. wood'wright', n. = WOODWORKER. wood'wroth', adj. Angered to the point of madness. Obs. Scot. wood'y-stemmed', adj. See -STEMMED. wooe. Var. of WOOS, 3d sing. pres. of WOO. woof work. Woven work. Obs. wook. Obs. past tense of WAKE.

of coke furnaces. Specif.: a Bot. Any dense, felted pubescence on the surface of plants; tomentum. b The thick furry or hairy coat of some insects, as hairy caterpillars; also, the flocculent waxy secretion of certain scale insects.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

wool-backed	wool extractor	wool-o'erburdened
wool-bearing, adj.	wool feeder	wool-pated wool breaker	wool fiber	wool-picking, adj.
wool-bundling, adj.	wool former	wool-producing, adj.
wool burler	wool-fringed	wool-rearing, adj.
wool-burring, adj.	wool-growing, adj.	wool sampler wool-cleaning, adj.	wool hardener	wool-white wool crepe	wool-laden	wool-witted wool-drying, adj.	wool-lined	wool-woofed wool-eating, adj.

— against the wool. Against the direction of the natural texture of wool; hence, against the grain. — great, or much, cry and little wool. See in phrases under CRY, n. — in one's wool. In one's hair, as if to pull it and torment one. Cf. on one's back, under BACK, n. Colloq. — to dye in the wool. To dye the wool before spinning or weaving it; hence, to dye, or imbue as with dye, thoroughly. — to pull the wool over one's eyes. See under PULL, v.

wool (wŏŏl), adj. Of, pertaining to, or concerned with, wool or woolen goods, esp. in their manufacture, storage, transportation, or sale.

wool, v. t. 1. To cover, line, or stuff with wool. Rare. 2. To pull or tousle the hair of; to trick. Slang, U. S.

wool (wŏŏl). Dial. Eng. var. of WILL, v.

wool card. A small hand machine with bent wire teeth for carding wool. — wool carder. — wool carding. — wool'-card'ing, adj.

wool chiffon. A very sheer woolen fabric. See CHIFFON, n., 2 b.

wool classer. A wool grader. Australia.

wool classing. Wool grading. Australia.

wool clip. The annual production, or crop of wool; as, Australian wool clip.

wool comb. A wool card. — wool comber. — wool combing. — wool'-comb'ing, adj.

woold (wŏŏld), v. t.; WOOLD'ED; WOOLD'ING. [D. woelen, bewoelen, where G. wuhlen, bewuhlen.] Naut. To wind, or wrap; esp., to wind a rope or chain round, as a mast or yard sprung or made of two or more pieces, at the place where it has been fished or scarfed, to strengthen it.

woold'er (wŏŏl'dĕr), n. 1. Chiefly Naut. A stick used to tighten a rope at a knot, as in wooldingg. 2. Ropemaking. One of the handles of the top, formed by a wooden pin passing through it; — commonly called woolder stick. See 5th TOP, 2.

woold'ing, n. Act of winding or wrapping with a cord, rope, or the like; specif.: Naut. a Act of winding or wrapping with rope or chain, as a mast or spar. b A rope or chain so used.

wool driver. A purchaser of wool for the market. Eng.

wool'-dyed' (wŏŏl'dīd'), adj. Dyed before being made into cloth, in distinction from piece-dyed; ingrain.

wool eating. See PICA, n., 2.

wooled, woolled (wŏŏld), adj. 1. Having wool of a specified quality; — chiefly in composition; as, a long-wooled sheep. 2. Bearing wool, as the skin of a slaughtered sheep or lamb from which the wool has not been removed.

wool'en, wool'len (wŏŏl'ĕn; -ĭn; 119), adj. [ME. wollen, fr. AS. wullen; cf. AS. wyllen. See WOOL.] 1. Of wool; like wool in texture, appearance etc.; of, pertaining to, or made of wool or woolen. 2. Of or pertaining to wool or woolen cloths; as, woolen manufactures; a woolen mill; a woolen draper. 3. Wearing clothes of homespun woolen instead of silks, velvets, and the like; hence, Obs., boorish; vulgar.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

woolen-clad, woolen-frocked, woolen-stockinged.

wool'en, wool'len, n. 1. a Any woven or knitted fabric made of wool, esp., one of coarse, rough, or loosely woven wool; also, pl., garments made from such a fabric. b Specif., a fabric made of woolen (in sense 2), the yarn. Woolens are usually subjected to finishing processes after weaving, as napping, fulling, or calendering. Broadcloth and tweed are representative woolens. 2. A rough fleecy yarn esp. for weaving, spun from carded short-stapled wool, shoddy, or mungo, and distinguished from worsted by its entangled fibers and projecting ends; also, a mixed, or union, yarn of similar character.

woolen draper. One who deals in woolens.

woolen drapery. Woolen goods, in general; also, a place where woolen goods are dealt in.

wool'en·et', wool'en·ette' (wŏŏl'ĕn·ĕt'; -ĭn-), n. A thin fabric of wool.

wool'en·ize, wool'len·ize (wŏŏl'ĕn·īz; -ĭn-), v. t. To render (some material, as wood fiber) like wool; to treat in such a way as to cause a resemblance to wool. — wool'en·i·za'tion, wool'len·i·za'tion (-ĭ·zā'shŭn; -ĭ·zā'-), n.

woolen mill. A mill in which woolen goods of various kinds, esp. woolen clothes, are manufactured.

wool'en-wit'ted, wool'len-wit'ted (66), adj. Dull of wit. Obs.

woo'lert (wōō'lĕrt), n. [Cf. dial. owlard, owlet, howlet.] The barn owl. Local, Eng.

wool extract. = EXTRACT WOOL.

wool fast blue BL. See DYE, Table.

wool fat or grease. A fatlike substance coating the surface of the fibers of sheep's wool, extracted by organic solvents or by scouring with soap. That obtained by scouring is called also Yorkshire grease, recovered grease, etc., and may contain oils added to lubricate the wool and fatty acids from the soap used. Wool fat actually belongs rather to the waxes than to the fats, since it contains chiefly esters of cholesterol and other higher alcohols with certain fatty acids, together with free fatty acids, a small amount of free alcohols, etc. See LANOLIN.

wool'fell' (wŏŏl'fĕl'), n. [wool + fell a skin.] A skin from which the wool has not been sheared or pulled.

Woolf engine (wŏŏlf). Mach. The first practical compound engine, introduced by Woolf, an English engineer, in 1804. Hornblower conceived the idea in 1781, but was restricted by Watt's patents. The term is now generally applied to a compound engine having no receiver.

wool'-flock' (wŏŏl'flŏk'), n. A flock, or lock, of wool; also, a low grade of wool.

wool'gath'er·ing (wŏŏl'găth'ĕr·ĭng), n. Act of gathering wool, as that found in tufts caught on bushes, etc.; figuratively, act of indulging in vagrant fancies; foolish or purposeless thinking or imagining. — adj. Indulging in idle fancies; idly imaginative. — wool'gath'er·er (-ĕr), n.

wool grader. One who grades or classes fleeces; a wool classer.

wool grades. U. S. An official classification of wool fibers according to their diameter, as established by a series of standard samples in the custody of the United States Department of Agriculture. There were formerly seven named grades (see BLOOD, n., 17), but these have been superseded by twelve, designated by numbers.

wool grading. The separation of whole fleeces, according to quality, condition, soundness, and color, into lots similar in character and value; wool classing.

wool grass. a An American sedge or bulrush (Scirpus cyperinus) with numerous clustered woolly spikelets. b Ravenna grass.

wool grease. See WOOL FAT.

wool green. See DYE, Table.

wool'grow'er (wŏŏl'grō'ĕr), n. One who raises sheep for the production of wool. — wool'grow'ing, n.

wool hall. A trade market in the woolen districts. Eng.

wool hardener. See HARDENER.

wool'head' (wŏŏl'hĕd'), n. The bufflehead. Local, U. S.

wool'ly (wŏŏl'ĭ), adj.; WOOL'LI·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WOOL'LI·EST. Also wool'y. 1. Consisting of, of the nature of, or like, wool; as, a woolly covering; a woolly fleece. "My fleece of woolly hair." Shak. 2. Clothed with wool; bearing wool. "Woolly breeders." Shak. 3. Having a covering of hair like or suggesting wool; fuzzy; as, a woolly black head. 4. Colloq. a Wanting in clearness, sharpness of outline, or the like; confused; blurred; as, woolly thinking, phrases, argument. Cf. sense 7 c below. b Woolgathering. 5. Characterized by the atmosphere and spirit of the West in frontier times; hence, marked by or attended with unusual excitement, or exciting incidents; as, a woolly melodrama; a wild and woolly escapade. Colloq., U. S. 6. Of a voice, utterance, or the like, stuffy; choked, as by a cold. 7. Technical uses: a Bot. Lanate. b Lumber Trade. Stringy or fuzzy as lumber that does not dress with a smooth surface; — a term sometimes applied to cottonwood lumber. c Painting, Drawing, etc. Lacking in firmness or clarity; as, a woolly line.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

woolly-butted	woolly-mindedness	woolly-tailed woolly-coated	woolly-pated	woolly-white woolly-looking	woolly-podded	woolly-witted woolly-minded

— wool'li·ness, n.

wool'ly, n.; pl. WOOLLIES (-ĭz). 1. A sheep. Western U. S. 2. A garment made from wool; esp., Chiefly pl., underclothing of knitted wool. Slang.

woolly alder aphid. = ALDER BLIGHT.

woolly ant. A velvet ant.

woolly aphid or aphis. Any of several plant lice of the genus Eriosoma which are covered with a dense coat of white filaments somewhat resembling fine wool or cotton; esp., E. lanigerum, which is often a serious pest of the apple tree. It exists in two forms, one of which infests the roots, the other the branches. See BLIGHT, 2, Illust.

woolly apple aphid. The woolly aphid Eriosoma lanigerum.

woolly bear. 1. The hairy larva of several bombycid moths, as of various tiger moths (see ARCTIDAE). The most common species in the United States are the salt-marsh caterpillar, the black-and-red larva (woolly bear caterpillar) of the Isabella moth, and the yellow larva (yellow woolly bear) of the American ermine moth (Diacrisia virginica). 2. A German shrapnel shell of large caliber, used in the World War, that exploded with a big puff of brownish-black smoke. Cf. BLACK MARIA. Slang.

woolly beard grass. Any grass of the genus Erianthus; — so called from the silky hairs clothing the spikes.

woolly bent. = SAND GRASS b.

woolly buckeye. A small tree or shrub (Aesculus discolor) of the southern United States, with tomentose leaves, and often cultivated for its red and yellow flowers.

woolly butt or but. a An Australian eucalypt (Eucalyptus longifolia) having hard wood used for many purposes. The bark of old trees is fibrous. b = BASTARD MAHOGANY a. c The blackbutt Eucalyptus pilularis.

woolly crazyweed. = WOOLLY LOCOWEED.

woolly croton. The hogwort.

woolly elephant's-foot. A woolly, perennial herb (Elephantopus tomentosus) of the southeastern United States, with bluish-purple flowers; — called also tobaccoweed.

woolly fleece. A cirro-cumulus (cloud).

woolly foot, woolly foot grama. A valuable grazing grass (Bouteloua eriopoda) found in arid regions of the United States and adjacent Mexico; — from its woolly base.

woolly gum. The blackbutt Eucalyptus pilularis.

wool'ly-haired' (wŏŏl'ĭ·hârd'; 66), adj. Having woolly hair; ulotrichous.

wool'ly·head' (-hĕd'), n. A negro. Slang.

woolly head. a In the southeastern United States, an impenetrable thicket of rhododendron or mountain laurel. b In South Africa, any everlasting of the genus Eriocephalus (family Carduaceae), esp. the woolly flower head of these plants.

wool'ly-head'ed (-hĕd'ĕd; -ĭd; 66; 119), adj. Woolly-haired.

woolly-headed grass. See GRASS, Table.

woolly-headed thistle. = WOOL THISTLE.

wool'ly·ish (wŏŏl'ĭ·ĭsh), adj. Slightly woolly in appearance, nature, etc.

woolly knot. Plant Pathol. A crown-gall tumor from which many fine roots are formed. Cf. HAIRY ROOT.

wool'ly-leaved' (-lēvd'; 66), adj. Having leaves with a woolly appearance or covering.

woolly lemur. The avahi.

woolly locoweed. A perennial herb (Astragalus mollissimus) of the western United States, with compound leaves and dense spikes of violet-purple flowers. Its foliage is poisonous to cattle.

woolly louse. = WOOLLY APHID.

woolly manzanita. A tomentose, Californian shrub Arctostaphylos tomentosus) with white or pink flowers and brownish-red fruit. It is common in the chaparral.

woolly monkey. A monkey of the genus Lagothrix. See LAGOTHRIX.

woolly opossum. See OPOSSUM, 1. woolly painted cup. A white-woolly, somewhat shrubby Californian herb (Castilleja foliolosa), with greenish-yellow flowers.

woolly pink. The corn cockle.

woolly plant louse. A woolly aphid.

wool'ly py'rol (pī'rŏl). = URD. Trinidad.

woolly ragwort. The ashwort.

woolly rhinoceros. An extinct two-horned rhinoceros (Opsiceros antiquitatis, syn. Rhinoceros tichorhinus) which inhabited the arctic regions during the Pleistocene. It had a dense coat of woolly hair. It has been found frozen in the ice of Siberia, with the flesh and hair well preserved.

woolly root. = HAIRY ROOT.

woolly soft grass. Velvet grass.

woolly sweet cicely. The sweet javril.

woolly thistle. a The cotton thistle. b A thistle (Cirsium flodmanii) of western North America, with white-woolly leaves.

woolly white fly. A white fly (Aleurothrixus howardi), widespread in the warmer countries of the New World, injurious to citrus fruits, guavas, and other trees.

woolly worm. a The larva of any sawfly that covers itself with a white woolly secretion, as the larva of Erythraspides caryae, which feeds upon the hickory and butternut. b A woolly bear. See WOOLLY BEAR, 1.

Woolly Worm (Erythraspides caryae). a Natural State; b Same with Secretion removed. Slightly reduced.

wool'man (wŏŏl'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A dealer in wool.

wool mill. = WOOLEN MILL.

wool moth. A clothes moth.

wool needle. A blunt needle with a long eye, adapted for woolen and worsted work.

wool oil. a Any oil used for oiling wool before spinning. b An oily substance occurring in wool fiber. If it is removed the fiber becomes harsh and brittle. c An oil obtained from wool fat, as by distillation with steam.

wool oiler. See OILER.

wool'pack' (wŏŏl'păk'), n. 1. A wrapper, of canvas, cotton, wool, etc., for holding wool; also, the wool so wrapped. 2. = WOOLSACK. 3. Something resembling or likened to a woolpack (sense 1), as a foaming ocean breaker. 4. Meteor. A rounded cumulus cloud springing from a horizontal base.

wool packer. a One who packs wool for market into or as into woolpacks. b = WOOL TABLE. — wool'-pack'ing, adj.

wool powder. Fine dust obtained from dry wool, used as flock in coating wallpaper, etc.

wool'press' (wŏŏl'prĕs'), n. A kind of press used in packing wool.

wool'sack' (-săk'), n. A sack for or of wool; specif., the seat of the English Lord Chancellor in the House of Lords, a sack of wool in shape like a divan; hence, by extension, the office of Lord Chancellor.

wool scour. A place for scouring wool. Colloq., Australia.

wool'sey (wŏŏl'zĭ), n. [From LINSEY-WOOLSEY.] Linsey-woolsey. — wool'sey, adj.

wool'shears' (-shēr'z'), n. pl. Shears designed for clipping the wool from sheep. — wool'shear'er (-shēr'ĕr), n. — wool'shear'ing, adj. & n.

wool'shed' (-shĕd'), n. A building or range of buildings, as on an Australian sheep station, in which sheep are sheared and wool is prepared for market.

wool'skin' (-skĭn'), n. A sheepskin having the wool still on it.

wool'sort'er (-sôr'tĕr), n. One who sorts wool. Cf. WOOL GRADES. — wool'sort'ing, adj. & n.

wool'sow'er (-sō'ĕr), n. A multicellular gall on the white oak, made by a gallfly (Andricus seminator), in which each cell is covered by a coating of woolly filaments.

wool spinner. One who or that which spins wool. — wool spinning. — wool'-spin'ning, adj.

wool sponge. A soft-fibered durable commercial sponge, esp. Hippospongia canaliculata gossypina occurring in the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea, and off the southeast coast of Florida.

wool staple. A staple for wool. Eng.

wool stapler. a One who deals in wool. b One who sorts wool according to its staple, or its adaptation to different manufacturing purposes. — wool'-sta'pling, adj.

wool'stock' (wŏŏl'stŏk'), n. A heavy wooden hammer for milling cloth.

wool stripper. See STRIPPER.

wool table. A strong table with various devices for collecting and bundling loose wool for marketing.

wool thistle, wool'ly-head'ed this'tle. A tall European thistle (Carduus eriophorus) having densely lanose heads; — called also friar's-crown, friar's-thistle.

wool tree. The silk-cotton tree (Ceiba pentandra); also, any other tree of the same genus.

wool'u·lose (wŏŏl'ū·lōs), n. [wool + cellulose.] A yarn resembling wool made from cellulose.

wool'wash'er (wŏŏl'wŏsh'ĕr), n. One who washes or scours raw wool.

wool waste. A part of the original raw material discarded, at least temporarily, during manufacture. Soft wastes, those rejected during the early handling, as in combing, carding, etc., are not usually far enough advanced in manufacture to need disintegration before use again. Hard wastes, rejected during the later processes, as spinning, spooling, winding, warping, and weaving, have had a twist inserted in them and are known as thread or yarn wastes. These must be treated to reduce them to a fibrous condition before reworking.

wool wax. = WOOL FAT.

wool'weed' (wŏŏl'wēd'), n. Any plant of the genus Eriocaulon; — more often called pipewort.

wool'wheel' (-hwēl'), n. A kind of spinning wheel for spinning wool.

Wool'wich beds (wŏŏl'ĭj). [From Woolwich, metropolitan bor. of London.] Geol. A series of argillaceous and sandy deposits of lower Eocene age, located in the London and Hampshire basins. Cf. READING BEDS.

wool'wind'er (wŏŏl'wĭn'dĕr), n. One who packs fleeces.

wool'-wit'ted, adj. Woolly-witted.

wool'work' (wŏŏl'wûrk'), n. Needlework done with wool, esp. that done on canvas and made in imitation of tapestry. — wool'work'er (-wûr'kĕr), n. — wool'work'ing, adj. & n.

wool'y (wŏŏl'ĭ), adj. Woolly. — wool'y, n.

woom (wōōm), n. Beaver fur. Cant.

wool'-blade', n. Mullein. Obs.

wool'graith'er, n. [See GRAITH, v. t.] A preparer of wool. Obs.

wool'-hetch'el, n. = WOOL CARD. Dial. [a sheep. Western U. S.

wool'ie (wŏŏl'ĭ). Var. of WOOLLY, wool'i·ness. Var of WOOLLINESS. [WOOLED, etc.]

woolled, wool'len, etc. Vars. of wool'len·i·za'tion, wool'len·ize. Vars. of WOOLENIZATION, WOOLENIZE.

wool'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wool'lish, adj. = WOOLLY. Obs. wool'mon'ger (wŏŏl'mŭng'gĕr), n. A dealer in wool. See -MONGER. Obs.

Wool'ner's tu'ber·cle, point, or tip (wŏŏl'nĕrz). = DARWINIAN TUBERCLE.

wool'-pat'ed (wŏŏl'păt'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj. = WOOLLY-PATED.

wool'sort'er's dis·ease' (wŏŏl'sôr'tĕrz). = ANTHRAX, 2 c.

Wool'wa (wŏŏl'wä), n. = 2d ULVA.

wool'ward (wŏŏl'wĕrd), adj. & adv. [wool + -ward.] In wool; with woolen next the skin. Obs.

wool'ward·go'ing, n. Penitential wearing of woolen clothes next the skin. Obs. [wool. Obs.

wool'web'ster, n. A weaver of woom. † WOMB; VOMIT, vomit.

woo'mer (wōō'mĕr), n. = WOMERA.

woo'mer·a, woo'mer·ah (wōō'mĕr·ä). Vars. of WOMERA.

N O P Q R S T U V W

woon (wōōn), n. Also wun. [Burmese wun, lit., burden.] A Burmese governor or administrative officer; — usually in compounds, as woon'-gyee', or wun'-gyi' (-gyē'), a great minister, a member of the council of state; may'-woon' (mī'wōōn'), or my'o-wun' (mī'ō-wōōn'), provincial governor. India.

woon (wōōn). Var. of WON, abode. Obs. exc. Dial.

woon. Obs. past part. of WIN.

woons (wōōnz), interj. An exclamation used as a mild oath. Cf. OONS.

woosh (wōōsh), n. [Imitative.] Soft swishing sound, as of rain and wind through the trees. Rare.

wootz (wōōts), n., wootz steel. [Orig. error for wook, fr. Kanarese ukku steel.] A species of steel made anciently in India by crude methods in small crucibles; India, or Indian, steel. It has a high temper and is suitable for edge tools. The process is the oldest known for making fused steel.

woo'zle (wōōz'z'l), v. i. To talk vaguely or indefinitely; to express oneself without clarity and definiteness. Colloq.

wooz'y (wōōz'ĭ; wōōz'-), adj. [Cf. OOZY.] Befuddled by or as by liquor; loosely, flaccid; flabby; shaky; trembly; sometimes, grotesque; strange and curious. Slang.

wop (wŏp), n. [It. (Sicilian & Neapolitan dial.) guappo, fr. Sp. guapo bold, handsome, a bully, a dandy.] An Italian; a Dago; sometimes, any unskilled laborer, or the like, of foreign extraction and dark complexion. Usually Derogatory, U. S. — wop'pish (wŏp'ĭsh), adj.

wop (wŏp), n. [AS. wōp.] Weeping. Obs.

wop. Obs. past tense of WEEP.

wop (wŏp). Dial. var. of WHOP.

wops, wopse (wŏps). Dial. vars. of WASP.

wop'y (wŏp'ĭ), n. [AS. wōpig.] Tearful. Obs.

wor'ble (wôr'b'l), n. A warble.

worces'ter (wŏōs'tĕr), n. Woolen cloth of fine grade, originating in Worcester, Eng., about the 14th century.

Worcester china or porcelain. China or porcelain made at Worcester, England, from 1751; — now called also Royal Worcester by reason of a royal warrant.

Worces'ter-shire sauce (wŏōs'tĕr-shĭr; -shēr). A pungent sauce, orig. made in Worcester, England, consisting of soy, vinegar, and many other ingredients; — called also Worcester sauce.

word (wûrd), n. [AS.; akin to OFris. & OS. word, D. woord, G. wort, ON. orth, Sw. & Dan. ord, Goth. waurd, Lith. vardas a name, L. verbum a word, Gr. eirein to say, rhēma a word, rhētōr an orator. Cf RHEMATIC, RHETORIC, VERB, VERVE.] 1. That which is said; as, honorable in word and in deed; esp., a brief remark or expression; as, a word of advice.

All the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Gal. v. 14.

2. An utterance considered as implying the faith or authority of the person who utters it; statement; affirmation; declaration; promise; as, he pledged himself on his word to be present. "Keep thy word justly." Shak.

3. A saying or proverb; adage; maxim; motto. Archaic.

The device he bears upon his shield
Is a black Ethiope reaching at the sun:
The word, "Lux tua vita mihi." Shak.

4. Account; tidings; report; message; also, communication; information; — used only in the singular.

I pray you . . . bring me word thither
How the world goes. Shak.

5. Fame; report; repute; talk. Archaic

6. A password, watchword, or verbal signal; also, an order; command; direction; as, to give the word.

7. Chiefly pl. Talk; discourse; speech; language; in a vocal musical composition, the text as distinguished from the notes.

Be thy words severe;
Sharp as he merits, but the sword forbear. Dryden.

8. pl. Verbal contention; dispute.

Some words there grew 'twixt Somerset and me. Shak.

9. An articulate sound or series of sounds which, through conventional association with some fixed meaning, symbolizes and communicates an idea, without being divisible into smaller units capable of independent use; that is, the smallest unit of speech that has meaning when taken by itself; a vocable. Thus the combination of vocables, clouds disappear, though expressing a logical unit (a judgment), is not an ultimate sense unit, since it is divisible into two terms that can be used independently; but the -s of clouds and the dis- of disappear, though ultimate sense units, are not independent units, since they can be used only in combination; and the phonetic units (syllables) -ap- and -pear are not now units of sense at all (though they were in Latin, from which the word comes). It is to be noted that, while appear is a word, it cannot be so regarded in the combination clouds disappear, since dis-, which cannot stand alone, would be left as a separate word. Hence clouds and disappear are the only units here that have all the characteristics of words. A word may be, as to origin, radical (as cloud, run, white) or derivative (as cloudy, cloudiness); as to form, inflectional (as clouds, walked), and either simple (as man) or compound (as manservant). Words are presentational when they present ideas as terms of thought (as cloud, run, white); relational, when they express the relationships between the terms of thought (as of, shall, to). See SEMANTEME, MORPHEME. In an inflected language, the addition of inflectional suffixes or prefixes to a given base does not create different words if the part of speech is unchanged, but only different forms of the same word; thus, mans, manning, manned are merely forms of one word, the verb man; man's, men, men's are forms of one word, the noun man. In Latin, hominis, hominem, etc., are forms of the same word, although the base homin- does not exist as a word.

We cannot, therefore, attempt any definition of the word which shall be applicable to all languages, except perhaps the definition proposed by M. Meillet, which purposely avoids any explanation of the grammatical use and its expression: "A word is the result of the association of a given meaning with a given combination of sounds, capable of a given grammatical use." Vendryes.

10. Hence, the written or printed character, or combination of characters, expressing such a unit of discourse; as, the words on a page.

11. Anthropol. A spoken sound which, under given circumstances, has magic power in itself, and the use of which by the shaman or, often, by anyone, causes that power to act automatically upon the desired objective.

12. Theol. Often with the: a The gospel message; esp. [sometimes cap.], the Scriptures, as a revelation of God. "Bold to speak the word without fear." Phil. i. 14. b [cap.] The Logos (which see); the divine Wisdom, esp. as finding manifestation in the world and man, and above all in Jesus Christ (John i. 1–5, 9–14); the Second Person of the Trinity. c Conscience.

Syn. — Remark, comment; pledge, avowal; news, intelligence. See TERM.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

word-beat, v.	word-conjuring, adj.	word-perfect, adj.
word-breaking, adj.	word-dearthing, adj.	word-pity, v.
word-charged	word-juggling, adj.	word-selling, adj.
word-clad	word-keeping, adj.	wordsmith word-compelling, adj.	wordmaker	word-splitting, adj.
	wordmaking	word-wounded

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES, in which word is the terminal element:

backword	crossword	head word blend-word	cuss word	nayword byword	foreword	password catchword	ghost word	watchword

— at a word. At a single word of command, request, suggestion, etc.; hence, speedily; immediately. — by word of mouth. Orally; by actual speaking. — fair words. Conciliatory or friendly words; esp., flattery; as, he spoke me fair words, and I believed him. Archaic. — good word. a Favorable mention; as, to speak a good word for him. b Colloq. Good news; — used in familiar greeting; as, what's the good word? — in a few words. Briefly. — in a, or one, word. In short; to sum up. — in so many words. Literally, in that (specified) number of words; hence, outrightly, bluntly; as, I told him in so many words just how the affair stood; also, in just those words (mentioned). — in word. In declaration; in profession. "Let us not love in word, . . . but in deed and in truth." 1 John iii. 18. — of few words. Taciturn; as, a man of few words. — of many words. Verbose; as, a man of many words. — the last word. a The final remark or utterance, as in an argument; as, in their frequent disputes she always managed to have the last word. b Slang. The latest thing, as in mode or style; as, a hat that is positively the last word. c The ultimate authority; as, he is the last word in dramatic criticism. — to have the words for. To be spokesman for. Obs. — to have words. To quarrel or dispute. Colloq.

word (wûrd), adj. Of or pertaining to a word or words; dealing in or done by means of words.

word (wûrd), v.; WORD'ED; WORD'ING. [Cf. AS. wordian to speak.] Transitive: 1. To express in words; to phrase.

The apology . . . worded with greater deference. Addison.

2. To ply with words; also, to cause to be or affect by or in the use of a word or words. Obs.

3. To flatter with words; to cajole. Obs.

—, Intransitive: To use words; to speak; discourse; argue. Archaic or Dial.

word it. To bandy words; to dispute. Rare.

word'a-ble (wûr'dȧ-b'l), adj. Expressible in words. — word'a-bly, adv.

word accent. Phonet. a Accent that distinguishes syllables within a word; word stress. Cf. SENTENCE STRESS. b = 2d TONE, 9 b.

word'age (wûr'dĭj), n. The using of words; also, words, collectively.

Their abundant summery wordage silenced. D. H. Lawrence.

word'-blind', adj. Psychol. Affected with word blindness.

word blindness. A condition, sometimes found after brain injuries, in which the patient is no longer able to recognize the words that he sees.

word'book' (wûrd'bŏŏk'), n. [Cf. D. woordenboek, G. wörterbuch.] 1. A book containing a collection of words; a vocabulary; dictionary; lexicon.

2. A libretto, as of an opera.

word'-bound', adj. 1. Not fluent; taciturn, either because of a limited vocabulary or an unwillingness to talk.

2. Bound by an oath, or promise.

word'build'ing (wûrd'bĭl'dĭng), n. The forming of words; as, a wordbuilding competition in which from the letters in a given word or phrase the competitors make as many words as they can.

word'-catch'er, n. a One who collects words and the different senses of words; — applied humorously or derogatorily to a lexicographer. b One who cavils at words. — word'-catch'ing, n.

word contest. A kind of contest in which the contestants form as many words as possible from the letters contained in a specified word, phrase, or sentence.

word'craft' (wûrd'krȧft'), n. [word + -craft.] Skill in the use of words, as in literary composition or in oratory. — word'crafts'man (-krȧfts'mȧn), n.

word'-deaf' (wûrd'dĕf'), adj. Suffering from word deafness.

word deafness. See DEAFNESS.

word'ed (wûr'dĕd; -dĭd; 119), adj. Expressed in words; framed in spoken or written language; as, a complex idea worded so that all could understand; — often in combination; as, long-worded.

Wor'den (wûr'd'n), n. [Originated about 1865 by Schuyler Worden, of Oswego Co., N. Y.] A bluish-black American grape derived from the Concord but ripening earlier.

word'er (wûr'dĕr), n. One who words something; one who puts something into written or spoken words; sometimes, Obs., a verbose person.

word form. = FORM, n., 25.

word for word. In the exact words; verbatim; literally; exactly; as, to repeat anything word for word. — word'-for-word', adj.

word hoard. [After AS. wordhord. See WORD; HOARD.] Store of words; vocabulary; speech; — used chiefly in allusion to the Anglo-Saxon metaphor "to unlock one's word hoard," that is, to speak.

Anglo-Saxon . . . unlocked the word hoard, a word hoard still very much in the rough. Saintsbury.

word'ing (wûr'dĭng), n. 1. Act of talking, esp. in discussion or argument; hence, wrangling. Rare.

2. Expression, or act or manner of expressing, in words; phrasing; as, the happy wording of an idea.

She pitied him today beyond wording. James Branch Cabell.

word'ish (-dĭsh), adj. Pertaining to, or full of, words; wordy; verbose. Rare. — word'ish-ly, adv. — word'ish-ness, n. Rare.

The truth they hide by their dark wordishness. Sir K. Digby.

word'-job'ber (wûrd'jŏb'ĕr), n. One who trades or deals in words; specif., a hack writer.

wor'dle (wôr'd'l), n. [Var. of WORTLE, WHIRTLE.] Any of several pivoted pieces forming the throat of an adjustable die used in drawing wire, lead pipe, etc.

wor'dle (wûr'd'l), n. World. Obs. exc. Dial.

word lore. Material about words, as about their history, derivation, use, senses, etc. — word'lor'ist (wûrd'lôr'ĭst; 181), n.

word'man (wûrd'mȧn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). One who is skilled in the use of words. — word'man-ship, n.

word method. Educ. A method of teaching reading in which words are first taken as single ideograms and later analyzed into their phonetic and alphabetic elements; — contrasted with the A-B-C method and sentence method.

word'mon'ger (wûrd'mŭng'gĕr), n. Literally, a dealer in words — applied esp. to one who considers more the words than their meaning. — word'mon'ger-ing (-ĭng) n. — word'mon'ger-y (-ĭ), n.

Still, what wordmongery can surpass such various effects as these, where the words are of the very simplest? Allbutt.

word music. The rhythm of the spoken language, or of written language designed to be spoken, as in a play. — word musician.

word of command. Mil. A word or phrase of definite and established meaning, used in directing the movements of soldiers; as, aim; fire; shoulder arms, etc.

word of honor. A promise or engagement made with, or confirmed by, a pledge of one's honor for its fulfillment.

word of limitation. See HEIR, n., 1 a. word of mouth. Oral communication; as, the news spread by word of mouth from person to person. — word'-of-mouth', adj.

Word of Wisdom. Mormon Ch. A revelation claimed to have been received by Joseph Smith in February, 1833, and published in the Doctrine and Covenants (which see). It contains instructions as to foods and drinks and inhibits the use of tobacco, hot drinks, and alcoholic liquors.

word order. The order of arrangement of words in a phrase, clause, or sentence.

word painter. A writer of vivid or graphic descriptive power. — word'-paint', v. t. & i. — word painting. — word'-paint'ing, adj.

word picture. A graphic or vivid description in words.

word'play' (wûrd'plā'), n. A more or less subtle playing upon the meaning of words.

word salad. Psychiatry. Extremely incoherent speech as observed in some cases of dementia praecox.

word'-sell'er (wûrd'sĕl'ĕr), n. A writer of articles or books for sale; an author.

word sign. In shorthand, a stroke or simple character used arbitrarily for brevity to represent a word of frequent occurrence or its derivatives.

word'-sling'er (wûrd'slĭng'ĕr), n. A person adept at writing, esp. material of little permanent value. Derogatory. — word'-sling'ing, adj. & n. Derogatory.

words'man (wûrdz'mȧn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). One who deals in words, or subtilizes in the meanings of words; a verbalist. — words'man-ship, n.

words of administration. The words spoken by the priest in administering the sacred elements to the people at the Holy Communion.

words of institution. Eccl. See INSTITUTION, 6.

words of procreation. Law. The words necessary in conveying a fee in tail to indicate to whose children the conveyed estate is to be entailed. See 2d FEE, 3 b.

Words of the wise. See Proverbs, under OLD TESTAMENT.

word'spite' (wûrd'spīt'), adj. Abusive; vituperative. Rare. — n. Spiteful abuse or vituperation. Rare.

word square. A series of words so arranged that their letters read alike vertically and horizontally.

H	E	A	R	T
E	M	B	E	R
A	B	U	S	E
R	E	S	I	N
T	R	E	N	D

Word Square.

word'ster (wûrd'stĕr), n. [word + -ster.] One skilled in the use of words, often with an implication of lack of substance, sincerity, or the like. Rare.

word stress. Phonet. = WORD ACCENT.

Words-worth'i-an (wûrdz-wûr'thĭ-ȧn), adj. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, the poet William Wordsworth or his work. — n. A follower, imitator, or admirer of Wordsworth or his poetry. — Words-worth'i-an-ism (-Iz'm), n.

word symbol. 1. A graphic symbol representing a word or an idea, without regard to its phonetic or alphabetic elements; an ideogram; a pictograph.

2. A spoken word regarded as the symbol of expression for a word or an idea.

word value. The effectiveness of a word to express the exact shade of meaning desired and to fit into the rhythmical structure of the phrase or sentence.

word'y (wûr'dĭ), adj.; WORD'I-ER (-dĭ-ĕr); WORD'I-EST. [AS. wordig.] 1. Of or pertaining to words; consisting of words; verbal; as, a wordy war. Cowper.

2. Using or containing many words; verbose.

A self-respecting man refrains from finding wordy fault with the conditions under which he lives. Agnes Repplier.

Syn. — Prolix, diffuse. Ant. — Concise, brief, pointed.

word'y, n. Diminutive of WORD. Scot.

wore (wōr), v. i. [AS. wōrian.] To wander about. Obs. — v. t. To weary. Obs.

wore (wōr; 181). Past tense & Scot. & dial. past part. of WEAR.

work (wûrk), n. [ME. work, werk, weorc, fr. AS. worc, werc, weorc; akin to OFris. werk, wirk, OS., D., & G. werk, OHG. werc, werah, ON. & Sw. verk, Dan. værk, Goth. gawaurki, Gr. ergon work, erdein to do, sacrifice, rhezein to do, organon an instrument, orgia secret rites, Av. verezyeiti he does, works. Cf. ARGON, BULWARK, DEMIURGE, ENERGY, ERG, GEORGIC, LITURGY, METALLURGY, ORGAN, ORGY, SURGEON, WORK, v., WRIGHT.] 1. Exertion of strength or faculties for the accomplishment of something; physical or intellectual effort directed to an end; toil; labor; as, the work of a teamster, of a doctor; also, that which requires or has required such exertion or effort; employment; occupation; as, to be out of work.

2. The act of performing a productive operation by the use of mechanical power; as, the belt work on a farm. Also, the operation so performed.

3. State of actively working or operating; activity. Obs.

4. The matter on which one is working; that on which one spends labor; the thing occupying one; task; duty; as, to take up one's work; to drop one's work.

In every work that he began . . . he did it with all his heart, and prospered. 2 Chron. xxxi. 21.

5. The material, or piece of material, which is or is to be operated upon at any stage in the process of manufacture; as, the work was put under the drop hammer and quickly pounded into shape for the next operation.

6. That which is produced or anything accomplished, by woone. Var. of ONE. Obs. exc. Dial.

woo·ra'li (wōō-rä'lĭ), woo·ra'ra (-rä), woo·ra'ri (-rĭ), n. Vars. of CURARE. [of WOO.]

woos (wōōz). 3d pers. sing. pres. of WOO.

woo'ster, n. = WOOZER. Obs.

wo'pen (wō'pĕn). Obs. past part. of WEEP.

wopen. † WEAPON.

wop'per (wŏp'ĕr). Dial. Eng. var. of WHOPPER.

wop'ping. Dial. Eng. var. of WHOPPING.

wor (wôr). Var. of WAR, worse. Obs. exc. Dial.

worch, worche. † WORK.

word'-breg'ger, n. [ME. breggere an abridger. See ABRIDGE.] An abridger of words. Obs.

word'-dearth'ing, adj. Begging description in words. Obs.

wordes. † WORDS, pl. of WORD.

wordie. † WORDY, WORTHY.

word'i-ly (wûr'dĭ-lĭ), adv. of WORDY.

word'i-ness, n. See -NESS.

word'less, adj. See -LESS. — word'less-ly, adv. — word'lessness, n.

word'like', adj. See -LIKE.

word'ness, n. [AS. wordnæs, werodnes.] Sweetness. Obs.

word'-per'fect, adj. = LETTER-PERFECT. [Now Dial.] wor'dy (wûr'dĭ). Var. of WORTHY.

exertion or toil; product; manufacture; also, anything accomplished; act; deed; performance; achievement; feat; as, a bad night's work; a man of good works.

To leave no rubs or blotches in the work. Shak.

[Fancy] wild work produces oft, and most in dreams. Milton.

7. Specif.: a That which is produced by mental labor, as a book, poem, musical composition, picture, or the like; as, a work, or the works, of Addison, or of Bach, or of Rembrandt. b Flowers, figures, or the like, wrought with the needle; embroidery; needlework. c pl. Structures in engineering, as docks, bridges, embankments, trenches, and the like; in mining, a shaft or working.

8. A place where industrial labor of any kind is carried on; as, a salt work; now esp., in plural form but often used with singular construction, the structures, grounds, machinery, etc., of a manufacturing establishment, or, loosely, of any industrial concern; as, to visit a locomotive works; the water works of a town.

9. pl. The working or moving parts of a mechanism; as, the works of a watch; also, Humorous, the viscera of an animal; as, to draw the works of a chicken.

The city came to be like the body of a great dirty man, skinned, to show his busy works. Tarkington.

10. Manner of working; management; treatment; workmanship; as, unskillful work spoiled the effect.

11. Capacity for performing labor; ability to work.

White hands, with all the work gone out of them. Willa Cather.

12. Design; draft; plan; pattern. Obs.

13. Disturbance; bother; to-do; also, trouble. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

14. The foam or froth caused by fermentation, as in cider, in making vinegar, etc.

15. pl. Bib. Performance of moral duties or prescribed ceremonial acts, or both.

He shall reward every man according to his works. Matt. xvi. 27.
Faith, if it hath not works, is dead. James ii. 17.
By the works of the law shall no flesh be justified. Gal. ii. 16.

16. Cricket. Break; twist.

17. Fort. A fortified structure of any kind, as a building, fort, earthen barricade, trench, etc. An open work gives protection only on the side of the enemy's approach; whereas a closed work offers protection against a hostile approach from any direction.

18. Freemasonry. Act or process of working a degree.

19. Mech. The transference of energy by a process involving the motion of the point of application of a force, as when a compressed spring in a toy gun by its expansion and loss of potential energy gives kinetic energy to a bullet or when the falling weight of a pile driver drives in a pile. Work is done when there is movement against a resisting force or when a body is given acceleration; it is measured by the product of the force and the displacement of its point of application in the line of action. If the displacement is in the same direction as the force, work is done by the force; if it is opposite to that of the force, work is done on or against the force. Similarly, in the case of rotation, work equals the product of the moment and the angular displacement. See ERG, JOULE, FOOT-POUND.

20. Mining. Ore before it is dressed. Eng.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

work-driven	work-shyness	work-wan
work-hardened	work-stained	work-weary work-hour, adj.	workstand	work-worn work-producing, adj.	worktime	workyard work-seeking, adj.

Syn. — WORK, LABOR, TOIL, DRUDGERY. WORK is the general term for exertion or effort directed to an end; LABOR commonly implies more strenuous exertion than work; more specifically (esp. as opposed to capital) it denotes physical exertion for the supply of wants; TOIL is painful or fatiguing labor; DRUDGERY is esp. dull, irksome, and distasteful work; as, "There is a perennial nobleness . . . in work" (Carlyle); cf. "If any should not work, neither should he eat" (2 Thess. iii. 10); "So he with difficulty and labor hard moved on" (Milton); cf. "We both hunger, and thirst, and are naked . . . and labor, working with our own hands" (1 Cor. iv. 11–12); "The sleep of a laboring man is sweet" (Eccl. v. 12); "harsh pain, danger, necessity, slavish harnessed toil" (Carlyle); cf. "The unlucky adventurer sat down to toil like a galley slave" (Macaulay); "[Johnson] relieved the drudgery of his Dictionary . . . by taking an active part in the composition of the Adventurer" (Boswell); "labor of the hands . . . pursued to the verge of drudgery" (Thoreau). Cf. OCCUPATION, EFFORT, WORKMAN.

Ant. — Play, diversion, recreation; rest, relaxation; pleasure.

— at work. a Engaged in labor; esp., engaged in some regular labor or occupation. b Operating; functioning; as, an engine at work pumping out the water. — a work of time. A work requiring (considerable) time for its completion. — in the works. In the process of being treated in any specified or understood manner; as, the prints are in the works. Colloq. — in work. In hand; in the process of being done. — out of work. Having no employment; unemployed. — the works, to give (one) the works, etc. See in phrases under WORKS, n. pl.

work (wûrk), adj. Of or pertaining to work; engaged in or used in work, as in needlework, farm work, factory work, etc.

-work (-wûrk). A combining form of the noun work, denoting: a Work of a kind, on a material, or at a part (specified), as in crown*work,* fancy*work,* home*work,* house*work,* wood*work;* also, the resultant product, as in fire*work,* brick*work,* scroll*work,* wax*work.* Nouns denoting one engaged in such work are formed in -worker. b Mil. A work of a (specified) material, location, or type, as in earth*work,* out*work.*

afterwork	checkwork	goldwork
allwork	clockwork	grottowork bandwork	coachwork	groundwork basketwork	cobwork	guesswork
beadwork	cofferwork	handwork
beamwork	cragwork	headwork
benchwork	crewelwork	hornwork
bobbinwork	cribwork	housework
bodywork	daywork	icework
bolsterwork	diamondwork	ironwork boltwork	donkeywork	jogglework bookwork	earthwork	knitwork
brainwork	facework	knotwork brasswork	falsework	lacework
breastwork	fancywork	lackwork brickwork	fanwork	latticework
bridgework	featherwork	leadwork
brightwork	firework	leafwork
brushwork	flowerwork	leatherwork
busywork	fluework	linework
bywork	flutework	linkwork
cabinetwork	footwork	lipwork
cagework	framework	listwork
carpetwork	fretwork	lockwork casework	frostwork	logwork catchwork	garnetwork	longwork
chainwork	gatchwork	louverwork
checkerwork	glasswork	masonwork
masterwork	ropework	stonework
metalwork	rubblework	straitwork
millwork	salework	strapwork
needlework	scalework	stuccowork
network	schoolwork	studwork
nightwork	scratchwork	taskwork openwork	screenwork	teamwork
outwork	scrollwork	tentwork
panelwork	scythework	timberwork
patchwork	seatwork	timework
piecework	sempstrywork	trestlework
pilework	setwork	trunkwork
pillowwork	sheetwork	trusswork
pinwork	shellwork	tutwork
pipework	siegework	velvetwork
pitchwork	silkwork	watchwork
plasterwork	silverwork	wattlework
potwork	slopwork	waxwork
presswork	slumpwork	wheelwork
putty work	spatterwork	wickerwork quickwork	spellwork	widework rackwork	spiderwork	wirework rangework	steelwork	witchwork
rockwork	stockwork	wonderwork work (wûrk), v.; past tense & past part. WORKED (wûrkt), or WROUGHT (rôt); pres. part. & verbal n. WORK'ING. [AS. wyrc(e)an, wircan (pret. worhte, wrohte, past part. geworht); akin to OFris. werka, wirka, OS. wirkian, D. werken, G. wirken, ON. verka, yrkja, orka, Goth. waurkjan. See WORK, n.] Intransitive: 1. To exert oneself physically or mentally for a purpose, esp., in common speech, to exert oneself thus in doing something undertaken chiefly for gain, for improvement in one's material, intellectual, or physical condition, or under compulsion of any kind, as distinguished from something undertaken primarily for pleasure, sport, or immediate gratification, or as merely incidental to other activities (as a disagreeable walk involved in going to see a friend, or the packing of a trunk for a pleasure trip); as, he works harder at his play than at his work; he has devoted his time to polo, mountain climbing, and hunting, and he has never really worked in his life.

Whether we work or play, or sleep or wake,
Our life doth pass. Sir J. Davies.

2. Hence, in a general sense, to operate; act; as, a machine works well; esp., to act or operate effectively; to be effective; as, he put his money to work and settled down to live on his income; to have a desired effect or influence; as, a plan works well or will not work. "All things work together for good to them that love God." Rom. viii. 28.

We bend to that the working of the heart. Shak.

3. To be engaged or employed customarily in some occupation, esp. in some gainful trade, business, profession, or the like; as, he works in a warehouse or a livery stable; he worked long upon the painting of the hands.

They that work in fine flax . . . shall be confounded. Is. xix. 9.

4. To make way slowly and with difficulty; to move, progress, proceed, or penetrate laboriously, slowly, or with effort; — with a preposition, as down, out, into, up, through, etc.; as, a plot works out by degrees; he worked up to president; the poison worked off; the water worked into the earth.

5. To respond to work expended; to permit of being worked; to react (in a specified way) to being worked; as, butter works more easily in certain weathers; specif., of soil, to be cultivable; as, sour land may work well after a few applications of lime.

6. To ferment, as a liquid, yeast, etc.

The working of beer when the barm is put in. Bacon.

7. To be in or as if in agitation; to be tossed or agitated; to strain; labor; as, a ship works in a heavy sea.

Confused with working sands and rolling waves. Addison.

8. To endeavor; attempt; strive; contrive; design. Obs.

9. Mach. To move in an undesigned direction due to imperfect fitting; as, the shaft works in its bearing

10. Mining. To move; — said particularly of rock in a mine, which by sounds, falling fragments, and squeezing of timbers, gives indications of slow movement.

11. Naut. a To move slightly in relation to another part. the two being supposedly rigidly connected. b To sail in a course, esp. one to windward.

—, Transitive: 1. To fashion by or as if by labor; to create; shape; make; form; hence, to bring into a desired form; as, a vase cunningly wrought; to work cotton into cloth.

Alas that I was wrought [created]. Chaucer.

2. Hence, to bring to pass; to effect; to act so as to cause; to produce; accomplish; do; as, the frost worked havoc with the crop; he worked a miracle with the farm within a short time; as his enemy was helpless, he worked his will on the unfortunate country.

3. To prepare for use by more or less violent manipulation with the hands or with an implement; as, to work butter.

4. To set or keep in motion, operation, or activity; to expend labor in the operation of; as, to work a mine, a quarry; sometimes, to direct the action of; to operate; manage; as, to work a machine, a ship; he was nervously working his fingers; to keep in effect; as, to work a patent means actually to make and put on sale the device embodying the patented invention.

5. To cause to labor or toil; to exact labor from; as, to work one's horses or employees.

6. To carry on one's trade or occupation in, through, along, etc.; to cover (a district) in one's operations; as, the trapper worked the stream from its source.

7. To make, effect, or bring into some condition, by slow degrees or as if laboriously; as, a stream will work itself clear after rain. "Sidelong he works his way." Milton.

8. To make or ornament by weaving, knitting, crocheting, or needlework of any kind; as, to work stockings or a shawl; esp., to embroider; as, to work muslin; to work a flower.

9. To solve, as a problem in mathematics; to work out.

10. To take effect on (one); — said of a purge. Obs. exc. Dial.

11. To make use of; to use; as, to work one's social relations in business. Now Colloq. "He 'worked' the hunting field largely . . . in his novels." Century Mag

12. To influence by acting upon; to manage; lead; induce. "Work your royal father to his ruin." Philips.

13. To practice trickery, cajolery, or some devious procedure upon (one) for one's own ends; as, he worked the management for a free ticket; also, to obtain by such means; as, to work a free ticket for a friend.

14. To excite; provoke; as, to work oneself into a rage.

Catherine had expected to have her feelings worked, and worked they were. Jane Austen.

15. To trouble; harass; tease. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

16. To cause to ferment, as liquor.

17. Agric. To cultivate (soil or crops).

18. Hort. To bud or graft.

Syn. — Labor, toil; operate, function.

Ant. — Play; idle, loaf; rest.

work a degree. In Masonic and some other ritualistic orders, to go through the ceremonies and rituals of a particular degree.

work and turn. Print. To print from the same form on both sides. Cf. WORK-AND-TURN, adj.

work at. To be engaged in or upon; to be employed in.

work (a thing or person) for all (it or he) is worth. To use so as to get the last possible advantage from. Slang.

work double tides. Naut. To perform the labor of two days in one.

work free, or loose. To become loose, or to free or loose oneself (or itself) by work or effort, through use, operation, etc.; as, the animal finally worked himself free of the trap; the rope worked loose on the pulley.

work in. a To insert or cause to penetrate by repeated or continued effort. b To intermix or intermingle; as, he worked in local references in his speech.

work into. a To force, urge, or insinuate into; as, to work oneself into favor or confidence. b Rare. To transform by effort or by slow change.

work it. To manipulate things so as to accomplish a desired result; to contrive; as, I 'll work it so that you have your vacation. Colloq.

work like a charm. To operate with the smoothness and efficiency of magic; to be perfectly successful.

work like a dog, a horse, a nigger. To work exceedingly hard and continuously.

work off. a To remove gradually, as by labor, or a gradual process; as, beer works off impurities in fermenting. b Slang. To palm off; to pass off; as, he tried to work off the poem as his own. c In printing, to run off in final form, as copies ready for distribution. d Slang. To put out of the way, as by killing, hanging, etc.

work on or upon. a Obs. To trust to. b To influence or strive to affect.

work one's head off. To work hard and long to one's full ability. Slang.

work one's passage. To pay for a passage by doing work on board or about the conveyance.

work out. a To effect by labor and exertion. "Work out your own salvation." Phil. ii. 12. b Rare. To erase; efface.

Tears . . . Work out and expiate our former guilt. Dryden.

c To solve, as a problem; also, to develop or arrange; as, to work out a plan. d To exhaust, as a mine, by working. e To make its way out; as, a nail that worked out from the sole of my shoes. f In athletics, to have a workout; to practice one's particular specialty; as, a boxer worked out in the gymnasium; the football team worked out on the field the day before the game. g To make payment of in labor rather than in money; as, to work out one's taxes on the roads. h To show itself or be shown to be practicable, effective, or the like; as, a plan that will not work out.

work over. a To do over again; to submit a second time to some operation or process; as, the article is unsatisfactory at present but perhaps you can work it over until it is good. b Obs. To persuade; influence; win over.

work the goaf or gob. Mining. To remove the pillars of mineral matter previously left to support the roof, and replace them with props.

work the lunar. To obtain the mean time at some prime meridian by calculation from a lunar distance.

work the oracle. Slang. a To produce or bring about a favorable outcome, as by wirepulling, indirect scheming, etc. b Specif., to raise money.

work to windward. Naut. To sail against the wind; to tack to windward.

work up. a To raise; excite; to stir up; as, to work up the passions to rage.

The sun, that rolls his chariot o'er their heads, Works up more fire and color in their cheeks. Addison.

b To expend in any work, as materials; as, they have worked up all the stock. c To develop; elaborate; as, to work up the plot of a novel. d Naut. To keep at work upon needless jobs, as a crew in order to punish them. e To bring about or achieve by continued effort or gradually; as, to work up a practice as a physician. f Of a garment, to draw up and wrinkle in folds near the top; as, his jacket had worked up at the back of his neck. g To make one's way from a lower to a higher place or status; as, he worked up from train dispatcher to division superintendent.

work water. To prime, or foam; — said of a steam boiler.

work with. a To attempt to influence. b To associate with in some labor or undertaking; to join with in work.

work'a·bil'i·ty (wûr'kȧ·bĭl'ĭ·tĭ), n. The quality or state of being workable.

work'a·ble (wûr'kȧ·b'l), adj. Capable of being worked. — work'a·ble·ness, n.

work'a·day' (wûr'kȧ·dā'), adj. [ME. werkeday. Cf. WORKDAY.] Pertaining to, or suited for, working days; laboring; hence, sometimes, prosaic; as, workaday clothes; this workaday world.

work'a·day', n. A working day. Now Dial. Eng.

work'-and-turn', adj. Print. Having all the pages of a signature imposed in one form, so that when the sheet is printed, turned over, printed on the other side, and cut, two complete copies result.

work'a·way' (wûr'kȧ·wā'), n. A person who works his way or passage, as on a steamship. Slang.

work'bag' (wûrk'băg'), n. A bag for holding implements or materials for work; esp., a reticule, or bag for holding needlework and the like.

work'bas'ket (-băs'kĕt; -kĭt; 83; 119), n. A basket for needlework materials, etc.

work'bench' (-bĕnch'; 105), n. A bench on which work is performed; esp., such a bench for mechanics, machinists, carpenters, etc.

work'book' (-bo̍ŏk'), n. a A book outlining a suggested course of study in some subject or field. b A book or pamphlet setting forth rules governing the manner or method of work. "Edwin was familiar with every detail of the printer's workbook." Arnold Bennett. c A book in which is recorded work done or planned.

work'box' (-bŏks'), n. A box for working instruments or materials.

work'brit'tle (-brĭt'l), adj. Industrious. Dial.

work cure. Med. A curative treatment of disease, consisting of a program of physical work of gradually increasing strenuousness.

work curve. A graphic record of the amount done in each successive part of a prolonged period of work. Cf. FATIGUE CURVE.

work'day' (wûrk'dā'), n. [AS. weorcdæg.] 1. A day on which work is performed, as distinguished from Sunday, festivals, etc.; a working day.

2. The period of time in one day during which work is performed.

work'day', adj. Workaday.

worked (wûrkt), weak past tense & past part. of WORK. Hence: adj. That has been subjected to some process of development, treatment, manufacture, or the like.

The wall is overgrown with grass. The stones are not worked stones. C. E. Fox.

Syn. — WORKED, WROUGHT. Both as preterit and participle, WORKED implies preparation or (esp.) operation by labor; it is also used of needlework; WROUGHT (sometimes poetical for worked) suggests the molding or fashioning of something, esp. from the rough; as, a stock company worked the mine; a handkerchief with worked initials; "And so the Word had breath and wrought with human hands the creed of creeds" (Tennyson); "cups of wrought . . . gold" (Shelley).

-worked (-wûrkt). A combining form of worked, as in: double-worked, hand-worked, open-worked.

worked lumber. See 1st LUMBER, 3.

worked material. Material on which some manufacturing operations have been performed, but which has not yet been turned into a finished product.

worked up. Emotionally aroused or excited.

work'er (wûr'kĕr), n. 1. One who or that which works; specif.: a Obs. A maker; creator. b A laborer; a toiler; performer; doer; as, a worker in brass; workers of iniquity. c Cant. In politics, one who works for a political party or party leader, as by canvassing for votes or getting out votes on election day. d Print. An electrotype for printing purposes, as distinguished from one used as a pattern for making the molds for other electrotypes.
2. Any citizen of Soviet Russia, other than a soldier or sailor, who works either with hand or brain, for his living; — used in contrast to capitalist or bourgeois. The peasant is a worker of a particular kind. Also, often attrib., as in: work'er-cor'res·pond'ent, work'er-guard'.
3. Short for BUTTERWORKER.
4. Lace Making. See HANGER, 8.
5. Leather. A two-handled scraping knife used in dressing leather.
6. Textile Mfg. Any of various small rollers or cylinders in a fearnought, carding engine, or similar machine, that have their wire teeth set at such an angle as to draw the fiber bodily away from the large cylinder. Cf. STRIPPER, 1 d.
7. Zool. One of the neuter, or sterile, individuals of the social ants, bees, and termites. The workers are generally (except in termites) females having the sexual organs imperfectly developed. See ANT, HONEYBEE, and WHITE ANT.

-work'er (-wûr'kĕr). A combining form of the noun worker, as in:

brassworker	goldworker	sawworker
butterworker	ironworker	shellworker chalkworker	metalworker	slopworker clothworker	needleworker	wageworker fieldworker	outworker	waxworker flintworker	pieceworker	wireworker garmentworker	saltworker	woodworker glassworker

worker cell. Beekeeping. Any of the smaller cells of a honeycomb in which larvae of worker bees are reared.

worker comb. Beekeeping. The portion of honeycomb composed of worker cells.

worker major. Zool. = MAXIM, 4.

worker minor. Zool. = MINIM, 7.

Workers' Declaration of Independence. See COMMUNIST MANIFESTO.

Workers' party. Politics. a The nonsecret political branch of the Communist party in the United States. b A communist or Labor party in certain other countries, as Estonia, Finland, etc.; — often so called.

work'fel'low (wûrk'fĕl'ō), n. One engaged in the same work with another; a companion in work.

work'folk' (-fōk'), work'folks' (-fōks'), n. pl. Working people, esp. those engaged in manual labor.

work'ful (-fŏŏl), adj. [Cf. AS. weorcfull.] Diligent. Obs.

work'girl' (-gûrl'), n. A girl employed in some labor, as in a shop, factory, etc.

work'hand' (-hănd'), n. A person employed in some labor, as on a farm, in a factory, shop, etc.

work horse. A horse mainly valuable for draft purposes; also, one fit or mature enough for service; hence, figuratively, a person who undertakes especially arduous labor of any kind.

work'house' (wûrk'hous'), n. [AS. weorchūs.] 1. A house where any manufacture is carried on; a workshop. Now Obs.
2. In England, a house in which able-bodied poor are maintained at public expense and compelled to labor; a poorhouse. They appear to have been originally of the nature of houses of correction for rogues and vagabonds.
3. A house of correction in which petty offenders, as drunkards or vagrants, are confined and put at work. U. S.

work'housed' (-houst'), adj. Lodged in, or committed to, a workhouse; also, accustomed to a workhouse or to the workhouse methods, atmosphere, etc.

workhouse sheeting. Coarse, twilled, unbleached sheeting.

workhouse test. In the English system of poor relief, the test of good faith made by requiring an applicant, as a condition or relief, to consent to go to the workhouse, or poorhouse, if required. Its purpose is to reduce pauperism.

work'ing (wûr'kĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WORK. Hence: adj. 1. Doing work; engaged in labor; as, a working woman; a working dog.
2. Of, relating to, occupied by, or taken up with, work, as, working hours; working cost; a working schedule.
3. Active; alert; busy; as, a working brain. Archaic.
4. Adequate to permit work to be done; sufficient in strength, numbers, etc., to accomplish necessary results; as, they had a working majority in the legislature.
5. Having the surface ruffled or disturbed; — said esp. of water, the ocean, etc. Now Rare.
6. Twitching spasmodically, as if moved by great feeling; — said esp. of the face or the muscles of the face.
7. Fermenting; showing the effect of fermentation; — said of liquor, cider, vinegar, etc.
8. Assumed or adopted to permit or facilitate other or further work; as, a working arrangement, hypothesis.
9. [From WORKING, vb. n.] Of or pertaining to, or used in, the act or process of working; operating; functioning; effective according to its nature and purpose.
10. Belonging to the worker class or type; — said esp. of certain bees or ants.

work'ing (wûr'kĭng), n. 1. The doing of work; performing; undertaking; operation; also, the making of something by labor; manufacture; sometimes, the craft, skill, or manner of making or fashioning something; workmanship. Now Rare.

> The word must cousin be to the working. Chaucer.

2. Obs. a Ordinance; decree. b Endeavor; effort. c pl. Deeds; acts or actions.
3. Manner of functioning or operating; operation; as, he was interested in the working of the prohibition laws; the working of a democratic system of government; the working of a gun, a machine, a factory.
4. The process of shaping or fashioning things, esp. with skill or artistry, from a particular material such as leather, wood, or iron.
5. The act or process of solving, as a mathematical problem; calculation; solution; as, the working of the problem required the use of calculus.
6. Agitated movement or contortion.

> And the fast workings of his bloodless face > Told what a tooth of fire was at his heart. Willis.

7. Progress slowly or gradually made by or as if by considerable effort; as, his working against the current took time and strength.
8. Any excavation or group of excavations made in mining, quarrying, tunneling, etc.; — chiefly in pl.; as, the workings extended for miles underground.
9. Fermentation, as of liquor or yeast.

working assets; sing. WORKING ASSET. Accounting. Invested capital of a nonpermanent character; — a term rather loosely applied.

working barrel. The cylinder of a pump, esp. of a mine pump.

working beam. = WALKING BEAM.

working capital. 1. Accounting. Excess of quick assets over current liabilities; the net quick assets.
2. Finance. The portion of the capital of a business which is not invested in plant, etc., but remains liquid. Cf. CAPITAL.

working card. = UNION CARD, 1.

working class. The class of people who are employed for wages in some form of labor, as on a farm, in a shop, factory, business house, etc.; also, in general, the social class, grade, or stratum made up of these workers. — work'ing-class', adj.

working day. a A day when work is done; esp., as in a charter party, a day when work is generally done, in distinction from Sundays and legal holidays. b The number of hours, determined by law or custom, during which a workman, hired at a stated price per day, must work to be entitled to a day's pay.

work'ing-day', adj. Pertaining to, or characteristic of, working days; workaday; hence, plodding; hard-working.

> O, how full of briers is this working-day world. Shak.

working dog. A dog suited, by large size, breeding, or training, as the collie, Eskimo, mastiff, or Doberman pinscher, for draft, sled, or herding work.

working drawing. Arch. & Mech. A drawing made to scale intended to be followed by the workmen. Cf. DETAIL DRAWING.

working face. Mining. See FACE, n., 25.

working fit. A snug fit. See 5th FIT, 4.

working fluid. See WORKING SUBSTANCE.

working gauge. See 2d GAUGE, n., 10.

working hypothesis. A hypothesis adopted as a guide to experiment or investigation, or as a basis of action, often because it works pragmatically though metaphysically dubious.

working line. Civil Engin. A reference line to which dimensions are referred.

working load. Arch. & Engin. The maximum load that a structure or machine is designed to bear.

work'ing-ly (wûr'kĭng-lĭ), adv. Efficiently; also, actively. R.

work'ing-man' (wûr'kĭng-măn'), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn'). A laboring man; one of the working class, esp. one engaged in manual labor; a farm hand, laborer, artisan, machinist, mechanic, carpenter, or the like; more loosely, any person employed for wages; a workman.

working model. A model of a machine which can do on a small scale the work which the machine itself does, or is expected to do.

work'ing-of-the-lake', n. Water bloom.

working order. A condition, as of a machine, in which it functions according to its nature and purposes; as, to put a watch in good working order.

working out. 1. The act or process of working out something; development or elaboration.
2. The act or process of disposing of a stock, or part of a stock, of goods by special effort or methods.
3. = WORKOUT.

working papers. 1. Tentative figures set down during the conduct of an audit or other survey of a business.
2. Official documents, such as an age certificate legalizing the employment of a minor; as, before being employed he had to produce his working papers.

working partner. An active partner.

working party. Mil. & Nav. A body of soldiers or sailors detailed to perform an assigned task, outside of their ordinary duties.

working pattern. Patternmaking. A pattern, as one made from a master pattern, used in the making of the molds in which the required parts are cast.

working pit. Mining. A shaft in which ore is hoisted and workmen are carried, in distinction from one used for the pumps, or for ventilation.

working plan. A plan or working drawing from which a workman takes his measurements and instructions.

working point. Mach. That part of a machine at which the effect required is produced; the point where the useful work is done.

working rod. Glass Mfg. A gathering iron, blowing iron, or punty.

working strength. = WORKING STRESS.

working stress. The stress to which material may be safely subjected in the course of ordinary use.

working substance. Mech. The substance, usually a fluid (working fluid), under pressure, that actuates the piston, vanes, floats, etc., in an engine or other prime mover; specif., one that alternately takes in and rejects heat in a heat engine.

working tube. Glass Mfg. = BLOWTUBE, 3.

work in process. Mach. Work in any of the stages through which it passes in being made into a finished product out of raw material.

work lead. Lead bullion.

work'less (wûrk'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. 1. Without work; not laboring; unemployed; idle; as, many people were still workless.

> Sentiment without science in charity degrades the workless into the worthless. James Ford.

2. Not functioning; not accomplishing any work. Obs.
3. Not carried out in practice; not exemplified in fact; as, workless faith. Obs.
— work'less·ness, n.

work'man (wûrk'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). [AS. weorcmann.] 1. A man employed for wages in labor, whether in tillage or manufactures; a workingman; often, a skilled artificer or laborer.
2. In making glass bottles, the one who shapes the neck; also, in glassmaking, one of a chair (see 1st CHAIR, 9 b).

Syn. — WORKMAN, LABORER, ARTISAN, ARTIFICER, MECHANIC, CRAFTSMAN. WORKMAN is the general term; it frequently applies to one who does relatively skilled work, as contrasted with a LABORER, whose work demands strength or exertion rather than skill; an ARTISAN, as here compared (cf. ARTIST), is esp. one who is employed in an industrial or mechanic art or trade; MECHANIC, once synonymous with artisan, is now commonly restricted to a workman who is skilled in constructing, repairing, or using machinery; a CRAFTSMAN is one who practices a handicraft; ARTIFICER commonly implies power of contrivance or adaptation in the excercise of one's craft. Cf. WORK.

work'man·like' (wûrk'măn·lĭk'), adj. Befitting a workman, esp. a skillful one; skillful; well done. — work'man·like', adv. — work'man·like'ness, n.

Syn. — Deft, proficient, adept. Ant. — Botchy, clumsy.

work'man·ly (-lĭ), adj. Well performed; workmanlike. — work'man·li·ness (-lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. — work'man·ly, adv.

work'man·ship, n. 1. The art or skill of a workman; the execution or manner of making or doing anything; craftmanship; also, the quality imparted to anything in the process of making; the character given to a work by the art or skill of the workman; as, a vase of exquisite workmanship.
2. That which is effected, made, or produced; manufacture; work; esp., something made by manual labor.

> By how much Adam exceeded all men in perfection, by being the immediate workmanship of God. Raleigh.

work'mas'ter (wûrk'mas'tĕr; 83), n. 1. A superintendent, overseer, foreman, or employer of workmen.
2. The author or performer of any work; a master workman. Rare.

work'men's com'pen·sa'tion act (-mĕnz). Law. A statute fixing the compensation (workmen's compensation) that workmen may recover from an employer in case of accident; specif.: a [caps.] the British act of 6 Edw. VII c. 58 (1906) giving to a workman, except in certain cases of "serious and willful misconduct," a right against his employer to a certain compensation on the mere occurrence of an accident where the common law gives the right only for negligence of the employer. b [caps.] U. S. Any of various State statutes fixing the compensation that a workman may recover from an employer in case of accident (and sometimes of occupational disease) arising out of the employment, giving to a workman, except when an injury is willfully self-inflicted or caused by intoxication, indemnity according to a definite schedule without regard to fault. Cf. EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY ACT.

workmen's compensation insurance. See INSURANCE, 1.

work of art. A production of art; specif., a production in one of the fine arts, esp. in painting or sculpture.

work'out' (wûrk'out'), n. 1. A test or trial to determine ability or capacity for some special position, work, etc.; as, give him a workout for a week and see if he 'll do. Slang.
2. Sports. A practice game, bout, run or the like; any exercise designed to test one's fitness or to increase one's fitness, as for some athletic competition.

work'pan' (-păn'), n. A pan for receiving work.

work'peo'ple (-pē'p'l), n. pl. People who work, esp. at manual labor; laboring people.

work'piece' (-pēs'), n. Mach. A piece of work in process.

work'place' (-plās'), n. A place, as a shop, factory, etc., where work is done.

work roller. Knitting Machine. A roller that automatically winds up the completed work.

work'room' (wûrk'rōōm'; 200), n. Any room used especially for labor; a room in which work is done.

works (wûrks), n., pl. of WORK; esp.: a A place where industrial labor of any kind is carried on; — often construed as a singular; as, a locomotive works (see WORK, n., 8). b The working or moving parts of a mechanism (see WORK, n., 9). c Performance of moral duties, prescribed ceremonial acts, or both (see WORK, n., 15). d Fort. A series or set of fortified structures, as trenches or earthen barricades (see WORK, n., 17).

☞ COMBINATIONS, in sense a, are:

bleachworks	gasworks	scrapworks boilerworks	glassworks	steelworks brassworks	printworks	tryworks copperworks	saltworks	wireworks

— in the works. See in the works, under WORK, n. — the works, the whole works. Everything, esp. everything possible or at one's command; all one's resources. Slang. — to give (one) the works. To inflict upon (one) all possible abuse, punishment, pain, or the like; sometimes, to murder (one), esp. brutally. Slang. — to shoot the works. See in phrases under SHOOT, v. Slang

Works and Days. A poem, of 828 hexameter lines, by Hesiod (see Biog.). It contains directions as to farm labor and the observance of the right "days" of the calendar, and also embodies some moral precepts.

work school. = ARBEITSSCHULE.

works council. A body or committee formed by an employer among workers within his organization for the discussion of some or all of the problems of industrial relations. Its scope may be similar to, or more narrow than, a company union.

work sheet. A sheet used in making preliminary plans, auxiliary computations, notes, comments, and the like, to guide a person in doing some piece of work; also, sometimes, a specially prepared sheet, pamphlet, or booklet containing data of assistance in planning and accomplishing some piece of work.

work'ship, n. Workmanship. Rare.

work shoe. A shoe of a heavy, substantial type, for men.

work'shop' (wûrk'shŏp'), n. A shop where any manufacture or handiwork is carried on. In Great Britain a workshop has by various acts of Parliament been declared to be any place in which collective manual labor, under an employer having right of access to or control over the place, is done by way of trade or in making, repairing, or the like, articles to be sold, and in which no machinery moved or worked by any mechanical power is used. But many such places are excepted and called factories. — work'shop', adj.

work'-shy' (-shī'), adj. Disinclined to work; lazy; shiftless. — work'-shy', n. — work'-shy'ness, n.

works manager. An official in manufacturing companies, usually the head of the production departments.

works of supererogation. R.C.Ch. Those good deeds believed to have been done by saints, or capable of being done by men, over and above what is needed for their own salvation. See TREASURY OF THE CHURCH.

work'some (wûrk'sŭm), adj. Industrious. Rare.

work song. Music. A song sung in rhythm with work. Cf. CHANTEY.

---

work'ing-house', n. = WORKHOUSE. Obs.

work'ing-ness, n. Efficiency. Obs.

work'ing-wom'an, n., pl. -WOMEN. Feminine of WORKINGMAN.

work'loom', n. A tool; implement. Obs. exc. Scot.

work'man (wûrk'măn), n., pl. of WORKMAN.

work'mis'tress, n., fem. of WORKMASTER.

work spreading. The arrangement of work and working hours of employees in such way as to spread the available work among the largest practicable number of workers, thus aiding in preventing unemployment problems. — work'-spread'ing, adj.

work stock. Farm livestock, esp. horses and mules, kept for draft purposes.

work stone. In a furnace for smelting lead, an inclined grooved stone to conduct the molten lead from the hearth to the metal pot.

work'-stop'per, n. A labor organizer or agitator who induces workmen to strike in order to obtain their objectives. Chiefly Australian.

work'-stud'y-play' plan. A plan of school organization which provides for alternating three types of work: (1) laboratory and shop work, (2) academic study, and (3) supervised play. See PLATOON SCHOOL. U. S.

work-study-play school. = PLATOON SCHOOL.

work'ta'ble (wûrk'tā'b'l), n. A table for holding working materials and implements; esp., a small table with drawers and other conveniences for needlework, etc.

work ticket. 1. A job order.
2. Accounting. = TIMECARD, 2.

work train. = CONSTRUCTION TRAIN.

work'-up' (wûrk'ŭp'), n. Print. An unintended mark upon a printed sheet caused by the rising in the chase of a space, lead, piece of furniture, etc., while the job is on the press.

work'ways' (-wāz'), work'wise' (-wīz'), adv. In a working position or manner; as, a T rail placed workwise, that is, resting on its base.

work week. The number of hours worked per week.

work'wom'an (wûrk'wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119), n. A woman who works, esp. at manual labor. — work'wom'an-like', adj. & adv. — work'wom'an·ly, adj.

work'y (wûr'kĭ), n. One who works; a workman. — work'y, adj. Both Now Rare. U. S.

world (wûrld), n. [ME. world, werld, weorld, weoreld, fr. AS. weorold, woruld; akin to OS. werold, D. wereld, OHG. weralt, worolt, G. welt, ON. veröld, Sw. verld, Dan. verden; prop., the age of man. See WER; OLD.] 1. The earth and the heavens and universe of which it was once believed to be the center; the creation; the system of created things; the universe.
2. The earth and its inhabitants, with their concerns; the sum of human affairs and interests; hence, humanity; mankind; also, people in general; the public; — more general or more local in sense according to circumstances; as, all the world loves a lover; the world joined in applauding the peace. "Let the great world rage." Shelley.
Since I do purpose to marry, I will think nothing to any purpose that the world can say against it. Shak.
3. A state of existence; a sphere or scene of life and action; as, the present world; the next world.
4. Individual experience of, or concern with, life on earth; course of life; career; the sum of the affairs which affect the individual; as, to begin the world blind; to fail, and begin the world anew; I hope the world goes well with you.
5. The customs, practices, and interests of men as social beings; public or social affairs and occupations; social life, manners, and usages; — usually with the; as, the cosmopolitan knows the world in all countries.
Happy is she that from the world retires. Waller.
6. The section of mankind engrossed in the concerns of this present life and hence sometimes regarded as the ungodly part of mankind.
I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me; for they are thine. John xvii. 9.
7. That which concerns the earth and its affairs as distinguished from heaven; concerns of this life as distinguished from those of the life to come; the present existence and its interests; hence, secular affairs or interests.
The world is too much with us; late and soon, Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers. Wordsworth.
If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
1 John ii. 15, 16.
8. The things of the world; temporal possessions; worldly goods. Obs. exc. Scot.
9. As an emblem of immensity, a great multitude or quantity; a large number. "A world of men." Chapman. "A world of woes." Dryden.
10. A part, division, or section, of the earth, its concerns, inhabitants, etc., regarded as a separate, independent unit; a division of the globe, its inhabitants, or the globe as known or contemplated at a given period, by a given people, or the like; as, the Old World; the medieval world.
Murmuring that now they must be put to make war beyond the world's end — for so they counted Britain. Milton.
11. One of the three grand divisions or primary groups of natural objects; a kingdom; as, the animal, mineral, or vegetable world.
12. A more or less definite class or division of persons regarded as a body and distinguished by some characteristic; as, the Christian or heathen world; the musical world; the political world; woman's world; hence, the peculiar interests of such a body or the sphere, domain, region, or realm of such interests; as, the world of art and letters, science, fashion; the world of fancy.
13. Any sphere or whole likened to or suggestive of the world, as by reason of completeness, variety, complexity, or the like; a domain. "The external world of physics has thus become a world of shadows." Eddington.
His little world of man. Shak.
Books, we know,
Are a substantial world, both pure and good. Wordsworth.
14. Any planet or heavenly body, esp. when regarded as inhabited, and as the scene of interests analogous to human interests. "Lord of the worlds above." I. Watts.
15. A generation; a lifetime; an age. Obs.
Syn. — See EARTH.

☞ COMBINATIONS (chiefly adjectives) are:

world-abhorring, world-abiding, world-abstracted, world-accepted, world-acknowledged, world-adored, world-adorning, world-advancing, world-advertised, world-affecting, world-agitating, world-alarming, world-altering, world-amazing, world-amusing, world-animating, world-anticipated, world-applauded, world-appreciated, world-apprehended, world-approved, world-arguing, world-arousing, world-arresting, world-assuring, world-astonishing, world-authorized, world-awed, world-barred, world-beheld, world-beloved, world-beset, world-borne, world-bound, world-braving, world-broken, world-bruised, world-building, world-burdened, world-busied, world-canvassed, world-captivating, world-celebrated, world-censored, world-censured, world-challenging, world-changing, world-charming, world-cheering, world-choking, world-chosen, world-circling, world-circulated, world-civilizing, world-classifying, world-cleansing, world-comforting, world-commanding, world-commended, world-compassing, world-compelling, world-condemned, world-confounding, world-connecting, world-conquering, world-constituted, world-consuming, world-contemning, world-contracting, world-contrasting, world-controlling, world-converting, world-copied, world-corrupted, world-corrupting, world-covering, world-creating, world-credited, world-crippling, world-crowding, world-crushed, world-deaf, world-debated, world-deceiving, world-deep, world-defying, world-delighting, world-delivering, world-demanded, world-denying, world-depleting, world-depressing, world-describing, world-deserting, world-desired, world-desolation, world-despising, world-destroying, world-detached, world-detesting, world-devouring, world-diminishing, world-directing, world-disappointing, world-discovering, world-discussed, world-disgracing, world-dissolving, world-distributed, world-disturbing, world-divided, world-dividing, world-dominating, world-dreaded, world-dwelling, world-echoed, world-educating, world-embracing, world-eminent, world-encircling, world-ending, world-enlarging, world-enlightening, world-entangled, world-enveloping, world-envied, world-esteemed, world-excelling, world-exciting, world-famed, world-familiar, world-famous, world-favored, world-fearing, world-felt, world-forgetting, world-forgotten, world-forming, world-forsaken, world-forsaking, world-fretted, world-girdling, world-gladdening, world-governing, world-grasping, world-great, world-grieving, world-hailed, world-hardened, world-hating, world-heating, world-helping, world-honored, world-horrifying, world-humiliating, world-imagining, world-improving, world-infected, world-informing, world-involving, world-jaded, world-jeweled, world-joining, world-kindling, world-knowing, world-known, world-lamented, world-lasting, world-leading, world-leveling, world-lighting, world-linking, world-long, world-loving, world-mad, world-made, worldmaker, n. & world-making, n. & adj., world-marked, world-mastering, world-melting, world-menacing, world-missed, world-mocking, world-mourned, world-moving, world-naming, world-needed, world-neglected, world-nigh, world-noised, world-noted, world-obligating, world-observed, world-occupying, world-offending, world-old, world-opposing, world-oppressing, world-ordering, world-organizing, world-outraging, world-overcoming, world-overthrowing, world-owned, world-paralyzing, world-pardoned, world-patriotic, world-peopling, world-perfecting, world-pestering, world-picked, world-pitied, world-plaguing, world-pleasing, world-poisoned, world-pondered, world-populating, world-portioning, world-possessing, world-practiced, world-preserving, world-prevalent, world-prized, world-producing, world-prohibited, worldproof, world-protected, world-raising, world-rare, world-read, world-recognized, world-redeeming, world-reflected, world-regulating, world-rejected, world-rejoicing, world-relieving, world-remembered, world-renewing, world-renowned, world-resented, world-respected, world-restoring, world-revealing, world-reviving, world-revolving, world-ridden, world-round, world-rousing, world-roving, world-ruling, world-sacred, world-sacrificing, world-sanctioned, world-sated, world-saving, world-scarce, world-scattered, world-schooled, world-scorning, world-seasoned, world-serving, world-settling, world-shaking, world-sharing, world-shocking, world-sick, world-simplifying, world-sized, world-slandered, world-sobered, world-soiled, world-spoiled, world-spread, world-stained, world-startling, world-staying, world-stirring, world-strange, world-studded, world-subduing, world-sufficing, world-supplying, world-supporting, world-surrounding, world-surveying, world-sustaining, world-swallowing, world-taking, world-taming, world-taught, world-tempted, world-tested, world-thrilling, world-tired, world-tolerated, world-tossing, world-troubling, world-turning, world-uniting, world-used, world-valid, world-valued, world-venerated, world-wearied, world-wearing, world-wandering, world-wanted, world-wasting, world-watched, world-welcome, world-wept, world-wideness, world-winning, world-witnessed, world-worn, world-wrecking — against the world. Against all opposition. — all the world. See in the Vocabulary. — a world to see. A wonder to see; something admirable or surprising to see. Obs. Shak. — for all the world. See under ALL THE WORLD. — (all) the world and his wife. Everybody; esp., everybody of social position; as, all the world and his wife flocked to her receptions. Jocose. — the world beyond (the grave). The future existence or state of being. — to go to the world. To get married. Obs.

Thus goes everyone to the world but I . . . ; I may sit in a corner and cry heigh-ho for a husband! Shak.

world (wûrld), adj. Of or pertaining to the world or worlds; as, world era; earthly; mundane; also, world-wide; universal; as, world affairs or problems.

world, v. t. To populate; also, to give birth to. Obs.

world ash. = YGGDRASILL.

world'aught' (wûrld'ôt'), n. [Cf. AS. weoroldæht.] Worldly property. Obs.

world'-beat'er (-bēt'ĕr), n. Something excellent of its kind; a superior person, idea, article, object, etc. Slang. — world'-beat'ing, adj.

world belt. A belt or zone extending around the earth.
The central world belt of human progress up to the present era lies along the fortieth parallel of north latitude. Cambr. Hist. of Amer. Lit.

world concept. A philosophical conception of the world as a whole, with reference to its fundamental principle and organization. Cf. WELTANSICHT.

world'-con'scious, adj. Conscious of interests and concerns affecting people of all nations and regions; conscious of, and concerned with, universal sympathies, activities, reactions, emotions, etc. — world'-con'scious·ness, n.

World Court. The Permanent Court of International Justice.

world'ed (wûrl'dĕd; -dĭd; 119), adj. Provided with, or abounding in, worlds.

World Goodwill Day. = PEACE DAY.

world ground. The underlying basis of reality; as, Schopenhauer conceived will to be the world ground.

world'ish (wûrl'dĭsh), adj. Somewhat worldly.

world line. Math. The aggregate of all positions (in space-time) of any individual particle that retains its identity; the spatial career of such an element through all time.

world'li·ness (wûrld'lĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Quality of being worldly; disposition or tendency to emphasize the things of the world rather than those of the spirit.
That worldliness, that willingness to get the most out of occasions and people. Willa Cather.

world'ling (wûrld'lĭng), n. [world + 1st -ling.] A person engrossed in the concerns of this present world; one devoted to this world and its enjoyments.
And worldlings blot the temple's gold. Keble.

world'ly (-lĭ), adj.; WORLD'LI·ER (-lĭ·ĕr); WORLD'LI·EST. [AS. woruldlic.] 1. Of or belonging to this world or existence in this world; not heavenly or spiritual; earthly.
Standing by no other worldly mean but that one only hand which erected it. Hooker.
2. Specif., of or relating to the concerns of this life as distinguished from those of the life to come; interested in, or concerned with, the enjoyments of this present existence; secular; as, worldly pleasures, affections, honor, lusts, men.
I thus neglecting worldly ends. Shak.
3. Wise in the ways of this present world; sophisticated; as, a worldly view to take.
4. Lay, as opposed to clerical. Now Rare.
Syn. — See EARTHLY. Ant. — Spiritual, high-minded. — world'ly, adv.

world'ly-mind'ed (66), adj. Devoted to, or engrossed in, worldly interests. — world'ly-mind'ed·ly, adv. — world'ly-mind'ed·ness, n.

world'ly-wise' (66), adj. Wise as to things and ways of this world.

Worldly Wiseman, Mr. A character in Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, who tries to dissuade Christian from his journey.

world myth. Anthropol. A creative story or traditional narrative accounting for the origin and present state of the world. It is frequently held sacred and recited only on solemn occasions, or as part of a ritual.

world point. Math. A point in four-dimensional space-time.

world politics. Polit. Science. International politics; political affairs and policies of all the states of the world, insofar as they affect any other state or states or intercourse between other states. Cf. WELTPOLITIK.

world pound. One one-hundredth of a center (which see); — so called by some as an international unit.

world power. A state or organization powerful enough to affect world politics by its influence or actions. See POWER, n., 4 a; cf. GREAT POWERS.

world première. Theat. First performance.

world'quake' (wûrld'kwāk'), n. [From world + quake, after earthquake.] A quake that shakes or affects the entire world.
They are so young a nation . . . worldquakes to them are such an adventure. Galsworthy.

World's Columbian Exposition, World's Fair. See EXPOSITION, 5, Table.

world'-self', n. That which constitutes the individuality, ego, or subject, of the universe.

world's end. The end, or most distant part, of the world; the remotest regions. Cf. THULE.

world series, world's series. Baseball. A series of baseball games played in the fall of each year between the champion teams of the two major leagues to decide the professional championship of the United States.

World's Fair plant. Mock cypress.

world soul. A spiritual being having the same relation to the world as a whole that the soul has to the individual being. See ABSOLUTE, n., 3; ATMAN; 2d BRAHMA, 1; NOUS, 1.
Fechner's hypothesis of a world soul, the highest spirit, God, who embraces all psychophysical processes. Encyc. Brit.

world speech. Universal language.

world spirit. The animating spirit of the universe; God or the Absolute, as conceived by idealists or by pantheists.

World's Student Christian Federation. A federation, founded 1895, of national fellowships of students who desire to understand the Christian faith and live the Christian life and whose units of organization are associations in the universities and colleges.

world state. a A theoretical federation of the nations of the world to which all would be subject in international affairs. b A world power.

worlds to see, say, do, etc. An indefinitely great amount or number of things to see, say, do, etc. Colloq.

world's wonder. The soapwort Saponaria officinalis.

world tree. Norse Myth. = YGGDRASILL.

world view. Translation of WELTANSCHAUUNG.

World War. See WAR, Table.

world'way' (wûrld'wā'), n. The highway of the world. Poet.

world'-wea'ry, adj. Weary of the world, or wearied by the life of the world; esp., bored by overindulgence in material pleasures. — world'-wea'ried, adj. — world'-wea'ri·ly, adv. — world'-wea'ri·ness, n.

world'-wide' (66), adj. Extended throughout the world. — world'-wide'ly, adv.

world'-wise', adj. Worldly-wise.

world without end. Eternally; forever; as if in a state of existence having no end. — world'-with·out'-end', adj.
Throughout all ages, world without end. Amen. Eph. iii. 21.

worm (wûrm), n. [ME. worm, wurm, werm, wirm, worm, serpent, fr. AS. wyrm, wurm; akin to D. worm, OS. & G. wurm, ON. ormr, Sw. & Dan. orm, Goth. waurms, L. vermis, Gr. rhomos a wood worm. Cf. VERMICELLI, VERMILION, VERMIN.] 1. A reptile; a serpent. Obs. exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
2. An earthworm or angleworm; also, a larva; grub; maggot; esp., a destructive maggot that feeds on vegetation, fabrics, or the like.
3. Any of numerous small, elongate, and slender, creeping or crawling animals, usually soft-bodied, naked, and limbless or nearly so; any animal having a real or fancied resemblance to an angleworm or earthworm. In this sense the term is applied to the greatest variety of animals, as the earthworm, galleyworm, silkworm, blindworm, etc., including representatives of most of the phyla of animals from the Platyhelminthes to the Vertebrata.
4. A being likened to or suggesting a worm by reason of its humility, debasement, or the like; a miserable wretch.
I am a worm, and no man. Ps. xxii. 6.
5. Anything spiral, vermiculated, or conceived of as like a worm; as: a The thread of a screw. b pl. The coiled pods of Astragalus hamosus. See CATERPILLAR, 3 b.
6. Something that inwardly torments or devours in a way suggesting the gnawing, boring or, working of a worm.
The worm of conscience still begnaw thy soul! Shak.
7. a pl. Any disorder due to the presence of parasitic worms in the body, as in the intestines; helminthiasis. b Scot. Toothache.
8. A tube or pipe twisted into coils; also, a system of such coiled tube or pipe; specif., Distilling, a spiral condensing tube.
9. Anat. = VERMIS.

work'stand', n. = WORKTABLE. workt. Worked. Ref. Sp.
work'y-day'. † WORKADAY. world'ful, n. See -FUL. world'hood, n. Worldly means or standing. Obs. world'less, adj. See -LESS.
world'let, n. See -LET.
world'li·hode, n. Worldliness. Obs. world'like', adj. See -LIKE. world'li·ly, adv. of WORLDLY. world'man, n. A layman; worldling. Obs.
worlds'-high', adj. See -HIGH.
worlds'make', n. [world, in gen. case, in the old sense of lifetime + make a companion.] Companion in life; husband. Obs. world'thing', n. A worldly matter. Obs. world'ward, world'wards, adv. See -WARD, -WARDS. world'y, adj. = WORLDLY. Now Rare.

10. Mech. A short revolving screw, the threads of which gear with the teeth of a worm wheel, or a rack. See WORM THREAD.
11. Mech. An Archimedean screw, or a conveyer working on the same principle.
12. Zool. a Any member of the now obsolete phylum Vermes. The term has no definite application in zoology, but is much used: (1) as a convenient designation for a host of invertebrate animals whose relationships are not understood and which formerly constituted a part of the phylum Vermes; a platyhelminth, a nemathelminth, a trochelminth, one of the Annelida, etc.; (2) in combination as a vernacular name for certain phyla or other groups, as a flatworm, roundworm, annelid worm, etc. b = LYTTA.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

worm-breeding	worm-gnawn	worm-ripe worm-cankered	worm-killing	worm-shaped worm-consumed	worm-pierced	worm-spun worm-destroying	worm-resembling	worm-tongued worm-driven	worm-reserved	worm-worn worm-gnawed	worm-riddled	worm-wrought

-worm (-wûrm). A combining form of the noun worm, as in:

angleworm	galleyworm	screwworm
arrowworm	gapeworm	shipworm backworm	glareworm	silkworm bagworm	glowworm	slowworm
basketworm	gourdworm	snakeworm bitterworm	grassworm	spanworm blindworm	grubworm	spileworm bloodworm	hagworm	splitworm bollworm	hairworm	springworm bookworm	hangworm	starworm budworm	hookworm	strawworm cankerworm	hornworm	taintworm caseworm	inchworm	tapeworm churrworm	jointworm	threadworm clamworm	lobworm	thunderworm codworm	lugworm	webworm
cutworm	lurgworm	wheatworm dropworm	pickleworm	wheatworm earthworm	pileworm	whipworm eelworm	pillworm	whiteworm figworm	pinworm	willowworm fireworm	ringworm	wireworm flagworm	rootworm	woodworm flatworm	roundworm
flukeworm	sandworm

worm (wûrm), v.; WORMED (wûrmd); WORM'ING. Intransitive: 1. To seek or dig for worms, as for bait in fishing.
2. To move, go, or work slowly, deviously, and insidiously, in a manner suggesting the motion or working of a worm.
Already some of these riffraff are worming into it. Tarkington.
3. Angling. To fish with worms as bait.
4. Naut. To lay a small line or yarn in the interstices between the strands of a larger rope, to make an even surface before parceling and serving.
——, Transitive: 1. To work or effect by slow, devious, and insidious means; as, to worm one's way through the tall grass; to worm oneself into another's confidence; also, to remove, draw, or the like, by such means; — often with out.
They find themselves wormed out of all power. Swift.
They wormed things out of me that I had no desire to tell. Dickens.
2. To spy upon. Obs.
3. To worm-eat; — chiefly in passive.
4. To remove or clear out worms from; to free of worms.
5. To clean, or draw a wad or cartridge from (a muzzle-loading firearm), with a wormer.
6. To cut the worm, or lytta, from under the tongue of, as a dog, to check a disposition to gnaw. The operation was formerly supposed to guard against rabies.
7. To make a screw thread on. Obs.
8. Agric. To remove boring insects or larvae from (a tree) as with a wire.
9. Naut. To wind rope, yarn, etc., spirally round and between the strands of (a cable or rope), before serving.

worm abscess. Med. An abscess produced by the irritation resulting from the lodgment of a worm in the body. worm aneurysm. Veter. The dilatation of the walls of a blood vessel caused by the presence of nematode worms.
worm bark. The bark of the angelin (Andira inermis), having powerful narcotic properties, and sometimes used in medicine as a vermifuge. Cf. SURINAM BARK. worm brood. A nest of young worms. worm burrow. The hole made in the earth by a worm; a wormhole; esp., such a hole found preserved in fossils.
worm capsule. Veter. A capsule or pill containing medicine designed to expel worms, as from dogs.
worm cast. a One of the cylindrical masses of earth voided by earthworms. b The fossil trail of a worm. worm conveyer. Mach. A screw conveyer. See CONVEYER, 2. worm disease. Med. Any disease due to infestation with worms, esp. ancylostomiasis. worm'-eat' (wûrm'ēt'), v. t. To bore through or perforate; hence, to impair by or as by boring through or perforating. "Leave off these vanities which worm-eat your brain." Jervas. — v. i. To become worm-eaten. Obs. exc. Dial. — worm'-eat'er (-ēr), n.
worm'-eat' (-ēt'; -ēt'; cf. EAT, v. t., past part.), adj. Worm-eaten. Obs.
worm'-eat'en (-ēt'n), adj. 1. Eaten, or eaten into, by a worm or by worms; as, worm-eaten timber; hence, weakened as by the ravages of worms.
Worm-eaten by the flagrant family interests of their dynasties. C. A. Beard.
2. Worn-out; old; worthless. Rare.
— worm'-eat'en·ness, n. Rare.
worm'-eat'ing, adj. Feeding on worms. worm-eating warbler. A warbler (Helmitheros vermivorus) of the eastern United States of chiefly terrestrial habits. It is olivaceous above and creamy below with black and buffy stripes on the crown.
wormed (wûrmd), adj. 1. Bored through or penetrated by worms; injured by worms; worm-eaten; as, wormed timber.
2. Furnished with a worm or screw thread.
worm'er (wûr'mĕr), n. 1. One who gathers worms, as for bait; also, one who fishes with worms as bait.
2. One who or that which clears out worms, as from dogs.
3. One who works or effects something by slow, devious, and insidious means; esp., one who worms secrets from people.
4. A double screw on the end of a rammer for extracting a wad or cartridge from a muzzle-loading gun; also, a rammer with such a screw.
5. = SCREWER.

worm fence. A zigzag fence of rails crossing at their ends; — called also snake fence, Virginia rail fence.

worm fever. Med. A fever in young children, ascribed to worms.

Worm Gear. a Worm; b Worm Wheel.

worm gear. Mach. a A worm wheel. b A gear of a worm and a worm wheel working together. — worm'-gear', adj. — worm'-geared', adj. — worm gearing.
worm'-geared' plan'er. Mach. See PLANER, n., a. worm grass. a U. S. Pinkroot. b A European white-flowered stonecrop (Sedum album); — so called from its repute as a medicine. worm gut. = GUT, n., 4. worm'hole' (wûrm'hōl'), n. The burrow of a worm; esp., the minute hole in wood, cloth, paper, etc., made by a worm or larva. — worm'holed' (-hōld'), adj.
Wor'mi·an (wôr'mĭ·ăn), adj. Anat. Discovered or described by Olaus Wormius, a Danish anatomist.
Wormian bone. Any small irregular plate of bone interposed in suture between large cranial bones.
wor'mil (wôr'mĭl), n. [Var. of WARNEL.] 1. A warble or other fly larva which burrows beneath the skin of animals.
2. = 5th WARBLE, 2 a. worm'ing (wûr'mĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WORM. Hence: n. The action of one who worms. — worm'ing, adj. worm'ling (wûrm'lĭng), n. [worm + 1st -ling.] A little worm; figuratively, a miserable wretch. Rare.
worm moss. A red alga (Gracilaria helminthochorton) of the Mediterranean, sometimes used as an anthelmintic. worm'-nest', n. Veter. A swelling or nodule in the brisket or flank of cattle, containing worms of the genus Onchocerca.
worm oil. An anthelmintic oil distilled from Mexican tea (Chenopodium ambrosioides). worm powder. An anthelmintic powder. worm punch. A punch to plug wormholes in casks, etc.
worm'seed' (wûrm'sēd'), n. 1. Any of several plants whose seeds possess anthelmintic properties, as Artemisia santonica and A. pauciflora, Chenopodium ambrosioides (the Mexican tea), etc.
2. Pharm. a The fruit of the Mexican tea (Chenopodium ambrosioides). b The drug santonica; — called specif. Levant wormseed.
wormseed mustard. A slender mustardlike plant (Cheirinia cheiranthoides) whose seed was formerly reputed anthelmintic. wormseed oil. See OIL, Table I. worm shell. Any shell of Vermetus or an allied genus. worm snake. Any of certain small, harmless, burrowing snakes of wormlike appearance, as the thunder snake Carphophis amoena.
worm tea. Med. An anthelmintic tea or tisane. worm thread. Mach. Any form of screw thread suitable for the worms of worm gearing. For industrial gearing, the thread profile, on a plane containing the axes of the worm, is usually that of a rack with involute teeth set at an angle of 14½°; for automotive gearing other forms with a larger pressure angle are commonly used.
worm tincture. Med. A tincture prepared from dried earthworms, oil of tartar, spirits of wine, etc. Obs.
worm tube. 1. The membranous, parchmentlike, or shelllike tube made by many marine worms.
2. Distilling. A worm. See WORM, n., 8. worm'weed' (wûrm'wēd'), n. The pinkroot Spigelia marilandica. worm wheel. Mach. A toothed wheel gearing with the thread or threads of a worm. — worm'-wheel', adj.
worm'-wheel' hob thread. Mach. The thread form on hobs used for cutting worm-wheel teeth or worm threads. It is identical with the worm thread, except for slight differences necessary to produce clearance in the latter. See SCREW THREAD.
worm wire. = FISH TAPE.
worm'wood' (wûrm'wŏŏd'), n. [AS. wermōd; akin to OHG. wermuota, wormuota, G. wermuth, wermut; of uncert. origin. Cf. VERMUTH.] 1. a A European woody herb (Artemisia absinthium) of a bitter, slightly aromatic taste, formerly used as a tonic and a vermifuge, to protect garments from moths, and in brewing, but now chiefly in making absinthe (which see). It yields a dark-green oil (oil of wormwood). b Any other species of Artemisia.
2. Anything very bitter or grievous; bitterness; as, it was wormwood to him to have to accept charity.
Remembering my. . . misery, the wormwood and the gall. Lam. iii. 19. wormwood oil. See OIL, Table I. wormwood sage. The wild sage Artemisia frigida.
worm'y (wûr'mĭ), adj.; WORM'I·ER (-mĭ·ĕr); WORM'I·EST. 1. Of, pertaining to, containing, or abounding with, worms; also, worm-eaten.
2. Infested with worms; as, a wormy dog; the wormy grave.
3. Resembling or suggesting a worm; hence, earthy; also, groveling; humble. worn (wōrn; 181), past part. of WEAR. Hence: adj. a Showing wear or use. b Weakened by age, labor, worry, illness, or the like. c Exhausted of fertility, as land. d Hackneyed; stale; commonplace; trite; as, a worn simile.

-worn. A combining form of worn, as in:

careworn	timeworn	weatherworn
cliff-worn	toilworn	well-worn footworn	travel-worn	wheel-worn seaworn	vice-worn	wit-worn shopworn	wan-worn	woeworn
tempest-worn	warworn	work-worn tide-worn	waterworn	world-worn worn'-down' (wōrn'doun'; 66; 181), adj. a Showing the effect of wear; as, a worn-down pair of slippers. b Nervously exhausted or fatigued; as, a worn-down woman, weary of eternal housework. worn'ness (-nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Condition of showing wear or continued use.

worn'-out' (-out'; 66), adj. Exhausted by wear; consumed, rendered useless, or impaired, by or as if by use; as, a worn-out garment; a worn-out man; a worn-out age; also, hackneyed; made commonplace by much use; trite; as, worn-out metaphors. — worn'-out'ness, n.
wor'ral (wŏr'ăl), wor'rel (wŏr'ĕl), n. [Ar. waral lizard.] A monitor lizard.
wor'ri·a·ble (wûr'ĭ·ȧ·b'l), adj. Capable of being worried, as by shaking and tearing with the teeth.
wor'ri·cow' (wûr'ĭ·kōō'), n. Also wor'rie·cow'. [worry, v. + cow a hobgoblin.] A bugaboo; a hobgoblin; specif., the Devil. Chiefly Scot.

wor'ried (wûr'ĭd), past tense & past part. of WORRY. Hence: adj. Subject to worry; affected by worry; anxious and fearful. — wor'ried·ly, adv. — wor'ried·ness, n.
wor'ri·er (wûr'ĭ·ĕr), n. One who or that which worries.
wor'ri·ment (-mĕnt), n. [See WORRY.] Act or an instance of worrying; also, trouble; worry. Colloq.
wor'ri·some (-sŭm), adj. Inclined to worry or fret; also, causing worry; troublesome. — wor'ri·some·ly, adv. Rare. — wor'ri·some·ness, n. wor'rit (wûr'ĭt), n. A worried condition; also, worry; trouble; fidget; sometimes, one who worries. Dial. wor'rit, v. t. & i. To worry. — wor'rit·er (-ĕr), n. Both Dial.
wor'ry (wûr'ĭ; 245), v.; WOR'RIED (-ĭd); WOR'RY·ING. [ME. worowen, wirien, to strangle, fr. AS. wyrgan; akin to D. worgen, wurgen, to strangle, OHG. wurgen, G. würgen, also MHG. erwergen, Lith. veržti, and to E. WRING.] Transitive: 1. To choke; strangle. Obs. exc. Dial.
2. To eat voraciously; to swallow greedily. Now Dial.
3. To harass with or as if with continual snapping or biting; also, to shake and tear or mangle with the teeth.
The kingbird will worry the hawk as a whiffet dog will worry a bear. J. Burroughs.
4. Hence, in a weakened sense, to keep touching, poking, scratching, or the like.
Sophia was fidgeting . . . and worrying a seam of the carpet with her toes. Arnold Bennett.
5. To harass or beset with importunity, or with care and anxiety; to vex; torment; fret; trouble; plague.
A church worried with reformation. South.
Worry him out till he gives his consent. Swift.
6. In a weakened sense, to bother; annoy.
Will it worry you if I smoke? Philip Gibbs.
7. To make progress along or through under difficulty and by means of dogged persistence; as, he worried his way through the snowdrifts to the barn.
——, Intransitive: 1. To choke; strangle. Obs. exc. Dial.
2. To be engaged in worrying, or mangling, something by shaking and tearing it with the teeth.
3. To feel or express great care and anxiety; to manifest disquietude or pain; to fret; chafe; to be or become anxious and fearful; as, the child worries.
4. To advance or progress under difficulty and with dogged persistence; as, he worried through the work of the day and then went home; of the wind, to blow steadily and harassingly.
Syn. and Ant. — See HARASS. worry down. To swallow down with effort.
worry out. a To find with difficulty a solution of.
She can still worry out her financial problems. Samuel Butler.
b To harass; tease; as, to worry the life out of a person.
worry the sword. Fencing. To worry or disconcert an opponent by quick balking motions, as if about to thrust or feint.
wor'ry (wûr'ĭ), n.; pl. -RIES (-ĭz). 1. Act of worrying, or shaking and mangling with the teeth.
2. Undue solicitude; disturbance due to care and anxiety; vexation; anxiety; as, the petty worries of everyday life.
3. A cause of solicitude or anxiety; as, her investments are a great worry to her.
wor'ry-carl' (-kärl'), n. A snarling ill-natured person. Scot. wor'ry·ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WORRY. Hence: adj. That worries. — wor'ry·ing·ly, adv.
wor'ry·ing, n. The act or action of one who worries; anxiety; as, a long period of worrying led to her nervous prostration.
worse (wûrs), adj., used as compar. of BAD. [ME. werse, worse, wurse, fr. AS. wiersa, wyrsa, a compar. with no corresponding positive; akin to OS. wirsa, OFris. wirra, OHG. wirsiro, ON. verri, Goth. wairsiza, and perh. to OHG. werran to bring into confusion, E. WAR.] 1. Bad, ill, evil, or corrupt, in a greater degree; more bad or evil; less good; specif., in poorer health; more sick; — used both in a physical and moral sense.
[She] was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse. Mark v. 26.
2. More unfavorable, unpleasant, or the like; less agreeable.
3. More unsuitable; less fitting or proper; as, worse behavior than that of the rest of the spectators.
4. Of lower quality, value, worth, or the like; base; inferior.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

worse-bodied	worse-mannered	worse-tempered worse-dispositioned	worse-natured	worse-thoughted worse, n. 1. That which is worse (in various senses); as, to make a change for the worse.

Thus bad begins, and worse remains behind. Shak.
Rarely, specif., disadvantage; defeat.
Judah was put to the worse before Israel. 2 Kings xiv. 12.
2. A person of inferior character (as compared with another specified or understood).
I fear there will a worse come in his place. Shak.
— to go by the worse. To be defeated; to lose; to be worsted. Obs. — to have the worse. a To be worsted. b To be comparatively at a disadvantage.
worse, adv. [AS. wiers, wyrs; akin to OS. & OHG. wirs, ON. verr, Goth. wairs. See WORSE, adj.] In a worse degree; in a manner more evil or bad, more severe, more unpleasant or disagreeable, more careless or unskillful, etc.
Now will we deal worse with thee than with them. Gen. xix. 9.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

worse-affected	worse-informed	worse-satisfied worse-applied	worse-lighted	worse-served worse-born	worse-mated	worse-spent worse-bred	worse-named	worse-succeeding worse-calculated	worse-opinionated	worse-taught worse-conditioned	worse-ordered	worse-timed worse-disposed	worse-paid	worse-treated worse-executed	worse-performed	worse-typed worse-faring	worse-printed	worse-utilized worse-governed	worse-rated	worse-wanted worse-handled	worse-ruled	worse-wrought worse, v. t. & i. To make or become worse; also, to worst. Obs.

worse'ment (wûrs'mĕnt), n. [From worse, v., after betterment.] Deterioration in the value or usefulness of a piece of real property caused by action taken by outside persons or interests without the consent of the owner of the property; — the opposite of betterment.
wors'en (wûr's'n), v.; WORS'ENED (-s'nd); WORS'EN·ING. Transitive: 1. To make worse; to cause to deteriorate; to impair; esp., to cause a depreciation in the value of (a piece of property).
Their condition is greatly worsened. Southey.

wor'mal (wôr'mȧl). Var. of WORMIL. worm'-and-spur'-gear' el'e·va'tor. See GEARED TRACTION ELEVATOR. wormd. Wormed. Ref. Sp. worm'fowl', n. Birds that eat worms. Obs. worm'-gear' el'e·va'tor. See GEARED TRACTION ELEVATOR. worm'hood, n. See -HOOD. worm'ish, adj. Wormlike. Obs. worm'less, adj. See -LESS.
worm'like', adj. & adv. See -LIKE. worm'proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF. worm'root', n. = AMERICAN WORMROOT (see PINKROOT). worm'ship, n. See -SHIP. worma'meat', n. Flesh as meat for worms. Obs.
wor'mul (wôr'mŭl). Var. of WORMIL. wor'nil (wôr'nĭl). Var. of WORMIL. worold. ✝ WORLD.
worowen. ✝ WORRY.
worpe. ✝ WARP.
worre. ✝ WAR.
worreor. ✝ WARRIOR.
wor'ret. Dial. Eng. of WORRIT. wor'rid. Worried. Ref. Sp. wor'ri·less (wûr'ĭ·lĕs), adj. See -LESS. wor'ry-cow'. Var. of WORRICOW. wor'ry-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

2. To get the better of; to worst. Rare.

—, Intransitive: To grow or become worse.

The character of most of the shops seemed to have worsened. Arnold Bennett.

worse'ness (wûrs'nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n. Quality or state of being worse.

wors'en·ing (wûr's'n·ĭng), pres. part. & verbal n. of WORSEN. Hence: n. A growing or becoming worse; deterioration; depreciation; degeneration.

This worsening of German labor conditions. Am. Labor Year Book.

wors'er (wûr'sĕr), adj. Worse; — a redundant comparative formerly often used. "Worser thoughts." Bunyan. — adv. Worse.

wors'er, v. t. To render worse, more unfavorable, etc. R.

wor'ship (wûr'shĭp), n. [ME. worschipe, wurthscipe, fr. AS. weorthscipe, fr. weorth worth + -scipe -ship. See WORTH, n. & adj.; -SHIP.] 1. Courtesy or reverence paid to merit or worth; hence, civil deference; honor; respect.

Then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee. Luke xiv. 10.

2. Excellence of character; dignity; worth; worthiness; also, repute; reputation; fame; credit; renown. Obs.

A man of worship. Chaucer.

Elfin, born of noble state,
And muckle worship in his native land. Spenser.

3. A title of honor, used in addresses to certain magistrates and others of rank or station.

My father desires your worships' company. Shak.

4. That which is praiseworthy; a valorous act or feat; something reflecting credit and honor on a person. Obs.

5. Act of paying divine honors to a deity; religious reverence and homage adoration, or reverence, paid to God, a being viewed as God, or something held as sacred from a reputed connection with God.

God with idols in their worship joined. Milton.

The worship of God is an eminent part of religion, and prayer is a chief part of religious worship. Tillotson.

6. Obsequious or submissive respect or devotion; extravagant admiration; adoration.

'T is not your inky brows, your black silk hair, . . .
That can entame my spirits to your worship. Shak.

7. An object of worship.

In attitude and aspect formed to be
At once the artist's worship and despair. Longfellow.

Syn. — See REVERENCE. Ant. — Disrespect, irreverence.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are: worship-paying, worshipworth, worshipworthy.

wor'ship (wûr'shĭp), v.; WOR'SHIPED (-shĭpt) or WOR'SHIPPED; WOR'SHIP·ING or WOR'SHIP·PING. Transitive: 1. To treat with the reverence due to merit or worth; to respect; honor. Now Rare.

This holy image that is man God worshipeth. Foxe.

2. To pay divine honors to; to reverence with supreme respect and veneration; to perform religious exercises in honor of; to adore; venerate.

When all our fathers worshiped stocks and stones. Milton.

3. To honor with extravagant love and extreme submission, as a lover; to adore; idolize.

With bended knees I daily worship her. Carew.

—, Intransitive: To perform acts of homage or adoration; esp., to perform religious service.

Our fathers worshiped in this mountain. John iv. 20.

Syn. — Revere, reverence, honor.

Ant. — Despise, scorn, abhor.

worship the golden calf. To pay undue attention to riches or material worldly success.

wor'ship·er, wor'ship·per (-ĕr), n. One who worships or adores, esp. one who pays divine honors to any object.

wor'ship·ful (-fŏŏl; -f'l), adj 1. Entitled to worship, reverence, or high respect; worthy of honor; notable; distinguished. "This is worshipful society." Shak.

[She is] so dear and worshipful. Chaucer.

2. Honorable; esteemed; — used in formal address; as, worshipful sirs; specif. [cap. as a title], in Freemasonry, designating a certain official station; as, Worshipful Master. See MASTER, n., 10.

3. Rendering reverence or adoration; worshiping; adoring; as, the dog's worshipful eyes fixed on his master.

— wor'ship·ful·ly, adv. — wor'ship·ful·ness, n.

worst (wûrst), adj., used as superl. of BAD. [ME. werst, worst, wurst, fr. AS. wyrsta, wersta, wurresta; akin to OHG. wirsisto, ON. verstr. See WORSE.] Bad, unpleasant, disagreeable, harmful, inferior, unfortunate, evil, or pernicious, in the highest degree. See WORSE.

If thou hadst not been born the worst of men, Thou hadst been a knave and flatterer. Shak.

— the worst way. Very much; as much as can be; as, I want it the worst way, but I cannot afford to buy it. Colloq.

worst, n. That which is most bad, unpleasant, harmful, inferior, or evil; the most severe, depressed, degraded, objectionable, detestable, pernicious, calamitous, or wicked state or degree.

The worst is not So long as we can say, This is the worst. Shak.

— at the worst. Under the greatest conceivable disadvantage; as, you saw him at the worst; the fine could be only five dollars at the worst. — if, or when, (the) worst comes to (the) worst. If, or when, the worst happens. — to do one's worst. To do all the harm or damage that one can; as, I dared him to do his worst. — to get the worst of it. To be worsted or defeated. — to give one the worst of it. To get the better of one.

worst, adv. To the extreme degree of badness or inferiority; in a manner most bad, unpleasant, unfortunate, harmful, etc.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

worst-affected	worst-formed	worst-ruled worst-bred	worst-governed	worst-served worst-cast	worst-informed	worst-taught worst-damaged	worst-managed	worst-timed worst-deserving	worst-manned	worst-treated worst-disposed	worst-paid	worst-used worst-fashioned	worst-printed	worst-wanted worst, v. t.; WORST'ED; WORST'ING. [See WORSE, v. t. & adj.] To gain advantage over, in contest or competition; to get the better of; to defeat; overthrow; discomfit; also, Obs., to worsen; to cause deterioration in.

The . . . Philistines were worsted by the captivated ark. South.

— v. i. To grow worse; to deteriorate. Rare.

worst. Variant of WILL, v. Obs.

wor'sted (wŏŏs'tĕd; -tĭd; 119), n. [From Worsted, now spelled Worstead, Norfolk, Eng., for Worthstead. See WORTH, n.; STEAD.] 1. Originally, a kind of fine wool textile fabric made at Worstead, England, or one resembling it in texture and quality; now, any fabric woven from a certain type of yarn (see def. 2, below). As a rule, modern worsteds are not subjected to much finishing after weaving. All-wool serges and gabardines are representative worsteds.

2. A smooth-surfaced yarn for weaving, knitting, etc., spun from long-stapled pure wool combed so that its fibers lie parallel to each other; also, a similarly spun mixed, or union, yarn. Cf. WOOLEN, n., 2.

wor'sted, adj. Made from worsted; woven of worsted, as a thread, fabric, clothing, etc.

wort (wûrt), n. [ME. wort, wurt, fr. AS. wyrt herb, root; akin to OS. wurt, G. wurz, ON. urt, Dan. urt, Sw. ört, Goth. waurts a root, L. radix, Gr. rhiza a root, rhadamnos a branch, young shoot, rhadix a branch, ON. rōt root. Cf. LICORICE, ORCHARD, RADISH, RAY of light, ROOT, n., WORT infusion of malt.] 1. Bot. A plant or herb of any kind; esp., a pot herb.

2. pl. Cabbages. Obs.

-wort (-wûrt). A combining form of wort, as in:

adderwort	honewort	rattlewort
awlwort	honeywort	ribwort banewort	hoodwort	rosewort barrenwort	hornwort	ruewort bathwort	ironwort	rupturewort bearwort	ivywort	saltwort
beewort	kelpwort	sandalwort bellwort	kidneywort	sandwort birthwort	knightswort	sawwort bladderwort	knotwort	scorpionwort blisterwort	lagwort	sealwort bloodwort	lasarwort	sharewort blushwort	leadwort	sicklewort brimstonewort	lightwort	snakewort bristlewort	lilywort	snapwort brittlewort	limewort	sneezewort brotherwort	liverwort	soapwort brownwort	longwort	sparrowwort bruisewort	lousewort	spearwort burstwort	lungwort	spiderwort butterwort	madwort	spleenwort cancerwort	mallowwort	springwort cankerwort	marshwort	spurgewort caperwort	masterwort	spurwort colewort	Maywort	stabwort
coolwort	milkwort	staggerwort coralwort	miterwort	starchwort coughwort	moneywort	starwort crosswort	moonwort	stinkwort culverwort	moorwort	stitchwort
damewort	motherwort	stonewort
Danewort	mudwort	strapwort
deadwort	mugwort	streamwort dragonwort	navelwort	stylewort dropwort	nettlewort	swallowwort earwort	nipplewort	swanwort fanwort	parsleywort	tentwort figwort	passionwort	tetterwort flaxwort	peachwort	thoroughwort fleawort	pearlwort	throatwort flukewort	pennywort	toothwort flywort	pepperwort	torchwort gentianwort	pestilencewort	toywort glasswort	peterwort	treaclewort glidewort	pilewort	umbrellawort goutwort	pinkwort	walewort grapewort	pipewort	wallwort greenwort	pondwort	wartwort gutwort	poppywort	waterwort gypsywort	potwort	whitewort hammerwort	purplewort	whitlowwort heartwort	quillwort	whorlywort hempwort	quincewort	willowwort hogwort	quinsywort	woundwort holewort	ragwort	yellowwort wort (wûrt), n. [ME. worte, wurte, fr. AS. wyrt; akin to G. würze, bierwürze. See WORT herb.] An infusion of malt unfermented (sweetwort), or in fermentation; the sweet infusion of malt which ferments and forms beer; hence, any similar liquid in incipient fermentation. Wort is essentially a dilute solution of sugars, which by fermenting produces alcohol and carbon dioxide. When boiled with hops it is known as hopped wort.

wort. Var. of WHORT.

worth (wûrth), v. i. [ME. worthen, wurthen, to become, fr. AS. weorthan; akin to OS. werthan, OHG. werdan, ON. vertha, Goth. wairthan, to become, L. vertere to turn, Skr. vartate it turns, happens, Lith. versti to turn, virsti to fall, to become. For meaning in Teut., cf. E. to turn cold, to turn traitor. Cf. VERSION, VERST, -WARD, WEIRD.] 1. To be; become; betide; — now used only in archaic phrases with woe; as, woe worth the day, the man, etc., in which the nouns day, man, etc., represent the old dative with a subjunctive.

I counsel . . . to let the cat worthe. Piers Plowman.

2. To put oneself in a (specified) position; esp., to mount or get up (on a horse). Obs.

He worth upon [got upon] his steede gray. Chaucer.

worth (wûrth), adj. [ME. worth, wurth, werth, fr. AS. weorth, wurth (cf. also wyrthe, wierthe); akin to OFris. werth, OS. werth, D. waard, OHG. werd, G. wert, werth, ON. verthr, Sw. värd, Dan. værd, Goth. wairths. Cf. STALWART, WORSHIP, WORTHY.] 1. Of worth or of value; esp., worthy; also, desirable; fitting. Obs.

2. Deserving of; meriting; — chiefly in a good sense.

This is life indeed, life worth preserving. Addison.

3. Equal in value to; of the value of; furnishing an equivalent for; proper to be exchanged for.

If your arguments produce no conviction, they are worth nothing to me. Beattie.

4. Having possessions equal to; having wealth or estate to the value of; as, he is worth a million dollars.

— for what it is (or may be) worth. For whatever value it has or may turn out to have; — a phrase used in disclaiming responsibility; as, you must take this story for what it is worth. — not worth a cent, a curse, a hair, a rap, a row of pins, a rush, a whoop, etc. Of little or no value or account. Colloq. — not worth the candle. Not worth the cost, effort, or trouble. — worth one's salt. Colloq. a Of some value; — chiefly with a negative. b To be worth one's keep. See SALT, n., 6 a. — worth the whistle. Worth the trouble of summoning, as if by a whistle; — chiefly with a negative. Colloq.

worth (wûrth), n. [ME. worth, wurth, fr. AS. weorth, wurth (cf. also wyrthu); akin to ON. verth, G. wert. See WORTH, adj.] 1. That quality or sum of qualities of a thing rendering it valuable or useful; value; importance; hence, often, value as expressed in a standard, as money; equivalent in exchange; price. Cf. NET WORTH.

What's worth in anything
But so much money as 't will bring? Hudibras.

2. Value in respect of moral or personal qualities; excellence; virtue; eminence; desert; merit; usefulness.

I know the gentleman
To be of worth, and worthy estimation. Shak.
To think how modest worth neglected lies. Shenstone.

3. Wealth; property; riches.

They are but beggars that can count their worth. Shak.

Syn. — See PRICE, DESERT.

— in worth, or in good worth. In good part; without dissatisfaction or anger. Archaic.

-worth. A combining form of the noun worth, used with units of currency, as in, halfpenny*worth,* threepenny*worth.*

worth, v. t. To honor. Obs.

worth (wûrth), n. [AS. worth, weorth, wurth.] A homestead or enclosed place; — used chiefly in place names, as Kenil*worth.*

worth'ful (wûrth'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. [AS. weorthfull.] Full of worth; worthy; deserving; precious. — -ful·ness, n.

Wor'thies, the Nine (wûr'thĭz). See NINE WORTHIES.

Wor'thies of Eng'land, The (wûr'thĭz). An anecdotic biographical record of eminent Englishmen and of provincial history (1662) by Thomas Fuller, valuable as a description of men and manners of his time. See Biog.

wor'thi·est of blood (wûr'thĭ·ĕst; -ĭst; 119). Eng. Law of Descent. Most worthy of those of the same blood to succeed or inherit; — applied to males, as opposed to females.

worth'less (wûrth'lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. [Cf. AS. weorthlēas.] Destitute of worth; having no value, virtue, excellence, dignity, or the like; undeserving; unworthy; valueless; useless; vile; mean; as a worthless garment, ship, man.

'T is but a worthless world to win or lose. Byron.

— worth'less·ly, adv. — worth'less·ness, n.

worth'-while' (-hwīl'; 66), adj. Predicatively, worth while. Being worth the time spent; of sufficient value to repay the effort. — worth'-while'ness, n.

worth'-while', n. That which is worth the time or effort expended.

wor'thy (wûr'thĭ), adj.; WOR'THI·ER (-thĭ·ĕr); WOR'THI·EST. [ME. worthi, wurthi. See WORTH, adj., WORTH, n.] 1. Having worth or excellence; possessing merit; valuable; deserving of honor, praise, or the like; estimable.

This worthy mind should worthy things embrace. Sir J. Davies.

2. Of high station; of high social position. Obs.

Worthy women of the town. Chaucer.

3. Having adequate worth, merit, or value, or a character adapted to make capable, fit, qualified, competent, or the like; meriting; deserving; fit; suitable (to); measuring up (to); suiting; befitting; — usually with of; more rarely, with a following infinitive or with that, for, or an objective without a preposition. Usually in a good sense.

No, Warwick, thou art worthy of the sway. Shak.
Whose shoes I am not worthy to bear. Matt. iii. 11.
And thou art worthy that thou shouldst not know More happiness. Milton.

4. Deserved; merited; also, well-founded. Archaic.

He has much worthy blame laid upon him. Shak.

-wor'thy. A combining form, AS. -wyrthe, of worthy, as in:

airworthy	loveworthy	seaworthy
blameworthy	markworthy	shameworthy bloodworthy	noteworthy	showworthy bribeworthy	painsworthy	sightworthy faithworthy	praiseworthy	songworthy fameworthy	prizeworthy	thankworthy helpworthy	quoteworthy	trustworthy honorworthy	respectworthy	wonderworthy keepworthy	roadworthy	worshipworthy laughworthy

wor'thy (wûr'thĭ), n.; pl. -THIES (-thĭz). 1. A person of eminent worth or value, or of conspicuous desert; one distinguished for useful and estimable qualities; — sometimes applied facetiously or colloquially to persons merely locally conspicuous; as, military worthies; village worthies.

The blood of ancient worthies in his veins. Cowper.

2. A thing of value or excellence. Obs. Shak.

wor'thy, adv. = WORTHILY.

wor'thy, v. t. To render worthy to exalt; honor. Obs.

wos'bird' (wŏz'bûrd'), n. [For whores' bird.] A bastard; also, a good-for-nothing. Dial. Eng.

wou'bit (wŏŏ'bĭt), n. [Cf. AS. wull wool, and budda beetle.] A hairy caterpillar; esp., a tiger-moth larva, or woolly bear. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wough (wō; wŏ), n. [AS. wāg, wāh, wall.] a Now Dial. A wall. b Mining. Scot. The wall rock beside a vein of lead.

wough (wŏK), n. [AS. wōh.] Wrong; harm. Obs.

wough (wŏŏf). Var. of 3d WOOF, n. & v. i. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wouh'lech'e, n. Also wouh'lech'ung·e. [AS. wōgian to woo.] Wooing. Obs.

would (wŏŏd; 71), past tense & (obs.) past part. of WILL, v. t. & auxil. & ẑd v. i. [ME. & AS. wolde. See WILL, v. t. & auxiliary.] For the use of would as an auxiliary in mood and tense phrases, see SHOULD. Special uses of would are: a In expressions of desire or wish; as, I would I were young again; — often with omission of the 1st personal pronoun and sometimes without to before the word denoting that which is adjured; as in, would God! where God was originally the subject. b In expressing what might be expected; as, that would make talk; or a customary or habitual action. Cf. 3d WILL.

The 'Squire would sometimes fall asleep in the most pathetic part of my sermon. Goldsmith.

would, n. A state or condition of mind with respect to some wish or purpose such as might be expressed by the verb would; as, each must weigh his woulds against his coulds and his shouldst.

would (wŏld; wŏd). Dial. Eng. var. of WOLD.

would (wŏld). Var. of 1st WELD.

wors'er·ment, n. = WORSEMENT.

wor'set (wûr'sĭt). Scot. & N. of Eng var. of WORSTED.

wor'ship·a·ble (wûr'shĭp·ȧ·b'l), adj. See -ABLE. — wor'ship·a·bil'i·ty (-bĭl'ĭtĭ), n. Rare.

wor'ship·ful·ty, n. Worshipfulness. Obs.

wor'ship·ing·ly, wor'ship·ping·ly, adv. of worshiping, pres. part. of WORSHIP.

wor'ship·less, adj. See -LESS.

wor'ship·ly, adj. Worshipful. Obs. — adv. Worshipfully. Obs.

wor'ship·per, wor'ship·ping. Vars. of WORSHIPER, WORSHIPING, etc.

wor'shipt. Worshipped. Ref. Sp.

wor'sle (wŏr's'l). Var. of WARSLE.

wor'sum, n. [AS. worsm, worms.] Purulent matter; pus. Obs.

worthfulhed, n. Worthiness. Obs.

wor'thies. n., pl. of WORTHY.

wor'thi·est (-thĭ·ĕst; -ĭst; 119), adj., superl. of WORTHY.

worthihede, n. [See -HEAD.] Honor; reputation. Obs.

wor'thi·ly, adv. of WORTHY.

wor'thi·ness, n. See -NESS.

worth'ing, n. Mire; filth; manure. Obs.

worth'ing, n. [AS. worthung.] Reverence; glory. Obs.

wortholker, worthlokest. Obs. compar. & superl. of WORTHLY.

worth'ly, adj. Worthy. Obs. — adv. Worthily. Obs.

wort'ness, n. [AS. weorthnesse.] Worthiness. Obs.

worth'ship, n. See -SHIP.

worth'ward (wûrth'wĕrd), adv. See -WARD.

wor'tle (wûr't'l), n., Var. of WHIRTLE. [BERRY.]

wor'tle·ber'ry. Var. of WHORTLE-wort'worm', n. Caterpillar. Obs.

wory, adj. [AS. wōrig.] Dirty Obs.

wosith, n. [See WOE; SITHE time.] A time of woe. Obs.

wost, n. A boast, brag. Obs. Scot.

wost, 2d pers. sing. pres. of WIT, to know. Obs.

wot (wŏt), 1st & 3d pers. sing. pres. of WIT, to know. Archaic exc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wot (wŏt). Var. of HOT, OAT. Obs. exc. Dial.

Wo'tan (wō'tăn), n. = WODEN.

Wo'te (wō'tē). Var. of VOTE.

wote (wŏt). Var. of WOT, know. Obs. exc. Dial.

woth. † WOT, know. [peril.]

woth, wothe. † OATH, WATHE, wothe, n. [AS. wāth a wandering.] Way; path. Obs.

wot'link, n. A wench. Obs. Scot.

wots, 3d pers. sing. pres. of WIT, v. See WIT, v., Note.

wotte. † WIT.

wot'test, wot'teth. See WIT, v., Note.

wou. Var. of WOW, n. Obs. exc. Dial.

wouch (wouK; wŏŏK). Scot. var. of WOUGH, bark.

wouf, wouff. Scot. vars. of WOUGH, bark.

would. † HOLD, OLD, WELD, WOLD.

N O P Q R S T U V W

would'-be', adj. Desiring or professing to be; wishing to be reputed; — often with an implication of real unworthiness or lack of ability in the specified character; as, a would-be poet. — n. One who wishes to be or to be reputed something one is not; a vain pretender.

would'-have-been', n. A person who or thing that would have accomplished something, or something more, if circumstances had been more favorable. Colloq.

would'n't (wōōd''nt). Colloquial contraction of would not.

Woulfe, also commonly Woulff, bottle or jar (wōōlf). [After Peter Woulfe (1727?–1803), Eng. chemist.] Chem. A kind of bottle or jar with two or three necks, used in washing or absorbing gases.

wound (wōōnd; now rarely, wound; 277; see note below), n. [ME. wounde, wunde, fr. AS. wund; akin to OFris. wunde, OS. wunda, D. wond, wonde, OHG. wu ta, G. wunde, ON. und, and to AS., OS., & G. wund sore, wounded, OHG. wunt, Goth. wunds. Cf. WEN, ZOUNDS.] 1. An injury to the body of a person or animal, esp. one caused by violence, by which the continuity of the covering, as skin, mucous membrane, or conjunctiva, is broken.

2. A cut or breach due to external violence in any part of a plant.

3. An injury, hurt, damage, detriment, or the like, to feelings, faculty, reputation, etc.

4. Plague. Obs. Chaucer.

5. Law. Any solution of the natural continuity of a tissue of the body. Formerly, in England, in criminal law, the skin must be broken to constitute a wound.

6. Surg. An opening made in the skin or any membrane of the body, incidentally to a surgical operation.

☞ The two pronunciations, wōōnd and wound, show the result of a divided tendency of ME. ou (ōō) to remain as Mod. E. ōō after w (woo, swoon) and before labials (room, stoop, tomb), or to become the diphthong ou (out) as in the past tenses found, bound, and, by analogy, wound (from wind, v.).

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wound-dressing	wound-marked	wound-scarred wound-fevered	wound-plowed	wound-secreted wound-inflicting	wound-producing	wound-worn wound, v.; WOUND'ED; WOUND'ING. [AS. wundian. See WOUND, n.] Transitive: 1. To hurt by violence. Now Rare, exc. specif., to produce a breach, or separation of parts, in, as by a cut, stab, blow, or the like; as, to wound an enemy with a sword; to wound a tree with an ax.

He was sore wounded of the archers. 1 Sam. xxxi. 3.

2. To hurt the feelings of; to pain by disrespect, ingratitude, or the like; to cause injury to.

When ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ. 1 Cor. viii. 12.

——, Intransitive: To inflict a wound or wounds; to give pain.

Syn. — Harm, hurt, injure; distress, grieve, pain.

Ant. — Heal; comfort.

wound (wound), past tense & past part. of WIND, to twist, and WIND, to sound by blowing.

wound chevron (wōōnd; wound). Mil. In the United States Army, a small gold chevron worn on the lower part of the right sleeve of the service uniform to indicate that the wearer has been wounded in action.

wound cork. Bot. Cork formed over wounded surfaces.

wound'ed, adj. Having suffered an injury, or wound, of any kind. — wound'ed-ly, adv.

wound'ed, n. Collectively, those who have suffered wounds, as in a battle; as, treatment of the wounded.

wound'er (wōōn'dĕr; woun'-), n. One who or that which wounds.

wound fever. Med. A fever following a wound or injury.

wound fungus. Any fungus that is a wound parasite.

wound gall. An elongated swollen or tuberous gall on the branches of the grapevine, caused by a small reddish-brown weevil (Ampeloglypter sesostris) whose larvae inhabit the galls.

a Wound Gall of the Grapevine; b Side View of Adult Weevil (Ampeloglypter sesostris).

wound'i-ly (wōōn'dĭ-lĭ; woun'-), adv. Excessively. Archaic.

wound'ing, pres. part. & verbal n. of WOUND. Hence: adj. That wounds. — wound'ing-ly, adv.

wound'less, adj. 1. Not wounding. Obs.

2. Free from wound; unwounded.

3. Invulnerable. "The woundless air."

wound parasite. Any parasite which gains entrance to its host through a wound.

wound rocket (wōōnd; wound). The yellow rocket Barbarea vulgaris.

wounds (woundz), interj. Short for GOD'S WOUNDS, a former form of oath. See under 1st OD.

wound'wort' (wōōnd'wûrt'; wound'-), n. Any of certain plants whose soft downy leaves have been used in the dressing of wounds, as the kidney vetch, various mints of the genus Stachys, the comfrey, Hercules's allheal, etc.

wound'worth' (-wûrth'), n. A West Indian woolly herb (Liabum brownei), family Carduaceae.

wound'y (wōōn'dĭ; woun'dĭ), adj. Excessive. — adv. Excessively. Both Archaic.

wound'y (wōōn'dĭ; woun'-), adj. Producing wounds.

wou'-wou' (wou'wou'), n. [Sundanese oah, or owa.] a The silver gibbon (Hylobates leuciscus), an ashy-gray species of Java. b The agile gibbon (H. agilis), a dark-brown species of Sumatra. See GIBBON, Illust.

wove (wōv), past tense & occasional past part. of WEAVE. Hence: adj. Specif., Paper Mfg., see PAPER, n., 1. — n. Wove paper.

wove bâtonné. See BÂTONNÉ.

wo'ven (wō'vĕn; 128), past part. of WEAVE.

-wo'ven. A combining form of woven, as in:

close-woven	machine-woven	trellis-woven cloud-woven	rush-woven	wicker-woven hand-woven	thick-woven	wire-woven loose-woven	tight-woven	wizard-woven woven paper. Wove paper.

woven spring. = FABRIC SPRING.

woven wire. Wires crossed and interlaced to form a network; as, a mattress of woven wire for the bed. — wo'ven-wire' (66), adj.

wove paper. Paper bearing the impression of the weave of fine wire gauze. See PAPER, n., 1.

wow (wou; wō), n. & v. Howl; wail; mew; whine. Chiefly Scot.

wow (wou), interj. An exclamation of pleasure, surprise, or the like. Chiefly Scot. & U. S.

wow (wou), n. [From wow, interj.] A sensational hit; a striking success. Slang, U. S.

wowf (wōōf), adj. [Cf. WAFF, adj.] Wild; crazed. Scot.

wow'ser (wou'zĕr), n. [Origin obscure. Cf. WOW, n. & v.] Colloq., Orig. Australia. One who is censoriously hostile to minor vices; one who disapproves of certain forms of popular amusement, as Sunday sports; — used, contemptuously, of any obtrusively puritanical person. — wow-se'ri-an (wou-zē'rĭ-ăn), adj. — wow'ser-ish (wou'zĕr-ĭsh), adj. — wow'ser-ism (-ĭz'm), n. — wow'ser-y (-ĭ), adj.

Woy'a-way (woi'ä-wī), n. An Indian of a Cariban tribe of the borderlands of Brazil, British Guiana, and Surinam.

wrack (răk), n. [MD. & MLG. wrak unsound, damaged, a shipwreck, a wreck. See WRECK; cf. VAREC.] 1. Wreck; calamity; ruin. Archaic or Scot., except in the phrase wrack and ruin. Cf. 1st RACK.

A world devote to universal wrack. Milton.

2. A wrecked vessel; also, wreckage, or a piece of wreckage; loosely, any piece, remnant, or vestige of something wrecked or ruined.

3. Trash; refuse; also, goods; possessions. Now Rare.

4. a Any marine vegetation cast up or growing on the shore, as eelgrass (grass wrack), various fucoid seaweeds, etc.; kelp. Cf. SEA WRACK. b Any of various dried seaweeds, used for coarse cordage, stuffing, etc.

5. Vegetable rubbish; weeds. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wrack (răk), v. t. [From WRACK a wreck.] To wreck; ruin; destroy. — v. i. To be wrecked or ruined.

wrack, n. [AS. wræc. See WREAK, v.] 1. Punishment; persecution; injury; mischief; also, vengeance. Obs.

2. Defeat or overthrow; ruin, or a cause of ruin. Obs.

wrack, v. t. 1. To avenge; to take vengeance on. Obs.

2. To torment; tease; vex. Scot.

— wrack'er, n.

wrack (răk). Var. of RACK, thin flying clouds.

wrack. Var. of RACK, framework, etc., & RACK, to stretch, torture, etc.

wrack'ful (răk'fōōl; -fĭ), adj. Wrecking; destructive; injurious. Now Rare.

wrack grass. Eelgrass (Zostera marina).

Wraf (răf), n. [An acrostic formed from the title.] A member of the Women's Royal Air Force of Great Britain, established in 1918 and disbanded after World War I.

wrag'gle (răg''l), v. t. & i. To wrangle. Chiefly Dial.

wraist (rāst), adj. [Cf. AS. wrǣstan, v., E. WREST.] Perverse; variable. Obs.

wraith (rāth), n. [Scot. wraith, warth, orig., a guardian angel, fr. ON. vörthr a warden, guardian. See WARD a keeper.] 1. An apparition of a living person in his exact likeness, thought to be seen usually just before his death; hence, an apparition; a specter. Cf. COWALKER, DOPPELGÄNGER.

She was uncertain if it were the gypsy or her wraith. Scott.

O, hollow wraith of dying fame. Tennyson.

2. Erron. A spirit thought to preside over waters. Obs.

wraith, n. Prob., provision; food. Obs. Scot.

wraithe (rāth), n. Textile Mfg. An expansible reed or comb for beaming and warping.

wraith'y (rāth'ĭ), adj. Resembling or suggesting a wraith, as in appearance.

wrake (rāk), n. [AS. wracu. See WRACK punishment.] Obs. a Suffering or its infliction, esp. in revenge. b Enmity; also, harm.

wrake, v. t. [Var. of WRACK to wreck.] To ruin; harm. Obs. Scot.

wrake, v. i. [MLG. wrāken, wracken. See WRACK wreck.] To inspect. — wrak'er, n. Both Obs. Scot.

wrake. Var. of WRACK. Obs.

wramp (rămp), n. & v. [Cf. MLG. ramp cramp.] Wrench; sprain. Scot. & N. of Eng.

wran'gle (răng'g''l), v.; -GLED (-g'ld); -GLING (-glĭng). [ME. wranglen, v. freq.; akin to E. WRING.] Intransitive: 1. To dispute angrily; to quarrel peevishly and noisily; to brawl; altercate; bicker; hence, to make a loud discordant noise suggestive of such quarreling. Cf. 3d BRANGLE.

2. To argue; to debate; to dispute, as, publicly at a university, for or against a thesis or proposition.

Wrangling whether virtue be the chief or the only good. Sidney.

——, Transitive: 1. To contend in argument or debate upon; to argue or debate; — often with out, to a conclusion.

2. To obtain, succeed in persuading, or drive by wrangling or contention; as, to wrangle one out of his faith.

3. To use up or tire (self) with wrangling.

4. To spend in wrangling.

5. To herd or round up (livestock), esp. on the range. Western U. S.

wran'gle, n. 1. An angry dispute; a noisy quarrel.

2. The action of wrangling; angry disputation; controversy.

3. A reply or point offered in dispute. Obs.

Syn. — Altercation, bickering, brawl, controversy. See DISPUTE.

wran'gler (-glĕr), n. 1. One who wrangles; a disputant or debater; esp., an angry or bickering disputant.

Noisy and contentious wranglers. I. Watts.

2. An opponent or antagonist. Obs. Shak.

3. Cambridge Univ., Eng. An honors man placed in the first class in the mathematical tripos. The first on the list was called senior wrangler, the others being numbered in order of merit; as, 11th wrangler. Since 1909 the lists have been alphabetical. Cf. OPTIME.

4. A herdsman, esp. on the range; a horse wrangler. Western U. S.

wran'gle-some (răng'g''l-sŭm; dial. răng''l-), adj. Contentious. Chiefly Dial.

wran'nock (răn''ŭk), wran'ny (-ĭ), n. The common European wren. Local, Eng.

wrap (răp), v.; WRAPPED (răpt); WRAP'PING. [ME. wrappen; akin to Dan. dial. vravle to twist together, wind, Gr. rhaptein to sew together, Lith. verpti to spin. Cf. RHAPSODY.] Transitive: 1. To cover by winding or folding; to infold or enshroud in a garment; as, wrapping themselves to the ears in furs; — often with about, around, up.

2. Hence, to envelop or enclose completely, as in fire or darkness; to involve; infold; specif., to ensnare, entangle, or involve in that which impedes or restrains physically or harasses the spirit; to assail or encompass with that which tempts or debases; as, wrapped in grief or with treason; to infold or involve in that which soothes or influences agreeably; as, wrapped in slumber. "Wrapt in mist." Milton.

3. To envelop, as with paper, and secure, as with string, for protection during, or convenience or suitableness for, transportation or storage; to enclose in a package, parcel, or bundle; to do up; — usually with up; as, to wrap up an article of food, a garment, or one's belongings.

4. To hold in one's clasp or embrace.

5. To conceal or obscure the nature of by enveloping or infolding; to hide by enveloping or veiling in what is alien and not perspicuous; as, to wrap an insidious purpose in felicitous phrases; hence, to involve, as an effect or consequence; to be followed by.

Wise poets that wrap truth in tales. Carew.

6. To surround, envelop, encompass, or invest (a person or thing); to spread round so as to encompass; as, oblivion wraps his name; flames wrapped the tower; also, to veil or conceal; as, a cloud that wraps the stars from sight.

7. To wind or roll together; to double or gather up in pliant folds so as to be more compact; to fold.

The napkin . . . not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. John xx. 6, 7.

8. To wind, roll, draw, or arrange close round, esp. so as to envelop or encompass; — often with about, around, round; to bend or twist, as in a coil, so as to surround; as, the linden wraps its roots round underground pipes.

Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams. Bryant.

——, Intransitive: 1. To wind, coil, or twine so as to encircle or cover something; as, a vine wraps round the pillar; also, to spread as a covering for the figure; as, a cape wrapping well over the form.

2. To garb oneself in protective clothing; as, to wrap up well.

Syn. — Swathe, cloak, envelop. Ant. — Unfold, open.

wrap (răp), n. 1. A covering that encompasses a person or thing.

2. A blanket or rug for protection while traveling on a railroad, sleeping, etc.

3. An article of dress intended to be wrapped round the person; a wrapper (sense 3); esp., usually pl., an outer garment for wear when riding or traveling as a protection against cold or weather, as a cloak, fur, shawl, coat, etc.

4. A single turn or convolution of something wound round an object.

wrap (răp; rŏp). Var. of RAP, to strike. Obs. exc. Dial.

wrap (răp). Erron. for RAP, to seize.

wrap'-a-round', n. A piece of apparel to be wrapped loosely round the person or sometimes snugly as a girdle.

wrap'page (răp'ĭj), n. 1. Act of wrapping.

2. That which wraps; envelope; outer covering, as of a package; also, wrapping material.

3. An article of apparel fitting loosely about the person.

wrapped (răpt), adj. 1. Hidden by coverings; concealed.

2. Drawn together or constructed by winding or turning.

3. With up: Muffled by coverings, esp. by wraps; obscured under complications or by hard or vague terms; also, absorbed or deeply intent; as, wrapped-up language; gave him a wrapped-up expression.

4. Used only predicatively: a Deeply absorbed; having the attention centered; wholly absorbed, as in thought; engrossed; as, quite wrapped in entomological study; he stood wrapped in wonder. b With up: Bound up or wholly engrossed; inextricably involved or included; dependent; inseparable.

Leontine's young wife, in whom all his happiness was wrapped up, died in a few days after the death of her daughter. Addison.

Things reflected on in gross and transiently, . . . are thought to be wrapped up in impenetrable obscurity. Locke.

wrap'per (răp'ĕr), n. 1. That in which anything is wrapped, or enclosed; a piece of material formed into a wrapping, esp. for a parcel; an envelope; covering; specif.: a The detachable paper cover put on a book to protect the binding. b A paper wrapping around a finished book, covering it entirely and usually having sealed ends. Cf. JACKET, 9 b. c The tobacco leaf used for the outside covering of a cigar or plug or twist of tobacco. Cf. BINDER, 2 c; FILLER, 1 a; and see CIGAR. d A paper wrapping used to protect and hold firm a newspaper, magazine, or the like, during delivery by post or otherwise. e Philately. A stamped sheet used for mailing newspapers, etc.; also, the embossed stamp cut from such a sheet. f A sheet spread over unused furniture, merchandise in shops, etc., as a protection against dust and fading.

2. One whose work is wrapping articles.

3. A loose outer garment; an article of dress intended to be wrapped or fitted loosely round the person; a shawl or mantle; — used esp. of indoor garments of this sort, outdoor garments being usually called wraps.

4. A wrapping, as of linen, for coiling about the head. Rare.

5. A loose-fitting gown for masculine wear as in the field.

6. = WRAP, 2. Brit.

7. An undershirt or undervest, esp. of a woman. Colloq.

8. In springs, as for an automobile or wagon, a leaf on a leaf spring wrapped around the eye, or annular hole at the end of the main plate.

9. = 1st VOLVA.

wrap'per, v. t. To envelop in or provide with a wrapper or wrappers; — often with up. — wrap'per-er (-ĕr), n.

wrap'per-ing (-ĭng), n. Coarse material designed for wrapping; also, a loose outer wrapper, or garment.

wrap'ping (răp'ĭng), n. That in which something is wrapped; as, to take an object out of its wrappings; to tear off the wrappings from a parcel.

wrap'ping-gown', n. Nightgown. Archaic.

wrapping paper. Strong coarse paper for wrapping packages.

wrap'ras'cal (răp'räs'kăl), n. A long, loose overcoat worn esp. in the 18th century.

wrap'-round', n. A wrap-around.

wrap'-up', n. A loose cloak, usually of light material.

---

would'er (wōōd'ĕr), n. One who fain would. Obs. [WOULD.]

would'est, 2*d pers. sing.* of WOULD'ING, n. Emotion of desire; inclination; velleity. Obs.

would of. Erron. or illit. for would have. [of WOULD.]

wouldst, would'st, 2*d pers. sing.*

wound'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE. — wound'a-ble-ness, n. — wound'a-bil'i-ty, n.

wound'-free', adj. See -FREE.

wound'ing, n. A wound. Obs.

wound'ly, adv. Greatly; excessively. Obs.

wou-ra'ri (wōō-rä'rĭ), wou-ra'ri (-rĭ), n. [See CURARE.] = CURARE.

wour'nil (wûr'nĭl), n. = 5th WARBLE, 2 a. woust'our, n. A boaster. Obs. Scot.

Wo-vo'ka (wō-vō'kä), n. [Paiute, lit., the cutter.] See GHOST DANCE.

wow. † VOW, WOE, WOO, WOOL.

wowe. † WOE; WOO; WOUGH.

wow'en-ing, n. [AS. wōwa.] Misery. Obs.

wow'er. † WOOER.

wowl. Dial. Eng. var. of WAWL.

wow'ser-dom, n. See -DOM c.

wowt (wout). Scot. form of VAULT.

wow'-wow' (wou'wou'). Var. of WOU-WOU.

wox. Archaic past tense of WAX.

wox. † VOX, WAX, v.

woxe. † WAX.

wox'en. Obs. past tense & past part. of WAX. [WHOA, interj.] woy (woi). Scot. & dial. Eng. of wrabbe, v. i. [Cf. WRAPLE.] To twist; writhe. Obs.

wrab'ill, v. i. = WRIGGLE. Obs.

wraeth. Obs. past tense of WRITHE.

wrag'er, n. A wrangler. Obs.

wrain'bolt', See WRINGBOLT.

wrain'staff', wrain'stave', See WRINGSTAFF.

wraith. † WRATH.

wraith'like', adj. See -LIKE.

wraith'ly, adj. See -LY. [Obs.]

wrall, v. t. To quarrel peevishly.

wran (rän). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WREN. [Obs. Scot.]

wrand'ly, adv. Without respite.

wrang (räng; Scot. also wräng). Var. of WRONG. Obs. exc. Dial.

wrang, past tense of WRING. Obs. exc. Dial.

wran'gl. Wrangle. Ref. Sp.

wran'gld. Wrangled. Ref. Sp.

wran'gler-ship, n. See -SHIP.

wran'gling-ly, adv. of wrangling, pres. part.

wrang'ous (räng'ŭs; Scot. also wräng'-). Var. of WRONGOUS.

wrap. † RAPT.

wraple, v. t. [Cf. dial. waple to entangle, E. WARP.] To entangle. Obs. Scot.

wrapt. Wrapped. Poetic & Ref. Sp.

wrasse (răs), n. [Corn. wrach.] Any of numerous, edible marine, usually brilliantly colored, spiny-finned fishes of the family Labridae, allied to the parrot fishes but having separate teeth in their jaws. The type genus, Labrus, includes several species of the Atlantic coast of Europe and the Mediterranean, as the ballan, or ballan wrasse (Labrus bergylta), the red wrasse (L. ossiphagus), the rainbow wrasse (L. vulgaris), the green wrasse (L. viridis), and the black wrasse (L. merula). Other wrasses occur in all warm and temperate seas. See also PEACOCK FISH, SEAWIFE.

wrast (răst), adj. [Cf. AS. wræst noble, excellent.] Disposed. Obs.

wrast, n. & v. = WREST, twist, strain. Obs.

wras'tle (răs''l), v. i. [ME. wrastlen. See WRESTLE.] To wrestle. — wras'tler (-lĕr), n. Both Now Dial.

wrat (rät; Scot. also wrăt), n. A wart. Obs. exc. Dial.

wrat, wrate (rāt). Obs. past tense of WRITE.

wrate, past tense. Prob., died or "passed away." Obs. Scot.

wrath (räth; räth; or, esp. Brit., rôth; 83; 277), n. [ME. wrathe, wrathithe, wrethe, wræthithe, fr. AS. wræththu, wræththo, fr. wrāth wroth; akin to ON. reithi wrath, Sw. & Dan. vrede. See WROTH.] 1. Violent anger; deep and determined indignation; vehement exasperation; often, resentful rage; fury; ire; also, an instance or fit of such fierce indignation.

Wrath is a fire, and jealousy a weed. Spenser.
Hide me from the heavy wrath of God! Marlowe.
Let not the sun go down upon your wrath. Eph. 4. 26.

2. Extreme passion; ardor; impetuosity. Obs.
3. The manifestation or effects of anger or indignation; retributory punishment of an offense or a crime; divine chastisement.

A revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. Rom. xiii. 4.

4. An act of retributory punishment; an act done in deep anger.
Syn. — See ANGER. Ant. — Peace, amity.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wrath-allaying	wrath-faced	wrath-provoking
wrath-bewildered	wrath-kindled	wrath-swollen wrath-consumed	wrath-kindling	wrath-wreaking wrath, adj. Moved to deep anger. Chiefly Archaic. wrath, v. t. & i. [From WRATH, n.] To make or become angry; vex; to be angry with. Obs. wrath, adv. Sorrowfully. Obs. wrath'ful (-fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. 1. Full of wrath; very angry; greatly incensed; ireful; passionate; as, a wrathful man; full of dire threatening; malignant; as, the wrathful main.

2. Springing from, or expressing, or marked by, wrath; as, a wrathful countenance. "Wrathful passions." Sprat.
Syn. — Furious, raging, irate. Ant. — Peaceful, placid.
— wrath'ful·ly, adv. — wrath'ful·ness, n. wrath'y (-ĭ), adj.; WRATH'I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr); WRATH'I·EST. Orig. U. S., Chiefly Colloq. 1. Moved to or full of wrath.
2. Marked or characterized by or evincing wrath.
3. Violently threatening or malignant in aspect.
— wrath'i·ly, adv. — wrath'i·ness, n. wraw (rô), adj. [Cf. Sw. dial. vrå willful.] Vexed; angry; also, perverse. Obs. exc. Dial.
wraw, v. i. [ME. wrawen, fr. MD. wrauwen. Cf. CATERWAUL.] To miaul. Obs. Caxton. wraz'le (răz's'l), v. i.; WRAZ'LED (-s'ld); WRAZ'LING (răz's'-lĭng). [AS. wraxlian.] To wrestle. Obs. exc. Dial.
wray (rā), v. t. & i. [AS. wrēgan to accuse. See BEWRAY.] Obs. a To accuse; denounce; betray. b To expose; reveal.
wreak (rēk), v.; WREAKED (rēkt); WREAK'ING. [ME. wreken, fr. AS. wrecan; akin to OFris. wreka, OS. wrekan to punish, D. wreken to avenge, G. rächen, OHG. rehhan, ON. reka to drive, to take vengeance, Goth. wrikan to persecute, Lith. vargas distress, vargti to suffer distress, L. urgere to drive, urge. Cf. URGE, WRECK, WRETCH.] Transitive: 1. Obs. a To drive out; to banish; exile. b To punish, esp. for an ecclesiastical offense. c To do harm to.
2. To give free play or free course to (wrath); to find outlet for in action or expression; to indulge; gratify; as, to wreak one's resentment on the innocent; to get (itself) expressed; also, to bestow, as love.

On me let Death wreak all his rage. Milton.
He could wreak his hungry curiosity upon her. Arnold Bennett.

3. Hence, to launch (oneself) with free play or full indulgence, as upon beauty of coloring.
4. To avenge (either an offense or a person offended or injured); to take or have vengeance for; to inflict chastisement in retribution for. Archaic & Poetic.

To wreak wrong'd innocence. Massinger.
To wreak thy wrongs in battle line. Scott.

Also, Obs., to revenge (a person).

He should wreake him on his foes. Chaucer.

5. To inflict or exact (vengeance); to execute in vengeance or by way of punishment; as, to wreak vengeance on an enemy; to wreak on criminals rites of torture. "Wreaks ample chastisement." W. Irving.
6. To hurl, deal, or deliver, as a blow; to work, cause, or bring about as an affliction.
7. Obs. a To inflict punishment for (misdoing). b To vindicate, as truth.
——, Intransitive: To take vengeance; to exact punishment. Obs.
wreak, n. [See WRECHE, n., WREAK, v. t.] Archaic. a Revenge; vengeance. b Punishment; harm; misery. wreak'er (rēk'ĕr), n. Avenger. Archaic.
wreak'ful (-fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. 1. Revengeful; angry; destructive; showing anger or threatening aspect.
2. Evincing desire for revenge; done in vengeance.
wreak'less (-lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Unavenged. Rare. wreath (rēth), n.; pl. WREATHS (rēthz; 234). [ME. wrethe, fr. AS. writha; akin to AS. writhan to twist. See WRITHE.]
1. Something twisted or intertwined into an approximately circular shape; as, a wreath of smoke; a wreath of flowers; specif., Obs., a circular band of metal to be worn as an ornament. "A wrethe of gold." Chaucer.

[He] of his tortuous train Curled many a wanton wreath. Milton.

2. Specif.: a A roll or crease; a wrinkle. b A coil or twisting part or winding motion of a living thing or a cable, or the like; as, the vast wreaths of a dragon. c One of the turns of a spiral or ringed structure; a whorl.
3. Now esp., a garland, as of flowers or leaves, to be worn or bestowed as a mark of honor or symbol of esteem; a chaplet, esp. one for a victor; a representation of such a garland in metal or stone as a decoration.
4. Hence: a A cluster of spiraling or twisting streamers or tendrils. b A collection of short compositions or extracts; a garland.
5. Something, as yarn, formed by winding or twisting parts together.
6. A marking with striae, rendering flint glass defective.
7. A roll or pad of cloth to be worn under a burden carried on the head. Dial.
8. A drift or bank, as of snow or sand. Scot.
9. The tail (of a boar). Obs.
10. [cap.] Astron. = CORONA AUSTRALIS.
11. Her. a A band or roll encircling the helmet and supporting the crest. It now generally represents a twist of two cords of silk, one tinctured like the principal metal, the other like the principal color in the arms. b A chaplet or garland.
12. Stair Building. That part of the string or handrail in a geometrical stair that twists around a curve (usually the quarter of a circle).
☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wreath-crowned	wreath-festooned	wreathmaking wreath-drifted	wreathmaker	wreath-wrought wreath (rēth). Variant of WREATHE, v. wreath'age (rēth'ĭj), n. [See -AGE.] An aggregation of wreaths; wreaths in general. wreathe (rēth), v.; past tense WREATHED (rēthd); past part. WREATHED, Archaic WREATH'EN (rēth'ĕn); pres. part. & verbal n. WREATH'ING (rēth'ĭng). [From ME. wrethen, writhen, past part. of writhen to writhe. Partly fr. wreath, n. See WRITHE, WREATH.] Transitive: 1. To twist; coil; contort so as to show folds or creases; to twist or cause to writhe; as, his face was wreathed in smiles; a convulsion wreathed his body about; to form, unite, or combine by twisting together or intertwining; to entwine.

The garland wreathed for Eve. Milton.

2. To form into a wreath or the shape of a wreath or into an encircling coil; to twine or twist about; to surround; to encircle; as, with his legs wreathed about his stool; to arrange or dispose so as to form a wreath; to fashion (flowers or leaves) into a garland.
3. To surround with anything twisted or convolved; to infold; to encircle with or as with a wreath; to form a wreath about; to invest with a wreath; to crown with a specified epithet.

Dusk faces with white silken turbants wreathed. Milton.
I do wreathe you Impotent to Evoke Desire. Edna St. V. Millay.

4. To execute (a bow) by a graceful bending of the body. Rare.
5. Scot. a To hang or secure (an oppressive yoke) about (the neck of). b To cover or overlay by drifting; — said of snow.
6. Obs. a To cause to revolve; to twist about; to wrench or turn forcibly. b To wrench or strain the application or meaning of. c To thrust or insinuate by worming one's way. d To wrest or seize forcibly. e To rend.
——, Intransitive: 1. To be interwoven or entwined; to twine together; to interlace; as, a bower of wreathing trees.
2. To turn or writhe; to twist in a coil or coils; as, cigar fumes wreathe out in the sunlight.

Beauty is never so beautiful as when, if I tease it, it wreathes back on me with spirit. C. Brontë.

3. To reach, extend, or circle in the manner of a wreath.
4. To form a drift or wreath, as snow; to swirl; eddy. Scot.
wreathed (rēthd), adj. 1. Formed by wreathing or twisting; formed into, or into the shape of, a wreath; arranged in twists or coils.
2. Formed or united by intertwining; entwined.
3. Twisted or helical, like a single or many-threaded screw; as, a wreathed column (in Arch.), string (in Stair Building), etc.; of a gun barrel, having a spirally grooved bore.
4. Covered or encompassed by a wreath or wreaths, or in heraldry, with a twisted band.
5. Having a rounded appendage or marking suggestive of a wreath.
6. Obs. a Having creases or folds. b Folded; — of the arms. wreath'en (rēth'ĕn), part. adj. [ME. wrethen, var. of writhen, past part. See WRITHEN, WREATHE.] 1. Twisted; made into a wreath; wreathed. Archaic.

Wreathen work of pure gold. Ex. xxviii. 22.

2. Formed, united, or disposed by or as by twining or interweaving; interlaced; intertwined.
wreath'er (rēth'ĕr), n. One who or that which wreathes. wreath goldenrod. A North American perennial herb (Solidago caesia) with alternate, lanceolate leaves, and interrupted, axillary clusters of yellow flower heads. wreath shell. Any shell of the genus Turbo. See TURBO. wreath'work' (rēth'wûrk'), n. Work made up of or decorated with a wreath or wreaths. wreath'wort' (-wûrt'), n. The male orchis. England.
wreath'y (rēth'ĭ; rēth'ĭ), adj. 1. Wreathed; twisted; curled; spiral; having the form of a wreath; also, full of wreaths; marked by convolutions.
2. Adorned with a wreath.
3. Making or constituting a wreath or garland.
wreck (rĕk), n. [AF. wrek, wrec, of Scand. origin; cf. ON. rek a wreck, reka to drive; akin to AS. wræc what is driven, wræc misery, exile, wrecan to drive out, punish, D. wrak damaged, a wreck. See WREAK; cf. RACK a rush, RACK AND RUIN, WRACK wreck, WRACK punishment.] 1. That which is cast up on the land by the sea; specif.: Law. Goods, etc., which, after a shipwreck, are cast upon the land by the sea. At the English common law wreck was forfeited to the crown, but it has been provided by statute that if the owner claims his goods within a year and a day they shall be restored to him, subject to any lawful charges, as for salvage. By the Merchant Shipping Act (57 & 58 Vict. c. 60; 1894), which repealed and consolidated the previous acts, wreck is placed under the superintendence of the Board of Trade, and for the purposes of the act is made to include things jetsam, flotsam, and lagan, which at common law are not included. In the United States wreck, in general, belongs to the owner of the shore if not reclaimed by the owner of the goods.
2. A hulk or the ruins of a wrecked or stranded ship; a ship dashed against rocks or land, and broken, or otherwise rendered useless; as, they burned the wreck; hence, any shaky old vessel beyond or near the end of service.
3. The disordered or broken remains of anything that has been wrecked, demolished, or otherwise ruined; hence, the broken or emaciated form of a person.

The wreck of what I was, fatigued I come. Cowper.

4. That which has been wrecked or disabled; anything shattered or in a state of ruin or dilapidation; hence, a person or a beast of broken constitution or health.
5. The destruction or injury of a vessel by being cast on shore, or on rocks, or by being disabled or sunk by the force of winds or waves or by other accident; shipwreck; an instance of such destruction, foundering, etc.
6. Act of wrecking, or the fact or state of being wrecked; destruction, disorganization, or serious injury of anything, esp. by violence; the downfall or overthrow of anything established; the bringing or being brought to disaster; ruin; as, the wreck of a train, of one's hopes.

The wreck of matter and the crush of worlds. Addison.
Its intellectual life was thus able to go on amidst the wreck of its political life. J. R. Green.

7. A quantity of anything tossed or heaped up; an abundance. Dial. Eng.
8. Now Chiefly Scot. & Dial. Eng. = WRACK, 4 & 5.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wreck-bestrewn	wreck-devoted	wreck-strewn wreck-causing	wreck-raising	wreck-threatening wreck (rĕk), v.; WRECKED (rĕkt); WRECK'ING. Transitive: 1. To destroy, disable, or seriously damage, as a vessel, by driving it against the shore or on rocks, by causing it to become unseaworthy, to founder, or the like; to shipwreck; as, a ship wrecked by a storm or by a careless pilot.

2. To involve in a wreck; to cause to suffer shipwreck; to cause to be lost by shipwreck; to ruin, damage, or imperil by wreck; as, wrecked freight; an army wrecked on the African coast.
3. To reduce to a wreck or ruinous state by any kind of violence; to overthrow, shatter, or destroy; to cause to crash or suffer ruin; as, to wreck a train; the cashier's errors wrecked the bank; to break up completely or frustrate; as, to wreck commercial credit or a political program; ambition wrecked his marriage.
4. To hurl down in irreparable disaster or ruin; as, to wreck oneself or one's life with dissipation; to wreck one's future happiness; to bring to a condition of complete physical impairment or to an unsound condition; as, to wreck one's constitution or nervous system.
5. To free (tar) of liquid accumulated on the surface. Cf. RACK.
6. To cast ashore. Obs.
——, Intransitive: 1. To suffer wreck or ruin.
2. To work upon a wreck, as for rescue or plunder; to seize or seek wreck; to gather wreckage.
3. To cause damage by breaking or washing, as by tidal action; — with up.
Syn. — Ruin, smash, demolish.
Ant. — Save, salvage, preserve. wreck, v. = WREAK, esp. 2, 4, 5. — wreck, n. Vengeance. Both Obs.
wreck'age (rĕk'ĭj), n. 1. Act of wrecking; state of being wrecked; that which has been wrecked; remains of a wreck.
2. A fragment of wreck or of a wreck.
3. Broken, disrupted, and disordered parts or material from a wrecked building or structure.
4. Wretched or degraded beings cast off by society.
wreck buoy. A buoy over a wreck.
wreck'er (rĕk'ĕr), n. 1. One who wrecks, or ruins; one who causes shipwreck or a wreck; as, a bank or a train wrecker; one who disrupts, shatters, or frustrates; as, a wrecker of progressive legislation.
2. One who searches for, or works upon, the wrecks of vessels, etc.; specif.: a One who appropriates wreck washed ashore or visits a wreck for plunder. b One who is employed in saving property or lives from a wrecked vessel, or in saving the vessel itself.
3. A vessel employed in searching for or salvaging wrecked vessels.
4. One whose work is the demolition and removal of buildings, etc.
wreck'fish' (rĕk'fĭsh'), n.; pl. -FISH, -FISHES (-ĕz; -ĭz; 119). See PLURAL, Note. The stone bass; — so called because it often comes in with wreckage. wreck'-free' (66), adj. Exempt from forfeiting wreck; free of wreck or wrecked vessels. wreck'ful (rĕk'fŏŏl; -f'l), adj. Causing shipwreck or wreck; involving ruin. Poetic. wreck'ful, adj. Revengeful; marked by or evincing vengeance. Obs.
wreck gun. = LIFE-SAVING GUN.
wreck'ing (rĕk'ĭng), n. 1. The action of causing a shipwreck or other wreck or ruin or an instance of such action.
2. That which is wrecked; also, a piece of wreckage.
3. Act or occupation of saving wrecked vessels or cargoes.
wreck'ing, adj. Engaged, used, or adapted or equipped for use in wrecking or demolishing something or in salvaging shipwrecks or otherwise removing wrecks or recovering ships, railroad rolling stock, or automobiles from a wrecked or disabled condition.
wrecking frog. Railroads. A device for rerailing derailed rolling stock. wrecking pump. A pump esp. adapted for pumping water from the hull of a wrecked vessel. wreck master. A person appointed to take charge of wreck. See 1st WRECK, 1.
Wreck of the Hesperus, The. A narrative poem (1840) by Longfellow. wreck'y (rĕk'ĭ), adj. Wrecklike; dilapidated. wren (rĕn), n. [ME. wrenne, fr. AS. wrenna, wrænna, werna, wærna; akin to ON. rindill, OHG. wrendo, wrendilo.] 1. Any of numerous small, more or less brown, singing birds constituting the family Troglodytidae. The common European wren (Nannus troglodytes) is very small, of a dark brown color barred and mottled with black, and has a short erect tail. It is a good singer. The commonest American wren, the house wren (Troglodytes aedon), nests about houses, walls, etc., throughout the United States, migrating south in winter. It is paler, and has a longer tail, than the winter wren. See CACTUS WREN, CANYON WREN, CAROLINA WREN, MARSH WREN, ROCK WREN, WINTER WREN; also BIRD, Illust.
2. Any of numerous species of small singing birds more or less like the true wrens in size and habits. Several are wrase, n. [AS. wræsen a band, a tie.] Chain; wreath. Obs. wras'kle, v. i. To wrestle. Obs. wras'sel, wras'sle. Vars. of WRESTLE. wrast. † WREST. wrat'tack, n. Dwarf. Obs. Scot. wratch (rich; Scot. also wrăch). Scot. & dial. Eng. of WRETCH. wrath'ful-eyed', adj. See -EYED. wrath'less, adj. Free from wrath. Obs. wrath'like', adj. See -LIKE. wrawl (rôl), v. i. [Prob. fr. LG. wrälen to neigh (of a stallion), to cry, be noisy, brawl. Cf. CATERWAUL.] To cry; howl; mewl. Obs. exc. Dial. — wrawl'er, n. wrax. Var. of RAX. wray'ful, adj. Accusatory. Obs.

---

wreak. † RECK; REEK, smoke. wreak'en. Obs. past part. of WREAK. wreakt. Wreaked. Ref. Sp. wreast (rēst). Var. of WREST. Obs. exc. Dial. [WRITE, n. & v.] wreat (rēt; wrēt). Scot. var. of wreath'ing-ly, adv. of wreathing, pres. part. wreath'less, adj. See -LESS.
wreath'let, n. See -LET.
wreath'like', adj. See -LIKE.
wreath'wise', adv. See -WISE. wrec'she-dom, wrech'e-dom, n. Wretchedness. Obs. wrech. Wretch. Ref. Sp. wreche, n. & v. [AS. wræc misery, suffering, exile. See WRACK punishment.] = WREAK. Obs. wreche. † WRETCH. [Ref. Sp.] wrached. Wretched. Obs. exc. WRENCH. wrech'esse, n. [Cf. WRETCHED.] Wretchedness. Obs. wreck. † RACK, RECK. wreck'ling. Var. of RECKLING. wreckt. Wrecked. Chiefly Poetic & Ref. Sp. wreil, wreie (rēl), v. i. To wriggle; struggle; flounder. Obs. Scot. wreint. Obs. past part. of WRENCH. wreith. † WROTH.
wrek. † WREAK, n.; WREAK. wreke, n. = WREAK. Obs.

European warblers, as the reed wren, sedge wren, willow wren, golden-crested kinglet, and ruby-crowned kinglet.

Wren, WREN (rĕn), n.; pl. WRENS, WRENS (rĕnz). A member of the Women's Royal Naval Service, an auxiliary of the British Navy (1917–1919), which was reorganized in 1939 and made part of the regular Navy in 1949.

wren babbler. Any of numerous small timaliine birds of Rhopocichla, Stachyris, Timalia, and several allied genera, common in southern Asia and the East Indies.

wrench (rĕnch; 105), n. [ME., deceit, fr. AS. wrenc deceit a twisting; akin to G. rank intrigue, crookedness, renken to bend, twist. See VERGE, WRINKLE.] 1. A tricky or deceitful action; also, fraud; guileful craft; stratagem. Obs.

His wily wrenches thou ne mayst not flee. Chaucer.

2. An act of wrenching; an instance of being wrenched; specif.: a A violent twisting to one side or out of shape, or a pull with or as with twisting. b A sharp twist or sudden jerk straining muscles, ligaments, etc.; a sprain; an injury by twisting, as in a joint; also, with the, the disabled condition of a horse injured by such a sprain. c A distortion or perversion of the original signification.

The injurious effect upon biographic literature of all such wrenches to the truth, is diffused everywhere. De Quincey.

d A separation causing acute emotional distress; a painful twinge of feeling caused esp. by separation or loss.

3. a Obs. A sharp turn. b Specif., Coursing, a turn of a hare at an acute angle.

4. An instrument, often a simple bar or lever with jaws or an angular orifice either at the end or between the ends, for exerting a twisting strain, as in turning bolts, nuts, screw taps, etc.; a screw key; a spanner. Cf. ALLIGATOR WRENCH, BOX WRENCH, CARRIAGE WRENCH, PIN WRENCH, MONKEY WRENCH, STILLSON WRENCH, etc.

Wrenches. 1 Set Screw; 2 Engineer's Double-head; 3 S Wrench; 4 Alligator.

5. Any of various mechanical devices using the screw. Chiefly Dial.

6. A means, as of compulsion; contrivance. Obs. Bacon.

7. Mech. The system made up of a force and a couple of forces in a plane perpendicular to that force. Any number of forces acting at any points upon a rigid body may be compounded so as to be equivalent to a wrench.

wrench, v.; WRENCHED (rĕncht); WRENCH'ING. [ME. wrenchen, fr. AS. wrencan to deceive, prop., to twist; akin to G. renken. See WRENCH, n.] Intransitive: 1. To turn or twist suddenly, sharply, or violently; to undergo such a turning or twisting by an outer force. Obs.

2. To perform the action of pulling or straining at something with a violent twisting.

3. To move or issue as a result of being wrenched.

4. Coursing. To veer so as to approach at less than a right angle; — of a hare.

—, Transitive: 1. To twist violently to one side or out of line or shape.

2. To pull, jerk, or tighten, with a twist; to wrest or force by a violent wrench or sudden twist; to snatch forcibly; — often with away, off, or the like.

Wrench his sword from him. Shak.

3. To deprive or divest by a sudden wrench. Rare.

4. To injure or disable by a violent twisting or straining of a bodily part; to sprain.

5. To distort from its original or true significance or intention; to pervert; as, to wrench one's authority or statement.

Language is wrested and wrenched and twisted and tortured, in the struggle to express the inexpressible. Gamaliel Bradford.

6. To cause to suffer emotional distress or mental anguish; to rack.

7. Obs. To thrust, as a sword, with a twisting or whirling motion.

8. Coursing. To cause to swerve in a wrench.

Syn. — Pull, tear, wrest.

wrench (rĕnch; 105). Dial. var. of RINSE.

wrenched (rĕnch; 105), adj. 1. Sprained.

2. Violently twisted; forced by a wrench; as, a wrenched-off fender; hence, wrung; as, wrenched affections.

3. Pros. Designating an accent that for the sake of metrical conformity is forced from a normally stressed syllable to one that is normally unstressed; as in, "And whén he came to fár Scotlánd." Cf. HOVERING ACCENT.

wrench'er (rĕn'chĕr; 105), n. 1. A contrivance for wrenching; a device that operates in the manner of a wrench.

2. One who works with a wrench.

wrench fit. Mach. See SCREW-THREAD FIT.

wrench forger. See 1st FORGER, 2.

wrench hammer. A wrench having the end shaped for use as a hammer.

wrench head. A head for a bolt or screw, so shaped (usually square or hexagonal) as to be readily gripped between the jaws of a wrench.

wrench'ing-ly (rĕn'chĭng-lĭ; 105), adv. With a wrench or wrenching motion.

wren'let (rĕn'lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. A little wren.

wren's flower (rĕnz). The herb Robert.

wren'tail' (rĕn'tāl'), n. An artificial fly suitable for trout.

wren tit. A small brown wrenlike Californian bird (Chamaea fasciata and its subspecies) having soft plumage and a long tail and short rounded wings. The pallid wren tit (C. f. henshawi) inhabits the interior.

wren warbler. Any of several small Asiatic and African timaliine birds of the genus Prinia, some of which construct nests similar to those of tailorbirds.

wrest (rĕst), v.; WREST'ED; WREST'ING. [ME. wresten, fr. AS. wrǣstan; akin to ON. reista to wrest, Dan. vriste, and to AS. wrīthan to twist. See WRITHE; cf. WRESTLE.] Transitive: 1. To turn; to twist; esp., to twist or extort by violence; to pull or force away by or as if by violent wringing or twisting; to wring; to wrench.

The secret wrested from me. Milton.

They instantly wrested the government out of the hands of Hastings. Macaulay.

2. Obs. a To make insertion of by forcible twisting or wrenching. b To force, press forcibly, or utter, with difficulty. c To incline or dispose, as to good or evil; to induce. d To draw or direct away from an accustomed object; to divert, esp. thought or feelings.

3. To snatch or wrench forcibly and hold or assume for oneself, esp. by usurpation, extortion, or strong persuasive efforts; to wring; as, to wrest the throne from the heir; to wrest privileges or money from the legislature.

Young men possessed the earth; young women had to wrest what they wanted out of it piecemeal. Rose Macaulay.

4. To turn or strain from its true bearing, significance, or interpretation; to twist from its natural or proper use or meaning by violence; to divert, esp. to some improper or wrong end; to pervert; distort; misapply.

Wrest once the law to your authority. Shak.

Their arts of wresting . . . the holy text. South.

5. Formerly, to ascribe a wrong meaning or intent to; to misinterpret deliberately; also, Obs., to derive or change improperly or illegitimately; to deflect unjustly.

6. Scot. & Dial. Eng. a To strain painfully the muscles of; to sprain. b To wring or rack with pain.

7. Obs. a To move the strings of (the harp) in playing. b To tune with a wrest, or key.

—, Intransitive: 1. To strive or force a way by striving. Now Rare.

2. To strain; wrestle. Obs. Scot.

wrest (rĕst), n. 1. Act of wresting; a wrench; twist.

2. Obs. a The wrenching of the true signification or intent of anything; distortion; perversion; an instance of such. b Stratagem; ruse; trick.

3. A key or wrench to tune a stringed instrument of music, as a harp or piano, by turning pins (wrest pins) round which the ends of the strings are coiled.

4. A partition in a water wheel, by which the form of the buckets is determined.

wrest, n. [(After wrest, v.) fr. rest, dial. var. of REEST.] Agric. Mach. The curved surface of a plow moldboard.

wrest block. = WREST PLANK.

wrest'er (rĕs'tĕr), n. One who wrests; specif.: a Obs. One who tunes with a wrest. b A distorter or perverter, as of meaning or bearing.

wrest'ing (-tĭng), adj. Done with or given to wrests, or wrenching. — wrest'ing-ly, adv.

wres'tle (rĕs''l), v. i.; WRES'TLED (-'ld); WRES'TLING (-lĭng). [ME. wrestlen, wrastlen, fr. AS. wrǣstlian, freq.; akin to MD. wrastelen to wrestle, and to AS. wrǣstan to wrest. See WREST.] Intransitive: 1. To contend by grappling with, and striving to trip or throw down, an opponent. See WRESTLING.

2. Hence: a To come to grips or engage or strive in violent struggle for mastery, with either a material or immaterial foe or obstruction; to strive earnestly; to contend; to grapple; formerly, to pray earnestly.

Come, wrestle with thy affections. Shak.

Difficulties with which he had himself wrestled. M. Arnold.

b To work or exert oneself vigorously or earnestly, esp. with something troublesome; as, to wrestle with irregular verbs. c To dispute or engage in debate. d To struggle or conflict with each other, as wind and tide.

3. To twist about; to writhe; squirm; wriggle; as, to watch the wheat wrestling in the field.

4. To move or strive to proceed with labored or strenuous effort; as, wrestling through the world.

—, Transitive: 1. To engage in (a match, bout, fall, etc.) in wrestling; to wrestle with; to seek to throw down in or as in wrestling.

2. To thrust or carry with an action like wrestling; to move or force by or as by wrestling; as, wrestling cargo; to wrestle the malcontents out of the party; to wrestle down my resentment.

3. To carry, esp. out or through, with strenuous effort; also, Obs., to continue struggling through (a period of time).

4. To throw (cattle) for branding. Slang, Western U. S.

wres'tle, n. The action of wrestling or striving earnestly; specif., a struggle between two persons to see which will throw the other down; a wrestling bout; a struggle.

wres'tler (rĕs'lĕr), n. [AS. wrǣstlere.] One who wrestles; one who is skillful in wrestling.

wres'tling (rĕs'lĭng), n. Act of one who wrestles; specif., the sport consisting of the hand-to-hand combat between two unarmed contestants who seek to throw each other. The various styles of wrestling differ in their definition of a fall and in the governing rules. In Greco-Roman wrestling, tripping and taking hold of the legs are forbidden, and a fall is gained (that is, the bout is won) by the contestant who pins both his opponent's shoulders to the ground. In catch-as-catch-can, all holds are permitted except such as may be barred by mutual consent, and a fall is defined as in Greco-Roman style. For description of the holds or chips, etc., used in these styles, see HALF NELSON; HAMMER LOCK; SCISSORS, 5; HEAD SPIN; BRIDGE, n., 23. Lancashire wrestling is essentially the same as catch-as-catch-can. In Cumberland and Westmorland wrestling, the contestants stand chest to chest, grasping each other around the body. The one first losing his hold, or touching the ground with any part of his body except his feet, loses the bout. If both fall to the ground at the same time, it is a doggfall, and must be wrestled over. In the Cornwall and Devon wrestling, the wrestlers compete in strong loose linen jackets, catching hold of the jacket, or anywhere above the waist. Two shoulders and one hip, or two hips and one shoulder, must touch the ground simultaneously to constitute a fall, and if a man is thrown otherwise than on his back the contestants get upon their feet and the bout recommences. See also JUJITSU.

wrest pin. See 2d WREST, 3.

wrest plank. Also wrest block. A wooden block or plank in the piano into which the wrest pins are driven.

wretch (rĕch), n. [ME., wrecche, fr. AS. wrecca, wræcca, an exile, stranger, wretched or unhappy person, fr. wrecan to drive out, punish; akin to OS. wrekkio a stranger, OHG. recko, wreckeo, an exile, MHG. recke warrior, hero, G. recke, and to AS. wrecan to drive out, punish. See WREAK; cf. GOSSOON.] 1. A banished person; an exile. Obs.

2. A miserable person; one profoundly unhappy or in great misfortune, poverty, or other distress.

Poor wretch was never frighted so. Drayton.

Wretch even then, life's journey just begun? Cowper.

3. Pitiable creature; poor little being; — used in direct address expressing serious or playful commiseration; as, the wretch struggled with all his puny strength. Archaic.

4. One sunk in vice or degradation; a base, despicable, or vile, person; one who is wicked, cruel, or contemptible; as, a profligate wretch.

Thou damned wretch and execrable dog. Marlowe.

5. A miser or avaricious person. Obs. Scot.

wretch (rĕch), adj. Wretched. Obs.

wretch, v. i. To become miserly or covetous. Obs. Scot.

wretch'ed (rĕch'ĕd; -ĭd; 119), adj.; WRETCH'ED-ER; WRETCH'ED-EST. See COMPARE, v. t., 2. [ME. wrecched, fr. wrecche wretched, fr. AS. wrecc. See WRETCH, n.] 1. Deeply afflicted, dejected, or distressed, as from want, disease, grief, or anxiety; profoundly unhappy; very miserable.

O cruel death! to those you are more kind Than to the wretched mortals left behind. Waller.

2. Producing, or characterized by, misery; attended by sorrow; woeful; grievous; very afflicting; calamitous; as, a wretched accident; a foul and wretched street; also, such as causes distress or discomfort; as, wretched weather.

3. Hatefully base or contemptible in character or nature; despicable; as, a wretched perjurer; a wretched business.

Wretched ungratefulness. Sir P. Sidney.

Nero reigned after this Claudius, of all men wretchedest, ready to all manner [of] vices. Capgrave.

4. Very poor in quality or ability; inexpert or crude in execution; mean, unsatisfactory, or worthless; as, a wretched poem; a wretched cabin or mount.

5. Parsimonious; niggardly. Obs.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are: wretched-fated, wretched-looking, wretched-witched.

wretch'ed-ly, adv. 1. In a wretched manner.

2. To a deplorable or distressing degree; lamentably.

wretch'ed-ness, n. 1. Quality or state of being wretched; specif.: a Utter misery. b Grievousness. c Evil or wicked character; baseness. d Meanness; paltriness; poorness e Obs. Scot. Penuriousness.

2. A source or cause of misery.

3. Obs. a A vile or despicable action; a vicious trait. b A wretched or sorry object; anything despicable.

Eat worms and such wretchedness. Chaucer.

Syn. — See MISERY.

wretch'less, adj. Reckless. Obs. — wretch'less-ly, adv. R.

wretch'less-ness, n. 1. Recklessness. Obs.

2. Callous disregard, as of sin.

wretch'ock (rĕch'ŭk), n. [Dim. of wretch.] Puny or ill-nurtured creature. Obs. exc. Dial.

wrib'le, n. [Var. of WARBLE.] Warbling; quaver. Obs. Scot.

wrick (rĭk), n. [ME. wricken to move, jerk, twist; akin to Sw. vricka, Dan. vrikke, D. wrikken, and to E. WRIGGLE.] A strain or sprain of the muscles, as of the back. — v. t. To produce a sprain. Cf. CRICK, RICK.

wride (rēd), n. [AS. wrīd.] A stalk; also, a group of stalks from one root. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

wried (rīd), adj. [From WRY, v.] 1. Turned aside or diverted from a course.

2. Twisted or wrung out of shape; contorted.

My writhen tongue and wried. Don Marquis.

wrig (rĭg), v. t. & i. [LG. wriggen. See WRIGGLE.] To wriggle. Obs. exc. Dial.

wrig (rĭg; wrĭg), n. The feeblest member of a brood or litter; also, the youngest child of a family, or a puny child. Scot.

wrig'gle (rĭg''l), v.; WRIG'GLED (-'ld); WRIG'GLING (-lĭng). [MLG. wriggeln; akin to D. wriggelen, Nor. vrigla, rigla, and to E. WRY to twist.] Intransitive: 1. To move the body to and fro with short writhing motions, like a worm; to squirm; to writhe; to twist uneasily or quickly about.

Both he and his successors would often wriggle in their seats, as long as the cushion lasted. Swift.

2. To move along or advance with short quick contortions or by twisting and turning; to go sinuously; to meander; hence, to proceed by crooked, dodging, or evasive, ways, by equivocation, or by shifts; as, to wriggle out of expressing an opinion; to introduce oneself or to rise by subtle underhand means or by ingratiation or wheedling; as, to wriggle into court favor.

—, Transitive: 1. To move with short quick contortions; to move or bring by twisting and turning; orig., to cause to writhe or twist; as, an amoeba wriggles itself aloft.

Covetousness will wriggle itself out at a small hole. Fuller.

2. To introduce by wriggling; to insinuate subtly or by ingratiation or wheedling; as, to wriggle one of their number into high office; also, to make (one's way) sinuously, subtly, or insinuatingly.

3. To form or construct in a sinuous pattern.

4. Obs. a To cut in a wriggly line or outline. b To twist.

wrig'gle, n. 1. Act of wriggling; a short or quick writhing motion or contortion; a flexion of the body.

2. A formation or marking of sinuous design; something having a sinuous course or appearance caused or as if caused by wriggling; a tortuous course; a sinuosity; as, degenerated from handles to ledges to mere decorative wriggles.

3. A turn or bend, as in a sinuous or spiral line.

4. The sand launce. Local, Eng.

5. Naut. = EYEBROW, 3.

wrig'gle, adj. Wriggling; — chiefly in combination.

wrig'gler (rĭg'lĕr), n. One who or that which wriggles; specif.: a A wiggler, or the larva or pupa of a mosquito. b A marking, design, or the like, having or representing a wriggling motion or sinuous pattern.

Danced in yellow wrigglers on the ceiling. Robert Frost.

c One who climbs, as into favor, by ingratiation. d Brit. An engraver of zig-zag patterns.

wrig'gle-some (rĭg''l-sŭm), adj. Given to wriggling; wriggling.

wrig'gly (rĭg'lĭ), adj. Wriggling or tending to wriggle; winding; tortuous. Colloq.

wright (rīt), n. [AS. wryhta, wyrhta; akin to OFris. wrichta, OHG. wurhto, and to E. WORK, v.] A constructive workman; an artificer, esp. in wood; a carpenter; one engaged in a mechanical or manufacturing business; a manufacturer; mechanic; — now chiefly in compounds; as, millwright, shipwright, etc.

He was a well good wright, a carpenter. Chaucer.

wright, v. i. To work as a wright. Scot.

-wright (-rīt). A combining form of the noun wright, denoting an artificer, esp. in woodwork, as in:

boatwright	gatewright	shipwright bookwright	housewright	tilewright butterwright	millwright	timberwright candlewright	pitwright	wagonwright cartwright	playwright	wainwright
coachwright	plowwright	wheelwright

Wright's stain (rīts). [After J. H. Wright (1869–1928), Am. pathologist.] A modification of the Romanowsky stain much used in staining blood and blood-living parasites.

wring (rĭng), v.; past tense & past part. WRUNG (rŭng), formerly sometimes WRINGED (rĭngd); pres. part. & ver- wrench'ful, adj. Deceitful; artful. Obs. wren'like', adj. See -LIKE.

---

wrest, † REST, n., WORST, WRIST. wrest'a-ble, adj. See -ABLE. wres'til. Wrestle. Ref. Sp. wres'tid. Wrested. Ref. Sp. wres'tler-like', adj. See -LIKE. wret. Obs. past tense & past part. of WRITE. wret. † WART. wretch'ed-hed, n. [See -HEAD.] Wretchedness. Obs. wretch'ful, adj. Wretched. Obs. wretch'hede, n. [ME. wrecche wretched + -hede -head. See WRETCHED.] Wretchedness. Obs. wretch'ly, adv. Wretchedly; miserably. Obs. wretch'ness, n. Misery. Obs. wreten. Obs. past part. of WRITE.
wreth, wrethe. † WREATH, WREATHE. wrethe, n. & v. = WRATH. Obs. wrethe. † WRITHE. [WRITHE.] wrethen. Obs. past part. of WREY. † WRAY. [of WRIGHT.] wricht (rĭxt; wrĭxt). Scot. var. wriel, n. [AS. wrigels.] A covering; garment; veil. Obs. wri'er, compar. of WRY, adj. wri'est, superl. of WRY, adj. wrig'gling-ly, adv. of wriggling, pres. part.
wright. † WRITE.
wright'ful, adv. Rightfully. Obs. wright'ine (rīt'ĕn; -ĭn; 157), n. Also -in. Chem. = CONZESSINE. wright'ry, n. A wright's work; carpentry. Obs. wrig'l. Wriggle. Ref. Sp. wrig'lid. Wriggled. Ref. Sp. wrih'te (wrĭx'tĭ), n. [AS. wyrht, gewyht.] Work done; merit. Obs. wrim'ple, n. & v. [Cf. MLG. wrimpen to wrinkle.] Fold; crease; wrinkle. Obs. wrine, v. i. To cry like a pig. Obs.

bal n. WRING'ING. [ME. wringen, fr. AS. wringan; akin to LG. & D. wringen, OHG. ringan to struggle, G. ringen, Sw. vränga to distort, Dan. vringle to twist, Goth. wruggo noose, ON. rangr twisted, wrong, and to E. WRINKLE. See WORRY; cf. WRANGLE, WRONG.] Transitive: 1. To compress by squeezing or twisting, esp. so as to make dry; as, to wring berries for wine.

2. To extract or obtain by twisting and compressing; to squeeze or press (out), as moisture from wet clothes.

He rose up early on the morrow, and thrust the fleece together, and wringed the dew out of the fleece. Judg. vi. 38.

3. To twist round or wrest forcibly or violently; to twist so as to strain or sprain; as, to wring his neck on his shoulders; to distort or screw up, as the features into a smile.

4. To twist and compress, esp. so as to expel moisture; to turn and strain with violence; to subject to torsion; to force or bring by torsion; as, to wring clothes in washing; to clasp or pass over one another with a writhing motion; as, to wring one's hands in anguish; to clasp and squeeze or shake; to subject (a person) to such a clasping or squeezing, as by the hand. "Earnestly wringing Waverley's hand." Scott. "Wring him by the nose." Shak.

[His steed] so sweat that men might him wring. Chaucer.

The priest shall bring it [a dove] unto the altar, and wring off his head. Lev. i. 15.

5. To affect painfully as by a pinching, twisting, or contorting, action; to cause distress or anguish to; to rack; torment; torture; as, where the shoe wrings him; archaically, to affect with bodily pain or injury by squeezing or torsion; to chafe or gall.

Wrung by an uneasy and strait fortune. Clarendon.

Didst thou taste but half the griefs
That wring my soul, thou couldst not talk thus coldly. Addison.

6. To subject to extortion; to afflict or oppress, in order to enforce compliance; also, Obs., to press with argument.

To wring the widow from her 'customed right. Shak.

7. To bend or strain out of its position, as a mast; to wrench or wrest violently; — with adverb or preposition of separation; as, to wring the bonds away or asunder.

8. To acquire by enforced payment or extortion; to draw forth or exact by violence or against resistance or repugnance, as one's permission or a confession; — usually with out or from; as, to wring food from the reluctant soil.

Your overkindness doth wring tears from me. Shak.

9. To press with a turning or writhing movement; as, the surfaces are wrung into contact and fastened with screws; to strain, wrest, or divert, from the original or from the meaning or purpose; to distort.

How dare these men thus wring the Scriptures? Whitgift.

10. Hence, Obs., to deflect or divert (a matter or person), esp. to an unworthy purpose or bearing.

11. To wind or wreathe in coils or convolutions.

12. To wriggle (oneself) by insinuation or wheedling. Obs.

——, Intransitive: 1. To perform the action of wringing; to writhe; to strain with a writhing motion, as in struggling or strenuous effort; to twist, as with anguish; to squirm.

'T is all men's office to speak patience
To those that wring under the load of sorrow. Shak.

2. To cause pain as by twisting or compression; to undergo grief or anguish.

Elinor's heart wrung for feelings of Edward. Jane Austen.

3. Obs. a To issue as a result of compression. b To force a way. c To carry on oppressive attack or torture. d To clasp hands or join.

wring (rĭng), n. Act of wringing or squeezing; also, Obs., sharp pain; writhing.

wring, n. A wringer; a press for cider, wine, or cheese.

wring'bolt' (rĭng'bōlt'), n. Shipbuilding. A form of eyebolt with the end cut in a wood screw, used in shipbuilding as a temporary fastening for a plank while the permanent fastenings are being driven. Originally called wrainbolt and screwed in and held by a wooden lever called a wringstaff.

wring'er (-ĕr), n. 1. One who or that which wrings; hence: a An extortioner. b One whose work is wringing.

2. Specif., a machine or device for pressing water out of anything, as from clothes after they have been washed; also, its attendant or operator.

3. A contrivance for wringing out hot fomentations.

wring'ing fit. Mach. See 5th FIT, 4.

wringing machine. = WRINGER, n., 2.

wring'ing-wet' (66), adj. So wet that liquid may be wrung out.

wring'staff' (rĭng'stăf'), n.; pl. -STAVES (-stāvz'). Shipbuilding. A strong piece of wood used in the ring of a wringbolt; — called also wrainstaff and wrainstare.

wrink (rĭngk), n. [AS. wrenc. See WRENCH.] A turning; trick; a cheat; a subterfuge. Obs. Scot.

wrin'kle (rĭng'k'l), n. [AS. wrincle; akin to obs. D. wrinckel, AS. wrencan to twist, and perh. to MHG. runke wrinkle, G. runzel, ON. krukka. See WRENCH; WRING, cf. FROUNCE, RUCK wrinkle.] 1. A winding; a twisting or sinuous formation. Obs.

2. A corrugation; a small ridge, prominence, or furrow, formed on a surface by the shrinking or contraction of any smooth substance; a crease; a slight fold; as, wrinkles in the skin; a wrinkle in cloth.

3. Specif.: a A small crease or ridge of the skin, esp. as indicative of old age, care, etc.; as, the wrinkles of sixty winters. b A ripple on the surface of a liquid. c A ridge or fold as a topographical configuration.

4. [Prob., a different word, and a dim. of ME. wrenk, var. of wrench deceit. Cf. WRENCH, n.] a Obs. A crafty or wily action. b Colloq. A clever notion, fancy, or device; a peculiar knack in doing something; a little trick or device; a novelty or fad, as in dress; as, the latest wrinkle. c Colloq. A suggestion; bit of information; tip.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wrinkle-coated	wrinkle-fronted	wrinkle-making wrinkle-faced	wrinkle-furrowed	wrinkle-scaled wrin'kle, v.; WRIN'KLED (-k'ld); WRIN'KLING (-klĭng). Intransitive: 1. To be or become marked with, or contracted into, wrinkles; to become puckered or shrink into furrows and ridges.

2. To undergo contraction and puckering of one's skin into wrinkles, as from age.

3. To undergo contraction or puckering in a way to change form, as into a smile.

4. To sneer; — with at. Obs.

——, Transitive: 1. To contract into furrows and prominences; to make a wrinkle or wrinkles in; to corrugate; crease; pucker; as, the lake surface was wrinkled into waves; to wrinkle the skin or the brow. "Wrinkled Care." Milton.

2. To form furrows and ridges in the integument of or surrounding, by muscular contractions; — usually with up; as, wrinkling up one's eyes or nose.

3. To exhibit in or by facial wrinkles.

4. To make or form by wrinkling.

Well hides the violet in the wood:
The dead leaf wrinkles her a hood. Lanier.

wrin'kle (rĭng'k'l), n. A winkle. Chiefly Dial. — v. i. To catch winkles, as in traps. Chiefly Dial.

wrin'kled (rĭng'k'ld), adj. Having, or marked with, wrinkles; rugous; rugose. "The wrinkled sand." Bryant.

Syn. — Puckered, corrugated, contracted.

Ant. — Smooth, unwrinkled.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wrinkled-browed	wrinkled-leaved	wrinkled-shelled wrinkled-cheeked	wrinkled-old	wrinkled-visaged wrin'kled·y (-l), adj. Full of wrinkles; wrinkly. Dial.

wrin'kle·ful (-k'l-fōōl; -f'l), adj. Wrinkly. Rare.

wrin'klet (rĭng'klĕt; -klĭt, 119), n. A diminutive wrinkle.

wrin'kly (-klĭ), adj.; WRIN'KLI·ER (-klĭ-ĕr); WRIN'KLI·EST. Having wrinkles; having a tendency to wrinkle; corrugated; puckered; as, his old wrinkly face.

Wris'berg's car'ti·lage (rĭz'bûrgz). [After H. A. Wrisberg (1737–1808), Ger. anatomist.] Anat. The cuneiform cartilage of the larynx.

Wrisberg's ganglion. Anat. a A small ganglion in the superficial cardiac plexus. b The Gasserian ganglion.

Wrisberg's nerve. Anat. a The glossopalatine nerve. See FACIAL NERVE. b The medial brachial cutaneous nerve.

wrist (rĭst), n. [ME. wriste, wrist, fr. AS. wrist; akin to OFris. wriust, LG. wrist, G. rist wrist, instep, ON. rist instep, Dan. & Sw. vrist, and to AS. wrīthan to twist. See WRITHE; cf. 2d GAITER.] 1. The joint, or the region of the joint, between the hand and the arm, or a corresponding part on an animal; the carpus. See CARPUS a.

He took me by the wrist, and held me hard. Shak.

2. The part of a garment or glove covering the wrist (sense 1).

3. The ankle or instep; — often wrist of the foot. Obs.

4. Mach. = WRIST PIN. Brit.

5. Quarrying. A block of freestone, removed as the first step towards sawing out of the adjacent stone. Local, Eng.

wrist, adj. 1. Of or pertaining to the wrist or a wristband; worn at or on the wrist.

2. Sports. Done by wristwork; as, a wrist stroke in golf.

wrist, v. t. To hem the wrist of (a glove).

wrist (rĭst). Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of WREST.

wrist'band' (rĭst'bănd'; -bənd; rĭz'bənd; 231; 277), n. 1. The band of a sleeve, as of a shirt, which covers the wrist; a cuff.

2. Hence: a A bracelet. b A bandage or plaster for binding on the wrist. c A band or wristlet, as of fur, worn about the wrist as an ornament or protection. d A manacle for the wrists.

wrist'bone' (rĭst'bōn'), n. a A carpal bone. b Sometimes, in man, the styloid process of the radius, which forms a prominence on the outer side of the wrist above the thumb.

wrist clonus. [NL. clonus, fr. Gr. klonos. See CLONIC.] Med. A series of quickly alternating movements of flexion and extension of the wrist, produced in some nervous diseases by suddenly bending the hand back on the forearm.

wrist'-drop' (rĭst'drŏp'), n., or wrist drop. Med. Paralysis of the extensor muscles of the hand, causing inability to hold the hand out, palm down, in line with the forearm. It is commonly due to lead poisoning.

wrist'ed (rĭs'tĕd; -tĭd; 119), adj. Having a wrist or wrists, esp. of a specified kind.

-wrist'ed. A combining form of wristed, denoting having (such) wrists, as in the following and their derivatives in -ly and -ness.

short-wristed	thick-wristed	tight-wristed strong-wristed	thin-wristed	white-wristed wrist'er (rĭs'tĕr), n. A wristlet. Local, U. S.

wrist'fall' (rĭst'fôl'), n. A ruffle or frill, as of lace, falling from a wristband or sleeve. Cf. FALL, n., 16 a. wrist'i·kin (rĭs'tĭ-kĭn), n. [See WRIST; -KIN.] A wristlet.

wrist joint. The articulation at the wrist. See CARPUS a.

wrist'let (rĭst'lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. A band worn around the wrist; as: a A close-fitting knitted or woven band for protection from cold. b A bracelet. c A wristband of woven material worn as an ornament. d A strap worn about the wrist, as for securing a watch. e Slang. A handcuff.

wrist'lock' (-lŏk'), n. A wrestling hold in which one contestant is thrown or rendered helpless by a twisting grip on the wrist.

wrist pin. Mach. A stud or pin which forms a journal, as in a crosshead or trunk piston, for the connecting rod.

wrist plate. Mach. In a Corliss engine, the pivoted oscillating plate having two or more projecting wrists on which are pivoted the rods which operate the rocking valves.

wrist shot. Golf. A short stroke played chiefly from the wrists, usually with an iron.

wrist watch. A small watch attached to a bracelet or strap to fasten about the wrist.

wrist'work' (rĭst'wûrk'), n. Flexion of the wrist, as in stroking a ball.

writ (rĭt). Var. of WRITE, v. Obs. exc. Dial.

writ. Archaic & dial. past tense & past part. of WRITE.

— writ large. Written in large letters; hence: a On a large scale; magnified, as inequality, power, etc.

New presbyter is but old priest writ large. Milton.

b As apparent or obvious as if written in large letters; as, "social leader" is writ large upon this lady.

writ (rĭt), n. [AS. writ, gewrit; akin to ON. rit, Goth. writs, and E. WRITE.] 1. That which is written; writing; a written document; scripture; — now rare except in Holy Writ, Sacred Writ.

2. Law. Orig., in English law, any of various instruments in epistolary form issued under seal in the king's name, being either an original writ (one issued under the great seal to institute an action) or a judicial writ (one issued by a court under its own seal for summoning juries, coercing litigants, enforcing judgments, etc.); hence, in general, an order or mandatory process in writing, under seal, issued, in the name of the sovereign or in the name of a court or judicial officer, from the proper authority, commanding the performance or nonperformance of some act by the person to whom it is directed. Under various penal codes in the United States a writ is defined as "any order or precept in writing issued in the name of the State or of a court or judicial officer." The original writ of English law contained a short statement of the facts complained of, and directed the sheriff to command the defendant to satisfy the plaintiff's claim or to appear and answer his complaint in court. The circumstances under which a writ would be issued became fixed, and this limited the nature of actions by which relief could be obtained, since no action could be begun in the king's court, and no action affecting freehold could be begun anywhere, except by an original writ. To remedy this the Statute of Westminster II enacted that existing writs should issue for injuries or wrongs of a similar nature (L., in consimili casu) to those expressly provided for in existing writs. This gave rise to the system of fictions which became characteristic of common-law pleading, in both English and American practice. The only important writs developed after the reign of Henry III were that of trespass and its offshoots, ejectment, case, assumpsit, and trover, all being framed under statutory authority. The use of original writs is now discontinued, but the statutory summons, sometimes called writ of summons, by which actions are now begun in practically all jurisdictions, is sometimes erroneously called an original writ. Writs are usually witnessed, or tested, in the name of the chief justice or principal judge of the court out of which they are issued; and those directed to a sheriff, or other ministerial officer, require him to return them on a day specified. Writs are variously named; as: the writ of account, writ of aiel, writ of covenant, writ of detinue, etc., from the action in which they were used (see ACCOUNT, n., 12; AIEL, 2; COVENANT, n., 5 b; DETINUE b, etc.); the writ of dower, writ of entry, writ of possession, etc., from the right to enforce which they are used; the writ of execution, writ of inhibition, etc., from the nature of the command contained in them; the writ of spoliation, from the wrong it aims to redress, etc.

writ (rĭt), v. t. To serve a writ upon. Anglo-Irish.

writ'a·bil'i·ty (rĭt'ā-bĭl'ĭ-tĭ), n. 1. Ability or capacity to write. Rare.

2. Quality of being writable.

writ'a·ble, write'a·ble (rīt'ā-b'l), adj. Capable of being put in writing; reducible to written form; also, usable in writing.

wri·ta'tion (rī-tā'shŭn), n. [write + -ation.] Bad writing. Contemptuous.

writ'a·tive (rīt'ā-tĭv), adj. Given to, or marked by a propensity for, writing. Cf. TALKATIVE.

writ by progress. See PROGRESS, n., 7.

writ de excommunicato capiendo. See SIGNIFICAVIT b.

write (rīt), v.; past tense WROTE (rōt); past part. WRIT'TEN (rĭt'n); Archaic past tense & past part. WRIT (rĭt); pres. part. & verbal n. WRIT'ING (rīt'ĭng). [ME. writen, fr. AS. wrītan, orig., to scratch, to score; akin to OS. wrītan to write, to tear, to wound, D. rijten to tear, to rend, G. reissen, OHG. rīzan, ON. rita to write, Goth. writs a stroke, dash, letter. Cf. WRIT.] Transitive: 1. To draw or form by scoring or incising a surface; esp., to trace (symbols, signs, or words) by carving, scratching, or the like; to inscribe; as, hieroglyphics written on the pyramids; also, Now Rare, to paint on a surface.

2. To form, as characters, or to trace the letters or words of, on paper, parchment, etc., with a pen or pencil; as, to write I instead of 9; to write one's name in German script or a note in ink.

3. To put down on paper, in order to record, relate, explain, or the like; to set down, esp. for others to read; as, to write one's thoughts in a journal or a statement for the press; also, to pen or indite; by extension, to typewrite or dictate.

4. Specif.: a To draw up; to draft; as, get a lawyer to write your will. b To spell in writing; as, words written alike but pronounced differently. c To write significant or legible characters upon; to cover, fill, or fill in, by writing; as, to write a check, a sheet full, or ten pages a day. d To exhibit (such a penmanship, style, etc.) in one's writing. e To pen, typewrite, or the like, a letter or note to; as, I shall write her today. f To communicate (a message) by letter; to send word of in writing; as, to write that I am leaving today. g To write contracts or the like, for; specif., to underwrite; as, to write no new business for a month; to write insurance upon a person's life.

5. To compose, esp., in literary form; to be the author or composer of; to construct or use stylistically; as, Shakespeare wrote poems as well as plays; he cannot write English; he writes interesting stories; to write the music for Goethe's Faust.

6. To set forth in written language; to express in literary form; to disclose in writing; to describe; depict; treat; as, to write one's mind or deep concern.

If I could write the beauty of your eyes. Shak.

7. To style, call, sign, or exhibit in writing as; to set (oneself or another) down as (such); to record (in a specified manner); as, by this essay he wrote himself an ass; Gerhard Gerhards wrote himself Erasmus.

8. To record or keep a record of as if by writing or, esp., incising; to stamp; impress; as, truth written on the heart; his name is written on marble or in water; also, to impress or exhibit the stamp of; to make as evident as though told in writing; as, conscientiousness is written all over him.

9. To decree; to ordain as by an edict, law, etc.; as, fate had written its failure.

10. To bring into a specified or implied condition by writing; to make, effect, drive, etc., by writing letters, books, etc.; as, to write oneself out of ideas; to write one into a pretty fix.

——, Intransitive: 1. To make significant characters or inscriptions as by incising, scratching, engraving, or, esp., penning; also, of things, to permit, or to be adapted to such writing; as, to write on stone tablets; this pen writes well.

2. To form letters, words, or sentences with a pen, pencil, or the like; as, immigrants who cannot write.

3. To compose; to produce poems, books, plays, etc.; to be able to give literary form to one's ideas, etc.

The mob of gentlemen who wrote with ease. Pope.

4. To compose, send, or communicate by, a letter or letters; as, to write for a newly published book; I have not written to her for a year.

5. To be regularly employed or occupied in writing; specif.: a Now Rare. To act as clerk, amanuensis, or copyist. b To follow the profession of author or composer. c To be engaged in journalism; to do editorial work, reporting, or the like; as, he writes for the press.

write down. a To set down or record in writing. b To depreciate, disparage, or injure by writing.

He takes our wages — writes us down, but keeps A place in d'Artois' stable. S. A. Brooks.

c To write so as to appeal to a lower level of taste, comprehension, or intelligence; to popularize, simplify, or the like, unduly. d Accounting. To reduce book value; as, to write down an asset.

write in. a To insert, as in a document or text. b To write to a headquarters or place of supply.

write off. a To write with facility and speed. b Accounting. To deduct for depreciation. See charge off, under CHARGE, v. c Bookkeeping. To take off the books or to cancel, as by debiting the profit-and-loss account; as, we shall write off those claims.

---

wringd. Wringed. Ref. Sp.
wringed. Obs. weak past tense & past part. of WRING.

wrin'gle, v. t. & i. [Cf. Dan. wingle to twist, and E. WRING, v.] To writhe. Obs.

wring'ly, adv. Twistedly. Obs.
wring'man (rĭng'măn), n. = WRINGER, 1 b. wrin'kl. Wrinkle. Ref. Sp. wrin'kld. Wrinkled. Ref. Sp. wrin'kle·a·ble, adj. See -ABLE.

wrin'kled·ness, n. See -NESS. wrin'kle·less, adj. See -LESS.
wrin'kle·proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

wrisoun. See ORISON. wristear. ‡ WRESTER.

---

write oneself a man. To become of age; to reach one's majority.

write out. a To put in writing; esp., to put into a full or complete written form; to make a full record or statement of in writing. b To exhaust the literary ability or resources of by writing too much; — used reflexively; as, to write oneself out.

write up. a To write an account of; to describe fully. b To complete or bring up to date the writing of; as, to write up one's diary. c Colloq. To praise highly or unduly in the public press; to puff. d Accounting. To set down an unduly high value for an asset.

write (rīt), n. Writing; writ; handwriting, esp. in hand write, hand of write. Chiefly Scot.

writ'ee' (rīt'ē'), n. A person to whom or for whom something is written. Rare.

writ'-off', n. Accounting. Straight-line depreciation allowance. See DEPRECIATION CHARGE.

writ'er (rīt'ĕr), n. [AS. writere.] 1. One who writes, or has written; one who can write; a penman.

2. One who practices writing as an occupation; specif.: a A scrivener; a scribe. b One engaged in literary work as a profession, as an author or journalist. c A composer of music. d A clerk of the East India Company, being the lowest in rank of the company's servants. Hist. e One who writes new policies, contracts, etc.; as, an insurance writer. f One who transcribes or paints lettering, brief statements, etc., as for signs or ornament; as, a dial writer; a tin-ticket writer. g Law. Scot. (1) Short for WRITER TO THE SIGNET. (2) A lawyer; solicitor; law agent; also, a lawyer's chief clerk. h Nav. (1) Formerly, a rating, or an enlisted man holding it, in the United States Navy to provide for performance of clerical work on board ship. The man holding this rating kept the conduct book, watch, quarter, and station bills, etc. (2) A civil service classification, or one employed under it, at a navy yard or station to furnish an unskilled clerical force.

-writ'er. Comb. form of writer, as in ink*writer,* type*writer.*

writ'er's cramp, palsy, or spasm (rīt'ĕrz). Med. A painful spasmodic cramp of the finger muscles, brought on by excessive use of them in writing. It occurs subsequently whenever an attempt at writing is made.

writer to the signet. Scots Law. A judicial officer who prepares warrants, writs, etc.; originally, a clerk in the office of the Secretary of State.

writ'-up', n. 1. A writing up; a press report; also, a newspaper article or story of a laudatory nature. Slang.

2. Finance. An unwarranted increase in the book value or alleged assets of a corporation. U. S.

writhe (rīth), v.; past tense WRITHED (rīthd); past part. WRITHED, Obs. or Poetic WRITH'EN (rīth'ĕn); pres. part. & verbal n. WRITH'ING (rīth'ing). [ME. writhen, fr. AS. wrīthan to twist; akin to OHG. rīdan, ON. rītha, Sw. vrida, Dan. vride, Lith. riesti to wind, roll, and ult. to E. WRY to twist. Cf. WREATHE, WREST, WRIST, WROTH.] Transitive: 1. To twist into coils or folds; now, usually, to twist or turn so as to distort; to twist violently, as the body in pain; to contort.

> He writhed himself about upon his seat. Mme. d'Arblay.
> His battle-writhen arms, and mighty hands. Tennyson.

2. Obs. a To wind around or about; to encircle or enswathe with folds; to bind. b To make entwined; to intertwine; hence, to plait (a wreath). c To cause to coil; to form by coiling. d To insinuate.

3. To twist or wring so as to wrench, strain, break off, free, etc.; to wrest; specif., to wrest or strain the sense of (a passage); to misinterpret. Now Rare.

4. To contort the face or the body, while saying (something), making (one's way), or the like.

—, Intrans.: 1. To move, go, fly, flow, etc., with twists or turns; to wind in sinuous fashion; as, snakes writhing along a path. "That writhes about the roots." Keats.

2. To become twisted or contorted in pain, in struggling, or the like; to twist or contort the body or, sometimes, the face, as in emotion or suffering; as, his face writhed in agony; he writhed with shame.

> To see his enemies writhe, and burn, and bleed. Shelley.

3. To suffer keenly with shame, vexation, etc.; to squirm.

> Day by day he writhed under the knowledge. James Branch Cabell.

writhe, n. Act or an instance of writhing; a contortion; a twist.

writhed (rīthd), adj. Subjected to writhing; writhen; convoluted; wreathed, as a pillar. — writh'ed·ly (rīth'ĕd·lĭ; -id·lĭ), adv. — writh'ed·ness, n.

writh'en (rīth'ĕn), adj. Writhed; coiled; intertwined; twisted; distorted; contorted; wry; shriveled; as, girders writhen by fire. Chiefly Poet. "My writhen features." Scott.

writhe'neck' (rīth'nĕk'), n. The wryneck. Local, Eng.

writh'er (rīth'ĕr), n. One who writhes or, esp., perverts.

writh'ing (-ĭng), adj. That writhes; characterized by contortions, struggling, etc. — writh'ing·ly, adv.

wri'thled (rīth''ld), adj. [From freq. of WRITHE.] Wrinkled; shriveled. Archaic.

writh'y (rīth'ĭ), adj. Writhing.

writ'ing (rīt'ĭng), n. [AS. wrĭting.] 1. The act of one who writes (in any sense); as, up to the time of this writing.

2. Specif., act, art, or product of forming letters and characters on paper, wood, stone, etc., to record the ideas which characters and words express, or to communicate them by visible signs; use of characters to record in visible form words or sounds; more narrowly, as distinguished from printing, etc., the act, art, or method of tracing by hand with a pen, pencil, or the like, on paper or other material, letters or other symbols of sounds.

3. Something written or in writing (sense 4); as a letter, a note, a notice, etc.; specif.: a An inscription. b Any written, or often, in legal use, any printed, paper or document, as a deed, contract, pleading in court, etc. c Any written composition; literary production; book; publication; as, the writings of Addison; — sometimes used as a title, and then capitalized; as, the Writings of Addison. See COPYRIGHT. d A musical composition.

4. State of being written; as, to put anything in writing.

5. Handwriting; chirography; penmanship.

6. Spelling; orthography. Obs.

7. The occupation of a writer; esp., the profession of authorship.

8. The act or practice of composition, esp. literary composition; also, style or form in composition; manner of expression; as, a course in magazine writing; a novel blemished by bad writing.

9. Short for WRITING PAPER.

writ'ing (rīt'ĭng), adj. Of, pertaining to, or used in or for writing; engaged in writing; as:

writing board	writing exercise	writing room writing cabinet	writing lesson	writing set writing case	writing machine	writing table writing desk	writing pad writing desk. A desk, often with a sloping top, for writing upon; also, a portable case, containing writing materials, used for a like purpose.

writ'ing·er (rīt'ĭng·ĕr), n. A handwriting expert. Rare.

writing fluid. See 2d INK, 1.

writing frame. A frame with an adjustable guide for aiding the blind to write.

writing ink. See 2d INK, 1.

writing lark. The European yellowhammer; — from the irregular lines on its eggs. Local, Eng.

writing master. a One who teaches the art of penmanship. b Local, Eng. The writing lark.

writing paper. Paper intended for writing upon with ink, usually finished with a smooth surface, and sized.

writing reed. The feathertop.

writing telegraph. See TELEGRAPH, 1; TELAUTOGRAPH. writ of account, execution, summons, etc. See WRIT, n., 2.

writ of assistance. Law. a A writ issued by a court of equity to a sheriff, marshal, or other officer for the enforcement of an order or decree of the court, especially an order for the possession of lands. b A writ, originally authorized by statute of 12 Chas. II (1672), issued to a sheriff or other officer to aid in the search for smuggled, or uncustomed goods, which became, in practice, a general search warrant. The abuse of this writ, especially in Massachusetts from about 1761, was a factor in the discontent that preceded the Revolutionary War.

writ of certiorari. See CERTIORARI.

writ of clare constat. See CLARE CONSTAT.

writ of consultation. Law. A writ by which a cause, improperly removed by prohibition from one court to another, is returned to the court from which it came; — so called because the judges, on consultation, find the prohibition ill-founded.

writ of cosinage. See COSINAGE.

writ of error. Law. A writ, orig. at common law an original writ, which lies in a competent court after judgment in an action at law in a court of record, directing the latter to examine the record, or, more commonly, to remit the record to an appellate court in order that some alleged error in the proceedings or in the judgment of the court may be corrected, if it exists. Appeal has now generally superseded the proceeding by writ of error.

writ of extent. See EXTENT, n., 5 a.

writ of habeas corpus. See HABEAS CORPUS.

writ of inquiry. A writ issued in certain actions at law, where the defendant has suffered judgment to pass against him by default, in order to ascertain and assess the plaintiff's damages, where they cannot readily be ascertained by mere calculation.

writ of intendence. See INTENDENCE.

writ of mandamus. See MANDAMUS.

writ of oyer and terminer. See OYER AND TERMINER.

writ of privilege. Law. A writ to deliver a privileged person from custody when arrested in a civil suit.

writ of procedendo. See PROCEDENDO.

writ of prohibition. Law. A writ issued by a superior tribunal, directed to an inferior court, commanding the latter to cease from the prosecution of a suit depending before it.

writ of protection. Law. a Eng. A writ by which the king formerly exempted a person from arrest. It is now disused. b A judicial writ issued to a person required to attend court, as party, juror, etc., intended to secure him from arrest in coming, staying, and returning.

writ of quo warranto. See QUO WARRANTO b.

writ of recaption. Law. A writ, now nearly obsolete, to recover damages for him whose goods, being distrained for rent or service, are distrained again for the same cause.

writ of replevin. See REPLEVIN.

writ of reprisal. See WITHERNAM.

writ of right. Law. a Eng. Law. Either of two original writs which lay to protect feudal tenants in the enjoyment of their freehold property by trial of the rights of the parties in the manorial court. One, the great writ of right patent, was directed to the sheriff, and lay in behalf of a person claiming to hold land by free tenure of a mesne lord; the other, the little writ of right close, was for tenants of the ancient demesne and was directed to the bailiff of the manor. Both were practically abolished by the Common Law Procedure Act of 1860. b In the United States, an analogous common-law writ for restoring to its owners freehold property unjustly withheld.

writ'ten (rĭt''n), past part. of WRITE. Hence: adj. That is in writing or has writing upon it; committed to writing; formulated; inscribed.

writ'ten, n. The person written to. Richardson.

written hand. Cursive handwriting. See CURSIVE, adj.

written law or laws. Law or laws created by express legislation or enactment, as distinguished from unwritten, or common, law, which includes all law or laws from any other legal source. See COMMON LAW b.

writ'er (rīt'ĕr), n. A writ server. Rare.

wriz'zled (rĭz''ld), adj. Wrinkled; shriveled. Now Dial.

wro (rō), n. [Of Scand. origin; cf. ON. rā corner, Dan. vraa, Sw. vrå.] Corner; angle; passage; nook. Now Dial.

wrong (rŏng; 185), adj. [ME. wrong, wrang, adj. & n., fr. AS. wrang, n., fr. ON. rangr awry, wrong; akin to D. wrang bitter, and AS. wringan to wring. See WRING; cf. RANCID.]

1. Twisted; wry; crooked; deformed. Now Dial.

2. Not according to the moral standard; not ethically right or just; sinful; immoral; as, wrong principles of conduct; some habits are not wrong but are unsocial; also, Now Rare, of persons, deviating from rectitude; not upright.

3. That is not right or proper according to a specified or implied code, standard, or convention; at variance with what one, the world, society, or the like, accepts as desirable or preferable; as, you belong to the wrong party; she never knows the wrong people.

4. Not in accordance with one's intent, end, needs, or expectations; not suitable or appropriate; as, to go in the wrong direction; to take the wrong train; to do right things at the wrong times; to fetch the wrong book.

5. Not according to truth or facts; incorrect; false; erroneous; as, a wrong statement, answer, or conclusion; also, mistaken; in error; as, he is not far wrong in his guess.

6. Not up to the mark or standard; not satisfactory, as in condition, fit, results, health, or temper; out of order; amiss; as, there is something wrong with this dress, the dog, or their child; what's wrong with you?

7. Designed to be placed inward, downward, under, or the like; normally away from one; as, the wrong side of a fabric; to hang a curtain or hold a book wrong end up.

Syn. — Awry; immoral, sinful, iniquitous, wicked; faulty, unfit.

Ant. — Right; good, moral, virtuous; appropriate, suitable.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

wrong-ended	wrongheartedness	wrong-mindedly wrong-endedness	wrong-jawed	wrong-mindedness wrongheartedness	wrong-minded	wrong-principled wrongheartedly

— in the wrong box. In a place or position for which one is unsuited; out of one's place or element. — on the wrong side of (a specified age). Older than; on the shady side of. — to go the wrong way. Specif., Colloq., to pass, as food, into the windpipe instead of being swallowed.

wrong (rŏng; 185), adv. 1. In a wrong direction; astray; amiss; as, to lead one wrong; to go wrong in early life; plans that went wrong.

2. In a manner that is not right, proper, true, correct, etc.; wrongly; erroneously; as, to guess wrong.

3. Out of place or due order; in the wrong place; as, to put on one's shoes wrong.

4. In a wrong position or relation; in a false light; as, to get or put one in wrong. Colloq.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

wrong-directed	wrong-grounded	wrong-thinking wrong-feigned	wrong-ordered	wrong-timed wrong-gotten	wrong-screwed	wrong-voting wrong (rŏng; 185), n. [AS. wrang. See WRONG, adj.]

1. That which is wrong, or immoral or unethical; principles, practices, or conduct contrary to justice, goodness, or equity, or to laws accepted as having divine or human sanction; as, not to know right from wrong; the wrong is not all on one side; also, any wrong, or evil act; as, to commit no wrong.

2. Action or conduct which inflicts harm, esp. serious harm, without due provocation or just cause; serious injury wantonly inflicted or undeservedly sustained; unjust or unmerited treatment, or an instance of it; as, to see wrongs on all sides; to suffer a wrong silently; to do no one a wrong; to redress a wrong; also, Now Rare, damage; harm. "Newts and blindworms do no wrong." Shak.

3. The state, position, or fact of being wrong or doing wrong; specif.: a The state, etc., of being mistaken in one's opinion, incorrect in one's conclusion, or the like; as, to be in the wrong regarding B's guilt. b The state, etc., of being guilty of an unpardonable offense or of indefensible conduct or procedure; as, his unconventionality has put him in the wrong in this community.

4. Law. A violation of the legal rights of another; an invasion of right to the damage of the party who suffers it; esp., a tort. Legally, private wrongs are civil injuries, immediately affecting individuals; public wrongs are crimes and misdemeanors which affect the community.

Syn. — See INJUSTICE.

wrong (rŏng; 185), v.; WRONGED (rŏngd); WRONG'ING. Transitive: 1. To do wrong to; to treat with injustice; to deprive of some right, or to withhold some act of justice from; to do undeserved harm to. Hence: a To violate; to treat disrespectfully, dishonorably, etc. b To dispossess; defraud; deprive wrongfully; — with of. c To impute evil to unjustly; to dishonor; malign.

> He that sinneth . . . wrongeth his own soul. Prov. viii. 36.

d To seduce (a woman). e Now Scot. To harm physically; to injure. f Now Rare. To mar the appearance or effect of.

2. To blanket (a vessel). Now Rare.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be wrong; to do wrong or a wrong. Obs.

2. To turn wrong side up; to capsize. Rare. Cf. RIGHT, v. t., 2.

wrong, n. [Cf. AS. wrang the hold of a ship, ON. röng a rib in a ship, rangr not straight. Cf. WRONG.] One of the ribs or timbers of a ship. Obs. Scot.

wrong. Obs. past tense & past part. of WRING.

wrong'do'er (rŏng'dōō'ĕr; rŏng'dōō'ĕr), n. 1. One who does wrong; esp., a transgressor of the moral law.

2. Law. One who commits a tort, or trespass; one guilty of malfeasance; a trespasser; a tort-feasor.

wrong'do'ing (-ĭng), n. Evil behavior or action; transgression of moral or civil law; also, an instance of doing wrong.

wronged (rŏngd; 185), adj. That has been injured unjustly or has suffered a wrong or wrongs; violated; harmed.

wrong'er (rŏng'ĕr; 185), n. 1. One who wrongs or does wrong; also, Obs., a violator; an abuser.

2. A mistake. Slang.

wrong font. The incorrect font of type; — used on printers' proofs. Abbr. w. f.

wrong'ful (rŏng'fŏŏl; -fl), adj. 1. Full of wrong; injurious; unjust; unfair; as, wrongful acts or dealings.

2. Not rightful, esp. in law; unlawful; illegitimate; without legal sanction; as, the wrongful heir to a throne; wrongful occupation of an estate.

3. Obs. a Doing wrong. b Erroneous. c Unjustly held. — wrong'ful·ly, adv. — wrong'ful·ness, n.

wrong'head' (rŏng'hĕd'), adj. Wrongheaded. Rare. — n. A wrongheaded person.

wrong'head'ed (-hĕd'ĕd; -ĭd; 66; 119), adj. Stubborn in adherence to wrong opinion or principles; perverse; obstinately wrong; also, manifesting such perversity. — wrong'head'ed·ly, adv. — wrong'head'ed·ness, n.

wrong'less, adj. Void of wrong. Johnson. — wrong'less·ly, adv.

wrong'ly, adv. In a wrong fashion or way; wrong; wrongfully; unjustly; erroneously.

wrong'ous (rŏng'ŭs), adj. [Cf. ME. wrangwis. See WRONG; cf. RIGHTEOUS.] Wrong; wrongful; iniquitous; unjust; illegal; unlawful; improper. Now Chiefly Scot. — wrong'ous·ly, adv. — wrong'ous·ness, n.

Wron'ski·an (vrŏn'skĭ·ăn), n. Math. A determinant whose first row consists of n functions, $y_1, y_2 \ldots y_n$ of x, the following rows consisting of the successive derivatives of these same functions as to x; — so called by Muir after the Polish mathematician Hoené Wronski (1778–1853).

wrot (rōt), n. [AS. wrōt.] Snout. Obs. wrote (rōt), wroot (rōōt), v. t. & i. [ME. wroten. See 1st ROOT.] To root or root up with the snout; grub. Obs.

write'a·ble, adj. Var. of WRITABLE.

writ'er-ess, n. Fem. of WRITER.

writ'er·ling, n. [writer + 1st -ling.] See -LING.

writ'er·ship, n. See -SHIP.

writh (rĭth). Var. of WREATH.

writ'mak'er, n. See MAKER. — writ'mak'ing, n. & adj.

writ'proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

writ'ten, past part. of WRITE.

wrive (rīv), v. t. [MD. wriven (D. wrijven); akin to G. reiben.] = RUB. Rare.

wrix'le, v. t. [AS. wrixlan to change.] Obs. a To change; exchange. b To envelop; wrap. c To perplex; overpower.

wrocht (rŏxt; wrŏxt). Scot. var. of WROUGHT. [part. of WORK.]

wroght. Obs. past tense & past part. of WRIGHT.

wroik, n. [Also wroke, fr. MLG. wrok.] Revenge. Obs. Scot.

wroke (rōk). Archaic past tense of WREAK. [part. of WREAK.]

wro'ken (rō'kĕn). Archaic past part. of WREAK. wrong'd. Wronged. Ref. Sp.

wrong'eous. Var. of WRONGOUS.

wrong'ish, adj. See -ISH.

wrong'ness, n. See -NESS.

wrong'wend, adj. [See WRONG, adv. & adj.; WEND, v.] Turned wrong; averted. Obs.

wrong'wise', adv. See -WISE.

wroot. Obs. past tense of WRITE.

wrooth. Obs. past tense of WRITHE.

wroothly. † WROTHLY.

wrop (rŏp), wrop'per (rŏp'ĕr). Dial. var. of WRAP, WRAPPER.

wros'tle, wros'tle (rŏs''l). Dial. Eng. of WRESTLE.

wrote (rōt). Past tense & obs. exc. illit. & dial. past part. of WRITE.

wroth (rŏth or, esp. in British usage, rōth; 277), adj. [ME. wroth, wrath, fr. AS. wrāth wroth, crooked, bad; akin to AS. wrīthan to writhe, OS. wrēth angry, D. wreed cruel, OHG. reid twisted, ON. reithr angry, Dan. & Sw. vred, and to E. WRITHE. Cf. WRATH.] 1. Full of wrath; angry; incensed; much exasperated; wrathful; — rarely attributively. "Wroth to see his kingdom fail." Milton.

Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. Gen. iv. 5.

2. Obs. a Fierce; cruel; violent. b Being in wild commotion; turbulent. c Wicked; perverse. d Heavy; depressed; fearful.

wroth, v. i. & t. To become or make angry. Obs.

wroth, n. = WRATH. Obs.

wroth'ly, adv. Wrathfully.

wroth money. [Var. of wrath money, for warth money. See WARTH wardage, WARD a guarding.] A feudal payment in lieu of military service. Hence: wroth penny, wroth silver. All Chiefly Hist.

wroth'some (rŏth'sŭm; rōth'-), adj. Angry. Rare.

wrought (rôt), past tense & past part. of WORK. Hence: adj. 1. Worked into shape; fashioned; formed; as, a curiously wrought ring.

2. Not rough, crude, or plain; elaborated; ornamented; decorated; embroidered, or worked. "Wrought oaken beams." Keats. "Wrought tapestries." Shelley.

3. Manufactured; processed; specif., of silk, spun; of leather, etc., dressed; as, wrought goods; wrought rosin.

4. Of metals or metalwork, hammered; beaten into shape by tools, or produced by such beating; as, dishes of wrought silver.

Syn. — See WORKED.

-wrought. A combining form of wrought, as in:

fine-wrought	hard-wrought	overwrought
gold-wrought	high-wrought	thick-wrought hammer-wrought	inwrought	thin-wrought hand-wrought	machine-wrought	well-wrought wrought. Obs. past part. of RECK.

wrought. Obs. past tense of REACH.

wrought iron. Metal. A commercial form of iron containing less than 0.3 per cent carbon (usually less than 0.1 per cent), and carrying also 1 or 2 per cent of slag mechanically mixed with it, being distinguished from ingot iron and low-carbon steel by its slag content and its process of manufacture. It was formerly made directly from ore, as in the Catalan forge, but is now usually made by the puddling process. The molten iron partly solidifies during the later stages of the process, preventing the complete separation of slag. Wrought iron is tough, malleable, and relatively soft; it cannot be hardened by sudden cooling. When formed into bars it is called bar iron. — wrought'-i'ron, adj.

wrought'-i'ron cast'ing. = MITIS CASTING.

wrought-iron scrap. See IRON SCRAP.

wrought steel. Weld steel.

wrought'-up' (66), adj. Greatly stirred up; in an excited state of mind; unduly stimulated.

wrox (rŏks), v. t. & i. [Origin uncert.] To rot. Dial.

wrung (rŭng), past tense & past part. of WRING. Hence: adj., subjected to wringing; squeezed; esp., squeezed dry by passing through a wringer; also, fretted; racked. — wrung'ness, n.

wry (rī), v.; WRIED (rīd); WRY'ING. [ME. wrien, fr. AS. wrīgian to turn, go, move; akin to OFris. wrīgia to bow, bend, stoop, MLG. wrīch twisted, cranky, Gr. rhoikos crooked. See WRITHE; cf. WRIGGLE.] Intransitive: 1. Obs. a To incline; to tend. b To deviate from the right way; to go away or astray. c To turn aside; to swerve.

2. To twist; writhe; bend; to make contortions. Archaic.

3. To pinch, as a shoe. Chaucer.

——, Transitive: 1. To turn aside, away, or around; to deflect; to turn, or avert, as one's face.

2. To twist; specif.: a To wring; writhe. "Their turbans they wried." W. R. Benét. b To contort; distort; make awry; as, to wry one's lips. c Obs. To twist, or wrest, in meaning. d Obs. To pervert; bias.

3. Rare. a To turn mentally. b To alter in appearance.

wry (rī), adj.; WRI'ER (rī'ĕr); WRI'EST. [From WRY to twist.] 1. Wried; turned to one side; twisted; contorted; awry; crooked; as, a wry neck or mouth; also, made by wrying or twisting the features out of shape; as, a wry face or smile.

2. Figuratively: a Expressive of sudden displeasure or disgust; as, a wry glance. b Marked by perversity or contrariness; wrongheaded; as, wry notions. c Distorted; biased; warped; — of a mind, interpretation, etc.

wry (rī), adv. Wryly; awry.

wry-. A combining form of wry, adj. & adv., as in:

wry-armed	wry-guided	wry-neckedness
wry-blown	wry-legged	wry-nosed wry-eyed	wry-looked	wry-set wry-faced	wry-mouthed	wry-tailed wry-formed	wry-necked	wry-toothed wry, n. Act or instance of wrying. Rare.

wry (rī), v. t. [AS. wrēon; akin to E. WRY to twist.] To cover; veil; conceal. Now Dial.

wry (rī), v. t. [Var. of WRAY.] To accuse. Obs.

wry'bill' (rī'bĭl'), n. A peculiar shore bird (Anarhynchus frontalis) of New Zealand, allied to the plovers. It is unique in having its bill sharply deflected to the right.

wry'-billed' (rī'bĭld'), adj. Having the bill bent to one side.

wry-billed plover. The wrybill.

wry'mouth' (rī'mouth'), n. A large eellike blenny (Cryptacanthodes maculatus) of the northern Atlantic coast of America. A whitish variety is called ghostfish. The term is sometimes extended to other closely allied fishes.

wry'neck' (rī'nĕk'), n. 1. One with a wry, or twisted, neck; one afflicted with torticollis. Colloq.

2. Med. Torticollis.

3. Zool. A bird of the genus Jynx, allied to the woodpeckers, but having soft tail feathers and a peculiar manner of writhing its head and neck; esp., the common species J. torquilla of Europe and Asia. It is of intimately variegated black, brown, and buff coloration. Several other species inhabit central and southern Africa.

Wryneck (Jynx torquilla). ¼

W surface. = WEINGARTEN SURFACE.

Wu (wōō), n. [Chin. (Pek.) *Wu*².] 1. A Chinese dialect spoken in the Yangtze Valley.

2. Chinese Hist. See THREE KINGDOMS.

Wuch'er-e'ri-a (wŏŏk'ĕr-ē'rĭ'ȧ), n. [NL., after Dr. O. Wucherer.] Zool. A genus of filarial worms including W. bancrofti, the parasite of tropical elephantiasis. See ELEPHANTIASIS, 1.

wudge (wŭj), n. & v. t. Bunch; clump. Dial., U. S.

wu-du' (wōō-dōō'), wi-du' (wē-dōō'), or wu-zu' (wōō-zōō'), n. [Ar. wuḍū', whence Turk. wuzu, Per. waẓū'.] Moslem Relig. The ablution performed by a Moslem before each prayer.

wugg (wŭg), interj. An exclamation urging a horse to move. Dial. Eng.

wul'fen-ite (wŏŏl'fĕn-īt), n. [After F. X. von Wulfen (1728–1805), Austrian mineralogist.] Mineral. Native lead molybdate, $PbMoO_4$, a tetragonal mineral bright orange-yellow to red, gray, green, or brown, usually in tabular crystals and also in granular masses; — called also yellow lead ore. H., 2.75–3. Sp. gr., 6.7–7.0.

Wundt'i-an (vōōn'tĭ-ȧn), adj. Of or pertaining to the German psychologist Wilhelm Wundt (1832–1920), or his theories or investigations.

wun'gee (wŭn'jē), n. An East Indian muskmelon.

wung'-out' (wŭng'out'), adj. Having the sails set in the manner called wing and wing. Sailors' Slang.

wur'ley (wûr'lĭ), n.; pl. -LEYS or -LIES (-lĭz). [Native name.] In South Australia, a hut of an aborigine; any aboriginal hut.

Würm (vürm), n. [After the Würm River, Bavaria.] Geol. The fourth stage of ice advance or glaciation during the Quaternary Glacial epoch in Europe. — Würm'i-an (vür'mĭ-ȧn), adj.

wurth (wûrth), v. t. [AS. weorthian.] Obs. a To value; esteem. b To honor; reverence. c To adore; worship. d To praise; glorify.

Wurtz column or tube (vürts). [After C. A. Wurtz, Fr. chemist.] Chem. A kind of bulbed fractionating column.

Wurtz'-Fit'tig re-ac'tion or syn'the-sis (vürts'fĭt'tĭK). [See WURTZ COLUMN; FITTIG REACTION.] Chem. A synthetic reaction induced by treating a mixture of two organic halogen compounds with sodium in an indifferent solvent, as ether; thus, ethyl iodide (CH_3CH_2I) and methyl iodide (CH_3I) react with sodium to form propane ($CH_3CH_2CH_3$) and sodium iodide; — called also the Wurtz reaction when applied to aliphatic compounds and the Fittig reaction in the aromatic series.

wurtz'i-lite (wûrts'ĭ-lĭt), n. [After Henry Wurtz (b. 1828), Am. mineralogist.] Mineral. A kind of asphalt near uintahite in composition.

wurtz'ite (wûrts'īt), n. [After C. A. Wurtz, French chemist.] Mineral. Zinc sulphide, ZnS, a brownish-black mineral in hemimorphic hexagonal crystals and also fibrous. Sp. gr., 3.98.

Würz'bur'ger (wûrts'bûr'gĕr; vürts'bŏŏr'gĕr), n. A dark beer brewed at Würzburg, Bavaria.

Wuth'er-ing Heights (wŭth'ĕr-ĭng). A novel (1847) by Emily Brontë.

wuz'zle (wŭz''l), v. t.; WUZ'ZLED (-'ld); WUZ'ZLING (-lĭng). To mix; jumble. Local, U. S.

wy (wī), n.; pl. WYS, WY'S, WIES (wīz). The letter Y, y.

Wy'an-dot (wī'ăn-dŏt), n.; pl. WYANDOTS (-dŏts). An Indian of an Iroquoian tribe which was, in the 18th century, the most powerful tribe of the Middle West. See HURON.

Wy'an-dotte (-dŏt), n. 1. Var. of WYANDOT.

2. An American breed of medium-sized domestic fowls derived in part from the dark Brahma and spangled Hamburg. The original variety, or Silver Wyandotte, is white laced with black, but the fowls are now bred in various colors.

wych'-elm' (wĭch'ĕlm'), n. [ME. wyche, fr. AS. wicc; akin to LG. wieke, Lith. vinkšna. Cf. WITCH HAZEL.] a A Eurasian elm (Ulmus glabra), a common species in England, Scotland, and Ireland, and often called Scotch elm. It differs from the English elm in having shorter leafstalks but larger fruit; also, the wood of this tree. b U. S. Wing elm. c U. S. Witch hazel.

☞ By confusion this word is often written witch-elm.

wych'-ha'zel (-hā'z'l), n. [Cf. WYCH-ELM.] a Witch hazel. b = WYCH-ELM a.

Wyc'lif-fism, Wyc'lif-ism (wĭk'lĭf-ĭz'm), n. Teachings or principles of Wycliffe. — Wyc'lif-fist, Wyc'lif-ist (-ĭst). n. & adj.

Wyc'lif-fite, Wyc'lif-ite (-īt), adj. Of or pertaining to John Wycliffe (d. 1384), English religious reformer, or his doctrines. He taught that all authority, secular and ecclesiastical, is derived from God and is forfeited by one who is in mortal sin, denied transubstantiation, and condemned monasticism. The first translation of the whole Bible into English was instituted and in part made by him. — n. A follower of Wycliffe; a Lollard.

wye (wī), n. [AS. wiga.] A man, esp. of vigor or warlike prowess. Obs.

wye (wī), n.; pl. WYES (wīz). [See Y.] The letter Y, or something shaped like it; specif. = Y, n., 3 a & b.

Wy-e'thi-a (wī-ē'thĭ-ȧ), n. [After Nathaniel J. Wyeth (1802–56), Am. explorer.] A genus of sunflowerlike plants of the family Carduaceae, found esp. in the western United States.

Wyke'ham-ist (wĭk'ăm-ĭst), n. A present or past student of Winchester College, Winchester, Eng.; — after the founder, William of Wykeham (1324–1404), Bishop of Winchester. — adj. Of or pertaining to Winchester college or Wykehamists. — Wyke-ham'i-cal (wĭk-ăm'ĭ-kȧl), adj.

wy'lie-coat' (wī'lĭ-kōt'; wĭl'ĭ-; wīl'ĭ-), n. [From coat, with obscure 1st element.] An undervest or petticoat; a nightdress. Chiefly Scot.

wynd (wīnd), n. [See WIND a turning, to turn.] A lane, alley, or small court. Chiefly Dial.

wynd (wīnd; wĭn), wyne (wĭn), interj. & v. Turn to the left; haw; — of yoked animals. Scot. & Ir.

wynk'er-nel (wĭngk'ĕr-nĕl), n. The moor hen. Local, Eng.

wynn (wĭn), n. A kind of timber truck, or carriage.

Wy-o'ming (wī-ō'mĭng; wĭ'ō-mĭng), n. A State of the United States. See Gaz.

Wy-o'ming-ite (-īt), n. [From the State Wyoming, fr. a Lenape place name M'cheuwōmink, lit., upon the great plain.] 1. A native or inhabitant of Wyoming.

2. [not cap.] Petrog. A peculiar lava consisting mainly of phlogopite and leucite.

Wyoming Massacre. U. S. Hist. The massacre (July 3, 1778) of American settlers in the Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania, by a force of Indians and Tories.

wype (wīp), n. [Cf. Nor. vīpa, Dan. vibe, lapwing, and E. WEEP lapwing.] The lapwing (Vanellus vanellus). Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

wys'ty, adj. [Cf. AS. wēstig.] Prob., desolate; deserted. Obs.

wrothe, adv. = WROTHLY. Obs.

wrotheloker, compar. of WROTHLY. Obs.

wroth'ful, wroth'ful-ly, etc. Vars. of WRATHFUL, WRATHFULLY, etc.

wroth'y, adj. = WRATHY. — wroth'i-ly, adv. — wroth'i-ness, n.

wrout. Dial. var. of ROUT; WROTE, to grub.

wrung. † RUNG, n., WRING.

wry. † WRAY.

wry'er, n. Wriggler. Obs.

wry'ly, adv. of WRY.

wry'ness, n. See -NESS.

W'-shaped', adj. See -SHAPED.

wud (wŏŏd). Dial. var. of WOOD, adj.

wud. Dial. var. of WITH.

wud'dle, wud'dy (wŭd'ĭ). Scot. & dial. vars. of WITHY.

wude (wŏŏd). Var. of WOOD, adj. Obs. exc. Dial.

wuff. Var. of 3d WOOF, n. & v. i.

Wu'jek's Bi'ble (vōō'yĕks). See BIBLE, 2.

wu-keel', Var. of VAKIL.

wukf. Var. of WAKF.

wul. † WOOL. [Obs.]

wul'der, n. [AS. wuldor.] Glory.

wulk (wŭlk). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WHELK.

wull. Dial. var. of WILL.

wul'la-wins (wŭl'ȧ-wĭnz; -wŭnz). Var. of WILLAWINS. [WILDCAT.]

wull'cat (wŭl'kăt). Scot. var. of Wul'lie (wŭl'ĭ), n. [Scot.] Dim. of WILLIAM. [WILLIWAW.]

wul'li-wa (wŭl'ĭ-wō). Var. of wum'ble (wŭm'b'l). Scot. var. of WIMBLE, n.

wum'man (wŏŏm'ăn; ŏŏm'ăn). Var. of WOMAN. Obs. exc. Dial.

wum'mel, wum'mle (wŏŏm'l; wŭm'l). Scot. & N. of Eng. vars. of WIMBLE, n.

wun (wŏŏn; wŭn). Var. of WON, abode. Obs. exc. Dial.

wun (wŭn). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. & past tense of WIN.

wun (wŭn). Scot. & dial. Eng. past tense & past part. of WIND.

wun. Var. of WOOND.

wun. Won. Ref. Sp.

wund, adj. [AS.] Wounded. Obs.

wund, n. Scot. var. of 3d WIND.

wun'der. Wonder. Ref. Sp.

wun'derd. Wondered. Ref. Sp.

wun'der-ful. Wonderful. R. Sp.

wun'drous. Wondrous. Ref. Sp.

wun'-gyi'. Var. of WOON-GYEE.

wun'na (wŭn'ná). Will not. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

wun'ner. Scot. var. of WONDER.

wun'ner. Var. of ONER. Slang.

wun'some (wŭn'sŭm). Var. of WINSOME. Obs. exc. Dial.

wunt. Wont. Ref. Sp.

wun't (wŭnt). Dial. var. of WON'T. [var. of WONTED.]

wunt'ed. Ref. sp. & dial. U. S.

Wuotan. Var. of WODEN.

wup. Scot. var. of WIP, OOP.

wur. Var. of WER, our.

wurch. † WORK.

Wurd. Var. of WYRD. See NORN.

wurd. † WORD.

wur'ly. Var. of WURLEY.

wurm. Worm. Ref. Sp.

wur'mal (wûr'mȧl), n. Var. of WORMIL.

wurmd. Wormed. Ref. Sp.

wurp, n. [AS. wyrp.] A throw; cast. Obs. [KAMALA a.] wur'rus, n. [Ar. wars.] =

wur'ry. Worry. Ref. Sp.

wurse. Obs. var. & ref. sp. of WORSE.

wurs'et. Scot. var. of WORSTED.

wur'ship. Worship. Ref. Sp.

wur'shipt. Worshiped. Ref. Sp.

wurst. † VERST, WORST.

wurst. Worst. Ref. Sp.

wurste. † VERST.

wurt. † WORT.

wurth. Worth. Ref. Sp.

wur'thy. Worthy. Ref. Sp.

wur'zel (wŭr'z'l), n. Short for WANGEL-WURZEL.

wush. Dial. var. of WISH.

wush (wŏŏsh). Scot. past tense & obs. past part. of WASH.

wusp (wŭsp). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WISP.

wuss (wŭs). Scot. var. of WISH.

wus'ser (wŭs'ĕr). Dial. var. of WORSER.

wust. Dial. var. of WORST.

wuste. Obs. past tense of WIT, to know. [WIT.]

wut (wŭt). Scot. & Ir. var. of wuth'er (wŭth'ĕr). Var. of WHITHER, to bluster.

wuth'er (wŭth'ĕr). Dial. Eng. var. of WHITHER, n. & v.

Wu'yeck's Bi'ble (vōō'yĕks). See BIBLE, 2.

wuz (wŭz). Dial. var. of WAS.

wu'zu. Var. of WUDU.

wuz'zent (wŭz'nt). Scot. var. of WIZENED.

wuz'zer (wŭz'ĕr), n. [From was.] = HAS-BEEN. Slang.

wuzz'er, n. = WHIZZER. [WOOZY.]

wuz'zy (wŭz'ĭ; wŏŏz'ĭ). Var. of WX. See X, n., 6 d.

wy. † WAY, WEIGH, WHY.

wych. † WHICH, WICH, WITCH.

Wyc'liffe ('fe), or Wyc'lif ('s), Bi'ble (wĭk'lĭf(s)). See BIBLE, 2.

Wyc-lif'i-an, Wyc-lif'i-an (wĭk-lĭf'ĭ-ăn), adj. = WYCLIFFITE.

wyde. Scot. var. of WADE.

wye (wī). Scot. var. of WAY.

wye. † WEIGH.

wye level. = Y LEVEL.

wyf. † WIFE.

wyke (wĭk). Dial. Eng. of WICK.

wyle. † WEEL, WHEEL, WHILE.

wyle (wīl). Scot. var. of WALE, choice, choose; var. of WILE, to lure.

wylw. † WILLOW.

wyme (wīm). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of WAME, belly.

wy'mote, wy'mot, n. [Irreg. fr. AF. wimave, OF. vimaune (F. guimauve). See HIBISCUS; MALLOW.] = MARSH MALLOW.

wyn, wynn, n. = WEN, the Anglo-Saxon character.

wyn. † WEEN, WIN.

wyn'drunke. A form for wine-drunk, drunk with wine. Obs.

wyne. Var. of WYND, interj. & v.

wyn'ris, n. pl. [Prob. error for twynris; cf. TWINE to separate.] Pincers. Obs. Scot.

wype, n. A parsnip. Obs.

wype. Var. of WIPE.

Wyrd (wŭrd; wĭrd), n. [AS. See WEIRD, n.] See NORN.

wyre. † VEER; WERE, doubt; WIRE. [WIREDRAWER.]

wyre'draw'er. Archaic var. of wyr'ock, wyr'ok, n. [Obs. Flem. weeroghe.] A corn or a bunion. Obs. Scot.

wys. † WAS, WISE.

wyse. † VISE, consider; WISE.

wyshede, n. Wisdom. Obs.

wyson. Dial. var. of WEASAND.

wyss. Scot. var. of WISE, adj.

wyte. Var. of WITE, blame. Obs. exc. Dial.

wythe. Var. of WITHE.

wythe rod, wythe wood. Vars. of WITHE ROD, WITHE WOOD.

wytt. † WEIGHT, WHITE, WIT.

wyve, wyv'er. Scot. vars. of WEAVE, WEAVER.

wy'ver (wī'v'ĕr), n. [See WIVERN.] Obs. a A viper. b A wivern.

wy'vern. Var. of WIVERN.

X

X, x (ĕks), n.; pl. X's, x's, Xs, xs (ĕk′sĕz; -sĭz; 119). 1. The twenty-fourth letter of the English alphabet. Its form and value are from the Latin, as is its name, ex, eks (Latin ĭx). The letter came into Latin from the Chalcidian, a western Greek alphabet, in which it had the value of ks, whereas in the Ionic, an eastern alphabet, and in classical Greek the same sign (though perhaps of different origin), the letter chi, represented the sound of kh, and that of ks was indicated by the letter xi (see CHI, XI). It is probable that at least the western Greek X was of Semitic origin. In English, x stands for six sounds: ks, gz, ksh, gzh, z, and sh (see Pron., §§ 259–260). Initial x occurs almost solely in words of Greek origin, where it is pronounced like z and stands for classical Greek xi. Medially and finally, however, x appears also in words of Latin origin, directly or through French, as in axis, mix. In cognate words English x corresponds to German chs, Old High German hs, Latin x, Greek x, Sanskrit kṣ, as in axtree, G. achse, OHG. ahsa, L. axis, Gr. axōn, Skr. akṣa. See ALPHABET.
2. a An instance of the letter X, x, printed, written, painted, etc. b A printer's type, a stamp, etc., for the letter X, x. c The sound or any sound of the letter X. d [cap.] In Roman numerals, 10 or, in the form ↀ, 1,000 or, in the form Ꙗ, 10,000. XX stands for 20 and XXX for 30. When placed before another Roman numeral, X denotes that 10 is to be subtracted from the value of that numeral, and when placed after, that 10 is to be added; thus, XL stands for 40, LX and LXXX for 60 and 80, respectively.
3. Anything having the shape of the letter X.
4. [cap.] The word Christ, alone or in combination (chiefly in *X*mas), or, sometimes, the word Christian. X in this use is properly the Greek letter chi (like X in form), initial letter of Christos, Christ. Xt or, Obs., XP, Xp (Greek chi and rho), is often used instead of X, as in *X*tian. Cf. MONOGRAM, XP.
5. [not cap.] Math. a An unknown quantity. X was used as an abbreviation for Ar. shei a thing, something, which, in the Middle Ages, was used to designate the unknown, and was then prevailingly transcribed as xei. b Usually in the form ×, the sign of multiplication; as, 2 × 2 = 4; in measurements, equiv. to by; as, a room 20 × 30 feet. c The abscissa in the rectilinear co-ordinate system. d A sign for the vector product of two vectors; as, A × B is the vector product of the vector A by the vector B.
6. As a symbol, used to denote or indicate: a Anyone or anything arbitrarily or conveniently so designated, esp. as the twenty-third or (cf. K, n., 4) twenty-fourth, or, when V and W are not used, the twenty-first, in order or class. b Anything marked with an x; specif., Colloq., U. S., a tendollar bill; hence, XX, a twenty-dollar bill. c U. S. An experimental license, permit, or the like. d All the letters save the first letter of a word, as in DX for distance, WX for weather. e A cross; — from its shape. f A wrong statement, answer, result, or the like; a mistake; an error.
7. As an abbreviation: see Abbreviations, in Appendix.

X, x, adj. 1. Twenty-third or (cf. K, adj., 1) twenty-fourth or (cf. X, n., 6 a) twenty-first in order or class.
2. Having the form of capital X.
3. Of a number, quantity, or degree, unknown or, esp., to be determined.

Xan′a·du (zăn′ə·dōō), n. A city mentioned in Coleridge's poem Kubla Khan. It is an altered form of Xamdu, the residence of the Khan Kublai, as given in Purchas's Pilgrimage, which suggested the idea of the poem.

xanth-. = XANTHO- (which see), as in: xan′tho·dont, xan′tho·don′tous, xan·thu′ri·a. See -ODONT, etc.

xan′tha·line (zăn′thə·lēn; -lĭn; 157), n. Also -lin. [xanth- + Gr. hals salt.] Chem. A white crystalline alkaloid, $C_{20}H_{19}NO_4$, obtained from opium.

xanth·am′ide (zăn·thăm′ĭd; -īd; 157), n. Also -id. [xanthic + amide.] Chem. An amide, $ROCSNH_2$, of a xanthic acid; specif., a colorless crystalline compound, $C_2H_5OCSNH_2$, the amide of ethyl-xanthic acid.

xan′thane (zăn′thān), n. [xanth- + -ane b] Chem. The radical of which the hydride is perthiocyanic acid (sense a).

xan·than′ic ac′id (zăn·thăn′ĭk). Chem. = PERTHIOCYANIC ACID a.

xan′thate (zăn′thāt), n. [See XANTHIC.] Chem. A salt or ester of xanthic acid.

xan·tha′tion (zăn·thā′shŭn), n. Chem. Conversion into a xanthate, as of cellulose in making viscose.

xan′the·in (zăn′thē·ĭn), n. [Gr. xanthos yellow.] Chem. A soluble yellow coloring matter found in yellow flowers.

xan′the·las′ma (zăn′thē·lăz′mə; -lăs′mə), n. [NL., fr. xanth- + Gr. elasma a metal plate.] Xanthoma, esp. of the eyelid. — xan′the·las′mic (-mĭk), adj.

xan′the·las·moi′de·a (-lăz·moi′dē·ə; -lăs-), n. [NL., fr. xanthelasma + -oidea.] A chronic disease commonly beginning in childhood, characterized by development of brownish wheals followed by pigmentation.

xan′thene (zăn′thēn), n. Chem. A white crystalline parent compound, $C_6H_4{<}^{CH_2}_{O}{>}C_6H_4$, obtained by reduction of xanthone.

Xan′thi·an (zăn′thĭ·ăn), adj. Of or pertaining to Xanthus, an ancient town of Lycia in Asia Minor; — applied esp. to certain marbles found near that place, and now in the British Museum.

Xan′thi·an, n. An inhabitant of Xanthus.

xan′thic (zăn′thĭk), adj. [F. xanthique, fr. Gr. xanthos yellow; prob. akin to E. HARE.] 1. Pertaining to, or tending toward, a yellow color; specif., Bot., designating flowers with some tint of yellow. See CYANIC, 2.
2. Chem. a Of or pertaining to xanthin or xanthine. b Pertaining to or designating any of a series of thio acids having the general formula RCOSSH, obtained in their salts (xanthates) by treating alcoholates with carbon disulphide; specif., ethyl-xanthic acid, C_2H_5OCSSH, a colorless unstable oil. Alkali-metal xanthates form yellow precipitates with copper salts.

xan′thide (zăn′thīd; -thĭd; 157), n. Also -thid. [See XANTHO-.] Chem. A compound of xanthogen.

Xan·thid′i·um (zăn·thĭd′ĭ·ŭm), n. [NL., fr. xanth- + -idium.] Bot. A genus of about 70 species of deeply constricted spiny desmids (family Desmidiaceae), some of which are common plankton forms.

xan′thin (zăn′thĭn), n. [Gr. xanthos yellow.] Chem. a Obs. A yellow coloring matter found in madder. b A yellow insoluble coloring matter extracted from yellow flowers. c Xanthine. d Obs. One of the gaseous decomposition products of the xanthates.

xan′thine (zăn′thēn; -thĭn; 157), n. Also xan′thin. [Gr. xanthos yellow.] Biochem. A white microcrystalline nitrogenous compound, $C_5H_4N_4O_2$, present in muscle tissue, in the liver, spleen, pancreas, and other organs, and also in urine (in small quantities) and some urinary calculi, and in the juices of certain plants; — so called because it leaves a yellow residue when evaporated to dryness with nitric acid. Xanthine is closely related to uric acid, being 2,6-dihydroxypurine.

xan′thi·nu′ri·a (zăn′thĭ·nū′rĭ·ə), n. Also xan′thi·u′ri·a (zăn′thĭ·ū′rĭ·ə), xan·thu′ri·a (zăn·thū′rĭ·ə). [NL., fr. xanthine + -uria.] Med. The presence of xanthine in the urine, esp. in excess.

xan·thi′one (zăn·thī′ōn), n. Chem. A crystalline thioketone, $C_{13}H_8OS$, derived from xanthone.

Xan·thip′pe (zăn·tĭp′ē; -thĭp′ē) or Xan·tip′pe (-tĭp′ē), n. [Gr. Xanthippē.] Socrates's wife, whose peevish scolding and quarrelsome temper have become proverbial.

Xan·this′ma (zăn·thĭz′mə; -thĭs′mə), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xanthisma that which is dyed yellow.] Bot. A small genus of chiefly annual herbs (family Cardiaceae) of the prairie regions of the Southern United States. X. texanum, formerly classed in a genus Centauridium, is a branching herb with solitary, or few, showy heads of yellow flowers.

xan′thite (zăn′thīt), n. [Gr. xanthos yellow.] Mineral. A yellowish variety of vesuvianite.

Xan′thi·um (zăn′thĭ·ŭm), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xanthion a plant used to dye the hair yellow, fr. xanthos yellow.] Bot. A genus of coarse, rough or spiny herbs (family Ambrosiaceae) having small heads of greenish flowers, the pistillate enclosed in an involucre becoming a burr covered with hooked bristles. The species are known as cockleburs or clotburs.

xan′tho- (zăn′thō-), xanth-. A combining form, Greek xantho-, xanth-, from xanthos, meaning yellow, as in *xanth*ophore, *xanth*opsia; specif., Chem., used in naming members of a series of complex yellow or brownish-yellow ammoniacal cobalt salts, as in *xantho*cobaltic chloride, $[Co(NH_3)_5NO_2]Cl_2$. The meanings of the following can be understood from the definitions of their elements.

xanthocarpous	xanthocyanopsy	xanthophose
xanthocobaltic	xanthocyanopy	xanthospermous
xanthocyanopsia	xanthomyeloma

Xan′tho·ceph′a·lus (-sĕf′ə·lŭs), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + -cephalus.] Zool. The genus constituted by the yellow-headed blackbird.

Xan·thoc′er·as (zăn·thŏs′ĕr·ăs), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + -ceras.] Bot. A genus of Chinese shrubs (family Sapindaceae) having as the only known species X. sorbifolia, often cultivated for ornament. It has pinnately compound leaves, racemose, rather showy, white flowers with red or yellow spots, and a fruit resembling the horse chestnut, but without prickles.

Xan·thoch′ro·i (zăn·thŏk′rō·ī), n. pl. [NL., fr. xantho- + Gr. chroa color.] Ethnol. A division of the Caucasian races, including chiefly the fair-haired whites of northern Europe and their descendants. See CAUCASIAN, adj., 3. — Xan′tho·chro′ic (zăn′thō·krō′ĭk), adj.

xan′tho·chroi′a (zăn′thō·kroi′ə), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xanthochroos yellow-skinned, fr. xanthos yellow + chroia skin.] Med. Yellowness of the skin.

xan′tho·chroid (zăn′thō·kroid), adj. [See XANTHOCHROI; -OID.] Ethnol. Having yellowish or light-colored hair and fair complexion. — n. A person having xanthochroid traits.

xan·thoch′ro·ism (zăn·thŏk′rō·ĭz′m), n. Abnormal coloration of feathers in which yellow replaces the normal color, as in certain parrots. It is commonly due to the absence of the dark pigment which with yellow forms green.

xan′tho·chro′mi·a (zăn′thō·krō′mĭ·ə), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + -chromia.] Med. Yellowish discoloration, as of the skin; specif., the yellowish discoloration of the cerebrospinal fluid, diagnostic of hemorrhage of the spinal cord. — xan′tho·chro′mic (-mĭk), adj.

xan·thoch′ro·ous (zăn·thŏk′rō·ŭs), adj. [Gr. xanthochroos.] Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, the Xanthochroi or of xanthochroia.

xan·thoc′o·nite (zăn·thŏk′ō·nīt), n. Also xan′tho·cone (zăn′thō·kōn). [xantho- + Gr. konis dust.] Silver thioarsenate, Ag_3AsS_3, orange-yellow to brown and in rhombohedral crystals or reniform masses. Sp. gr., 5.

xan′tho·cre·at′i·nine (zăn′thō·krē·ăt′ĭ·nēn; -nĭn; 157), n. Also -nin. [xantho- + creatinine.] Biochem. A yellow crystalline leucomaine, $C_8H_{10}N_4O$, present in small quantity in muscle tissue. It is poisonous, and in general properties resembles creatinine.

xan′tho·derm (zăn′thō·dûrm), n. [xantho- + -derm.] Anthropol. One of the yellow-skinned races.

xan′tho·der′ma (-dûr′mə), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + -derma.] Med. Yellow discoloration of the skin; xanthochroia.

xan′tho·gen (zăn′thō·jĕn), n. [xantho- + -gen.] Chem. A univalent radical, $C_2H_5OCS_2$, derived from xanthic acid.

xan′tho·ge·nam′ic ac′id (-jē·năm′ĭk). Chem. An acid, NH_2CSOH, known in the form of esters (xanthamides or xanthogenamides).

xan′tho·gen·ate (zăn′thō·jĕn·āt), n. Chem. A xanthate.

xan′tho·gen′ic (-jĕn′ĭk), adj. [See XANTHO-; -GEN.] 1. Producing a color of the hue yellow.
2. Chem. = XANTHIC, 2 b.

xan′tho·leu′co·phore (-lū′kō·fōr; 181), n. [xantho- + leucophore.] Zool. A leucophore, or guanophore, usually reactive, containing yellow pigment as well as guanine, as those of frogs. Cf. XANTHOPHORE.

xan·tho′ma (zăn·thō′mə), n.; pl. -MATA (-mə·tə) or -MAS (-məz). [NL., fr. xanth- + -oma.] Med. A skin disease marked by the development of irregular yellow patches or nodules on the skin, as on the eyelids, neck, back, etc.

‖xan·tho′ma di′a·bet′i·co′rum (dī′ə·bĕt′ĭ·kō′rŭm). [NL.] Med. A variety of xanthoma occurring in diabetics.

xan·tho′ma·to′sis (zăn·thō′mə·tō′sĭs), n. [NL.] Med. A condition characterized by widespread development of, or tendency to develop, xanthomatous lesions.

xan·thom′a·tous (zăn·thŏm′ə·tŭs; -thō′mə·tŭs), adj. Med. Of or pertaining to xanthoma.

Xan′tho·me·lan′o·i (zăn′thō·mē·lăn′ō·ī), n. pl. [NL. (as if Gr.). See XANTHO-; MELANO-.] Ethnol. Xanthomelanous races.

xan′tho·mel′a·nous (-mĕl′ə·nŭs), adj. [xantho- + Gr melas, -anos, black.] Ethnol. Of or pertaining to the lighter division of the Melanochroi, or those races having an olive or yellow complexion and black hair.

xan·thom′e·ter (zăn·thŏm′ē·tĕr), n. [xantho- + -meter.] A chromometer for use with sea or lake water.

xan′thone (zăn′thōn), n. [xanth- + 2d -one.] Chem. A colorless crystalline ketone, $C_6H_4{<}^{CO}_{O}{>}C_6H_4$, obtained esp. by distilling salicylic acid with acetic anhydride; also, a derivative of it. Xanthone is a derivative of xanthene and the parent of several yellow coloring matters.

xan′tho·phane (zăn′thō·fān), n. [xantho- + -phane.] Physiol. The yellow pigment in the inner segments of the cones of the retina. Cf. CHROMOPHANE.

xan′tho·phore (-fōr; 181), n. [xantho- + -phore.] Zool. A pigment cell or chromatophore containing a yellow pigment, typically a carotinoid, occurring in some fishes, crustaceans, etc.

Xan′tho·phy′ce·ae (-fĭ′sē·ē; -fĭs′ē·ē), n. pl. [NL., fr. xantho- + -phyceae.] Bot. In some classifications, a class comprising the yellow-green algae; — equiv. to Heterokontae.

xan′tho·phyll (zăn′thō·fĭl), n. Also -phyl. [xantho- + -phyll.] Biochem. a A dark-brown, crystalline, unsaturated compound, $C_{40}H_{56}O_2$, found in plants, usually with chlorophyll and carotene. In dilute solution it has a golden-yellow color. It occurs also in animal fat. b Any of several yellow coloring matters of plants (as of yellow flowers), related to the foregoing compound. — xan′tho·phyl′lous (-fĭl′ŭs), adj.

xan′tho·phyl′lite (-fĭl′ĭt), n. [xanthophyll + -ite.] Mineral. A mineral of the clintonite group (brittle micas), occurring in green crystals, crusts, or globular forms, a silicate of calcium, magnesium, and aluminum. H., 4.6. Sp. gr., 3.09.

xan′tho·pro′te·in (-prō′tē·ĭn; -tēn), n. [xantho- + protein.] A yellow substance formed by action of hot nitric acid on albuminous or protein matter. It is changed to orange-yellow by ammonia. — xan′tho·pro·te′ic (-prō·tē′ĭk), xan′tho·pro′te·in′ic (-prō′tē·ĭn′ĭk), adj.

xan·thop′si·a (zăn·thŏp′sĭ·ə), n. Also xan·tho′pi·a (-thō′pĭ·ə). [NL., fr. xanth- + -opsia.] Med. A condition in which objects appear yellow.

xan·thop′sin (zăn·thŏp′sĭn), n. Visual yellow.

xan·thop′sy·dra′ci·a (-sĭ·drā′shĭ·ə; -sĭ·ə), n. [NL., fr. xanth- + Gr. psydrax blister.] Med. A skin disease marked by the development of small yellow pustules.

xan·thop′ter·in (zăn·thŏp′tĕr·ĭn), n. [xantho- + pter- + -in.] Biochem. An amorphous yellow pigment obtained from the wings of a sulphur butterfly (Gonepteryx rhamni).

xan′tho·rham′nin (zăn′thō·răm′nĭn), n. [xantho- + Rhamnus.] Chem. A yellow crystalline glucoside, $C_{18}H_{18}O_{10}$, occurring in the fruit of different species of Rhamnus. On hydrolysis with rhamninase it yields rhamnetin and rhamninose.

Xan′thor·rhoe′a (zăn′thō·rē′ə), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + Gr. rhoia a flowing, fr. rhein to flow; — so named from the yellow gum which it exudes.] Bot. a A genus of Australian aloetike plants (family Liliaceae), the so-called grass trees, having a thick woody trunk or caudex bearing a cluster of stiff linear leaves and a dense terminal spike of small flowers. X. hastilis and other species yield acaroid resin (which see). b [not cap.] A tree of this genus.

xan′tho·sid′er·ite (zăn′thō·sĭd′ĕr·ĭt), n. [xantho- + siderite.] Mineral. A hydrous ferric oxide, $Fe_2O_3.2H_2O$, yellowish or brownish and in fine needles or earthy.

xan·tho′sis (zăn·thō′sĭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xanthos yellow.]
1. Med. Yellow discoloration, as in many cancers and degenerating tissues.
2. Plant Pathol. A virus disease of the strawberry plant characterized by crinkling and curling, yellowing and dwarfing of the leaves, and stunting of the entire plant. — xan·thot′ic (-thŏt′ĭk), adj.

Xan′tho·so′ma (zăn′thō·sō′mə), n. [NL., fr. xantho- + -soma.] Bot. A genus of tropical American aroids differing from Colocasia chiefly by the hastate leaves. The thick tubers and the leaves of some species, as X. violaceum, are used as food in tropical America. X. sagittifolium is the malanga (called also spoonflower, arrow-leaved spoonflower). See YAUTIA a.

Xan·thou′ra (zăn·thōō′rə; -thou′rə), n. [NL., fr. xanth- + Gr. oura tail.] Zool. A genus of Central and South American jays, mostly green and yellow; the green jays.

xan′thous (zăn′thŭs), adj. [Gr. xanthos yellow.] Yellow; specif., Ethnol., of or pertaining to those races with yellowish, red, auburn, or brown, hair; also, designating, or pertaining to, races with yellow complexion, esp. the Mongolian races.

Xan·thox′a·lis (zăn·thŏk′sə·lĭs), n. [NL., fr. xanth- + oxalis.] Bot. A large, widely distributed genus of herbs (family Oxalidaceae), the yellow wood sorrels, with palmately trifoliolate, often sensitive leaves, pentamerous yellow flowers, and elongated, angular capsules. They are common throughout North America.

xan·thox′e·nite (-sĕ·nīt), n. [xantho- + xen- + 1st -ite, 4.] Mineral. A basic ferric phosphate with some manganese and calcium, occurring in thin yellow monoclinic plates.

xan·thox′y·lin (-sĭ·lĭn), n. [xantho- + Gr. xylon wood.]
1. Chem. a A crystalline compound, $C_{10}H_{18}O_4$, obtained from seeds of the Chinese pepper. b A white crystalline compound obtained from the bark of the prickly ash.
2. Pharm. a A purified alcoholic extract of prickly-ash bark. b An eclectic resinoid prepared by pouring such extract into water and collecting and drying the precipitate.

xan·thy′drol (zăn·thī′drōl; -drŏl), n. [xanthone + hydrol.] Chem. A colorless crystalline alcohol, $C_{13}H_{10}O_2$, obtained by reduction of xanthone.

X

xa. † SHAH.
xa·ban′dar. † SHABUNDER. xall, xalle. † SHALL.

Xam′du, n. See XANADU. xanthic oxide. = XANTHINE. Obs.
Xan′thi·cus (zăn′thĭ·kŭs), n. Bib. = NISAN. xan′thi·u′ri·a, n. See XANTHINURIA.

xan′tho·gen·am′ide (zăn′thō·jĕn·ăm′ĭd; -īd; 157), n. Also -id. Chem. = XANTHAMIDE. xan′tho·leu′ko·phore. Var. of XANTHOLEUCOPHORE. [SIA.] Xan·tho′pi·a. Var. of XANTHOPSIA.

xan′tho·pic′rite (zăn′thō·pĭk′rīt), xan′tho·pic′rine (zăn′thō·pĭk′rēn; -rĭn; 157), or -rin, n. [xantho- + G. pikros bitter.] = BERBERINE. xan′tho·pur′pu·rin (zăn′thō·pûr′pū·rĭn), n. = PURPUROXANTHIN.
Xan′tho·rhi′za (-rī′zə), Xan′thor·rhi′za. Vars. of ZANTHORHIZA. [Syn. of XANTHORRHOEA.]
Xan′tho·rhoe′a (-rē′ə), n. [NL.] See XANTHORRHOEA.
Xan·thox′y·la′ce·ae (zăn·thŏk′sĭ·lā′sē·ē). [NL.] Var. of ZANTHOXYLACEAE.
Xan·thox′y·lum. Var. of ZANTHOXYLUM. [SIA.] xan·thu′ri·a, n. See XANTHINURIA.

xan'thyl (zăn'thĭl; -thēl), n. [xanthene + -yl.] Chem. The univalent radical, $C_{13}H_9O$, of which xanthene is the hydride. There are five varieties.

Xa·ve'ri·an (zā·vē'rĭ·ăn; zā-), adj. Of, pertaining to, or named after, St. Francis Xavier.

Xaverian Brothers. R.C.Ch. A congregation of men devoted to the Christian education of youth. It was founded in 1839 in Bruges, and was introduced into England in 1846 and into the United States in 1854.

X chromosome. A sex chromosome found in certain animals and plants. The presence of two X chromosomes in the fertilized egg causes a female to be developed; when there is but one a male is developed. See SEX.

xe'bec (zē'bĕk), n. [From earlier chebec (with influence of Sp. xabeque, now jabeque), fr. F. chebec, fr. It. sciabecco, fr. Ar. shabbāk.] Naut. A Mediterranean vessel, with long overhanging bow and stern, usually three-masted, having a lateen rig, but often carrying square sails on the foremast. Xebecs were formerly often used as corsairs.

Xebec.

Xe'ma (zē'mȧ), n. [NL., an arbitrarily invented word (Leach, 1819).] Zool. A genus of small black-headed gulls of arctic America having a slightly forked tail. There is but one species (X sabini).

Xen'a·can·thi'ni (zĕn'ȧ·kăn·thī'nĭ), n. pl. [NL., fr. xen- + Gr. akantha thorn.] Paleontol. A division of fossil elasmobranchs, practically equiv. to Ichthyotomi. — xen'a·can'thine (-kăn'thĭn; -thīn; 156), adj. & n.

xen'a·gogue (zĕn'ȧ·gŏg; 185), n. [Gr. xenagōgos.] A guide. Rare.

xen'a·go'gy (-gō'jĭ; -gŏj'ĭ), n. A guidebook. Rare.

Xe·nar'thra (zē·när'thrȧ), n. pl. [NL., fr. xen- + Gr. arthron joint.] Zool. An order (or suborder) consisting of the American edentates (anteaters, sloths, and armadillos) characterized by additional articular facets on the dorsolumbar vertebrae. Cf. NOMARTHRA. — xe·nar'thral (-thrăl), adj. — xe·nar'throus (-thrŭs), adj.

-xene. Mineral. A combining form from Greek xenos, stranger, guest, denoting a substance rarely associated with (something specified), as in: ca·cox'ene, leu·cox'ene, me·rox'ene, py'rox·ene.

xen'e·la'si·a (zĕn'ē·lā'zhĭ·ȧ), n. Also xe·nel'a·sy (zē·nĕl'ȧ·sĭ). [Gr. xenēlasia expulsion of strangers.] Gr. Antiq. The general banishment of aliens from Sparta by official action.

xe'ni·a (zē'nĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xenia hospitality, fr. xenos guest.] Bot. The direct influence of pollen upon the seed in the cross-pollination of certain plants, whereby hybrid characters are not confined to the embryo as in normal cross-fertilization, but are manifested in the form, color, etc., of the fruit or seed in the same generation. It is now regarded as explained by the process of double fertilization occurring in angiosperms (see DOUBLE FERTILIZATION). It is commonly observed in Indian corn, or maize, as when a yellow-seeded variety pollinated by a blue-seeded one yields ears with some blue kernels.

xe'ni·al (-ăl), adj. [Gr. xenios pert. to hospitality, fr. xenos guest.] Of, pertaining to, or designating, hospitality or relations between host and guest, esp., among the ancient Greeks, between persons of different cities; as, xenial relationship; xenial customs.

xe'ni·an (-ăn), adj. Xenial.

Xe·nic'i·dae (zē·nĭs'ĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL., fr. Xenicus, type genus, fr. Gr. xenikos foreign.] Zool. The family of passerine New Zealand birds including the rock wren and the bush wren. The typical genus is Xen'i·cus (zĕn'ĭ·kŭs).

xe'ni·um (zē'nĭ·ŭm), n.; pl. XENIA (-ȧ). [L., fr. Gr. xenion gift to a guest, fr. xenios pert. to hospitality.] 1. Class. Antiq. A present given to a guest or stranger, or to a foreign ambassador.

2. pl. In the Middle Ages, gifts, sometimes compulsory, to rulers and churches.

xen'o- (zĕn'ō-), xen-. A combining form, Greek xeno-, xen-, from xenos, meaning: a Guest, stranger, as in xenolite, Xenarthra. b Strange; foreign; as in xenomania, xenurus; also, hetero-, as in xenogenesis.

xen'o·bi·o'sis (zĕn'ō·bī·ō'sĭs), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + -biosis.] Zool. Symbiosis in which two species of ants live together in the same nest but do not rear their young in common.

xen'o·blast (zĕn'ō·blăst), n. [xeno- + -blast.] Petrog. In metamorphic rock, a crystal which is not bounded by its own faces but has its outlines impressed upon it by neighboring crystals; — contrasted with idioblast.

Xe·noc'ra·te'an (zē·nŏk'rȧ·tē'ăn), adj. Xenocratic.

Xen'o·crat'ic (zĕn'ō·krăt'ĭk), adj. Like, or pertaining to, the doctrine of the Greek philosopher Xenocrates (396–314 B.C.), in the Academy the second scholarch after Plato. He combined Pythagorean conceptions with Platonism. See ACADEMY, 1.

xen'o·cryst (zĕn'ō·krĭst), n. [xeno- + -cryst.] Petrog. Any crystal foreign to the rock in which it occurs.

xen'o·do·chi'um (zĕn'ō·dō·kī'ŭm), n. [LL., a building for the reception of strangers, fr. Gr. xenodocheion.] In the Middle Ages, a house for the care of the poor, strangers, pilgrims, or the sick.

xe·nog'a·my (zē·nŏg'ȧ·mĭ), n. [xeno- + -gamy.] Bot. Fertilization by cross-pollination; cross-fertilization. — xe·nog'a·mous (-mŭs), adj.

xen'o·gen'e·sis (zĕn'ō·jĕn'ē·sĭs), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + -genesis.] Biol. a = HETEROGENESIS. b The fancied production of an organism altogether and permanently unlike the parent. — xen'o·ge·net'ic (-jē·nĕt'ĭk), xen'o·gen'ic (-jĕn'ĭk), adj.

xe·nog'e·nous (zē·nŏj'ē·nŭs), adj. [xeno- + -genous.] Med. Arising from a cause outside the organism, as from a foreign body.

xen'o·lite (zĕn'ō·lĭt), n. [Sw. xenolit, fr. Gr. xenos stranger + lithos stone; — because it was a stranger in the place where it was found.] An aluminum silicate, prob. identical with sillimanite (fibrolite).

xen'o·lith (-lĭth), n. [xeno- + -lith.] Petrog. A fragment of a rock included in another rock. — xen'o·lith'ic (-lĭth'ĭk), adj.

xen'o·ma'ni·a (zĕn'ō·mā'nĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + -mania.] A mania for, or an inordinate attachment to, foreign customs, institutions, manners, fashions, etc. Rare. — xen'o·ma'ni·ac (-ăk), adj. Rare.

Xen'o·mi (zĕn'ō·mĭ), n. pl. [NL., fr. xeno- + Gr. ōmos shoulder.] Zool. An order of soft-rayed fresh-water teleost fishes of which the blackfish (Dallia pectoralis) is the only known species.

xen'o·mor'phic (-môr'fĭk), adj. [xeno- + -morphic.] Petrog. Having a form other than its own; — said of mineral grains of igneous rocks whose mutual growths have prevented the assumption of outward crystal form; allotriomorphic; — contrasted with idiomorphic or automorphic.

xe'non (zē'nŏn; zĕn'ŏn), n. [Gr., neut. of xenos strange.] Chem. A heavy, colorless, gaseous element, one of the inert gases, occurring in air (about one part in 170 millions by volume) and in gases from hot springs. Symbol, Xe or X; at. no., 54; at. wt., 131.3. Xenon was discovered by Ramsay and Travers in 1898. It can be condensed to a liquid, boiling at −109.1° C., and to a solid, melting at −140° C.

xen'o·par'a·site (zĕn'ō·păr'ȧ·sīt), n. [xeno- + parasite.] Biol. A parasite capable of infecting a wounded or injured organism that does not otherwise serve as its host; — distinguished from oecoparasite. — xen'o·par'a·sit·ism (-sĭt·ĭz'm), n. Salmon.

Xen'o·pel'ti·dae (-pĕl'tĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL., fr. xeno- + Gr. peltē shield.] Zool. A family of harmless snakes intermediate in many respects between the Boidae and Colubridae. The only species, Xenopeltis unicolor, of southeastern Asia and the Malay Archipelago, grows about three feet long and has smooth black or brown iridescent scales. — xen'o·pel'tid (-tĭd), adj. & n.

Xe·noph'a·ne'an (zē·nŏf'ȧ·nē'ăn), adj. Like, or pertaining to, the doctrines of the Eleatic philosopher Xenophanes, noteworthy for his emphatic (perhaps pantheistic) monotheism.

Xen'o·phon'te·an (zĕn'ō·fŏn'tē·ăn), Xen'o·phon'ti·an (-shĭ·ăn), adj. Also Xen'o·phon'ic (-fĭk), Xen'o·phon'tic (-tĭk), Xen'o·phon'tine (-tĭn; -tīn). Of or pertaining to Xenophon.

Xe·noph'o·ra (zē·nŏf'ō·rȧ), n. [NL. See XENO-; -PHORA.] Zool. The genus consisting of the carrier snails. It constitutes a family, Xen'o·phor'i·dae (zĕn'ō·fôr'ĭ·dē). — xe·noph'o·ran (zē·nŏf'ō·răn), adj. & n.

xen'oph·thal'mi·a (zĕn'ŏf·thăl'mĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xen- + ophthalmia.] Conjunctivitis due to a foreign body in the eye, or to injury.

xe·noph'y·a (zē·nŏf'ĭ·ȧ), n. pl. [NL., fr. Gr. xenophyēs strange in shape or nature.] Zool. Foreign particles used as skeletal material by certain protozoans and sponges.

Xen'o·pod'i·dae (zĕn'ō·pŏd'ĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL.] Zool. A family constituted by Xenopus. — xe·nop'o·did (zē·nŏp'ō·dĭd), n. — xe·nop'o·doid (-doid), adj. & n.

Xen'op·syl'la (zĕn'ŏp·sĭl'ȧ), n. [NL. See XENO-; PSYLLA.] Zool. The genus of fleas to which the common rat flea of the tropics belongs. See RAT FLEA.

Xe·nop'ter·yg'i·i (zē·nŏp'tĕr·ĭj'ĭ·ī), n. pl. [NL., fr. xeno- + Gr. pteron wing (taken to mean fin), or pteryx wing, fin.] Zool. An order (or suborder) constituted by the family Gobiesocidae. — xe·nop'ter·an (-nŏp'tĕr·ăn), xe·nop'ter·yg'i·an (-ĭj'ĭ·ăn), adj. & n.

Xen'o·pus (zĕn'ō·pŭs), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + Gr. pous foot.] Zool. A genus of African aglossate toads, having teeth in the upper jaw, tentaclelike processes on the sides of the head, and broadly webbed hind feet with clawlike nails on the first three toes.

Xen'o·rhyn'chus (-rĭng'kŭs), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + -rhynchus.] Zool. A genus of East Indian and Australian storks.

Xen'o·sau'ri·dae (-sô'rĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL., fr. xeno- + -sauridae.] Zool. A family of lizards, regarded as intermediate between the Iguanidae and Anguidae, comprising the genus Xen'o·sau'rus (-rŭs). X. grandis, of southern Mexico, the only species, has a rather slender, depressed body, covered above with minute tubercles and granules, and becomes about a foot long. — xen'o·sau'rid (-rĭd), n. — xen'o·sau'roid (-roid), adj. & n.

xen'o·time (zĕn'ō·tīm), n. [F. xénotime, appar. fr. Gr. xenos strange + timē honor (the crystals are small and rare, and were long unnoticed), but stated by namer to be fr. Gr. kenos vain, empty + timē honor, because wrongly thought to contain a new metal.] Mineral. A mineral occurring in tetragonal crystals and rolled grains, usually brown or yellow, and consisting essentially of yttrium phosphate, YPO_4. Thorium, erbium, cerium, etc., may also be present. H., 4–5. Sp. gr., 4.45–4.56.

-xenous. Biol. A combining form, Greek -xenos, from xenos, a host, as in lipoxenous. Corresponding nouns denoting state are formed in -xe·ny, as lipoxeny.

Xe·nu'rus (zē·nū'rŭs), n. [NL., fr. xen- + -urus.] Zool. A genus of armadillos having twelve or thirteen movable plates on the middle of the body, as the tatouay.

xen'yl (zĕn'ĭl; zē'nĭl), n. [xen- + -yl.] Chem. A univalent radical, $C_6H_5C_6H_4-$, of which biphenyl is the hydride.

xen'yl·a·mine' (zĕn'ĭl·ȧ·mēn'; -ăm'ĭn; 157), n. Also -am'in. [xenyl + amine.] A colorless crystalline compound, $C_6H_5C_6H_4NH_2$; para-amino-biphenyl.

xer'a·fim (zĕr'ȧ·fĭn; Pg. shĕr'ȧ·fēn'), n. Also xer'a·fim, xer'a·phim. [Pg. xerafim, fr. Ar. sharīf. See SHERIFI coin.] A silver coin formerly current in Portuguese India, worth 300–360 reis (30–36 cents, 1s. 3d. – 1s. 6d.). Obs.

xe·ran'sis (zē·răn'sĭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xēransis a drying.] Med. Drying up; desiccation. — xe·ran'tic (-tĭk), adj.

Xe·ran'the·mum (zē·răn'thē·mŭm), n. [NL., fr. xer- + anthemum.] Bot. a A small genus of annual herbs (family Cardiaceae) found in southern Europe, and containing one of the best-known everlastings in cultivation, X. annuum. They are densely tomentose and have solitary, chaffy or silvery flower heads, with purplish tubular flowers. b [not cap.] A plant or flower of this genus.

xe'rarch (zē'rärk), adj. [xer- + 2d -arch.] Ecology. Developing in dry places; — said of a plant succession. Cf. SUCCESSION, n., 7; HYDRARCH.

xe·ra'si·a (zē·rā'zhĭ·ȧ; -sĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xērasia dryness, fr. xērainein to dry.] Med. A disease of the hair, characterized by cessation of growth and excessive dryness with a dusty appearance.

Xer'es (zĕr'ēs; Sp. hā'rās, formerly shĕr'ēs), n. Sometimes xer'es. Sherry. See SHERRY, Ety.

xe'ro- (zē'rō-), xer-. A combining form, Greek xero-, xer-, from xeros, meaning dry, as in xe'ro·cline, xe'ro·me'ni·a, xe'ro·therm.

xe'ro·der'ma (-dûr'mȧ), n. [NL., fr. xero- + Gr. derma skin.] Med. A disease of the skin, characterized by dryness and roughness and a fine scaly desquamation. It is commonly regarded as a mild ichthyosis. — xe'ro·der·mat'ic (-dĕr·măt'ĭk), -der'ma·tous (-dûr'mȧ·tŭs), -der'mic (-dûr'mĭk), adj.

xe·ro'ma (zē·rō'mȧ), n.; pl. -ROMATA (-mȧ·tȧ), -ROMAS (-mȧz). [NL., fr. xer- + -oma.] Xerophthalmia.

xe'ro·morph (zē'rō·môrf), n. [xero- + -morph.] A xerophyte. — xe'ro·mor'phic (-môr'fĭk), adj. — xe'ro·mor'phous (-fŭs), adj. — xe'ro·mor'phy (zē'rō·môr'fĭ), n.

xe·rom'y·ron (zē·rŏm'ĭ·rŏn), n. Also xe·rom'y·rum (-rŭm). [NL., fr. Gr. xēromyron.] A dry or stiff ointment.

xe'ro·nate (zē'rō·nāt), n. Chem. A salt of xeronic acid.

xe·ron'ic (zē·rŏn'ĭk), adj. [xer- + citra*conic.*] Chem. Pertaining to or designating an acid, $C_6H_3O_4$, obtained in the form of its anhydride by continued boiling of citraconic anhydride; diethyl-maleic.

xe·roph'a·gy (zē·rŏf'ȧ·jĭ), n. Also xe'ro·pha'gi·a (zē'rō·fā'jĭ·ȧ). [LL. xerophagia, fr. Gr. xērophagia, fr. xēros dry + phagein to eat.] The strictest fast, now observed chiefly in the Eastern churches, during Lent, or esp. Holy Week, permitting only bread, salt, water, and vegetables, and excluding meat, fish, milk, cheese, butter, oil, wine, and all seasonings or spices.

xe'ro·phil (zē'rō·fĭl), n. Also -phile (-fīl; -fĭl). [xero- + -phil.] Bot. A xerophyte. — xe'ro·phile, adj.

xe·roph'i·lous (zē·rŏf'ĭ·lŭs), adj. [xero- + -philous.] Bot. Drought-resistant or drought-tolerant; able to withstand the absence or scarcity of moisture, as desert plants. See XEROPHYTE. — xe·roph'i·ly (-lĭ), n.

xe·roph'o·bous (zē·rŏf'ō·bŭs), adj. [xero- + -phobous.] Fearing drought; of plants, easily succumbing to drought.

xe'roph·thal'mi·a (zē'rŏf·thăl'mĭ·ȧ), n. [LL., fr. Gr. xērophthalmia, fr. xēros dry + ophthalmos the eye. See OPHTHALMIA.] Med. A dry and thickened condition of the conjunctiva, leading to a lusterless condition of the eyeball, due to chronic inflammation. A deficiency of vitamin A predisposes to it.

xe'roph·thal'mos (zē'rŏf·thăl'mŏs), xe'roph·thal'my (zē'rŏf·thăl'mĭ), n. Xerophthalmia.

Xe'ro·phyl'lum (zē'rō·fĭl'ŭm), n. [NL., fr. xero- + -phyllum.] Bot. A small genus of tall North American herbs (family Melanthaceae), the turkey beards, having thick woody rootstocks, simple stems with rough-edged linear leaves, and small white flowers in a dense terminal raceme. X. asphodeloides is common in the pine barrens of the southeastern United States. X. tenax is a sour grass.

xe'ro·phyte (zē'rō·fīt), n. [xero- + -phyte.] Ecology. A xerophilous plant; a plant structurally adapted for growth with a limited water supply. The term is generally applied not only to actual desert plants, but to those inhabiting salt marshes or alkaline soils or bogs, where water absorption is slow or difficult because of the excess of salts or acids in solution (cf. HALOPHYTE, BOG). Xerophytes exhibit many modifications of structure which limit transpiration, as a thickened epidermis, waxy or resinous coatings, dense pubescence, copious aqueous tissue, etc. Cf. HYDROPHYTE, MESOPHYTE. — xe'ro·phyt'ic (-fĭt'ĭk), adj. — xe'ro·phyt·ism (zē'rō·fīt·ĭz'm), n. — xe'ro·phyt'i·cal·ly (-fĭt'ĭ·kăl·ĭ), adv.

xe·ro'sis (zē·rō'sĭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xērōsis, fr. xēros dry.] Med. Abnormal dryness, as of the skin or eye.

xe·ros'to·ma (zē·rŏs'tō·mȧ), xe'ro·sto'mi·a (zē'rō·stō'mĭ·ȧ), n. [NL. See XERO-; -STOME.] Med. Abnormal dryness of the mouth, due to suppression of the secretions.

xe'ro·tes (zē'rō·tēz; zēr'ō-), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xērotēs, fr. xēros dry.] Med. Dryness; a dry habit of the body.

xe·rot'ic (zē·rŏt'ĭk), adj. [See XEROSIS.] Med. Dry.

xe'ro·trip'sis (zē'rō·trĭp'sĭs), n. [NL., fr. xero- + -tripsis.] Med. Dry friction.

Xe'rus (zē'rŭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xēros dry; — from the comparative dryness and rigidity of the pectoral mammae.] Zool. A genus of coarse-haired long-tailed African ground squirrels.

xi (zī; ksī; ksē), n. [Gr.] 1. The fourteenth letter (Ξ, ξ) of the Greek alphabet, equivalent to English x. In classical Greek it represents the sound of ks, as in tacks, the k being perhaps aspirated. See X.

2. a An instance of the letter Ξ, ξ, written, printed, etc. b As a numeral, 60. Cf. GREEK NUMERAL.

3. Used variously, often in the form Ξ, ξ, for classifying, as [cap.] Astron., to designate some star, usually the fourteenth brightest, of a constellation; as, X i (ξ) Draconis.

xi·bal'ba (hē·bäl'bȧ; 98; 260), n. [sometimes cap.] Maya Relig. The underworld; the abode of the dead. Cf. MICTLAN.

Xi·me'ni·a (zĭ·mē'nĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., after F. Ximenes, Sp. missionary in Mexico, who in 1615 published a book on Am. medicinal plants.] Bot. A small genus of widely distributed tropical shrubs or trees (family Olacaceae) having alternate leaves, a persistent calyx, bearded petals, and drupaceous fruit. X. americana is the mountain plum.

Xin'ca (hēng'kä; 260), n. An Indian of an extinct tribe of Guatemala, constituting the Jincan linguistic family. See JINCAN.

Xi'pe (hē'pā; 260), n. Also Xi'pe–to·tec' (hē'pā·tō·tĕk'), [Nahuatl, fr. xipeua to flay + totec our cut one, fr. tequi to cut in pieces.] The Aztec god of sowing, and patron of workers in precious metals. Human victims sacrificed to him were flayed.

Xiph'i·as (zĭf'ĭ·ăs), n. [L., swordfish, sword-shaped comet, fr. Gr. xiphias, fr. xiphos sword.] 1. Zool. a A genus of fishes comprising the common swordfish and constituting the family Xi·phi'i·dae (zĭ·fĭ'ĭ·dē). See SWORDFISH, 1 a. b [not cap.] Formerly, a swordfish.

2. Astron. a The constellation Dorado. b Obs. [not cap.] A comet shaped like a sword.

— xiph'i·i·form' (zĭf'ĭ·ĭ·fôrm'), adj. — xiph'i·oid (-oid), adj. & n.

xiph'i·hu'mer·a'lis (zĭf'ĭ·hū'mĕr·ā'lĭs), n. [NL. (sc. musculus).] Zool. A muscle in some animals extending from the xiphoid cartilage to the proximal end of the humerus.

xiph'i·plas'tral (zĭf'ĭ·plăs'trăl), adj. Zool. Pertaining to the xiphiplastron. — n. = XIPHIPLASTRON.

Xan·tip'pe, n. See XANTHIPPE.

Xan'tus's murre'let (ksăn'tŭsh·ĭz). [After János Xántus (1825–1894), Hungarian naturalist.] See MURRELET.

xa·ri'fo (shä·rē'fō). † SHERIF.

xar'que, n. [Pg.] = CHARQUI.

Xe·nar'chi (zē·när'kĭ), n. pl. [NL., fr. xen- + Gr. archos rectum, anus.] Zool. See PIRATE PERCH.

xen'o·do·che'ion (zĕn'ō·dō·kē'ŏn; -kī'ŏn), xen'o·do·che'um (-kē'ŭm). Vars. of XENODOCHIUM.

xe·nod'o·chy (zē·nŏd'ō·kĭ), n. [Gr. xenodochia.] a Hospitality. b = XENODOCHIUM. — xen'o·do·chi'al (zĕn'ō·dō·kī'ăl), adj. Both Obs.

xe·nog'e·ny (zē·nŏj'ē·nĭ), n. = XENOGENESIS.

Xen'o·mor'pha (zĕn'ō·môr'fȧ), n. pl. [NL., fr. xeno- + -morpha.] Zool. Syn. of TARDIGRADA, 2.

xen'o·mor'pho·sis (-môr'fō·sĭs; -môr·fō'sĭs), n. [NL., fr. xeno- + -morph + -osis.] = HETEROMORPHOSIS, 1.

xen'o·phile (zĕn'ō·fīl), adj. Also -phil. See -PHILE. — xe·noph'i·lism, n.

xen'o·phobe (-fōb), n. See -PHOBE. — xen'o·phob·ism, n. — xe·noph'o·by, n.

xen'o·pho'bi·a (zĕn'ō·fō'bĭ·ȧ), n. See -PHOBIA. — xen'o·pho'bi·an, adj.

Xe·nop'ter·i (zē·nŏp'tĕr·ī), n. pl. [NL. See XENO-; -PTERUS.] Syn. of XENOPTERYGII.

Xe'nos (zē'nŏs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xenos strange.] See STREPSIPTERA.

-xeny. See -XENOUS.

xeque. † SHEIK.

xer-. = XERO-.

xe·rif'. (shē·rēf'). Var. of SHERIFI.

xe·rife'. † SHERIF.

xe'ro·der'mi·a (zē'rō·dûr'mĭ·ȧ), n. [NL.] Med. = XERODERMA.

xe'ro·fil. Xerophil. Ref. Sp.

xe'ro·fite. Xerophyte. Ref. Sp.

xe'ro·to'ci·a (zē'rō·tō'shĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xero- + -tocia.] = DRY LABOR.

Xi'ba·ro. Var. of JIVARO.

Xi·bi'to (hē·bē'tō; 260). Var. of HIBITO. See CHOLONAN.

Xi·ca'que (hē·kä'kā; 260), Xi·cak' (-kăk'). Vars. of JICAQUE.

Xi·ca'que·an (-kā'kā·ăn). Var. of JICAQUEAN.

xi'foid. Xiphoid. Ref. Sp.

xi'lem. Xylem. Ref. Sp.

xi'lo-. Xylo-. Ref. Sp.

xi'lo·car'pous. Xylocarpous. Ref. Sp.

xi·log'ra·fy (-rȧ·fĭ). Xylography. Ref. Sp.

xi'lon. Var. of XYLON.

Xi'na, n. Dim. of CHRISTINA.

Xin'can. Var. of JINCAN.

-xion. See -TION.

xiph-. = XIPHO-.

xiphi-. = XIPHO-, as in xiphister-num.

xiph'i·plas'tron (zĭf'ĭ·plăs'trŏn), n.; pl. -PLASTRA (-trȧ). [NL., fr. Gr. xiphos a sword + plastron.] Zool. The posterior, or fourth, lateral plate in the plastron of turtles.

xiph'i·ster'num (-stûr'nŭm), n.; pl. -NA (-nȧ). [NL., fr. Gr. xiphos a sword + sternum.] a Anat. & Zool. The posterior segment, or extremity, of the sternum; — in man usually called xiphoid, or ensiform, process. b Zool. = XIPHIPLASTRON. — xiph'i·ster'nal (zĭf'ĭ·stûr'năl), adj.

xiph'o- (zĭf'ō-), xiph-. A combining form, Greek xipho-, xiph-, from xiphos, meaning a sword, as in xiphophyllous, Xiphodon.

xiph'o·cos'tal (-kŏs'tăl), adj. [See XIPHOID; COSTAL.] Anat. Of, pertaining to, or connecting, the xiphoid and the ribs.

Xiph'o·don (zĭf'ō·dŏn), n. [NL., fr. xiph- + -odon.] Paleontol. A genus of small two-toed artiodactyls from the Eocene of Europe, typical of a family, Xiph'o·don'ti·dae (-dŏn'tĭ·dē).

xiph'o·dyn'i·a (zĭf'ō·dĭn'ĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xiph- + -odynia.] Med. Pain in the xiphoid process.

xiph'oid (zĭf'oid), adj. [Gr. xiphoeidēs sword-shaped, fr. xiphos sword + eidos form, shape.] Anat. a Like a sword; ensiform. b Of, pertaining to, or designating, the xiphoid process. — xi·phoi'dal (zĭ·foi'dăl), adj.

xiph'oid, n. The xiphisternum; the xiphoid process.

xiphoid appendage or appendix. = XIPHOID PROCESS a.

xiphoid bone. A slender ossification in the nuchal ligament of certain birds, as the cormorant.

xiphoid cartilage. = XIPHOID PROCESS a.

xi·phoi'di·an (zĭ·foi'dĭ·ăn), adj. Anat. Xiphoid.

xiphoid process. Anat. & Zool. The xiphisternum; specif.: a In man, the posterior and lowest division of the sternum. It is usually more or less cartilaginous throughout life. b The tail of a king crab.

xi·phop'a·gus (zĭ·fŏp'ȧ·gŭs), n. [NL., fr. xiphoi + Gr. pēgnynai to unite, fasten together.] Terat. A monster consisting of twins united at the epigastrium, as the Siamese twins. — xiph'o·pag'ic (zĭf'ō·păj'ĭk), xi·phop'a·gous (zĭ·fŏp'ȧ·gŭs), adj.

xiph'o·phyl'lous (zĭf'ō·fĭl'ŭs), adj. [Gr. xiphos sword + phyllon leaf.] Bot. Having sword-shaped leaves.

Xiph'o·su'ra (-sū'rȧ), n. pl. [NL., fr. Gr. xiphos sword + oura tail.] Zool. The order of arthropods constituted by the king crabs. It includes a single living family, Xiph'o·su'ri·dae (-rĭ·dē), of which Xiph'o·su'rus (-sū'rŭs), containing the American king crab, is the type genus. See LIMULUS. — xiph'o·su'ran (-răn), adj. & n. — xiph'o·sure (zĭf'ō·sûr), n. — xiph'o·su'rous (zĭf'ō·sū'rŭs), adj.

Xiph'y·dri'i·dae (zĭf'ĭ·drĭ'ĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL. Xiphydria, type genus (fr. Gr. xiphydrion a kind of shell fish, fr. xiphos sword) + -idae.] Zool. A small family of horntails, or wood wasps, the camel wasps, having the thorax humped and necklike in front. Xi·phy'dri·a (zĭ·fĭ'drĭ·ȧ; zĭ·fĭd'rĭ·ȧ) is the type genus. — xi·phy'dri·id (-Id), n. & adj.

Xi'ra·xa'ra (hē'rȧ·hä'rȧ; 260), adj. Pertaining to or designating a South American Indian linguistic family, now found only in scattered villages in their former territory in northwestern Venezuela.

Xi·su'thros (zĭ·sōō'thrŏs), n. [Gr.] Babylon. Myth. The Greek transcription of Ziusudra (literally, life of distant days), the Sumerian name of the deluge hero Utnapishtim (which see).

Xi'uh·te·cu'tli (hē'ōō·tā·kōō'tlē; 260), n. [Nahuatl, lit., lord of the year.] The fire god of the Aztecs.

Xmas. See X, n., 4.

xo'a·non (zō'ȧ·nŏn), n.; pl. XOANA (-nȧ). [Gr.] Gr. Antiq. A primitive image of wood, sometimes recalling in shape the block from which it was cut.

Xo'sa (ksō'sä; the x represents a click; see 1st CLICK, 5), n. a An important division of the Kaffir peoples, including the Amakosa of eastern Cape Province. b The Kaffir (Bantu) language of the Xosa; Kaffir. See KAFFIR, n., 3.

Xo'va (hō'vä; 260). Var. of JOVA. See OPATA.

XP (kĭ rō; kē rō). [The Greek letters chi (X) and rho (P), not the Eng. XP. See X, CHRIST.] The first two letters of the Greek word ΧΡΙΣΤΟΣ, Christ; — an abbreviation used with the letters separate or, oftener, in a monogram, often enclosed in a circle, as a symbol or emblem of Christ. See MONOGRAM; X, n., 4.

X radiation. X-ray radiation.

X ray. 1. Physics. Any of the radiations of the same nature as light radiation, but of an extremely short wave length, about one angstrom unit, emitted primarily as the result of a sudden change in the velocity of a moving electric charge (as when rapidly moving cathode rays strike a solid obstacle, or target, in a vacuum tube), and as the result of changes in the atoms of the target due to this impact. The most notable properties of these rays are: (a) ionization of a gas through which they pass; (b) penetration through various thicknesses of all solids; (c) production of secondary X rays by impinging on material bodies; and (d) action on photographic plates, fluorescent screens, etc., like that of light. These radiations were first discovered by Wilhelm Konrad von Roentgen, German physicist, in 1895, while working with highly exhausted vacuum tubes. Because of their unknown nature he called them X rays, but they are frequently called after him, Roentgen rays. Cf. CATHODE RAY.

2. A photograph obtained by use of X rays.

— X'-ray', adj.

X'-ray' (66), v. t. To expose to the action of X rays; to examine, treat, or photograph, with X rays.

X'-ray' can'cer. Med. Cancer, esp. of the skin, due to excessive exposure to X rays.

X-ray photograph. A shadow picture made with X rays, esp. one revealing the internal structure of objects opaque to ordinary light. See RADIOGRAPH, 2, Illust. — X-ray photography.

X-ray spectrograph. Physics. A spectrograph for dispersing X rays and measuring their wave lengths.

X-ray spectrometer. A type of spectrometer for measuring the angles of diffraction of X rays produced by reflection from the surface of a crystal.

X-ray spectrum. See SPECTRUM, 2.

X-ray therapy. Med. Treatment, as of a cancer, by controlled application of X rays.

X-ray tube. Physics. A vacuum tube designed to produce X rays copiously. It consists of a cathode which sends a stream of electrons in a definite direction so as to fall on a target or anticathode from which the X rays proceed. In one type of tube, use is made of the ordinary cathode rays; in another, part of the cathode is a spiral of tungsten wire which is heated to incandescence by an auxiliary electric current and which liberates a large number of electrons. The velocity of the electrons is determined by the difference of potential applied to the electrodes of the tube.

x strain of Weil (vīl). Immunol. See WEIL-FELIX REACTION.

Xt, Xtian. See X, n., 4.

xu·rel' (hōō·rĕl'; 260), n. [Cf. JUREL.] a The horse-eye jack. b A saurel.

xy'lan (zī'lăn), n. [Gr. xylon wood.] Chem. A yellow gummy substance of the pentosan class, present in woody tissue, as straw and corncobs; wood gum. It yields xylose on hydrolysis.

xy·lan'thrax (zĭ·lăn'thrăks), n. Charcoal. Cf. LITHANTHRAX. Obs.

Xy·la'ri·a (zĭ·lā'rĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xyl- + -aria.] Bot. A genus of sphere fungi (order Sphaeriales) having the perithecia formed in the upper part of erect, black, corky or woody stromata. X. mali causes black root rot of apples. It typifies a family, Xy·la'ri·a'ce·ae (-ā'sē·ē), which has continuous dark-brown ascospores.

xy'late (zī'lāt), n. Chem. A salt or ester of a xylic acid.

Xy·leb'o·rus (zĭ·lĕb'ō·rŭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xylēboros eating wood.] Zool. An extensive genus of small timber borers or ambrosia beetles. See AMBROSIA BEETLE.

xy'lem (zī'lĕm), n. [G., fr. Gr. xylon wood. Cf. PHLOEM.] Bot. A complex tissue in higher plants, consisting typically of tracheids or tracheae (or both) and usually also of various kinds of wood fibers and parenchyma cells; woody tissue; — distinguished from phloem. In a narrow sense the term is used as applying to the trachea tissue only. The xylem conveys water from the roots up the stem and also furnishes mechanical support to the plant. The xylem which forms first in woody plants (primary xylem) usually contains both protoxylem and metaxylem (see these terms) and does not function for any length of time, being supplanted by the secondary xylem, which is formed by the cambium and makes up the bulk of many plants, as the wood of trees, etc. See BUNDLE n., 5; STEM, Illust.

xy'lene (zī'lĕn), n. [Gr. xylon wood.] Chem. Any of three isomeric, colorless, oily hydrocarbons, $C_6H_4(CH_3)_2$, found in coal and wood tar and certain kinds of petroleum, and also prepared artificially. They are dimethyl derivatives of benzene, and are called specif. orthoxylene, metaxylene, and paraxylene. Metaxylene is of chief technical importance and is used in dye manufacture. Commercial xylene is a mixture of the three and is used as a solvent.

xy'le·nol (zī'lē·nōl; -nŏl), n. [xylene + -ol.] Chem. Any one of six isomeric crystalline phenols, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3OH$, derived from the xylenes and found in coal tar; dimethylphenol.

xy'le·nyl (zī'lē·nĭl), n. = XYLYL.

xy·let'ic ac'id (zī·lĕt'ĭk). Chem. Any of the isomeric acids, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3(OH)CO_2H$, derived from the xylenols.

Xy'li·a (zĭ'lĭ·ȧ; zĭl'ĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xylon wood; — from its woody pod.] Bot. A small genus of Asiatic trees (family Mimosaceae) having globose heads of small greenish flowers succeeded by falcate compressed pods. X. xylocarpa, the acle, yields ironwood of Burma.

xy'lic (zī'lĭk; zĭl'ĭk), adj. Chem. Pertaining to or designating any of six isomeric crystalline acids, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3CO_2H$, carboxyl derivatives of xylene; dimethyl-benzoic. The 2,5-dimethyl-benzoic acid is called isoxylic acid; the 2,3-, hemellitic acid; and the 3,5-, mesitylenic acid.

xy·lid'ic ac'id (zĭ·lĭd'ĭk). [From XYLIC.] Chem. Either of two crystalline diacids, $CH_3C_6H_3(CO_2H)_2$, distinguished as α- and β- and obtained by oxidation of pseudocumene and isoxylic acid respectively.

xy'li·dine (zĭ'lĭ·dēn; zĭl'ĭ·-; -dĭn; 157), n. Also -din. [From XYLENE.] Any one of six isomeric compounds, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3NH_2$, amino derivatives of xylene, resembling aniline. They are liquids, or easily fusible crystalline solids. The xylidine of commerce, used in making certain dyes, is a liquid consisting of a mixture of five of the above compounds.

xy·lin'de·in (zī·lĭn'dē·ĭn), n. [F. xylindéine, fr. Gr. xylon wood + F. indigo.] Chem. A yellow to brown crystalline compound, $C_{24}H_{18}O_{11}$, produced by Peziza aeruginosa in green-rotted wood. It dyes wool and cotton green.

xy'li·tol (zĭ'lĭ·tōl; -tŏl), n. [See XYLOSE; -ITOL.] Chem. A pentahydroxy alcohol, $C_5H_7(OH)_5$, obtained as a sirupy liquid by reduction of xylose.

xy'li·tone (-tōn), n. [See XYLITE; 2d -ONE.] Chem. A yellow oil, $C_5H_{18}O$, produced by the action of hydrochloric acid on acetone.

xy'lo- (zĭ'lō-), xyl-. 1. A combining form, Greek xylo-, xyl-, from xylon, meaning wood, as in xylophone, zyloma. 2. Chem. A combining form denoting: a Relation to, or derivation from, (1) xylene; as in xyloquinone; (2) xylose. b Xylic, as in xy'lo·ni·trile'.

xy'lo·bal'sa·mum (zĭ'lō·bŏl'sȧ·mŭm; -băl'-), n. [L., balsam wood, fr. Gr. xylobalsamon, fr. xylon wood + balsamon the balsam tree, balsam.] The dried twigs or fragrant wood of the balm of Gilead Commiphora mecca-nensis.

xy'lo·carp (zĭ'lō·kärp), n. [xylo- + -carp.] A hard woody fruit.

xy'lo·car'pous (-kär'pŭs), adj. Having fruit which becomes woody or hard.

Xy·loc'o·pa (zĭ·lŏk'ō·pȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xylokopos wood cutting.] Zool. A genus of large Hymenoptera including the carpenter bees. It is sometimes made the type of a family, Xy'lo·cop'i·dae (zĭ'lō·kŏp'ĭ·dē). — xy·loc'o·pid (zĭ·lŏk'ō·pĭd), n. & adj.

xy'lo·gen (zĭ'lō·jĕn), n. [xylo- + -gen.] Bot. Xylem.

xy·log'ly·phy (zĭ·lŏg'lĭ·fĭ), n. [xylo- + Gr. glyphein to carve.] Artistic wood carving.

xy'lo·graph (zĭ'lō·grăf), n. [xylo- + -graph.] An engraving on wood, or the impression from such an engraving; a print made by xylography.

xy·log'ra·pher (zĭ·lŏg'rȧ·fĕr), n. One who practices, or is skilled in, xylography.

xy'lo·graph'ic (zĭ'lō·grăf'ĭk), adj. Also xy'lo·graph'i·cal (-ĭ·kăl). Of, pertaining to, or expressed in, xylography. — xy'lo·graph'i·cal·ly, adv.

xy·log'ra·phy (zĭ·lŏg'rȧ·fĭ), n. [xylo- + -graphy.] 1. The art of engraving on wood or of taking impressions from engravings so made. See BLOCK PRINTING a.

2. The art of making prints from the natural wood grain.

3. A method of printing in colors upon wood for purposes of house decoration.

xy'loid (zĭ'loid), adj. [xyl- + -oid.] Resembling wood; having the nature of wood; woody; ligneous.

xy·loi'din (zī·loi'dĭn), xy·loi'dine (-dĭn; -dēn; 157), n. [See XYLOID.] A substance similar to pyroxylin, obtained by action of nitric acid on starch, wood fiber, etc.

xy'lol (zĭ'lōl; -lŏl), n. [xyl- + 2d -ol.] Xylene, esp. commercial xylene.

xy·lol'o·gy (zĭ·lŏl'ō·jĭ), n. [xylo- + -logy.] Dendrology treating of the gross and the minute structure of wood.

xy·lo'ma (zĭ·lō'mȧ), n.; pl. -MATA (-mȧ·tȧ), -MAS (-mȧz). [NL., fr. Gr. xylon wood.] In fungi, a body resembling sclerotium that does not send out sporophores, but produces sporogenous structures.

xy'lo·man'cy (zĭ'lō·măn'sĭ), n. [xylo- + -mancy.] Divination by means of pieces of wood.

xy·lom'e·ter (zĭ·lŏm'ē·tĕr), n. [xylo- + -meter.] Forestry. An instrument to determine specific gravity of wood.

-xylon. Bot. A combining form, Greek -xylon, from xylon, wood, meaning -wood, used chiefly in generic names, as in Haematoxylon.

xy·lon'ic ac'id (zĭ·lŏn'ĭk). Chem. An acid, $C_6H_8(OH)_4CO_2H$, obtained as a sirup by oxidizing xylose.

Xy·loph'a·ga (zĭ·lŏf'ȧ·gȧ), n. [NL. See XYLOPHAGOUS.] Zool. A genus of marine bivalves which bore holes in wood. They are allied to Pholas.

Xy·loph'a·ga (zĭ·lŏf'ȧ·gȧ), n. pl. [NL. See XYLOPHAGOUS.] a Syn. of SIRICOIDEA. b A division of weevils.

xy·loph'a·gan (-găn), n. Zool. One of the Xylophaga. — adj. Pertaining to the Xylophaga.

Xy'lo·phag'i·dae (zĭ'lō·făj'ĭ·dē), n. pl. [NL. See XYLOPHAGOUS.] Zool. A family of dipterous flies whose predaceous larvae frequently live in decayed wood. The type genus is Xy·loph'a·gus (zĭ·lŏf'ȧ·gŭs). — xy·loph'a·gid (-jĭd), n. & adj.

xy·loph'a·gous (zĭ·lŏf'ȧ·gŭs), adj. [Gr. xylophagos eating wood, fr. xylon wood + phagein to eat.] Zool. a Eating, boring in, or destroying, wood; — said esp. of certain insect larvae, crustaceans, and mollusks. b Of or pertaining to the genus Xylophaga. — xy'lo·phage (zĭ'lō·fāj), n.

xy·loph'i·lous (zĭ·lŏf'ĭ·lŭs), adj. [xylo- + -philous.] 1. Bot. Growing on wood, as certain fungi.

2. Zool. Fond of or living in wood, as the larvae of certain insects.

xy'lo·phone (zĭ'lō·fōn; zĭl'ō·-), n. [xylo- + Gr. phōnē sound.] 1. Music. a A percussion instrument consisting of a series of wooden bars, graduated in length to sound the musical scale, resting on belts of straw or felt, and sounded by striking with two small wooden hammers.

Xylophone with Resonators.

The modern xylophone has from 30 to 55 bars, arranged in two rows and tuned chromatically. The bars are now often supplied with carefully tuned resonators. b An organ percussion stop of similar tone quality.

2. An instrument to determine the vibratory properties of different kinds of wood.

xy'lo·phon'ic (zĭ'lō·fŏn'ĭk; zĭl'ō·-), adj. Of or pertaining to a xylophone; like a xylophone, as in sound.

xy·loph'o·nist (zĭ·lŏf'ō·nĭst; zĭ·-), n. [See -IST.] A performer on the xylophone.

Xy·lo'pi·a (zĭ·lō'pĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., irreg. fr. Gr. xylon wood + pikros bitter.] Bot. A large genus of chiefly tropical American trees or shrubs (family Annonaceae) with coriaceous, often distichous leaves, rather large flowers, and aromatic berries. Most have bitter wood. See YELLOW-DYE TREE.

xy'lo·plas'tic (zĭ'lō·plăs'tĭk), adj. [xylo- + -plastic.] Formed of, or relating to casts made of, wood pulp in molds.

xy·lop'o·list (zĭ·lŏp'ō·lĭst), n. [Gr. xylopōlēs, fr. xylon + pōlein sell.] Dealer in wood. Obs.

xy'lo·py·rog'ra·phy (zĭ'lō·pī·rŏg'rȧ·fĭ), n. [xylo- + pyrography.] Pyrography upon wood.

xy'lo·qui·none' (-kwĭ·nōn'; -kwĭn'ōn), n. [xylene + quinone.] Chem. Any of several crystalline compounds, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_2O_2$, obtained in general by oxidation of xylidines; dimethyl-quinone. The yellow para derivative of paraquinone is called phlorone or p-xyloquinone, and is obtained by oxidizing higher phenols from coal or wood tar.

xy·lor'ci·nol (zĭ·lôr'sĭ·nōl; -nŏl), xy·lor'cin (-lôr'sĭn), n. [xylene + orcinol, orcin.] Chem. Any of four crystalline phenols, $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3(OH)_2$, dimethyl derivatives of resorcinol. The variety p-xylorcinol is called also β-orcinol, etc. See ORCINOL.

xy'lose (zĭ'lōs), n. [xyl- + -ose.] Chem. A crystalline nonfermentable sugar, $C_5H_{10}O_5$, of the pentose class, existing in three optically different modifications. Dextroxylose, or d-xylose, is formed by the hydrolysis of xylan and is called also wood sugar.

xy'lo·side (zĭ'lō·sīd; -sĭd; 157), n. Also -sid. [xyl- + -oside.] Chem. Any of certain ethers of xylose. Cf. GLUCOSIDE b.

Xy·los'ma (zĭ·lŏz'mȧ; -lŏs'mȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xylon wood + osmē smell.] A genus of the family Flacourtiaceae. See MANZANILLO b.

xy'lo·stro'ma (zĭ'lō·strō'mȧ), n.; pl. -MATA (-mȧ·tȧ). [NL., fr. xylo- + -stroma.] Bot. The closely felted sterile mycelium of certain wood-destroying fungi; — orig. supposed to represent a distinct genus. — xy'lo·stro'ma·toid (-mȧ·toid), adj.

xy'lo·tile (zĭ'lō·tĭl), n. [G. xylotil, fr. Gr. xylon wood + tilos fiber.] A hydrous iron magnesium silicate, in delicately fibrous forms, derived from alteration of asbestos (or chrysolite).

xy·lot'o·mous (zĭ·lŏt'ō·mŭs), adj. [xylo- + root of Gr. temnein to cut.] Zool. Capable of boring or cutting wood; — said of many insects.

xy·lot'o·my (zĭ·lŏt'ō·mĭ), n. [xylo- + -tomy.] Art of preparing sections (transverse, tangential, or radial) of wood, esp. by means of a microtome, for microscopic examination. — xy·lot'o·mist (-mĭst), n.

Xy·lo'try·a (zĭ·lō'trĭ·ȧ), n. [NL., fr. xylo- + Gr. tryein to rub, wear out.] A genus of marine bivalves closely allied to Teredo (in which genus it is often placed), and equally destructive to timber. One species (Xylotrya fimbriata) abounds on the north Atlantic coast of the United States.

Xiph'i·su'ra (zĭf'ĭ·sū'rȧ), Xiph'i·u'ra (-ū'rȧ), n. pl. [NL.] = XIPHOSURA. — xiph'i·su'ran (-răn), adj. & n.

Xiphium iris. See IRIS, n., 6 a (3).

Xiph'i·us (zĭf'ĭ·ŭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xiphos a sword.] Zool. Syn. of ZIPHIUS. — xiph'i·id (-Id), adj. & n. — xiph'i·oid (-oid), adj.

xiph'o·ster'num (zĭf'ō·stûr'nŭm), n.; pl. -NA (-nȧ). [NL.] Anat. = XIPHISTERNUM.

Xi·phu'ra (zĭ·fū'rȧ), n. pl. [NL.] Zool. = XIPHOSURA. — xi·phu'ous (-rŭs), adj.

Xi'ri·gua'no. Var. of CHIRIGUANO.

xis'ter. Xyster. Ref. Sp.

X'-ray'-proof' (66), adj. See -PROOF.

X'-shaped', adj. See -SHAPED.

Xu'thus (zū'thĭs), n. [L., fr. Gr. Xouthos.] See ION.

XX. See X, n., 2 d & 6 b.

xyl-. = XYLO-.

xylem parenchyma. = WOOD PARENCHYMA.

xylene blue VS. See DYE, Table.

Xyl'i·na (zĭl'ĭ·nȧ), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xylinos of wood.] Syn. of GRAPTOLITHA. — xyl'i·nid (-nĭd), adj. & n.

xy'lite, n. [Gr. xylon wood.] = XYLITOL.

xylite oil. = XYLITONE.

xy'lon (zĭ'lŏn), n.; pl. XYLA (-lȧ). [Gr. xylon, lit., piece of wood.] See MEASURE, Table.

Xy'lon·ite (zĭ'lŭn·īt), n. [Gr. xylon wood.] A trade-mark for a form of celluloid.

xy·lo·ty·po·graph·ic (zī′lō·tī′pō·grăf′ĭk), adj. [xylo- + typographic.] Of or pertaining to wooden type; printed from wooden type or from wood blocks. — xy′lo·ty·pog′ra·phy (-tī·pŏg′rə·fĭ), n.

xy′lo·yl (zī′lō·ĭl; zĭl′ō-), n. [xylo-, 2 b + -yl.] Chem. The univalent radical, $(CH_3)_3C_6H_2CO$-, of a xylic acid. Cf. BENZOYL.

-xylum. [NL.] = -XYLON, as in Erythro*xylum.*

xy′lyl (zĭ′lĭl; zīl′ĭl), n. [xyl- + -yl.] Chem. Any of several isomeric univalent radicals, C_8H_9, of which the three xylenes are hydrides; esp., any radical of the formula $(CH_3)_2C_6H_3$-.

xy′lyl·ene (-lĭ·lēn), n. [See XYLYL, XYLENE.] Chem. Any of several isomeric bivalent radicals, C_8H_8, of which the three xylenes are hydrides; specif., any of the three having the formula $-CH_2C_6H_4CH_2$-.

Xy·rich′thys (zĭ·rĭk′thĭs), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xyron razor + ichthys fish.] Zool. The genus to which the razor fishes belong.

xy′rid (zĭ′rĭd), n. [Gr. xyris, xyridos, a kind of iris. See XYRIS.] A plant of the Xyridaceae.

Xyr′i·da′ce·ae (zĭr′ĭ·dā′sē·ē), n. pl. [NL. See XYRIS; -ACEAE.] Bot. A family of herbs, the yellow-eyed-grass family, typifying the order Xyridales, with basal, equitant, usually distichous leaves and leafless scapes bearing flowers in the axils of imbricated scales, forming dense heads. There are two genera, Xyris being much the larger. — xyr′i·da′ceous (-shŭs), adj.

Xyr′i·da′les (-lēz), n. pl. [NL.] Bot. An order of monocotyledonous herbs having flowers mostly with regular corolla and compound superior ovary. There are eleven families, including the Xyridaceae, Bromeliaceae, Commelinaceae, Eriocaulaceae, and Pontederiaceae.

Xy′ris (zĭ′rĭs), n. [L., a kind of iris, fr. Gr. xyris, xyridos.] Bot. A large, widely distributed genus of plants, typifying the Xyridaceae. They have mostly yellow flowers with three sepals, the two lateral small, keeled, and persistent, the other membranous and spreading. The species, known as yellow-eyed grass, are abundant in pine barrens of the southern United States.

xys′ter (zĭs′tĕr), n. [NL., fr. Gr. xystēr a scraper.] Surg. An instrument for scraping bones.

xys′tus (zĭs′tŭs), n.; pl. -TI (-tī). Also xyst (zĭst). [L. xystus, fr. Gr. xystos, fr. xyein to scrape, polish; — so called from its smooth and polished floor.] Gr. & Rom. Arch. A long and open portico, for athletic exercises, for use in winter or in stormy weather; — sometimes erron. applied by the Romans to a walk lined with trees.

X Y Z Correspondence. U. S. Hist. The correspondence with the home government of the three special envoys sent to France in 1797 by President Adams to undertake delicate negotiations with certain semiofficial persons designated in the correspondence only by the letters X Y Z. The proposal to the envoys that money should be paid as a bribe created much wrath in both countries.

Y

Y, y (wī), n.; pl. Y's, y's, Ys, ys (wīz). 1. The twenty-fifth letter of the English alphabet. It comes from the Latin, which borrowed it, after the Roman conquest, from the Greek upsilon and used it as a vowel in the writing of Greek words. In Greek, Y was an Ionic and classical form of the V which had been borrowed earlier from the Chalcidian alphabet by the Latin and was used by it both as vowel and as consonant (see V). Y is then ultimately from the same Semitic source as U, V, and W. In English, y has both consonantal and vocalic value. At the beginning of a word or syllable, except when a prefix (see Y-), it is usually pronounced as a voiced palatal spirant consonant, but with slight or no audible friction (as in yes); as a prefix, and usually in the middle or at the end of a syllable, it is a vowel, with various values (as in myth, happy, my, myrrh, martyr). See Pron., §§ 261–264. In inherited words consonantal y represents the Anglo-Saxon palatal spirant g and the semivowel g. In Middle English this y was often written ȝ (see YOGH), with the sound of y in yes (or otherwise, as final or before t, the sound of K). The symbol ȝ disappeared in England by about 1500, becoming confused with z. In certain archaic forms, as ye, yt, y represents Anglo-Saxon and Middle English þ (see THORN, 5), with which it became confused in form (see 2d YE). In cognate words English consonantal y (from AS. g) corresponds to German g (see G), as in yard (AS. geard), G. garten; also to German j, Latin j, Greek z, Sanskrit y, as in yoke (AS. geoc), G. joch, L. jugum, Gr. zygon, Skr. yuga. See ALPHABET.

2. a An instance of the letter Y, y, printed, written, painted, etc. b A printer's type, a stamp, etc., for the letter Y, y. c The sound or any sound of the letter Y. d [cap.] In medieval Roman numerals, 150 or, in the form Y, 150,000.

3. Anything having the shape of the letter Y; as: a A forked holder to support the telescope of a leveling instrument or the axis of a theodolite; a wye. b Railroads. A principal railroad track and two diverging branches (arranged like the letter Y), together with a cross track that connects the diverging branches. It is used in reversing engines or trains.

4. Short for Y.M.C.A., that is, Young Men's Christian Association; as, the Y in France. Colloq.

5. [not cap.] Math. a An unknown quantity (which see). b An ordinate in a rectilinear co-ordinate system.

6. As a symbol, used to denote or indicate: Anyone or anything arbitrarily or conveniently so designated, esp. as the twenty-fourth or (cf. K, n., 4) twenty-fifth, or, when V and W are not used, the twenty-second, in order or class.

7. As an abbreviation: see Abbreviations, in Appendix.

Y, y, adj. 1. Twenty-fourth or (cf. K, adj., 1) twenty-fifth or (cf. Y, n., 6) twenty-second in order or class.

2. [cap.] Having the form of capital Y; as, a Y branch (a Y-shaped pipe in plumbing); Y* bridge; Y* connection (a star connection); Y* cross (a Y-shaped cross, or a Y branch); Y* curve; Y* track; Y* tube.

3. Of or pertaining or belonging to the Y.M.C.A. See Y, n., 4.

y- (ĭ-). Also i- (ĭ-). [ME. y- i-, fr. AS. ge-; akin to D. & G. ge-, OHG. gi-, ga-, Goth. ga-; with perfective, associative, or collective force, often agreeing with L. con-, com-, and thought by some to be related to it. Cf. COM-, AWARE, ENOUGH, HANDIWORK, IWIS, LIKE, adj.] A prefix originally denoting association, as in y-fere, and used with verbs, adverbs, adjectives, and nouns, but by Spenser and later archaists used chiefly with past participles in a vaguely perfective or intensive sense, as in y-clept, y-wrought.

y-. For words formerly spelled Y-, see I-.

-y (-ĭ; 155). [F., or L. or Gr.; F. -ie, fr. L. -ia, often fr. Gr. -ia, -eia. Cf. -IA.] A suffix of nouns, esp. of abstract nouns, as in courtesy, glory, Italy, jealousy, poesy, story, victory. It often forms abstract nouns corresponding to adjectives in -ous, as in -gen*y,* -nast*y,* -ton*y,* and is present in many other compound suffixes, as in:

-acy	-graphy	-pathy	-techny
-algy	-latry	-pepsy	-toky
-andry	-lepsy	-phagy	-tomy
-archy	-logy	-phily	-tony
-cracy	-machy	-phony	-topy
-ectomy	-mery	-plasty	-trophy
-ergy	-metry	-plegy	-tropy
-gamy	-nasty	-rrhaphy	-typy
-geny	-nomy	-scopy	-urgy
-gnomy	-ody	-sophy
-gnosy	-onymy	-stomy
-gony	-opy	-taxy

-y (-ĭ; 155). Also -ie (-ĭ). [Origin obscure; cf. BABY, 3d -y, and, in some cases, D. -JE.] A noun suffix forming diminutives of affection, as in Johnny, Kitty, lass*ie,* doggy, bird*ie.*

-y (-ĭ; 155). Also, esp. after a y, -ey (-ĭ). [AS. -ig; akin to D. & G. -ig, ON. -igr, -ogr, Skr. -ka.] An adjective suffix, Anglo-Saxon -ig, signifying: a Characterized by, having, full of, or the like; — used with nouns, as in angr*y,* ic*y,* guilt*y,* ston*y,* wind*y,* clay*ey.* b Tending or inclined to; -ive; — used with verbs, as in chatt*y,* cling*y,* sleep*y.* c Somewhat; rather; -ish; — used with adjectives, as in chill*y,* hoar*y,* lank*y,* purpl*y.* d Chiefly Colloq. Somewhat like, suggesting, having to some degree some characteristic of; — used with nouns, esp. with undignified or contemptuous connotation, as in bumpy, messy, beery.

-y (-I; 155). A suffix, Old French -é, -ée, from Latin -atus, -atum, equivalent to -ate, in nouns and adjectives from French, as in arm*y,* count*y,* treat*y,* esp. in heraldry, as in bend*y,* gyronny.

-y. [AF. or L.; AF. -ie, fr. L. -ium.] A noun suffix, denoting result of action, as in augur*y,* colloqu*y,* perjur*y,* subsid*y,* mystery.

-y. A suffix, Anglo-Saxon -ian, forming the infinitive of verbs. Now Dial., Southwestern Eng.

ya′ (yä), n. [Ar. yā′.] The Arabic consonant representing the English y. See FEEBLE, adj., 4; ALPHABET, Table.

ya′ba bark (yä′bä). [Sp. yaba, yabá, the tree, prob. of Taino origin.] Angelin.

yab′ber (yăb′ĕr), v. i. [From native yabba language, talk (fr. ya to speak), but influenced by E. jabber, yap.] To indulge in yabber. Australia.

yab′ber, yab′ber-yab′ber, n. Talk; jabber; language; conversation; esp., the broken English of the Australian aborigines. Australia.

yab′ber, yab′ber-yab′ber, n. Talk; jabber; language; conversation; esp., the broken English of the Australian aborigines. Australia.

yab′bi (yăb′ĭ), n. a The thylacine. b = YABBY.

yab′ble (yăb′ĭ), n. & v. Gabble. Scot.

yab′by, yab′bie (yăb′ĭ), n. [Native name in Gippsland yappy.] A small burrowing crayfish (Cheraps bicarinatus), found in most creeks and water holes in Australia.

‖ya·bo′a (yä·bō′ä), n. [Sp., of unknown origin.] A night heron. Puerto Rico.

ya·bu′, ya·boo′ (yä·bōō′), n. [Per. yābu.] A strong hardy pony bred in the mountains of Afghanistan.

ya′cal (yä′käl), n. [Tag.] A Philippine timber tree (Hopea plagata) having valuable hard, heavy wood. It also yields a transparent illuminating resin.

yac′ca (yăk′ä), n. [Sp. (fr. Taino) yaca.] Either of two West Indian trees (Podocarpus coriacea and P. purdieana); also, their wood.

ya·chan′ (yä·chän′), n. [Sp. yuchán, the tree, of Guaranian origin.] The silky seed fiber of the South American tree Chorisia speciosa (family Bombacaceae), used for stuffing; also, the tree itself. Argentina.

yacht (yŏt), n. [D. jacht, fr. MD. jaght, jaghtschip, lit., a pursuit ship (orig. against pirates), fr. jaght pursuit, chase, hunting; akin to G. jagd, G. & D. jagen to hunt, chase. Cf. JÄGER, YEGG.] Naut. Orig., a ship of light draft built to sail with speed; now, any one of various types of relatively small vessels, characteristically with sharp prow and graceful lines, and ordinarily privately owned and used for pleasure.

☞ PHRASES are:

yacht berth	yacht designer	yacht race
yacht builder	yacht engineer	yacht racing yacht club	yacht gear	yacht rigging yacht decorator	yacht propeller	yacht squadron yacht, v. i. To race or cruise in a yacht.

yacht′-built′, adj. Built on the lines, or constructed with the elegance, of a yacht; resembling a yacht in form or construction.

yacht ensign. An ensign resembling the national ensign in which the stars on the union are replaced by a white foul anchor surrounded by thirteen white stars in a circle. The yacht ensign may be flown only on yachts owned by citizens and never on shore. See Plate I. U. S.

yacht′er (yŏt′ĕr), n. A yachtsman.

yacht′ing, n. The action, fact, or pastime, of cruising in or navigating a yacht.

yacht′ist, n. One given to yachting.

yachts′man (yŏts′măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Also, Now Rare, yacht′man (yŏt′-). 1. One who owns or sails a yacht for pleasure; one devoted to yachting.

2. A professional seaman whose work is exclusively or mainly on yachts.

— yachts′man·ship, yacht′man·ship, n.

yacht′y (yŏt′ĭ), adj. Like a yacht, esp. in appearance.

Ya′da·va (yä′dä·vä), n. In India, a race into which Krishna is reputed to have been born. Many Indians, esp. in Gujarat, claim descent from this race.

yaff (yăf), n. & v. i. [Imitative.] Bark; yelp; scold. Scot.

yaf′fle (yăf′ĭl), v. & n. = YAFF. Dial. Eng.

yaf′fle (yăf′ĭl), n. Armful; handful. Dial.

yaf′fle (yăf′ĭl), yaf′fler (-lĕr), n. [Imitative.] The green woodpecker. Dial.

Yag′nob (yăg′nŏb), n. sing. & pl. Also Yag′naub. One of a division of the mountain Tajik, or Galcha, on the Yagnob River. They are descendants of the ancient Sogdians.

ya′gua (yä′gwä), n. [Sp., fr. Taino yagua. Cf. 2d JAGUA.] Puerto Rico. a A Puerto Rican palm (Roystonea borinqueana) resembling the royal palm. b The thick, woody, sheathing leaf base of this palm.

Ya′gua (yä′gwä), n. An Indian of an important Peban tribe dwelling along the left bank of the Amazon near the mouth of the Napo in northeastern Peru.

ya′gua·run′di (yä′gwä·rŭn′dĭ), n. [Sp. yaguarundí, jaguarundi, fr. Guarani yaguarundi, jaguar-undi, lit., squinting jaguar. Cf. JAGUAR.] A grayish unspotted wildcat (Herpailurus jaguarundi), ranging from Paraguay to southern Texas, by some considered a color variety of the eyra (which see). Cf. DICHROMATIC, 2.

ya·gua′za (yä·gwä′sä; 267), n. [Sp. yaguaza, yaguasa, prob. fr. Taino.] A tree duck (Dendrocygna arborea). W. Ind.

yah (yä), interj. An exclamation expressing disgust, contempt, defiance, or derision.

yah (yä). Dial. var. of YA, yea.

ya·han′ (yä·hän′), n. [Burmese yahan (written as rahan) Buddhist priest.] An ordained Buddhist monk. Burma.

Yah′gan (yä′găn), n. An Indian of a tribe, constituting the Yahganan linguistic family, dwelling on Beagle Channel, Tierra del Fuego. They are the southernmost people of the earth. See FUEGIAN. — Yah′gan·an (-ăn), adj.

Ya′hoo (yä′hōō; yä·hōō′; yä′-), n. [Perh. after the Cariban tribe the Yahos, or Yaos, on the coast near the borderland of Brazil and French Guiana.] 1. In Swift's Gulliver's Travels, one of a filthy race of brutes having the form and all the vices of man. The Yahoos are represented as being subject to the Houyhnhnms, or horses endowed with reason.

2. Hence [not cap.]: a Any degraded or vicious man. b U. S. A lout; a bumpkin. c Local, U. S. A class of poor whites. Cf. POOR WHITE a.

ya′hoo, v. i. To act as or like a yahoo.

Ya·hu′na (yä·ōō′nä), n. An Indian of a Betoyan tribe dwelling in southeastern Colombia.

Ya·hus′kin (yä·hōōs′kĭn), n. A Shoshonean tribe, always closely associated, and now amalgamated, with the Walpapi. See WALPAPI.

Yah′weh (yä′wĕ), Yah′we, n. Also Jah′veh, Jah′ve (yä′vĕ), etc. A modern transliteration of the Hebrew word translated Jehovah in the Bible; — used by some critics to discriminate the tribal god of the ancient Hebrews from the Christian Jehovah. See TETRAGRAMMATON.

☞ Yahweh or Yahwe is the spelling now generally adopted by scholars; the older Jahveh is a Germanism.

Yah′wism (yä′wĭz′m), n. Also Jah′vism (-vĭz′m). 1. The religion or worship of Yahweh (Jehovah), or the system of doctrines, etc., connected with it.

2. Use of Yahweh as a name for God.

Yah′wist (yä′wĭst), n. Also Jah′vist (yä′vĭst), Jah′wist, older Je·ho′vist. The author of the passages of the Old Testament, esp. those of the Hexateuch, in which God is styled Yahweh, or Jehovah; the author of the Yahwistic, or Jehovistic, Prophetic Document (J); also, the document itself. Cf. ELOHIST.

Yah·wis′tic (yä·wĭs′tĭk), adj. Also Jah·vis′tic, Jah·wis′tic, older Je′ho·vis′tic. Characterized by the use of Yahweh, or Jehovah, as a name of God; — said of certain parts of the Old Testament, esp. of the Hexateuch. Cf. ELOHISTIC.

Yahwistic Decalogue. The more ritualistic table of duties given in Exodus xxxiv. 14–28; — so called by some scholars.

Yahwistic Prophetic Document or Narrative. Old Test. Criticism. An ancient anecdotal history, supposed by some to have been the source of the Yahwistic passages of the Old Testament; — called also, from its supposed origin in Judah, the Judean Prophetic Document.

yair, yare (yār; yâr), n. [AS. gear, ger (in comp.).] A kind of enclosure for catching salmon as the tide ebbs. Scot. & N. of Eng.

ya·jé′ (yä·hā′; 162), n. [Sp. yagé, of S. Am. Ind. origin.] A Brazilian plant (Prestonia amazonica), family Apocynaceae. It contains the alkaloids yajeine and yajenine.

ya′je·ine (yä′hā·ēn; -ĭn), n. Also -in. Chem. A crystalline alkaloid, having anesthetic properties, obtained from yajé. It may be identical with harmine.

ya′je·nine (-nēn; -nĭn), n. Also -nin. Chem. An alkaloid found in yajé.

Yaj′na (yŭj′nä), n. [Skr. yajña; akin to Av. yasna. Cf. YASNA.] Vedic Hinduism. Worship; sacrifice, esp. with reference to the Vedic ritual of hymns, burnt offerings, etc.

Yaj′na·val′kya (yŭj′nä·vŭl′kyä), n. [Skr. Yājñavalkya.] Hindu Law. An early Hindu lawbook, dating prob. as early as the 5th century A.D., widely quoted and commented xy·lyl′ic (zĭ·lĭl′ĭk), adj. Chem. = XYLIC.

---

xyph′oid (zĭf′oid; zī′foid), adj. = XIPHOID, adj.

xyph′oid, n. = XIPHOID, n.

xyst (zĭst), n. = XYSTUS.

xys′ti (zĭs′tī), n., pl. of XYSTUS.

xys′tos (zĭs′tŏs), n. = XYSTUS.

xys′tum (zĭs′tŭm), n.; pl. XYSTA (zĭs′tä). [L. xystum. See XYSTUS.] = XYSTUS.

Y

y. † EYE, I, IN.

ya (yä). Var. of YAH, interj.

ya. Dial. or illit. var. of YEA, YES.

ya (yä). Dial. var. of YOU.

yac′a·re (yăk′ä·rā), n. [Var. of JACARE.] See CAYMAN, 1.

yacca gum. = ACAROID RESIN.

yacht′dom, n. See -DOM.

yachts′man·like′, adj. See -LIKE.

yachts′wom′an (yŏts′wŏom′ăn), n.; pl. -WOMEN (-wĭm′ĕn; -ĭn; 119). Fem. of YACHTSMAN (esp. sense 1).

yac′i·ta′ra palm (yăs′ĭ·tä′rä). Var. of JACITARA PALM.

yad (yăd), yade (yād). Scot. vars. of YAUD, a mare.

yae (yā). = ONE. Scot. & N. of yaf, yafe. † gave, past tense of GIVE.

yaf′fil. Var. of YAFFLE, a woodpecker. Dial. Eng.

yaf′fin·gale (yăf′ĭn·gāl), n. [See YAFFLE; cf. NIGHTINGALE.] = YAFFLE, woodpecker. Dial.

ya·ge′. Var. of YAJÉ.

ya′ge·ine. Var. of YAJEINE.

ya′ge·nine, -nin. Vars. of YAJENINE, -NIN.

ya′ger. Var. of JÄGER.

ya′ger. Var. of JAGGER, a peddler. Dial.

Ya′ghan. Var. of YAHGAN.

ya′ghourt (yä′gōōrt). Var. of YOGHURT.

ya′ghurt (yä′gōōrt). Var. of YOGHURT.

ya′gou·roun′di. Var. of YAGUARUNDI.

Ya′ho. Var. of YAO.

Ya′hoo·dom, n. See -DOM.

Ya′hoo·ish, adj. See -ISH.

Ya′hoo·ism, n. See -ISM.

yah′ourt (yä′ōōrt). Var. of YOGHURT.

Ya′hua. Var. of YAGUA.

Yah′ve. Var. of YAHWEH.

Yah′veh. Var. of YAHWEH.

Yah′vist (yä′vĭst), Yah·vis′tic (yä·vĭs′tĭk). Vars. of YAHWIST, YAHWISTIC.

yaird (Scot. yärd). Var. of YARD. Obs. exc. Scot.

on in the later books. Its traditional author is Yajnavalkya, but the real authorship is uncertain. Cf. MITAKSHARA.

yaj'no·pa·vi'ta (yŭj'nō·pä·vē'tä), n. [Skr. yajñopavīta.] The ceremony of investiture with the sacred thread, worn over the left shoulder by men of the three upper castes of the Hindus, as well as by some Sudras; also, the sacred thread itself.

Yaj'ur–Ve'da (yŭj'ŏŏr·vā'dä), n. [Skr. Yajurveda, fr. yajus reverence, sacrificial formula + veda Veda.] See VEDA.

yak (yăk), n.; pl. YAKS (yăks), sometimes YAK. See PLURAL, Note. [Tibetan gyag.] A large wild or domesticated ox (Bos, syn. Poephagus, grunniens) of Tibet and adjacent elevated parts of central Asia. Its natural color is blackish Yak.

brown. Old bulls sometimes become six feet high at the shoulder and weigh 1,200 pounds. Domestic or crossbred varieties are of different colors and smaller size. The hair on the back is short and smooth, but that on the breast, sides, legs, and tail is very long and wavy. When domesticated, the yak is used as a beast of burden, and its flesh, milk, hide, and hair are utilized. See CHOWRY.

Ya'ka (yä'kä), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu tribe near the coast of the French Congo.

Ya·ka'la (yä·kä'lä), n. sing. & pl. One of a Bantu tribe on the lower Kwango River, Africa; — called also Jaga, Maiacca.

yak'a·lo (yăk'ä·lō), ya·kat'ta·lo (yä·kăt'ä·lō), n. [yak + cattalo.] A creature produced by crossing the yak and cattalo.

yak'a·mik (yăk'ä·mĭk), n. [Var. of JACAMIN.] Trumpeter (Psophia). See TRUMPETER, 3 a.

Ya'kan (yä'kän), n. One of a tribe of Moros of the interior of Basilan, Philippine Islands.

Yak'i·ma (yăk'ĭ·mä), n. One of a confederacy of Shahaptian Indians on the Yakima Reservation in eastern Washington. They are stock raisers and farmers, and mostly Roman Catholics.

yak'ka (yăk'ä), v. & n. [Native word in Queensland.] Work; labor. Colloq., Australia.

Yak'o·nan (yăk'ō·nŏn), Yak'o·na (-nä), adj. Pertaining to or designating an American Indian linguistic family, consisting of four tribes, formerly living on the coast of Oregon, between the Yaquina and the Umpqua rivers, and now concentrated on the Siletz Reservation.

yak'sha (yăk'shä; yŭk'-), n. masc., yak'shi (-shē), fem. [Skr. yakṣa.] Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism. A tree-god or dryad; spirit of fertility; vegetation spirit; local tutelary spirit; guardian angel; jinni; gnome; fairy. In Buddhist and other sectarian works, an ogre; demon. Cf. KUBERA.

Ya·kut' (yä·kŏŏt'), n. 1. One of a Turkic people of northeastern Siberia, mainly along the Lena, said to be the most energetic of the Siberian natives. They are skillful artisans, industrious agriculturists, and keen traders. Some are Christians of the Russian Church.

2. The Turkic language of the Yakuts, which is a lingua franca over much of eastern Siberia. See URAL-ALTAIC LANGUAGES, Table.

Ya'ku·tat' bear (yä'kŏŏ·tăt'). [From Yakutat Bay, fr. Tlingit Yakutat, name of the tribe and of their village.] A large brown bear (Ursus dalli) of the vicinity of Yakutat Bay, Alaska, allied to the Kadiak bear.

Yale (yāl), n. [After Linus Yale (1821–68), Am. locksmith.] A trade-mark applied to certain locks, esp. cylinder or bank locks.

Yale blue. [From Yale University.] A color, reddish-blue in hue, of high saturation and low brilliance; — called also Rameses. Cf. COLOR.

Ya·len'si·an (yä·lĕn'zĭ·ăn), n. [NL. Yalensis.] A student or graduate of Yale University.

ya'li' (yä'lē'), n. [Turk. yālī, lit., beach, seaside, fr. NGr. gialos, fr. Gr. aigialos.] A summer konak, esp. one by the waterside. Turkish.

yam (yăm), n. [Pg. inhame, fr. Senegal (Guinea) nyami to eat.] 1. a The edible, starchy, tuberous root of various plants of the genus Dioscorea, as D. sativa, D. alata, etc. It largely replaces the potato as a staple food in tropical climates, and is cooked in the same way; but its flesh is coarser and less palatable. Yams are cultivated in many varieties, esp. in the West Indies and Polynesia. b Any plant of the genus Dioscorea, as D. paniculata, the wild yam; also, any of certain similar plants; — usually with an attributive, as round yam, native yam, etc.

Yama.

2. a Scot. The potato. b Southern U. S. The sweet potato.

yam (yäm), n. [Russ., of Tataric origin.] A posthouse Rare.

Ya'ma (yăm'ä; yŭm'-), n. [Skr. Cf. YIMA.] Hindu Myth. The deification of the first mortal to die, who hence became king and later judge of the dead. In the Veda his abode is the sky, but in later times he is, like the Greek Pluto, the lord of the infernal regions. He is represented as of a green color, with red garments, having a crown on his head, his eyes inflamed, and stridinx a buffalo, holding a club and a noose.

Ya'ma·craw (yä'mȧ·krô; yăm'ä-), n. One of a refugee band of Indians from the Creek confederacy formerly occupying a village on the site of Savannah, Georgia.

yam'a·mai' (yăm'ä·mī'), n. [Jap.] a A large Japanese silkworm (Antheraea yamamai) whose larva feeds on the oak, and furnishes excellent silk. b Silk produced by this worm.

yam'a·nai' (yăm'ä·nī'), n. [Burmese yamanē.] A Burmese tree (Gmelina arborea) the hard wood of which is used for making clogs.

ya·mas'kite (yȧ·măs'kīt), n. [From Mt. Yamaska, Quebec.] Petrog. A very melanocratic plutonic rock of medium to fine grain, composed of basaltic hornblende and augite with small amounts of anorthite. Olivine is present in some varieties.

Ya'mas·see, Ya'ma·si (yä'mȧ·sē), n. An Indian of a Muskhogean tribe formerly of the lower Savannah and the coast of Georgia, who, after defeat by the whites in 1716, were finally incorporated with the Creeks and Seminoles.

Ya'ma·to (yä'mä·tō), n. [Jap.] 1. A province in central Japan, in which the empire was first established; hence, often, the whole of Japan.

2. pl. YAMATOS (-tōz). One of the Japanese proper, as distinguished from the Ainus and the naturalized foreigners. The Yamatos are a people of ancient origin, possibly of Alpine characteristics, supposed to have entered Japan from the mainland in the protohistoric period.

Yamato school. Jap. Painting. = TOSA SCHOOL.

yam bean. A tropical twining plant (Pachyrhizus erosus) with trifoliolate leaves, purplish flowers, and turniplike tuberous roots, which are eaten raw as a salad or cooked. It has edible pods and oil-yielding seeds.

Ya'mel (yä'mĕl), n. An Indian of a Kalapooian tribe. See KALAPOOIAN.

ya'men (yä'mĕn), n. [Chin. (Pek.) ya[2]-men[2], lit., flag gate; — because flags were placed in front of the buildings.] In China, the official headquarters or residence, as of a mandarin or tuchun, including courtrooms, offices, gardens, prisons, etc.; also, formerly, the place where the business of any public department was transacted.

Ya·me'o (yä·mā'ō), n. An Indian of a Peban tribe dwelling on the left bank of the Amazon between the Tigre and Napo rivers in northeastern Peru.

yam family. The Dioscoreaceae.

ya'mil·ke (yä'mĭl·kē), n. [Yiddish yarmulke, in G. spelling jarmulke, fr. Russ. ermolka.] Jewish. A skullcap worn by orthodox Jews in the home, the synagogue, and study halls.

yam'ma·dji (yăm'ä·jĭ), n. [Native name.] A blackfellow; native. Western Australia.

yam'mer (yăm'ĕr), n. & v. [AS. gēomrian, gēomerian, fr. gēomor sad, sorrowful; akin to D. & G. jammer misery.] Now Dial. & Colloq. a Lament; whimper; grumble; whine. b (1) Shout; yell. (2) Scream; cry; — said of birds. c Desire; crave; yearn. d Chatter; stammer.

yamp (yămp), n. [Of Shoshonean origin; cf. Shoshoni yampa, Ute yámpā.] Either of two western American herbs (Atenia gairdneri and A. kelloggii), family Ammiaceae; also, their edible tubers. Cf. INDIAN POTATO.

yamph (yämf), n. & v. Bark; yelp. Scot. & N. of Eng.

yam potato. The sweet potato.

yam'stchik (yäm'stchĭk), n. Also yam'shik (-shĭk), yem'schik (yĕm'shĭk). [Russ. yamshchik. See 2d YAM.] A coachman; postboy; postilion.

yam stick. A stick, three or four feet in length, used, esp. by the aboriginal women, for digging roots or bulbs, and sometimes as a weapon. Australia.

yam tree. The black kurrajong (Sterculia diversifolia and S. quadrifida). Local, Australia.

Ya'nan (yä'nŏn), adj. Pertaining to or designating an American Indian linguistic family, of the upper Sacramento Valley in northern California, consisting of a single tribe, the Yana, almost exterminated in a massacre by miners in 1864.

yang (yäng), n. [Chin. (Pek.) yang[2], lit., the south or sunny side of a hill, hence, light.] The male, positive, bright, beneficent principle, as contrasted with yin; — terms in a dualism which runs through much of Chinese philosophy, folklore, divination, religion, medicine, science, and magic.

yang (yăng), n. The cry of the wild goose; honk.

yang, v. i. To make the cry of yang.

yang'–kin' (yäng'kĭn'), n. [Chin. yang k'in, fr. yang[2] foreign + ch'in[3] dulcimer.] Music. A kind of Chinese dulcimer.

yang'tao' (yäng'tou'), n. [Chin. (Pek.) yang[2]-t'ao[2], lit., sheep peach.] A Chinese woody vine (Actinidia chinensis) often cultivated for its nearly orbicular leaves, which are white-woolly beneath, and yellowish-white flowers.

yank (yăngk), n. [Origin uncert.] 1. A sudden hard blow. Scot.

2. A strong jerk or twitch. Colloq., U. S.

yank, v. t. & i. YANKED (yăngkt); YANK'ING. 1. To pull quickly or twitch strongly; to jerk. Colloq.

2. (pron. yängk) To move actively and quickly. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

Yank (yăngk), n. & adj. Short for YANKEE. Slang.

Yan'kee (yăng'kē), n. [Often derived, through an early Yengee(s), fr. Am. Ind. corrupt. of English, or F. Anglais, but prob. fr. a D. dim. of Jan John, as applied by the Dutch of N. Y. to the English of Conn.] 1. A nickname for a native or citizen of New England, esp. one descended from old New England stock; by extension, an inhabitant of the Northern States as distinguished from a Southerner; also, as sometimes used by foreigners, any inhabitant of the United States.

2. The English language as spoken or pronounced by Yankees; esp., New England dialect.

Yan'kee, adj. Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, the Yankees; loosely, Brit., American.

Yankee clover. = JAPAN CLOVER.

Yan'kee–Doo'dle (-dōō'd'l), n. 1. A song and air, popularly recognized as quasi-national in the United States. The words, which are doggerel and of which there are several versions, are said to have been written originally in 1755 in derision of the provincial troops, by Dr. Schuckburgh, a surgeon in Lord Amherst's army. The air occurs under its present name in Samuel Arnold's opera Two to One (London, 1784).

2. A Yankee; an American. Jocose.

Yan'kee·ism (yăngk'kē·ĭz'm), n. 1. A Yankee idiom, word, custom, or the like.

2. Yankee characteristics, customs, etc., collectively. — Yan'kee·ist (-ĭst), n.

Yan'kee·land' (-lănd'), n. New England, the northern United States, or the United States. Colloq.

yank'ing (yăng'kĭn), adj. That yanks; also, Scot., active; pushing.

yank'y (yăngk'ĭ), n. An old-time Dutch vessel of unknown type.

Yan'ni·gan (yăn'ĭ·găn), n. [Perh. fr. colloq. young'uns young ones, younglings.] Baseball. A member of a scrub team called, collectively, the Yan'ni·gans (-gănz). Slang.

Yao (you), n. Also Yao'–min' (-mĭn'). [Chin. (Pek.) Yao[3], lit., jackal, dog.] One of the aboriginal peoples in China. The Yao occupy parts of Yünnan, Kwangsi, and Kwangtung.

Ya'o (yä'ō), n. sing. & pl. Also Wa·ya'o (wä-). One of an African tribe on the Ruvuma River, Mozambique, who speak a Bantu language and are rapidly becoming civilized; also, their language.

Ya'o (yä'ō), n. An Indian of a Cariban tribe dwelling near the coast on the border of Brazil and French Guiana.

Yao' Yin' (you' yĭn'). One of a little-known tribe in northern Siam, supposed to be of Tibeto-Burman origin.

yap (yăp), adj. [See YEPE.] Now Chiefly Scot. a Quick; active; ready; apt. b Eager; keen. c Hungry. — yap'ly, adv. — yap'ness, n.

yap (yăp; yäp), n. [Imitative. Cf. YAUP.] 1. A yelping dog; a cur. Now Dial. Eng.

2. A snappish bark; yelp.

3. Chiefly Slang. a Talk; gab. b A noisy, contemptible, or worthless person; a hoodlum. c A bumpkin; a greenhorn; an easy mark.

yap, v.; YAPPED (yăpt; yäpt); YAP'PING. Intransitive: 1. To bark snappishly; to yelp.

2. To cheep, as a young bird. Dial.

3. To talk noisily; chatter; scold. Chiefly Slang.

——, Transitive: To utter quickly like a bark; to bark out.

ya'pa (yä'pȧ), n. [Prob. of S. Am. Ind origin.] A mat, widely used along the Amazon, woven from the leaves of the pindova palm.

Yap'man (yăp'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). A member of the native race of the island of Yap.

ya·pok', ya·pock' (yȧ·pŏk'), n. [From Oyapok, Oyapock, river in Guiana, prob. fr. Tupi oyapuça, oaiapussá, a monkey of the genus Callicebus. Cf. ORABASSU.] The water opossum. See OPOSSUM, 1 a.

yapp binding, or yapp (yăp), n. [After one Yapp, a London bookseller for whom a publisher bound Bibles in this style about 1850.] Bookbinding. A style of binding in which a limp cover bends over the edges without being cut at the corners; — in the United States (but not in England) called divinity circuit binding (which see). Eng. — yapped (yăpt), adj.

yap'per (yăp'ĕr), n. A yapping dog or person.

yap'ping, adj. That yaps. — yap'ping·ly, adv.

yap'pish (yăp'ĭsh), adj. Hungry. Scot.

yap'py (yăp'ĭ), adj. Dial. & Slang. a Given to yapping. b Like, or characteristic of, yap or a yap. — yap'pi·ness (-ĭ·nĕs; -nĭs; 119), n.

yap'ster (yăp'stĕr), n. A dog.

Ya'qui (yä'kē), n. 1. An Indian of one of the most important of the Piman tribes, formerly dwelling in the lower valley of the Río Yaqui, but now scattered over most of southern Sonora, Mexico. Their language belongs to the Cahita group. Cf. CAHITA.

2. = CAHITA.

Ya·qui'na (yä·kwē'nä), n. An Indian of a Yakonan tribe.

yar'age (yär'ĭj), n. [See YARE, adj.] Naut. Power of moving, or being managed, at sea. Obs.

yar'ak (yär'ăk), n. [Per. yārak power.] Falconry. In the phrase in yarak, in condition for flying.

ya·ray' (yä·rī'), n. [Sp. yarey, of Arawakan or Cariban origin.] Any of several slender Puerto Rican fan palms, esp. Sabal causiarum, the leaves of which are widely used in hatmaking. Puerto Rico.

Yar'bor·ough (yär'bûr·ō; -bŭ·rŭ), n. Whist. A hand containing no card higher than a nine; — so called because a former Lord Yarborough used to offer 1,000 to 1 before a deal that the taker would not hold such a hand. The odds against it are actually 1,827 to 1.

yard (yärd), n. [ME. yerde, fr. AS. gierd, gyrd, a rod, stick, a measure, a yard; akin to OFris. ierde, OS. gerda, D. garde, G. gerte, OHG. gartia, gerta, also to OHG. gart, ON. gaddr, a goad, sting. See GAD, n.] 1. Obs. a A branch; twig. b A stick; a rod, esp. as an instrument of punishment. c Hence, correction; punishment. d A staff; a verge; wand. e Hence, rule; direction. f A long bar, esp. of wood; a spar.

2. A measuring stick; specif., a yardstick. Now Rare.

3. A unit of measure; specif.: a Now Dial. Eng. Any of various local measures of length or area, as a rod, pole, or perch. b Obs. Short for YARD OF LAND, YARDLAND. c A measure of length, equaling three feet, or thirty-six inches, being the standard of English and American linear measure. Abbr. yd. (sing. & pl.). The yard in Great Britain is the distance, at 62° F., between two transverse lines on two gold plugs in a certain bronze bar, called the British Imperial yard, kept at the Standards Office of the Board of Trade, at Westminster. In the United States the yard is defined in terms of the meter, the ratio of the yard to the meter being 3600/3937, whence 1 yard = 0.9144018 meter. In Great Britain the official relation is 1 meter = 39.370113 inches, or 1 yard = 0.914399 meter. Also, any of various similar units, as the Spanish vara or the Turkish pik. See MEASURE, Table.

4. The penis; also, Obs., a phallus (sense 1). Archaic.

5. [cap.] Astron. See GOLDEN YARDARM.

6. Naut. A long spar, usually nearly cylindrical, tapering yak (yăk). Dial. Eng. var. of OAK. yak'a·re. Var. of YACARE.

---

Ya'ki (yä'kē). Var. of YAQUI. ya'kin' (yä'kĕn'), n. [Cf. Kachin ya.] Zool. = TAKIN. yak'mak. Erron. for YASHMAK. yak'man, n. sing. & pl. [Per. yak one + man maund.] See WEIGHT, Table.
Ya·koot'. Var. of YAKUT.
Ya'ku·tat' (yä'kŏŏ·tăt'), n. See TLINGIT.
yal. Dial. var. of YAULD. yald. + OLD, YAUD. yald (yäld; yŏd). Var. of YAULD. yald (Scot. yäld), past tense of YIELD. Obs. exc. Scot. [exc. Dial.] yall (yôl). Var. of YAWL. Obs. yal'la (yăl'ä). Dial. var. of YELLOW. yal'ler (yăl'ĕr; yäl'-). Dial. var. of YELLOW. yal'lock, n. A shrill cry. Obs. Scot. yal'low (yăl'ō). Dial. var. of YELLOW. yalp (dial. yälp). Obs. past tense & Scot. & dial. Eng. var. of YAWP. yalt. Obs. past tense of YIELD.
Ya'ma·ma'di, n. See ARAUAN.
Ya m'hill, Ya'mil. Vars. of YAMEL. yam'merd. Yammered. Ref. Sp. yam'mer·ly, adj. Lamentable. Obs. — adv. Lamentably. Obs. yam'pa, n. = YAMP.
yam'-root', n. = YIELD YAM-ROOT.
Ya'mud, n. Var. of YOMUD.
Ya'mun. Var. of YAMEN.
yan (yăn), yance (yăns). Scot. & N. of Eng. vars. of ONE, ONCE. yan (yăn). Dial. var. of YON.
Ya'na. See YANAN. yan'co·pin. Var. of WANKAPIN. yan'der (yăn'dĕr). Dial. Eng. var. of YONDER. yane. + YAWN.
yan'ka·pin. Var. of WANKAPIN.
Yan'kee·dom (yăng'kē·dŭm), n., Yan'kee–Doo'dle·dom (-dōō'd'l-dŭm), n. See -DOM.
Yan'kee–Doo'dle·ism, n. See -ISM.
Yan'kee·fy, v. t. See -FY.
Yan'kee·ize, v. i. See -IZE.
Yan'kee·ness, n. See -NESS. yankt. Yanked. Ref. Sp.
Yank'ton (yăngk'tŭn), n. See SIOUX, n.
Yank'to'nai' (yăngk'tō'nē'), n. See SIOUX, n. yan'nam, n. Bread. Obs.
Ya'nos and Yam'bres. Also Ya'nos and Mam'bres. = JANNES AND JAMBRES. ya'oort, ya'ourt (yä'ŏŏrt), ya'our·ti. Vars. of YOGHURT. ya'pon (yō'pŏn; yä'-). Var. of YAUPON. yapt. Yapped. Ref. Sp.
yar. Var. of YARR, to growl.
yar. Var. of EARTH, ERE, THEIR, YARE, YOUR. Obs. exc. Dial. yarb (yärb). Dial. var. of HERB.

ăle, châotic, câre, ădd, ăccount, ärm, ask, sofȧ; ēve, hẽre (116), ĕvent, ĕnd, silĕnt, makēr; īce, ĭll, charĭty; ōld, ōbey, ôrb, ŏdd, sôft, cŏnnect; fōōd, fo͝ot; ‖ Foreign Word. † Obsolete Variant of. + combined with. = equals. Abbreviations, Signs, etc., are explained on pages immediately preceding the Vocabulary.

toward the ends, designed to support and extend a square, lateen, or lug, sail. A yard of a square sail is usually hung by the center to the mast. Formerly yards were almost universally made of a single piece of timber, but they are now often built-up and, when large and carried on large vessels, are usually of steel. They are hoisted and lowered by halyards, and trimmed, in the case of square sails, by the braces. A square-sail yard is roughly divided into the slings, or portion in the middle near the mast, the quarters, which extend on each side of the slings about halfway to the ends, and the yardarms, extending from the quarters to the ends. The limits are not exactly fixed.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

yard-broad	yard-long	yard-thick yard-deep	yard-square	yard-wide yard (yärd), v. t. 1. To summon for hiring (servants seeking employment at a fair or market) by the coroner of a sheading on behalf of the lords, deemsters, and other chief officers entitled to a prior claim for their services at a low wage. Hist. Isle of Man.

2. Naut. To supply with yards (sense 6). Rare.

yard (yärd), n. [ME. yard, yerd, fr. AS. geard; akin to OFris. garda garden, OS. gardo garden, gard yard, D. gaard garden, G. garten, OHG. garto garden, gart enclosure, ON. garthr yard, house, Sw. gård, Dan. gaard, Goth. gards a house, garda sheepfold, OIr. gort a field, L. hortus garden, Gr. chortos an enclosure. Cf. COURT, GARDEN, GARTH, 1st GIRD, HANGAR, HORTICULTURE, JORDAN ALMONDS, ORCHARD, ORTOLAN.] 1. An enclosure; specif.: a A small or moderate-sized enclosed place in front of, or around, a house, barn, or other building; a paved or barren enclosure; — now chiefly in combination; as, a court*yard*. b An enclosure, with or without buildings, within which any work or business is carried on; — usually in combinations; as, a lumber*yard;* the stock*yards*.

2. The grounds or precincts of a building or group of buildings, as the campus of a university, a playground attached to a school, or, Chiefly U. S., the cultivated or uncultivated portion of a city or town lot surrounding a residence.

> An old cathedral yard. — Dickens.

3. A locality in a forest where moose or deer herd in winter for feeding and protection; as, a moose yard.

4. Games. An enclosure at the corner of a halma board.

5. Logging. = LANDING, 5.

6. Railroads. A system of tracks within prescribed limits used for making up trains, storing cars, etc. A large terminal may contain a series of receiving, separating, classification, outbound, departure, storage, and repair, yards or tracks.

☞ PHRASES, chiefly in sense 6, are:

yard boy	yard inspector	yard regulator yard cleaner	yard laborer	yard scavenger yard engineer	yard locomotive	yard signalman yard foreman	yard porter	yard sweeper

— the Yard. = SCOTLAND YARD.

-yard (-yärd). A combining form of the noun yard, as in:

aleyard	farmyard	postyard
barnyard	fishyard	saleyard
brickyard	foreyard	schoolyard churchyard	graveyard	shipyard courtyard	hopyard	steelyard cowyard	innyard	stockyard dockyard	kaleyard	stoneyard dooryard	kirkyard	tanyard dungyard	lumberyard	vineyard yard (yärd), v.; YARD'ED; YARD'ING. Transitive: 1. To confine, enclose, or store, in a yard; to shut up, or keep, in a yard; — often with up; as, to yard cows.

2. Lumbering. To bring to and arrange on a landing.

—, Intransitive: 1. To congregate in, or resort to, a yard, as moose and deer; — often with up.

2. To shoot moose or deer in a yard. Rare. U. S.

yard'age (yär'dĭj), n. 1. The aggregate number of yards (linear, square, or cubic); also, the length, extent, or volume, of something as measured in yards; as, mills producing a vast yardage of cloth; what was the yardage gained by this quarterback?

2. Mining. The payment of coal miners according to the linear yards of advance made in certain work, or the cubic yards of coal mined; the amount of payment so made.

yard'age, n. Use of a yard, as for keeping cattle received at a railroad station; also, the charge for such use.

Yard and Ell. = GOLDEN YARDARM.

yar'dang' (yär'dăng'), n. [From abl. of Turki yār steep bank, cliff.] Geol. A sharp-crested ridge carved by wind erosion from soft but coherent deposits, as clayey sand.

yard'arm' (yärd'ärm'), n. [See 1st YARD; ARM.] 1. Naut. Either end of a square-rigged vessel's yard. There are no definite limits, but it is generally considered to include the outer quarter. See 1st YARD, 6.

2. [cap.] = GOLDEN YARDARM.

yard donkey. = YARDER.

yard'er (yär'dĕr), n. Logging. A donkey engine that hauls the logs from the stump to the skid road or to a landing. Cf. LOADER, ROAD DONKEY.

yard grass. A coarse annual grass (Eleusine indica) having digitate spikes. It is widely distributed in cultivated ground, esp. in dooryards, etc.

yard'ing, n. The action of one that yards or yards up; also, a yarded animal or thing.

yard'keep' (yärd'kēp'), n. [Cf. YARWHELP.] Bar-tailed godwit. Local, Eng.

yard'land' (-lănd'), n. a Chiefly Hist. A virgate. b Erroneously, = YARD OF LAND b.

yard'-long' (66), adj. Of the length of a yard; hence, loosely, like a yardstick; long and narrow.

yard'-long' bean. The asparagus bean.

yard lumber. Lumber used for general building construction, less than 6 inches thick and of various shapes and sizes.

yard'man (yärd'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). Naut. A sailor assigned to the yards.

yard'man (-măn), n. A man employed in or about a yard; specif., Railroads, an employee engaged in yard service.

yard'mas'ter (yärd'más'tĕr; 83), n. Railroads. The man in charge of, and directing operations in, a yard.

yard of ale. A very tall slender glass for liquor; also, the amount of its contents. Brit.

yard of land. Early Eng. Hist. In the division of farm lands: a A virgate. b A strip of land a yard wide; specif., one constituting a quarter of any of the acres in a hide.

yard rope. Naut. A rope kept rove off at a masthead for sending the yard up or down.

yard rush. A tufted, wiry rush (Juncus tenuis) of wide distribution; — called also slender rush and wire grass.

yard slings. = 3d SLING, 3 c.

yard'stick' (yärd'stĭk'), n. 1. A stick three feet, or a yard, in length, used as a measure of cloth, etc. It is usually marked with subdivisions, as feet, inches, etc., on one side and quarters and eighths of the yard on the other.

2. Figuratively, a rule, test, criterion, or standard, by which something intangible is measured with accuracy, rigidity, or the like; as, success is not to be measured by the yardstick of the dollar.

3. [cap.] Astron. = GOLDEN YARDARM.

yard tackle. Naut. A tackle used on a lower yard of a vessel, esp. a heavy double or treble purchase for hoisting.

yard trader. A dealer in cattle who buys and sells within the limits of the stockyards.

yard'wand' (yärd'wŏnd'), n. A yardstick.

yare (yâr), adj. [ME., fr. AS. gearu, gearo, ready, complete; akin to OS. garu, OHG. garo, G. gar, D. gaar completely cooked, ON. gerr ready, perfect, görva quite, G. gerben to tan, to curry, OHG. garawen, garwen, to make ready; cf. also AS. earu active, ready, OS. aru ready. The initial consonant is prob. due to the prefix ge- (see Y-). Cf. CAROUSE, GAR, GARB dress.] Archaic & Dial. a Ready; prepared. b Eager; lively; quick to move; active; prompt. c Easily worked; manageable.

yare, adv. [AS. geare, gearwe, entirely, well. See YARE, adj.] Quickly; soon. Obs. — interj. Quick. Archaic.

yare (yâr). Var. of YEAR. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

yare'ly, adv. Promptly; eagerly; readily. Archaic.

ya-re'ta (yä-rā'tä), n. [Sp., fr. Quechua yareta.] Any of several densely cushioned, resinous, Andean herbs of the genus Azorella (family Ammiaceae), commonly used as fuel; — called also llareta.

yar'ke, yar'kee (yär'kē), n. [F. yarqué (Buffon), of Cariban origin; cf. Galibi yaracaro monkey, Macusi youareka.] A saki.

yarm (yärm), v. & n. [AS. gyrman to cry out, roar.] Scream; yell; wail; whine. Now Dial.

Yar'mouth (yär'mŭth), n. A seaport town of Norfolk, England.

Yar'mouth (yär'mŭth), adj. & n. [From Yarmouth, Iowa.] Geol. See GLACIAL EPOCH.

Yarmouth capon. A red herring.

yarn (yärn), n. [AS. gearn; akin to ON. & OHG. garn, D. garen yarn, thread, ON. görn gut, Gr. chordē, L. haruspex soothsayer (inspector of entrails), hernia rupture, Skr. hirā vein, Lith. žarna intestine. Cf. CORD, HARUSPEX, HERNIA.] 1. Spun, but otherwise unfinished, wool, flax, silk, cotton, etc.; spun and, often, blended filaments, as used in weaving to form the warp and filling, in knitting, and in the manufacture of thread; also, any such spun filament. See THREAD, n., 1.

2. Fibers twisted together so as to form a rope strand, to prepare asbestos, for calking, etc.; also, one of these fibers.

3. A story of adventure told with more regard for effectiveness than accuracy; a narrative by one who delights in romancing; an exciting and, often, dubiously true story; — often in the phrase to spin a yarn. Colloq.

☞ COMBINATIONS and PHRASES are:

yarn baller	yarn finisher	yarn spinner
yarn bleacher	yarn inspector	yarn-spinning, adj.
yarn boiler	yarn-measuring, adj.	yarn spreader yarn-boiling, adj.	yarn-mercerizing, adj.	yarn stretcher yarn buncher	yarn packer	yarn stripper yarn bundler	yarn printer	yarn tester yarn carrier	yarn reel	yarn-testing, adj.
yarn-cleaning, adj.	yarn reeler	yarn twister yarn conditioner	yarn remover	yarn warper yarn dresser	yarn sizer	yarn washer yarn dryer	yarn sorter	yarn weigher yarn dyer	yarn winder

— in the yarn. While spun but not yet woven; — esp. in the phrase dyed in the yarn.

yarn (yärn), v. i.; YARNED (yärnd); YARN'ING. To tell yarns; to spin a yarn or yarns. Colloq. — v. t. To apply yarn to, as to the joints of a pipe.

yarn clew. A ball of knitting yarn. Scot.

yarn croft. A ropeyard. Now Dial.

yarn'-dyed', adj. Made of yarn dyed before being woven; as, yarn-dyed fabrics or stockings.

yarn'en (yär'nĕn), adj. Made or consisting of yarn. Rare.

yarn'er (yär'nĕr), n. One who yarns; esp., one who inserts or applies yarn.

yarn waste. See WOOL WASTE.

yarn'wind'le (yärn'wĭn'd'l), n. [See YARN; WINDLE.] An appliance for winding yarn. Now Dial.

yar'pha (yär'fä), n. [ON. jörfi gravel.] Scot. a Peat mixed with soil or roots. b A peat bog.

yarr (yär), n. [Cf. Fris. jārr.] The common spurry (Spergula arvensis). Scot. & Dial. Eng.

yarr (yär), v. i. [Imitative.] Dial. & Colloq. To growl or snarl. — n. A yarring sound.

yar'ra-man (yär'ä-măn), n. [Native name.] A horse; — orig. so called by the aborigines. Australia yar'ran (yär'ăn), n. [Native name in New South Wales.] Any of various myalls. See 1st MYALL a. Australia.

yar'row (yär'ō), n. [ME. yarowe, yarwe, fr. AS. gearwe; akin to D. gerw, OHG. garwa, garawa, G. garbe.] a A strong-scented Eurasian herb (Achillea millefolium) widely naturalized in North America, having finely dissected leaves and small white, or rarely pink, corymbose flowers. The leaves have been used for smoking. b Any of several closely related American species.

Yarrow (Achillea millefolium). Flowering Stem, much reduced.

Yar'row-Schlick'-Tweed'y sys'tem (yär'ō-shlĭk'twēd'ĭ). Marine Engin. A system of balancing a four-crank engine by adjusting the reciprocating weights and the angles between the cranks.

Ya-ru'ra (yä-rōō'rä), n. The language of the Yaruros; — called also Pumé or Yuapin.

Ya-ru'ran (-răn), adj. Of or pertaining to the Yaruros or Yarura.

Ya-ru'ro (-rō), n. An Indian of a tribe, constituting the Yaruran stock, dwelling on the Capanaparo River in southwestern Venezuela. Cf. YARURA.

yar'whelp (yär'hwĕlp), n. [From its cry on taking wing.] A godwit; esp., the bar-tailed godwit. Local, Eng. & Ir.

ya'shi-ro (yä'shē-rō), n. [Jap.] A Shinto temple; — called also sha. See JINJA.

yash-mak' (yäsh-mäk'; yäsh'măk), n. Also yash-mac'. [Ar. yashmaq.] A kind of double veil worn by Mohammedan women when not in their private apartments.

yat'a-ghan (yăt'ä-găn; Turk. yä'tä-gän'), n. Also yat'a-gan. [Turk. yātāghan.] A long knife, or short saber, without a crosspiece, common among Mohammedans, usually having a double curve to the edge and the back nearly straight.

yat'a-lite (yăt'ä-lĭt), n. [From Yatala Hundred, Adelaide Co., S. Australia.] Petrog. A pegmatoid rock composed of amphibole which is poikilitic with magnetite and titanite. Accessory minerals are apatite, microcline, and albite.

yate (yāt), n., or yate tree. [Westralian native name.] Any of certain eucalypts, as Eucalyptus cornuta and E. occidentalis; also, the wood.

ya'ti (yăt'ĭ; yŭt'ĭ), n. [Skr.] Hinduism. An ascetic; devotee.

yat'ter (yăt'ĕr), n. & v. Chatter; clamor; abuse. Chiefly Scot.

Yat-vyag' (yăt-vyäg'), n. sing. & pl. A mixed black-haired people of Lithuania, of Polish and White Russian descent.

Yatagban.

Yau'a-pe-ry' (you'ä-pä-rē'), n. An Indian of a Cariban tribe, dwelling on the Jauapery (or Yauapery) River in northern Brazil.

yaud (yōd; yäd), n. [See JADE a horse.] A work horse, esp. a mare; also, a jade. Scot. & N. of Eng.

yauld (yōd; yäd; yäld), adj. Alert; active; able-bodied; strong; also, sharp, as weather. Scot. & N. of Eng.

> If I was young and yauld like you. — John Buchan.

yau'pon (yô'pŏn), n. Also sometimes written ya'pon, you'pon, yu'pon. [Catawba yopin, dim. of yop shrub.] 1. A species of holly (Ilex vomitoria) native to the southern United States. The smooth elliptical leaves are used as a substitute for tea, and formerly were used in preparing the black drink of the Indians.

Yaupon. Flowering Stem.

2. = BLACK DRINK.

yau-ti'a (you-tē'ä), n. [Sp. yautía, yahutía, fr. Taino yautía, yahutía.] In tropical Spanish America, any of several aroids or their starchy edible tubers, which are cooked and eaten like yams or potatoes and are often called tania or malanga; as: a Any species of Xanthosoma, esp. X. sagittifolium, the malanga. b The taro; — often distinguished as yau-ti'a ma-lan'ga.

Ya'va-pai' (yä'vä-pĭ'), n. An Indian of a Yuman tribe of central Arizona, now on three reservations in that State.

yaw (yô), v. i. & t. [Origin uncert.; cf. ON. jaga to move to and fro, as a door on its hinges.] 1. Naut. To steer wild, or out of the line of her course; to deviate from her course, as when struck by a heavy sea; — said of a vessel.

2. Figuratively, to deviate from one's course; to move or cause to move zigzag or erratically.

3. Aeronautics. To turn or deviate from the line of flight by angular motion about the normal, or vertical, axis of an airplane.

yaw, n. 1. The act or fact of yawing; deviation from course or a straight line; also, the degree of such deviation.

2. Ballistics. The angle between the axis of a projectile at any point in flight and the tangent to the trajectory at that point.

3. Naut. A movement of a vessel by which she temporarily alters her course; a deviation from a straight course in steering.

yaw (yô), n. [See YAWS.] Med. a One of the tumors characteristic of frambesia. b pl. Frambesia.

yaw, v. i.; YAWED (yôd); YAW'ING. [See 3d YAW.] To rise in blisters, breaking in white froth, as cane juice being clarified.

yaw. Yes, esp. in imitation of German or Dutch speech; also, an emphatic or ironical yes. — v. i. To say or emit a sound like "yaw".

yaw'-haw', v. i. [Imitative.] To laugh loudly and scornfully.

yawl (yôl), n. & v. [ME. ȝaulen, var. of ȝoulen. See YOWL.] Howl; scream. Now Dial.

yawl (yôl), n. [MLG. jolle, D. jol, of unknown origin. Cf. JOLLY BOAT.] Naut. 1. A ship's small boat, usually rowed by four or six oars; a jolly boat.

2. A light sailing vessel with stem and stern alike and usually carrying one, two, or three lugsails; — now only with distinguishing place names, as Yarmouth yawl. Eng.

3. A fore-and-aft-rigged vessel with a mainmast stepped a little farther forward than in a sloop and carrying a mainsail and one or more jibs, with a mizzenmast far aft, usually placed abaft the rudder post. Cf. KETCH.

Yawl, 3.

yawl, v. t. To transport in a yawl. Rare.

yawl'er, n. A boatman on a yawl; one of the crew of a yawl.

yaw'me'ter (yô'mē'tĕr), n. [yaw + -meter.] An instrument designed to measure the angle of yaw of an aircraft.

yawn (yôn), v. i.; YAWNED (yônd); YAWN'ING. [ME. ȝanien, prob. for ganien, gonien, fr. AS. gānian, influenced by the kindred ME. yonen, yenen, ȝeonien, AS. geonian, ginian, to yawn, gīnan (in comp.) to yawn, open wide; akin to G. gähnen to yawn, OHG. ginōn, geinōn, also gīēn, ON. gīna to yawn, gin the mouth, OSlav. zijati to yawn, L. hiare to gape, yawn. Cf. HIATUS.] Intransitive: 1. To open the mouth wide; specif.: a To stretch a wide-open mouth for food or prey; hence, to seek or desire greedily; to long. "Still the insatiable maw of this institute of learnyard'ful, n.; pl. -FULS. See -FUL. yarding engine. = YARDER. yards'man (yärdz'măn), n. = 1st YARDMAN. yare. † EAR, THEIR, VAIR, YORE. yark (yärk), v. t. [AS gearcian to make ready.] Obs. a To make ready; to prepare. b To dispose; place. c To grant.

---

yark (yärk). Var. of YERK.
Yar'kand' (yär'kănd'), n. [From Yarkand, western Sinkiang, China.] Rugs. See CHINESE TURKESTAN, 2. yarl (yärl), n. = JARL. yar'ly (yär'lĭ). Var. of EARLY. Obs. exc. Dial. yarnd. Yarned. Ref. Sp.
yar'rin-gle, n. = YARNWINDLE. yarth, yarth'en. Vars. of EARTH, EARTHEN. Obs. exc. Dial.
Ya'ru. = AARU.
yar'whip' (yär'hwĭp'; -wĭp'), yar'wip' (-wĭp'). Vars. of YARWHELP. yas (yäs; yăs). Dial. var. of YES.
Yasht (yăsht; yŭsht). n. [Av. yashtay adoration.] See AVESTA. yas-mak'. Var. of YASHMAK.
Yas'na (yăs'nä; yŭs'-), n. [Av., worship, sacrifice. See YAJNA.] See AVESTA. yat (yăt; yät). Var. of GATE, opening. Obs. exc. Dial.
yat. Corrupt. of THAT.
yatch. † YACHT. [exc. Dial.] yate (yāt). Var. of GATE. Obs.
Yat'i-gan, n. = YAHGAN. yauger. Var. of JAUGER. yaul. † YAWL.
yaum'er. Var. of YAMMER. yaup (yäp; yŏp). Var. of YAP, adj. yaup, yaup'er. Vars. of YAWP, YAWPER. ya'va, n. sing. & pl. [Skr., prop., barleycorn.] See WEIGHT, Table. ya'va. Var. of KAVA.
Ya'vi-te'ro. Var. of JAVITERO.
Ya'wah. Var. of YAHWEH. yawd. Var. of YAUD. yaw'ey (yô'ĭ). Var. of YAWY. yawl'-rigged', adj. See -RIGGED. yawls'man, n. = YAWLER. yawm'er (yôm'ĕr). Scot. var. of YAMMER.

ing yawned for more." Edna Ferber. b To gape in surprise or bewilderment. c To open the mouth involuntarily through drowsiness, dullness, or fatigue; to make a yawn. "The lazy, yawning drone." Shak.
2. To open wide; to open up as if to allow entrance or exit; as, the gates yawned before us; also, to form or present an opening or gap; to stretch, lie, fall, part, etc., so as to suggest a wide-open, or opening, mouth; as, a chasm yawned beside the road; the shores yawned wider as we approached the sea.
—, Transitive: 1. To open wide; to make by opening.
2. To utter with a yawn; as, to yawn a reply.
3. To affect, bring, do, or the like, by or with yawning; as, to yawn callers into leaving.

yawn (yôn), n. 1. Act of yawning, opening wide, or gaping; specif., an involuntary act, excited by drowsiness, etc., and consisting of a deep and long inspiration usually following several successive attempts at inspiration, the mouth, fauces, etc., typically being wide open.
2. A chasm, mouth, opening, or passageway.
Now gape the graves, and through their yawns let loose Imprisoned spirits. Marston.
3. Boredom; dullness. "The yawn of such a venture." Shelley.

yawn'er, n. One who or that which yawns.

yawn'ing, adj. That yawns; also, marked by yawning. — yawn'ing-ly, adv.

yawn'y, adj. Yawning; given to, or provocative of, yawning. — yawn'i-ly, adv. — yawn'i-ness, n.

yawp, yaup (yôp; yäp), v. i. [See YAWP, n.] Chiefly Dial. a To yelp; to scream as a bird; to bawl; to bellow. b Also Slang. To talk noisily, stridently, or overemphatically. c To yawn audibly; to gape.

yawp, yaup (yôp; yäp), n. [Partly imitative; cf. GAUP, v., YAP, YELP.] 1. A loud cry or noise, as a yelp, a screech, or a bellow. Chiefly Dial.
2. A yawping speech, complaint, criticism, or the like; speech or utterance suggestive of yawping. Slang.

yawp. Var. of YAP, adj.

yawp'er, yaup'er, n. A dog, bird, or person, that yawps. Dial. & Slang.

yaw'root' (yô'rōōt'; 200), yaw'shrub' (-shrŭb'), n. [See YAWWEED.] The queenroot. Southern U. S.

yaws (yôz), n. pl. [Of Cariban origin; cf. Calinago yáya, Galibi poëtai ïaïa.] Med. Frambesia. See 3d YAW b.

yaw'-sight'ed (66), adj. Squint-eyed. Sailors' Slang.

yaw'weed' (yô'wēd'), n. [From YAWS.] A tropical American shrub (Morinda royoc) with small white odorous flowers; — called also rhubarb and wild mulberry. It was formerly considered a remedy for yaws.

yaw'y (-ĭ), adj. Of, pertaining to, or afflicted with, yaws.

yax'che (yäsh'chĕ), n. [Sp. yaxché, yaxci, fr. Maya yaxche, yaaxche, lit., green tree.] The silk-cotton tree. Yucatan.

ya·ya' (yä·yä'), n. [Sp. yaya, yayá, prob. of Arawakan or Cariban origin.] Any of several tropical American trees; esp.: a A gum-yielding tree (Protium panamense) of Panama; — usually called copa. b Puerto Rico. = LANCEWOOD b. c Brit. Honduras. = CHAPARRO c.

Yaz'de·ger'di·an (yăz'dĕ·gûr'dĭ·ăn; -jûr'-), adj. Of or pertaining to Yazdegerd III, the last Sassanian monarch of Persia, who was overthrown by the Moslems.

Yazdegerdian Era. The Jalalaean Era. See ERA, Table.

Yaz'oo (yăz'ōō; yä'zōō), n. An Indian of a tribe formerly living on the Yazoo River in Mississippi. See TONIKAN.

Yaz'oo Fraud (yăz'ōō; yä'zōō). U. S. Hist. The grant by the State of Georgia, by Act of Jan. 7, 1795, of 35,000,000 acres of her western territory in the region of the Yazoo River, for $500,000, to the Yazoo Companies. Every member but one of the legislature was a shareholder in one or more of the companies. The act granting the land was repealed in 1796 by a new legislature but the United States Supreme Court (Fletcher v. Peck, 1810) declared the repealing act unconstitutional.

y-b-. For various words, chiefly past participles, beginning with y-b-, see forms in B-, as, for y-bake', see BAKE. See also Y-.

y-blent', past part. Also, sometimes, y-blend'. a Obs. Blended or blinded. b Archaic. Blended, or mingled.

Y box. Elec. A box containing three wires of equal resistance joined to a common point. It is used in connection with a three-phase system to furnish the central point.

yc-. For various words beginning yc-, see forms in IC-; as, for ycie, see ICY.

y-c-. For various words, chiefly past participles, beginning with y-c, see forms in C-; as, for y-cast', see CAST. See also Y-.

Y chromosome. Biol. A sex chromosome present in certain male organisms which is visibly different in size or form from its allelomorphic mate the X chromosome. In individuals possessing the XY combination are males; those with two X chromosomes are females. See SEX, n., 2.

y-clept', y-cleped' (ĭ-klĕpt'), past part. [AS. geclipod, geclypod, past part. of (ge)clipian, (ge)clypian, to call. See Y-; CLEPE.] Called; named. Archaic.

Y connection. 1. Elec. = STAR CONNECTION.
2. Fire Apparatus. = SIAMESE CONNECTION.

Y cross, Y curve. See Y, adj.

Y current. Elec. The current through one branch of the star arrangement of a three-phase circuit. See STAR, n., 9.

yd-. For words formerly spelled yd-, see forms in ID-.

y-d-. For various words in y-d-, see forms in D-. See also Y-.

-y'da·tis. [NL. See HYDATID.] A combining form for Gr. -hydatis, from hydatis, meaning a vesicle, as in blepharydatis, a vesicle affecting the eyelid.

Yd'grun (ĭd'grŭn; -grûn), n. In Samuel Butler's satirical novel Erewhon, a goddess of the Erewhonians; — an anagram of (Mrs.) Grundy.

y-dought' (ĭ-dōōt'), past adj. [ME. idoȝt, past part. of iduȝen to thrive, fr. AS. gedugan.] Thriven; prosperous. Obs.

ye (yē; 71), pron. [ME. ye, þe, nom. pl., fr. AS. ge, gē, akin to OS. ge, gī, OFris. gī, ī, D. gij, Dan. & Sw. i, ON. ér, OHG. ir, G. ihr, Goth. jus, Lith. jus, Gr. hymeis, Skr. yuyam.] Archaic & Dial. The personal pronoun of the second person. Ye is used: 1. As nominative pl.; — orig. its only construction; also, in apposition with a noun in the vocative; as, ye gods.
Ye ben to me right welcome heartily. Chaucer.
2. As nominative sing. Archaic & Dial.
3. (pron. yĕ, yĭ) As objective sing. & pl.
Strange news to tell ye! Dryden.
Vain pomp and glory of this world, I hate ye. Shak.
4. Disjunctively, by way of address or for emphasis.
Hush ye, hush ye, little pet ye! Scott.

ye (thē; cf. THE, def. art.). An old method of printing the article the (AS. þe), "y" being used for the Anglo-Saxon, or Old English, and Middle English character thorn (þ). It is often printed *y*ᵉ as if a contraction, like *y*ᵗ for that, and is sometimes incorrectly pronounced yē. See Y and cf. THORN, n., 5; cf. also Pron. § 264.

ye (yē). Var. of YEA, adv. Obs. exc. Dial.

yea (yā; obs. or archaic yē), adv. [ME. ye, ya, ȝe, ȝa, fr. AS. gēa, gē; akin to OFris. gē, iē, OS., OHG., G., Dan., & Sw. ja, ON. jā, Goth. ja, jai. Cf. YES.] 1. Yes; — an affirmative answer to a question asked or a request made, now superseded by yes except in sacred or solemn discourse. See YES, 1.
Let your communication be yea, yea; nay, nay. Matt. v. 37.
2. Indeed; truly; — introducing a question or assertion.
Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? Gen. iii. 1.
3. More than this; not only so, but; — marking the addition of something more emphatic. Archaic. Cf. NAY, adv., 2.
I therein do rejoice, yea, and will rejoice. Phil. i. 18.

yea, n. 1. The word "yea" uttered in assent; an affirmative reply; specif., an affirmative vote; one who votes in the affirmative; as, 20 yeas and no nays.
2. That which is unequivocally or absolutely true; certainty.

yea, v. i. To say "yea."

yea and nay. a An equivocal, hesitant, or doubtful statement, as of doctrine, or stand, as on policy; a saying or doing one thing and then the other.
But as God is true, our word toward you was not yea and nay. 2 Cor. i. 18 b In by yea and nay, by a simple formula of declaration that is not technically an oath. c Hence, one who uses "by yea and nay"; specif., a Quaker.

yea'-and-nay', adj. a Ambiguous; vacillating; equivocal. b That is a Quaker; pertaining to Quakers. c Slavishly obedient to the dictates of one's superior or one's party; also, having no opinions of one's own. d Of a vote, taken by roll call and a count of the yeas and nays.

Yea and Nay, Richard. See RICHARD YEA AND NAY.

yeal'ing (yēl'ĭng), n. [Also yeildin, eeldin. See EVEN; ELD; -ING.] A contemporary in age. Scot.

yean (yēn), v. t. & i.; YEANED (yēnd); YEAN'ING. [AS. (assumed) geēanian, fr. ge- + ēanian to yean; akin to L. agnus a lamb, Gr. amnos, OIr. ūan, OSlav. agnę. Cf. EAN.] To bring forth young, as a goat or a sheep; to ean; lamb.

yean'ling (yēn'lĭng), n. [yean + 1st -ling. Cf. EANLING.] A lamb or a kid; an eanling. — adj. Newborn; young.

year (yēr; 277), n. [ME. yer, yeer, ȝer, fr. AS. gēar; akin to OFris. iēr, gēr, OS. jār, gēr, D. jaar, OHG. jār, G. jahr, ON. ár, Dan. aar, Sw. år, Goth. jer, Gr. hōra a season of the year, springtime, a part of the day, an hour, hōros a year, Av. yāre year. Cf. HOUR, YORE.] 1. The time of one apparent revolution of the sun around the ecliptic; the period occupied by the earth in making its revolution around the sun, called the astronomical, equinoctial, natural, solar, or tropical, year, whose length is 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, 45.51 seconds. The fictitious year is the interval between two successive returns of the sun's center to sun's mean longitude 280° (used in reducing star places). The lunar year is a period of 12 lunar months. The lunar astronomical year, of 12 lunar synodical months, has a length of 354 days, 8 hours, 48 minutes, 34 seconds. The common lunar year consists of 12 lunar civil months, or 354 days. Abbr. yr. See ANOMALISTIC YEAR, SIDEREAL YEAR, TROPICAL YEAR.
2. A period of 365 days or, in the case of leap year, 366 days. The calendar, civil, or legal, year has the same number of days, is divided into 12 calendar months, and is now reckoned as beginning with January 1 and ending with December 31. Formerly, in England, the legal year began on Annunciation Day, March 25; the change to January 1 took place on that day in 1752; in Scotland such a change had been made in 1600. Hence, dates between January 1 and March 25 are sometimes written thus: February 21, 1574–5, that is, 1575 according to present reckoning. In statutes a year means a calendar year, unless a contrary intention is expressed. At the common law and as defined in some codes a half year consists of 182 days; a quarter of a year, of 91 days. The lunar year of 354 days, divided into 12 months, is the regular common Hebrew year and was the ancient Greek year, intercalation being resorted to to maintain some correspondence between the lunar and solar years. See CALENDAR, LEAP YEAR, BISSEXTILE, COMMON YEAR, MOHAMMEDAN YEAR, JEWISH CALENDAR, GREEK CALENDAR, LUNISOLAR PERIOD, SOTHIC YEAR.
3. A period having the same or approximately the same length as the civil year, but having different limits which are fixed by a special calendar or schedule; more narrowly, that much of the civil year when a school, college, court, or the like, is in session; — always qualified; as, the school year; the liturgical year; the fiscal year of a government.
4. A year (esp. sense 2) spent in some specified or implied manner; as, four years of study abroad; sentenced for 21 years; specif., R.C.Ch., a remission of temporal or purgatorial punishment for sin to an extent equivalent to one year of canonical penance. See INDULGENCE, 6.
5. A time coextensive with the period between one birthday and the next; — used in computing age; as, he is 19 years today; hence, pl., age; also, old age; as, to one of his years; a man in years.
6. Chiefly pl. In vague use: a A period of time; times; as, in years to come; in other years. b A long time; a considerable while; as, years after or before; years ago.
7. The course or progress of the four seasons; also, (such a) season of the year. Poet.
Richly paint the vernal year. Gray.
8. The time in which any planet completes a revolution about the sun; as, the year of Jupiter or of Saturn.
☞ Year is used as a collective plural when preceded by a numeral and followed by old or used attributively; as, a three-year-old child; a forty-year-old school; a two-year lease; a ten-year sentence.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:
year-born year-marked year-round year-counted year-old year (yēr), v. t. To have for a year; — only in to year and day, to hold or have in possession for a year and a day.

ye·a'ra (yā·ä'rä), n. [Origin unknown.] The poison oak (Rhus diversiloba) of the Pacific coast.

year and a day. Law. The time allowed in various legal limitations of time for an act or an event to take place, so that there shall certainly be an interim of a full year. In computing a year and a day after an event, the day on which the event happened is included in the reckoning. Sometimes in arbitrary legal reckoning the period is longer than a calendar year and a day.

year'bird' (yēr'bûrd'), n. An East Indian white-tailed hornbill (Rhyticeros undulatus) having on the base of the beak strong plications, each supposed to represent a year of growth.

year'book' (yēr'bŏŏk'), n. A book published yearly; any annual report or summary of the statistics or facts of a year, designed to be used as a reference book; an annual; as, a church yearbook.

Year Book. Eng. Law. Any of the series of books containing annual reports of cases as judged in the courts of England from 1292 (20 Edw. I) to the reign of Henry VIII. The circumstances of their preparation and publication are in dispute.

year count. = WINTER COUNT.

year'day' (yēr'dā'), n. 1. a Obs. Anniversary. b pl. Days as part of a year. Poet.
2. In the Cotsworth and other proposed reformed calendars, a holiday not included in any month or week but needed to complete the astronomical year.
3. Anthropol. Any day by which a primitive people marks the passing of the year.

year hour. See HOUR, n., 11.

year in, year out. From year to year; continuously.

year letter. See HALLMARK.

year'ling (yēr'lĭng; yûr'-; 277), n. [year + 1st -ling.]
1. One that is a year old, as a child, a plant, etc.; usually, an animal one year old, or in the second year of its age; — applied chiefly to cattle, sheep, and horses. The racing and trotting rules provide that the age of a horse shall be reckoned from January 1st of the year when it was foaled.
2. A member of the next to the lowest class in the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

year'ling, adj. A year old; of a year's age, duration, or growth.

year'long' (yēr'lŏng'), adj. Lasting through a year.

year'ly (yēr'lĭ; yûr'-), adj. [AS. gēarlīc.] Of, pertaining to, or for, a year or the year; recurring every year; made, done, observed, produced, received, etc., every year or during each year; annual; as, hired on a yearly basis; yearly payments; the yearly revolution of the earth.

year'ly, adv. [AS. gēarlīce.] Annually; once a year; from year to year; as, blessings yearly bestowed.
Yearly will I do this rite. Shak.

yearly meeting. Society of Friends. The annual general assembly of representatives of the meetings held each quarter, and others; also, the geographical territory covered by such representation.

yearn (yûrn), v.; YEARNED (yûrnd); YEARN'ING. [ME. yernen, ȝernen, ȝeornen, fr. AS. geornian, gyrnan, gjernan; akin to AS. georn desirous, eager, OS. gern desirous, girnean, gernean, to desire, D. gaarne gladly, willingly, G. gern, OHG. gerno, adv., gern, adj., G. gier greed, OHG. girī greed, ger desirous, G. gerön to desire, G. begehren, ON. girna to desire, gjarn eager, Goth. faihugairns covetous, gairnjan to desire, and to Gr. chairein to rejoice, be glad, L. horiri, hortari, to urge, Skr. haryati he likes, yearns for. Cf. EUCHARIST, EXHORT.] Intransitive:
1. To be filled with desire; to be uneasy with eager longing and anxiety; to be drawn in love or desire; as, he yearned for news of his family; his heart yearns after the land of his birth.
2. To feel compassion or tender love; to be moved with pity, grief, or sympathy. "My manly heart doth yearn." Shak.
Not the first mother to love her offspring scornfully, and to aversely yearn. Hardy.
3. To sound, look, etc., so as to show yearning. Poetic.
Gave utterance by the yearning of an eye. Tennyson.
4. Hunting. To give tongue; — said of dogs. Obs.
—, Transitive: 1. Obs. a To long for eagerly or anxiously; to crave. b To request eagerly; to beg.
2. To fill with pain or pity; grieve; vex. Now Dial.
It yearns me not if men my garments wear. Shak.

Syn. and Ant. — See LONG.

yearn, n. A yearning; an eager desire; a longing.

yearn (yûrn; yärn). Scot. & dial. of EARN.

yearn'ful (yûrn'fŏŏl; -fl), adj. [ME. ȝeornful, fr. AS. geornfull.] Full of yearning; mournful. — yearn'ful-ly, adv. — yearn'ful-ness, n.

yearn'ing (yûr'nĭng), adj. That yearns. — -ing-ly, adv.

yearn'ing, n. Act of one who yearns; eager or anxious longing; tenderness.

yearn'ing (yûr'nĭng), yearn'ings (-nĭngz). Vars. of EARNING, EARNINGS, rennet.

yearn'ling (yûrn'lĭng), n. [See 1st -LING.] A child that stirs up yearning. Lamb.

year'ock (yēr'ŭk), n. A hen one year old. Scot.

year of confusion. The 708th year of the Roman Era, 46 B.C., when the Julian calendar was introduced.

year of grace. Any year of the Christian Era; annus Domini; — called also year of our Lord.

year's'-gift' (yērz'gĭft'), n. A new-year gift. Obs.

year's mind. Eccl. A commemoration of a deceased person, as by a Mass, a year after his death. Cf. MONTH'S MIND a. year's purchase. The amount that is yielded by the annual income of property; — used in expressing the value of a thing in the number of years required for its income to yield its purchase price, in reckoning the amount to be paid for annuities, etc.

yeast (yēst), n. [ME. ȝeest, ȝest, fr. AS. gist; akin to ON. jöstr, jastr, D. gest, giet, G. gischt, gischt, OHG. jesan (strong, v. i.), jerian (weak, v. t.), to ferment, G. gischen, gischen, gähren, Gr. zestos boiled, zein to boil, Skr. yasati, yasyati, it seethes. Cf. ECZEMA.] 1. A sub-yawnd. Yawned. Ref. Sp.

---

yawn'ey (yôn'ĭ), n. Also yawn'ups (-ŭps). = CONY, 1. Dial. Eng.

yawn'ful, adj. See -FUL. — yawn'ful-ly, adv. [-PROOF.]

yawn'proof' (66), adj. See yawpt. Yawped. Ref. Sp.

y-be', Obs. past part. of BE.

y-bet', Obs. past part. of BEAT, BEET.

y-bore', Obs. past part. of BEAR.

y-born', past part. Obs. a Born. b Borne. [BORROW.]

y-bor'wed. Obs. past part. of y-bound', y-bounde', y-bound'en, y-bound'own, y-bownde', past part. Bound. Obs.

y branch. See Y, adj.

y-break', v. t. [AS. gebrecan.] To break. Obs. [part. of BURN.]

y-brend', y-brent', Obs. past

Y bridge. See Y, adj.

ych'a. Obs. var. for each one. Cf. ILKA.

y-choled'. Contr. for I would. Obs.

y-chone', Each one. Obs. Cf. ILKA.

y-clad' (ĭ-klăd'). Archaic past part. of CLOTHE.

y-cleepe', v. i. [See Y-CLEPT.] To call; name. Obs.

y-clong'en. Obs. past part. of CLING. [CROWN.]

y-coroned. Obs. past part. of y-couped', part. adj. [OF. couper to cut. See Y-.] Cut; slit. Obs.

Y'da·lir (ŭ'dä·lĭr; ē'-), n. [ON. Ydalir.] See ASGARD.

y-day', Short for YESTERDAY.

ydel. ✝ IDLE, IDOL.

y-demed', Obs. past part. of DEEM.

y-dight', past part. = DIGHT. Obs.

y-do', y-dobbed'. Obs. past part. of DO, DUB.

y-drad', y-dred'. Obs. past part. of DREAD. [stone. Obs.] ydriades, n. A kind of precious y-drore', past part. [AS. gedroren, past part. of (ge)drēosan to fall.] Fallen. Obs.

y'ē, y'ea. ✝ EYE.

yea'-and-nay'ish, adj. See -ISH.

yead (yĕd). Dial. Eng. var. of HEAD.

yeaghe. ✝ YACHT.

ye'ah (yā'ä). Corrupt. of YES.

yea'-nay', adj. = YEA-AND-NAY.

yeard (yērd; yûrd). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of EARTH.

yeared (yērd), adj. Aged. Obs.

yearely. ✝ YEARLY.

year'ful, n. See -FUL.

yearn. ✝ YARN.

yearth (yērth; yûrth). Var. of EARTH. Obs. exc. Dial. [saying.]

yea saycr. = YES MAN. — yea

---

stance consisting of the aggregated cells of certain minute sac fungi (see def. 2, below), and appearing as a surface froth or as a thick sediment in fruit juices, malt worts, and other saccharine liquids, in which it induces alcoholic fermentation through the agency of an enzyme (see ZYMASE). Surface or top yeast, resulting in top fermentation, develops more rapidly and at higher temperatures than sedimentary or bottom yeast, which gives rise to bottom fermentation. Yeast is widely used in making alcoholic liquors, esp. beer, and in baking, as a means of leavening. 2. Any minute unicellular fungus of the family Saccharomycetaceæ; a yeast plant or cell. See SACCHAROMYCES. 3. A commercial product consisting of meal or the like impregnated with living yeast (see sense 1, above); esp., a yeast cake, or yeast cakes collectively. 4. Spume, or foam, as of water. 5. Figuratively: a That which causes ferment; a leaven; as, ideas which are a yeast to receptive minds. b Ferment; agitation; tumultuousness.

The crudities and yeast of youth. F. T. Palgrave.

yeast (yēst), v. i. To ferment; to froth; to rise, as bread. — v. t. To impregnate with yeast.

yeast bee. = 2d BEE, 5.

yeast'-bit'ten, adj. Brewing. Too much affected by yeast; — said of beer when it has a bitter yeasty flavor.

yeast cake. A mealy or doughy cake impregnated with living yeast cells, used for raising bread, etc.

yeast cell. A yeast plant; a yeast (sense 2).

yeast fungus. A fungus of the order Saccharomycetales.

yeast'ing (yēs'tĭng), adj. That yeasts; serving as a yeast or leaven; characterized by or provocative of agitation, expansion, etc., within a mass or group. — n. State or instance of that which is yeasting.

yeast plant. = YEAST, 2.

yeast powder. Baking powder.

yeast spot. Plant Pathol. A disease of Lima beans caused by a yeast Nematospora phaseoli, which attacks the seeds within the pods.

yeast'y (yēs'tĭ), adj.; -I-ER (-tĭ-ĕr); -I-EST. 1. Of, pertaining to, or consisting of, yeast; resembling yeast; covered with yeast or froth like yeast; as, a yeasty taste, substance, color, or liquor. 2. Figuratively: a Yeasting; agitated. b Frothy; light; frivolous. c Foaming; spumy; — esp. of water.

yed (yĕd), n. Scot. a Fib. b Wrangle. — v. i. Scot. a To fib; to lie. b To wrangle; quarrel.

yed (yĕd). Dial. Eng. var. of HEAD, YARD, a staff.

Yed'do spruce (yĕd'ō). [From Yeddo (now Tokyo), JAPAN.] An ornamental evergreen tree (Picea jezoensis) of eastern Asia, often cultivated for its handsome foliage. Its dark-green leaves are silvery white beneath.

yede (yēd). [See YODE.] Obs. past tense & past part. of GO. Hence: v. i. To go; proceed. Pseudo-Archaic.

yed'er, adj. [Cf. AS. ǣdre quickly, promptly.] Quick; prompt; also, great; vehement. — yed'er-ly, adv. Both Obs.

yegg (yĕg), n. Also yegg'man (yĕg'măn), n. [Said to be after a safebreaker named John Yegg, but prob. fr. G. jäger hunter, as being orig. a tramp scout for burglars. See YACHT.] A criminal tramp; esp., an itinerant safebreaker or burglar; hence, broadly, any burglar. Slang.

ye-gui'ta (yā-gē'tä), n. [Sp., perh. of Am. Ind. origin.] The black-necked stilt. See STILT, n., 4. Puerto Rico.

yeld (yĕld), adj. [AS. geld. See GELD, adj.] Scot. & Dial. Of an animal, esp. a cow or ewe: a Barren; having slipped her young; not old enough to bear. b Giving no milk.

yel'drin, yel'drine, yel'dring (yĕl'drĭn), yel'drock (-drŭk), n. [Also yoldring, yowlring. See YELLOW; RING.] Yellowhammer. Local, Eng. & Scot.

yell (yĕl), v.; YELLED (yĕld); YELL'ING. [ME. yellen, ȝellen, fr. AS. ȝiellan, gillan, gyllan; akin to D. gillen, OHG. gellan, G. gellen, ON. gjalla, Sw. gälla to ring, resound, and to AS., OS., & OHG. galan to sing, ON. gala. Cf. CELANDINE, NIGHTINGALE, STANNEL.] Intransitive: 1. To cry out with a loud and sharp or strident or hideous noise; to shriek; to cry or scream as with agony, horror, or intense excitement; as, to yell for help or like a demon; boys dancing and yelling.

2. Hence: a To make a sound like yelling. b To indulge in noisy speech, propaganda, etc. c To give a yell, or cheer; as, they gathered in a group and yelled for the team.

—, Transitive: 1. To utter or declare with a yell; to shout. 2. To affect, bring, or the like, by yelling; — with in, into, to, etc.; as, to yell a team to victory.

yell, n. The act, instance, or sound, of yelling; specif.: a A scream or shriek, more or less involuntary, resulting from terror, pain, rage, or other strong feeling. b A cry of certain animals. c A characteristic shout or cry, as used sometimes in warfare; as, an Apache yell; the yell of charging cavalry. d U. S. & Canada. A shout or cheer, usually rhythmic and composed of an agreed or fixed set of words or syllables, used esp. by college students; as, before the party broke up they gave the college yell.

yell. Var. of ALE, EVIL, HALE, YELD. Obs. exc. Dial.

yell'er (yĕl'ĕr), n. One who yells.

yel'ler (yĕl'ĕr), adj. Dial. & illit. var. of YELLOW.

yell'ing (yĕl'ĭng), adj. That yells; full of yells; clamorous; strident.

yell'och (yĕl'ŭk), n. & v. [See YELL.] Scream; yell. Scot.

yel'low (yĕl'ō), adj.; YEL'LOW-ER (-ō-ĕr); YEL'LOW-EST. [ME. yelow, yelwe, ȝelow, ȝalowe, ȝolou, fr. AS. geolu (gen. masc. & neut. geolwes); akin to D. geel, OS. & OHG. gelo, G. gelb, ON. gulr, L. helvus light bay, Gr. chloē young verdure, chlōros greenish yellow, Lith. žalias green, Skr. hari tawny, yellowish. Cf. ARSENIC, CHLORINE, GALL bile, GLASS, GOLD, LURID, YOLK.] 1. Of the color yellow; of a color of the hue of sulphur or of a hue somewhat less red than that of gold. See YELLOW, n.

2. Extended senses: a Changed to a yellow hue through age, disease (as jaundice), or discoloration; yellowed; sallow; as, yellow parchment, leaves, or skin. b Having a yellow complexion, as a Mongolian, a dark quadroon, or a mulatto; hence, Mongolian, quadroon, etc. c Obs. Stiffened with saffron-colored starch; — of ruffs. d Dressed in yellow. e Nav. Having the rank of rear admiral but unattached to a squadron; — of certain retired admirals in the British Navy.

3. Figuratively: a Jaundiced, or jealous, envious, melancholy, or the like. b Cowardly or treacherous; recreant; dishonorable; mean; contemptible; as, he has a yellow streak. c Sensational; — said of some newspapers, their makers, etc. Hence, yellow journal, yellow journalism, yellow journalist, yellow press.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

yellow-aproned	yellow-finned	yellow-pinioned
yellow-armed	yellow-flagged	yellow-pyed yellow-backed	yellow-fleeced	yellow-rayed yellow-banded	yellow-fleshed	yellow-red yellow-barked	yellow-flowered	yellow-ringed yellow-barred	yellow-flowering	yellow-ringleted
yellow-beaked	yellow-footed	yellow-ripe
yellow-bearded	yellow-fringed	yellow-robed yellow-bellied	yellow-fronted	yellow-rooted yellow-billed	yellow-fruited	yellow-rumped yellow-black	yellow-funneled	yellow-sallow yellow-blossomed	yellow-girted	yellow-sealed yellow-blotched	yellow-gloved	yellow-shanked yellow-bodied	yellow-haired	yellow-shouldered yellow-breasted	yellow-handed	yellow-skinned yellow-browed	yellow-headed	yellow-skirted yellow-brown	yellow-hilted	yellow-speckled yellow-capped	yellow-horned	yellow-splotched yellow-centered	yellow-hosed	yellow-spotted yellow-crowned	yellow-jerkined	yellow-sprinkled yellow-cheeked	yellow-labeled	yellow-stained yellow-chinned	yellow-leaved	yellow-starched yellow-collared	yellow-legged	yellow-striped yellow-colored	yellow-legginged	yellow-tailed yellow-covered	yellow-lettered	yellow-throated yellow-crested	yellow-lit	yellow-tinged yellow-crocked	yellow-locked	yellow-tinging yellow-dotted	yellow-lustered	yellow-tinted yellow-dun	yellow-maned	yellow-tipped yellow-dyed	yellow-marked	yellow-toed
yellow-eared	yellow-necked	yellow-tressed yellow-faced	yellow-nosed	yellow-tufted yellow-feathered	yellow-olive	yellow-washed yellow-fin	yellow-painted	yellow-white yellow-fingered	yellow-papered	yellow-winged yel'low, n. 1. a Any of several colors the hues of which resemble those of ripe lemons, or of butter, or of sunflowers; any color the hue of which is that of the portion of the color spectrum lying between red and green; esp., any of the colors normally seen when the portion of the physical spectrum of wave lengths 571.5 to 578.5 millimicrons, specif. 574.5 millimicrons, is employed as a stimulus. b That one of the four psychological primaries (see psychological primary, under PRIMARY, n., 3) which is seen when energy of wave length 574.5 mμ is employed as a stimulus. 2. Any pigment or dye that colors yellow (sense 1). 3. Something that is yellow; esp., a group or thing that is distinguished by a yellow color; as, to prefer the yellows among roses. 4. Specif.: a The yolk of an egg. Cf. WHITE, n., 2 a. b One of the yellow races, as a Mongolian. c Dial. Eng. Gold. d One of a group of butterflies in which the predominating color is yellow. It includes the common small yellow butterflies. Also, pl., this group. e Slang. A yellow journal (see YELLOW, adj., 3 c). f Short for YELLOW SPONGE; also, yellow sponges, collectively; as, three lots of yellow. 5. a pl. Jaundice, esp. of domestic animals, as sheep. b Obs. A jaundiced humor; jealousy; — commonly in plural. 6. pl. Plant Pathol. Any of several unrelated plant diseases occurring in aster, cabbage, celery, peach, etc., in which growth is stunted and there is a characteristic yellowing of the foliage.

yel'low (yĕl'ō), v. t.; YEL'LOWED (-ōd); YEL'LOW-ING (-ō-ĭng). To make or turn yellow; to cause to have a yellow tinge or color; as, white silk yellowed through age or washing.

Cowslips yellowed the meadow flats. G. Meredith.

Specif., to make a yellow admiral of (see YELLOW, adj., 2 e). — v. i. To become yellow or yellower; to turn yellow.

yel'low, v. i. [From YELL, after bellow.] = YELP. Obs.

yellow adder's–tongue. The dogtooth violet (Erythronium americanum.

yellow alder. A tropical American shrubby herb (Turnera ulmifolia) with lanceolate-oblong leaves and axillary, solitary, yellow flowers; — called also sagerose.

yellow angelfish or angel. See ANGELFISH b.

yellow antimony. See ANTIMONY, 2.

yellow apiol. See APIOLE, 2.

yellow archangel. A European dead nettle (Lamium galeobdolon) with yellow flowers.

yellow ash. = YELLOWWOOD a (1).

yellow asphodel. The plant Asphodeline lutea.

yellow aster. = GOLDEN ASTER.

yellow atrophy. Med. = ACUTE YELLOW ATROPHY.

yellow avens. A yellow-flowered avens (Geum strictum); also, the related G. macrophyllum.

yellow azalea. = FLAME AZALEA.

yellow baboon. A long-tailed yellowish African baboon (Papio cynocephalus).

yellow bachelor's–button. The yellow milkwort.

yel'low-back' (yĕl'ō-băk'), n. 1. A popular, cheap novel; — so called from the former practice, esp. in England, of binding such books in yellow board or paper covers. 2. A fresh-water mussel (Lampsilis anodontoides) of the Mississippi Valley and southeastern United States, having a heavy shell covered with yellow periostracum, and highly valued for mother-of-pearl.

yel'low–backed' rock'fish'. Also yellow–backed rock cod. A rockfish (Pteropodus maliger) of the Pacific coast of North America. It becomes nearly two feet long and is an important food fish.

yellow balm. The whorled loosestrife.

yellow balsam. a The jewelweed Impatiens pallida. b Jamaica. A strong-scented West Indian shrub (Croton flavens).

yel'low–band'ed hus·sar'. See HUSSAR, 3.

yellow bark. a Calisaya bark. b The yellow-bark oak; also, its bark.

yel'low–bark' oak. The black oak Quercus velutina.

yellow bartonia. A yellow-flowered screwstem (Bartonia virginica) common in eastern North America.

yellow bass (băs). A North American fresh-water bass (Chrysoperca, syn. Morone, interrupta) native of the lower parts of the Mississippi and its tributaries. It is yellow, with several more or less broken black stripes or bars.

yellow basswood. The common linden (Tilia glabra) of North America.

yellow beak. = BEJAN.

yellow bear. The yellow woolly bear. See WOOLLY BEAR.

yellow beardtongue. A perennial herb (Pentstemon confertus) of the Rocky Mountain region, with showy yellow flowers.

yellow bear's–foot. The leafcup Polymnia uvedalia.

yellow bedstraw. The common European yellow-flowered bedstraw (Galium verum).

yellow bell. a The dogtooth violet Erythronium americanum. b The yellow, funnel-shaped flower of the commonly cultivated Allamanda cnerifolia or A. schottii; also, the plants themselves. c pl. The California yellow bells.

Yellow Bellflower. Hort. An attractive winter apple of a yellow color which deepens in storage.

yel'low–bel'lied fly'catch'er. A small flycatcher (Empidonax flaviventris) of eastern North America.

yellow–bellied sapsucker or woodpecker. See SAPSUCKER.

yellow–bellied terrapin. See TERRAPIN.

yel'low·bel'ly (yĕl'ō-bĕl'ĭ), n. 1. A frog; hence, Local, Eng., & Ir., a native of a fen district. 2. A name of contempt for: a Southwestern U. S. A Mexican. b Sailor's Slang. A half-caste. 3. a Either of two American fresh-water sunfishes, the red-breasted bream and an allied species (Eupomotis gibbosus). b The squawfish. c An Australian food fish (Ctenolates, syn. Plectroplites, ambiguus) of the family Serranidæ. d In New Zealand, any of several flatfishes, as Ammotretis guntheri, which is an important market fish. e Trade Term. The tortoise shell from the plastron of the turtle. It is of a uniform yellow color.

yellow belly. Plant Pathol. = YELLOW BERRY, 2.

yellow bennet. The yellow avens Geum strictum.

yel'low·ber'ry (yĕl'ō-bĕr'ĭ), n.; pl. -BERRIES (-ĭz). The Persian berry Rhamnus infectoria.

yellow berry. 1. pl. Dyeing. = BUCKTHORN BERRIES. 2. Plant Pathol. A condition of mature grains of hard wheat resulting from nitrogen deficiency and marked by the occurrence of light-yellow, opaque, soft, and starchy kernels among the normally hard, dark, translucent, red-amber grains; also, one of these kernels.

yellow bile. See 2d BILE, 1. h yel'low·bill' (yĕl'ō-bĭl'), n. A scoter. Local, U. S.

yel'low–billed' cuck'oo. See CUCKOO, 1.

yellow–billed loon. See LOON.

yellow–billed magpie. See MAGPIE.

yellow–billed tropic bird. See TROPIC BIRD.

yellow birch. A North American birch (Betula lutea) with lustrous gray or yellow thin bark; also, its hard strong light-brown wood, used for furniture, buttons, etc.

yel'low·bird' (yĕl'ō-bûrd'), n. a The American goldfinch. See GOLDFINCH b. b Local, U. S. The yellow warbler a. c Local, Eng. The golden oriole. See ORIOLE, n., 1.

yellow bird's–nest. The pinesap Hypopitys multiflora.

yellow blight. Plant Pathol. a A wilt of potatoes caused by Sclerotinia sclerotiorum. b Western tomato blight.

yellow body. Anat. The corpus luteum.

yellow book. 1. [caps.] An English illustrated quarterly, issued from 1894 to 1897, having many famous contributors. It contained much of the work of Aubrey Beardsley. 2. [F. livre jaune.] An official report of government affairs bound in yellow; — used esp. of French reports.

yellow box. A gum tree (Eucalyptus melliodora) of southern Australia, having yellow inner bark and hard yellowish wood somewhat resembling boxwood.

yellow boy. a Slang, Brit. A gold coin, as a sovereign or, formerly, a guinea. b Colloq., U. S. A man or boy who is a dark quadroon or mulatto.

yel'low–breast'ed bunt'ing. A bunting (Emberiza aureola) common in northern Russia and Siberia, wintering in tropical Asia. It is chestnut above, with a buff stripe over the eye, and a yellow breast crossed by a narrow band of dark streaks.

yellow–breasted chat. See 2d CHAT, 4.

yellow broom. The wild indigo Baptisia tinctoria. U. S.

yel'low–brown' race. Anthropol. Any of the Mongoloid races, including Mongol Asiatics and American Indians.

yellow buckeye. = SWEET BUCKEYE.

yellow buckthorn. A North American shrub (Rhamnus caroliniana) having leaves yellowish on the lower surface. Its bark is medicinal. See INDIAN CHERRY a.

yellow bugle. The ground pine (Ajuga chamaepitys).

yellow bunting. The European yellow-hammer.

yellow calla. An African aroid (Zantedeschia elliottiana) resembling the common calla, and widely cultivated for its yellow instead of white spathes. See GOLDEN CALLA.

yellow caltrop. A tropical American weedy herb (Tribulus cistoides) with yellow, axillary flowers and spiny fruit; — called also turkey blossom.

yellow camomile. A Eurasian perennial herb (Anthemis tinctoria) naturalized in North America, with hairy, divided leaves and yellow heads; — called also oxeye camomile and golden marguerite.

yellow cancerroot. A leafless, scaly, parasitic herb (Anoplanthus fasciculatus) of western North America, with solitary, purplish-yellow, irregular flowers.

yellow carmine. The color Dutch orange.

yellow cartilage. = ELASTIC CARTILAGE.

yellow cat. Any of three catfishes, Ameiurus nebulosus, A. natalis, and Opladelus olivaris, of the streams of the eastern and southern United States. They are more or less yellow and are excellent food fishes.

yellow catechu. = GAMBIER.

yellow cedar. a An evergreen tree (Chamaecyparis nootkatensis) of the Pacific coast of North America, often cultivated for ornament; also, its hard yellow wood, which is the most valuable of Alaskan timbers, unsurpassed for cabinet-work. Called also yellow cypress, Alaska cedar. b The western cedar Juniperus occidentalis. c The arborvitae Thuja occidentalis. d In Australia, a species of sumac (Rhus rhodanthema) yielding tannin.

yellow cells. See ZOOXANTHELLA.

yellow centaury. a The yellowwort. b The Barnaby's thistle Centaurea solstitialis.

yellow cherry. A small-fruited variety of tomato, used chiefly for preserving.

yellow chestnut oak. An American scrub oak (Quercus prinoides) with leaves yellowish underneath.

yellow cinchona. Calisaya bark.

yellow cleavers. Yellow bedstraw.

yellow clintonia. A common woodland herb (Clintonia borealis) of temperate regions of North America, with yellow nodding flowers and blue beadlike fruits. See WILD FLOWERS, Plate.

yellow clover. Either of the hop clovers Trifolium aureum and T. procumbens.

yellow cockscomb. = RATTLE, n., 3 a. yellow copperas. Copiapite.

yellow copper ore. Chalcopyrite.

---

yeast'i·ly, adv. Of YEASTY. yeast'i·ness, n. See -NESS. yeast'like', adj. See -LIKE.
yeat (yēt). Dial. Eng. var. of EAT. yeat (yāt; yē'ĕt; yet). Var. of OATE. Obs. exc. Dial. yeath'er (yĕth'ĕr). Var. of YEDDER, edder. yedde, v. i. [AS. gieddian, giddian, sing.] To play; sing. Obs. yed'der (yĕd'ĕr). Dial. var. of EDDER. yed'ding (yĕd'ĭng), n. [AS. geddung, giddung, gieddinq, fr. gieddian, giddian, to sing, speak.] The song or tale of a minstrel. Obs.
Yed Posterior (yĕd), Yed Prior. [Ar. yad hand.] See STAR, Table. yee (yē). Var. of YEA. Obs. exc. Dial.
yeel (yēl). Scot. var. of YULE. yeel'a·man (yēl'ä-mĭn). Var. of HELAMAN. yees (yēz). Var. of YEZ.
yeg. Yegg. Ref. Sp.
yeild (yēld). + YELD, adj.
yeice. + EKE, ITCH. yel. Yell. Ref. Sp.
yeld. + ELD, OLLD. [ex. Dial.] yeld (yĕld). Var. of YIELD. Obs. yeld. Yelled. Ref. Sp. yelde, v. i. [See YIELD.] To shield; help. Obs. yelk (yĕlk). Var. of YOLK. yel'low·am'mer. Var. of YELLOWHAMMER. Local, Eng.

yellow corydalis. = COLICWEED c. yellow cottonwood. The cottonwood Populus balsamifera. yel'low-cov'ered lit'er·a·ture. Cheap, sensational, or trashy, novels, etc.; — from the usual color of the covers. Colloq.
yellow cress. Any cress having yellow flowers; specif.: a Any species of Barbarea or winter cress. b Any of several species of Rorippa, as R. palustris, the marsh cress. yel'low-cross' liq'uid. Also yellow cross. See MUSTARD GAS. yel'low·crown' (yĕl'ō·kroun'), n. The myrtle warbler. yel'low-crowned' night heron. See NIGHT HERON. yel'low·cup' (yĕl'ō·kŭp'), n. The buttercup. Rare.
yellow cypress. a The yellow cedar Chamaecyparis nootkatensis. b The bald cypress Taxodium distichum; also, its wood.
yellow daisy. 1. The black-eyed Susan Rudbeckia hirta. 2. The color lemon yellow.
— yel'low-dai'sy, adj.
yellow day lily. = DAY LILY a. yellow dead nettle. The weaselsnout. yellow deal. a In Great Britain, the wood of the Scotch pine, and of the red pine Pinus resinosa. b In the United States, the wood of the yellow pine Pinus echinata.
yellow dip. See DIP, n., 13. yellow dirt. Gold. Contemptuous.
yellow dock. a The bitter dock. b The curled dock. yellow dog. A mongrel; a cur; hence, a contemptible, worthless, or yellow (sense 3 b) person or thing. Slang.
yel'low-dog' (66), adj. Of, for, or characteristic of, yellow dogs. Slang.
yellow-dog contract. A contract of employment in which the worker agrees not to join a labor union, and which, usually, is terminated if he does join. Slang.
yellow-dog money. Money issued by a wildcat State bank; loosely, any wildcat money. Cf. RED DOG, 1 a, b, & c. Hist., U. S. yellow dogwood. The bastard dogwood. yellow duckwing. A breed of game fowls having golden-yellow wing bows.
yellow dwarf. Plant Pathol. a A disease of potatoes, probably caused by a virus, characterized by dwarfing and yellowing of the foliage. b A virus disease of the onion, characterized by yellowing, crinkling and drooping of the leaves, and stunting of the bulbs.
yel'low-dye' tree. An African tree (Xylopia polycarpa) having bitter bark and yielding a yellowish dye.
yellow earth. = YELLOW OCHER (in both senses). — yel'low-earth', adj.
yellow eel. See EEL, n., 1. yellow eglantine. The Austrian brier. yellow elder. A tropical American shrub or small tree (Tecoma stans) with compound leaves and profuse clusters of yellow, funnel-shaped flowers. It is widely planted for ornament in the tropics.
Yellow Emperor. = HUANG TI. yel'low-eye' (yĕl'ō·ī'), n. The goldenseal (Hydrastis canadensis). yel'low-eyed' (-īd'; 66), adj. Having a yellow eye or eyes, or yellow about the eyes.
yellow-eyed grass. Any plant of the genus Xyris.
yel'low-eyed'-grass' fam'i·ly. The Xyridaceae. yellow-eyed hawk. An ignoble falcon. yellow false jasmine. The Carolina jessamine. See GELSEMIUM. yellow fever. Med. An acute, infectious, often fatal, febrile disease, characterized by jaundice, hemorrhages, a sudden onset of fever, vomiting, albuminuria, etc. It occurs in certain tropical and semitropical regions, esp. parts of Central and South America, Mexico, the West Indies and the west coast of Africa. In former years numerous epidemics occurred in southern Europe and in the southern and eastern parts of the United States. The virus is transmitted by a mosquito (see YELLOW-FEVER MOSQUITO). — yel'low-fe'ver, adj.
yel'low-fe'ver fly. A small fly of the genus Sciara, once erroneously connected with yellow fever.
yellow-fever mosquito. A small dark-colored mosquito (Aëdes aegypti) of the warmer parts of the world. It is the usual agent in the transmission of yellow fever. The virus producing yellow fever is carried from one human being to another in much the same way as the malaria parasite is carried by mosquitoes of the genus Anopheles. See AËDES; MALARIA PARASITE. Cf. ANOPHELES.
yellow fiber. Anat. = ELASTIC FIBER. yellow fiddlewood. The spur tree. yel'low·fin' (yĕl'ō·fĭn'), n. a Local, U. S. A large squeteague; also, the yellow perch. b Scot. A species of trout. yel'low-finned', or yel'low-fin', ron'ca·dor'. See RONCADOR. yellow-fin trout. A large and handsome yellow-finned cutthroat trout (Salmo macdonaldi) of Twin Lakes, Colorado. yellow fir. a The Scotch pine. b The Douglas fir. c The white fir Abies grandis.
yel'low·fish' (yĕl'ō·fĭsh'), n. a The Atka fish. b A West Indian grouper (Cephalopholis fulvus) which is sometimes of a yellow color. yellow flag. The quarantine flag of all nations, also carried at a vessel's fore to denote infectious disease on board.
yellow flag. The yellow iris.
yellow flower. The charlock Brassica arvensis.
yellow flower-de-luce. = YELLOW IRIS. yel'low-flow'ered leaf'cup'. The leafcup Polymnia uvedalia.
yellow-flowered watercup. The huntsman's-horn. yel'low-flow'er·ing pea. = YELLOW LUPINE b. yellow foxglove. a U. S. The false foxglove. b The European yellow-flowered Digitalis lutea.
yellow foxtail. a A common weedy and bristly grass (Setaria lutescens) found in nearly all temperate countries. b The green foxtail.
yellow fringed orchis. A terrestrial orchid (Blephariglottis ciliaris) of eastern North America, with lanceolate leaves and showy spikes of yellow or orange fringed flowers.
yellow galt. Veter. Inflammation of the udder. yellow gentian. a A bitterwort (Gentiana lutea) of southern Europe, having yellow flowers. See GENTIAN, 2. b A gentian (Dasystephana flavida) of eastern North America, with yellowish flowers. c The plant Frasera carolinensis. yellow George. See GEORGE, 5 b. yellow gerardia. The false foxglove.
yellow ginseng. The blue cohosh. yellow girl. A girl or woman who is a dark quadroon or mulatto. Colloq., U. S. yellow goatfish. See GOATFISH. yellow goatsbeard. A European herb (Tragopogon pratensis) with keeled leaves, and yellow heads of flowers that close by noon, hence its name of go-to-bed-at-noon. It is a naturalized weed in North America.
yellow gold. Also yellow golds. See 3d GOLD b. yellow gowan. Any of several yellow-flowered plants, as the crowfoot, the marsh marigold Caltha palustris, the dandelion, etc. Scot. & Dial. Eng.
yellow granadilla. = WATER LEMON a. yellow grease. A low quality of fat obtained from the parts of hogs not used in making lard, from refuse fat, etc. It is used for manufacturing purposes, as soapmaking. Cf. WHITE GREASE.
yel'low-green', n. The hue of the color cycle which is equally like, and equally unlike, the psychologically primary hues yellow and green; the hue seen when the portion of the physical spectrum centering at 559 millimicrons is employed as a stimulus. See COLOR. — yel'low-green', adj.
yellow-green algae. Bot. Algae of a group in which yellow pigment (xanthophyll) masks the green; the Heterokontae, or Xanthophyceae.
yellow ground. See KIMBERLITE. yellow grouper. A grouper (Mycteroperca olfax) of the Pacific coast of Central and South America.
yellow grunt. A yellow, black-banded grunt (Haemulon sciurus) of Florida and the West Indies, used as a food fish.
yellow guayacan. = BETHABARA. yellow gularis. See GULARIS. yellow gum. a The Australian grass tree or its resin (acaroid resin). b Any of several Australian eucalypts, esp. Eucalyptus gunnii; — in allusion to their yellow bark or yellowish leaves. c U. S. = BLACK GUM a. yel'low·ham'mer (yĕl'ō·hăm'ẽr), n. [For yellowammer, fr. AS. amore a kind of bird; akin to G. ammer a yellowhammer, OHG. amero.] 1. a A common European finch (Emberiza citrinella). The male is bright yellow on the breast, neck, and sides of the head, with the back yellow and brown, and the top of the head and the tail quills blackish. Called also yellow bunting. b Local, U. S. The flicker. 2. Old Slang. a A contemptible fellow. b A gold coin.

Yellowhammer (Emberiza citrinella). Male.

yel'low·head' (yĕl'ō·hĕd'), n. a The bush canary. b The yellow-headed blackbird. yel'low-head'ed black'bird'. A large blackbird (Xanthocephalus xanthocephalus) of central western North America. The male is black with the head and neck yellow. yellow-headed tit. The verdin.
yellow henbane. A ground cherry (Physalis viscosa) found on seabeaches from Virginia to South America, with greenish-yellow, dark-eyed flowers and orange or yellow fruit.
yellow Hercules. = HERCULES'-CLUB a (1). yellow hog plum. The hog plum Spondias mombin.

Yellow-headed Blackbird.

yellow honeysuckle. a A woody vine (Lonicera dioica) of eastern North America, with yellowish-green flowers; also, the related L. flava of the southern United States, with orange-yellow flowers. b The flame azalea. yel'low-horned' pop'py. The horn poppy.
yellow hornet. = YELLOW JACKET, 1. yellow horse gentian. A perennial herb (Triosteum angustifolium) of the eastern United States, with broad leaves narrowed toward the base, and axillary, solitary, yellowish flowers.
yellow Indian paint. The goldenseal (Hydrastis canadensis). yellow Indian shoe. The yellow lady's-slipper Cypripedium parviflorum.
yellow indigo. The wild indigo Baptisia tinctoria.
yel'low·ing (yĕl'ō·ĭng), n. The process or result of becoming yellow; specif., Plant Pathol., a symptom of disease caused by a lack of or a reduced amount of chlorophyll in the foliage, etc.
yellow iris. A common yellow-flowered iris (Iris pseudacorus) of Europe and North Africa, naturalized in the United States, and often cultivated. yellow ironweed. The golden ironweed.
yel'low·ish (yĕl'ō·ĭsh), adj. Somewhat yellow; having a tinge of yellow; as, a yellowish green; a yellowish-red hue. — n. A yellowish color or tinge. — yel'low·ish·ness, n.
☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

yellowish-amber	yellowish-green	yellowish-red-yellow yellowish-brown	yellowish-green-yellow	yellowish-rose yellowish-colored	yellowish-haired	yellowish-skinned yellowish-gold	yellowish-pink	yellowish-tan yellowish-gray	yellowish-red	yellowish-white yellow jack. a The yellow fever. b The quarantine flag. See YELLOW FLAG, QUARANTINE FLAG. c A silvery and golden food fish (Caranx, or Elaphotoxon, bartholomaei) of Florida and the West Indies. d = JONQUIL, 1. yellow jacket. 1. Any of several American social wasps of the genus Vespa, in which the color of the body is partly bright yellow. The wasps are noted for their irritability and painful stings. 2. A riding jacket of golden-yellow silk, formerly worn as imperial insignia when in attendance upon the Chinese sovereign, in the field, or upon journeys, and conferred as the highest imperial decoration. 3. Any of several Australian eucalypts with yellowish bark, esp. the yellow box (Eucalyptus melliodora), and the red gum E. rostrata.

yellow jasmine or jessamine. a The common jasmine (Jasmium officinale). See JASMINE, Illust. b A twining shrub (Gelsemium sempervirens) having evergreen leaves and fragrant yellow flowers with a funneliform corolla; — called also false jasmine and Carolina jessamine (see STATE FLOWER, Plate). yellow jewelweed. The jewelweed Impatiens pallida. yellow journal, yellow journalism, yellow journalist. See YELLOW, adj., 3 c.
Yel'low·knife' (yĕl'ō·nīf'), n. sing. & pl.; also pl. -KNIVES (-nīvz'). [So named from their use of copper. Called also Copper Indians.] An Indian of a Tinne tribe, living north and east of the Great Slave Lake, Canada. See CHIPEWYAN. yellow lady's-slipper. Any yellow-flowered orchid of the genus Cypripedium; specif., in Great Britain, C. calceolus, and in the United States, C. parviflorum.
yellow lantern. The yellow water lily Nuphar advenum. Local, U. S. yellow late rust. Plant Pathol. A rust of the blackberry caused by Kuehneola albida.
yellow lead ore (lĕd). Wulfenite.
yellow leaf. Plant Pathol. a A fungus disease of the cherry caused by Coccomyces hiemalis; — more often called cherry leaf spot. b Any one of several diseases of obscure etiology characterized by chlorosis of the foliage.
yellow leaf blight. Plant Pathol. A mosaic disease of cotton yellow leaf blotch. See PYRENOPEZIZA. yellow leafcup. The leafcup Polymnia uvedalia. yel'low-leg'ged goose (yĕl'ō·lĕg'ĕd; -ĭd; -lĕgd'). The American white-fronted goose. Local, U. S. yellow-legged plover. A yellowlegs. Local, U. S. yel'low-leg'ger (-lĕg'ẽr), n. A yellowlegs. Local, U. S. yel'low·legs' (yĕl'ō·lĕgz'), n. sing. & pl. Either of two American shore birds allied to the greenshank but having long yellow legs. The lesser yellowlegs (Totanus flavipes) is about eleven inches long (including the bill), streaked brownish gray on the head, neck, breast, and upper parts, with white on the belly, and barred on the sides and tail. The greater, or winter, yellowlegs (T. melanoleucus) is similar in color, but is about fourteen inches long.

Lesser Yellowlegs (Totanus flavipes). (⅓) yellow lemur. The kinkajou; — a misnomer. yellow lily. a The meadow lily (Lilium canadense). b Tasmania. The native leek. yellow linn. The cucumber tree Magnolia acuminata.

yellow locust. a The common locust (Robinia pseudoacacia). b = YELLOWWOOD a (1). yellow lotus. The American lotus. yellow lousewort. Any yellow-flowered species of Rhinanthus.
yellow lupine. a A European yellow-flowered lupine (Lupinus luteus) cultivated as a forage plant. b An annual herb (Crotalaria retusa) of tropical Asia, with yellow flowers. It is cultivated as a forage crop in the tropics. yel'low·ly (yĕl'ō·lĭ), adv. of YELLOW. yellow mackerel. a A jurel (Paratractus crysos). b A cavalla (Caranx hippos). yellow madder. = DUTCH PINK c. yellow mahogany. Brazilian mahogany. yel'low·man (yĕl'ō·măn), n. A man dressed in yellow, as a bumbailiff. Obs.
yellow man. a Southern U. S. & West Indies. A mulatto. b Colloq. A person, as a Chinese, of a yellow-skinned race. yellow marrow. See MARROW, 1.
yellow marsh saxifrage. A slender, perennial, bog herb (Leptasea hirculus), family Saxifragaceae, of alpine regions of the Northern Hemisphere, with a terminal, solitary, bright-yellow, red-spotted flower. yellow mastwood. A West Indian Hercules'-club (Zanthoxylum coriaceum) common also in Florida. Jamaica.
yellow May. Angling. An artificial fly with yellow-speckled wings, yellow body and hackle, gold ribbing and tag, and yellow-speckled tail. yellow meal worm. The meal worm Tenebrio molitor. See MEAL WORM. yellow melilot. The sweet clover Melilotus officinalis. yellow metal. Specif.: a Muntz metal. b Gold. yellow mignonette. The crambling rocket.
yellow milkweed. = BUTTERFLY WEED a. yellow milkwort. The orange milkwort. yellow moccasin flower. The yellow lady's-slipper Cypripedium parviflorum.
yellow mombin. The hog plum Spondias mombin.
yellow mountain saxifrage. A tufted perennial herb (Leptasea aizoides), family Saxifragaceae, of alpine regions of the Northern Hemisphere, with ciliate leaves, and yellow, sometimes orange-spotted, corymbose flowers.
yellow mustard. The charlock. yellow myrtle. The California laurel. Ore.
yel'low-necked' cat'er·pil'lar. See HANDMAID MOTH. yellow Ned. The yellow perch. See PERCH, 1.
yellow nelumbo. The American lotus. yel'low·ness, n. See -NESS.
Yel'low New'town (nū'toun). [From Newtown, Long Island, N. Y.] A yellow winter apple of great importance in foreign and domestic trade.
yellow nightshade. = SANDBUR a. yellow Noah's-ark. The yellow lady's-slipper Cypripedium parviflorum. yel'low-nosed' al'ba·tross. See ALBATROSS. yellow nut grass. The chufa. yellow oak. a The black oak Quercus velutina. b A chinquapin oak (Quercus muehlenbergii), the young twigs of which are yellowish. Its hard wood is used in cooperage. c The yellow chestnut oak.
yellow oat grass. A Eurasian grass (Trisetum flavescens) with yellow panicles, sometimes cultivated. yellow OB. See DYE, Table.
yellow ocher. a Mineral. See OCHER, 1 a. b A color, yellowish red-yellow in hue, of medium saturation and high brilliance. It is yellower and of higher saturation and lower brilliance than buff. Called also Chinese yellow, English ocher, French ocher, imperial yellow, Oxford chrome, Oxford ocher, oxide yellow, yellow sienna, etc. Cf. COLOR.
yellow oleander. A West Indian shrub or small tree (Thevetia nereifolia), with leaves resembling those of the oleander, and showy clusters of yellow flowers.
yellow orpiment. = KING'S YELLOW, 1.
yellow osier. A variety (Salix alba vitellina) of the white willow, with yellowish twigs. yellow owl. The barn owl.
yellow oxeye. a The corn marigold. b The black-eyed Susan Rudbeckia hirta.
yellow palm warbler. Also yellow palm. See PALM WARBLER. yel'low pa·ril'la (pȧ·rĭl'ȧ). [Cf. SARSAPARILLA, PARILLIN.] 1. The Canada moonseed (Menispermum canadense). U. S. 2. Pharm. The rhizome and roots of the Canada moonseed, containing the alkaloids menispermine and berberine and used as a bitter tonic. yellow pea. A false lupine (Thermopsis rhombifolia) of the prairies of North America, with dense racemes of yellow flowers.
yellow perch. a The common American perch, see PERCH. b The smallmouthed black bass (see BLACK BASS). c The red-breasted bream.

yellow peril. The danger to people of a white race imminent in the dominance of races, like the Chinese and Japanese, having a yellow or yellowish-brown skin; also, by extension, the danger to the standards of living among people of a white race which is brought about by an incursion of people of a yellow race willing to work at lower wages and to live on a low level.
yellow phlox. = WESTERN WALLFLOWER a. yellow phosphorus. See PHOSPHORUS, 3. yellow pickle. Plant Pathol. A nutritional disturbance of cucumbers, causing premature ripening. yellow pike. The walleyed pike.
yellow pimpernel. a A perennial herb (Taenidia integerrima) of eastern North America, with ternate leaves and compound umbels of yellow flowers. b The wood pimpernel.
yellow pine. Any of various American pines or their timber; specif.: a In the eastern United States, the shortleaf pine Pinus echinata; also, the Georgia pine, the tablemountain pine, the pitch pine P. rigida, or the loblolly. b In the western United States, the bull pine; also, the Arizona pine.
yellow pitch. a = BURGUNDY PITCH. b = WHITE PITCH. yellow pitcher plant. The huntsman's-horn. yellow plover. Golden plover. yellow plum. The common wild plum (Prunus americana). U.S.
Yel'low-plush' (yĕl'ō-plŭsh'), Charles, Esq. The pen name of Thackeray in his Yellowplush Papers, published in Fraser's Magazine in 1837–38.
yellow poinciana. = BARBADOS PRIDE a. yellow poll (pōl). a Local, Eng. The widgeon. b Local, U.S. The yellow warbler. yellow pond lily. The yellow water lily.
yellow poplar. a The tulip tree Liriodendron tulipifera; also, its wood. b The cucumber tree Magnolia acuminata.
yellow poppy. Mexican poppy.
yellow precipitate. Med. Chem. See MERCURY OXIDE. yellow press. See YELLOW, adj., 3 c. yellow prickle. A tropical American prickly tree (Zanthoxylum monophyllum) with unifoliolate leaves; — called rubia in Puerto Rico. yellow prickly ash. = HERCULES'-CLUB a (1). yellow prussiate of potash. = POTASSIUM FERROCYANIDE. yellow puccoon. The goldenseal (Hydrastis canadensis).
yellow pyoctanin. See PYOCTANIN. yellow pyrites. Chalcopyrite.
yellow race. The Mongolian race; — so called because of its typically yellow or light-brown complexion. See MONGOLIAN, adj., 2. yellow rail. A very small American rail (Coturnicops noveboracensis) in which the lower parts are dull yellow, darkest on the breast. The back is streaked with brownish, yellow, and black, and spotted with white. yellow rain lily. A bulbous herb (Zephyranthes texana) of the prairies of Texas, with basal, linear leaves, and showy yellow, or copper-colored, purple-striped flowers; also, the closely related Z. longifolia with clear-yellow flowers.
yellow ratsbane. Orpiment. yellow rattle. See RATTLE, n., 3 a. yellow redpoll. The yellow palm warbler. See PALM WARBLER. yellow rocket. Any of several herbs of the genus Barbarea, esp. B. vulgaris.
yellow rockrose. The shrubby cinquefoil. yel'low-root' (yĕl'ō-rōōt'), n. Any of several plants with yellow roots; specif.: a The shrub yellowroot. b The goldenseal (Hydrastis canadensis). c The goldthread Coptis trifolia. d The twinleaf.
yellow root rot. A root rot of fir, spruce, pine, and larch, caused by the club fungus Sparassis radicata.
yel'low-rump (yĕl'ō-rŭmp'), n. The myrtle warbler. Local, U.S. yel'low-rumped' war'bler. The myrtle warbler.

Yellow-rumped Warbler (Dendroica coronata). (¼) yellow rust. = STRIPE RUST.

yel'lows (yĕl'ōz), n. pl. Usually construed as sing. 1. pl. A name of a disease; specif.: a = YELLOW, n., 5 a. b Plant Pathol. = YELLOW, n., 6.
2. Jealousy. Cf. YELLOW, n., 5 b. Obs.
3. One of several plants; specif.: a Dial. Eng. (1) The woodwaxen. (2) Obs. = WILD CABBAGE a. (3) The charlock Brassica arvensis. b The yellow lady's-slipper Cypripedium parviflorum. c The crambling rocket. yellow sage. The red sage (Lantana camara). yellow Sally. 1. A greenish or yellowish European stone fly of the genus Chloroperla; — so called by anglers.
2. Angling. An artificial fly with yellow wings, body, hackle, and tail, and gold ribbing and tag.
yellow sandalwood. See SANDALWOOD, 1 b. yellow sandbox. A mature sandbox tree with yellowish wood. The young or second-growth trees have whitish wood and are often distinguished as white sandbox.
yellow sanders. Any of several tropical American trees or shrubs; also, their yellowish wood; specif.: a The mountain plum. b A West Indian tree (Zanthoxylum elephantiasis). c = GRANADILLA WOOD c.
yellow sapote. The slender, orange-yellow fruit, resembling the canistel, of Lucuma salicifolia, a tree of Mexico and Central America; also, the tree itself.
yellow sarsaparilla. The Canada moonseed. yellow scale. A yellow variety (Chrysomphalus aurantii citrinus) of the California red scale. See RED SCALE. yellow sculpin. Any of various sculpins or sculpinlike fishes of a yellow color; as: a The dragonet (Callionymus draco). b Hemilepidotus jordani of the Bering Sea, used as food by the natives. c The sea raven.
yel'low-seal' (yĕl'ō-sēl'), n. The goldenseal (Hydrastis canadensis).
yellow sedge. a A common sedge (Carex flava) with yellowish-green culms, found in North America and Europe. b The yellow iris.
yel'low-seed' (yĕl'ō-sēd'), n. The field cress. yel'low-shaft'ed (66), adj. Having certain feathers with yellow shafts, as the yellow-shafted flicker (Colaptes auratus). See 4th FLICKER.
yel'low-shank' (yĕl'ō-shăngk'), yel'low-shanks' (-shăngks'), yel'low-shins' (-shĭnz'), n. A yellowlegs.
yellow sienna. = YELLOW OCHER b. yellow skegs. The yellow iris.
yellow snake. A West Indian boa (Epicrates inornatus) common in Jamaica. It becomes from eight to ten feet long. The body is yellowish or yellowish green, mixed with black, and anteriorly with black lines.
yellow snakeleaf or snowdrop. The dogtooth violet Erythronium americanum.
yellow soap. Rosin soap. See SOAP, n., 1. yellow spirit. Dyeing. A tin spirit used with yellow dyes. yellow sponge. A yellow or brownish, short-fibered, commercial sponge (Euspongia agaricina, var., corlosia) occurring in the Gulf of Mexico and in the Atlantic ocean off the West Indies.
yellow spot. a Anat. A small spot on the retina; the macula lutea. See RETINA; EYE, 1, 2d Illust. b A small American skipper (Polites peckius) of the family Hesperiidae. Its wings are brownish, with a large, irregular, bright-yellow spot on each of the hind wings, most conspicuous beneath. See SKIPPER, n., 5, Illust. c The tomato worm Phlegethontius quinquemaculatus.
yellow spruce. a The red spruce. b The Sitka spruce; also, its wood. yellow star. The sneezeweed Helenium autumnale.
yellow star grass. A perennial, grasslike herb (Hypoxis hirsuta) of eastern North America, with loose umbels of yellow star-shaped flowers.
yellow star-of-Bethlehem. A European bulbous herb (Gagea lutea), family Liliaceae, resembling the yellow star grass. yellow star thistle. The Barnaby's thistle Centaurea solstitialis.
yellow starwort. Elecampane. yellow stone. A color, yellow in hue, of low saturation and high brilliance. Cf. COLOR.
yellow stonecrop. a The dwarf houseleek. b The stonecrop Sedum acre.
yellow strawberry. = INDIAN STRAWBERRY a. yellow streak. A streak of cowardice or timidity. Cf. YELLOW, adj., 3 b; WHITE FEATHER. yellow stripe. Plant Pathol. A mosaic disease of sugar cane characterized by a mottling and striping of the foliage.
yellow stripe rust. = STRIPE RUST. yellow suckling. The lesser hop clover.
yellow swallowtail. The tiger swallowtail. yellow sweet clover. Either of two sweet clovers (Melilotus officinalis and M. indica) with yellow flowers. See BITTER CLOVER. yellow tacamahac. See TACAMAHAC, 1 b. yel'low-tail' (yĕl'ō-tāl'), n.; pl. -TAILS (-tālz'), sometimes -TAIL. See PLURAL, Note. Any of various fishes having a yellow or yellowish tail; as: a An amberfish of the genus Seriola; esp., S. dorsalis, of the coast of California and southward, which becomes about three feet long and is highly esteemed by anglers, or S. grandis, a similar fish of Australia and New Zealand, or S. capensis of South Africa. b The mademoiselle (Bairdiella chrysura). c The menhaden. d The runner (Elagatis bipinnulatus). e A California rockfish (Sebastodes flavidus). f = SAILOR'S-CHOICE a. g New Zealand. A codlike fish (Lotella baccus). h The yellow-tailed snapper (Ocyurus chrysurus). i The sand dab (Limanda ferruginea). j The bumper (Chloroscombrus chrysurus).
Yel'low-tailed' shad. The menhaden. yellow-tailed snapper. A common snapper (Ocyurus

Yellow-tailed Snapper. (1/12) chrysurus) of Florida, the West Indies, and northern South America. yellow tamarind. A tropical American shrub (Acacia villosa) with white flowers and flat, thin pods. Jamaica.

yellow tang. See 5th TANG. yellow tarweed. A sticky annual Californian herb (Hemizonia virgata), family Carduaceae, with crowded, small leaves, and axillary yellow flower heads. They are much visited by bees.
yellow thistle. a A thistle (Cirsium horridulum) of eastern North America, having yellow heads. b The Mexican poppy Argemone mexicana.
yel'low-throat' (yĕl'ō-thrōt'), n. Any of several American ground warblers of the genus Geothlypis; esp., the Maryland yellowthroat (which see). yel'low-throat'ed vir'e-o. A vireo (Vireo flavifrons) of eastern North America with bright-yellow throat and head. yellow-throated warbler. A wood warbler (Dendroica dominica) of the southern United States.
yellow tissue. = ELASTIC TISSUE. yellow tit. Any of several crested titmice of the genus Machlolophus, natives of India. The predominating colors of the plumage are yellow and green. yellow toadflax. The common toadflax (Linaria vulgaris). yel'low-top' (yĕl'ō-tŏp'), n. 1. a U.S. = EARLY GOLDENROD. b Bitter clover. c Golden crownbeard.
2. Plant Pathol. a A disease of alfalfa, of undetermined cause, characterized by a pronounced yellowing of the upper portions of affected plants. b A similar yellowing of the tops of alfalfa caused by the punctures of the leaf hopper Empoasca fabae.
yellow torch. The princewood Exostema caribaeum. W. Ind.
Yellow Transparent. Hort. An early variety of yellow apple with rather acid flavor. yellow trefoil. The black medic.
yellow trumpet. The huntsman's-horn. yellow ultramarine. a See BARIUM CHROMATE. b See ULTRAMARINE c. yellow umbil. The yellow lady's-slipper Cypripedium parviflorum. yel'low-vent'ed (66), adj. Having the crissum yellowish.
yellow-vented bulbul. A Javan bulbul (Pycnonotus aurigaster). yellow vetchling. The meadow pea. yellow viper. The fer-de-lance. yellow wagtail. A wagtail of the genus Budytes. The common European species is B. flavus rayi. An allied form (B. flavus alascensis) inhabits the coast of northern Alaska. yellow warbler. a A small North American warbler (Dendroica aestiva), very common throughout the United States and frequently breeding in shade trees in cities and villages. It is bright yellow with brown streaks on the under parts in the male. The name is extended to some allied species of Central America and the West Indies. See BIRD, Plate. b Local, Eng. Willow warbler.

Yellow Warbler (Dendroica aestiva). Male.

yel'low-ware' (yĕl'ō-wâr'), n. Ceramics. Pottery made from clay which fires to a clear yellow color, used mostly for household utensils, bowls, etc.
yellow wart. = POTATO WART.
yellow wash. Pharm. A suspension of yellow mercuric oxide in water prepared by adding a solution of mercuric chloride to limewater, used as an antiseptic application to syphilitic sores and in eczema.
yellow water cress. A Eurasian weedy herb (Rorippa sylvestris), naturalized in North America in wet places, with divided leaves and yellow flowers in loose racemes. yellow water crowfoot. An aquatic buttercup (Ranunculus delphinifolius) of northern North America, with finely divided leaves and rather showy yellow flowers.
yellow water flag. The yellow iris.
yellow water lily. Any plant of the genus Nuphar, usually having yellow flowers, esp. the common spatterdock (N. advenum).
yellow wax. a Petroleum Refining. A yellow semisolid portion of wax tailings. b Pharm. Unbleached beeswax. yel'low-weed' (yĕl'ō-wēd'), n. a = SNEEZEWEED a. b Local, U.S. Any of several species of goldenrod. c Dial. Eng. = 1st WELD, 1. d Dial. Eng. Rape. e The European ragwort Senecio jacobaea. yellow willow. The golden willow. yellow willow herb. The common loosestrife (Lysimachia vulgaris). yel'low-winged' spar'row. See GRASSHOPPER SPARROW. yel'low-wood' (yĕl'ō-wŏŏd'), n. The wood of any of several different kinds of trees; also, any of the trees themselves; specif.: a In the United States: (1) A southern tree (Cladrastis lutea) having odd-pinnate leaves and showy white fragrant flowers in terminal panicles. The heavy hard wood yields a yellow dye. Called also gopherwood. (2) Locally, any of numerous other trees having light-colored or yellowish wood, as the Osage orange, the sweetleaf, the buckthorn, the smoke tree, and the Florida boxwood (Schaefferia frutescens). (3) The shrub yellowroot. b In the West Indies, any of various species of Zanthoxylum, esp. the satinwood Z. flavum. c In Australia: (1) The tree Acronychia laevis (family Rutaceae). (2) The satinwood Daphnandra micrantha (family Monimiaceae). (3) A sumac (Rhus rhodanthema) yielding a handsome dark-yellow wood. d In Africa, the South African yellowwood (which see).

Yellowwood (Cladrastis lutea). Leaf, pod, and flowers.

yellow wood sorrel. Any plant of the genus Xanthoxalis.
yellow wood vine. A Javanese woody vine (Cudrania javanensis), family Moraceae, with prickly stems, alternate leaves, and dioecious flowers in globose heads. yellow woolly bear. See WOOLLY BEAR. yel'low-wort' (yĕl'ō-wûrt'), n. A European yellow-flowered bitter herb (Chlora perfoliata), family Gentianaceae, sometimes used as a tonic.
yellow wove. A cheap blue wove paper; — a misnomer. Eng.
yellow wrack. = YELLOW TANG (see 5th TANG). yellow wren. a The willow warbler Phylloscopus trochilus. b Local, Eng. = WOOD WARBLER b. yel'low-y (yĕl'ō-ĭ), adj. Yellowish; yellowed. yellow yam. The sweet potato. Dial., U.S. yellow yeldrock. A yellowhammer. Local, Eng. & Scot. yellow zedoary. The cassumunar. yell'y-hoo' (yĕl'ĭ-hōō'), v. i. To yell; scream; — usually as verbal n. — yell'y-hoo'ing, n. Scot.
yelm (yĕlm), n. [AS. gelm.] A handful; specif., a sheet of straw laid ready for thatching. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.
yelm, v. t. & i. Dial. To prepare (yelms). — yelm'er (yĕl'mĕr), n.
yelp (yĕlp), v.; YELPED (yĕlpt); YELP'ING. [ME. yelpen, ȝelpen, to boast, boast noisily, fr. AS. gielpan, gilpan, gylpan; akin to OHG. gelph arrogant, ON. gjálpa to yelp; Cf. YAWP.] Intransitive: 1. Obs. a To boast; brag. b To shout or cry out loud.
2. To utter a sharp, quick cry, as a hound or a wild turkey hen; to bark or cry shrilly and, often, continuously, as with eagerness, pain, or fear.
3. To complain, criticize, make demands, etc., as if yelping. —, Transitive: 1. To utter or express by or as by yelps; as, he yelped out his demands before the convention.
2. To spend, wear, drive, effect, etc., by yelping; — with away, into, out, etc.
yelp, n. 1. A boast or boasting. Obs.
2. A sharp quick cry; a yelping; esp., a loud shrill bark. yelp, adj. Greedy. Obs. yelp'er (yĕl'pĕr), n. 1. One who or that which yelps. Specif.: a A yelping dog; a whelp. b Local, Eng. The avocet. c Local, U.S. The greater yellowlegs. See YELLOWLEGS. d Dial. Eng. The redshank (Totanus totanus).
2. Hunting. A call or whistle used to imitate the yelp of the wild turkey hen. Cf. CALL, n., 5 b. ye'-ma'ki-mo'no (yā'mä'kĭ-mō'nō), n. [Jap., fr. ye pictures + makimono.] A makimono containing continuous pictorial representations of a theme. See MAKIMONO.
yeme (yēm), v. t. & i. [AS. gȳman, gīeman.] To take care (of); to guard; to govern; heed; regard; observe. Obs. yeme, n. [AS. gȳme, gīeme.] Heed; care; solicitude. Obs. yeme'less, adj. [AS. gȳmelēas, gīemelēas.] Negligent; careless. Obs.
Yem'en (yĕm'ĕn), Yem'e-ni (-ē-nē), adj. Yemenite.
Yem'e-ni (-ē-nē), n. A Yemenite.
Ye-men'ic (yē-mĕn'ĭk), adj. Yemenite.
Yem'en-ite (yĕm'ĕn-īt), adj. Of or pertaining to Yemen or its inhabitants. — n. A native or inhabitant of Yemen.

yel'low-thorn', n. = HERCULES'-CLUB a (1). yelpt. Yelped. Ref. Sp.
yelt (yĕlt). Var. of GILT, a sow. yelver. † ELVER.
yelwe. † YELLOW.
yeman. † YEOMAN.
yeme. † EME, uncle.
yeme'les-ship, n. Also yeme'less-ty. Negligence. Obs. yeme'less-ly, adv. of YEMELESS. Obs.

yen (yĕn), n. sing. & pl. [Jap., fr. Chin. (Pek.) yüan[2] round, a circle, dollar.] The monetary unit of Japan, divided into 100 sen; also, a gold or silver coin of this value. Since 1897 the value of the yen has been fixed at .75 gram of pure gold (equivalent to $0.4985 or about 2s. 0 ¾d.). The old silver yen is now withdrawn, and the old yen of gold is used at double its face value. Symbol, ¥.

yen (yĕn), n. [Chin. (Pek.) yen[1], opium, lit., smoke.] An intense or impelling desire or propensity; a longing; an urge. Slang.

yen, v. i.; YENNED (yĕnd); YEN'NING. To desire intensely; to long; to yearn. Slang, U. S.

y'en (ī'ĕn). Obs. pl. of EYE.

yen (yĕn). Dial. var. of ONE, YON.

y-end' (ī-ĕnd'), v. t. & i. [AS. geendian.] To end. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

Yen'geese (yĕng'gēz), Yen'gees (-gēz), n. pl.; sometimes sing. YENGEE (yĕng'gē). [See YANKEE.] English (settlers); — a corruption by North American Indians.

yen'i (yĕn'ĭ), n. [NL., of Bolivian Ind. origin.] A handsome tanager (Tangara chilensis, syn. yeni) of eastern Ecuador, Bolivia, and Peru.

Ye'ni-se'i (yē'nĕ-sē'ĭ), n. The language of the Yeniseians.

Ye'ni-se'ian (yē'nĕ-sē'yăn; -sā'ăn), n. One of a group of tribes in the Yenisei River country, including the Sagai; — called also Yenisei Ostyak; also, their language. See URAL-ALTAIC LANGUAGES. — Ye'ni-se'ian, adj.

ye'nite (yā'nīt), n. [F. yénite, fr. Jena, Germany.] Mineral. Ilvaite.

yent'nite (yĕnt'nīt), n. [From Yentna River, Alaska.] Petrog. A granitic rock composed of oligoclase, biotite, and a mineral originally thought to be primary scapolite, but later found to be quartz; — a proposed name.

yeo'man (yō'măn), n.; pl. -MEN (-mĕn). [ME. yoman, ȝeman, ȝoman, of uncert. origin; perh. fr. youngman, young man, or perh. akin to OFris. gāman a villager, and so to OFris. gā district, village, G. gau, OHG. gewi, gouwi, Goth. gawi land, region.] 1. An attendant; esp., a gentleman attendant in a royal or noble household, subordinate in rank to an esquire or a sergeant, who performed menial services; a retainer; as, yeoman for the mouth, a butler; yeoman of the chamber or wardrobe. Hist.
2. A subordinate or assistant, esp. to an official, as a sheriff's officer; also, a journeyman of a guild. Obs. exc. Hist.
3. A small proprietor who cultivates his own land, lower in rank than a gentleman, often in service as a foot soldier. Obs. exc. Hist.
4. Hence, a common man, or one of the commonalty of the first or most respectable class; a freeholder; a man free born. The word has long been used as an addition in legal documents in England, and this use has survived in some States of the United States.
5. Eng. a A yeoman of the guard. b Mil. A member of the yeomanry (sense 4).
6. Nav. A petty officer rated or enlisted to perform clerical duties in a department of a war vessel. There are chief yeomen and yeomen of the 1st, 2d and 3d classes.

yeoman (F), n.; pl. YEOMEN (F). A female employee in the United States naval reserve force during and immediately after the World War; — the official title.

yeo'man-ly, adj. Pertaining to a yeoman; of yeoman's rank; becoming, or suitable to, a yeoman; sturdy; loyal.

yeo'man-ly, adv. As a yeoman or yeomen; bravely.

yeoman of the guard. Also, yeoman of the royal guard. One of the bodyguard of the English sovereign, consisting of one hundred yeomen under several officers, armed with partisans, and habited in a uniform dating from the 15th century. They are members of the royal household. Cf. BEEFEATER, 2.

yeo'man-ry (yō'măn-rĭ), n. 1. The position or rank of a yeoman; yeomanhood. Obs. Chaucer.
2. The collective body of yeomen; yeomen collectively; specif.: a The body of small landed proprietors of the middle class. b Obs. exc. Hist. The body of freemen of a guild.
3. That which befits, or is characteristic of, a yeoman, as in speech or dress; homeliness; honesty. Obs.
4. [cap.] A British volunteer cavalry force, created in 1761, recruited originally as a home defense force from yeomen and officered by country gentlemen, all of whom furnish their own horses. Following the Boer War the title of an allied corps, the Imperial Yeomanry, was extended to include the Yeomanry until in 1907 it became part of the territorial force. See ARMY ORGANIZATION.

yeo'man's serv'ice (yō'mănz) or yeoman service. Great and loyal service, assistance, or support; — alluding to the historic sturdy bravery and service of the yeomen in English armies.

yeor'ling (yôr'lĭng), n. [See YELDRIN.] A yellow hammer. Local, Eng.

yeo'wom'an (yō'wŏŏm'ăn), n.; pl. YEOWOMEN (-wĭm'ĕn; -ĭn; 119). A woman belonging to the family of a yeoman, esp. a middle-class proprietor of a small estate.

yeo'wom'an, n. = YEOMAN (F).

yep (yĕp). Dial. & colloq. var. of YES.

yep (yĕp), yepe (yēp), adj. [See YEPE a shrewd person.] Active; alert; bold; vigorous; smart. Obs.

yepe, n. [AS. gēap crafty, shrewd, crooked.] A shrewd person. Obs.

yep'ly, yepe'ly, adv. [AS. gēaplīce deceitfully.] Smartly; cunningly; eagerly; quickly. Obs.

yer (yĕr). Dial. var. of YOUR.

-yer (-yĕr). [Var. of -IER.] = -IER; — used after w or a vowel, as in bowyer, lawyer, sawyer. This suffix should not be confused with -y + er, as in player, layer.

Yer-a'va (yĕr-ä'vä), n. sing. & pl. Also Yer-a'ver (-vĕr). One of a very dark-skinned people in Coorg, probably of Dravidian origin. They were formerly subjects of the Kodagu.

yer'ba (yĕr'bä; E. yûr'bȧ), n. [Sp., fr. L. herba. See HERB.] An herb; a plant; specif., maté, or Paraguay tea; — short for yerba maté or yerba de maté.

yer'ba bue'na (bwā'nä). [Sp., good herb.] A trailing perennial, evergreen herb (Micromeria chamissonis), family Lamiaceae, of California, having small white flowers. It has been used as an anthelmintic and emmenagogue.

yer'ba del o'so (dĕl ō'sō). [Sp., herb of the bear.] In California, one of the coffeeberries (Rhamnus californica). yer'ba de ma'té (dā mä'tā; mät'ā). See YERBA.

yer'ba de Pa-rá' (pä-rä'). [Sp.] = PARÁ GRASS.

‖yer-bal' (yĕr-bäl'), n.; pl. -BALES (-bä'lāz). [Am. Sp.] A plantation of yerba maté or a district in which it abounds; — usually pl.

yer'ba man'sa (yĕr'bä măn'sä; yûr'bȧ măn'sȧ). [Sp., mild herb, soft herb.] A stoloniferous herb (Anemopsis californica), family Saururaceae, of the western United States and Mexico, with a pungent rootstock and small spicate flowers subtended by a white involucre, the whole inflorescence suggesting an anemone.

yer'ba ma'té (mä'tā; mät'ā). See YERBA.

yer'ba re'u-ma (rĕ'ōō-mä; rōō'mȧ). [Cf. Sp. reuma rheum, rheumatism.] A low Californian undershrub (Frankenia palmeri) densely beset with small leaves and tiny white flowers; also, the alkali heath (F. grandifolia).

yer'ba sa-gra'da (sä-grä'thä). [Sp., sacred herb.] A Brazilian shrub (Lantana brasiliensis) said to have the general properties of cinchona.

yer'ba san'ta (sän'tä; sän'tȧ). [Sp., holy herb.] Any of several shrubs of the genus Eriodictyon, esp. E. californicum of California, whose aromatic leaves are used as an expectorant in bronchial affections.

yer'ga (yûr'gȧ), n. [Origin obscure.] A coarse woolen material, used esp. for horse blankets.

yerk (yûrk), v. [Origin uncert. Cf. JERK.] Obs. exc. Dial. Transitive: 1. To lash; to thrash; also, to goad.
2. To jerk; wrench; snatch.
3. To cast or throw as with a jerk.
4. To kick; — with out; figuratively, to begin (something sung or played); to strike up.
5. To bind tightly as with a jerk.
—, Intransitive: 1. To move hastily or suddenly; press; push on.
2. To work or think hard; to be busy.
3. To move as by being jerked; of a whip, to crack.
4. To kick, as a horse; also, to skylark.
5. To draw stitches tight.
6. To gird; carp.
7. To begin with zest.

yerk, n. [From YERK, v.] Obs. exc. Dial. 1. A thump; lashing; kick; also, a stab.
2. A jerk; a pull; any quick movement.

Yer'kes tel'e-scope (yûr'kĕz). See TELESCOPE, n., 1.

yern, yerne (yûrn), adj. [AS. georn desirous, eager. See YEARN to long.] Eager; brisk; active. Obs.

yern, yerne, adv. [AS. georne. See YERN, adj.] Eagerly; briskly; vigorously; readily; soon. Obs.

yern (yärn). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of EARN, curdle.

yes (yĕs; dial. or obs. yĭs, as given by Walker (1791)), adv. [ME. yis, ȝis, ȝes, ȝise, fr. AS. gese, gise, prob. fr. gēa, gē, yea + swā so, or perh. fr. gēa sē so be it. See YEA.] 1. Aye; yea; — used in equivalence to a corresponding affirmative sentence in replying to something asked, asserted, proposed, commanded, etc. The opposite of no, nay. Specif.: a Used to express affirmation, assent, or confirmation in answer to a question; — equivalent to it is so, truly so, you are right, that is correct; as, are n't you coming? — Yes, I am coming. Yes is often doubled for emphasis or to express impatience; as, yes, yes, I'm coming.
☞ Until about 1550 A.D. a distinction was made between yes and yea, no and nay. (Cf. NAY, 1.) Yea was the simple affirmative particle and was used to answer simple questions such as, "will he come?", whereas yes was the emphatic form and was used when the question was framed with a negative, as "will he not come?" "he won't come, will he?"
b Used formerly to constitute, now usually to introduce correction or contradiction of a negative assertion, direction, or request; — equivalent to on the contrary, what you deny is a fact, true, etc.; as, you did not know what you were undertaking. — Yes, I knew very well. c Used to express compliance with a request, demand, or proposal, or acknowledgment of a summons. d Used to express assent to anything asseverated or implied; — equivalent to what you have said is true, correct, or valid; as, you must have suffered. — Yes, I did. e Used to express grudging or ironical assent by way of introducing an adverse consideration.
Bass. If it please you to dine with us. — Jew. Yes, to smell pork. Shak.
f Uttered with rising inflection to express suspensive assent pending confirmatory information or polite attentiveness; — equivalent to indeed, it is so, I await your pleasure.
2. More than this; what is more; — used to mark the addition of something more emphatic; as, to bring a possible, yes, a probable, curse.
3. That the answer is or should be an assent; — used after an expression of estimation, opinion, etc.; as, I should certainly guess yes.

yes, n.; pl. YESES (yĕs'ĕz; -ĭz; 119). An affirmative reply; a yea.

yes, v. i. & t. To say or answer yes (to); to give assent (to).

yes. See OYEZ. Obs.

yes. Obs. pl. of EYE.

yes and no. A round game in which something is to be guessed with the help only of questions answerable by yes or no.

ye'se (yĕs). Ye shall. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

Ye-shi'bah (yĕ-shē'bä; -vä), n.; pl. YESHIBOTH (-bōth). Also Ye-shi'va, Ye-shi'vah (-vä). [Heb. yĕshībhāh sitting, seat, session, academy.] Jewish. A Talmudic academy; a school of higher studies; a rabbinic seminary.

ye-shi'va bo'cher (yĕ-shē'vä bō'kĕr). [Yiddish yĕshīvāh-bāhūr, in G. spelling jĕschīwāh-bāchūr, fr. Heb. yĕshībhāh academy + bāhūr young man. See YESHIBAH.] See BAHUR.

yes man. A person who agrees with everything that is said to him; one who endorses or supports, without criticism, every opinion or proposal of an associate or superior. Slang, U. S.

yes'-no' (66), adj. [The sense arose in connection with the submission by referendum of the adoption of the Federal Constitution to a vote to be given by yes or no.] Favoring in some measure both sides of a question when they are generally regarded as diametrically opposed; "carrying water on both shoulders"; trimming. — yes'-no', v. i. — yes'-no'er (-nō'ĕr), n. — yes'-no'ism (-ĭz'ĭm), n. All Political. Slang, Australia.
What points of public policy are touched upon receive a gingerly yes-no treatment. Sydney Bulletin.

yes'ter (yĕs'tĕr), adj. [See YESTERDAY.] Of, pertaining to, or designating, yesterday. Poetic. — yes'ter, adv. Obs.

yes'ter, n. Short for YESTERDAY. Poetic.

yes'ter- (yĕs'tĕr-). The adjective yester in combination, meaning immediately before this, used with nouns denoting periods of time, as in *yester*eve, *yester*morn, *yester*night, *yester*noon.

yes'ter-day (yĕs'tĕr-dĭ; -dā; 89; 277), adv. 1. On the day last past; on the day preceding today; as, the affair took place yesterday.
2. At a time not long past; only a short time ago; as, I was not born yesterday.

yes'ter-day, n. [ME. ȝisterdai, fr. AS. geostran dæg, fr. geostran, geostra, giestran, gystran, gyrstan, yesterday (akin to D. gisteren, G. gestern, OHG. gestaron, ON. ī gær yesterday, tomorrow, Goth. gistradagis tomorrow, L. heri yesterday, Gr. chthes, Skr. hyas) + dæg day. Cf. HESTERNAL. The syllable ter is a comparative suffix.]
1. The day last past; the day next before the present.
All our yesterdays have lighted fools
The way to dusty death. Shak.
2. Figuratively, a recent time; time not long past.
We are but of yesterday, and know nothing. Job viii. 9.

yes'ter-day, adj. Of or belonging to yesterday or to a very recent time or period.

yes'ter-eve' (yĕs'tĕr-ēv'), -e'ven (-ē'vĕn), -eve'ning (-ēv'-nĭng), n. The evening of yesterday; the evening last past. — adv. On the evening of yesterday. Both Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-morn' (-môrn'), -morn'ing (-môr'nĭng), n. The morning of yesterday; the morning of the day last past. — adv. On the morning of yesterday. Both Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-night' (-nīt'), adv. [AS. gystran niht. See YESTERDAY.] On the night last past. Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-night', n. The night last past. Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-noon' (-nōōn'), n. The noon of yesterday; the noon of the day last past. Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-week' (-wēk'), n. The week last past. Archaic & Poetic.

yes'ter-year' (-yēr'; see YEAR), n. The year last past; last year; also, the recent past; a period not long past. — adv. Last year. Both Archaic & Poetic.

yes'treen' (yĕs'trēn'), n. Yestereve; yesternight; last evening or night; yesterday. — adv. On yesterday evening. Both Chiefly Poetic & Scot.

yet (yĕt), adv. [ME. yet, ȝet, ȝit, fr. AS. gīt, gȳt, gīet gīeta; akin to OFris. ieta, eta, ita.] 1. a At any time up to the present, or a specified time; prior to or at this or that time; as soon as now; hitherto; — indicating present time considered as a limit of priority for an event, now chiefly in interrogative and negative expressions; as, Is it time to go yet?
He never yet no villainy ne said. Chaucer.
b At a terminal point of time; — with ere, before.
Ere yet my young heart shared a portion of the burthen. Shelley.
2. Continuously up to or as late as the present, or any specified, time; now, or then, as previously; still; — often with an implication of probable early discontinuance in the future, or in negative expressions of probable initiation in the future; as, patches of yet unreclaimed forest; a yet unanswered question.
Whereof the remembrance is yet. Gower.
Facts they had heard while they were yet heathens. Addison.
3. a Besides what has been considered up to this point in addition; further; — now chiefly with other, another, again, once more, and numerals; as, again and yet again; do try yet one more; in yet a number of other cases. Indicating contrast with the previous statement or consideration and often introducing a clause or sentence which conveys an idea opposite or contrary.
This furnishes us with yet one more reason. Atterbury.
b By an added or increasing degree beyond that preceding; even; — used with comparatives; as, at a yet faster pace; nearer and yet nearer.
4. a At some future time; before all is done; eventually; — indicating a future time prior to the conclusion of the matter in question. "He'll be hanged yet." Shak. b During the continuance of the present into the future; from now on; henceforth; as, tarry yet a day.
5. Although such be the case; notwithstanding that; nevertheless; however; but; — used chiefly as a connective between clauses or sentences conveying facts, ideas, or considerations, which are opposed or contrary to each other, often reinforced by nevertheless or still or reinforcing but; as, if he will stick to business, he may do well yet; one of the most generous, yet whimsical men.
I kill'd a man, whose death I much repent;
But yet I slew him manfully in fight. Shak.
Since you could not be my son-in-law,
Be yet my nephew. Shak.
Yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Matt. vi. 29.
Good, yet remember whom thou hast aboard. Shak.
6. Obs. a Previously. b Again. c Even. d Once more; a second time.
Syn. — See BUT.
— as yet. Hitherto.

yet (yĕt), conj. Though; — sometimes followed by that. Obs.
My soul, yet I know not why, hates nothing more than he. Shak.

yet, adj. That exists or lasts up to the present or that time; still continuing to be, or to act or serve as such.

yet. Var. of GATE, an opening. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

yet (yĕt), yete (yēt), v. t. & i. [AS. gēotan. See FOUND to cast.] To pour; specif., to cast or found (metals). Obs.

yet'a-pa (yĕt'ȧ-pȧ), n. [Prob. of S. Am. Ind. origin.] A fork-tailed flycatcher (genus Gubernetes) of southern Brazil and Argentina.

yet'er (yĕt'ĕr), n. Also yet'ter (yĕt'-). [AS. gēotere. Cf. YET, v.] A founder of metal. Obs.

yeth'hounds' (yĕth'houndz'; dial. yĕth'ĕ(ōō)nz), n. pl. [yeth, dial. form of heath + hounds.] Folklore. A pack of phantom hounds, supposed to be the transmigrated souls of unbaptized children, sometimes pursuing a lady; — called also wishhounds. Eng.

yet'lin, yet'ling (yĕt'lĭn), n. [See YET to pour.] Scot. & N. of Eng. a Cast iron. b A small iron vessel.

yette, v. t. [AS. gēatan.] To give as a concession; to grant; to concede. Obs.

yeuk, yewk (yōōk), n. & v. [Cf. D. jeuken, v., G. jucken. See ITCH.] Itch. Chiefly Scot. & N. of Eng.

yeuk'y (yōōk'ĭ), adj. [See YEUK itch.] Itching. Chiefly Scot. & N. of Eng. — yeuk'ie-ness (-ĭ-nĕs; -nĭs), n. Scot.

---

yem'er (yĕm'ĕr), adj. [AS. gēomor.] Lamentable; sad; miserable; wretched; — also used as an adverb. — yem'er-ly, adj. & adv. — yem'er-ness, n. All Obs.

yem'er, n. [See YEME, v. & n.] Guardian; keeper. Obs.

yem'ing, n. [See YEME to guard.] Guard; watch; care. Obs.

yem'schik. Var. of YAMSTCHIK.

yem'sel, n. [See YEME to guard.] Custody; tutelage; supervision. Obs. Scot.

yen'der (yĕn'dĕr). Var. of YONDER. Obs. exc. Dial.

yeo (yō), n. Short for YEOMAN.

yeo'man-ess, n. = 1st YEOWOMAN.

yeo'man-ette', n. = YEOMAN (F).

yeo'man-hood, n. See -HOOD.

yeo'man-like', adj. See -LIKE.

yeo'man-wise', adv. See -WISE.

yepeleic, n. [From YEPE shrewd; cf. ON. -leikr, -leiki, forming abstract nouns.] Cunning. Obs.

yep'hede, n. [See YEPE shrewd; -HEAD.] Sagacity. Obs.

y-epresse, v. t. To express. Obs.

yerb (yûrb). Var. of HERB. Dial.

yer'cum (yûr'kŭm; yĕr'kŏŏm), n. [Tamil yerkum.] = MUDAR.

yerd (yûrd). Scot. & N. of Eng. var. of EARTH.

yerd. Var. of YARD. Obs. exc. Dial.

yere (yēr). Dial. of HERE.

yere. † EAR, ERE, HEAR, HEIR, YEAR. [& past part. of YERK.]

yerict. Rare & ref. sp. past tense of YERK.

yerl (yĕrl). Scot. var. of EARL.

yern. Yearn. Ref. Sp.

yernd. Yearned. Ref. Sp.

yerne. † EARN, IRON, YARN, YEARN. [EARTH. Obs. exc. Dial.] yerth (yĕrth; yûrth). Var. of YERTH.

Ye-shi'both, n. pl. of YESHIBAH.

ye's'so (yĕs'ō), ye'so (yā'sō), n. [Sp. yeso.] = GESSO, 1.

yest (yĕst; yēst). Archaic exc. Dial. var. of YEAST.

yeste. † GEST, story; YEAST.

yes'ten-e'ven, n. [AS. gyrstan-æfen.] Yesterday evening. Obs.

yes'tern (yĕs'tĕrn), adj. = YESTER. Archaic.

yest'y (yĕs'tĭ). Archaic var. of YEASTY.

ye'ta (yē'tȧ). Var. of 2d ETA.

yeth (yĕth). Dial. Eng. var. of HEATH.

yeth'er (yĕth'ĕr). Var. of YEDDER.

yet'lin. Var. of YETLIN.

yew (yōō; 241), n. [ME. ew, ewe, fr. AS. ēow, īw; akin to OHG. iwa, G. eibe, ON. ȳr, MIr. eo, W. yw(en), OSlav. iva willow. Cf. UVULA.] 1. a Any shrub or tree of the genus Taxus, many of which yield valuable timbers, and some of which are widely cultivated for their rich evergreen foliage. b A large evergreen tree (Taxus baccata) of Eurasia and northern Africa, with dark-green foliage; — often called English yew. As in other coniferous trees, the pollen is often dispersed in smokelike clouds. Also, its heavy, fine-grained, light-brown or red wood, valued for cabinetwork, bows, hoops, etc.

Yew (Taxus baccata). Twig with Ripe Fruit. (¼)

2. A bow for shooting, made of the yew. Archaic.

3. Twigs or branches of the yew tree, emblematic of grief.

☞ COMBINATIONS are:

yew-besprinkled	yew-leaved
yew-crested	yew-rooted yew-hedged	yew-shaded

yew, adj. Of or pertaining to the yew; made of yew wood.

yew (yōō), v. i. = 4th YAW.

yew (yōō). Obs. exc. dial. var. of EWE.

yew berry. The fruit of the yew.

yew'en (yōō'ĕn), adj. Made of yew. Archaic.

yew family. Bot. The Taxaceae.

yew green. A color, yellowish yellow-green in hue, of low saturation and low brilliance. Cf. COLOR.

yew pine. The black spruce Picea mariana. Local, U. S.

yew tree. A yew.

yew'-treed' (yōō'trēd'), adj. Planted with yew trees.

yex (yĕks), yox (yŏks), n. [ME. ȝexen, ȝeoken, v., fr. AS. giscian to sob, geocsa a sobbing, hiccup.] 1. Sob. Obs.

2. Hiccup; cough. Now Dial.

yex, v. i. 1. To sob. Obs.

2. To hiccup; to cough. Now Dial.

yez (yēz; yĭz), pron. You (pl.). Anglo-Irish.

Yez'i·di (yĕz'ĭ·dē), n. Also Yez'di (-dē). A member of a sect comprising several Kurdish-speaking tribes in Armenia and the Caucasus, who worship both a good supreme God, and subordinate gods of whom the chief (Melek Taus, represented as a peacock) is apparently the author of evil, propitiated as a cocreator. The cult is probably a syncretism of ancient Mazdean with (heretical) Christian and Mohammedan elements.

y-f-. For various words beginning y-f-, see F-. See also Y-.

y-feel', y-fele' (ĭ-fēl'), v. t. & i. [AS. gefēlan.] To feel; perceive. Obs.

y-fere' (-fēr'), adv. [For in fere in company; cf. ON. ī in. See FERE company.] Together. Obs.

y-g-. For various words beginning y-g-, see G-. See also Y-.

Ygg'dra·sill (ĭg'drȧ·sĭl; ĭig'-), n. [ON.] Norse Myth. The great ash tree symbolizing the universe. Yggdrasill means the horse of Yggr, that is, Odin. The ash extends over all the world; one root is in Nifheim, one in Jotunnheim, and one in Asgard. At the root in Nifheim is the well Hvergelmir; there lie the dragon Nithhogg (or Nithhögr) and other serpents gnawing at the root. At the root in Jotunnheim is the well of Mimir, the source of wisdom. By the third root is the Urtharbrunn from whose waters the Norns sprinkle the tree daily to preserve it from decay. In the branches sit an eagle and a hawk; on its foliage feed four harts; and up and down its trunk runs the squirrel Ratatosk (or Ratatoskr) carrying strife.

Y gun, or Y'-gun', n. A two-barreled antisubmarine gun, the barrels of which form a fork like the letter Y, used to project simultaneously a depth charge on each side of the vessel on which the gun is mounted.

y-h-. For various words beginning y-h-, see H-. See also Y-.

y-he're (ĭ-hā'rĕ), v. t. & i. [AS. gehēran, gehȳran. See Y-; HEAR.] To hear; listen. Obs.

y-hong' (ĭ-hŏng'), v. t. [AS. gehōn (past part. gehongen), v. i. or gehongian, v. i.] To hang. Obs.

yhte (ĭk'tĕ), n. [AS. ēht, fr. āgan to have. See OWN, adj.] Possession. Cf. AUGHT. Obs.

Yid (yĭd), n. [See YIDDISH.] A Jew. Slang.

Yid'dish (yĭd'ĭsh), n. [G. jüdisch, prop., jüdisch-deutsch Jewish-German, fr. jüdisch Jewish, fr. Jude Jew, fr. L. Judaeus. See JEW.] A language spoken by Jews, chiefly in Russia, Poland, Lithuania, Hungary, Rumania, and the United States. It is a High German dialect, carried by Jewish emigrants in the 14th and 15th centuries from the Rhineland to Poland, and infused with Hebrew and Russian or Polish elements. It has a varied modern literature, written in Hebrew characters. Called also Judaeo-German.

Yid'dish, adj. a Of, pertaining to, or characteristic of, Yiddish; consisting of or written in Yiddish. b Slang. Jewish.

Yid'dish·er (-ĕr), n. [See YIDDISH.] A Jew. Slang.

Yid'dish·ism (-ĭz'm), n. 1. Advocacy of the Yiddish language and culture.

2. A usage, word, phrase, or idiom, peculiar to Yiddish.

Yid'dish·ist (-ĭst), n. An adherent of Yiddishism.

yield (yēld), v.; YIELD'ED; YIELD'ING. [ME. yelden, ȝelden, ȝilden, fr. AS. gieldan, gildan, to pay, give, restore, make an offering; akin to OFris. jelda, OS. geldan, D. gelden to cost, to be worth, G. gelten, OHG. geltan to pay, restore, make an offering, be worth, ON. gjalda to pay, to give up, Dan. gielde to be worth, Sw. gälla to be worth, gälda to pay, Goth. gildan in fra*gildan,* us*gildan.* Cf. GELD a payment, GUILD.] Transitive: 1. To pay or repay; specif.: a Obs. Variously, to render in discharge or satisfaction of, as a debt or levy; to pay or perform as compensation for, as a loss; to return without relation to deserts, as evil for good; to execute, as a vow; to restore; to take vengeance on. b Archaic. To give or render as fitting, rightfully owed, or required. c Archaic. To give a reward to; to requite; reward; recompense; — commonly from fifteenth century to Shakespeare in the formula God yield you for it, expressing gratitude; also, to make recompense or requital for, as an action; as, God yield it you.

> Tend me tonight two hours, I ask no more,
> And the gods yield you for 't. Shak.

d To return (an answer or greeting). Obs., except in yield assent.

2. To produce, give, or bring, as fruit, profit, or other return or result; specif.: a To bear or bring or put forth as a natural product, esp. as a result of cultivation; as, a plant yields shoots; the land yields only weeds; to furnish as output or as return or result of expended effort; as, ore yields precious metals; to produce as a result of mathematical solution. "Vines yield nectar." Milton. b To give or deliver; esp., to present or offer as a gift or offering; to bestow or grant as an act of grace or as a concession; to grant or afford; as, to yield passage. "Pray for my soul, and yield me burial." Tennyson. Also, Obs., to deal, execute, or inflict. c To give forth or emit, as an odor or a spark. d To produce or furnish as supplying a need or as serviceable; to occasion; as, mountain streams yield electric power. e To produce as payment or interest on what is expended or invested; to pay; as, he made an investment that now yields five or six per cent. f Rare. To give (one) forth to be. Shak. g Obs. (1) To cause or cause to be or do. (2) To communicate or reveal. (3) To present to view, as a landscape.

3. To give up possession of as claimed or demanded; specif.: a To surrender or relinquish to the physical or moral control of another; as, to yield a military stronghold, a champion's title, one's privilege or precedence; to make over to one who has a claim or right; render; as, to yield an opinion, one's allotted time, the floor, etc.

> And, force perforce, I'll make him yield the crown. Shak.

b To give up or devote (oneself), as to an inclination or habit; to surrender or submit (oneself).

4. To admit or concede; specif.: a To admit to be true; to concede; allow; acknowledge.

> I yield it just, said Adam, and submit. Milton.

b Now Rare. To acknowledge to be fact; to admit the validity or cogency of; as, to yield the argument or the stronger cause.

5. Obs. a To betake (oneself). b To force to surrender; — in past participle.

——, Intransitive: 1. To produce; bear; to make or give a return; to be productive; as, the apple trees did not yield well this year.

2. To give way; specif.: a To give up the contest; to submit; surrender; succumb; to cease opposition. b To submit, as to urging, persuasion, etc.; to comply; to consent.

> And yield to mercy while 't is offered you? Shak.

c To give way under force so as to bend, stretch, or break. d To lose power of resistance, as to pressure or heat, so as to be affected; as, a door yields to the battering. e To suffer oneself to be deflected; to change one's course in deference. f Now Rare. To agree or give one's consent, as to plead for mercy or that something be done.

3. To give place, as to something superior; to give precedence; to be succeeded by something or some one else; as, they will yield to us in nothing.

Syn. — YIELD, SUBMIT. To YIELD is in general to give up or give way; SUBMIT often implies a more definite surrender to another's will or authority; as, "He laughed, and yielded readily" (Tennyson); "Prove it: — if better, I submit and bow" (Cowper); "when evening yields to night" (Shelley); "the Indian Summer of her heart, which was slow to submit to age" (Stevenson). But the two words are often interchangeable. Cf. OBEDIENT.

Ant. — Resist, rebel, revolt, struggle.

yield the breath, the ghost, or the life. To die; to expire; — often followed by up.

yield (yēld), n. [From YIELD, v.; cf. AS. gield a payment.] 1. Payment or a payment made or exacted as a tax, tribute, or compensation for loss or injury, or the like. Obs.

2. That which is yielded; amount or quantity yielded; product; specif.: a The aggregate of products resulting from growth or cultivation or from a chemical reaction. In the latter case the yield is usually expressed as the percentage actually obtained of the amount theoretically possible. "A goodly yield of fruit." Bacon. b The quantity of any product resulting from exploitation of natural resources; as, the yield of a well in barrels of oil. c The revenue obtained from a tax or levy. d Finance. The return upon an investment. e Forestry. The actual or the normal product of a stand of timber.

3. The act or capacity of yielding produce or other product; the action of giving up in submission or of giving way under a mechanical force.

yield (yēld). Variant of YELD, adj.

yield'ance (yēl'dȧns), n. A yielding; production; submission; surrender; concession. Now Rare.

yield'er (yēl'dĕr), n. 1. One who yields; specif.: a Obs. A debtor. b A rewarder.

2. That which yields produce or products.

yield'ing, adj. That yields; that yields or is marked by the yielding of produce; as a yielding year; inclined to yield; esp., inclined to give way, or comply; flexible; compliant; as, a yielding temper.

Syn. — Tractable, submissive, manageable.

Ant. — Unruly, headstrong, obstinate.

— yield'ing·ly, adv. — yield'ing·ness, n.

yielding and paying. Law. The initial words of the rent-reserving clause (the reddendum) in leases.

yield point. Mech. The stress at which a piece under strain yields markedly, becoming permanently distorted, without increase of load. Under continued and increased stress the piece finally breaks asunder.

yield value. Mech. The minimum shearing stress required to produce continuous deformation in a solid.

yield'y (yēl'dĭ), adj. Yielding. Scot.

Yig·dal' (yĭg·dȧl'; yĭg'dȧl), n. [Heb. yigdal becomes great, is magnified.] Jewish Relig. A medieval Hebrew liturgical poem recited at the beginning of the daily morning service.

Yik'ir·ga'u·lit (yĭk'ĭr·gä'ōō·lĭt), n. [Chukchi, lit., large-mouthed; — so named because they wear labrets.] An Eskimo of the Diomede Islands; — a collective name for the Imaklimiut and the Inguklimiut. See ESKIMO.

yill'-caup' (yĭl'kôp'), n. [See ALE; CUP.] Vessel from which ale is drunk. Scot.

Yi'ma (yē'mȧ), n. [Av. Cf. YAMA.] Persian Myth. An Avestan hero or demigod, king of mankind in the golden age, afterwards ruler of the realm of the dead. Yima corresponds to the Vedic Yama.

yin (yĭn), n. [Chin. (Pek.) yin[1].] The female, negative, dark, evil principle, as contrasted to yang. See YANG.

Yin (yĭn), n. [Chin. (Pek.) Yin[1].] The Shang dynasty; — so changed in 1401 B.C. when the capital was moved to Yin, in Honan.

yin (yĭn), n. sing. & pl. [Chin. (Pek.) yin[2].] See WEIGHT, Table; MEASURE, Table.

yin (yĭn). Var. of ONE. Chiefly Scot.

yip (yĭp), v. i. [Imitative.] 1. To cheep, like a young bird. Obs.

2. To yelp; — said esp. of a dog; also, to utter short, sharp shrieks or yelps. Colloq.

3. To complain; to squeal. Underworld Slang.

——, v. t. To utter yelpingly or shrieklingly. Colloq.

yip, n. A short, sharp yelp or shriek; an outcry, as from pain or in complaint. Colloq.

yirm (yûrm), v. i. [AS. gyrman to cry out, roar.] To fret; whine. Scot. & Ir.

yir'mi·lik (yĭr'mĭ·lĭk), n. [Turk. yigirmi twenty + suffix -lik.] a Obs. A silver coin of Turkey worth about 25 cents or 12½d. b A former Turkish coin of copper and nickel, nominally worth $0.022. See METALLIK.

yirn (yûrn), n. [Prob. var. of GIRN.] A whine; also, a grimace. — v. i. To whine; complain; also, to grimace; smirk. Both Scot. & Ir.

yirr (yûr), n. [Prob. imitative; cf. AS. georran, gyrran, to chatter, creak.] Growl; snarl. Scot. & Dial. — v. i. To growl; snarl. Scot. & Dial.

Yi·shub' (yĭ·shōōv'; yĭsh'ōōv), n. [Heb. yishshūbh settlement.] Jewish Hist. The Jewish settlement in Palestine.

yite (yīt), n. European yellowhammer. Local, Eng. & Scot.

yiv'er (yĭv'ĕr), adj. [AS. gīfre.] Eager; greedy. — yiv'er·ly, adv. — yiv'er·ness, n. All Obs.

Y joint. A Y-shaped joint. See SIAMESE CONNECTION.

y-k-. For various words beginning y-k-, see K-. See also Y-.

-yl (-ĭl; -ēl; see note below). Chem. A combining form, French -yle, from Greek hylē, meaning wood, material, used in names of chemical radicals, esp. univalent ones, as in ethy*l,* carbony*l,* hydroxy*l,* etc. The suffix -yl was first used in 1832 by Liebig and Wöhler in naming benzoyl, in the sense of stuff, or fundamental material.

acetyl	capryl	glycyl	phenyl
acryl	carbonyl	hydroxyl	propyl
alkyl	cetyl	isopropyl	salicyl
allyl	diphenyl	methyl	tetryl arsenyl	ethyl	naphthyl	tolityl
benzyl	furfuryl	nonyl	xanthyl butyl

☞ Chemists generally prefer the pron. -ĭl to -ēl.

yl-. For words formerly spelled yl-, see IL-.

y-l-. For various words beginning y-l-, see L-. See also Y-.

yl'a·hayll' (ĭl'ȧ·hāl'), interj. [Cf. ILL; HAIL, interj.] Bad luck to you. Obs.

y-last', v. i. [AS. gelæstan.] To suffer; last; endure. Obs.

y-leave', v. t.; past part. Y-LEFT'. [AS. gelæfan.] To leave; abandon; leave over. Obs. — v. i. To remain. Obs.

y-leine', past part. [AS. gelegen, past part. of (ge)licgan to lie.] Lain; remained. Obs.

y'lem (ĭ'lĕm), n. [OF. ilem, fr. L. hylem, acc. of hyle. See HYLE.] The first substance from which the elements were supposed to be formed. Cf. HYLE, 1. Obs.

-ylene. Chem. A suffix, -yl + -ene, used in naming: a Unsaturated hydrocarbons, as in ethy*lene,* all*ylene.* b Bivalent radicals, esp. those having the free valences attached to different carbon atoms, as in phen*ylene,* $C_6H_4<$.

yl'es·pil (ĭl'ĕs·pēl), n. [AS. ȳl (gen. ȳles), igil, hedgehog + pīl something pointed, a prickle, fr. L. pilum javelin.] Hedgehog. Obs.

Y level, or Y'-lev'el, n. A surveyor's level having the telescope supported in Y-shaped rests. For purposes of adjustment the telescope can be rotated around its own axis, or can be taken out of the supports and turned end for end. Adjustment is easier, but much less permanent, than with a dumpy level.

Y Level.
a, a Y's.

-ylidene. [See -YLENE, -ID.] Chem. A suffix used in naming bivalent radicals having the free valences attached to the same carbon atom, as in eth*ylidene,* CH_3CH:.

Y ligament. = ILIOFEMORAL LIGAMENT.

y-lome', adv. [AS. gelōme.] Often; continuously. Obs.

ym-. For words formerly spelled ym-, see IM-.

y-m-. For various words beginning y-m-, see M-. See also Y-.

yev'e·cus'ti, adj. [AS. gifu, giefu, a gift + cystig bountiful.] Generous. Obs.

yew'en. Obs. past tense pl. & obs. exc. dial. Eng. past part. of GIVE.

yewk, yewk'y, etc. Vars. of YEUK, etc.

Yez'de·gir'di·an, Yez'de·ger'di·an. Vars. of YAZDEGERDIAN.

yez'ty (yĕz'tĭ). Dial. Eng. var. of EASY.

yfacks. †1'-FEGS.

y' faith', interj. In faith. Obs.

y-ferre', adv. Afar. Obs.

y-find', v. t. [AS. gefindan.] To find (in various senses). Obs.

y-fraght', past part. [See Y-.] Fraught. Obs.

y-ful'led, past part. [AS. gefullwian, v. See FULL to baptize.] Baptized. Obs.

y'ga·po' (ĭ'gȧ·pō'). Var. of GAPO.

Y'gar·ro'te (ĭ'gär·rō'tē). Var. of IGOROT.

Yg'dra·sil. Var. of YGGDRASILL.

y-gelt', past part. [AS. gyltan or gegyltan to sin.] Sinned; trespassed. Obs. [IGRAINE.]

Y-germe' (ĭ'-gĕrn'). Var. of y-gert', Obs. past part. of GIRD.

y-glos'ed, past part. of GLOSE. Obs. [Obs.] y-go', y-gone', past part. Gone.

y-goe'. Obs. past part. of GO.

y-goe', y-gone', adv. Ago. Obs.

y-greved'. Obs. past part. of GRIEVE. [GRIND.]

y-ground'. Obs. past part. of

Y'-guerne' (ĭ'-gĕrn'). Var. of IGRAINE. [HAUNT.]

y-hant'ed. Obs. past part. of y-hed'. Obs. past part. of HIDE.

y-heed'ed, past part. [See Y-; HEAD, n.] Headed; antlered. Obs.

y-hel'ed. Obs. past part. of HEAL, HELE. [Near; at hand. Obs.]

y-hen'de, adv. [AS. gehende.] y-hent', v. t. [AS. gehentan.] To take; seize; receive. Obs.

y-her'bor·wed. Obs. past part. of HARBOR.

y-hert', past part. [AS. hierdan, hyrdan, gehyrdan, to harden.] Hardened. Obs.

y-het', Obs. past part. of HAVE.

y-hole', adj. [AS. gehāl.] Whole; entire; sound.— y-hol'lîche, adv. — y-hol'nesse, n. All Obs.

y-holpe', Obs. past part. of HELP.

y-hol'wen. Obs. past part. of HIGHT.

y-hu're, v. i. & t. [See Y-HERE.] To hear. Obs.

Y H V H, Y H W H. See TETRAGRAMMATON. [I CHING.]

Yi' Ching' (yē' jĭng'). Var. of yield'a·ble, adj. See -ABLE. — yield'a·ble·ness, n. [Archaic.] yield'en, part. adj. = YIELDED.

yield'less, adj. Unyielding. Obs.

yift. † GIFT.

yigh (yē). Dial. Eng. of YEA.

Yil·dun' (yĭl·dūn'), n. [Prob. corrupt. of Turk. yildiz.] See STAR, Table. [var. of ALE.]

yill (yĭl). Scot. & N. of Eng.

yilt (yĭlt). Var. of GILT, a sow.

yince (yĭns). Scot. & Ir. var. of ONCE.

yinst (yĭnst). Scot. & Ir. var. of ONCE. [var. of EARTH.]

yird (yûrd). Scot. & N. of Eng.

yirk (yĭrk; yĕrk). Var. of YERK. Obs. exc. Scot.

yirth (yĕrth; yĭrth; yûrth). Scot. & dial. Eng. of EARTH. [Dial.] yis (yĭs). Var. of YES. Obs. exc.

yisse, v. t. [AS. gīsian.] To desire; covet. Obs.

yiss'er, n. [AS. gīsere.] An avaricious person. Obs.

yiss'ing, n. [AS. gīsung.] Covetousness. Obs. [YESTER-.] yis'ter- (yĭs'tĕr-). Scot. var. of yit (yĭt). Var. of YET. Obs. exc. Dial.

yive. † GIVE.

y-kark'ed, past part. [Cf. Y-; CARK, v.] Loaded. Obs.

y-knit', v. t. [AS. geonyttan to fasten, tie.] To knit. Obs.

y-kor'ven. Obs. past part. of CARVE.

y-lad', Obs. past part. of LEAD.

y-lak'ked. Obs. past part. of LACK, blame. See 2d LACK, v. i., 3 c. y'lang-y'lang (ē'läng·ē'läng). Var. of ILANG-ILANG.

ylang-ylang oil. = ILANG-ILANG OIL. See OIL, Table.

yle. † AISLE, HYLE, ISLE.

y-ler'e, v. t. [AS. gelēran.] To teach. Obs.

y-liche',y-like', adj. & adv. Obs. [See LIKE, adj.] Like; alike. Obs.

y-like', v. i. Also y-lik'en. [See Y-; LIKEN.] To liken; compare. Obs.

y-lik'ne, adv. Alike. Obs.

y-long', adj. [AS. gelong. Cf. 3d ALONG.] Belonging; pertaining; befitting. Obs.

y-lore',y-lorn', Obs. past part. of LEESE, lose.

ym. Contr. for them. Cf. YE, the.

ymage. † HOMAGE, IMAGE.

ym·ag'ine·ment, n. [Cf. OF. ymaginement image. See IMAGINE; -MENT.] Craft. Obs.

y-man'nered, adj. [See Y-; MANNER.] Mannered; conducted; behaved. Obs.

y-mel. † IMELLE, among.

-y·me·ni′tis [NL.] A combining form from hymen- and -itis, meaning inflammation of the membrane, as in blen-nymenitis, inflammation of any mucous surface.

Y′mir (ē′mĭr; ü′mĭr), n. Also Y′mer (ē′mĕr). [ON. Ymir.] Norse Myth. The primeval giant from whose body the gods created the world. According to the myth, he had been killed by Odin, Vili, and Ve, who shaped from his blood the sea, from his flesh the earth, from his bones the mountains and rocks, from his skull the sky, and from his brain the clouds. He is called the "rime-cold giant," regarded as personifying primeval waters, or perhaps chaos. Cf. YGGDRASILL; and see AUDHUMLA.

Y′ moth, or Y′-moth′, n. Any of several species of Plusia, esp. P. gamma, a European noctuid. See GAMMA MOTH.

yn-. For words formerly spelled yn-, see IN-.

y-n-. For various words beginning y-n-, see N-. See also Y-.

y′nam·bu′ (ē′năm·bōō′), n. [Pg. inambu, of Tupian origin; cf. Tupi inambú, Guarani ynambou. Cf. TINAMOU.] A very large tinamou (Rhynchotus rufescens) of southern Brazil and Argentina.

Yn′doys (ĭn′dois), n. [OF. Indois.] People or language of India. Obs.

-yne (-īn). [Arbitrary var. of 2d -ine, 2 a.] Chem. A suffix used in forming the names of acetylene hydrocarbons, as in hex*yne;* — adopted by the International Union of Chemistry to replace in this sense the ending -ine (the accepted ending for names of organic bases). Similarly, -inol would become -ynol; -inone, -ynone.

yo (yō), interj. An exclamation used with heave, ho, etc., chiefly as a signal for the exertion of concerted effort.

yoc′co (yŏk′ō), n. [Prob. of Cariban origin; cf. Galibi iéku, Calinago inécou.] A Colombian plant, a species of Paullinia allied to guarana (P. cupana). The bark and leaves contain caffeine.

yock′el (yŏk′ĕl), n. [Cf. YAFFLE.] The green woodpecker. Local, Eng.

yo′del, yo′dle, n. A song or refrain sung by yodeling or warbling; a warble; loosely, a yodeled shout or cry.

yo′del·er, yo′del·ler (yō′dl̇·ĕr; yō′dlĕr), yo′dler (-dlĕr), n. One who yodels.

yo′del·ist (-dl̇·ĭst; -dlĭst), n. One who yodels; one skilled in yodeling.

yodh, yod (yōd), n. [Heb. yōdh, lit., hand.] The tenth letter (י) of the Hebrew alphabet, equiv. to English y in yet; as a number, 10.

yo′ga (yō′gä), n. [often cap.] [Skr., lit., union. See YOKE.] Hinduism. Mental discipline consisting in the direction of attention exclusively upon any object, abstract or concrete, with a view to the identification of consciousness with the object; attainment of this end is samadhi. The object of attention may be, but need not be, the deity. Yoga includes various physical disciplines such as controlled breathing and posture. The yogi should also be an ascetic, or, at least, continent. By yoga it is sought to gain control over specific natural forces, and over one's own body, and to gain occult powers; also to attain union with the universal spirit, Brahma. The chief yogas are the bhakti (devotional), jnana (intellectual), karma (work), and hatha (physical), yoga. The three stages of yoga trance are dharana (fixed attention), dhyana (contemplation), and samadhi (concentration). Cf. DHYANA; SAMADHI. yogh (yŏk), n. Also yok (yŏk). [ME. yogh, ȝok, ȝoȝ, of obscure origin.] The name of the letter ȝ, a variant form of the Anglo-Saxon ȝ (ᵹ), used in Middle English to represent the guttural (ME. laȝe, laghe, law) and the palatal voiced spirant (ME. ȝernen, yernen, yearn) and, sometimes, the voiceless spirant (ME. lȝt light). See Y.

yo′ghurt (yō′gōōrt), n. Also yo′ghourt, yo′gurt, yoh′ourt (yō′ōōrt). [Turk. yōghurt.] A semisolid cheeselike, or sometimes thickly fluid or jellylike, preparation from milk partly evaporated and then fermented by Lactobacillus bulgaricus. It somewhat resembles kefir, though not alcoholic, and is used as food esp. in the Levant. There the fermentation is initiated with a starter, saved from a previous lot, which contains also a yeast and Streptococcus lactis.

yo′gi (yō′gē), n. Also yo′gin (-gĭn). [Hind. yogī, fr. Skr. yogin.] One who practices yoga; a follower of the yoga philosophy; an ascetic.

yo′gism (yō′gĭz′m), n. Yoga, or its practice. — yo′gist (-gĭst), n.

yo′go·ite (yō′gō·īt), n. [From Yogo Peak, Little Belt Mts., Mont.] Petrog. A rock composed of approximately equal amounts of pyroxene and feldspar; — a proposed name. It was later found to contain also equal amounts of orthoclase and plagioclase, consequently falling under the monzonite group.

yo·him′bé (yō·hĭm′bā), n. Also yo·him′bi (-bĭ). [Of Bantu origin; cf. Duala djombé.] A tropical African tree (Corynanthe yohimbe), family Rubiaceae, the bark of which, yohimbé bark, yields yohimbine.

yo·him′bine (yō·hĭm′bēn; -bĭn; 157), n. Also -bin. [See YOHIMBÉ.] A crystalline alkaloid, $C_{21}H_{26}N_2O_3$, obtained from yohimbé bark and probably identical with quebrachine; — called also corynine. The hydrochloride is used as an aphrodisiac.

yo′-ho′ (yō′hō′), interj. & n. An exclamation used as a signal for effort, a cry to attract attention, etc.; also, the utterance of one yawning. — v. i. To cry yoho.

yoick (voik), v. i. To cry yoicks! — v. t. To urge on by the cry yoicks!

yoicks (voiks), interj. [Var. of HOICKS.] Hunting. A cry of encouragement to foxhounds. Hence, a cry sometimes used as an exclamation of excitement or exultation.

yo′jan (yō′jăn), yo′ja·na (-jä·nä), n. [Hind. yojan, fr. Skr. yojana (distance traveled in one) yoking.] A Hindu measure of distance, varying from four to ten miles, but usually about five. The value used by Hindu astronomers is said to be 4.92 miles (7.92 km.).

Yo·jua′ne (yō·wä′nā), n. An Indian of one of the Tonkawan tribes of Texas. See TONKAWAN.

yoke (yōk), n. [ME. yok, ȝoc, fr. AS. geoc; akin to D. juk, OHG. joh, G. joch, ON. & Sw. ok, Dan. aag, Goth. juk, Lith. jungas, OSlav. igo, W. iau, L. jugum, Gr. zygon, Skr. yuga, and to L. jungere to join, Gr. zeugnynai, Skr. yunakti he yokes. Cf. JOIN, JOUGS, JUGULAR, SUBJUGATE, SYZYGY, YOGA, YUGA, ZEUGMA.] 1. A bar or frame of wood by which two draft animals, esp. oxen, are joined at the heads or necks for working together, esp. for drawing a plow or a load. The modern yoke for oxen is usually a piece of timber hollowed, or made curving, near each end, and laid on the necks of the oxen, being secured in place by two bows, one enclosing each neck, and fastened through the timber. In some countries the yoke consists of a flat piece of wood fastened to the foreheads of the oxen by thongs about the horns. Connection with the load is by a chain or rope from a hook or ring in the middle of the yoke. 2. In ancient times, an arched or curved device laid upon the necks of the vanquished; among the Romans and others, an arch consisting of a spear resting horizontally upon two upright spears, under which captured foes were compelled to pass as a symbol of submission.

3. An oppressive agency reducing to subjection, submission, humiliation, or servitude; hence, servitude; slavery; bondage; service.

> Our country sinks beneath the yoke. Shak.
> My yoke is easy, and my burden is light. Matt. xi. 30.

4. A frame or piece resembling a yoke (sense 1), as in use or shape; specif.: a A frame of wood fitted to a person's shoulders for carrying pails, etc., suspended on each side; as, a milkmaid's yoke. b A band or shaped piece cut to fit the shoulders or the hips, and intended to support the gathered or plaited hanging parts of a garment, as a skirt. c A frame worn on the neck of an animal, as a cow, pig, or goose, to prevent passage through a fence or hedge. d A bar by which the end of the tongue of a wagon or carriage is suspended from the collars of the harness. e A frame or convex piece by which a bell is hung for ringing it. See BELL, Illust. (6). f Arch. A tie securing two members together; specif., the horizontal piece forming the head of a window frame. g Elec. = FIELD FRAME. h Chiefly Mach. A clamp or similar piece that embraces two other parts to hold or unite them in their respective or relative positions, as a strap connecting a slide valve to the valve stem, or the soft iron block or bar permanently connecting the pole pieces of an electromagnet, as in a dynamo. i Mach. A slotted crosshead used in donkey engines, steam fire engines, etc., in place of a connecting rod. j Naut. (1) A crosspiece on the head of a boat's rudder. To its ends lines are attached which lead forward, either to the hands of a steersman or to the drum of a steering wheel, so that the boat can be steered from farther forward. (2) The main (lower) cap on the masthead of a yacht.

5. sing. & pl. Two animals yoked together; a couple; a pair that work together; — also, rarely, used of persons.

> I have bought five yoke of oxen. Luke xiv. 19.

6. That which connects or binds; a co-operative relationship; a tie; link; bond; specif., the matrimonial bond as forming a union, often with an implication of subjection.

> Boweth your neck under that blissful yoke . . .
> Which that men clepeth [call] spousal or wedlock. Chaucer.

7. A unit of area of land (see MEASURE, Table): a In Kent, a virgate. See SULUNG. b In Austria and Hungary, a joch.

8. The time during which a plowman and his team work continuously; hence, a period of steady work; a portion of the working day; as, to work two yokes, that is, both morning and afternoon. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

9. Aeronautics. See CONTROL COLUMN.

Syn. — See COUPLE.

yoke (yōk), v.; YOKED (yōkt); YOK′ING (yōk′ĭng). [AS. geocian.] Transitive: 1. To put a yoke on; to join in or with a yoke; as, to yoke oxen; yoked up with a steer.

2. To couple; join; link; associate; as, ambition yoked with genius; hence, to marry.

> Be ye not unequally yoked with unbelievers. 2 Cor. vi. 14.

3. To bring into bondage; to hold in subjection; to oppress; to restrain. Now Rare.

> The words and promises that yoke
> The conqueror are quickly broke. Hudibras.

4. To attach a horse or horses or other draft animals to; also, to attach (a draft animal) to something; as, to yoke a cart; to yoke a horse to a cart; hence, to put on as or like a yoke.

5. To fit a yoke (sense 4 c) about the neck of.

6. To engage in work or in service; as, to yoke one's mind to the task; to cause to set to vigorously or keenly.

7. To attack; seize; tackle; fight. Scot.

—, Intransitive: 1. To be joined or intimately associated; to be connected or linked; to consort closely; formerly, to be joined in marriage.

> We'll yoke together, like a double shadow. Shak.

2. To apply oneself vigorously; to set to work; to make a beginning; — usually with to. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

3. To make an attack or seizure; to engage in conflict or dispute; to contest. Scot.

yoke (yōk), n. & v. = YEX. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

yoke, yok (yōk). Scot. & dial. Eng. of YOLK, wool grease.

yoke (yōk). Dial. var. of YOLK, of an egg.

yoke bone. The zygomatic bone.

yoke devil. A fellow devil. Rare.

yoke elm. a The common hornbeam (Carpinus betulus) of the Old World. b A related Himalayan tree (C. viminea); also, its heavy, hard wood. Called also Indian hornbeam.

yoke′fel′low (yōk′fĕl′ō), n. [yoke + fellow.] A close associate or companion; a mate; fellow; a partner; esp., a partner in marriage.

yo′kel (yō′kĕl; -k′l), n. [Perh. connected with yoke (of oxen).] A plowboy; a rustic; a country bumpkin; esp., a typical countryman, slow-witted, obtuse, and gullible. Chiefly Contemptuous.

yo′kel, n. [Cf. ON. jökull. See ICICLE.] An icicle. Obs.

yoke′less (yōk′lĕs; -lĭs; 119), adj. Having no yoke; not subjected to a yoke.

yo′kel·ry (yō′kĕl·rĭ), n. Yokels collectively; the mob of stupid, unsophisticated countryfolk.

yoke′mate′ (yōk′māt′), n. Yokefellow.

yoke′mat′ing (-māt′ĭng), n. Marriage.

yoke method. Elec. A method of measuring the magnetic permeability, as of a rod of iron or steel, by completing the magnetic circuit with a massive yoke of soft iron.

Yoke of the Sky. Astron. The ecliptic.

yok′er (yōk′ĕr), n. One who makes or fits yokes.

yoke riveter. Mach. A pneumatic riveter connected by a yoke with a dolly so that the center lines of the two coincide.

yoke′-toed′ (yōk′tōd′), adj. Having two toes in front and two behind, as the woodpeckers; zygodactylous.

yoke′wood′ (-wōōd′), n. A wood adapted for use in making yokes.

yok′ing (yōk′ĭng), n. a = 1st YOKE, 8. b Scot. A contest; a bout.

Yo′ko·ha′ma bean (yō′kō·hä′mä). [From Yokohama, Japan.] The ash-colored, plump seed, resembling the Lima bean, of a Japanese vine (Mucuna, syn. Stizolobium, hasjoo) or the white pod containing it; also, the vine itself, which bears dark-purple, showy racemes.

Yokohama fowl. The Japanese fowl.

yok′y (yōk′ĭ), adj. Rare. a Yoked. b Pertaining to, or consisting of, a yoke.

Yol′di·a clay (yōl′dĭ·ä). [From NL. Yoldia, genus of bivalves, after Count Yoldi, of Sweden.] Geol. A marine glacial clay deposited in northern Europe during the subsidence of the second interglacial stage of Pleistocene glaciation, and containing notably large deposits of shells of bivalves of the genus Yol′di·a.

Yoldia sea. Geol. The Baltic in early postglacial time; — so called from the presence of the mollusk Yoldia arctica.

yol′dring (yōl′drĭn; yōl′-), n. [See YELDRIN.] The European yellowhammer (Emberiza citrinella). Scot. & Dial.

yolk (yōk; yōlk), n. [ME. yolke, yelke, ȝolke, ȝelke, AS. geolca, geoleca, fr. geolu yellow. See YELLOW.] 1. a In popular language, the yellow spheroidal mass of food material surrounded by the white in the egg of a bird or reptile. b Embryol. The contents of the ovum, or egg cell, of an animal. The protoplasmic material is distinguished as formative yolk; the inert nutritive material, usually present, as food yolk, or nutritive yolk. Often, in exact usage, yolk is restricted to the nutritive material only, the food yolk. In the egg of a bird the formative yolk occupies a small area (the cicatricle) at one side of a relatively enormous mass of food yolk. The latter, which serves only as nutriment for the embryo, consists of a central flask-shaped mass and numerous thin concentric layers of light-yellow white yolk, alternating with thicker layers of darker yellow yolk. See EGG, Illust. In the ova of other animals the food yolk, when present, may be distributed uniformly through the protoplasm (alecithal) or more or less concentrated toward one pole (telolecithal) or accumulated at the center of the cell (centrolecithal). Its amount determines the size of the ovum, and its distribution has a profound effect on the character of the segmentation. See OVUM, 1 and Illust. Chemically, yolk contains vitellin, nucleoprotein and other proteins, lecithin, cholesterol, fat, etc.

2. The oily fat secreted by the sebaceous glands at the roots of the hairs (wool fibers) in sheep; specif., either of the two constituent substances of this secretion, namely: a Wool fat or lanolin. b A greasy substance accompanying wool fat in sheep's wool, removed by washing. It is dried perspiration and, since it consists chiefly of potassium salts of organic acids, is used as a source of potash.

3. The central or innermost part; the best part; the essence or heart, as of a mystery.

4. A rounded lump or nodule, as of harder or foreign material, within something, as window glass.

yolk (yōk). Var. of YEX. Obs. exc. Dial.

yolk bag. Embryol. = YOLK SAC.

yolk boil. Veter. A cheesy lymph gland found in pseudotuberculosis of sheep. Colloq., Austral.

yolk cord. Zool. A slender, protoplasmic cord which connects the yolk glands with the egg chambers in certain insects, as in the aphids.

yolk duct. = VITELLINE DUCT.

yolked (yōkt; yōlkt), adj. Having a yolk; — usually in combination.

yolk gland. Zool. A vitellarium.

yolk nucleus. Embryol. A cytoplasmic structure, simple or multiple, in the ovarian egg.

yolk plate. Embryol. One of a series of lamellae formed by the division of the deutoplasm of the egg yolk in amphibia and certain fishes.

yolk plug. Embryol. A pluglike mass of yolk cells found in the blastopore of the embryos of certain vertebrates.

yolk sac. Embryol. A more or less spherical membranous sac attached to an embryo and enclosing food yolk, as in most vertebrates and cephalopods. It is continuous, through the vitelline duct, with the intestinal cavity of the embryo, and, being abundantly supplied with blood vessels, is, throughout embryonic life and in some forms later, the chief organ of nutrition. Cf. UMBILICAL VESICLE.

yolk stalk. Embryol. The narrow tubular stalk connecting the yolk sac with the embryo.

yolk′y (yōk′ĭ; yōl′kĭ), adj.; YOLK′I·ER (-ĭ·ĕr; -kĭ·ĕr); YOLK′I·EST. 1. Pertaining to, resembling, or consisting of, yolk.

2. Full of yolk, or suint; greasy; — said of unwashed wool yolk yellow. The color goldenrod.

yom (yōm; colloq. Eng. yŏm), n. [Heb. yōm.] Day; — a Hebrew word used in the names of various Jewish feasts.

Yom Kip′pur (kĭp·ĕr; kĭ·pōōr′). [Heb. yōm kippūr day of atonement.] Jewish Relig. The Day of Atonement, falling on the tenth day of Tishri and observed as a solemn fast day, according to the rites described in Leviticus xvi. See JEWISH HOLIDAYS.

Yom Ter′u·ah (tĕr′ōō·ä). [Heb. yōm day + tĕrū′āh blowing the trumpet.] Feast of Trumpets (which see).

Yom Tob′ or Tov′ (tōb′, tōv′). [Heb. yōm day + tōbh good.] Jewish Relig. A religious festival, including the Sabbath.

---

y-met′. Obs. past part. of MEET, METE. [Amidst. Obs.] y-middes′, prep. [Cf. AMIDST.]

y-mid′ward, adv. [Cf. AMID; -WARD.] In the midst. Obs.

ym·mote′, v. t. [ML. immovere, immotum, fr. in- in + movere to move.] To convey or apply to something. Obs.

y-mong′, prep. [AS. gemang. Cf. AMONG.] Among. Obs. [MURDER.]

y-mor′thred. Obs. past part. of ym′pet, n. [Cf. OF. impet impetuosity.] Impetus. Obs.

ymp′ne. ✝ HYMN.

y-mun′de, n. [AS. gemynd. See MIND, n.] Mind; thought; remembrance. Obs.

ym′ur, n. [Cf. ON. ilmr a sweet smell.] Fresh odor. Obs.

yn. Contr. for then. Cf. YE, the.

Yn′ca (ĭng′kä). Var. of INCA.

y-nesche′, adv. [Cf. AS. genēahsen near.] Towards. Obs.

Ynglies, Ynglis, Ynglisshe. Obs. forms of ENGLISH.

yn·good′ly, adj. [Cf. MD. ingoed very good.] Excellent. Obs.

Yng′vi, n. See FREY.

yn′kell, n. [See INKLE tape; cf. Flem. inkel simple, D. enkel, Flem. inkeloge purl (of lace).] Tape. Obs.

ynn. ✝ INN.

ynogh. ✝ ENOUGH.

y-nogh′liche, adv. [See ENOUGH; -LY.] Sufficiently. Obs.

y-nome′. Obs. past part. of NIM.

yn·pri′did, adj. [See 1st IN-; PRIDE, n.] Filled with pride. Obs.

yo (yō). Dial. var. of YOU, YOUR, EWE.

yo′bi (yō′bē), n. [Jap.] See ARMY ORGANIZATION, Table.

yoch′el (yŏk′ĕl), n. = 1st YOKEL. Scot. [exc. Dial.] yock (yŏk). Var. of YOKE. Obs.

yode. [ME. yode, yede, eode, etc., fr. AS. ēode, used as pret. of gān to go.] Obs. past tense of GO.

yo′deld. Yodeled. Ref. Sp.

yo′dja·na. Var. of YOJANA. See MEASURE, Table.

yo′dle. Var. of YODEL.

yoe (yō). Dial. var. of EWE.

yo·ga′sa·na (yō·gä′sä·nä), n. [Skr. yogāsana, lit., yoga sitting.] See 1st ASANA. [YOGISM.] yo′gee·ism (yō′gē·ĭz′m). Var. of yo′gurt. Var. of YOGHURT.

‖yo′him′bé′hē′ (yō′ĭm′bā′hā′), n. [F.] = YOHIMBÉ.

yo·him′bin·ize (yō·hĭm′bĭn·īz), v. t. See -IZE. — yo·him′bin·i·za′tion (-ĭ·zā′shŭn; -ĭ·zĭ′-), n.

yoh′ourt (yō′ōōrt). Var. of YOGHURT.

yoi (yoi), interj. = VOICKS.

yok (yŏk). Var. of YOGH.

yok (yŏk). Var. of YOKE. Obs. exc. Dial.

yoke′a·ble, adj. See -ABLE. — yoke′a·ble·ness, n.

yoke′age, yok′age (yōk′ĭj), n. = ROKEAGE. Local, U. S. & Can.

yoke′-foot′ed, adj. = YOKE-TOED.

yo′kel·dom, n. See -DOM.

yo′kel·ish, adj. See -ISH.

yo′kel·ism, n. See -ISM.

yoke′wise′, adv. See -WISE.

Yo′kuts (yō′kŭts), n. sing. & pl. See MARIPOSAN. [UTAU.]

yo′-kyo·ku (yō′kyō·kōō), n. = yold (yōld). Obs. past & past part. of YIELD. [YIELD.]

yold′en. Archaic past part. of yolk′i·ness, n. See -NESS.

yolk′less, adj. See -LESS.

yoll, v. i. [Imitative.] To yell; howl. Obs.

Yo′lof (yō′lŏf). Var. of WOLOF.

yolpe, v. i. [Cf. YELP to boast.] Prob., to boast. Obs.

yo′man. Yeoman. Ref. Sp.

yom′er (yŏm′ĕr). Var. of YAMMER. Obs. exc. Scot.

Yo'mud (yō'mŭd), n. sing. & pl. One of a Turkoman tribe in the Turkomen republic and in the Syr Darya region of the Uzbek and Kazak republics.

yon (yŏn), adj. [ME. yon, ȝon, fr. AS. geon; akin to G. jener, OHG. jenēr, enēr, ON. enn, inn, Goth. jains, OSlav. onŭ, Lith. ans that, L. conj. enim for; cf. Hittite enis that. Cf. BEYOND, YOND, YONDER.] 1. That is or lies some distance away in the indicated place; yonder. Chiefly Archaic & Dial.

Read thy lot in yon celestial sign. Milton.

2. = YONDER, 1. Dial.

yon, adv. 1. = YONDER, 1. Now Dial.

2. Thither; backwards; as, dashing hither and yon.

yon, pron. That or those yonder. Archaic & Dial.

Was yon the messenger? Scott.

yond (yŏnd), adv. [ME. yond, ȝond, ȝeond, through, beyond, over, fr. AS. geond, adv. & prep., through, throughout, over, yonder; akin to Goth. jaind thither. See YON, adj.] Yonder; thither; away; further. Archaic & Dial. — prep. Past; beyond; also, along or across. Archaic & Dial.

yond, adj. 1. Farther; more distant. Obs.

2. That; those; yon. Scot. & Dial. Eng.

yond, pron. = YON. Now Dial.

yond (yŏnd), adj. Raging. Rare. Spenser.

yon'der (yŏn'dĕr), adv. [ME. yonder, ȝonder; akin to MLG. ginder, Goth. jaindre there. See YON, adj.] 1. At or in that (indicated and more or less distant) place, usually within sight.

Yonder are two applewomen scolding. Arbuthnot.

2. On the farther side; beyond; — esp. with of. Dial.

3. To that place more or less removed. Obs.

yon'der, adj. 1. With the, farther removed; more distant; thither; — opposite of hither.

2. Being at a distance within view, or conceived of as within view; that or those there; yon.

Yon flowery arbors, yonder alleys green. Milton.

Yonder men are too many for an embassage. Bacon.

3. That is not long past; — of a day or night. Obs.

yon'der, pron. = YON. Now Dial.

yo'ni (yō'nĭ), n. [Skr., vulva.] Hindu Myth. A figure representing the female genitals, serving as the formal symbol under which shakti, or the personification of the female power in nature, is worshiped. Cf. LINGA.

Yon·kal'la, Yon·kal'a (yŏng·käl'ȧ), n. An Indian of a Kalapooian tribe. See KALAPOOIAN.

yon'side' (yŏn'sīd'), n. The farther side. — adv. On the farther side. — prep. Beyond.

yoop (yōōp), n. A sobbing sound; — an imitative word. — interj. An exclamation uttered by a person sobbing.

yore (yōr; 181), adv. [ME. ȝore, yare, ȝare, fr. AS. gēara formerly, of old, fr. gēar year. See YEAR.] 1. In time long past; in old time; long since; — often with ago. Obs., except in the phrase of yore.

As it hath been of olde times yore. Chaucer.

2. For a long time. Obs.

He has woned [dwelt] here full yore. Sir Gawayne.

3. Before; formerly. Obs. Ancren Riwle.

yore, adj. Belonging to time long past; ancient. Now Dial.

yore, n. Time long since past; as, a quaint inn of yore; days of yore. "In yore agone." William Morris.

— of yore. Formerly; of old. See OF, prep., 18, also 3.

But Satan now is wiser than of yore. Pope.

yore'time' (yōr'tīm'; 181), n. Time long past.

Yor'ick (yŏr'ĭk), n. 1. In Shakespeare's Hamlet, the former jester of the King of Denmark, "a fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent fancy," whose skull Hamlet apostrophizes in the churchyard.

2. A humorous and careless parson in Sterne's Tristram Shandy, of Danish origin and a descendant of the Yorick celebrated by Shakespeare. Sterne used the name as his pseudonym in The Sentimental Journey.

York (yŏrk), n. An English royal house. See YORKIST, n., 1; HOUSE, n., 5.

york (yŏrk), v. t. Cricket. To bowl (a batsman) out with a yorker.

York and Lan'cas'ter rose (lăng'kȧs·tĕr). See YORK ROSE.

York'–Ant'werp rules (yŏrk'ănt'wûrp). Marine Insurance. A body of rules relating to general average, agreed to at a congress held at York, England, in 1864, adopted with revisions at a conference of the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations held at Antwerp in 1877, and again revised at a conference held at Liverpool in 1890. They were formally declared to be exclusively authorized by the association in 1892.

York Cycle. A series of mysteries (see 1st MYSTERY, 7) given for centuries by the Guild of the City of York in pageant masques drawn from station to station within the city walls.

york'er (yŏr'kĕr), n. Cricket. A bowled ball which pitches in or near the block hole.

York'er, adj. Of or pertaining to York County, Pa.

York House. See WHITEHALL, 1.

York Imperial. [From York, Pa., named as the imperial of long keepers.] A valuable red variety of apple, with excellent keeping qualities, at its best in the Piedmont fruit region.

York'ish (yŏr'kĭsh), adj. Of or pertaining to the county or city of York, England; adhering to the royal house of York. See YORKIST.

York'ist (yŏr'kĭst), n. Eng. Hist. 1. A member or supporter of the English royal house of York, founded by Richard, Duke of York, in the time of Henry VI. In the Wars of the Roses its symbol was a white rose. Edward IV, Edward V, and Richard III, were the reigning members of the house.

2. A supporter of James, Duke of York, during the period about 1680–85.

York'ist, adj. Of or pertaining to the dukes or the royal house of York. Cf. LANCASTRIAN.

York Place. See WHITEHALL, 1.

York rite. [From York, Eng.] Freemasonry. The rite or ceremonial observed by one of the Masonic systems; also, the system itself, which, in America, confers 13 degrees, the last three in commanderies of Knights Templar. In England but four degrees are conferred. Cf. SCOTTISH RITE.

York rose. [See Wars of the Roses, under WAR, Table.] A variety (Rosa damascena versicolor) of the damask rose, with semidouble white-and-pink flowers; — more properly, York and Lancaster rose.

York round. [From York, Eng.] Archery. See ROUND, n., 12.

York shilling. Formerly, in New York, a shilling, usually worth 12½ cents. Cf. SHILLING, 3. Obs. exc. Hist., U. S.

York'shire (yŏrk'shĭr; -shēr; cf. SHIRE), n. 1. A county in the north of England.

2. One of several breeds of pure-white swine, usually designated according to size as Large White (or Large Yorkshire), Middle White (or Middle Yorkshire), or Small White (or Small Yorkshire). The Large Yorkshire is a very large breed, with a long deep body, and is bred for bacon.

York'shire, adj. 1. Of or pertaining to, or characteristic of, Yorkshire; of a type cultivated or manufactured or originating in Yorkshire.

2. Characteristic of Yorkshiremen; hence, characterized by coarseness of manners or sharpness in bargaining.

Yorkshire bond. Masonry. = FLYING BOND.

Yorkshire buck. Cookery. A Welsh rabbit with slices of bacon and a poached egg upon it. Cf. GOLDEN BUCK.

Yorkshire canary. One of a long, slim, erect variety of canaries.

Yorkshire chair. A small chair with knobbed, turned legs, straight uprights ending at the top with scrolls, and a broad carved top-rail and a wide splat arched above and crescent-cut below. It was made in England in the 17th and 18th centuries.

Yorkshire Coach. A large strong bay horse of an English breed, with dark legs, mane, and tail.

Yorkshire fog. Velvet grass.

Yorkshire grease. See WOOL FAT.

Yorkshire light. A window made with sashes sliding in one plane, as distinguished from hinged casements. The movement is generally horizontal, to avoid the necessity of a weighted sash.

York'shire·man (yŏrk'shĭr·măn; -shĕr·măn), n. A native of Yorkshire.

Yorkshire pie. A very large raised pie.

Yorkshire pudding. A batter pudding baked with roasting meat or its drippings, orig. in a pan under a spit, but now commonly in a roaster with the meat.

Yorkshire punch. A hot punch with calf's-foot jelly added.

Yorkshire sanicle. The butterwort Pinguicula vulgaris.

Yorkshire terrier. A toy terrier of a breed developed probably from a crossing of the Skye terrier and the black-and-tan terrier, having compact body and straight, silky hair often trailing on the ground. The coloring is a dark steel blue from the occiput to the root of the tail, a rich golden tan on the head, and a bright tan on the chest. It weighs from 4 to 12 pounds.

Yorkshire tyke. See TYKE, 4.

Yorkshire white. Velvet grass.

York spot. Plant Pathol. A form of cork, the disease of apples; — so called from its prevalence on the York Imperial.

York State. The State of New York. Local.

York'town (yŏrk'toun), n. a See BATTLE, Table. b Geol. The Yorktown or Chesapeake formation. See CHESAPEAKE, adj.

York'town, adj. Geol. = CHESAPEAKE, adj.

Yo'ru·ba (yō'rōō·bä), n. 1. A Negro of an extensive linguistic family of the African Slave Coast, mainly between Dahomey and the lower Niger. About 1820 their native empire was overthrown by the Fulahs, and they became divided into a number of petty kingdoms or tribes, the most noteworthy being the Egba. Weaving, dyeing, tanning, smithery, pottery, and wine making, are among their industries, and before the use of letters they employed a device like the Peruvian quipu to record events. Though agriculturists, they are also city dwellers. In 1928 there were nine cities, one, Ibadan, having a population of 200,000 and a weekly newspaper.

2. The language of the Yoruba. See SUDANIC LANGUAGES.

Yo'ru·ban (-băn), adj. Of or pertaining to the Yoruba.

Yo'shi·wa'ra (yō'shē·wä'rȧ), n. [Jap.] The prostitutes' quarter in Tokyo, Japan; — often applied by foreigners to similar quarters in other Japanese cities.

yo'ta·cism (yō'tȧ·sĭz'm), n. [See IOTACISM.] Iotization.

yo'ta·cize (-sīz), v. t. To iotize.

yote (yōt), v. t. [ME. ȝeoten, ȝoten, to pour, fr. AS. gēotan. See POUND to cast.] To pour water or molten metal on or into. Obs. exc. Dial. Eng.

you (yōō; 71), pron.; poss. YOUR (yŏŏr; 199) or YOURS (yŏŏrz; 199); dat. & obj. YOU. [ME. you, eou, eow, dat. & acc., fr. AS. ēow, used as dat. & acc. of ge, gē, ye; akin to OFris. iu, io, OS. iu, D. u, G. euch, OHG. iu, dat., iuwih, acc., ON. ythr, dat. & acc., Goth. iswis. Cf. YOUR.] A personal pronoun of the second person, indicating the person or persons addressed. You is used: 1. As objective case of ye, pl., originally its only use: a As dative of indirect object; as, we give you greeting. b As direct object of a verb or preposition.

Ye go to Canterbury; God you speed. Chaucer.

c Now Chiefly Dial. & Colloq. Reflexively, as direct or as indirect object. "Pray set it down, and rest you." Shak.

You must make you a new garden. Jane Austen.

2. As nominative pl.; — now usually replacing ye.

Stand still, you ever-moving spheres of Heaven. Marlowe.

3. As nominative or objective sing.; as, pleased to meet you; a letter for you; — now usually replacing thou, thee, but taking, as subject, a pl. verb (commonly sing. verb was in 17th and 18th centuries). Used also in archaic writing and dialect speech reflexively and as an ethical dative.

In vain you tell your parting lover
You wish fair winds may waft him over. Prior.

4. Indefinitely (in the same way as your, we, they, one), not specifying any person as addressed; as, so sudden as to make you jump; you have to register before voting. Chiefly Colloq.

It is always pleasant to be forced to do what you wish to do, but what, until pressed, you dare not attempt. Hook.

5. Disjunctively, by way of address or for emphasis, esp. after terms of reproach; as, "You rascal, you!"

— you bet. Also you bet you, you bet your life, etc. You may be sure; assuredly. Slang. — you don't say. What you say is surprising news to me. Colloq.

you, n. That which makes up, recalls, or suggests the personality of the person addressed; as, the room is full of you.

you (yōō), v. t. & i. To address by or use the pronoun you, esp. repeatedly.

you all. You; — said in addressing two or more persons or, sometimes, one person as representing also another or others. See ALL, adj., 10. Colloq., Southern U. S.

You all and we all, you-uns and we-uns invariably refer to more than one individual. J. C. Harris.

you'–be–damned', adj. Given to saying "you be damned!" hence, contemptuously arrogant. — you'–be–damned'·ness, n.

youd'en drift (yōōd'ĕn). Driven snow. Scot.

youd'ith (yōōd'ĭth), n. Youth. Scot.

youff (youf), n. [Imitative.] Bark. — v. i. To bark. Both Scot.

you'–know–what', n. That which the speaker finds it needless or indelicate to name.

young (yŭng), adj.; YOUNG'ER (yŭng'gĕr); YOUNG'EST (yŭng'gĕst; -gĭst; 119). [ME. yung, yong, ȝong, ȝung, fr. AS. geong, gung; akin to OFris. iung, iong, D. jong, OS., OHG., & G. jung, ON. ungr, Sw. & Dan. ung, Goth. juggs, Lith. jaunas, W. ieuanc, L. juvencus, juvenis, Skr. yuvaśa, yuvan. Cf. JUVENILE, YOUNKER, YOUTH.] 1. Being in the first or early period of life or growth; specif.: a Not long born; still in the first part of life; not yet arrived at adolescence, maturity, or age; not old; juvenile; — said of persons and animals; as, a young child, man, fawn. "For he so young and tender was of age." Chaucer. b In the first part, or period, of growth; as, a young tree. c Having certain desirable qualities belonging to early stages of growth, as for food or for wood; esp., tender; succulent; pliable; workable.

2. Youthfully fresh or vigorous in body, mind, or feeling; evincing youthful characteristics of disposition or manner; as, young for her age.

Whom the gods love, live young forever. Mrs. H. H. Jackson.

3. Newly initiated as such; being or having the characteristics of a novice or tyro; immature; inexperienced; ignorant; weak.

Come, come, elder brother, you are too young in this. Shak.

4. Of, or pertaining or relating to, youth, or early life; functioning with or exhibiting the vigor, charm, rashness, etc., peculiar to youth; as, young frailties; a young smile; a young head on old shoulders; also, Obs., juvenile; childish.

Thou hast passed by the ambush of young days. Shak.

5. Not having existed long; not having developed far; that is still in the early stage; lately newly formed or come into being; recently formed, introduced, or put into use; as, young ice; while the ship is young; the night is young; a young organization or nation.

While the fears of the people were young. Defoe.

6. Representing a new tendency, movement, or the like; — used to designate various societies, schools, etc., but esp. certain revolutionary, republican, or progressive political parties, composed chiefly of young men; as, Young Italy; Young Turks, etc.

7. Junior; — used of the younger of two persons having the same name or title in a family; as, young Mr. Smith.

8. First becoming visible as a thin crescent; — of the moon.

9. Miniature but having all the earmarks; diminutive; as, we have a young hurricane outdoors. Now Colloq.

10. Unmarried. Local, Eng.

11. Of low magnifying power; — of a lens. Obs.

12. Phys. Geog. = YOUTHFUL, 5.

Syn. — Youthful, immature. Ant. — Senile. See OLD.

☞ COMBINATIONS (all adjectives) are:

young-bladed	young-counseled	young-looking young-chinned	young-headed	young-winged young-conscienced	younghearted	young-yeared young, n. 1. Those who are young; young persons collectively; — used in correlation with old and construed as a plural; as, young and old can enjoy this comedy.

2. The offspring of animals before or for a short time after birth; offspring collectively; — construed as a plural; as, the bear leads forth her young; the young of the turtle dig their way out upon hatching.

3. A single newly born animal. Now Rare.

4. pl. The young members or young men; the newcomers; tyros; — with the. Colloq.

5. The time of youth. Rare.

— with young. With child; pregnant.

Young Adventurer. See YOUNG PRETENDER.

Young America. American youth collectively, or a personification of their supposed characteristics. Colloq., U. S.

young blood. Young people; youth; young energetic members; youthful strength or vigor.

Young Chevalier, the. The Young Pretender. See CHEVALIER, THE.

Young England. A party of Tory aristocrats which arose about 1843. It opposed the repeal of the corn laws and other Radical measures, and sought to revive, so far as modern conditions would allow, the manners and spirit of medieval times. The party was short-lived. The courtly, fantastic manners of its members are described in Coningsby and Sybil, by Benjamin Disraeli, who, with Lord John Manners, led the movement. — Young Englander. — Young Englandism.

young entry. One of or a group of untrained or inexperienced contestants, as of untried hunting dogs. Brit.

young'er (yŭng'gĕr), compar. of YOUNG.

young'er, n. One who is younger; a junior.

younger children. Eng. Law. In the law of primogeniture, any children other than the eldest male child, including in the broadest use all daughters.

Younger Edda. See EDDA.

younger hand. Card Playing. The hand not having the lead, in two-handed games.

young'est–born' (yŭng'gĕst·bôrn'; -gĭst-; 119), adj. Most recently born. — n. The child last born.

youngest hand. Card Playing. The player on the dealer's right hand.

Young Europe. An association, with headquarters in Switzerland, organized in April, 1834, under the influence of Mazzini's enthusiasm (see YOUNG ITALY), by delegates of national societies. It aimed to further the principles of liberty, equality, and fraternity in Europe. In 1835–36 it brought about the organization of Young France, a national society similar in principle.

young'–eyed' (yŭng'īd'), adj. Having the bright or keen eyes of youth; also, having a youthful or fresh vision; as, the young-eyed intellectuals of each new era.

Young France. See YOUNG EUROPE.

young fustic. The wood of the European smoke tree (Cotinus coggygria), which yields an orange dye; fustet.

yon'co·pin (yŏng'kō·pĭn), n. = WANKAPIN. [Thither. Obs.] yond'ward (yŏnd'wĕrd), adv.

yong. † YOUNG.

yon'gate (yŏn'gāt), adv. In such wise. Obs. [go.] To go. Obs.

yonge, v. i. [Cf. AS. gangan to] yonge. † YOUNG.

yong'hede, n. Youth. Obs.

yon'ka·pin (yŏng'kȧ·pĭn). Var. of WANKAPIN. [YOUNKER.]

yon'ker (yŭng'kĕr). Var. of yon'ner (yŏn'ĕr). Scot. var. of YONDER. [of WANKAPIN.]

yon'qua·pin (yŏng'kȧ·pĭn). Var.

yons, adv. At once. Obs.

yont (yŏnt). Var. of YOND. Obs. exc. Dial.

yook (yōōk). Var. of YEUK.

yop'on (yŏp'ŏn). Var. of YAUPON.

yor (yŏr). Var. of YOUR. Obs. exc. Dial.

yore. † YARE.

yore'fa'ther, n. Forefather. Obs.

yore'ly, adv. Anciently; in times past. Obs.

yore'while', adv. Erewhile. Obs.

Yorker Brethren. See RIVER BRETHREN.

York'shire·ism (yŏrk'shĭr·ĭz'm; -shĕr-), n. See -ISM.

yot, yote (yōt), n. sing. & pl. [Siamese yōt.] See MEASURE, Table.

yotne. † YOUTH.

Yo'tun (yō'tōōn). Var. of JOTUNN.

you'art (yō'ĕrt). Var. of YOGHURT.

you'd (yōōd). Colloq. contraction of you would or you had.

youd'en (yōōd'ĕn). Scot. past tense of YIELD.

youk (yōōk), youk'y (-ĭ). Vars. of YEUK, itch; YEUKY.

youl (yōōl; youl). Var. of YOWL. Obs., exc. Dial.

yould'en. Obs. past pl. of YIELD you'men. Obs. pl. of YEOMAN.

Young Germany. A school of writers in Germany, active about 1830–50, who advocated the principles of democracy, socialism, and rationalism, the separation of church and state, and the raising of the social and political position of woman. Among their leading exponents were Gutzkow, Heine, Laube, Kühne, Mundt, and Wienbarg.

young grammarian. = NEOGRAMMARIAN.

Young Guard. See OLD GUARD, 1.

Young'–Helm'holtz the'o-ry (yŭng'hĕlm'hōlts). [After Thomas Young, Eng. physicist, and H. L. F. von Helmholtz, Ger. physicist.] See COLOR, 1.

young hyson. See HYSON.

Young Ireland. A party of Irish agitators arising during the efforts of O'Connell after 1841 for the repeal of the Act of Union, and differing from him in their advocacy of seeking political reform and separation from England by physical force. To this end the Young Irelanders attempted to bring together both Protestants and Roman Catholics.

young'ish (yŭng'ĭsh), adj. Somewhat young; more nearly resembling or characteristic of a young person than one of maturity or middle age.

Young Italy [It. La Giovane Italia]. An association of Italians organized in 1831 by Mazzini to deliver the Italian peninsula from Austrian domination and to unite it under a republican form of government. Unlike the Carbonari (which see), it sought to attain its purposes by agitation and open insurrection rather than by conspiracy. It served to quicken the spirit of Italian patriotism and to facilitate the subsequent success of Victor Emmanuel and Cavour.

young lady. 1. A young woman, esp. one who is unmarried; a woman of social position or distinction.
2. A female sweetheart. Colloq.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:
young-ladydom young-ladyish young-ladylike young-ladyified young-ladyism young-ladyship young-ladyhood

young'let (yŭng'lĕt; -lĭt; 119), n. A young animal. Rare.

young'ling (yŭng'lĭng), n. [AS. geongling.] 1. A young person; a youth; also, an animal, plant, etc., which is in its early life; any young, immature, or recent thing.
More dear . . . than younglings to their dam. Spenser.
2. A student or beginner; a neophyte; a novice. Obs.

young'ling, adj. Young; youthful.

young'ly (yŭng'lĭ), adv. Early in life; in the manner of youth. Now Rare.

young'ly, adj. [AS. geonglīc.] Youthful. Obs.

young man. 1. A male youth, esp. one who has passed from boyhood into early manhood.
2. In various specif. uses: a Obs. A man in the service of a gentleman or official; a yeoman. b A youth employed as a helper. c A beau, or suitor, among common folk. d Dial., Southern U. S. A bachelor.
☞ COMBINATIONS are:
young-manhood young-manliness young-manship young-manlike young-manly

Young Men's Christian Association. An organization for promoting the spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical welfare of young men, founded, June 6, 1844, by George Williams (knighted therefor by Queen Victoria) in London. In 1851 it extended to the United States and Canada, and in 1855 representatives of similar organizations throughout Europe and America formed an international body. The movement has successfully expanded not only among young men in general, but also specifically among railroad men, in the army and navy, with provision for Indians and negroes, and a full duplication of all the various lines of operation in the boys' departments. Abbr. Y.M.C.A.

Young Men's Hebrew Association. An organization for promoting the religious, intellectual, social, and physical welfare of Jewish young men, founded in Philadelphia in 1875. Abbr. Y.M.H.A.

young'–old' (yŭng'ōld'), adj. Old in years but having the characteristics of youth.

